Odds Bits Salvaged at Random

Thursday night, August 6, is the date to remember.

It's the date when the local Chamber of Commerce is staging its second annual Goodwill Festival.

The one last year was very successful, and when it was first inaugurated the talk was of making this an annual event. Since that time a number of people have asked when this year's festival would be held.

August 6 was set because this was one of the few dates on which members of the Boys Club of Wichita Falls could be here to present a program.

They are coming, and a varied program of interest to both young and old is in the planning stage. It will be an event that is expected to draw many people from all over the Munday trade area.

There'll be some kind of refreshments, to. Maybe you can sit down on the turf of the football field and eat your fill of watermelon, like you did last year.

People are easily spoiled.

After two cool days and nights, like we had Sunday and Monday and we find it hard to buckle down to fighting the hot weather again.

It was wonderful while it lasted. Even though the weather prognosticators promised it would be short-lived, such a prediction didn't cut down on our enjoyment of the cool front while it lasted.

One very disappointing thing about the entire situation was that no rain came to this immediate area along with the front, and drought conditions are still very acute over a large area of Texas.

P. S. The above was written Tuesday, when it appeared the hot weather was on its way back, and before our 2.29 inches of rain.

Which brings to mind a poll which Ted Gouddy recently conducted for opinions on government supports. The results were rather interesting, and the proposals ran just about as follows:

No. 1, for removal of all government supports drew 9.8% of the vote.

No. 2, the proposals for supports on livestock as well as other agricultural commodities tallied 59.9% of the vote.

No. 3, the proposal for flexible price supports on commodities, including livestock, 10%.

No. 4, the proposal for maintaining right supports on commodities, and none on livestock—the program now in force—was the big loser in the final count, slipping to 10.6%.

Another interesting comment was made by a voter in the Knox County Herald, who wrote:

"If you and the Good Lord can't run your business, better sell it or give it away. Washington will just get your business in a mess, like they have their own."

We were recently handed a copy of the Kiplinger Washington Letter which reviewed national and world events over a period of thirty years, 1923-1953. The copyrighted letter is very interesting, and the fact that it's copyrighted prevents its use in full. In his closing remarks, Mr. Kiplinger wrote:

"Now look to the future. Examine your own thoughts, and see how they always run to the future. It's the future we work and live for."

"Thirty years hence, 1983. Of course we do not know, and no one does, but out of our experience as observers comes the conviction, which is this:

"The world will be better. Improvement is the basic law of life . . ."

Munday Golfers To Host 4-County Tourney; Matched Play Opens July 22

Between 80 and 100 golfers of this area are expected to be here during next week to take part in the annual Four-County Golf Tournament, with the Munday golfers being hosts at the Munday Municipal Country Club.

Known as the Tri-County Tourney, the addition of Foard County players to the group makes this a four-county affair between Knox, Haskell, Baylor and Foard counties. Crowell's players are expected to add materially to interest in the tourney.

Qualified rounds will be held Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 19, 20 and 21, it was stated, and all qualifying scores must be turned in by 4 p. m. Tuesday.

The dinner and calcutta pool will be held Tuesday evening, beginning around 7 o'clock. The dinner will be free to all tourney players who have paid their entrance fee of $5. Tickets for the dinner will be available to others at $1.50 each, it was stated.

Matched play will begin on Wednesday, July 22, and continue through the remainder of the week, with final matches being played on Sunday, July 26.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

COATESVILLE, PA., RECORD: "Whatever his income, the taxpayer is hard pressed today. He pays local taxes, sales taxes, inheritance taxes, and corporate taxes through the manufactured products he buys. Heaviest of all is the Federal income tax, which taxes 22.2 to 92 cents of every taxable dollar."

PAMPA, TEXAS, DAILY NEWS: "So many federal hand-out programs have grown up in the past 20 years that most people have lost track of the count long ago. That's why testimony that there are more than 40 federal grants-in-aid programs currently on the books is more than a little startling."

MILBANK, S. D., HERALD ADVANCE: "People who are for a more economic government must be heard above those who are asking special consideration. There cannot be any genuine economy without a lot of groups and a lot of individuals having to make a small sacrifice in the national interest."

BROWNVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "The rank and file of the people are demanding tax reduction but it's had to achieve that objective when all sorts of groups are still looking for handouts and special privileges."

THE GRASS ROOTS WILL DECIDE

An old but ever-accurate truism holds that in the long run a people get the kind of government they want and deserve.

For instance, public desires and public pressures will determine whether we will have efficient, economical government—or prodigal, drunk-en-sailor government.

Representative Norris of New Hampshire touched on this indirection when he said, "We have reached that point in the session when the full impact or protests against appropriation cuts really hit us. It is at this point we always begin to wonder whether folks really want economy, or only think they do."

The future of our government will be decided in the grass roots, not in Washington.

THE TIMES MOVE FAST

People are still alive who were children when the work of the farm was carried on solely with crude hand tools and human and animal power. The mechanization of agriculture began only a little more than a century ago.

In that century, a long list of ever-more-efficient machines have been devised and produced—machines which do the farm tasks swiftly and economically, which have enormously increased the farmer's productivity and which make it possible for him to improve and protect his land for future generations.

Yes, the times have moved fast—and nowhere have they moved faster than on the farm!

AS PRACTICAL AS A SACK OF POTATOES

Throughout the country, chambers of commerce, civic organizations, banks and other groups are actively engaged in seeking to bring more industry to their communities. They want the spending and the employment that come with expanded industrial activity.

This is a perfectly natural and desirable state of affairs. However, in rural sections of the nation, there is another and equally important possibility which is generally overlooked.

That is to work for the improvement, in a scientific and orderly manner, of farm production. If, for instance, any region's farm output and farm income could be raised by 20 to 25 percent the beneficial effects would be felt by everyone. And this would be of lasting service to the country as a whole, which must face the problem of feeding a swiftly growing population from a fixed land area.

Greatly increased farm production is no impossible ideal—it is as practical as a sack of potatoes. It can be accomplished by maximum use of machinery in farming, coupled with proven land conservation techniques. It has been said, with full accuracy, that the tractor revolutionized farming. That revolution is nowhere near complete—present-day farm equipment makes it possible to mechanize the work of the land as thoroughly as the work of the modern factory.

The future strength of this country will depend every bit as much on progress in farming as on progress in industry. The two go together like the fingers of a hand.

FOR LORD'S SAKE DON'T CALL ME!

Newsweek recently printed a letter from one of its readers, John J. Wicker, Jr., which began: "Everybody is in favor of economy; everybody is in favor of reducing taxes—but—and this is always a big BUT—everybody wants the economy applied somewhere else."

Mrs. Wicker then said this situation reminded him of an old British Army marching song which went about as follows:

"Call out the Army and the Navy
 Call out the blooming rank and file
 Call out the good old Territorials
 They'll face the danger with a smile.

"Call out the old battalions that made England free—
 Call out my father, my brother, or any other—
 But for Lord's sake, don't call me!"

That attitude has been dominant for 20 years. We've finally reached the point where, if we are to have honest and economical government, which is as essential to our security and survival as military power itself, they're going to have to call you!

TEN REASONS WHY THE CHURCH OF CHRIST IS THE NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH

1. You can read about it in the New Testament. (Rom. 16:16; 1 Cor. 12; Rom. 12; Eph. 4.)
2. It has no creed but the Bible, binds no name on its members but Christ's. (1 Peter 4:16; Acts 11:26; 1 Tim. 3; Titus 1.)
3. It speaks where the Bible speaks and is silent where the Bible is silent. (1 Peter 4:11.)
4. It Exalts Christ as the only head of the church. (Col. 1:18; James 5:13-20.)
5. Its acts of worship are patterned strictly after New Testament example. (John 4:24; Acts 20:7; Eph. 5:19.)
6. It teaches that scriptural unity can be achieved on all disputed doctrinal questions. (1 Cor. 1:10; John 17:21.)
7. The church of Christ pleads for unity of all believers in Christ. (1 Cor. 3:1-5; Eph. 4:1-16; 1 Cor. 12:12-29.)
8. It is the Body of Christ. (Col. 1:18.) Its founder is Christ Himself. (Matt. 16:18; Acts 20:28.)
9. Its aim to save souls by leading them to Christ by the gospel, teach godly living, and help all in need. (1 Cor. 15:1-4; Gal. 6:9.)
10. Its future—eternal glory with Christ. (1 Thess 4:17.)

CLIFFORD WILSON, Evangelist

Californians claim that their state, like Texas—was once a republic. What are the facts? The Encyclopedia Americana says:

"Bear Flag War, a rising against the Mexican government in 1846 by a small body of emigrants from the U. S. who had settled in California, thought to have been incited by Capt. John C. Fremont. He was then commanding a small detachment of American troops in California and a few Americans, having proclaimed a republic in Sonoma and raised a flag on which was the figure of a bear, Fremont joined the insurgents with his troops."

And "California: American Guide Series" relates that a "litte band of Yankees" seized the commandante of the presidio and other officers at Sonoma on June 14, 1846 and raised the Bear Flag with the words, "California Republic." War was already in progress between the United States and Mexico though this was not known in California. Fremont, American army officer, with 72 mounted riflemen, backed up the settlers and Commodore Sloat of the United States navy, sailed into Monterey Bay, raised the American flag on the customs house and claimed California for the United States.

As far as fighting went, it was a comic opera "war." Contrast that with the storming of San Antonio, house by house; the Alamo and San Jacinto.

Texas won their freedom without outside aid, except volunteers from the United States; and, instead of being a republic in name for a few days, maintained her existence as a separate

IT FLEW, TOO, GIRLS

Elaine Anderson (left) and Janet Hoffman find it difficult to believe that anyone could have flown a Curtiss Pusher, an exact scale-model replica of which is shown here. As young present day model plane fliers who hope to compete in the Plymouth Motor Corporation's Seventh International Model Plane Contest, they are amazed at the extreme design changes in the past 50 years. buyers and shippers. It is of vital importance particularly in East and South Texas and other areas where commercial vegetables and fruits are grown.

In return, the products are inspected and graded in a uniform manner. This allows qualified Texas fruits and vegetables to be shipped out-of-state where they command prices comparable to those received by products from all other areas of the country.

This program is valuable and needed by all phases of the fruit and vegetable industry. Yet the question arises—who should control the functions of such a joint project? The obvious answer is that both parties should at least have 50-50 rights. But here is how the situation stands at present.

The most recent agreement with the federal government was drawn up and signed Aug. 1, 1949. Under its terms, the federal authorities exercise almost complete control over state employees hired on the project. Federal agents can even veto expenditures of money believed necessary by state agents. And some 10 per cent of this Texas money is funneled directly into federal coffers.

The State Department of Agriculture has submitted a new contract to the federal government in the hope of remedying some of these defects. Texas money collected for Texas projects should be spent in Texas. Texas authorities should have control over their own state employees. But to date, officials of the U. S. D. A. Fruits and Vegetables Branch have refused to sign the contract—a contract which is in every way similar to those of other states where the cooperative project exists.

Texas deserves the rights granted other states. The present contract is a perfect example of federal encroachment.

National Farm Safety Week Is Set For July 19-25

During the ten years that National Farm Safety Week has been observed, farm accidents have been reduced 20 per cent. This reduction is a real achievement, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee, but add that farming remains a hazardous occupation. Some 15,000 farm people will lose their lives as a result of accidents during 1953 unless they practice safety in their daily living.

President Eisenhower in the Safety Week Proclamation, July 19-25, points out that last year more than a million and a quarter farm residents to cooperate in an all-out effort to make 1953 as accident-free as possible. "Farm to Live and Live to Farm" is the way he puts it.

According to the State Committee the immediate objective of the week is to arouse interest and increase participation in the community approach to the problem of safe living. The long-time objective is to make rural residents so conscious of accidents and their causes that through their own efforts the agricultural industry can be made as safe as other industries of the nation.

History proves, explains the committeeman, that much good is derived from the observance of safety week but after the concerted effort begins to lose steam, the accident rate begins to climb. The committee hopes that community organizations will keep up the steam and even increase the pressure during every week in the year. They feel that when farmers, ranchers and their families, working individually and collectively, set their minds to solving the accident problems that further reductions can be made and eventually farm accidents can be made as scarce as the proverbial "hen's teeth."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fincannon and Brenda and Jaylon of Hamlin spent several days last week with relatives and friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Brockett, Jr., of Midland were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nance during the week end.

TEXAS FEDERAL COOPERATION

Should Texas abide by all the projects and directives from Washington? Which joint programs are the most worthwhile? The answer is obvious in some cooperative projects now in operation within our state. Certainly the commodity market news which keeps producers informed on current prices is aided immeasurably by joint federal-state efforts. And on one object when U. S. aid is rushed to states paralyzed by drouth. But where does federal cooperation end and federal encroachment begin? A prime case in point is the Texas-Federal Fruit and Vegetable Inspection Service. An average of a half-billion dollars is involved in this project annually. This money is collected in Texas from Texas vegetable growers,

Research, Promotion, Pay Big Dividends In Cotton Industry

Gains for cotton in apparel and household uses resulting from research and promotion are affecting recent heavy losses sustained in industrial uses. Research and promotion are now being applied in Europe to rebuild cotton's foreign markets as well.

Lack of adequate research, trade sources say, has caused the losses in the tire cord market. However, despite the fact that cotton has lost over half a million bales in tire cord and bags, domestic consumption is now running at an annual rate of 9.4 million bales; 2½ million bales more than the average of any five-year period to 1940.

Improved qualities and heavy promotion of cotton products have been important factors accounting for cotton leaving its rival rayon, far behind in many household and apparel uses. In fact, leading rayon yarn producers have recently set up their own promotional organization—Rayon Information Center—to do the same kind of job for rayon that the National Cotton Council has done for cotton. The Center has an initial budget of $750,000 set up for this purpose.

The National Cotton Council, which is made up of the raw cotton interests, is not letting up in its programs of research, promotion and production efficiency, however. The industry is now in the midst of a drive for expanded farm research and education as well as research to improve the quality of the finished product. It is also pushing forward with the hardest hitting sales promotion effort in the history of the industry.

To recapture a dwindling foreign market, the cotton industry has sent top flight men to Europe to help initiate promotion and research programs. These programs will be patterned after those that have proved so successful in this country.

The director of the Council's sales promotion division met with textile representatives of the French, English, Dutch, West German and Belgium to discuss sales promotion plans for increasing consumption of cotton in Europe.

In another series of conferences, the director of the Council's foreign trade division and a team of cotton scientists told how improved qualities of American cotton could best be utilized by European mills and described new techniques being used in America to improve quality.

FAT IN DIET SEEN AS ATOMIC PROTECTION

Scientists have discovered that fat in the diet is a protection against atomic radiation. Science News Letter reports in a recent issue.

Salad and cooking oils, margarine, mayonnaise, and lard contain essential acids which kept laboratory rats alive, even when they were subjected to critical doses of x-ray similar to those given off by an atomic blast.

The conclusion is that people of the western world who eat much more fat-containing foods than those behind the Iron Curtain are better protected against an A-bomb attack, the science magazine notes. People of the

RENDERERS HURT; FARMERS FACE UNPLEASANT TASK

Low prices on hides and non-edible grease have dealt many of the nation's rendering plants a mortal blow. But the biggest blow of all may be struck at the farmer. Should these rendering plants close, he is faced with an unpleasant task to perform. In the past, he had been able to have his dead stock removed free-of-charge by a rendering plant. Without rendering service he would either bury or burn the carcass himself within 24 hours of the animal's death, as required by most state laws.

Fortunately, the farmers in this area can still rely on Central Hide & Rendering Company. However, this company also is feeling the pinch, as evidenced by this recent announcement by Mr. Frank Bass, Vice-President, and Abilene Plant Manager. "It has been necessary for Central Hide & Rendering Company to cut expenses because of the depressed market in hides and not edible grease. In order to do this, the following changes in policy are being made:

1. There will be a nominal fee for each trip to the farm for dead stock.
2. We will not be able to accept COLLECT telephone calls regarding animals. (This call will cost you .37c or less and if accepted by Central Hide & Rendering Company, it costs us .74c.)

It would seem that the considerable time and labor saved by the farmer in having the rendering plant handle his dead stock will more than make up for the small expense to him for this service.—Advertisement.

Orient do not eat foods containing such great amounts of fat.

Drs. Harry J. Deuel, Jr., dean of the University of Southern California Graduate School and Amber L. S. Chang, graduate student from China, tested five thousand rats over a three-year period to discover the role of fatty acids in protection against radiation. They reported their results to the American Institute of Nutrition meeting in Chicago.

They also discovered that nothing, including the greatest amounts of mayonnaise on salads, would protect against fatal doses of X-rays given to the rats. This meant to the experimenters that only those far enough away to survive the concussions of the A-bomb would benefit from having had fat in their diet. Science News Letter states.

Dr. Deuel said that this does not mean a person must be fat or overweight; however, he must have essential fatty acids in his diet.

Walter Medley of Santa Rosa, N. M., visited his sister, Mrs. A. B. Warren, and his mother, Mrs. J. W. Medley, of Haskell, over the week end. Mrs. Medley returned home with him for a few weeks visit.

Mrs. Emma Mayo spent the week end in Seymour with Mr. and Mrs. Wade Mahan and children.

Miss Lourelle Milstead is visiting relatives in Falls and Robertson counties during her two weeks vacation. She will return next Sunday for the Baptist encampment at Lueders.

Mrs. J. O. Bowden visited Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Bowden in Wichita Falls one day last week.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Bard

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 10—This week, the House acted on legislation that would provide additional credit to the farmers and ranchers in the drought disaster area. This bill would make available 16 million dollars immediately for loans, and authorize the appropriation of additional funds for that purpose, which are expected to be at least a hundred million dollars. This bill authorizes 5% loans above $2,500.00 to farmers and ranchers who are jeopardized by drought-disaster prices and who cannot obtain credit through ordinary channels. These loans will be screened by a local committee and farmers and ranchers applying must have, in the opinion of this committee, a good chance of working out their difficulties. There are also other loans provided for, which would be for any agricultural purpose, and any farmer or rancher in the disaster area is eligible. There is some doubt in my mind as to whether the program provided in this bill will really go far enough to meet the need in the drought-distressed area unless there is a very broad interpretation given the law by those who administer it and unless there is sufficient money made available to carry out the program. I do not feel that 16 million dollars will do the job in the six states that are affected by the drought. Personally, I would favor a guaranty loan program which would have been handled locally and would have cost the government a whole lot less money. I still feel that there is some chance that such a program will be enacted for during the debate on this bill in the House. Congressman Hope of Kansas, who is chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the House, assured us that after a reasonable trial of two or three weeks, if it were shown that this plan of credit did not work, then he would join with other interested Congressmen in seeing that some additional action would be taken with regard to this matter, before Congress adjourns.

People here are becoming increasingly conscious of the fact that in addition to feed and credit, there must be something done to stabilize the livestock markets. The present government buying program is a step in the right direction, but it does not go far enough in that the purchase of 200 million tons of beef is insufficient to have the effect of really stabilizing and raising the cattle market. This program must be stepped up.

To give you an idea how little some people understand about the drought problem, during the debate on the credit bill yesterday in the House, while I was speaking on the bill, a Congressman from an Eastern state asked me if I didn't think it would be just as well if we would let five million head of cattle starve to death. He also expressed the opinion that the best way to handle the farm program would be to let all the farmers go broke and the farms grow up in weeds. He further stated, as follows: "I grew up in this disaster area and most of my relatives still live within that area. I think it is an excellent place to be from and it would be good for a great many people if there were more people from there."

This sort of ridiculous reactionary thinking makes it extremely difficult at times to get an effective program enacted into law. Thank goodness, people of this sort make up only a small minority of the membership of Congress.
Visitors from home this past week included Mr. and Mrs. Roger Abbott, from Wichita Falls, and Mr. Loys Barbour, from Iowa Park.

A big excursion was held by the youth department of the Methodist Church last Thursday evening. The excursion began at the railroad depot and ended at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Bowden.

The excursion divided into carload groups and went on a "scavenger hunt." A long list of articles to be found was given to each group and a time limit set for the completion of the hunt. One group, in its inability to find a red chicken feather, resorted to getting a white feather and dyeing it red.

The group met at the Levi Bowden home for a final worship service and for refreshments of home made ice cream and cake. About thirty individuals were present.

Telephone Co. Buys Two Other Exchanges

Purchase of the Del Rio, Texas, and Comstock, Texas Exchanges from the Del Rio and Winter Garden Company was announced in Dallas recently by Walter G. Wright, president of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Control of the Del Rio and Winter Garden Telephone Company was held by Southwestern Bell but approval by the Federal Communications Commission cleared the way for the sale of these two exchanges to General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Home Demonstration NOTES

By Mrs. Georgia Faye Perkins, Home Demonstration Agent

PROTECT AGAINST INSECTS IN A CLOSED HOUSE

Cleaning and spraying the house before you close it to go on vacation is a good precaution against household insect pests that otherwise may increase while you are away and cause damage or a serious control problem on your return, entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say.

Avoid trouble from kitchen pests by storing all food in tight containers and by leaving the entire kitchen clean and free of any traces of food. If cupboard shelves have been sprayed with a 5 per cent DDT spray, this will kill such stray insects as the beetles or weevils that get into flour, cereal, crackers or dried foods, especially in hot weather.

To control cockroaches or "water bugs" chlordane is more effective. Apply a small amount of 2 per cent chlordane to the baseboard behind the sink or under the sink or refrigerator, where these insects run, but avoid using this insecticide where food or cooking utensils will be in contact with it.

Clothes moths or carpet beetles can do a lot of damage to any untreated woollens left around the house while you are away. Even lint or bits of fur, hair or feathers can keep these insects alive. Cleaning floor rugs and upholstered furniture by vacuum is advised to pick up such matter as well as any larvae or eggs of insects that may be in the house. The entomologists suggest using the radiator-cleaning attachment of the cleaner along cracks in the floor, baseboards, moldings, in corners and other hard-to-get places. Protect rugs by spraying with a DDT spray and use this spray along the baseboards.

The cleaning and spraying also may prevent you from being greeted on your return by a host of hungry fleas hatched during your absence from tiny flea eggs that previously had de-ped off your cat or dog.

A training meeting will be held by Mae Belle Smith, Acting Organizing Specialist, Extension Service, College Station, Texas for all Knox and Foard County council members officers and chairmen of standing committees of the two-county Home Demonstration Councils and the Agents. The meeting will be held in the Benjamin Courthouse Assembly Room July 16, from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M. The following subjects will be discussed: "Simple Parliamentary Procedure," "On Being An Officer," and "The County Home Demonstration Manual."

Club members from the four Knox County Home Demonstration Clubs plan to attend the Home Demonstration Encampment at Leuders, Texas, July 23 and 24. They will present a skit, and have charge of 30 minutes of the Recreational Period. Other counties attending will be Haskell, Fisher and Jones.

FORT WORTH—Demand for stocker and feeder cattle and calves again led most classes of cattle and calves into higher ground as the trade opened at Fort Worth's stockyards Monday. The brightest spots was the demand for stocker cows. Stocker cows were such a slow commodity three weeks ago that they were virtually unquotable and some good ones sold as low as $7 and $8, these kinds compared with cows sold at $12 to $14.50 at Fort Worth Monday, easily an advance of $5 to $6 per hundred in three weeks. Small calves at side sold today at $13 to $17.50, would have done well at $10 to $12 three weeks ago. Stocker calves selling up to $18.50, a few at $18.75, were 25 to 50 cents up or more.

Slaughter cattle sold fully steady, and spots forced into higher levels by the stocker play. Slaughter calves were spotty, packers again taking a bearish view on the early rounds, but weakening from it in face of good shipper and stocker demand.

Hogs hit the highest peak of the year topping at $26.25 and $26.50 and sows drew $20 to $23. Pigs cashed at 20 down. Feeder lambs were up 50 cents, selling $10 to $15. Slaughter ewes were 50 cents higher at $3.50 to $5. Other sheep were fully steady.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold from $17 to $22. Common and medium sorts sold from $10 to $15, with cull yearlings $8 to $10. Fat cows drew $10 to $14, a few heiferettes above that range. Canners and cutters drew $7 to 10, some shells under $7. Bulls sold at $8 to $14.50.

Good and choice fat calves $15 to $19, some yearling weights around 500-600 lbs. or more to $20.00 and above. Common and medium butcher calves drew $10 to $15, with culls $7 to $10.

Good and choice stocker steer calves $15 to $18.75, and a load of heifer calves topped at $18. Stocker steer yearlings of the better kinds sold from $14 to $16.50. Stocker cows drew $9 to $14.50, a few above that range. Good and choice fat lambs drew $18 to $23.00, and common and medium sorts sold from $10 to 15, with culls $8 to $10. Fed and stocker lambs sold from $10 to $15. Old ewes drew $3.50 to $5.00, some solid mouthed ewes $6 to $6.50. Old wethers $6 to $8. Two-year-olds $10 down. Fat yearling wethers drew $10 to 15, and feeder yearlings cashed at $10 to $12. Old bucks $2 to $3.

Miss Carloine Coffman, who is attending summer school in A. C. C. in Abilene, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Coffman.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Henslee and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henslee visited in Fort Worth and Dallas last Sunday and Monday.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braly over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fore of Tulsa and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Collier of Graham.

Lower Hide And Grease Prices Curb Rendering Service

The surplus of hides and non-edible grease on today's markets is gradually easing the country's rendering plants from the American scene, according to Frank Bass, vice president of Central Hide and Rendering Company of Wichita Falls, which handles the rendering service in this area. He stated, however, that his company will strive to maintain its services.

"We can no longer afford to pick up dead stock free," he said. "We have been forced to charge a nominal fee for each trip to a farm for dead stock. The fee will be the same regardless of the animal's size. We will not be able to accept collect calls regarding the animal's either. However, we believe that the savings we offer in time and labor to the farmer will more than make up for the small expense to him for this service."

Attention

I have been successful in securing the services of BUD DYER, who comes from Lubbock, where he was employed by the Greet Iron Works for five years, doing welding and general repair work.

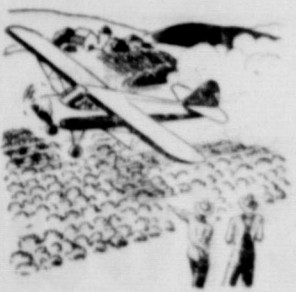

Bud was reared in his father's welding and blacksmith shop in Cordell, Okla. His father still operates his shop there.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Mere Words Can't Bring On Depression Nor End One If We Happen To Have One

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek seems to be dealing in words this week, of which he has an inexhaustible supply.

Dear editor:
I not not like to talk about hard times, there is a school of thought in this country which says mention of the word depression should be banned from public discussion, that it's sort of like yellin fire in a crowded theater, but I am not a member of that school.

In the first place, I do not consider times hard now, except where it's dry or two cattlemen are gathered together, and I figure it's pretty difficult to have a depression when things keep goin higher and higher, with the exception of course of cattle, and in the second place, I do not believe anybody can talk the country into a depression any more than he can talk it out of one in case one shows up. This country is not so shaky that a few idle words can move it in any direction and neither am I, and on top of that I know I have never had to consult anybody to find out for myself whether times were good or bad. A man who don't know whether times are good or bad, he's in pretty bad shape to start with.

Therefore, I was considerably amused the other day when I picked up a copy of a newspaper which somebody had used to lie on while he put a jack under his car to fix a flat, I was aimin to get down there and help him change it but when I woke up after a short nap under a shade tree he was gone, and read where a big city real estate man was hoppin mad because a farmer in East Texas had predicted a depression worse than the one we had before was on the way.

"What does that farmer know about such things?" he demanded, claimin the farmer ought to be silenced, and since nobody in his audience apparently answered him, I will.

That farmer doesn't know a thing about such matters.

But I would like to hasten to add, I don't mind hastenin as long as it's just to add something and you can do it without leavin the shade, that that farmer however is not by himself. There's a lot of real estate men in the same boat, along with a lot of other people.

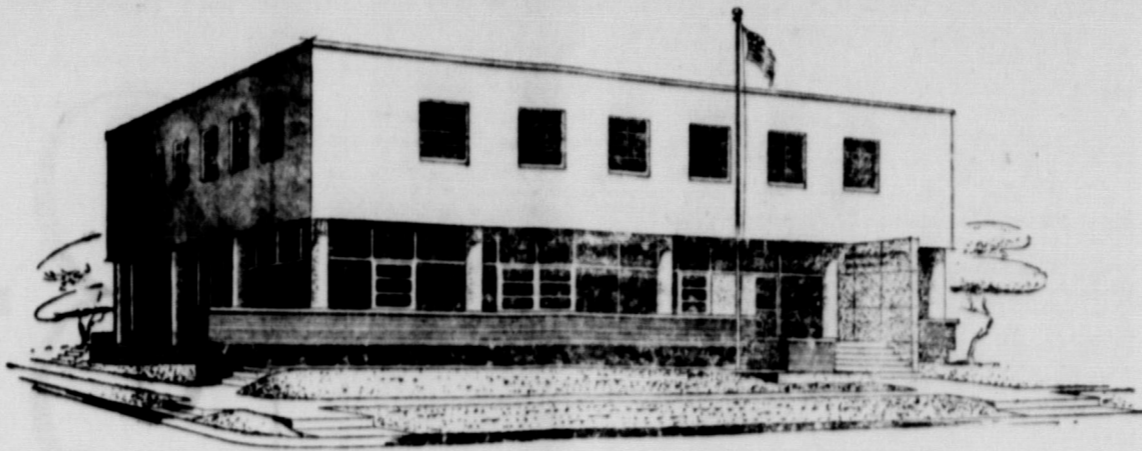

The way I see it, there ain't hardly anybody who knows what times are gonna be like next year or the year after. We got lots of experts who can tell pretty satisfactorily what happened last year or the year before or ten years ago, but when it comes to knowin how business is gonna be twelve months from now, most experts, when you corner 'em' are busy doing something else.

Personally, I'm in favor of free discussion. The man who goes around tellin himself times are gonna be good forever is about the same as the man in a depression who goes around sayin times are gona be hard forever, it ain't gonna rain forever or stay dry forever, but in some places and with some women it's gettin close to it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

An Honest Night's Sleep

Slim Johnson, just back from a business trip, tells about a hotel he stayed at one night.

"I hit town late and went right to the hotel. There was no clerk at the desk, but there was a sign that said: 'Gone to bed. Rooms $3. Take a key. Pay when you leave. Sleep Well.'"

"Upstairs, the room was real clean, the bed comfortable, and I slept like a log. Came down in the morning—still no clerk. So I left three dollars at the desk and went on. Can you imagine folks that trustful?"

From where I sit, running a hotel on the honor system shows a real trust in people. And people always appreciate being trusted. Letting your neighbor follow his personal preference is a kind of trust too—trusting in his good judgment. I like a temperate glass of beer occasionally, you may prefer buttermilk, but let's hope neither of us "registers" a complaint against the other.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—You don't have to be a Mickey Mantle or a Babe Zaharias to be eligible for athlete's foot. You're qualified just by being human.

This ringworm foot infection can come to either sex at any age or any time, although it is probably more prevalent during summer months when feet are more apt to perspire.

You'll know you've got it when your feet begin itching and blistering, and when you see the soggy dead skin between the toes or on the soles. Take action then, and you can usually get rid of it in a hurry. But neglect it and you're in trouble.

Here are some suggestions from State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox which will prevent athlete's foot or help you get rid of it if you have it now:

Dry carefully and thoroughly between your toes after bathing and as often as practical during the day. The disease is caused by a fungus which thrives on damp, perspiring feet.

Massage your feet with a mild rubbing alcohol. This will help prevent spreading the infection from one spot to another.

Dust a good fungicide powder or even a unscented talcum powder or powdered boric acid, between the toes, in stockings and shoes. If at all practical, change stockings during the day.

Swab all cracks or soggy areas between the toes with one part iodine diluted with ten parts of alcohol.

Wear absorbent socks and put a piece of cotton on areas between the toes where cracks or soginess are evident.

Don't use remedies which have been sold for eczema. Consult your physician if the cracks and blisters and soginess do not yield to these measures.

And keep this in mind; if athlete's foot is neglected, it can spread rapidly beyond the feet. The lesions will go deeper and deeper, and may cause critical damage.

Modern Mermaids

Rejecting the old, slow way of getting around, these modern mermaids attach their Evinrudes to wash tubs and choose their own speed. Using the new 3-horsepower Lightwin they can carry with one hand, Pauline Morgan, Lana Bashams and Pat Cooper cavort around a resort pool. The motor, even without such attractive mermaids, is one of the most popular models with fishermen because it can take them anywhere and is very economical.

Mrs. Clarice Mitchell of Arlington visited relatives and friends here Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamoine Blacklock and daughters left last Thursday for a week's vacation at Ruidosa, New Mexico.

Lane Womble and son, Buddy, who are in wheat harvest in Kansas, spent several days here this week.

Brief Articles On The Draft Law And Regulations

III
(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

Young men of draft age who ask for and get deferments under certain conditions automatically extend the time during which they can be drafted by nine years.

Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director, names the following types of deferred men, among others, who have their liability for service extended until age 35:

1. Members of the ROTC and other officer training programs.
2. Students deferred to go to high school or college under requirements of law; college students deferred under authority of the local board.

3. Men left at home for civilian employment.

4. Men deferred to farm.

5. Married men deferred because of their children or because of extreme hardship and privation to dependents.

6. Men classified as mentally, physically, or morally deficient or defective.

"The regulations spell this out," Gen. Wakefield says. "So when a man gets the privilege of a deferment he is taking on a corresponding responsibility. The man who never receives a deferment like these cannot be drafted after he reaches his 26th birthday."

The state draft director says that, under this provision of law, it is possible for a deferred man to lose his qualification for deferment at age 34, for example. Under such circumstances, he would again be eligible for draft.

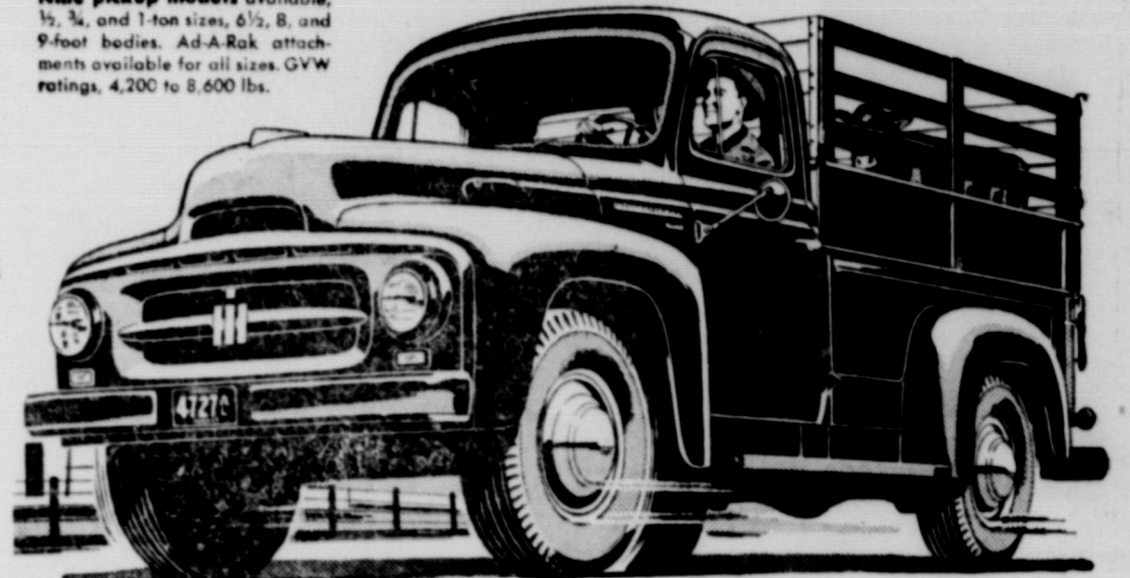

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Peek of Berger visited relatives here and at Goree over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Sr., visited her sister in Truscott last Sunday.

Leo Guffey, who is in wheat harvest in Kansas, was home over the week end.
