The City of Munday is getting ready for fall. And with a few bales of cotton already ginned, the fall season won't be long in getting around.

The city officials are trying to make parking easier for people who come here . . .

For several days, portions of the city's streets have been thoroughly gone over with the sweeper, then swept with a hand-operated broom, then marked off by pretty white lines that make parking spaces.

And if folks remember to park between these lines and at the right angle, they won't have any trouble getting out of their car because it's parked too close to another.

Another advantage, too, is that you won't have to stand so many chances of having a rear fender ripped off by a car backing out next to you.

It will conserve parking space, too, if folks will park at the right angle, instead of at any angle.

Our guess, too, is that parking space will be going at a premium in Munday, come Saturday afternoon during the busy fall season.

Found a little article recently that's kinda been going the rounds and quoted in several different papers.

It's entitled "Ways to Kill a Town," and will apply in the main to folks in most any small town. We're reprinting it below for what it might be worth—if it's worth nothing to you, just forget it after you've read it:

Get all the City will give you, but don't give anything in return. Talk cooperation, but don't cooperate.

Never accept an office. It is easier to criticize than to do things. Don't do any more than you have to, and when other people willingly and unselfishly give their time and ability to make a town better, howl your head off because the town is run by a clique . . .

Don't pay your taxes. Let the other fellow pay his and then you ride like a parasite on his money, then fuss because the streets are not kept up.

Never attend any of the meetings that are for the town. If you do, arrive late, and don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then cuss the ones who tried. Or, when there, vote for everything and then do nothing; then next day, find fault with everything that was done.

Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one who gets the most out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.

Don't do anything for the youth of the town. Just forget that they are the leaders of tomorrow. Keep your feet on them.

If you have good leaders, don't follow them. Don't work on any committee. Don't say anything good about your town.

Don't support your local business places. But if you need a donation, ask them for it and then howl and raise Cain if they do not see fit to donate. Expect them to back you, but don't pack them.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By W. J. Bryan, Knox County Agent

I was called the other day by Mr. Welton Leflar of Munday to come and look at some cotton he had that was shedding all its leaves. Mr. Leflar has an irrigated farm about one and one-half miles southeast of Munday. I have never seen any cotton affected like his was, but according to information I had, it looked like Verticillium Wilt.

In order to be sure of what it was I took samples and sent them in to Mr. L. S. Bird, Plant Pathologist of A. & M. College. Mr. Bird said that it was definitely Verticillium Wilt.

Verticillium Wilt is caused by a soil-borne fungus which can persist in the soil over a long period of time. It has been found in all the cotton-growing states. Although it is a relatively new cotton disease, it is now considered one of the most serious, particularly in the irrigated areas of the Southwest.

Verticillium affect the cotton plant in all stages, from seedling to mature size. The most outstanding symptom of the disease is the development of chlorotic and brown areas on the leaves, which gives them a distinctive mottled appearance. When young plants are attacked they are often killed outright, but older plants may survive the entire season, shedding their leaves and sending up new growth near the base of the plants. The woody part of the roots and stalk turns brown as the disease progresses upward through the entire plant.

When Verticillium wilt is spotted, you should pull up all the infested stalks and burn them. This has been definitely proven effective in confining the disease to a small area.

The disease does not develop if the soil temperature is 78 degrees F. or above. Mid-season irrigation reduces the soil temperature, and that is why it is worse on irrigated land than on dry land.

Planting cotton high beds has helped keep the soil temperature up and reduced the severity of the disease.

It seems that is about all the control we have until a resistant variety is developed. Intensive breeding programs are now underway and considerable progress has been made in obtaining varieties tolerant to this disease.

Babb's To Open Here Saturday

Babb's, Munday's new dry goods store, will be open for business next Saturday, according to J. W. Babb, who has been here some three weeks getting ready for the opening.

The new store is in the building formerly occupied by the Corner Drug Store. They will handle men's and boys' wear, as well as some ladies' and children's read-to-wear.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Babb and daughter moved to Munday this week to make their home, and Mr. Babb will operate the store which he and his father own. The daughter entered the Munday schools on Tuesday morning.

Masonic Meeting Held At Knox City

Around 75 Masons gathered in Knox City last Tuesday evening for the regular meeting of the 91st Masonic District Association, and representing most of the district and many lodges over West Texas.

A delicious supper was served at the lodge hall by the host lodges, Knox City and Benjamin.

Lee Haymes of Munday, president of the association, called the meeting to order and presided at the business meeting. A highlight of the meeting was an inspirational address by Rev. Homer Salley, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Rule. Seymour was selected as host lodge for the December meeting.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Hawks Defeat Moguls By Score Of 13-0 Friday

A scrappy bunch of Munday Moguls proved their metal last Friday night, even when coming out at the short end of a 13-0 score against the Hawks at Iowa Park, in the season's opener for both teams.

The Moguls showed everything about even in the statistics department except in the score. It was a hard fought grid tussle for both teams.

The Hawks made their counters in the first and fourth quarters.

Late in the first quarter, Delos Whisler made an 18 yard scamper around right end after recovery of a Mogul fumble. James Williams added the extra point.

The Hawks' second tally came early in the fourth, when Mickey Sewell crashed over to pay dirt from the two yard marker. Williams failed to make the extra when the kick was blocked by Gene Haynie.

The Moguls were still fighting hard when the game ended. Outstanding players were Dale Gerard for the Hawks and Gene Haynie for the Moguls.

Huge Rattler Killed In Man's Front Yard

E. M. Owens, who farms Mrs. W. N. Huckabee's farm, nine miles southwest of Munday, was in town Tuesday exhibiting a diamond back rattlesnake which he killed in his front yard.

Members of the family heard the snake rattle at about dark Monday and found him about three feet from the front porch. Something had disturbed the reptile, and he was ready to do battle. Mr. Owens used a hoe to get the best of the fight.

The snake was about four feet long and had nine rattles and a button. Owens said it was the first one he'd seen during his 28 years on this place.

Mogul-Panther Game Slated Here On Friday Night

The traditional game of the season, the friendly rivalry of many years' standing will be reeled off here Friday night when the Munday Moguls tangle with the Seymour Panthers in a non-conference tilt.

Both teams suffered defeat in the season's opener last Friday night. While the Moguls took a 13-0 drubbing from Iowa Park, the Panthers suffered a 7-0 defeat at the hands of the Crowell Wildcats.

Crowell took the District 1A-9 title last year, and Seymour was champion in District 2A-4. Seymour has been playing in the 2A class for some two seasons.

Both teams will be battling to avenge their defeat of last week, and an interesting game is in store for fans of both teams.

Reserve Seat Tickets

A few reserved seats in the Munday stadium remain unsold. Mrs. J. R. Rogers, secretary of the Munday Chamber of Commerce, stated Wednesday. Those desiring to obtain reserved seats for this season's games are asked to come by the Chamber of Commerce office and get them as early as possible.

Mrs. Clyde Pierce and children, Marigene and Duane and Mrs. Eddie Savage, all of Dallas, were guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ardel Spelce, last week.

Friday, September 11, nineteen leading farmers, bankers, Civic Club representatives, ranchers, Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District Supervisors, Equipment Dealers, Vocational Agriculture teachers and Soil Conservation Service Representatives, met at Knox City, Texas, to discuss ways and means to get a cover crop program started that will be run continuously throughout the year.

These people were concerned that the soil in the Wichita-Brazos SCD is not getting any better, in fact a lot of it is either washed or blown away. This leave our top soil with a little less area to produce our crops and a little more rainfall will be needed, which we know we will not get.

These people are ready and anxious to get a program started that will mean more production of crops in this district. Several farmers gave examples of what a cover crop will do.

It was decided that posters, folders and other material on cover crops be distributed and placed in places where people can see them, telling and showing what, how and where they can get seed, equipment and inoculant for planting cover crops. Vocational Agriculture teachers agreed to make up some posters to start the program off.

Health Program Being Stressed In Local Schools

The health program of the Munday schools during September and October is stressing dental health. Dr. J. M. Croley, local dentist, has agreed to help in this program by discussions with parents at the school. It is hoped that parents will take advantage of this program and be present on the designated dates. All meetings will be at 2 p. m.

Parents of first grade students are asked to be at the grade school building on Tuesday, September 22; of second grade students on Friday, September 25; of third grade students on Tuesday, September 29; of fourth and fifth grade students on Friday, October 2.

On Tuesday, October 6, Dr. Croley will discuss dental health with students of junior high school at that building, and on October 13 and 20 he will meet with high school students at the high school.

Relatives Of Local People Injured In Accident Thursday

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Womble of Woodward, Okla., were injured in a car accident near Snider, Okla., around noon last Thursday. The Wombles were enroute to Munday for a visit with Mr. Womble's mother, Mrs. E. A. Womble, and other relatives.

Mr. Womble is reported to be in a very serious condition. He suffered a punctured lung, severe lacerations on the head and neck, and numerous bruises. Mrs. Womble received a broken arm and ribs.

They were given first aid at Snider, then taken to a Lawton hospital by ambulance. Only the Womble car was involved in the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane Womble visited them on Friday, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bailey King spent Sunday at their bedside. They reported Mr. Womble was given a good chance of recovery if no further complications developed.

IT'S A BOY FOR THE EDWARD SMITHS

IT'S PART OF GROWING UP!

When four-year-old Johnny grabs a toy away from his younger sister, his mother will take immediate steps to correct him.

She may talk to him and explain what he did wrong—or, if it is a repeated offense, she may punish him—but whichever method she uses, her purpose will be to teach Johnny good manners.

Johnny's mother knows, as do millions of other parents, that learning good manners is a part of growing up. She wants Johnny to be well liked and popular when he gets older, and so she knows she must help him become well-mannered.

If Johnny's mother is wise, she will put just as much effort into helping him form safe traffic habits. It can be just as slow and painstaking a job as teaching him good manners. It can be even more important.

Learning safe traffic habits also is a part of growing up—indeed, how well the lesson is learned can, and often does, determine whether a child will have a chance to grow up. Last year more than 4,000 children, killed in traffic, didn't get that chance.

Recognizing the importance of traffic safety for our future citizens, the Texas Safety Association and the National Safety Council are conducting a month-long program on child safety in September.

To this vital and worthy effort we would like to add our support, and this advice to parents:

"Teach your child safety as you would good manners."

BIGGEST BITE

What takes the biggest bit out of your day's pay? The answer is taxes, direct and indirect, according to a novel chart issued by the Tax Foundation.

The Foundation took for its example a wage earner working eight hours a day and with an income of $4,500 a year, all of which he spends. Then it figured out just how much of his working time is needed to meet each category of expense.

The tax burden, it found, accounted for two hours and 34 minutes of each day's gainful work—far more than for food, housing, clothing, recreation, or any other item.

We all kick at the high cost of living. It would make more sense if we kicked at the high cost of government and demanded that something be done about it.

LOOKING FOR BUSINESS

In spite of today's high prices, many enterprises are earning smaller net incomes than used to be the case. This is largely the result of two factors—extremely heavy operating costs, and intense competition among both producers and distributors for the public's patronage. The result is described in these words by the magazine Printers Ink: "Few things interest top management more these days than how to increase sales. New markets, better saturation of old markets, new products, better packaging and merchandising of old ones, premium offers, special sales, improved products, price cuts."

Printers Ink was speaking primarily of manufacturers. The same thing is true of retailing. The time when a merchant could sell practically anything by just putting it on display has passed. Supply is equal to or greater than demand in practically every field. In short, a buyers' market exists—which means every store, from the smallest independent to the biggest national chain, must concentrate day in and day out on trying to offer the fickle customer a lower price, a better product, or some other inducement.

This is one of the hallmarks of a free, competitive economy—the kind of economy that does more good for more people than any other devised by man.

WILL OF THE PEOPLE

Senator Styles Bridges has issued a report on the record of appropriations of the first session of the 83rd Congress. One part of it deals with reductions in appropriations as compared with the past. And here the Senator makes this heartening statement:

"Reductions were based on the will of the people that further encroachments by government on private enterprise were no longer to be tolerated, except in those areas where private enterprise was unable or unwilling to function or where, directed by national security or national interest, private enterprise could not operate."

We need a lot more of that kind of thinking in government today.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

OSKALOOSA, IOWA, DAILY HERALD: "The Western railroads cooperating with the government's drought program put its effect on July 1 a 50 per cent reduction in freight rates on livestock feed to the stricken southwestern states."

HOW WE GOT OUR BIBLE

(VERSIONS)

The Syriac Version was translated from the original language into six dialects of Syria early in the second century. Perhaps some who have read this version knew some of the writers of the New Testament. Notice this version was in the SECOND century, not the fifth.

The Old Latin Version was translated from the Greek into Latin at the close of the second century.

The Coptic Version was translated from the Greek into the Egyptian about the close of the second century.

The Gothic Version was translated in 375 by Ulfilas for the Goths who had crossed the northern borders into the Roman Empire.

The Latin Vulgate was a revision of the Old Latin into which the New Testament had been translated in the second century. This work was done by Jerome in 385 A. D. and Jerome says that he used a Greek Bible belonging to Origen who lived in the early part of the third century.

The Bible having existed in all these languages before 390 A. D. With this in mind it is amazing that a claim could be made that the Bible was not collected together and given to the world until 390 A. D.

More amazing still, that some people believe it.

Brief Articles On The Draft Law And Regulations

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

IX

The rights of men registered with a draft board are guarded by appeal regulations. Appeals from local board decisions are heard by four State appeal boards.

Both the national and state directors of Selective Service may appeal from the determination of the local board at any time. A man registered with a board, any person who claims to be his dependent, his employer under certain circumstances, and others may appeal to the appeal board from any classification except a determination of physical or mental condition.

The registered man and others named in the above paragraph, in most cases, are allowed only 10 days from a date notice of classification is mailed to file the appeal. Regulations allow a longer period, from 30 to 60 days, when the man is in certain U. S. territories, foreign countries, or on the high seas.

The local board may allow appeals beyond these limits if it is satisfied that the failure of the person to appeal within the period was due to lack of understanding or to some cause beyond control of the person.

The person who desires to appeal must file written notice with the board. The notice need not be in any particular form but must state the registrant's name, and identity of person appealing. If a registrant is registered with a Texas board and is working or living in California, for example, he may appeal to a California appeal board if he wishes.

If the registrant is placed in a

 Her sympathy for underlings
 To me seemed always rightest—
 Her virtue and unworldliness
 Condemned all social sinning
 And yet, the world I confess
 Loved her from the beginning.

 She was my greatest teacher,
 Because of her, my soul was drawn

 I wrote it to none other—
 May God reward you even here

 My mother's love was sweetest;

 Her kindness was completest.
 Of modes of life that e'er have been,

Modern Milking of Live Cows Featured At First International Dairy Show

A modern Surge milking parlor, featuring real, live cows being milked at regular intervals in elevated stalls, is equipped with transparent glass pipes or experimental transparent pails so that spectators can see the milk flowing from cow to pail or tank. This Surge milking parlor, which has drawn thousands of viewers at State and County fairs this summer, is one of the many recent developments in mechanical cow milking being exhibited at the First International Dairy Show.

Cream Whips Main Street Traffic

Big traffic jam in front of the office last week. Thought everybody in the county was coming in to buy The Clarion, but they weren't.

Seems a 5-gallon can fell off Whitey Fisher's truck, spilling cream all over the street. Our cop on duty, Tiny Fields, halted traffic so Whitey could pick up the can. Tiny was about to wave the cars on when a kitten ran out and started lapping up the cream.

Well, traffic piled up, but Tiny paid no heed. Light changed green three times. After the kitten had enough, Tiny waved the traffic through.

From where I sit, this was just a "Tiny" demonstration of the way people in our town are. They're usually pretty considerate and tolerant. If one of our neighbors prefers a good glass of beer to his friend's coffee at dinner time, it's just each to his own taste and everything's "smooth as cream" between them.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Is In Favor Of Raising National Debt Limit If It'll Raise The Private Limit, Too

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is confused, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: I have been reading in the papers lately where President Eisenhower has been thinking about maybe havin to call Congress back into a special session to raise the debt limit.

This ain't the first time a man has taken over an outfoot and discovered it was in worse shape than he'd realized, and all my sympathies are with the President as he struggles to make ends met, balance the budget, keep up our defences, lower his golf score, pave all the roads everybody wants, build all the dams the cities want, increase Social Security, contend with Congress and cut taxes at the same time.

Understand, I don't want him to call a special session of Congress on my account, but if he does call em back and they raise the government's debt limit, how about puttin a rider on the bill to increase mine?

One of the greatest bars to expandin business in this country is the debt limit some merchants put on their customers, and what I would like to know is why don't they take on a more international viewpoint and open the floodgates? There are literally thousands of people in this country ready and willin to buy, and all that's stoppin em is these privately imposed debt limits. On my place out here, I can sit down, or could if I wasn't already sittin down, and enumerate dozens of improvements that could be made in the next thirty days, except for these private debt limits that are holding the country back. And my problem is more complex than Eisenhower's. It ain't just one debt limit that's in my way, it's dozens of em. Even if the lumber yard raised mine and allowed me enough credit for a new roof, I would still have to get the carpenters to raise theirs before construction could start.

You multiply my situation by the whole country and you begin to get an idea of how much more business everybody could do if this limit was changed.

Personally, my sympathies are all with the President, and while I don't know anything about the national debt limit, if raisin it will start a trend, I'm in favor of it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Humble To Begin Football Broadcasts

Southwest Conference football games will be brought into the living rooms of Texas fans via radio this season for the 20th consecutive year by Humble Oil and Refining Company.

A full schedule of Conference games plus all inter-sectional games played by Conference schools will be broadcast over networks comprising 58 Texas radio stations. Forty-five games in which Conference schools appear will be heard on the radio. Schedules are so arranged that fans have a choice of several different broadcasts each weekend.

West Texans will be able to follow Texas Tech games over a network of West Texas stations in other Humble broadcasts.

Kick-off of the Conference broadcasts will be Saturday, when Baylor faces California. Rice plays Florida, Texas A. & M. opposes Kentucky, T. C. U. battles Kansas, and Texas faces L. S. U.

Kern Tips of Houston, well-known play-by-play announcer who has handled Humble's Conference broadcasts for the last 18 years, will head the announcing staff. On the staff are such familiar sportscasters as Ves Box of Dallas, and John Ferguson.

Supplementing the football broadcasts will be a 30-minute TV program on Monday and Tuesday nights. The program, which replaces "Texas in Review" during the football season, will show highlights of the preceding Saturday's games.

Kern Tips, who knows Conference teams and styles of play, will comment on the highlight plays. He will explain how the interesting plays came about.

The football highlights program will be telecast on Monday nights over WBAP-TV, Fort Worth; KRLD-TV, Dallas; KRP-

C-TV, Houston; KWFT-TV, Wichita Falls; and KRBC-TV, Abilene.

THE MUNDAY TIMES

FORT WORTH—Cattle and calf prices broke sharply at all major market centers Monday as the season's largest offering, nearly 150,000 cattle, arrived. Grassers, fat cows and stockers suffered the biggest declines.

The downward swing of prices followed the sharp rise of the previous week when virtual starvation runs of livestock brought about by the Labor Day holiday had lifted prices sharply in all categories.

Suspension of the drought feed program in many counties last week helped crystallize the thinking of many cattle owners that it was time to put some cattle in the bank.

Many well informed people in the livestock and packing business are anxiously watching the percentage of slaughter of cows and heifers and expressing concern. They feel that no real inroads have been made into the big numbers of cattle and that on the basis of present slaughter figures, the cattle population is still rising.

State PMA Boss Claude McCan gave a fair indication of the change of climate in PMA and the Department of Agriculture generally with his statement last week on the drought disaster program. He said: "This is a disaster program, not one aimed at giving people some cheap feed." McCan says what he thinks every time, as many of the members of the livestock industry know from past experience. Such frank expressions are entirely new to government programs.

At Fort Worth Monday, good and choice fed cattle were scarce, selling from $18 to $21.50, with plain and medium grassers largely from $10 to $15.50, and some dairy breeds down to $8. Fat cows $9 to $11.50, and canners and cutters $6 to $9.50, some high-yielding brahmas and Western cutters at the higher figure. Bulls drew $8 to $12.

Good and choice fat calves $13 to $17, few heavies $17.50. Plain and medium butchers $10 to $13, culls $7 to $10. Stocker steer calves mostly $10 to $16.50, few $17.25. Stocker steers and yearlings $10 to $15.50. Replacement cows $8 to $12.

Times changes everything. Long cursed and discussed as the scourge of the pork industry—lard is now a hero! Soon the hungry Germans under the Communist heel really love the lard the United States is giving them. USDA has asked bids on around 15 million more pounds. Late purchase at near 16 cents per pound highest in some time for lard. They do say the East Germans dare death or torture to get a couple of pounds of pure lard.

Hogs climbed 75 cents at Fort Worth Monday. Topped at $26. Sows again selling at season's high of $23 to $24. (Lots of lard in those packing sows). Some sows up to 600 pounds sell to $22.50 or better.

Sheep and lambs active and fully steady at Fort Worth Monday. Advances of last week were held in the strong trade. Fat lambs $15 to $18, lower grades $8 to $15. Stocker and feeder lambs cashed at $10 to $15. Slaughter yearlings sold from $10 to $13. Old wethers drew $6 to $7. Slaughter ewes sold from $5 to $6.

Many sheep and cattle men are anxiously awaiting developments on wheat field pastures. Looks like wheat will get up but grazing will depend on whether more rains come or not this month. There could be lots of stock feed in the wheat belt if moisture conditions improve.

REVERSING THE SOIL FERTILITY LOSS TREND

Our Texas soils are being built up and torn down at the same time. The use of crop residues, manure, fertilizers and other good management practices builds up our soil productivity. But leaching, erosion, crop removal and oxidation of organic material, in too many cases, are depleting soil fertility faster than it is being built up. Reversing this trend will involve the development of soil management methods for all parts of the state.

The red or brown water of our Texas rivers, the increasing seriousness of flash floods, eroded hillsides and frequent dust storms are evidences of lost soil. While these situations are serious, the destruction of the productivity of our land is the real tragedy.

Productivity loss is not easy to see with the naked eye, and it is not reflected in data on crop yields. New technology, such as high-yielding, disease resistant crop varieties and new chemicals for insect control have temporarily prevented a downward trend in yield. And our crop yields have often been maintained by using "capital reserves"—depleting our basic soil resources.

Soils are produced by a vast number of combinations of climatic, geological and biological forces. Each of our thousands of soil types has its own possibilities and limitations. Some have been carefully explored, but many have not yet been described.

Better erosion control through contouring, mulching, terracing and grass waterways reduces soil loss. Good crop rotations and applications of lime and fertilizer compensate for part of the fertility loss. Research has been productive in overcoming these factors, but we have not yet stopped the downward trend on most soils. Only a start has been made in our understanding of the chemical, physical and biological forces involved in the building up and tearing down process.

Our biggest task will be in learning to understand the effect of alternative soil, crop, livestock and management systems upon gains and losses in fertility in each section of the state. The Texas Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station have been working on this project for a number of years. But it is also the duty of every farmer to learn as much about the qualities of his own soil as he can. Only then can he take advantage of the progress made in research projects.

Wheat Specialist Urges Treatment Of Grain Seeds For Smuts And Blights

Planting time for winter grain crops is at hand, and Fred C. Dines, extension marketing specialist, reminds farmers that smut is likely to take a toll if the seed are not treated before planting.

He reports that smut showed up in damaging amounts in many sections of the state during the past wheat harvest and warns it will be worse this year unless precautions are taken at planting time. He lists these as planting the best variety for the section, cleaning the seed to remove weed seeds and smut balls which may be present and chemical treatment of the planting seed.

Stinking smut is the disease which should get major attention. If untreated seed are planted which are infected with the smut spores, a good crop of stinking smut will develop next spring in the wheat heads where the grain should be, says Dines.

Smut reduces the yield in the field and smutty grain is docked on the market. This smut is hard to recognize in the field except by its foul odor and the somewhat greener color of the infected grain heads. The kernels of the infected plants change to smut balls, and when the grain is combined, these smut balls are broken and millions of black spores are scattered over the healthy wheat seed.

Oat and barley smut, on the other hand, is easily recognized by the black, barren heads in the field. According to Dines, the stinking smut of wheat and also of oats and barley can be controlled by chemical treatment of the planting seed, and he recommends that producers check with their local agent on the kind and amount of the chemical to use. The cost is very small and in addition to controlling stinking smut, the treated seed germinate faster, more seed germinate which means a better stand and yield, says Dines.

Loose smut of wheat is something else, explains Dines. It, too, leaves empty black heads in the field but cannot be controlled with chemicals. It can be controlled by a difficult hot water treatment, however. Dines suggests that it might be better to get clean wheat seed from growers who were not bothered with loose smut last season.

Helminthosporium blight is a relatively new disease which attacks oats. It affects the roots and stems of oats causing weakened stems and later lodging. It can be controlled by the same chemicals used in treating seed for protection against stinking smut, however points out Dines, the control may not be as complete as for smut. Oat varieties which are attacked by the blight includes some of the Victoria crosses as Fultex, Rustler, Ranger and Victoria Grain.

With limited wheat planting again in force, Dines says, producers should use every proved production practice which will enable them to produce top quality wheat and chemically treating the planting seed is of major importance. It will mean extra bushels of top quality grain come harvest next spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kilgore of Witumpka, Okla., were guests in the home of their niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ermon Thomas, over the week end.

Roadside Chain Sign

A GOOD looking chain sign, located near the curb or roadside, can be an effective way of selling products or services. The sign may be made at little expense of materials obtained from any lumber yard.

In the sign illustrated, the materials used were a 4 by 4-inch post, tapered to a point; a Masonite Presdwood product known as Tempered Duolux, which is 3/16" thick and smooth on both sides; an iron angle for suspending the sign, and pieces of light chain for fastening them together.

The Tempered Duolux, after being primed and painted, may be lettered with a sales message. Of course, the post and other parts of the installation should be painted too, and the portion of the post in the ground should first be treated with creosote or a similar preservative.

The dark squares at the right are painted with a slate material. Use chalk to mark the prices of the commodities or services offered.

Andes Mountains Setting For 3-D Adventure Tale

Robert Mitchum, Linda Darnell and Jack Palance make their bows in 3-D when "Second Chance," presented by Howard Hughes comes to the Roxy Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. These three important stars appear at the head of an impressive cast in a romantic adventure story told with thrilling realism and enhanced by spectacular Technicolor or photography against the scenic splendors of the Andes Mountains in South America.

Miss Darnell appears as a girl who has jilted her gangster boyfriend in America and fled to South America to be free of his influence and to rehabilitate herself. Mitchum is a prizefighter who accidentally killed a man in the ring in America and who is trying to find himself in a new country. They are thrown together when he befriends her and thus incur the deadly hatred of professional killer Jack Palance, who has been hired by Miss Darnell's former sweetheart to make sure she does not return to America to testify against him before a Senate Crime Committee.

A novel and breath-taking climax occurs on a funicular cable car suspended between two mountain peaks, as the passengers face death at the hands of gun-holding Palance and the possibility of being hurled to the ground several thousand feet below when the cable begins to give way.

The miracle medium of 3-D secures full dramatic value for the exciting story and the low scenes are said to be so realistic that every man in the audience will share each kiss with Linda Darnell and every woman will feel that she's in the arms of Robert Mitchum.

"Second Chance" is RKO Radio's first three-dimensional film. An Edmund Granger Production, it was directed by Rudolph Mate from a screenplay by Oscar Millard and Sydney Boehm.

Weekly Health LETTER
Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, of Texas.
M. D., State Health Officer

AUSTIN—As the life span of man increases more attention must be given to the diseases that occur most frequently among those over fifty, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Most retirement plans set age 65 as the time to quit work. This has given rise to the misconception that when a person reaches that age he is unfit for gainful employment.

Such an indictment fails to recognize experience, ability, training and capacity which may be far superior to younger groups and will only add to the relief rolls throughout the country. The later years of life can be productive and the employment of such persons can do much toward solving the economic and social problems of this age group.

Special attention must be given by physicians and public health personnel in preventing chronic illness such as arthritis, cancer, heart disease and senility, says Dr. Cox. Non-medical problems are acute because of inattention. The value of older
