

Kracker Krumb's Odds Bets Salvaged at Rando's

It's a pretty good sign I is here.

We noted quite a few cotton hauling trucks had been parked in town Saturday.

And merchants also reported a little better business than usual for the day.

But the cotton price is not yet in full sway.

There seems to be a shortage of people who work in the cotton fields right at the present time.

However, some of them came in during the week end, and folks are looking forward to bigger and better Saturdays in the weeks to come.

Later maturing of cotton to the south and east of us has delayed the type of migrant laborers upon which this county depends for gathering of the cotton crops.

Several local people have made trips in that direction, sort of prospecting and trying to locate hands for the cotton fields of Knox County.

Heard one fellow remark last week: "Why, we got down there and found the gins as crowded as we are during the peak of the harvest season. Some of those fellows even tried to hire us to gather cotton—and there we were looking for hands."

Farmers have said they had 25 to 35 bales open, and not a cotton picker to harvest it.

So the shortage of hands right at this time, we believe, due to two factors: cotton maturing later in areas southeast of us, and the unprecedented hot and dry weather in our particular area making the cotton mature a little earlier than expected.

And speaking of the weather, seems to us that the seasons are all mixed up again.

Fall is here, officially, and according to the calendar—and here we are having that summer weather again.

For a few weeks—our wife says three—in July, we didn't have to run the air conditioner. Now comes September, and fall when the cooler weather is supposed to set in, and the air conditioner is still a very vital piece of equipment in shop or home.

That little nap we took Sunday afternoon in the air conditioned room, without benefit of cover and very little clothing, was just as pleasant as any July or August nap we ever enjoyed.

And we were just sort of dragging through the remainder of summer, waiting for fall to get here.

Barring the fumbles, we sort of liked the brand of football our Moguls played last Friday night. Fumbles are frequent on any team during the early part of the season. In fact, we heard one man remark that a big college team lost the game on fumbles Saturday.

But our Moguls showed an improved brand of football. They mixed up ground running games which made yardage with completed passes for additional yardage. Passes are always in danger of being intercepted, but that makes an interesting game, in our opinion. And our boys completed some for nice gains.

And the fact that they lost 26 to 19 doesn't matter too much. Our Moguls showed good sportsmanship and the fighting spirit, even in losing the game.

Former Knox County Family Winners In Home Improvement Contest

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hutchen, Antioch, have been named winners of White County, Arkansas, in a home improvement contest sponsored by the FHA, according to an article in an Arkansas paper which was received here last week. They entered the new homes division and will go to district and state judging. The article stated further:

"The Hutchens and their nine-year-old son, Alan, came here three years ago from Texas. Native Texans, they heard about the Antioch community from relatives who had visited there. When time came to build their home, they came to Antioch, liked what they found and began making plans for their home.

"Now on a hill overlooking Antioch one finds as modern a home as any city could boast. Mrs. Hutchen has six cheery rooms and bath with gleaming blue tile fixtures. Her kitchen, done in bright yellow, overlooks a valley. In the corner of the spacious living room sit a large television set.

"They lived in a house trailer before construction of their new home was completed.

"Tuesday, district judges made an inspection tour of the home and lawn and now the Hutchens must wait to find out whether or not they step up in the contest. But as county winners, they are looking forward to a banquet in Little Rock when recognition will be accorded to this progressive Antioch family."

Mr. Hutchen was reared at Goree, and Mrs. Hutchen is a native of Munday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Redwine, who lived in Munday a number of years before moving to Gunter three years ago.

Oil On Pavement Causes Accident For Local Attorney

M. F. Billingsley, local attorney, miraculously escaped injury last Tuesday morning when his car "rolled" with him near Jacksboro.

Mr. Billingsley was returning from Dallas after taking his mother-in-law, Mrs. M. B. Bounds, to visit relatives there. It had just become light enough that he turned off his headlights when the car struck a place where oil had been spilled on the highway for some distance. He fought the slick pavement and skidding auto for sometime before losing control, then the car "rolled" with him several times. Judge Billingsley crawled out of the demolished car with only slight bruises, and he's very happy that he was traveling alone at the time.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By W. J. Bryan, Knox County Agent

President Eisenhower has proclaimed October 4-10 as National Fire Prevention Week. I would like to urge all Knox County citizens to stress carefulness and vigilance, so as to reduce the tragic loss of life and waste of property from the ravages of preventable fires.

Farm fires caused a loss of about $133,000,000 worth of farm property, and the death of 3,000 farm people during the past year. This loss of manpower, livestock, farm products, buildings and equipment is staggering! Moreover, approximately 95% of these fires were the result of carelessness and neglect.

Following is a list of things that you should do and do to help prevent fires:

- 1.—Don't smoke in the car or in bed. Never discard burning matches.
- 2.—Keep furnaces, stoves, broilers and other heating devices clean and in good repair.
- 3.—Store gasoline and kerosene in approved containers at least 40 feet away from main buildings, preferably underground.
- 4.—Hire a competent electrician to do electrical work. Make sure that you have enough circuits properly fused and of ample capacity to carry the load of modern electrical equipment. Replace frayed cords.
- 5.—Use fire-resistant roofing such as asphalt shingles, asbestos or metal, on all buildings.
- 6.—Cure hay properly. Moisture frequently leads to spontaneous ignition even several weeks after hay has been stored. If heating is suspected, test hay temperature periodically. If temperature rises to approximately 170 degrees, seek the advice of your fire department.
- 7.—Get rid of trash. Old newspapers, magazines, and other debris can serve as tinder for any chance spark.
- 8.—Keep oily rags in covered, metal containers.
- 9.—Provide boll pullers with safety matches and stress the importance of being careful with sparks around the cotton trailers and gins.

THE COMPETITIVE URGE

The house organ of a leading oil company recently published an unusual article. The title was, "Competition is Healthy." The illustration showed the company's familiar emblem, which is displayed at all service stations dispensing its products—and also showed the emblems of nine other companies which are its competitors.

The text said, "We are engaged in one of the most competitive industries in the world . . . There are literally thousands of oil companies of all sizes competing against each other. Some that are big were once small—and may become small again. Some that are small now will become big."

"The oil industry knows that competition is healthy. As Americans, we have a special fondness for the competitive urge. For competition keeps up on our toes. It adds zest to our lives. It makes the race worth running."

"Our nation has achieved great things because its citizens want to excel in whatever they do . . . and because they are free to compete, where and whenever they choose."

"That attitude is characteristic of the oil industry as a whole. Competition goes on 365 days a year, in every phase of the oil industry's complex work from exploring new fields to selling the finished product in the service station. And the result, to the consumer, is more and better oil products, fairly priced."

HOW MUCH DO YOU PAY?

Very few of us realize how much money we must pay in taxes—for the reason that so large a part of the tax burden is indirect.

The National Association of Manufacturers has done some research on the subject, using government statistics and other reliable data. Here is what it believes average families in the listed income brackets pay:

Four thousand dollars—$1,093, or 27.3 per cent of income; $7,500—$2,766, or 36.9 per cent of income; $10,000—$4,005, or 40 per cent of income.

Keep that in mind next time you hear the hoary old argument that only the well-to-do and the need really worry about taxes.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MOUNTAIN VIEW, OKLA. LEADER: "The right and freedom to join a labor union is no longer denied anywhere in this country. It is protected by federal laws. But the corresponding right and freedom to join a labor union is no so protected and is now becoming rapidly extinguished in this, our 'land of liberty'."

TWO BASIC RIGHTS

Alabama has joined the growing list of states which have outlawed the closed shop and similar labor-management agreements. In signing the bill, Governor Persons said he approved it "because I believe in free labor and free enterprise."

The statement covers the matter accurately. Long ago, and rightly, labor leaders fought bitterly against employers who practiced "union busting" and made a practice of blacklisting union men. Today unequivocal laws, with the full strength of public opinion behind them, protect the right of a man to voluntarily join a union. It is equally vital that his right not to join a union if he so decides be protected. There can be no such thing as free labor so long as a worker is forced to become a member of any organization and pay it dues if he is to earn his living.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA. YE TOWNE CRYER: "Anyone who watches the legislature or the congress closely knows that there is far too much of 'you vote for my bill and I'll vote for yours'. A new pressure group is needily badly . . . a pressure group which has no interest except in the people as a whole."

EL DORADO, KANS. TIMES: "For many years, the public generally has been told that there was no way for taxes to go except up. Some rare and remarkable officials here and there, and on occasion, are discovering that taxes also can go down. The reasonable conclusion in the matter must be that the course of taxes largely depends upon the equation that where there's a will there's a way."

PHILADELPHIA, PA. TRADES UNION NEWS: "It's easier to control state governments than the national government because the latter is watched more closely by the public."

CALLING THE TUNE

A great many people still seem to believe that it is possible to get all kinds of handouts from the federal government and still keep our freedom and independence.

They should ponder this sentence from a 1942 U. S. Supreme Court decision: "It is hardly lack of due process for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes."

The Court simply said, in judicial language, that when government pays the bills, it can call the tune to which we must dance.

HOW WE GOT OUR BIBLE (VERSIONS)

The best known and most widely used version of the Bible was given to the world in 1611. More than likely it is the one that you have in your home. Known as the King James or Authorized Version because King James of England gave authority to 48 of the world's best scholars to translate the Bible into the English language. This version has been the best seller of books for many years. It has been published or translated as a whole into 195 languages. In addition to that the New Testament has been published in 252 tongues. There are 602 additional languages in which a Gospel or another whole book has been published.

In 1885, one hundred and one scholars gave to the world the Revised Version. These men were from England and America. It contained many idioms native to England. It was newly edited by the American Revision Committee in 1901. This is known as the American Standard Version. No doubt, this is the most accurate version to date. The scholars had the advantage of the three oldest manuscripts that former scholars did not have. It gives the Bible to us in every-day English.

Many other private translations have been made. Such as Moffets and Goodspeed and others. These are good for study and comparison but are not accepted as standard or authoritative.

The last version we mention is the Revised Standard Version. It is more up to date than the King James and in a few instances made clearer than the American Standard Version. However, its modernistic tendencies and impressions has caused it to be rejected as authoritative. Its subtle implications must be watched and rejected. It is good used as a comparison but do not lay aside your King James nor the American Standard.

CLIFFORD WILSON, Evangelist

Recently, your columnist read Gene Fowler's "Beau James," the biography of Manhattan's dapper, clever, handsome mayor of the 1920's. Someone said of Jimmy Walker, "New York wore him in its lapel like a flower—and vice versa."

Walker was, to a great extent, the product of the times in which he lived—as who is not? To blame the genial Jimmy for his faults would be, to quote a Fowler expression, "as though a man blamed his shoes for taking him into a saloon."

When Walker was state senator, a Tammany Hall leader died; and Jimmy, as well as other Democratic officials attended the funeral. That night, Jimmy went to a night club. Next day, Al Smith undertook to rebuke him but Walker countered with, "You're mixed up; it was Jones who died—not me."

How one clever remark can undo the entire effect of a serious speech was demonstrated when a hearing was held before Al Smith, then governor, on a proposal to raise the 5-cent subway fare in New York City. A dignified and able attorney, DeLancey Nicoll, spoke for an hour and a half for the company's side. Smith then announced, "The mayor of the City of New York will now reply." Walker arose and said, "That was the longest ride I ever had on a Nicoll."

But the wisecracking Walker had his serious side, too. At the unveiling of a monument in Yankee Stadium to Miller Huggins, who had been manager of Babe Ruth & Company, Mayor Walker declared, "Fame is a comet that chases its own tail in

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants To See A Move Started To Improve The Towns Along With The Farm Lands

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has an odd slant this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor: Every once in a while I read where there's a move on to encourage the farmer to improve his farm methods, to build up his soil, to increase his production per acre, improve his pasture, increase the carrying capacity of his range, and I think it's a good idea, I'm in favor of it, anything the folks in town can do to improve us folks out here one-sided, isn't there something somebody ought to improve me, I don't intend to.

But I was just thinkin, we oughtn't to let this thing get one-sided, isn't there something us folks in the country can do to encourage the people in town to improve a little?

After we get the country built up, are there any plans for buildin up the towns?

For example, how about a drive to build up more courtesy per clerk? The per acre yield in the country is important, but so is the courtesy per clerk in town. How about more parkin space per car? Or more butter per slice of toast at the cafes? Or more ice cream per ice cream cone? Or more coffee per coffee cup? Or more entertainment per quarter at the picture show? Or more interest in readin per square inch in the newspapers? Or a drive to weed out dullness on the radio?

Naturally, there's not much point in plantin legumes in town, no place there for an early plow-up, but there are other phases of improvement. For example, farmers are always being urged to improve the quality of their herds. I ain't callin no names, but ain't there a few offspring in town which could stand some improvin? Ain't there a few more desirable characteristics which can be built up?

Improvement in this country ought to go hand in hand, we don't want the farms to get too far ahead of the towns. The per-acre yield doesn't want to get too far ahead of the per-store yield. If you get a cattleman to grow two blades of grass where one grew before, you want to get the bank to make two loans where it only made one before. For every herd that's improved in the country, there ought to be some improvin in the family strains in town. Every time a farmer stops a piece of land from erodin, somebody in town ought to stop some mental erosion. Worn-out land ain't any worse than worn-out brains.

If you think this is a good idea and can't think of any place to start, I'd tell you if my subscription wasn't already delinquent.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

CHEMICALS WORK FOR U. S. FARMER

Agricultural chemicals are estimated to be adding about one billion dollars a year to farm income by maintaining fertility of the land and controlling insects, the Manufacturing Chemists Association reports.

The association says that last year farmers bought more than $1,500,000,000 worth of chemicals. This included 23,000,000 tons of fertilizers; 250,000,000 pounds of insect killers; 50,000,000 pounds of weed killers, and a growing volume of seed disinfectants, growth stimulators, soil conditioning chemicals and fungicides.

The Manufacturing Chemists Association estimates that fertilizer alone increased national harvests by 20 per cent and says that the farmer is reinvesting six cents out of every dollar to keep up the fertility of his land. For every dime spent on pesticides, the chemical organization reports, one dollar is returned.

Of all crops, cotton owes most to chemicals. Fertilization boosts production, chemicals reduce weed growth, new insecticides combat the boll weevil and other pests, and chemical defoliants facilitate the work of cotton harvesting machines.

Mexican Oil Field Drama To Show Here

Gary Cooper, Barbara Stanwyck, Ruth Roman and Anthony Quinn co-star in Warner Bros. "Blowing Wild," which opens Tuesday for three days at the Roxy Theatre. Miss Stanwyck and Miss Roman are the women in their lives. Miss Stanwyck plays the tempestuous wife of Quinn and Miss Roman is seen as the woman Cooper loves.

Special background music was composed for "Blowing Wild" by another of last year's Academy Award winners, Dmitri Tiomkin. His score and the title song are sung by Frankie Laine.

Stars of the Hollywood Ice Review enjoy summer outings, such as backyard turkey barbecues, while practicing for their fall and winter skating performances throughout America. Star performers on ice and stars of barbecuing at outdoor fireplaces are Carol Lynne (standing) and Dee Larkin, both of Chicago. Carol applies the barbecue sauce to a quarter of a turkey while Dee holds turkey on long-handled fork used for turning the birds during barbecuing. The girls insist that barbecuing, unlike ice skating, requires no practice.

Wanda Dell Driggers, Melvin Vojkufka Are Married At Weinert

Marriage vows were repeated Sunday afternoon in Weinert Foursquare Church at 3:00 o'clock by Miss Wanda Nell Driggers and Melvin Vojkufka.

The doubling ceremony was read by Rev. Floyd V. Bailey beneath a green archway entwined with roses and centered with wedding bells. Miniature bride and groom stood in the center of a small arch on the piano. Nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Gene Perry, pianist, and Joella Weinert, soloist, who sang "Always," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, E. M. Owens, wore a waltz length dress of white taffeta with fitted bodice, buttoned down the back, with a gathered skirt. Her fingertip length veil was of imported illusion, caught with a head band embroidered with seed pearls. For her something old she carried her mother's white Bible, something new was her dress and accessories, something borrowed were pearl earrings. She wore the traditional blue garter and penny in her white satin ballerina shoes. She carried carnations atop her Bible. Miss Lula Faye Free, of Haskell, who served as maid of honor, was dressed identically to the bride in an ice blue taffeta, which was street length, and carried a bouquet of pink gladioluses.

Henry Vojkufka, father of the groom, served as his son's best man. Ushers were Paul R. Flanagan of Weatherford, brother-in-law of the bride, and L. D. Vaughn of Weinert.

For her going away dress the bride chose navy velveteen with navy and light blue accessories. Out of town guests were present from Weatherford, Pampa, Fort Worth, Mansfield, Munday, Knox City and Haskell.

The bride and groom are graduates of Weinert High School. The groom is serving in the U. S. Army and is stationed at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas. The bride is employed in the office of the County Clerk in Haskell.

REPORTS DUE ON 1953 TEXAS HYBRID CORN PRODUCTION PROGRAM

Corn producers who enrolled last spring in the Texas Hybrid Corn Production program are reminded by Extension Agronomist W. B. Coke that the time has arrived for reporting results.

He points out that early reports from over the state indicate that yields probably will not equal the records set in previous years due to the dry weather which hit a critical time in the growing period of the corn plant. On the other hand, he says, the reports no doubt will reflect the value of good seed, soil preparation, fertilizer cultural methods and crop rotation aids for keeping production high during drouth periods. He encourages producers to complete their report forms and pass them on to the local county agent for transmittal to the state office.

Final date for submitting county records for area and state final is October 15. The state committee will soon after this date name the 1953 winners

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Gully of pretzel posture? Does your body posture profile look like the bent part of a capital "D"?

Then harken to the words of State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox as he explains that good health and appearance have their starting point in good posture. Here's how you, too, can obtain the stance of a Grecian god or goddess, as the case may be.

Hold your head high and pull your chin in until your eye is parallel to the ground. Pull your shoulders back and make the shoulder blades form as near a flat surface as possible. Raise your chest up and push it forward until the buttons strain. Draw your abdomen up and in, and when you breathe make sure it's your chest that rises and falls rather than the abdomen. Flatten the lower part of your back, tucking the buttocks as close under the hips as possible. Tip your back down. Hold your knees straight but not stiff. Put your feet parallel, with the weight evenly balanced.

A good posture can be had without stiffness or strain, so don't exaggerate. Some people feel it is more comfortable to walk, stand, or sit in a slouchy position, drooped over like a wilted weed. In your vain attempt for more comfort in daily activity, don't forget that the true secret of good posture is to keep the body well balanced throughout the day.

The old saying has it that "there's a place for everything," and Dr. Cox says that goes for the human body. Each organ has a specific space in which its function is performed. The vital organs—heart, lungs, abdomen, etc.—tend to be cramped when the body is slumped over.

Cramped lungs cannot deliver a full supply of oxygen; circulation is slowed up when the heart is cramped; and a cramped stomach impairs digestion. "Remember," the doctor cautions, "true comfort and true relaxation comes with good posture."

In street parlance that means "straighten up, friend, you will feel better."

Mrs. E. N. Montandon and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Barnard Johnny and Miss Teenie Montandon were Abilene visitors last Monday. and Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Bilbrey and Cathy were visitors in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

One for the Books!

Noticed the Missus had a red ribbon tied around her finger at breakfast one morning last week. "What's that for?" I asked. "Your memory slipping?"

"It's not for me," she answers, "it's to remind you, and everybody else who asks what it's for, to contribute to the Woman's Club Library Fund. We need $200 and we figured we'd get more help if we could get people to ask us about it."

Well, as it turned out, the red ribbon worked just fine. The ladies are having the library all fixed up—and there's enough money for some new books, too. From where I sit, it would be a fine thing if we had some sort of private reminder when we forget the rights of our neighbors. Like when we start telling them what we think is best. I may like a travel book and a temperate glass of beer while you prefer a cup of tea with your historical novel. Let's both remember not to "put the finger" on the other!

FOR CAPTURE WITH CAMERA

The return to "readin' and 'ritin' and 'rithmetic" is recorded in a simple scene that tells a story at a glance. Moments like this—eventful and fleeting—can be caught with camera to live again for time to come. Some of the best picture possibilities, ready for the taking, are right around the home. A scene like this one may be found literally on your own doorstep.

FORT WORTH—Football fans are familiar with the exploits of Slingin' Sammy Baugh, who starred at TCU and later with the professional Washington Redskins.

This week at Fort Worth he scored again, and probably got a bigger thrill than he did from many of his pigskin heroics. Sammy Baugh took the feeder calf honors with the top load Monday.

Baugh ranches near Rotan in Fisher County. He has built a fine herd of Herefords with part of his football earnings. At Fort Worth Monday, he sold a string of calves that included 45 head of steer calves at 524 pounds $19 per hundred, best price here in a couple of weeks. The heifers off them sold at $14.

Munday

As September faded and the calendar rolled around toward October, the calf market staged a brisk rally for last week's extreme lows. Most sales were fully 50c to $1.00 higher than at the close last week, and some spots were $1.00 to $2.00 up.

Lighter receipts all around the market circle, plus improved shipper and order buyer demand accounted for the better calf market.

All sections of the cattle market were fully steady to stronger, except bulls which eased 25c to 50c per hundred.

Highly finished cattle were scarce as hen's teeth at Fort Worth Monday, except for scattering boys club calves, a few of these sold at $25 to $26. Other good to choice fed steers and yearlings sold for $17 to $22. Most grassers sold from $10 to 15.50 with cutter grade yearlings from $7 to $9.

Fat cows drew $9.50 to $12, while canners and cutters sold for $6.50 to $10. The latter figure reserved for high Brahman and western cutters. Bulls sold from $8 to $12.50.

Fat calves of good and choice grades sold for $12 to $14, best heavies $14 to $15. Common and medium butchers sold from $9 to $11, and culls drew $7 to $9.

Good and choice stocker steer calves sold from $12 to $17, a few higher and the top load at $19. Stocker steers and yearlings sold from $9 to $15.50, while replacement cows sold from $8 to $12.

Strong shipper demand put a 50c advance on hogs at Fort Worth Monday, and top hogs sold mostly at $26. Sows were strong to 50 cents higher at $21 to $23.50.

Fall movement of sheep and lambs continued to expand here as 7,700 were reported at Fort Worth's yards on Monday. Slaughter lambs were strong to 50 cents higher. Fat yearlings were strong. Old ewes lost around 25 cents per hundred. Feeders were very scarce and steady.

Good and choice fat lambs drew $16 to $17, and cull, common and medium kinds sold from $10 to $15. Stocker and feeder lambs drew $9 to $13. Old ewes drew $5 to $6.50, some fresh shorn hard culls down to $4. Old wethers drew $6 to $7. Solid mouthed ewes sold for $7 to $8. Slaughter yearlings cashed at $10 to $12.

A rush of cattle and calves to market on the heels of the first killing frost has market men worried. They are advising cattle men to ship, or plan shipments, so as to get in ahead of this forced rush after a general frost hits. Excessive numbers could mean a bad break in prices and many producers will not be able to postpone shipping after a frost for long.

Farm Bureau Enables You and Other Farm Families to Speak With One Voice

In the early days of our nation nearly everyone worked on the land; no special effort was needed to tell the farmer's story or to protect his interests. The land was new; markets generally were close by; government was small; and needs were simple.

Today all this has changed. Markets are distant; government is larger; needs are many and complex; agriculture is no longer the only important industry in America.

Laws, rules, regulations and policies that apply to people generally also affect the farmer. As a result, his business is influenced by many factors about which he can do little by himself—

At present the farmer has less than 15% of the vote. In a few years it may be 10 per cent.

So, today, agriculture needs an organized voice to be heard. It must be a united voice, for individual voices have little effect on policies and legislation. And it must be strong, free and independent.

This means the farmer must have a strong organization.

No-Backlash Door

THE MAMA Pig needn't say, "Get away from them swingin' doors, girl," when she and her family live in a hog house outfitted with no-backlash doors. There'll be no bruising of hogs with these automatic swinging doors, which let little pigs and big ones through without any spanking.

The no-backlash door, which anyone can make in short order, consists of two pieces of Masonite 3/4" Tempered Presdwood hinged together and from the top of a lumber framework.

It also solves the problem of keeping the live stock comfortable in winter.

William Hulsebus, a Carnarvon, Ia., lumber dealer, invented the door, which swings back into place slowly and therefore does not strike the animals after they pass through. Young pigs move in and out of the house through a panel six inches high, hinged to the larger panel above. When they grow, they join their elders in using the big panel, which is 25 inches high and 21 wide.

Fasten the hinges to the Tempered Presdwood with nuts and bolts, and cover the cracks (see illustration) with fabric, which may be fastened with a heavy-duty stapler. The fabric will serve to keep out drafts in cold weather.

NEW GRASSLAND SEEDING METHOD

The problem of how to establish a good grassland crop may now be close to a solution due to experiments conducted during the past year.

The farmer has long been troubled by the puzzler of how to give grass seeds a good footing in the soil. In most cases, he still relies upon the old "broadcast" method—a system prevalent during Biblical times. Now, a new type of "precision planting" is showing excellent results.

Precision planting calls for drilling of grass and clover seed at a depth of one-fourth inch. One inch below these seeds has been placed a band of fertilizer. Soil is then packed over the seed.

The advantage of fertilizer placement in a band below the grass seed became evident soon after the plantings were made in September of last year. Although seedlings in all test plots were up within a few days, those in which the fertilizer had been "banded" one inch below the seed, developed most rapidly. Weeds also were less prominent in the "banded" plots than they were when the fertilizer was broadcast.

Plants in banded drill rows eight inches apart grew rapidly and made growth enough to survive the winter. But plots where the plants were between fertilizer rows developed slowly and many were killed during the winter.

Further tests showed that if a high rate of fertilizer, 150 pounds per acre of 3-12-6, were placed in contact with the grass and clover seed at planting time, then the stands of clover was suppressed. Growth was also slow if the bands of fertilizer were one inch below and one inch to the side of the seed. Therefore, the method of placing fertilizer one inch directly below the seed proved superior to all other tests.

There was apparently very little advantage in broadcasting the seed and banding the fertilizer. However, drilling the seed showed considerable advantage even when the fertilizer was broadcast.

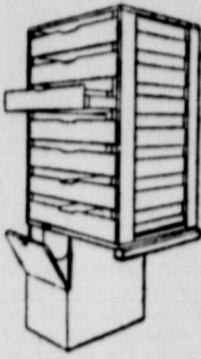

Examination of the weed content in harvested forage showed that where both seed and fertilizer were drilled, practically no weeds were in evidence. But where seed or fertilizer were broadcast, weeds were a real problem, especially at low rates of seeding and fertilization.

Week end guests in the home of Mrs. J. B. Bowden were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Joyce and son of Albany and Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Russell and son of Vernon.

Built-in Drawers

FOR easier housekeeping, a battery of shallow built-in drawers may be located in any entrance-wide closet. With so many drawers, it's simple to classify the linens and keep them neatly pressed.

Some drawers may be assigned to pillow cases and others to sheets, guest towels, face cloths or other items. If the closet is near the dining room, the drawers can be used similarly for table and kitchen linens.

As illustrated, the drawers are held in place and operate on two side walls made of lumber. Each slide between 1 by 4-inch wood pieces screwed horizontally on the uprights.

The drawers are made by nailing together 1 by 2-inch wood strips and attaching a bottom of Masonite 3/16" Tempered Preswood. The dust-protectors on the front also serve as pulls. They, too, are Preswood, a smooth, splinter-free material widely used in furniture.

A detailed plan for this built-in linen closet may be obtained free by writing Home Service Bureau, Suite 2039, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting "see plan No. AE-269."

Approximately 4,200 bales of cotton are used annually in the manufacture of flags.

October 5 To 10 Proclaimed Farm Bureau Week

Gov. Allan Shivers has officially proclaimed the week, Oct. 5-10, "Texas Farm Bureau Membership Week."

During that week more than 10,000 volunteer workers in some 180 organized counties will spread out over the countryside contacting individual farmers and ranchers to invite them to join Farm Bureau. The membership goal in Texas this year is 75,000 farm families. At the present, there are more than 53,000 Texas farm families with membership in Farm Bureau, an independent farm organization of, by and for farmers.

On the eve of the gigantic state-wide membership campaign, J. Walter Hammond, president of the state farm organization, stressed the need for a stronger state Farm Bureau in a letter sent to all county Farm Bureau officials in the state.

"The people engaged in farming and ranching have a great responsibility facing them this year," he declared. "This is year of decision. Farmers must decide what policies we want incorporated into the national farm program, and they must decide who shall speak for the farmers. Next year will be a year of action on a national basis, and the voice of Texas farmers and ranchers will be determined by the membership in the Texas Farm Bureau Federation."

The Texas Farm Bureau is affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation, which has a membership of 1,492,282 in 48 states and Puerto Rico. Illinois, the largest state in membership standing, has nearly 200,000 members, while several other mid-Western states have more than 100,000 members. Texas has the largest potential, with some 350,000 farm families in the state. Many of the larger Farm Bureau states have already reached their maximum membership potential.

Farm Bureau policies are determined democratically through a resolutions process in county, state and national conventions. The number of official voting delegates at these conventions is determined by the number of Farm Bureau members in the county or state.

Texas Farm Bureau officials are looking forward to the day when the farmers and ranchers of this state have a more powerful voice in determining what the national farm program shall be.

Minneapolis, Minn. — Author-producers of some of the best-known comic strips, appearing in the nation's leading newspapers, for several years have contributed their time and efforts in support of the annual Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation polio fund appeals.

Familiar comic-strip characters who this year are urging generous contributions to the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation include

The Nebbys by Hess, Donald Duck by Walt Disney, Bugs Bunny by Warner Bros. Cartoons, Inc., and Steve Canyon by Milton Caniff.

"These nationally-known comic strip artists are helping to insure that the polio-combating program of the late Sister Elizabeth Kenny will be continued and, where possible, expanded," Marvin L. Kline, Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation national executive director, said.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips Observe Golden Wedding Date On September 20

On September 20, 1953, from the hours of 2:00 to 6:00 P. M., open house was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips, where their golden wedding anniversary was being celebrated.

Fifty years ago in a small log cabin in Everton, Arkansas, Juda Ardella Williams and James Christopher Phillips, together with three other couples, were united in marriage. After spending their first year of marriage in Everton, Arkansas, they moved to Oktaha, Oklahoma; but not being satisfied there after a period of two years, they became true, red blooded Texans, arriving in Munday, Texas by covered wagon in the Fall of 1906. Most of their lives has been spent in the vicinity of Knox County. During the 50 years, nine children were born to the couple, six of whom are now living. Those present of the immediate family were Mr. and Mrs. H. D. The recent discovery that X-disease in cattle can be caused by lubricant makes it important that cattle be kept away from grease racks, machinery, sheds and oil drums. Cold weather causes cattle to come closer to the farm buildings and caution against this danger is advisable. Chlorinated naphthalene compounds are known to be a causative agent of X-disease which has made inroads on the cattle population in many of the states.

The week of October 4-10 is National Fire Prevention Week and a mighty good time to commence a farm fire prevention program on a farm and community basis.

Steers Defeat Moguls Here In See-Saw Battle

The Rochester Steers downed the Munday Moguls here Friday night in a sort of see-saw battle that ended 26 to 19. The Moguls showed an improved brand of football in making their three touchdowns and big gains on the field, but fumbles were still numerous.

The combining of running and passing attacks by the Moguls gave local fans an interesting game to watch.

Rochester drew first blood with a score by Tony McWhorter, who scored from the six in the first quarter. The kick for extra point was wide.

Munday scored on a run by William Allred, who traveled 35 yards, with Gerald Tidwell running over the extra point, giving Munday a one-point lead. The second quarter was scoreless.

The shifty and fast McWhorter ran 47 yards for the Steer's second tally. McWhorter also ran the extra point. Munday scored on a pass from Glen Amerson to Gene Haynie, and the extra point failed, leaving the old ball game tied up.

In the fourth quarter, Rochester scored on a pass from Roger Nanny to McWhorter, and Mc-Whorter again ran the extra point. The Moguls scored on a run by Tidwell, and the kick failed, leaving Rochester leading 20-19.

In the final minutes McWhorter made a 55-yard run to ice the game, 26 to 19, as the try for extra point failed.

Calico was first made at Calicut, India, where it was hand-printed with wooden blocks.

ALWAYS TO BUILD
As these words, will come to me,
I'll set them down, to helpful be.
From time, through Eternity,
My friend, I would a builder be.

In days of war, and too, in peace,
The need to grow, cannot decrease,
Relentless as the mighty waves,
That beat upon a shore,
The hand of opportunity,
Is ever knocking, at my door.

That I might clean, and hand-some, be,
Strong character, become a part of me,
Planting the Faith, in children well,
Where God, our Master-builder, can dwell.
