RANCHMEN STILL NEED HAY

The Texas Drouth Relief Hay program has had a curious result.

Out in West Texas, stockmen desperately in need of hay for their livestock in need of hay for pin it in from as far away as Idaho and California. Yet farmers in some parts of East Texas have a burdensome supply of hay in their barns.

Until recently, drouth area ranchmen did not have to consider the shipping cost when they made hay purchases. They could buy grasses outside the state and have the shipping cost refunded to them through a co-operative agreement between the railroads, the federal government and the state of Texas. This was a desperately needed emergency measure to get hay to stricken livestock.

Now, funds for this program are extremely low. The hay buyer must carry a part of the shipping expense. As a result, it is hoped he will buy the hay from Texas growers.

Most of the money used in the hay relief program was furnished by the federal government. Because of this fact, there was no legal way that hay purchases could be restricted to within state supplies. In many respects, this was an unfortunate situation.

Since the farmers with hungry cattle did not have to consider freight rates, he naturally looked for good hay at the lowest purchase price. Many of them found conditions more favorable outside of Texas. Others did not take the time to locate nearby supplies but took what was offered from other states.

In order to encourage the purchase of Texas hay, the State Department of Agriculture has, at its own expense, endeavored to locate available state hay. This information, along with price quotations, have been forwarded constantly to country drouth committees, to feed dealers and to individual farmers.

Any farmer with an over supply of hay or who knows of hay available for sale should send the information to the State Department of Agriculture in Austin. There is still a good market for this hay in the drouth area.

Picture Mounting Board

ARTISTS like to feel that their paintings are not only for contemporary enjoyment but "for the ages." In time, canvas will rot. Of course, it is fragile to begin with and subject to tears and rents.

Many artists nowadays are using a modern building material, Masonite Tempered Presdwood, available in lumber yards, instead of canvas. It's easy to paint on, and its durability is unquestioned.

In addition to being useful for the painting itself, the Tempered Presdwood makes an ideal backing for artistic work executed on paper or canvas. As illustrated, the artist simply attaches the painting on the hardboard with waterproof glue, leaving a properly-proportioned margin around the edges.

Corners of the backing material should be rounded and the exposed edges lightly sanded. To hang a picture or photograph mounted in this manner, use picture wire, attaching it to the back of the hardboard by means of glued-on paper hangers.

Tempered Presdwood sawed into small rectangles or even into special shapes with a coping saw, which cuts curves, is an ideal mounting for the display of snapshots or photo enlargements. Use rubber cement, so that occasional chances of picture may be made.

May we remind you?

The gas bills you're now paying are for winter months when a home may use 5 to 10 times as much gas as it does during a summer month. In practically all areas served by Lone Star, January and December had considerably more heating weather than the same two months a year ago.

And, of course,

You know Lone Star was one of the last businesses to raise its rate or price for service. Rate was reduced in 1942 so the one raise made last year added very little more to the price charged during depression years. The average year around cost in the average home here is still about 16 cents per day.

Thank you!

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Bcard

Last week, Dr. Cesar Gonzalez, Ambassador from Venezuela, conferred the Order of the Liberator on General Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission. It is my understanding that the Order of the Liberator is a high Venezuelan decoration that is awarded by that government only to those people who have rendered great public service. General Thompson was recognized for his more than twenty years of service to the cause of conservation of natural resources, principally oil and gas. He is, of course, probably the outstanding authority in the world today on the role that governments can play in an oil and gas conservation program.

His views are sought by every oil producing country in the world. It was in recognition of his high attainment in this field that the government of Venezuela recognized him. The actual presentation was made at the Venezuelan embassy and was attended by practically all of the Texas delegation in Washington. Everyone was highly pleased that this honor should come to a man who has rendered such a great service to the state of Texas.

It was just a few days ago that President Eisenhower made the first official announcement that the United States had exploded the hydrogen bomb on a Pacific island in the fall of 1952. Since the President's announcement, members of Congress have been given further information on the subject. It was my privilege to view films showing the great preparation that was made for the explosion and the actual explosion itself. Information conveyed by these films is still highly classified. There is, however, a recommendation by the Chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy to release the picture to the public. Personally, I hope this will be done. I can hardly see how it would convey any secrets to our enemies, and it certainly impresses one with the awfulness of the weapon.

Last week I introduced a bill which would raise personal tax exemptions from $600.00 to $800.00. This would apply to all individuals paying income taxes and their dependents. The bill also provides additional exemptions for old age and blindness. I am hopeful that this bill will receive favorable consideration by the Committee on Ways and Means and will be approved by the Congress.

The confusion that has developed over the so-called Bricker Amendment, which would outlaw any treaty that is in conflict with our Constitution, still exists. In fact, at the moment, it looks as if things are in a hopeless tangle. There have been a number of compromises suggested. It seemed for awhile that the compromise most likely to succeed was that offered by Senator George of Georgia; however, now it seems doubtful that even the Georgia senator's suggestion will satisfy the objections of the Administration. At this moment, it seems to be impossible to predict just what will happen to Senator Bricker's proposal.

The next few weeks promise to be pretty busy ones here. The House should have its first appropriation bill for consideration this week, and after that, the bills providing for the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway and postal rate increase will quickly follow. Each of these promises to be highly controversial and will be in for a rough time before they are disposed of.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Some folks are old at sixty while others are mentally and physically alert at eighty. The number of years one has lived may not be a true index to one's physical condition. Actually, the length of a person's life span is influenced by the condition of his arteries. "Premature hardening of the arteries, often due to avoidable infections, improper diet and possibly worry and strain is to a certain extent preventable," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Many of the problems connected with the hygiene of old age are due to lowered mental power. Therefore, a cheerful and optimistic attitude toward the aged, especially during sickness, is essential to their well being.

Old people regard their condition as far less serious when they can be fully dressed and out of bed. When they can be up, the excretory organs function more satisfactorily. However, when an elderly person complains of being overtired, or otherwise not physically fit, a day of rest in bed is advisable. By providing light and easily digested food and applying warmth to the body of an aged patient, he is often tided over a mild or threatened illness.

Special attention should also be paid to proper clothing, diet and exercise of the elderly. With reasonable attention to certain well defined and easily followed principles of personal hygiene, it is also possible, in many instances, to retain ones faculties to such an extent as to make old age a pleasure rather than a burden.

FORT WORTH—At a meeting last week of the Texas Swine Breeders Association officers and directors, the matter of swine shows was discussed. A number of the breeders expressed the view that because of the cancellation of major hog shows there had been some undesired criticism of the shows and the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission. It was brought out at this meeting that perhaps some explaining of the reasons hog shows had been cancelled would clear up some misunderstandings. The major shows cancelled their swine departments last year because of VE (vesicular Exanthema). They did this because the symptoms of VE are identical with those of foot and mouth disease.

This requires that tests lasting at least 10 days and in some cases 21 days, would have to be made at a show if a case of VE broke out. This would tie up all cattle, sheep, goats and hogs for ten days to three weeks, since they would all be in quarantine and could not be moved from the show grounds until the disease was identified.

Fine breeding swine would have to be slaughtered, and often VE hogs just sell for their tankage value.

A threat of having their stock put in quarantine would keep all other exhibitors away from a major show, especially out-of-state entries.

It was brought out at the meeting here that strict federal regulations, as well as State rules, are evoked when VE breaks out. It could lead to endless complications if VE broke out at livestock show.

The spokesman for the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show attending the meeting offered full co-operation to the swine breeders in holding 1955 shows at Fort Worth.

The regular classes will be catalogued in 1955 for all swine, breeding classes and barrows. In the event the VE situation makes it advisable to hold the hog classes in conjunction with other livestock again, the show will stage a barrow show immediately after the other show has cleared the premises.

The Fort Worth show officials assured the swine breeders that there was not, and never had been, any desire to permanently separate the swine show from other stock. Show officials offered full co-operation to breeders and even offered to hold a spring show this year in Fort Worth, but after study the breeders found that too few fat barrows would be available to make up a representative show and agreed to make next year's show the biggest and best yet.

The assurance that a show will be held will enable 4-H and F. F. A. members to proceed with their fat barrow projects for 1955 with the assurance that a show will be held for them in Fort Worth late in January or early in February.

Stocker cattle and calves were stronger at Fort Worth Monday. A load of 872-pound stocker cows drew $15. Some 750-pound feeder yearlings drew $20. Fed cattle were numerous and slow and weaker. Cows were barely held steady. Slaughter calves drew firm rates.

In the sheep barn prices were steady to 25 cents higher on fat lambs, fully steady on other sheep and lambs. Fat woolled lambs cashed at $20 to $21, and shorn fat lambs drew $17.50 to $19. Shearing type feeders were quotable at $20.00 down. Yearlings muttons drew $12 to $15, and aged wethers $12.00 down. Old ewes $7 to $9, with stocker ewes $10 to $12. Old bucks $4 to $5.

Hog prices were steady to 25 cents lower on butcher hogs with top kinds at $26.25 to $26.75. Sows were $1 higher at $21 to $24.

Incidentally the corn-hog ration for the week ended Feb. 6 was 16.6, meaning that 100 lbs. of pork would buy 16.6 bushels bushel of corn. This ratio is highly favorable to hog production.

A year ago the corn-hog ration was 12.0 on the same date.

A group of 4-H and FFA boys visited the Fort Worth Stockyards Monday and marketed some fat lambs. The top lambs in their shipment brought $21.50. The day's extreme top.

County Agent J. Bryan of Knox County was in charge of the group and adults along with him included Joe Butler, Daul Jetton, L. D. Welch and Chalmer Hobert. Boys included Robert Beck, Kenneth Trainham, Clarence Decker, Roy Day, Millard Lain, Benny Coulston, Bobbie Trainham, D. A. Blair, Jr., Byron Gass, Noble Flenniken, Jim Frank Coulston, Harold Albus, Jimmy Joe Jetton, Carroll Duane Chowning Lloyd Welch, Tony Hobert and Sandy Leverett.

Mrs. C. L. Couch of Vera moved to Munday last week to make her home. She has purchased the J. B. Scott home.

Mrs. M. L. Joyce and Joe of Albany were week end guests in the home of her mother, Mrs. J. B. Bowden.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Strickland of Wichita Falls were Sunday guests in the home of their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By W. J. Bryan, Knox County Agent

Most of us know what we are looking for when we start out to buy a farm or ranch, but not many of us know the value that should be placed on each of the different characteristics of the soil. For this reason, I have planned a Soil Judging School at Rhineland on Tuesday, February 23, for 4-H and F. F. A. boys and for any adults who would like to attend.

Mr. Paul Hains, Soils Specialist from A. & M. College, will be on hand to conduct the school. Mr. Hains has a great deal of information on soil judging that I think will be of interest to all farmers and ranchers.

If you are interested in attending this school meet with us at the Rhineland High School at 2:00 p. m.

The Knox County Jr. Livestock Show was held at Benjamin Saturday and on behalf of the 4-Hers, F. F. A. boys, Agri-teachers and myself I would like to thank the people of Knox County who helped to make it such a success.

The prize money was made up in each of the different communities in the County and most every community sent in more money than was asked of them.

I would like to thank each one who contributed to the show and especially the Knox County Farm Bureau and the City of Benjamin for serving lunch to the boys and their parents. Also, the Farm Bureau for the showmanship prizes.

It is really a pleasure for me to work in a county that gives the boys and girls so much support.

Mrs. J. B. Garham, Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Jr., and Mrs. Clarice Mitchell were visitors in Fort Worth last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Graham and Randy visited relatives in Fort Worth and attended to business several days last week.

Danny Ponder, student at Texas Tech in Lubbock, spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ponder.

Miss Betty Stodghill and Miss Billie Tuggle were visitors in Wichita Falls last Tuesday.

New style... New power... New economy... and yet lowest-priced line in its field!

That's why people are calling the new 1954 Chevrolet the outstanding motor car value of this new year!

Men and women everywhere are deciding that Chevrolet for 1954 gives more for the money than any other car in its price range.

Here are the reasons why...
New style—more beauty of line, contour and color—with stunning new bodies by Fisher and luxurious new modern-mode interiors.
New power—more pickup, more passing ability, more smoothness and quietness of operation with either of Chevrolet's two advanced 1954 engines—the thoroughly proved "Blue-Flame 125" engine teamed with Powerglide (available on all models at extra cost) or the thoroughly proved "Blue-Flame 115" engine!

New economy—yes, even stronger gasoline savings—because both of these great high-compression engines are designed, engineered and built to wring more power from every charge of fuel.

Moreover, these new Chevrolets remain the lowest-priced line in their field, again this year.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims He Knows Exactly How To Control Production Without Using Quotas

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek on doubt has another unworkable idea this week, his letter will reveal.

Dear editor:

Some boy three farms over was flying a kite out here the other day and when the string broke I kept my eye on it, figuring he might have made it out of a newspaper, and sure enough it fell within easy walkin distance of where I was sittin and I went over and picked it up and found it was made out of a copy of the Times-Herald, which makes just as good a kite as any newspaper in the United States.

I took it around to the south side of the barn and sat down in the sun and before I'd gotten myself situated comfortably I noticed an article by an expert who said the world's population is increasing so fast the problem of farm surpluses will soon disappear and it's a mad scramble to produce enough to feed everybody.

The population of the world now is two and a half billion, includin the slaves Russia has workin in Siberia, and this expert estimates it'll be seven billion within the next 100 years, and people will be clamoring for every scrap of food and fibre a farmer can grow, which of course will put an end to acreage controls, etc.

While this is encouraging news, I don't believe I can wait that long. The fact that whoever is occupyin this Johnson grass farm out here 100 years from now is gonna be in clover is not much use to me. Also, I doubt if all the butter we got stored up in this country will keep that long.

And also, I don't have that much confidence in experts. Say the farmers pull in their belts and wait around a hundred years for the world's population to reach 7 billion, and it winds up only 3 billion? There's gonna be a mighty lot of disappointed farmers. Predictin the population is sometimes as hard as predictin an election, it's hard to say what people are gonna do.

The trouble with farmin is you have to do it right now. I've tried spendin the profits I'm gonna make next year, and it won't work.

However, I've been givin the problem of surpluses and the need for acreage controls some heavy thought lately and I believe the government is approachin the problem from the wrong angle.

Instead of limiting the number of acres a farmer can plant, why not limit the number of hours he can work? Then we'd be gettin somewhere. Forget about the acres and acreage controls, and put the limit on the running hours of a tractor. It would eliminate measurin land, settin up complicated rules, and then checkin up to see everybody stayed within the allotment. Just put a time clock on everybody's tractor and, when production gets out of hand, limit the hours a man can go up one row and down another. Or if this won't work on account of some people feel guilty if they aren't goin from sun-up to sun-down, have a special rulin for these people requirin em to use only one-row equipment instead of three and four-row. The four-row cultivator probably has done more to create unwieldy surpluses than any other one thing.

I don't know why, but controlin production shouldn't be such a problem, if the officials would keep in mind the best way to do it is to cut down on work.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Borden and son of Wichita Falls were week end visitors here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Press Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Borden.

Gates Explains Why Gas Bills Are High In January

If the sun is shining when you read this, you may wonder why cold weather is still news. Here's why:

According to O. F. Gates, manager for Lone Star Gas Company, the prolonged period of cold weather which started late in December and continued through most of January, accounted for quite a bit more heating weather this year than for the same period last year.

Basing his findings on U. S. Weather Bureau tabulations, Mr. Gates was explaining the effect of this year's cold weather on gas consumption as reflected in current gas bills.

"While rates for gas service have increased here, the cold weather had considerable bearing on bills now being received," he said.

He explained that heating weather, of which there has been considerably more this year, exists whenever the average temperature falls below 65 degrees.

"According to weather statistics, much, if not all of the 30-day period through January 25 this year, required heat for comfort because the daily average temperature was 65 or less," he said.

U. S. Weather Bureau people figure this heating wather in DDD's or what is called "degree days." They are computed by adding the number of degrees the average temperature each day falls below 65.

For example, if maximum temperature for the day is 50 degrees and the minimum is 20 degrees, the mean or average is 35. When this is subtracted from 65 the number of DDD's for that day is shown as 30. When this is subtracted from 65 the number of DDD's for that day is shown as 30. The formula is based on the fact that normally whenever the mean or average temperature for the day falls below 65, some heating is required for comfort.

This heating requirement is increased proportionately, too, when humidity is greater and high winds accompany the cold. The January 21 sleet storm covering most of the area served by Lone Star, brought both.

Mr. Gates said that the gas rate now in effect in Munday is the same standard rate in effect in most other cities and towns on the Lone Star system.

Up until last year Munday enjoyed a gas rate lower than during depression years. Rates were reduced in 1942. Last year's increase, according to Mr. Gates, simply restored the reduction made in 1942 and added three cents per 1,000 cubic feet.
