Kracker Krumbs

Odds Bits Salvaged at Random

The little note below is something we don't receive very often, and we're rather proud of it.

Munday Times
Dear Mr. Edgar:
Thank you and your staff for all the news stories that helped make our Hospital Day a success.

Sincerely,
Knox County Hospital Staff.
Leland Hannah made reference Monday to the time when Munday made application for the location of Texas Technological College in our town.

That reminded us that we had an original copy of Munday's application and a brief in our desk. We dug it out and found some things of interest in it.

That was in 1923, and the Chamber of Commerce committee that compiled the brief was composed of J. Horace Bass, H. A. Pendleton, W. P. Farrington, M. F. Billingsley, W. A. Wilson and C. L. Mayes.

Here are a few excerpts from the brief:

"As stated in general statement, soil is of prevailing deep sandy loam, underlaid with clay, at an average of 5 feet. The topography is smooth, so that the land does not ditch or wash. The relief is such that the land is gradually drained of excess water, and slopes toward the rising sun."

"By automobile Munday is 3 hours from Wichita Falls, 3 hours from Abilene, 8 hours from Plainview, 8 hours from San Angelo, and one day from Amarillo."

"On the Wichita River twenty-five miles north of Munday, is now being completed a dam which creates the largest artificial lake in Texas."

"The graveyard of this section is mostly populated with men who have met a violent death at the hands of gunmen in the early days of the settlement of this country, or of people who have passed the three score and ten years allotted them."

"The people of Munday are primarily a religious and moral people and have been practically untouched by recent crime waves and disrespect of law that has swept the country. Few arrests have been made. The majesty of the law is upheld by officers of integrity; and respect for law and order is supreme in the minds and action of the populace. The bootlegger does not ply his nefarious trade on our streets, and if apprehended is speedily transferred, by due process of law to state institutions, especially created and prepared for him. Husbands do not desert their wives and children in Munday. The monogamous form of marriage prevails in Munday."

"Munday now has options on nearly 6,000 acres of land, out of which three sites can be had, and all of them be contiguous to the resident section of the town of Munday, so that the students could live in town and reach the buildings of the college. . . ."

"An inexhaustible supply of fine drinking water is found under the entire Knox Prairie at a depth of 37 feet underground."

"An average of 50 tons of merchandise per month is being trucked into Munday from Stamford and other nearby towns. An average of 30 tons per month are being trucked out of Munday to Stamford and Wichita Falls and other nearby towns. Railway statistics show that Munday is shipping more agricultural products, and has a greater tonnage record of freight, on the Wichita Valley Railway than any other town located on the Wichita Valley Railway between Wichita Falls and Abilene."

And finally, "Munday offers its natural and geographical location, and not politics nor political pull." And maybe that's why we didn't get the college!

Teams Of Lions Club Are Vieing For New Members, Records At Attendance

A little more than a dozen Lions were present at the weekly luncheon last Tuesday, but the Munday Lions Club voted to conduct a membership and attendance contest.

The point system for new members and attendance of regular members will be used in the contest, which will begin next Tuesday and run through July 20.

Two names were drawn from the hat, and these became team leaders. The leaders then drew names of other members to compose their team. After the list was exhausted in selecting the teams, brief caucuses were held to select a name for each team. The group headed by Bill Morris, faithful to Lions traditions, decided they'd be "Kings of the Jungle." The group headed by Lion Aaron Edgar are the "Cracker Crumbs," spelled different from his column in order to avoid fines for advertising.

The contest will close with a picnic, or maybe an indoor dinner, for the Lions and their ladies, with the losing team entertaining. This event is set for Friday evening, July 23.

Doctor's Wife Of Plainview Dies In Crash

Mrs. Ralph Donnell, 31, wife of a Plainview doctor, was killed last Sunday night when the car in which she was riding overturned one mile east of Seymour on Highway 199.

Dr. Donnell, and son, Woody, 8, received minor injuries and were treated and released from the Seymour hospital.

George Leedy, highway patrolman of Seymour, gave this account of the accident:

Dr. Donnell was meeting a truck driven by Harry Roscoe Thomas of Oldton. As the truck approached Dr. Donnell thought he saw an object protruding from the vehicle and swerved to miss it, overturning. Mrs. Donnell was killed instantly.

The truck driver, unaware that anything had happened, proceeded on his way. What Dr. Donnell saw, according to the patrolman, was a one-fourth inch metal bow used to support truck tarps which had broken loose and fallen off.

After the accident a pick up order was issued on the truck driver, who was located at Azle by a Fort Worth patrol unit. Leedy said he was charged with operating a vehicle in an unsafe condition.

The body of Mrs. Donnell was taken to Dallas for burial.

Corley had been found guilty of the theft of a calf from George Humphrey and had been assessed a two year sentence in the State penitentiary.

The case was tried in Guthrie early last December, the indictment alleging that H. C. Corley stole a calf from George Humphrey, manager of the 6666 Ranch on May 11, 1953.

Corley appealed the case and a hearing was had before the Court of Criminal Appeals on April 7th. District Attorney Roy A. Jones represented the State of Texas at the hearing.

Army Reserve Unit To Fly To Summer Camp

The 375th Replacement Battalion of Haskell, an army reserve unit made up of reservists from Haskell and adjoining counties, will depart for Camp Chaffee, Ark., on August 1 for two weeks training. Information has been received by Lt. Col. H. K. Henry, unit commander, that the unit will be flown to Camp Chaffee and return. New men assigned to the unit in the near future will also attend camp.

By joining a reserve army unit and remaining active for three years, a boy is completely discharged from the service after two years of active duty. Without reserve service, if a boy is called into army service, he will have six years to remain in the reserve after his release from active duty.

All necessary papers for joining can be secured at any meeting of the unit in Haskell. A physical examination is given by a local doctor, so no expense is necessary to the enlistee. With the exceptions of green spots and muddy spots, the bulk of Knox County's wheat crop is being harvested this week.

A number of farmers have reported some spots where wheat has not yet ripened and others where water is standing in low places yet remains to be harvested.

W. R. Moore, Sr., stated Tuesday that about 75 percent of their crop, southeast of Munday, has been harvested. The remaining 25 per cent is still not ready for the combines.

J. L. Stodghill, who farms southeast of Bomarton, had most of his wheat combined when the destructive hail hit on Tuesday night of last week. A number of fields neighboring the Stodghill place were wiped out by the destructive hail.

Quite a large acreage in the storm-hit Vera area was also "harvested" by the hail last week, and much of this was reported as making the best yield in the county. Hoyle A. Sullins reported lost 900 acres in the storm.

A number of combines which have been operating in this section are pulling out for the northern areas to follow the wheat harvest. Bob and Leo Guffey and possibly others left the first of this week for Oklahoma and will follow the harvest on northward.

IN 75 YEARS

This year is electric light's Diamond Jubilee. Seventy-five years ago Thomas Edison invented the incandescent lamp. In that period of time—only a moment as history is measured—electricity has utterly transformed the living and working standards of the American people.

This is true of the home, of industry, of the farm—one of the industry's greatest achievements is that 98 per cent of all our farms are using electricity or have it available. And the consumers of power get far more for each dollar than was the case in the past—something that can be said of few other commodities or services. In 1953, for instance, the household user paid only one per cent of his cost-of-living expenditures for electricity, as compared with 1.5 per cent in 1929. Yet the average use of electricity in the home quadrupled during the intervening time.

The electric industry has become one of the largest taxpayers at all levels of government; some 22 per cent of its total revenues now go for taxes. It is in the midst of a multi-billion dollar expansion program which has made possible the meeting of a soaring demand even as reserve capacity has been increased. It is a fact of the utmost significance that the only power shortages have been in regions where normal private-enterprise development has been held back because of drives to socialize the business and create a political power monopoly.

The record speaks for itself. There is no conceivable power need that the industry cannot satisfy, at an amazingly low charge to the consumer.

PECULIAR INJUSTICES

Have you heard it charged that the proposal to give tax relief to people who receive income from stock dividends, which has been subjected to double taxation since 1936, is a shameful "help-the-rich" scheme?

If so, read what the Odessa, Texas, American has to say: "It is a strange plaint when statistics show that all 6,400,000 shareholders in this country less than 10 per cent can lay claim to any real wealth at all and roughly half have total incomes of $4300 or less.

"We are inclined to peculiar injustices in this land when we want to tax double the thrifty who make possible the national prosperity."

JEFFERSONVILLE, IND., POST: "No employer should be required to deal with Communists—or Communist-dominated unions."

THE EMPHASIS IS ON SALESMANSHIP

At intervals leaders in the field of retail trade hold conventions and meetings, in which they discuss matters of common interest and exchange ideas.

It's highly significant that at recent gatherings of this nature, the strongest kind of emphasis has been placed on the need for better salesmanship. This includes advertising, displays, and other promotion. It further includes improvement in the general caliber of sales people—the men and women who represent the store to the prospective consumer, and whose abilities and attitudes and knowledge may mean the difference between a good record and a bad one in any retail enterprise.

What we have here is more proof of how intensely competitive all retail business has become—and how the consumer and his desires dominates present-day thinking in retail circles. There was a period, during and after the war, when it was possible to sell practically anything, even if shoddy and over-priced, and when real salesmanship wasn't needed. That era has gone with the wind—and the successful retailers of the present are those who offer their wares most attractively, and who give the best value and service for the money.

Wise retailers know that this is good for the long-run welfare of their industry. And it benefits to the consumer are too obvious to need describing.

KEY TO ECONOMIC ADVANCE

Harley L. Lutz, an authority on taxation, recently made this important contribution to current discussions of revision of our tax system: ". . . there has been some disposition to repeat the age-old but fallacious argument that what is needed is more consumption rather than more investment. This is the issue of a static versus a dynamic economy. The key to future economic advance and to the maintenance of employment, production, and income is capital formation."

A sound and constructive tax policy must do everything within reason to encourage people to invest their savings in productive, employing enterprise, both large and small. And that means, in turn, that the people who take the risks involved must see an opportunity to earn a fair return on their investment.

EVERETT, PA., PRESS: "A town without a railroad is about as much handicapped as a house without a front door."

DOES GOD MEAN WHAT HE SAYS?

God says, But to this man will I look, even to him that is poor and of contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word. (Isa. 66:2.) Of course God means what he says or else he would not expect any one to tremble at his word. All of the warnings of God should be received at face value. We are to work out our own salvation with fear and trembling. (Phil. 2:12.)

A study of the way that God applies his own word will convince any honest soul that he means what he says. He meant what he said when he told Adam and Eve not to eat of the forbidden fruit. (Gen. 2:17; 3:19.) He meant what he said unto Noah about the coming flood. (Gen. 6.) He meant what he said when he told Lot's wife not to look back. (Gen. 13:19; Lk. 17:32.) He meant what he said when he told Moses to speak unto the rock. (Num. 20.)

Does God mean what he says unto us in the new testament? What about his warning that says, He that believeth not shall be damned. (Mk. 16:16.) And the one that says, except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish. (Lk. 13:3.) Or the one which says, except a man be born of the water and of the spirit, he can not enter the kingdom of God. (Jno. 3:5.) And what of the promise that says, He that believeth and is baptised shall be saved. (Mk. 16:16.) What of the statement that he is the "Author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him?" (Heb. 5:9.)

The Lord said, Not everyone that saith unto me Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven.

PAYNE HATTON, Evangelist

More about the "Big Bar of Arkansas" as he holds forth in his modest way:

When the Big Bar told about having shot a wild turkey weighing forty pounds, a cynical Hoosier asked, "Where did that happen?" The reply was:

"Happened in Arkansas. Where else could it have happened but in the creation state, the finishing up-country—a state where the soil runs down to the very center of the earth and the government gives you a title to every inch of it! Why, stranger, just breathe Arkansas air and it will make you snort like a horse. It's a state without a fault."

"Except mosquitoes," said the Hoosier.

The Big Bar replied, Mosquitoes is nature and I never find fault with her. If they are large, Arkansas is large, her varmints are large, her trees are large, her rivers are large. A small mosquito would be of no more use in Arkansas than preaching in a canebreak.

Next he got onto the subject of bears and bear-hunting:

"My dog, Bowtie, thinks the world is full of ba'r, he finds them so easy. It's lucky he don't talk as well as think—for, with his natural modesty, if he should suddenly find out how much he is above other dogs, he would be astonished to death in two minutes I never could tell whether he was made expressly to hunt ba'r or whether ba'r was made expressly for him to hunt."

A listener inquired, "What season of the year do your hunts take place?"

"The season for ba'r hunting, stranger," said the man from Arkansas, is generally the year 'round I read that varmints have their fat season and their lean season but that is not the case in Arkansas. Feeding as they do on the spontaneous productions of the soil, they have one continued fat season the year 'round—though, in winter, the critters is rather more greasy than in summer. I admit.

"For that reason, Arkansas ba'r run in warm weather but in winter they only waddle. Fat, fat! Run an Arkansas ba'r in his fat condition and the way it improves the critter for eating is amazing. It sorta mixes the oil up with the meat till you can't tell 'tother from which.

"I recollect one purty morning I put an old he-fellow on the stretch, and considering the weight he carried, he run well. But the dogs soon tired him down and when I came up to him, wasn't he in a beautiful sweat, his sides sinking and opening like a bellows!

"I blazed at him; and pitch me naked in a briar patch if the steam didn't spout out of that bullet hole ten feet! I have no doubt if that ba'r had kept on two miles further, his insides would have been steved.

"And I expect to meet with a varmint yet, of extra bottom, who will run himself into a skiff of ba'r's grease, ready for use!"

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Icard

One of the most interesting things that has come to light recently dealing with what the Communists intend to do in the world is the message that was sent last year by Mao Tse-Tung, Ruler of Communist China, to the heads of the Russian government in Moscow. This message, according to the information that is available to us, carried to Russia by Chou En-Lai, the man who is now representing Communist China at the Geneva Conference. This message or letter was an outline of the world revolution of Communism.

In this message Mao Tse-Tung said that the time had come when the Communists must look upon Asia as their immediate goal for conquest. His reason for this conclusion was that there was a better chance for revolution in Asia and that the time for collapse in Europe was not yet at hand; further, that forceful means applied in Europe might bring on war which the Communists did not want at this time.

The message went on to say that the United States must be isolated, and the plan laid out the blueprint for driving a wedge between the United States and her allies. It specified that Britain must be convinced that there is a possibility of settling the differences between the East and West and that the capitalist countries can live in peace. To give world trade, according to Mao Tse-Tung, was to be used as a bait for the British. In the case of France, her historical fear of Germany was to be thoroughly exploited, and France was to be made, by Communist propaganda, to feel that her greatest security would lie in full cooperation with the countries behind the Iron Curtain rather than with that her rearmament endangers, rather than guarantees, her national security.

Mao Tse-Tung said that there must be 25,000,000 well trained troops in Southeast Asia for immediate mobilization. These troops were to be used in such a way that they would force the free countries to keep increasing their defense expenditures until economic collapse overtook them.

The Chinese leader's advice to the Russian rulers in the Kremlin was that they should agree to an armistice in Korea until such time as a navy could be developed because of the fact that lack of a navy was now the Communists' greatest weakness in the Far East. He further stated that the Chinese Communists must take Formosa, and he said that the war in Indochina could be successfully concluded by the Communists in about two years. After Indochina, the Communists would then move to Burma, Thailand, and Indonesia which would complete a circle around the Malay Peninsula held by the British. When this is accomplished, the Chinese leader said that the British would realize the hopelessness of putting up a fight and would withdraw and that this whole process should be completed by 1960. In concluding his letter, Mao Tse-Tung scheduled the fall of Japan and India also by 1960, after which he predicted the Philippines and the Arab countries of the Middle East would collapse. After this, their next goal would be Africa, and then Western Europe. At this point, North and South America will be helpless and defenseless, he said, and that twenty years from now the Communist world revolution would have been completed.

Historically, we have received other blueprints and warnings about plans of dictators and totalitarian states. In the past we have not always believed them. We could not believe what Hitler said in "Mein Kampf", and not many people take warning from Karl Marx's "Das Kapital". I hope that this warning of the ruler of China will serve to alert us to the dangers of world revolution and that we will be more alert to the threat that we face.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. John Storey and Mr. Roy Farrell of Vernon; Mr. George Salem of Munday; Miss Mary E. Blagg, Mr. Riley Cross, Judge Jack Bragg, Mr. E. W. Morrison, Mr. Holford Russell, and Mr. Claude Castleberry of Denton.

Wed In Candlelight Service

Miss Billie Jean Tuggle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Tuggle, became the bride of Tommy Oates, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oates of Anson, in a double ring ceremony which was read at the First Baptist Church in Munday at 8 p. m. Monday before a candlelighted altar of greenery and baskets of white gladioli.

Rev. Huron A. Polnac, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated.

Miss Shirley Hill played traditional wedding music, and Patsy Jo Tidwell sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Maid of honor was Betty Stodghill, friend of the bride, and best man was James Oates, brother of the groom. Ushers were Donald Wayne Elliott of Haskell and Jimmy Doyle Evans of Abilene. Candles were lighted by Patsy Jo Tidwell.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina-length gown of white nylon lace net over white satin. The strapless bodice was covered with a lace jacket with Peter Pan collar and long pointed sleeves. Her finger tip veil of nylon net was gathered to a crown of lace daises and rhinestones. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible given her by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bevers of Munday.

For something old she wore her grandmother's wedding band; something new was a white gold watch, a gift of the groom; something borrowed and blue were a pair of garters with rice and a penny in them, belonging to Mrs. Peggy Joe Ritchie.

Out-of-town guests attended from Abilene, Holliday, Haskell, Silvertown, Anson, Goree, Panhandle, Skellytown, Farwell and Hale Center.

For the wedding trip to San Antonio and New Mexico, the bride wore a white sleeveless embroidered nylon and organza dress. Her accessories were all white, and her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1954 graduate of Munday High School, and the bridegroom is a graduate of White Deer High School. He is now serving with the U. S. Navy in Portland, Ore., where the couple will make their home.

GETTING RID OF WASPS

There are at least 2,500 different kinds of wasps inhabiting North America—but don't bother to count them. Only about 50 species annoy man.

The rest of the wasps go about their appointed ways building nests, raising young and pollinating plants. They prey on other insects and eventually become a meal for some larger insect or bird, themselves. Even the pesky types do a certain amount of good in nature's scheme of things.

Still, the natural value of a wasp is small consolation when nursing a stinging red wheel on the face or hands. They have a nasty habit of building their nest too close to the barn or house for personal comfort. And when you want to get rid of them, you get rid of them. Here's how:

Chlordane or DDT are excellent eradicators of the pests, according to entomologists who make a living by knowing such things. They make it sound deceptively simple—just spray the dust or liquid into nest openings. But a little skill and lots of luck might come in handy. A second way is safer.

Suppose you have a nest of hornets or yellow jackets that guards you barn door with a vengeance. The best time to plan your attack is at night when the insects are less active. This provides the maximum protection—or at least minimum risk.

First—and this is where skill come in—plug the nest opening with a wad of cotton soaked in carbon tetrachloride. Then, very quickly dislodge the nest into a sack. Been stung yet?

Now the sack can be burned or buried. Or, if you prefer, pop it into an airtight can containing a few tablespoonfuls of carbon tetrachloride. Used on cotton wadding, carbon tetrachloride slows down the activity of these pests and lessens the chance for painful stings in an airtight can. It's fatal. But don't open the can for 24 hours lest a particularly hardy hornet revive and seek out its tormentor.

If all this seems like too much trouble, try the other method. Just spray the nest with chlordane or DDT, then run like fury. Incidentally, old fashioned bluing is good for stings.

Making a Bench Vise

An indispensable item for the home workshop is a bench vise, which can be made of scrap wood either one inch or two inches thick. According to American Builder, the first operation is to cut a section 7 1/2 inches wide and 14 inches long. About 1 1/2 inches from one side, cut a triangular slice in the shape of a wedge. One side of the wedge should be cut at a 45-degree angle. Attach the vise to the workbench top with countersunk screws. The work is held between the vise and the sliding wedge.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Wise Stepmother
Have you heard about young Skeeter Roberts' unusual pet, the tame owl "Blinky"? He's had her about three years.
I say "her" because up to a couple of weeks ago nobody was quite sure. But now "Blinky's" a mother—of two chicks!
Seems "Blinky" had been acting kind of strange—so on a hunch, Skeeter put a couple of hen's eggs in her nest. Darn if "Blinky" didn't set on them for 5 days! Last Friday they hatched, and now "Blinky's" as proud as a mother hen! (So's Skeeter.)
From where I sit, there's a lesson for all of us. Guess you'd call it "tolerance." Birds and animals often seem to do better in that respect than humans. If I like a glass of temperate beer with supper and you'd rather have cider—it should be okay with both of us. Neither of us should give a "hoot" what the other fellow likes, says, or does, as long as he follows the law of the land. Right?

STOCKER PRICES SHOW OPTIMISTIC THINKING

FORT WORTH—Stocker and feeder cattle and calves of good or choice quality moved out at Fort Worth Monday at steady prices and quality and fills considered, some spots were firm to strong. The desirable kinds of steer calves cleared at $20 to $22 readily, with a few to $23. Last week some 327-pound steer calves reached $24 which were consigned by Joy Lina White of McCulloch County.

On Monday some feeder steers of 991-pounds cashed at $20. Stocker cows find a rather quiet trade, but most observers agree this is due in large part to the scarcity of good cows in the runs that are made up largely of cut-back, culls and aged cows.

In view of the approaching summer season the good outlet for high grade stockers is considered exceptional by most interests on the market. However, of great importance has been the steady demand for huge quantities of beef over the country.

Mature steers, cows and bulls sold at prices about in line with the low side of last week's close at Fort Worth Monday. Good and choice fed steers and yearlings drew $18 to $23, some $11-lb. Foard County yearlings at $23. Plain to medium grassers drew $12 to $17 while canner yearlings ranged down to $9 or below.

Fat cows drew $10 to $13, a few higher. Cannors and cutters brought $6 to $10. Bulls sold at $9 to $14. Good and choice fat calves cleared at $16.50 to $21, a few fancy heavies to the butcher trade at $22. Common to medium butcher calves drew $10 to $15.50, and culls earned $8 to $10.

SPRING LAMBS WEAK OTHER KINDS STEADY
Sheep and lambs cleared at prices that were unevenly steady on most kinds with the low close of the previous week, except new crop Spring lambs lost around $1 per hundred.

Trade has been more quiet on stocker types of ewes as many potential buyers have been busy with farm work.

Good and choice Spring lambs topped at $23 at Fort Worth Monday. Good to choice kinds sold from $18 to $23, with common to medium sorts $12 to $18, and culls $10 to $12. Shorn fat old crop lambs bulked at $15 to $16, a few to $17. Common and medium kinds drew $11 to $14, with culls around $10. Feeder old crop lambs drew $14 down. Spring feeder lambs sold at $16.50 down.

Slaughter ewes bulked at $5 to $6. Old wethers sold for $8 to $11. Two-year-old muttuns cashed at $10 to $13. Old bucks shod around $4 to $5.

Hogs picked themselves up off the mat for a 25 to 50c advantage Monday and a top of $26.50 at Fort Worth. Last week they closed at $26, the lowest levels since March here.

Hogs of less desirable slaughter qualities and less attractive weights sold at $23 to $26.25. Sows cashed at $18 to $21.

It is not often we need shed a tear for the very efficient operators of our nation's meat business. They are very able and competent, and heaven help them if they were not!

However, last week they had our heartfelt sympathy! Last Friday the regional report from the USDA that covers the East—and such cities as

New York, Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia and Boston—reported that in the late trade lamb carcasses were selling from $2 to $3 lower, while at the same interval pork was selling from $3 higher to $2 lower!

With a swing of 5 cents per pound in the wholesale prices of the same kind of meat in a single day, imagine if you can a poor packer buyer trying to buy livestock at Fort Worth that will sell next week in that densely populated area in the East!

Wow. There are times when I have wondered what cruel fate steered my bewildered steps into the news writing game—but last week I expect the gentlemen trying to operate the packing houses were really in a state of mind that made them dream of taking up beach-combing for a living!

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith took their daughter, Mrs. John T. Mace, to Wichita Falls last Monday where she left for her home in Spokane, Wash., after a month's visit here.

Perry Reeves spent last week with his sister, Mrs. Joe Williams, and family in Ozona.

To Make 'Classifiers'

IN THE well-ordered home, there is ample opportunity to use "classifiers" in cabinets and drawers. Probably the simplest kind is the egg-crate type illustrated.

As shown, these pigeonhole classifiers are first-rate for a tool or storage cabinet. In a flat position, the same style of classifiers may be used in a drawer.

One-eighth-inch slots should be sawed into pieces of Masonite 1/2" tempered Duolux, a strong, smooth, two-sided hardboard which won't snag the finest fabrics and which wears indefinitely. Each slot should be cut half the width of the hardboard. To make the egg-crate construction, fit the slots together.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—One of the most important factors contributing to the well-being of summer vacationists is a safe and healthful water supply. Contaminated water is the annual cause of much sickness and many fatalities. Water from sources not known to be safe should never be used to supply vacation needs.

Dr. Henry A. Tolle, State Health Officer, stated this week that most municipal water supplies in Texas are periodically inspected and samples submitted to the State or local public health laboratories for examination. He advised that it is always best, when in doubt, to endeavor to secure water from a municipal supply.

Families away from home on picnics, excursions, or vacation trips," Dr. Holle said, "should ascertain that their water supply is safe or they should make it safe for human consumption. Water can be rendered safe by boiling for 15 minutes or by addition of chlorine. A few drops of ordinary chlorine laundry bleach can be added to a gallon of clear water and if the water is allowed to stand for 15 minutes it may be used for drinking."

If drinking water is obtained from a private well, Dr. Holle advised vacationists to look for these protective features: a well-site protected from flooding

DUAL FANS APPROVED FOR COTTON GIN TRASH PROCESSING

Use of dual fans for continuous processing of cotton gin trash has been approved and is called the most practical method of handling the material yet tested.

Given the go-ahead by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the two-fan system enables ginners to install equipment which will allow farmers to collect and return gin trash to the soil for organic matter at very nominal cost.

Under current regulations, all wastes must be processed by one of the approved methods to kill pink bollworms and other insect life.

According to the U. S. D. A., the two fans must be operated in series, have at least six blades and turn at specified revolutions per minute.

Increased organic matter, water holding capacity and moisture penetration are benefits derived from spreading cotton burrs on with good drainage, and a concrete platform surrounding the pump. The pump itself should be securely mounted on the platform, should have a rod that enters the top through packing, and should have a turned-down spout. Contaminated water is usually found in wells with open wood platforms, pits underneath that pump, openings where the rod enters the pump, and in pumps that require priming to operate.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Edgar spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Cook in Plainview.

cropland. The other processing methods are incineration, composting, sterilization, fumigation and hammer milling. Roller mills are on a trial basis in some areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hardin left last Friday for Plainview after several days visit here with his mother, Mrs. Nell Campbell. They are staying with Mrs. Hardin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Cook, during the summer.

Miss Annette Brewer returned home Sunday from a two weeks vacation. She visited her brother, J. A. Brewer, and family in Monahans and all visited various points in California.

A/1c Jerry E. Jones and wife of Stead Air Base, Reno, Nev., arrived Sunday morning for a twelve day visit with his father, Marion Jones, and his mother, Mrs. Gladys Jones in Seymour and other relatives and friends.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Opposed To Atom-Run Tractor, Just Doesn't Want The Job Of Keeping It Secret

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek seems a little jittery this week, his letter reveals.

Dear editor:

I heard a man on the radio the other night, I think he was an expert, at least he claimed he was and he spoke with considerable authority, which does not necessarily mean anything as most radio news analysts speak that way anyway, and he was contending America is missing a real bet by not using atomic energy for some other purposes besides bombs.

"Here we've got this tremendous source of power and we ought to be studying methods of using it in many other ways, for example as sources of energy for automobiles, tractors, other machinery, etc.," he said.

I think this fellow is on dangerous ground. Now I'll admit I'd like to have a tractor you could buy a thimble-full of atomic energy for and run it for the next ten or fifteen years, but here's the point this expert is overlooking:

What if they installed some atomic engine on my tractor out here on the creek and the thing worked fine. What I would want to know is, who's gonna guard the thing?

Personally, I certainly don't want the responsibility of keeping in any atom secrets. My observation has been that even the top men in the country connected with atomic energy aren't up to keeping the thing secret. Oh, it's true the secret has been fairly safe with some politicians, but that's mostly because they didn't understand the principle of the atom anyway and couldn't have revealed it if they'd wanted to. The secret of what's on the back side of the moon is safe for the same reason.

But the last thing I want out here is some secret information. I'd rather return to plowing with mules, ain't no secret connected with that system, ain't no investigation likely to develop about it, ain't no foreign agents interested in it.

In fact, if things keep going like they are, the dumb people may turn out to be really smarter than the smart ones, as it looks like the smarter a man gets the more suspicion he arouses, and the safest place for a secret no doubt is in the mind of a man who can't understand it. Don't know why the experts haven't thought of this before. What they ought to do is divide the atom secret up into fifteen parts, pick out say fifteen Congressmen who can't understand even one-fifteenth of it, make em memorize their parts, but don't tell em what order the memorized sections go together in, kill off the scientists who thought up the thing in the first place, and the secret will finally be safe and secure.

Meanwhile, keep those atom tractors away from my farm. I couldn't understand one anyway, but I don't want to have to go to Washington to prove it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Scottie for House Number

A TIME TRIED method of displaying a house number in an attractive manner is illustrated. Either the Scottie-dog cutout or some other animal will serve the purpose. Set in a parkway, on the lawn or at the curb, the jaunty puppy, with its sparkling eyes, will prove to be an attractive addition. Scottie is 15 inches long and his height is 11 1/2 inches. Cut him from two pieces of Masonite 3/16"

Tempered Presdwood, holding the panels, screen sides together, with C-clamps and following a pattern with a coping, keyhole or band saw. Slightly round the edges with a file or sandblock.

Reflector-type bolts used for car licenses serve as eyes and reflect the light from passing cars. The numbers are sawed from the Tempered Presdwood and glued to each side of the cutout.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Zeckser and son, Mike, returned to their home in Topeka, Kans., last Saturday after a ten day visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Beaty, and other relatives and friends.

"TO BUILD OR NOT TO BUILD" GRAIN STORAGE

THAT'S THE QUESTION

COLLEGE STATION — Texas farmers are advised to survey their individual situations before deciding whether to build approved "on the farm" storage facilities for this year's grain crops. The extent of storage problems ahead will be governed largely by the size of forthcoming crops, say USDA officials. Based on the average expectancy, however, they believe total grains and oil seeds harvested may climb 300 to 500 million bushels higher than a year ago.

The storage situation in Texas looks dim compared to recent years, says W. S. Allen, extension engineer. As a means of determining whether the average farmer can profitably erect additional storage buildings, Allen advises producers to consider their acreage and crop prospects, check the availability of space in local commercial elevators and consult with local officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation.

Existing buildings and new structures must meet certain requirements to gain the "approved" rating, says the engineer. They must be weather proof, constructed to keep out rodents, insects and birds and permit insect fumigation. They also must be reasonably safe against entry by thieves. In addition, in the Gulf Coast region, consideration must be given to ventilating or turning equipment. Such equipment should also be looked into for other areas, adds Allen.

The type of building—metal bin or large general structure—is another long-term aspect. Metal bins, for example, usually are readily available and easily erected. If several bins are planned Allen reminds producers to arrange them for accessible loading and unloading.

The general type structure may be used for grain storage while the "pinch" is on but then converted to other farm needs when storage pressure is eased.

Loans for such bins and buildings have been extended for another year and offer up to 80 per cent of the cost of new facilities. Carrying four per cent interest, the loans may be paid in four annual installments extended over a five-year period, Allen explains.

A net increase of about 30 million bushels of on-farm storage capacity was financed under these loans during 1953.

Mrs. Carrie Poulter of Long Beach, Calif., visited Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Fitzgerald last Saturday. Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Bob Jarvis carried her to Wichita Falls on Sunday.
