Odd Bits Salvaged at Random

Baker and Blacklock are right proud of their new office. Charles and Winston have done some re-arranging and partitioning to give their office more privacy.

The boys expect to be busy sometime when you go in there to see them, because just to the east of the counter-partition is a waiting area, or lobby. Everything has been refinished to give it the up-town look, and it's roomy as can be.

"It would sure look a lot better if we'd keep our desks straight," one of them said a few days ago, to which we rejoined: "Yeah, they look like editor's desks."

We were invited to view a beautiful setting at the First Baptist Church banquet hall last Friday. Several ladies were busy getting ready for the Boy Scouts' annual Blue and Gold banquet and had the tables all ready.

Beautifully decorated in colors of blue and gold in the main, the tables were set with knives, forks, spoons and cups which had been made by the Scouts. The first three were fashioned by the boys out of wood, and we've wondered how they got along cutting or forking steaks with these instruments. The cups were made of cans with handles attached, while some of the decorations were wooden hatchets imbedded into pieces of logs.

On the end of one table was a world globe, while at the other end was an improvised band arch commemorating the 47th anniversary of Scouting. On the arch were the words "Onward with God and My Country." Everything was unique and patriotic in nature, and furnished a lovely setting for the Scouts' annual banquet.

They talked about it for several days, and just mention of the event will still bring forth much conversation. That duster we had last Friday night was one for the books, anyway.

Among the ladies, more so than men, was the talk of how the dirt came into the houses—with those with the newer homes saying they received much of the dust. No home or building seemed to be immune to dirt in such a sandstorm. Some few lost their TV antennas in the high wind. We reckon it's the beginning of spring, with possibly more to come, but we won't have one very much worse, we guess, according to those who had to do some traveling in this one.

Things are picking up for Munday, believes M. H. Dean, local agent for the Burlington lines, and we reckon he had reason to be optimistic from the activities in prospect along the line in Munday.

It is reported the old city sewer property has been sold to a Fort Worth firm which plans to erect a large grain storage on the property, maybe later adding cotton storage and will necessitate building a railroad spur to the property.

The J. B. Graham Grain Co. has leased additional footage along the tracks and near their present elevator to erect three more grain storage tanks making an additional 68,000 bushel capacity.

Then, too, plans are under way for erecting a shed for processing cantaloupes and watermelons, this to take in the present cotton racks and additional space.

Railroad's Stock Pens To Be Enlarged

The railway stock pens south of town will soon be enlarged and modernized to accommodate more stockmen in this section in shipping their cattle, M. H. Dean, local railway agent, stated Wednesday.

Plans are to increase the pens to about three times their present capacity, equip them with watering facilities to be connected with the city's water system, and to improve the road leading to the pens, Mr. Dean said. This will be improvement which will be welcomed by stockmen. Dean stated that sometime in the future, when the railroad goes entirely to diesel power, the old water tank will be "done away with."

Tater Planting In Knox County

Spud planting activities took place recently on the Don Combs farm southwest of Munday. Top photo shows the planting equipment coming to the turnrow to be refilled with seed potatoes and fertilizer. Lower picture gives a better view of the potato planting machine. This is two-row equipment with two hoppers—one for the potatoes and another for the fertilizer that is applied along with the seed, ammonium sulphate. The seed potatoes and fertilizer are shown on the truck.

ATTEND LECTURES

Mrs. J. C. Rice spent last Sunday and Monday in Albany attending lectures on prayer and prayer group work. The lectures were given by nationally famous lecturer, Mrs. Louise Eggleston, who is vice-president of World Literary Foundation Inc.

Lee Bivins, civil defense director for the Munday area, has been sponsoring the showing of civil defense films to various organizations this week.

These were shown to the Munday Fire Department last Monday night, while another "Duck and Cover" was shown to the school. One of the pictures was shown members of the Lions Club in their regular meeting Tuesday, and members of the American Legion saw them on Tuesday night.

The films deal chiefly with disasters, such as bombings, tornadoes, floods, etc., and give details of how the civil defense helps out in time of disaster. The civil defense here would deal chiefly with tornadoes, it was stated.

H. T. Melton and H. C. Stone of Benjamin, Alvin Roberts of Knox City and Mr. Bivins attended a meeting in Abilene last Monday to work out methods of keeping the U. S. Weather Bureau informed on clouds and also for methods of informing cities of approaching storms. Mr. Bivins stated that under the methods studied in Abilene, a town could be warned of an approaching storm at least 20 minutes ahead of time, giving the people time to seek cover.

THE SHOPPER ABROAD

Americans who haven't lived abroad would be puzzled and annoyed at the way people must go about shopping for food in other countries. In most of those countries stores are usually forbidden by law to offer such items as fresh meat under the same roof with canned vegetables and soups. In France, for instance, the housewife must go to as many as 14 stores to complete a shopping list—a fruit shop, a smoked meat store, a fresh meat butcher, a bakery, a dairy, and so on.

Here in the United States, whether we patronize a family-owned store or a big chain supermarket, we take it for granted that everything we want has been assembled for us—and that the highest standards of sanitation and convenience prevail.

In addition, we have come to expect and demand foods in a form which requires a minimum of preparation—and we are also accustomed to buying foods which once were available only seasonally at all times of the year. For example, Chain Store Age reports that the American housewife spent $8.2 billion in chain grocery—supermarkets last year for perishable items requiring refrigeration. The typical chain outlet has up to $75,000 invested in refrigerating equipment alone—four or five times as much as the investment in the entire store of 1925! These and many other costs brought on by the demand for frozen and otherwise-processed foods help to explain why the "spread" between the price received by the farmer and the price paid by the consumer has widened.

The superiority of American retailing is not confined to foods. It is found in all the many branches of retailing—as Americans who have traveled abroad will tell you.

WHO IS HIT HARDEST?

The federal income tax begins at 20 per cent, on the lowest taxable incomes. From there on it rises fast until it reaches 91 per cent in the high brackets.

You might logically judge from this that people of large means, because of progressive taxation, pay most of the tax bill. But they don't. Eighty-four per cent of all individual income taxes collected come from the basic 20 per cent rate—and only 16 per cent from the surtaxes. As Graham Patterson puts it in Town Journal, "So the high rates are actually more destructive of income than productive of revenue."

Excessively costly government hits everyone—and it hits people of moderate means hardest. There aren't enough rich people to carry the load.

TOMORROW'S FARM PROBLEM

The basic agricultural problem today is found in the staggering surpluses of major crops. That of the comparatively near future will be entirely different. As the Portland Oregonian put it, "The problem in a few years will not be how to set aside farm land and avoid surpluses of food-stuffs, but how to produce sufficient food on the remaining cultivatable land."

This view may seem startling, but it stems from the hard rock of fact. From 1942 through 1956, reports the Soil Conservation Service, some 17 million acres of cultivatable U. S. land will have been converted to non-agricultural purposes—industrial areas, housing developments, airports, highways, and so on. An additional 3 million acres has been planted to trees. To quote the Oregonian again, "Recently President Eisenhower recommended that 25 million acres be taken out of cultivation and placed in the conservation reserve part of his proposed soil bank. This is not much more than has been taken permanently out of cultivation. . . in a decade and a half."

That trend, it is expected, will not only continue but probably intensify. At the same time, our population is expected to reach the 210-220 million level in a mere 20 years. We will thus have a great many more mouths to feed—and a much-reduced acreage to produce that food.

It is evident from all this that agriculture's future job will be to make the croplands more productive, not less. That will require the use of more and improved farm equipment of all kinds, along with the other tools and techniques that science and technology have made available to the modern farmer.

GENIE

"We in America have more than six billion horsepower of mechanical muscle working for us today," writes W. Alton Jones in the magazine Service. "Tomorrow, with the help of our newest mechanized servant—the genie of automation—we ought to do even better."

Moreover, we'll do better in all ways. For automation is simply one more step in the evolution of the industrial age that began with Watt's steam engine. Every one of those steps has created more jobs, better jobs—and higher standards of working and living for everyone.

In grandfather's time 210 hours were needed to produce as much as a workman does today in 40 hours. . . . American Petroleum Institute.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

SIMPLICITY OF THE BIBLE

To justify their erroneous theory about the operation of the Holy Spirit, some religious people contend that the word of God is an incomprehensible mystery to the unregenerate person. They teach that an alien sinner can understand the scriptures only when the Holy Spirit has abstractly illuminated his understanding.

There are passages of scripture in both Testaments that plainly teach that the word of God is adapted to the understanding of man just as he is. The vocabulary of the Bible is not different from the vocabulary of John Ruskins or Nathaniel Hawthorne. If you can understand such words as faith, grace and conversion in human books, why can you not understand them in the Bible? If you read about "one apple" in Emerson's essays, that is plain enough. But if you read about "one body" in the Bible, that is a mystery. "One" in the Bible means the same thing that it does in any other book.

In the old Testament we read this, "Through thy precepts I get understanding; therefore I hate every false way. Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path" (Psalm 119:104-105). And in the New Testament it is said, "But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them; and that from a child thou hast the Holy scriptures, which is able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus" (2 Tim. 3:14-15).

If a child can know the scriptures if they make wise unto salvation, if they give understanding, if they light the pathway of duty, then they must be simple. The gospel is God's power to save (Rom. 1:16). Jesus told the apostles to preach it to every creature (Mk 16:15). Would the Lord clothe his power to save in words than man cannot understand? Why preach it to "every creature", if they cannot understand it?

On the day of Pentecost the gospel was preached to people who never heard it before. Their minds had been full of error. Their hearts were full of prejudice. But when they heard the gospel only one time they learned enough about it to believe it and obey it. It must be something simple.

'NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS'

The average person does not often use the term "negotiable instruments" in his everyday conversation, and the words may not mean much to him. Actually, it is just a mouth-filling term used in law to describe certain important pieces of paper that we normally call by simpler names.

Even though we seldom use the words, we deal with negotiable instruments all the time. Every check we write to pay the gas bill is a negotiable instrument, and so is your paycheck or pension check. The note you sign to buy a new car, the money order you purchase at the bank or post office, or the traveler's checks you take with you on a trip instead of cash; all are negotiable instruments.

It was all started by merchants who had to send large sums of gold or currency between cities or nations. They worked out a way to exchange money, or the value of money, by written messages, much of the time through a third party like a broker or bank. But when you deal in pieces of negotiable paper instead of hard money, there have to be certain standards and safeguards or the paper could lose its value.

Consequently, there developed a whole system of laws within nations and between nations, upon which all our business rests. Through the courts, if necessary, the owners of negotiable instruments may enforce the terms written on the paper.

used to be confusing some times because of different state laws, but by 1924 all 48 states had adopted a Uniform Negotiable Instrument Law which sets up the same rules nationwide.

Since so-called negotiable instruments are so important; since they are ordinarily just like money in many ways; since they often are used like money or are sold to other persons or companies, and since there are special laws defining the ins-and-outs of negotiable instruments which we wouldn't ordinarily have any reason to know about, there are one or two simple rules we should follow:

We should make certain we read what's on the paper, that we know what the words mean, and what the penalties and dangers may be, BEFORE signing our name.

Remember: You are the only person in the world with that signature, and the courts, as a rule, must take your signed promises at their face value.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Regional Manager For Gas Company

E. L. Buelow, head of Lone Star Gas Company's San Angelo area of operations since September 1, 1938, has been promoted to the post of regional manager of the company's West Texas Region of Distribution, M. L. Bird of Dallas, company vice president, announced today.

The appointment became effective February 1.

In his new position, Buelow will direct the gas service and maintenance operations in more than 100 communities, towns and cities in the company's newly-established West Texas Region of Distribution. These companies owned and operated distribution plants served more than 124,000 residential, commercial and industrial customers residing in an area extending from the Texas-Oklahoma border on the north to Sonora and the Colorado, and from Snyder and Colorado City on the west to Wichita Falls and Ranger on the east.

Abilene, due to its location in the approximate geographical center of the West Texas Region, has been designated the site of Regional headquarters offices.

Buelow, a 36-year veteran with Lone Star, joined the company as an accountant at Cleburne in 1920. In subsequent positions, he served as a traveling auditor, chief clerk at Wichita Falls, district manager at Hillsboro and office manager for Lone Star's former properties in El Paso.

A native of Fayetteville, Texas, he graduated from high school there and attended Tyler Commercial College.

He has been highly active in civic and community affairs during his career with Lone Star. He is a past president and director of the Retail Credit Mens Association of Texas District No. 2, past president of Rotary club, president of the Fort Concho Housing Corporation, served as secretary for 15 years on the Salvation Army Advisory Board.

At the time of his appointment to Abilene, he was president of San Angelo Industries, Inc., a vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and serving a six year term as a member of the City Commission Planning Board.

He is a member of the Presbyterian church and Masonic Lodge. Mr. Buelow is married to the former Evelyn Burks of Wichita Falls. They have one son.

NEW MATTRESS PAD FOR HOME USE

A new type mattress pad is now available for homes. Actually, the mattress pad isn't new, but it is just reaching the consumer market. These pads have been used extensively by hotels and institutions for many years.

The protective pads are made of bleached cotton. They are soft to sleep on, since they have no seam and are bias-bound. The manufacturer says they cling smoothly to the mattress and will keep the bottom sheet tucked in because of the napped surface.

It is said that the bleached cotton pads are easier to care for than the traditional quilted pads. The bleached cotton may be washed either by machine or by hand at any temperature. They dry quickly because of their light weight and never become lumpy, it is said. The soft bleached cotton needs no ironing—it can be stretched lightly on the line or machine dried.

The mattress pads are made in both single and double width.

HOUSING EXHIBIT SHOWS SUN CONTROL

Even when the thermometer goes to zero in Washington, D. C., this winter, there's one place where it still is summer time.

In the National Housing Center which opened recently in the nation's capital, a permanent exhibit depicts the role of cotton canvas in summer sun protection. The exhibit features three small-scale model homes with different types of canvas awnings. Mobile lighting effects represent Old Sol playing hide and seek with the windows of the model homes.

The Housing Center is a two and one-half million dollar structure built under the auspices of the National Association of Home Builders. Its purpose is to bring together under one roof and to present attractively the ideas, materials, and data of vital interest to home buyers and builders.

George Spann of Texas Tech in Lubbock was a week end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spann.

C. NNISH!

This bonnie lass is quite clannish—she loves the authentic clan tartans that are so popular in the eyes of Dame Fashion this year. Her swim shorts by Jantzen are designed in a mercerized woven cotton plaid that's not afraid of sun or water.

week been holding hearing. Within the next few weeks the matter will be considered by the House. There has been much said about the agricultural surpluses that we have on hand. It seems to me that there is one thing about them that has not been generally understood, and that is that to some degree our sizeable surpluses have been caused by the fact that the State Department in the exercise of our foreign policy effectively prevented the movement of a large portion of these surpluses into the world market, and also over a period of several years, they have created in foreign countries active competition for our agricultural products. Since this is the case, it seems unfair that so much should be said about charging our surpluses up to the American farmer rather than a great share of it being charged to the State Department and our foreign policy as it should be. We should further understand that we have been and are stockpiling many other strategic materials in the event we should be involved in a war. If a war should occur, and everyone hopes, of course, that it will not, a large portion of our agricultural surpluses would be used immediately in the war effort and would certainly stand us in good stead.

Shortly, consideration will be given to a large program for Federal aid-to-education. Everyone recognizes the fact that a proper and adequate system of education is essential to the continuation of our form of Government, and the stress that has been put on our existing system by the great increase in our population is well known; however, the underlying question is whether or not the Federal Government should ultimately take over the responsibility of supporting, maintaining, and eventually controlling our public school system. Throughout our history, the States and the local school districts have had this responsibility and through the years have done a remarkable job of providing a high quality of free education. If the States and local authorities are to be relieved of this responsibility by the Federal Government, it would obviously be just one more step toward the centralization of everything here in Washington, and it would leave much less of the governmental function to be controlled at the local level. It seems to me that the States and local authorities can do a much more efficient and worthwhile job of administering our schools than can the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Dr. B. F. Ponder of Wichita Falls, who is now serving in the Army at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, was a Washington visitor this week.

Mrs. George Zeissel returned home the first of this week from a two weeks visit with her sons, Burnett Zeissel and family in Hollinger and Phillip Zeissel and family in Austin.

D. C. Fritz of Abilene was a business visitor here during the week end. He also visited with his daughter, Mrs. Earl Pruitt, and family.

To Remove Broken Handle ...

THERE'S a simple, effective way to remove the broken off stub of a hammer, ax or hatchet handle. As described in Popular Mechanics, just cut off the remaining portion of the handle next to the head and drive out the balance with a pin punch. First, clamp the head in a vise. Then drive the punch into the wood at the cut end, making sure to locate it so that the steel wedges will be driven out first. This will loosen the wood, which then can be driven out in fragments. This method is easier than trying to remove the entire section at one time with a large punch or by burning. The latter method will ruin a tempered hammer or ax head.

Cattle Runs Again Heavy Across Country

FORT WORTH—Twelve major livestock markets Monday reported more than 113,000 cattle and calves, and the larger portion of them were again fed steers, yearlings and heifers. As a result the fed cattle trade was again very slow and weak at Fort Worth. Cows and bulls were fully steady. Slaughter of less than 500 pounds were firm. High grade and lightweight stockers moved steadily, but plainer kinds and fleshy feeders were slow and weak.

Prices included: Good and choice fed steers and yearlings $14.50-18.50, and two prime steers from W. H. Hammon, Wichita County, topped at $20.50. Hammon also topped the stocker calf market with 42 steer calves that weighed 35 pounds at $20. Common and medium beef cattle $10-14; fat cows $11.50-12.50; canners and cutters $7.50-11.50; bulls $10-15. Good and choice slaughter calves $16-18.50, few higher; cull to medium kinds $10-15.50.

Emphasis On Thursday Stocker Sales Set

A popular development at the major markets will be launched Hester Hall, last week end.

MISS HAWKINS SPEAKS TO SOROSIS CLUB

The Benjamin Sorosis Club met on February 16 at the club room. Topic for the afternoon was "Safety." Miss Eudora Hawkins, guest speaker, showed a film and spoke on "Driving Education," which was very interesting and enlightening. After the leader, Mrs. Allie Moorhouse, presented a gift of appreciation, refreshments were served to members and three visitors.

BENJAMIN H. D. CLUB MEETS FEBRUARY 24

The Benjamin Home Demonstration Club met at 2:30 p. m. Friday, February 24, in the home of Mrs. Lee Snallum. The demonstration was on salads and was given by Mrs. L. A. Parker, Mrs. R. D. Benson and Mrs. Lee Snallum. Twelve members and two visitors were present. The next meeting will be March 9 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Melton.

at Fort Worth Thursday, March 1, and each Thursday thereafter. A meeting of the market agencies last week arranged stress stocker shipments on that day and attention of the buyers has been called to the new development.

The mid-week expansion of stocker receipts was requested by stocker and feeder buyers who needed additional numbers to fill orders then would go out the last half of the week and destined for arrival in the Cornbelt the first of the following week.

At some Northern markets the "Thursday Stocker Days" idea has resulted in some noteworthy sales. One market reported the highest sales of the week on that day with $20 calves and $18 yearlings reported.

Lambs Open Strongly; Top Of $18.50 Scored

The fat lambs trade at Fort Worth opened strong to 50 cents higher Monday. Good and choice lambs sold from $17 to $18.50. The $18.50 top was scored alike by some milk fat lambs, some woolled lambs and some shorn lambs carrying No. 1 and Fall shorn pelts. Some shorter pelt fat lambs sold from $16.50 to $17. Some shorn feeders sold from $16 to $16.50. Cull, common and medium slaughter lambs drew $13 to $16.

Slaughter ewes sold from $7 to $8. Old bucks drew $5 to $6.50. Some fresh clipped old wethers drew $10. A few yearlings and twos sold from $12 to $16.

Pelt Credits Listed For Your Reference

At this time of year the different pelt credits assume vast importance in the understanding of sheep and lamb quotations. We suggest you clip and save this for reference:
Full woolled sheep or lambs carry a length of wool over 1 1/2 inches long.
Fall Shorn or Summer Shorn (actually the seasons have no meaning, as the application has to do with the length of the wool) is an animal having wool 1 to 1 1/2 inches long.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morton and Mrs. Clayton Wren and Erwin were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Williams in Ballinger.

No. 1 pelts are those with wool 1/2 to 1 inch long.

No. 2 pelts have wool 3/4 to 1 inch in length.

No. 3 or fresh shorn wool under 3/4 inch long.

Usually a lamb has a No. 1 pelt 8 to 10 weeks after shearing. Usually a lamb has a No. 2 pelt 6 to 8 weeks after shearing.

Hogs Open Week With Advance Of 50 Cents

Good and choice butcher hogs topped at $12.75 to $13 at Fort Worth Monday. This was 25 to 50 cents above last week's close, and mostly 50 cents higher. Sows at $11 down were also 50 cents higher.

Smaller runs around the major market circle Monday triggered the advance. Less desirable of the weights and grades sold from $10 to $12.50, some pigs around $10 to $10.50.

Mrs. Ed Broach and children of Dallas visited with Mrs. Nora Broach and with her parents in Knox City this week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Anderson and daughters, Linda and Debra June, of Clovis, N. M., were week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burnison.

GRASS AS A CROP FOR 1956

Controlled crop production, acreage restrictions and the proposed "Soil Bank" program will be factors to consider by farmers in Texas this year. Perhaps now is a good time to start planning a crop that is often overlooked by many farmers—grass. Grass is a good crop or a poor one, depending on the attention given to it. It is a cheap feed—and that's important at any time. Farmers who are short of feed or cannot afford to buy it extensively are often able to lick the problem through pasture improvement.

Dairy cows get their best and cheapest feed from pasture. A good dairy cow on adequate pasture alone will give 25 to 30 pounds of milk a day. Pastures of average quality and production will provide daily the equivalent of 8 pounds of hay, 25 pounds of silage, and 4 pounds of grain.

On the average, beef cattle obtain 75 percent of their feed nutrients from pasture and hay. Steers started on grass and finished by dry-lot feeding will use only half as much corn per 100 pounds of added weight as those fed in the dry lot altogether.

Grain-fed hogs are healthier and gain faster when allowed to graze. A combination permanent and temporary pasture can save

FARM LAND VALUES UP DESPITE DROP IN FARM INCOME

Factors other than farm income have been keeping farm land values high during the past 2 years.

In the past, according to John G. McHaney, extension economist, the value of farm land and buildings has risen when farm income rose and dropped when farm income declined, showing a definite relation between the two.

Since 1953, contrary to the usual pattern, farm land values have slowly and steadily risen to a new record-high peak, despite declining farm income. U. S. Department of Agriculture figures, based on regular reports from 16,000 farmers and 10,000 real estate reporters, show this to be a nation-wide trend.

McHaney cites these important developments as probable cause for this unexpected strength in land values.

up to half of the concentrated protein supplement needed by pigs in a bare lot.

Poultry in good pasture eat about 10 percent less mash and grain than they do in confinement. Ladino clover has been worth $100 an acre as poultry pasture for egg production. Pasture is especially important in raising healthy, vigorous pullets for flock replacements. Green pasture for turkeys more than eight weeks old may save at least 20 percent of feed required.

bidders for additional land to enlarge their farms. Caught in a cost-price squeeze, many farmers see increased use of machinery and more land as a means of increasing their production efficiency.

Too, credit to finance farm purchases has become more readily available. Several large lenders reduced interest rates and raised appraised values for loan purposes in 1954, and a booming non-farm economy has encouraged investment in farm land by urban people.

Despite the influence of these three factors on land values during the past few years, the specialist believes that over the years farm land values will depend, as they have in the past, upon the general level of farm earnings. Some current investments in farm land may be inspired by the expectation that it will develop "scarcity" value as our population continues to increase. Mc-

Kitchen Utility Board

EVEN in the most modern kitchen, a utility board for Mother's convenience is a necessary item. A handy one is about 20 by 24 inches, cut from Masonite Tempered Preswood, the hardboard that is splinter-free, extremely smooth and moisture-resistant. It won't absorb odors, either, and can be cleaned easily with a damp cloth.

Such a board, with its corners rounded and edges lightly beveled with a sandblock or file, has various uses in the kitchen and about the house. One of the common ones, a pie board, is illustrated. Here are some of the other uses for a kitchen utility board:

- To protect table tops from extremely hot dishes or from being scratched by sharp cutlery.
- As a sandwich or salad board.
- For cooling hot pies or cakes.
- For a lapboard on which to write letters or jot down menus.
- As a mat on the kitchen range.
- As a surface for cracking nuts or doing small kitchen repairs.
- As a tray for clearing the dining room table.

He has been on the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for a good many years. In all the rush of his duties, he is never too busy to be good natured—to josh or be joshed.

One year when I was on the staff of the Star-Telegram, I had charge of covering the Fat Stock Show. When I came in on the final night with a sheaf of articles, Mark asked, "Well, Boyce, did Fort Worth get it for next year?"

Dub King of the sports department entered the Army during World War II. He was stationed in Mheral Wells (Camp Wolters) at first. On Dub's first visit to the Star-Telegram office in his private's uniform, Mark asked, solemnly, "Dub, do they let you drill?"

first time I ever paid more than a dollar for a dinner. This was along about 1929 or 1930. The scene was the Menger Hotel in San Antonio in the "banana patio." The scenery would have made any repast wonderful: banana and palm trees, moon and stars, a little orchestra playing soft Mexican music, a pool beside the table with goldfish flashing about, a chair with a back that came up to your head (real comfort!), a waiter with a quiet, courteous, deferential manner. The cooking was of the Old South. There were three dinners: $1, $1.25, $1.50.

With a grand gesture as much as to say, "We live only once," I said, "Bring the $1.25 dinner!" Go not to San Antonio seeking the banana patio. It is gone—along with such sumptuous fare for $1.25. In the scene of outdoor feasting, now is a sleek swimming pool. Progress, they call it. Maybe so, but I'm an un-reconstructed old fogey.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Looks At Another Solution To Farm Ills, And Finds It Just Won't Work Either

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has turned his thoughts to the farm problem this week, without affecting the problem one way or the other.

Dear editor:

I read an editorial in a newspaper the other day which fell out of a car as it rounded a curve out here near my house which said the reason we have a farm problem is simple: we have too much land.

Now I'll admit this is a new explanation and while I have never run into a farmer yet who thought he had too much land, if it was paid for, I think Congress ought to be informed of it.

The writer said we just have too many acres, and it shouldn't take Congress long to figure out the way to whip that situation is to double the size of an acre and cut the problem half in two.

But not only did this editorial writer say we have too much land, he said we've also got too many farmers, and he added that the solution to the whole problem was to cut down on both.

Now I can see how it might be possible to cut down on the number of farmers, just lower prices a little more, but when it comes to cutting down on the amount of land we've got, that editorial writer is going to have to sharpen his pencil.

It's my theory that as long as there's any land to farm, somebody will farm it, the same as it's true that just as long as there's any gossip to repeat, somebody will repeat it. There's something about a piece of unfarmed land that sweeps a man off his feet. It doesn't make any difference how many people before have gone bused on it, there's always somebody else willing to give it a turn. As I've always said, there never was a piece of land some farmer wasn't willing to farm, or a woman some man wasn't willing to marry.

Therefore, they'll have to attack the farm problem from some other angle. What angle that'll be is not for me to say. That's Congress' job. Us farmers only make the problems, it's up to Congress to solve em. This is known as separation of powers, guaranteed under the Constitution.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TURN KEY JOB

ON YOUR IRRIGATION WELL?

We are now in a position to arrange a turn-key job on your new irrigation well. We can arrange for the digging of the hole, installation of the casing, putting in the pump and installing the motor. All of this can be financed, and we would be happy to discuss your well with you. Won't you come in today and let us talk about your irrigation problems?

We realize that many farmers of this area have not put down a well because they have not been able to pay cash for it. For this reason we have been working for several months to secure a satisfactory finance plan. We believe we have the best plan that can be secured along with the best equipment.

Don't go another year without a good crop. Here in West Texas rainfall is usually not enough. Insure your crop in 1956 by putting down an irrigation well in time for Spring watering.

Civil Defense Program May Be Organized Here

The following information is given by Lee Bivins, local civil defense director, in connection with the showing of films on civil defense in this area:

These films are for the purpose of showing you the ways and means of protecting yourself in case of disaster. My aim is to organize an active civil defense program in Munday. With your help and interest, this can be accomplished.

Civil defense is not only necessary for wartime measures, it is worth every effort expanded in case of natural disasters.

The Wichita Falls civil defense, in cooperation with the Red Cross, has seen action in several disasters in the past few years—tornadoes, drownings, fires and others. With its disaster bus, which is fully equipped with first aid supplies, and its auxiliary police department, it is on the scene at every disaster.

With your help, we, too, can organize an active civil defense program and obtain emergency equipment.

There are 10 major volunteer services in civil defense, all of them vital. They are: warden, fire, police, health, welfare, engineering, rescue, communications, transportation and staff. We already have trained personnel in some of these. Others are being organized.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By W. J. Bryan, Knox County Agent

It is about the time of year that many farm families will start brooding chicks for flock replacements and for fryers, and of course plans must be made first for the house and equipment.

All equipment should be set up and checked at least three or four days before the chicks arrive.

This is an appeal to you to volunteer for civil defense service. Don't wait until something happens, for then you won't have a chance to learn things that may save your life or the life of some member of your family. There will be only two kinds of people left—those who need help, and those who can help.

Only about 2½ per cent of our American people have been induced by local leaders to prepare themselves for work that could save their lives and the lives of others in a disaster. In the early days of this country, almost every man and woman knew the rudiments of home defense. The sooner we get back to that basis, the better. Do your share.

If you have old type brooders they should be checked for two or three days to see that they will maintain the proper temperature. If you do not have a brooder you may want to consider the infrared lamp method of brooding chicks.

Infrared brooders are light in weight, easy to set up, move and store, and you can see the chicks without lifting a hover.

Readymade infrared brooders are available, with a large range of marketing prices, depending on the number of lamps used, the type of brooder, and whether they have automatic regulators.

Infrared brooders are easy to build and you may want to build your own. I have plans for these and also a couple of very good bulletins on growing baby chicks which I would be glad to furnish anyone interested.

Mrs. Doug Moore of Stanton spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Mauryse Blacklock, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Rister and Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Parks visited relatives in Snyder over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Tuggle were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dorris Tuggle and sons in Brownfield.

UNLICENSED DRIVERS HAZARD, SAY THE DPS DIRECTOR

The unlicensed driver was pointed up today as a traffic hazard on Texas highways in a statement by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

In quoting a survey made during the first six months of 1955 by the Texas Highway Patrol, Garrison said the unlicensed Texas driver is two and a half times as likely to be involved in an accident as a licensed driver.

He also said the survey of rural highways showed that when involved in an accident the unlicensed driver's mishap is half again as apt to prove fatal as that of the licensed driver.

An explanation Garrison said, "The irresponsibility of the driver in not obtaining a license is a reflection of the character of that driver and his driving habits."

"In most instances the unlicensed driver is deficient in either his physical and learned abilities, or his driving attitude. In obtaining a license and taking the driver tests, his deficiencies are brought to light before an accident occurs. By being aware of shortcomings and making adjustments for them a driver usually is able to avoid being involved in a costly traffic accident."

Only 3.9 per cent of the driving public is unlicensed, yet 9.8 per cent of the drivers in non-fatal accidents and 13.9 per cent in fatal accidents are unlicensed.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Do-It-Whose-Self?

Monk McCarthy's almost as good at publicity stunts as he is at servicing and repairing cars—which is pretty darned good.

His latest gimmick is a handbill titled: "Do-It-YOURSELVES! Why Not Grease Your Own Car?"

Then he follows with two paragraphs about all the greases you'll need—the full set of wrenches, spray gun, grease gun, four jacks—the ability to work flat on your back with a face full of goo. And at the very end there's this line: "Or, if that's too much trouble, we'll do the job for 75¢."

From where I sit, I'll have to admit Monk's schemes attract attention. They often seem far fetched to me, but he and I always had different opinions on how to run a business—just as we have different opinions about what's the best beverage. He likes hot tea—I prefer a glass of beer—which doesn't keep us from having a "smooth-running" friendship.

The Ford V-8 is the Largest-Selling "8" in the World!

Look at the final registration figures for 1955:

Ford V-8 1,354,984
 Car C 725,546
 Car P 295,567

Here's why: right today... in Fordomatic Fairlane and Station Wagon Fords you can have the sensational 225-horsepower Thunderbird Special V-8 engine! You get more GO for less "dough" than ever before... in the car that's cooling off the hot ones! If you prefer a Fordomatic Mainline or Customline

Ford... you can now order any model in these distinguished lines with the famous 202-h.p. Thunderbird V-8 engine.

Another thing is build. With the deeper, more rigid "Y" shaped block, Ford V-8's are built to run smoother, longer. And that's just one of the many V-8 advances that have sprung from Ford's 24-year experience in building more V-8's than all other makers combined have ever built.

Top all this advanced power off with years-ahead styling and Ford's Life-guard safety features... and you've got the "eight" that more and more people want (and are buying). Try it!

More than ever—IT'S AMERICA'S WORTH-MORE CAR!
