Odd Bits Salvaged
at Random

We've mentioned it before, but it needs to be mentioned again.

Last Sunday night, the peace of the quiet of the night was disturbed by the moan of our fire siren. We heard the alarm, got out of bed and listened as the fire trucks seemed to head down the highway toward Haskell, then went back to bed.

But a lot of other people didn't go back to bed. They took out after the fire trucks—and what a race it was down the highway! Chief Bivins was unhappy about it, and that's a good way for other people to get a ticket, then be unhappy, too.

It was reported that some of the sightseers beat some of the fire fighting equipment to the scene of the fire, which was an auto that burned, and even created such a traffic jam that some of the trucks couldn't get close enough to fight the fire. Some firemen, when they got there, had to walk or run some 200 yards to take up their hose duties.

Chief Bivins started to the scene, heard vehicles coming behind him at a fast clip, thought they were firemen and pulled over to let them pass. He learned they were not firemen, but on-lookers rushing to the scene.

"That equipment belongs to the people, and people should stay away and let firemen use it to protect people's property from fire," he said. He also indicated very strongly that he would be dishing out tickets the next time things happen that way.

Like we've said many times before, the thing for the general public to do is to come to a dead stop, or park, when the fire alarm sounds and let all fire fighting equipment and fireman pass before following them. Give them time to get up operations before you set up to the fire. Minutes count when a destructive fire is raging.

This much consideration may save you a traffic ticket in the future.

Here's a little note we received a few days ago from the Possum Kingdom Association: Charlie McAfee, Roy Myers, T. J. Parridge and Gill S. Wyatt, all of Munday, Texas, while staying at Arther's Camp, caught 100 crappie and four black bass, each weighing four pounds.

We took a sojourn up Amarillo and Borger way over the week end—our annual trip to the Panhandle Press Association convention and for some free meals from relatives. The convention program was spiced with good ideas and comments on the weather.

That country doesn't look good, neither does this area when you get down to brass tacks. But we heartily agreed with the Mrs. in her remark as we crossed the Brazos River bridge at Rhineland on our return: "This looks better than anything we've seen."

The goodwill trippers of Wichita Falls hit into town via special bus, and under police escort, at about 3 p. m. Wednesday. The boys unloaded and spread out over town to visit, had coffee at the Chamber of Commerce office with several local citizens. Their music wasn't any good—in fact, there was no music. Something happened to the Midwestern University band that was supposed to accompany them.

Knox County 4-H Club Boys Enter In District Contests, Winners Are Named

About 400 4-H Club boys and girls from the 22 counties in District 3 met at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls last Saturday for the annual district elimination contest. W. J. Bryan, county agent, announced this week.

First place winners in each of the contests will represent the district at the state contests to be held in connection with the 4-H Roundup at A&M College in June.

Knox County boys completed in soil judging, tractor operation and public speaking.

Maynard Moore won first place in operation. In this contest the boys were given a written test covering tractor care and maintenance, each boy then giving a demonstration on daily care of the machine, showing his driving skill by taking the tractor and a two-wheel trailer over an obstacle course including backing through a 40-foot silo.

In the soil judging contest, Knox County's team placed second, losing to Young County by six points. The boys judged four fields as to soil class and made recommendations on how to keep the soil in the best condition for prolonged production. Vincent Loran was second high individual in the contest, and William Bellinghausen was fifth. Others in the team are Norbert Brown and Jerry Bellinghausen.

Charles Todd placed third in public speaking. In this contest the boys were judged 50 per cent on 4-H records and 50 per cent on a 5-to-7 minute original talk. Charles talked on "The 4-H Challenge."

S. until the end of April, and the two teachers will display the dolls, and give fascinating demonstrations of how they are created, in San Francisco, New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Munday To Get Extension For Telephone Lines

A project to make available more telephone numbers in Munday is now underway.

J. A. McCrum, Jr., district manager for General Telephone Company of the Southwest, said 20 additional lines of dial equipment are being added in the telephone office here. The project cost about $3,600.

The additional equipment was necessary because of the steady increase in telephones in Munday. There are 735 telephones in Munday today compared to 500 telephones in 1950 and 213 telephones in 1940.

The number of cattle and calves on farms increased for the seventh consecutive year in 1955. The total of 97½ million head on January 1 was one per cent above a year earlier but was the smallest increase since 1949.

Funeral Services For Mrs. E. C. Henry Held At Floydada

Funeral services for Mrs. Belle Ross Henry, 90, mother of Mrs. C. P. Baker of Munday, were held Friday from the First Methodist Church in Floydada, with burial in the Floydada Cemetery.

Grandsons who served as pallbearers are Arthur and Barry Barker of Lockney, Charles and Kenneth Baker of Munday and R. C. and Billy Henry of Floydada.

Mrs. Henry passed away on Wednesday of last week after a long period of illness.

A pioneer of Floyd County, she moved there in 1886 with her husband, the late E. C. Henry, who became the county's second sheriff. She visited the Baker family in Munday quite often and was known to many local people.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. George V. Smith of Floydada, Mrs. Arthur Barker of Lockney and Mrs. C. P. Baker of Munday; a son, Kenneth Henry of Vernon; three brothers and a sister.

The brothers and sister are: J. C. Ross of Albuquerque, N. M.; Rev. H. L. Ross, missionary in Zitacuaro, Mexico; Rev. W. A. Ross of Montreat, N. C.; Mrs. B. F. Jarvis of Plainview.

From the time the Henrys fled on an 80-acre tract adjoining Floydada townsite on the northwest in 1898 until the early thirties the Henry home was a center around which much of the young life of the community revolved. Many in the audience which filled the church Friday morning were persons who had been touched in their youth by the open-door hospitality characteristic of the Henry home for almost 40 years.

Mrs. Henry was born Mary Belle Ross at Greenville, Tennessee. At 15 years of age the family moved to Cane Hill, Arkansas, where she was married to E. C. Henry September 16, 1887.

The couple moved to Texas in that year, living for three years in Wilbarger County before coming to Floydada.

Mrs. Henry was active in church work in the community. She was a member of the First Methodist Church, one of the organizers of a Andrews Ward Parent-Teachers Association. She was a charter member of the Pastor's Helpers class. She was an honorary member of Floydada Garden Club.

Mr. Henry preceded his wife in death in 1929.

The Munday library is a public library, and until this time has been sponsored by the Munday Study Club. In order to be affiliated with the association it must have an active local board of directors to come up to the standards of other Texas libraries.

THE CHANGING FARM PICTURE

The farm program that is finally approved this year may be based on flexible price supports or high fixed supports. It may contain a new experiment in the form of a soil bank. It may involve a two-system for basic crops.

Whatever happens, the program will mark another attempt to deal with an extremely difficult problem—how to keep farm income at good levels at a time when production is still outrunning consumption and enormous surpluses continue to accumulate, and to gradually reduce those surpluses.

But, regardless of what the government does or does not do, it is inevitable that the farm situation of the relatively near future will be vastly different from that of today.

We must feed millions of new American mouths each year. Despite current difficulties involved in disposing of U.S. surpluses abroad, there are heavily populated areas throughout the world which are woefully short of food and fiber, and it seems certain that more and more of the rich production of our farms will be wanted by them. Yet our agricultural acreage is shrinking. Crop-lands are becoming residential areas, industrial sites, airports, highways.

So, ultimately, each remaining farm acre will have to produce more. Farmers will have to have more and better mechanized equipment—not only for current production, but as an essential aid in soil conservation. Every technique and tool that makes for increased and more economical production will have to be used to the limit. Otherwise, within a generation perhaps, instead of a surplus, we could have an agricultural shortage.

BEST MEDIUM

The Western World, of Bandon, Oregon, points out: "After all the revolutionary changes which have taken place in the advertising world in the last ten years, the newspaper—it is now proven—remains the best medium of advertising."

The proof is found in the lineage figures. As the World adds: "In spite of all the competition from new media, newspaper advertising continues to grow and the public continues to express its confidence in newspapers to an amazing degree."

The newspaper—large or small, daily or weekly—is an established American institution. Nothing has changed that—and nothing will as long as we remain a free nation.

West Grove, Pa., Independent: ". . . If we could only earn 1956 wages, pay 1925 prices and 1915 taxes, we would be sitting pretty."

TODAY'S COUNTRY DOCTOR

We often lament the good old days. But there was one institution of those days that no one would really want to return to—the "horse and buggy doctor."

That point was made by Dr. F. S. Crockett, a co-founder of the American Medical Association's Council on Rural Health, in keynoting the Council's 11th annual conference at Portland, Oregon.

Medically speaking, he said, those good old days just weren't good—"They were terribly destructive of human life. . . . I need only to refer to the typhoid, malaria, pneumonia, smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria and other contagious diseases that resulted in the death or crippling of such appalling numbers."

Nowadays, the country doctor, just like his city cousin, has at his command the revolutionary discoveries that have been made in medicines and medical treatment. He may, as Dr. Crockett observed, be a bit short on social visiting during office hours—but he does know how to get results.

Then Dr. Crockett offered an important suggestion—that, to make rural practice attractive, the community should use its local doctors services rather than bypass him on the way to the city doctor's office. As he put it, "Using him just for night calls and bad weather is not a satisfactory professional relationship."

SHANGRI-LA-SOUTH DAKOTA STYLE

South Dakota is a debt free state. In addition, after paying about $10 million in veterans' bonuses it recently was able to reduce taxes.

The Lennox, South Dakota, Independent says, "While the nation and virtually all other states have expanded their public debts, South Dakota has been reducing its obligations. An extra tax, such as the sales tax to pay the bonus, nearly always is retained. But not in South Dakota."

Officials of the other states should "go to school" in South Dakota and learn how this splendid achievement was made possible.

THE PRINTED WORD

Writing in a journal published by New York University's School of Retailing, Irving Settel reports that retailers are spending record amounts of money on newspaper advertising—but are chary of the inducements offered by television.

The main reason is that retailers believe that "newspaper advertising still produces the greatest number of customers for every dollar spent. . . ."

The printed word is still the best means of communication yet devised.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

In considering this question we sometime hear one ask, "But does God grant every man the right to worship according to the dictates of his own conscience?" This has been man's privilege from the beginning.

God placed before man in Eden the right way, and Satan advocated the evil; but man was privileged to choose for himself. When he brought the people of Israel out of Egypt, he gave them a new law and a specific plan of worship; yet he did not force them to accept it. In the words of Joshua he said, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve." They were privileged to worship or not to worship at all. In Isaiah's prophecy concerning Christ we read, "Butter and honey shall he eat, that he may know to refuse the evil and choose the good" (Isa. 7:15). In this we see Christ the Son of God in the world as a man, and as man having the privilege of making his own choice. We may or we may not choose to do anything that God has told us to do, but we should keep in mind this: he has promised a reward to those who walk in his ways and punishment to all who disregard them.

We often thank God that we live in a land of religious liberty, but let us take warning from Paul the apostle, "Brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh" (Gal. 5:13). Because of our interest in fleshly or material things, we may conduct ourselves in such a way because of our liberty, as to stumble or cause someone else to stumble. While God grants us the right of choice, our choice might be wrong, as was the choice of Adam and Eve. The people of Israel chose to pervert the ways of God and to worship strange gods of the world. This brought upon them the wrath of God. We should all consider it our individual responsibility to search out and choose the way that God has given. Continued next week

MUNDAY CHURCH OF CHRIST

BOX 211 — PHONE 6151

PAYNE HATTOX, Evangelist

Do you ever search your memory for the earliest events of your life which you can recall?

Some, in my life, are so early that I really can't remember them but heard them told so vividly that I can "see" them.

Such as the time when, carrying my pink parasol, I marched down the church aisle to the very front row.

And the habit I had, regardless of what the congregation was singing, to render "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder"—good and loud, too.

Also when Vivian, two and half years younger than I, was a little baby, my mother would pretend to nibble her tiny toes. One day, Vivian's cries brought my mother into the room. She asked, "What is sister crying for?" I replied, "I bit her toes—like you did."

All these are hearsay but there are several fragmentary memories of incidents which took place when I was four. . . . give or take a few months. My mother, baby Vivian and I were all sick at the same time. (It was the measles.)

Also when someone thought there was a prowler and my father investigated, with Boyce tagging along—and I can still see the foot-print in the flowerbed, proving the prowler was not imaginary.

Along about that time I thrust a finger into a cigar-clipper to see if it would work on objects other than cigars. It would and did. I gave a yell and withdrew a bleeding finger. My father ran up, his face pale. (The skin had just been nipped on the tip.)

These tremendous events—the measles, the foot-print and the cigar-clipper experiment—took place in Doe Run, Mo.

I remember being in Little Rock and seeing a military parade—cannons, horses and, it seemed to me, thousands and thousands of soldiers. I knew about the Civil War. (I had reached the age of five by then.) and I felt that the South ought to renew the war because, with such a vast host, the Confederates would win this time.

Also in Little Rock we visited an amusement park and attended a play. (It was "Ten Nights in a

Texas Book, "The Road To Spindletop" Wins $1,000 Prize In 1955 Contest

"The Road to Spindletop: Economic Change in Texas, 1875-1901," by John S. Spratt was awarded the Carr P. Collins $1,000 prize for the best Texas book of 1955 by the Texas Institute of Letters at its annual banquet at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Dallas Friday evening, March 9.

The Carr P. Collins Award is given each year for the best book, fiction or nonfiction, on Texas, or by a Texan. The winner of the 1954 prize was "The Great River," by Paul Horgan, which won also the Pulitzer Prize.

The winner this year qualified well as a Texas book. The author, a native Texan, received his education at the University of Texas; the designer and illustrator of the book, Ed Bearden, is a Texan, the book was manufactured in Texas; and was published by Southern Methodist University Press in Dallas.

J. Frank Doble is president of the Texas Institute of Letters. The judges appointed by the president to select the best Texas book for 1955 were Dr. Rebecca Smith Lee of Lexington, Kentucky, formerly head of the English Department at TCU; George Williams of Rice Institute; and Lon Tinkle, book editor of the Dallas Morning News.

Dr. Spratt is a member of the economics faculty at Southern Methodist University, and formerly was head of the department of social science at San Angelo College. He was for a time editor of the "Texas Sheep and Goat Raiser," and during the war served as Executive Assistant to the Chairman of the Eighth Regional War Labor Board, so he writes from a background of business experience as well as academic achievement.

Dr. Spratt's history covers the last quarter of the nineteenth century, a period when the economic growth of Texas was greater than at any other time. The first strand of barbed wire was stretched in 1875; yet within fifteen years the range had been fenced. A short generation saw the wilderness converted into an empire. Within the course of thirty years half a thousand miles of railroad has been expanded into ten thousand miles, and agriculture and industrial output grew in proportion.

"The Road to Spindletop" closes with the bringing in of the Spindletop gusher in 1901. This was the most significant single event in the industrial development of Texas, changing petroleum from an industry of illuminating oil to one of fuels, and insuring the ultimate supremacy of industry over agriculture. Spindletop led to a motorized world; its impact on warfare was as revolutionary as the A-bomb of 1945.

Dr. Spratt is now at work on a book covering the period of the supremacy of oil in the economy of Texas, which will be published by Southern Methodist University Press.

In Performance

At NASCAR's Speed and Safety Event at Daytona, Ford won the Manufacturer's Trophy for best all-around performance. And Ford's 225-h.p. Thunderbird Special V-8, in one day, smashed 30 world speed records at Kingman, Arizona. No wonder Ford is the world's largest-selling eight.

In Safety

When the editors of "Motor Trend" unanimously voted Ford's safety program "the top car advance" of 1956, they had in mind Ford's Lifeguard Design... a whole family of safety features, including a deep-center steering wheel and double-grip door latches, to help protect you in case of accident.

In Economy

In this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Customline V-8 with Fordomatic won over all cars in its class. The sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight with greater gasoline economy per pound than any competitive car... "saves" as well as "eights"! Ford proved itself a regular gas miser.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Halls, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin-Texas cancer clinics diagnosed 1,526 cases of cancer in varying stages of development during 1955, the State Department of Health has reported.

The report was contained in a summary of activities of 11 cancer diagnostic and treatment centers operating in Texas which get financial support from the State Health Department.

Of the total number of cases diagnosed, 1,047 were localized tumors, 342 showed evidence of "regional metastases" (spread to adjoining body area from the original site), and 139 showed remote metastases.

The report said 1,312 cases of the total number diagnosed were placed under medical care.

Mrs. G. R. Eiland visited her son and daughter and their families in Lamesa this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Welborn and Gaston visited in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

The Gas utility industry sold approximately 66,500,000,000 (billion) therms of gas during 1955, a new record volume.

Statistics from tumor clinics which do not receive financial aid from the State Department of Health were not included in the summary. Eleven of the 25 diagnostic centers operating in Texas receive such aid.

The clinics, staffed by county medical societies, operate in connection with existing hospitals as special diagnostic centers where indigent patients can get the best in modern cancer detection techniques, and where private physicians can send patients for special attention from cancer experts.

Professional education for physicians bringing them up to date on the latest developments in the field of cancer diagnoses and treatment, is also conducted at the clinics. State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle called the clinics "one of our greatest weapons against the rising incidence of cancer."

Modern, proved treatment methods, including x-ray, radium and surgery, are available in all clinics. Dr. Holle said the moving force behind establishment of clinics is that the earlier tumor growths are diagnosed and brought under proper treatment, the better are the patients' chances for survival.

Clinics supported by the Department are the Taylor-Jones County Medical Society Tumor Clinic in Waco, the Wichita County Medical Society Tumor Clinic in Wichita Falls, and clinics in San Antonio's Baptist Memorial Hospital, Santa Rosa Hospital, and Robert B. Green Memorial Hospital.

nic in Galveston, the Jefferson Davis Hospital Tumor Clinic in Houston, the Midland Diagnostic Cancer Clinic, the McLennan County Medical Society Tumor Clinic in Waco, the Wichita County Medical Society Tumor Clinic in Wichita Falls, and clinics in San Antonio's Baptist Memorial Hospital, Santa Rosa Hospital, and Robert B. From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

They Travel "In Class"

Our high school correspondent says that Economics and Geography students are going in for "grass roots" studying.

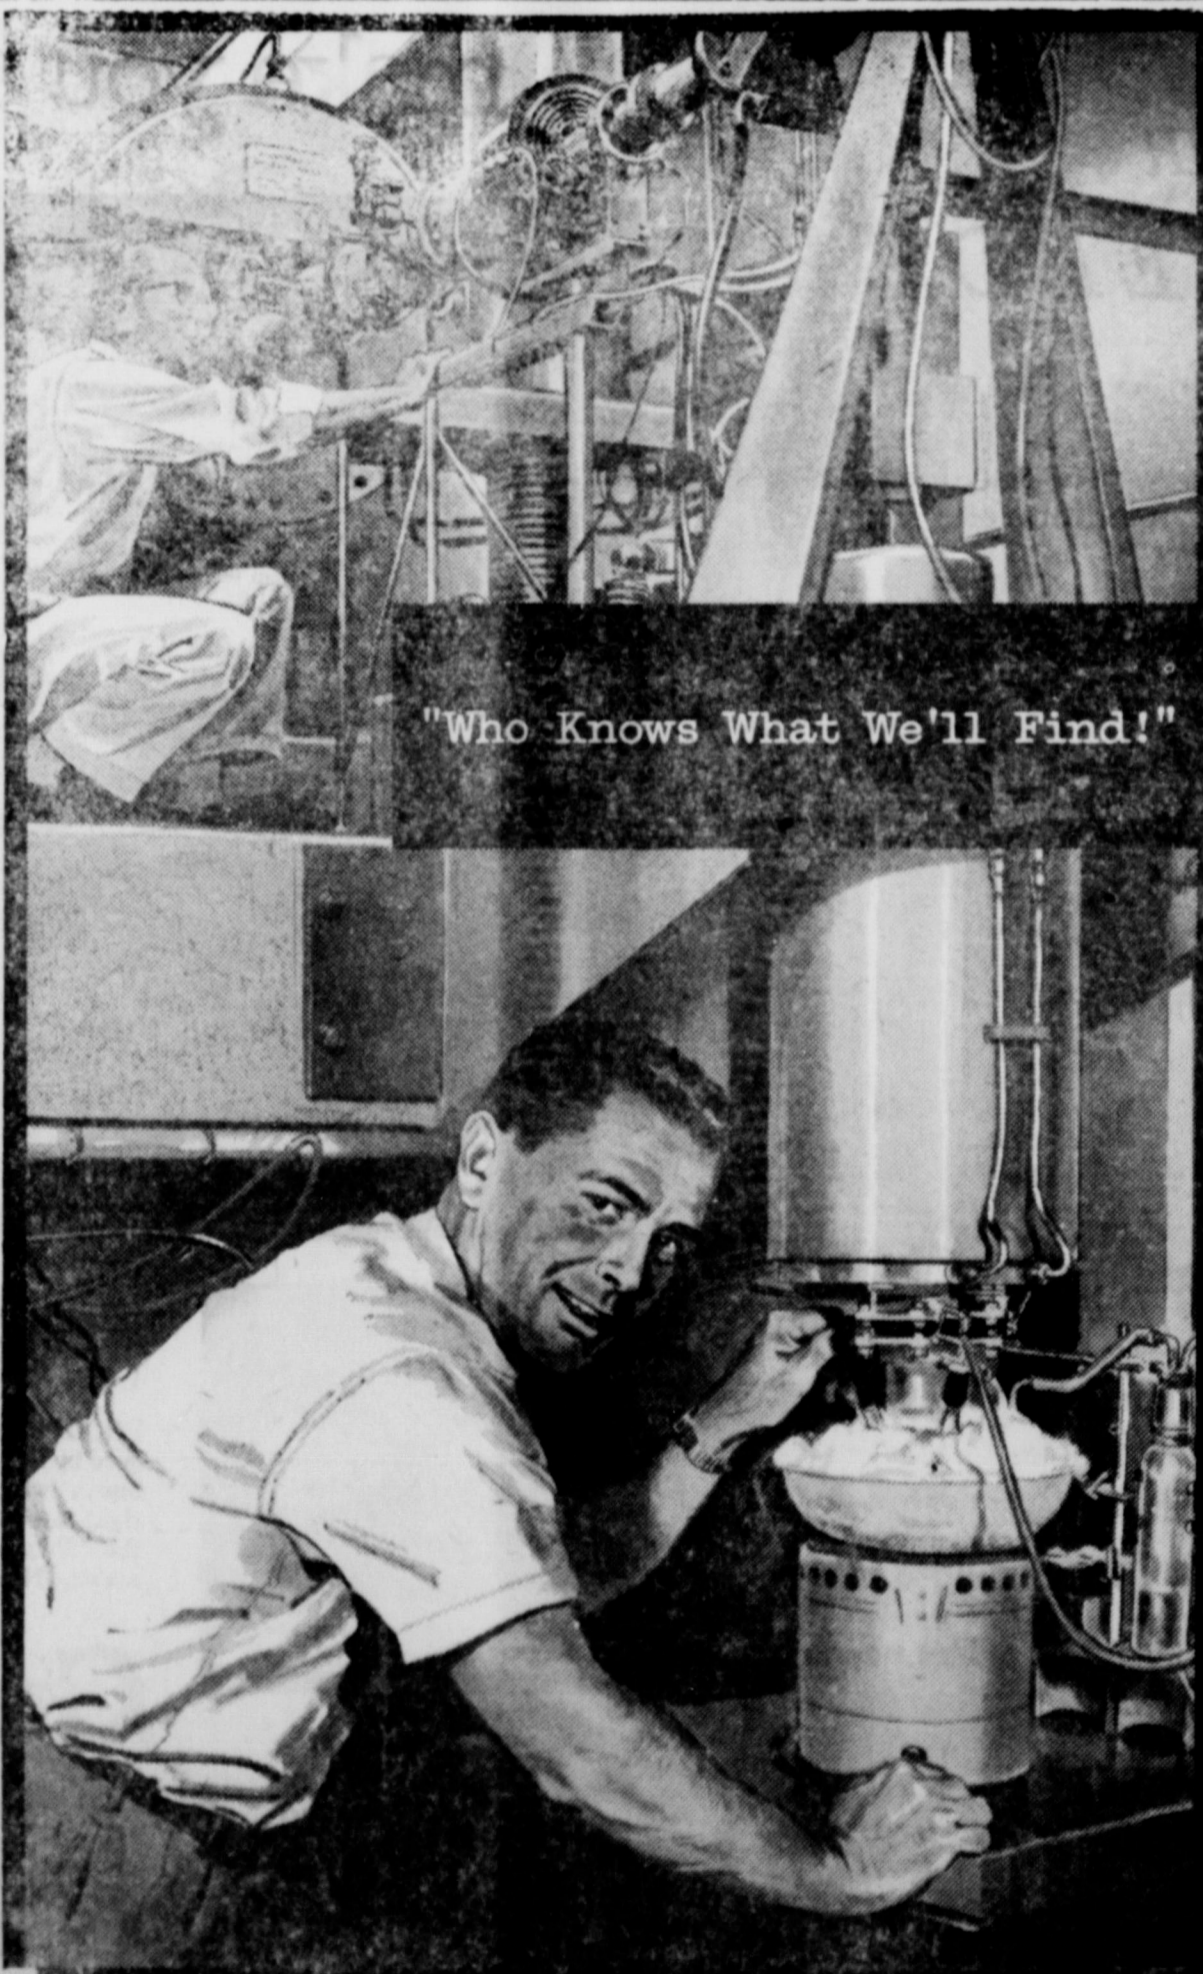

They're going to charter buses and take off on Operation See-For-Yourself—have a ten-day look at some of the things they've been studying about.

As I remember, it was hard to keep your mind on schoolbooks at this time of year. Today's kids can give in to that old urge to bust out of the classroom—with a clear conscience. Wish they'd take me along.

From where I sit, it doesn't hurt us adults, either, to get out and see how the rest of the country lives. We find the "typical American" doing everything from herding cattle to flying planes... with everything from steak to chowder for his favorite dish... everything from beer to butter-milk for his favorite beverage. And the more we study our differences the more we learn how alike everyone is underneath.

"Who Knows What We'll Find!"

Dear Friends

As a part of their work in Humble's Refining Research Laboratory, Humble scientists bombard petroleum hydrocarbons with electrons in a 2-million volt Van de Graaff Accelerator.

But if you ask one of these scientists what he expects to find, he'll answer, who knows! For this is fundamental research. Results may be quick or they may be a long time developing. Who knows?

. . . Perhaps the scientists will find a way to increase the yield of useful products from a barrel of crude oil.

. . . Perhaps they'll be able to make improvements in the fine products already supplied you.

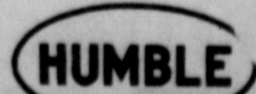

. . . Perhaps they'll develop an entirely new group of petroleum products.

Who knows! This much, however, is certain: Humble research scientists at Baytown use every device of physics, chemistry, mathematics and mechanics to provide you with more and better petroleum products.

Two quick examples: The specifications for Esso Extra gasoline, the formula for Humble Uniflo motor oil. These, without question, are the finest products you can use in your car.

Sincerely

Former Area Resident Honored On 82nd Birthday

L. P. (Pat) Jones, a lad of fourteen, moved to Haskell with his parents in 1888. They settled five miles east of Munday on what came to be known as the Stanley Jones ranch. Pat is a brother to Theodore Jones of Weinert and of Alex Jones, who lived in Munday for many years. Old friends of Pat's and the family will enjoy reading the following write-up from the Hudspeth County News:

L. P. Jones was honored March 21 with a surprise stag luncheon in his home on his 82nd birthday. Eleven guests were invited, ten of them being pioneer residents of Sierra Blanca and the surrounding ranch country. Those attending were Dave Jousselet, W. O. Gish, Bob Coffey, Bill Massey, Vivian McAdoo, J. A. Walker, Frank Mathers, Rev. O. E. Hood and Dr. George Dunn.

Miss Louise Walker assisted the hostess in serving. Pat was delighted with the many lovely cards and the gifts that he received, but what he most enjoyed and appreciated was having his friends of many years together in his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Purvey Scott left Tuesday morning for their home in Los Angeles, Calif., after a week's visit with his mother, Mrs. Ida Scott, and other relatives.

An Old-Fashioned Dessert

Because of the nourishment in good bread, old-fashioned bread pudding is an especially good family dessert. It was a favorite dessert at grandmother's and was varied with spices or apples—usually dried apples.

In fact, bread pudding goes far back in cooking history. In one of my old cookbooks, published about 100 years ago, is the following simple recipe: "A well-baked loaf of stale bread may be tied in a linen cloth, and boiled or steamed, which, with a good sauce answers well for a plain pudding."

Our housewife today starts with grandmother's basically good recipe, but she has the advantage of modern processed food—from peanut brittle to frozen or canned peaches—for providing variation.

I use the following basic bread pudding recipe: Break 5 slices of day-old white bread in small pieces into 1½ quart size casserole. Scald together 2 cups milk, 3 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon salt. When scalded mix with 2 slightly beaten eggs. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Pour over bread pieces. Bake at 325° for 45 minutes to 1 hour. Serve hot or cold. Will serve 4 to 6.

This pudding can be very good served with a simple sauce such as a lemon sauce. Children love it with jelly or jelly melted in the sauce pan and poured over it hot. I make my lemon sauce as follows:

Lemon Sauce

½ cup sugar	2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons cornstarch	4 tablespoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt	4 tablespoons grated rind of 1 lemon
1½ cups boiling water

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add boiling water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. (About 5 minutes). Remove from heat, add butter, lemon juice and rind. Serve hot or cold.

Safety Program Is Sponsored By Munday Study Club

With the students and faculty members of Munday High School as guests, the Munday Study Club held its program, "Safety in the Great Southwest," on April 13 in the school auditorium.

Supt. W. C. Cox opened the program. Director for the study club was Mrs. Chan Hughes, who introduced County Attorney Tom Bullington. Mr. Bullington gave a short talk on the background of the speaker, Capt. D. L. Cooper, district safety director of Wichita Falls.

Capt. Cooper brought out the advantages of a driver education program, stating that more money was spent on sports in which students participate in for a short time than in driver education, although they would con-

It was big town stuff that Mogul Musicade. A program that showed the talent as well as the effort of Mr. Harold Jackson and his Mogul Band.

This program was presented at the grade school auditorium last Friday night to a crowd of approximately 700.

It isn't often you see a program like this in a small town and the people of Munday are proud of their band and of their band director, Mr. Jackson, who has worked so hard to make the band what it is.

He emphasized the importance of forming a good pattern of driving when first learning because impressions of reckless driving made as a teen-ager would follow a person through life.

NO-IRON BATISTE NEW FOR LINGERIE

There's an important under-cover story in cotton fashions this year. It's a new fabric that is rapidly becoming the hit of the season in cool, feminine lingerie.

The fabric is a non-textured, no-iron cotton batiste. This smooth, soft cotton made its debut this year and is being used in many high style new slips, petticoats, and gowns.

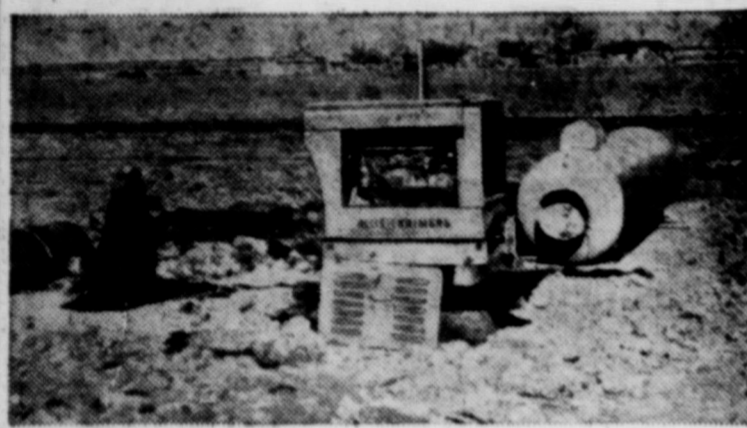

The lightweight cotton batiste is cool and is easy to care for. It's easily swished through the suds and, best of all, requires no ironing.

This is not the first no-iron cotton lingerie fabric. Cotton plisse has been growing in popularity for the past several years, the National Cotton Council reports. The new no-iron batiste, the Council notes, is a smooth, non-creased fabric. Manufacturers have been seeking such a material for many years as an ideal lingerie material, the Council adds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips and her sister, Mrs. Bertie Smith of California, and Raymond Phillips visited Mr. and Mrs. Coy Phillips and family in Levelland over the week end.

Outstanding Soil Conservation Districts And Conservationists to be Named Soon

Texas' three outstanding soil conservation districts and three champion farmer-conservationists for the year ending March 31 will be announced during June, says Jack Barton, extension soil conservation specialist.

Barton has received word from the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, sponsor of an annual national program of conservation awards, that the judges have been named for making the Texas selections. They are Louis Merrill, Texas State Soil Conservation Board, Temple, chairman; Bill Shomette, farm program director for Radio Station KENS, San Antonio; W. W. Cardwell, manager, Luling Foundation, Luling and Clark Bolt, farm editor, Waco News-Tribune.

receive bronze plaques for permanent possession and each will name a member of its board of supervisors and the outstanding farmer-cooperator who will be guests of the sponsor on an all-expense trip to the sponsor's farms in Arizona next November or December.

Because of its extensive agricultural industry and activity, Texas is divided into three geographic units for program purposes instead of the single unit in most other states.

Barton says the current program is the third to be sponsored on a national basis. The fourth begins on May 1 and ends on April 30, 1957 with similar awards offered.

The three selected districts will

The annual meeting, which attracts approximately 2000 persons, will again feature some of the top-notch quartets of the area plus featured quartets from some of the larger towns and cities.

Mr. Chapman states that already the Stamps Ozarks Quartette of Wichita Falls and the Stamps Baxter Quartette of Dallas have notified him that they will be here to participate in the singing festival.

Seating arrangements for the capacity crowd expected cannot be made but loud speaking equipment will be set up to broadcast the singing to the outside audience, he stated.

PLANS FOR 1956 TEXAS 4-H ROUNDUP TAKING SHAPE

Texas 4-H club members will gather on the campus of Texas A. & M. College on June 12-14 for their annual Roundup. They have been holding such meetings at this location for approximately a half century.

A trip to the Texas 4-H Roundup has long been recognized by 4-H members as an outstanding achievement and one that is long remembered. The 1956 meetings, according to Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader, will provide opportunities for the delegates to get training in leadership and subjects of their choice and also further acquaint them with the facilities of the college.

State winners in the different judging and team demonstration contests will be determined on June 13. Delegates will select and participate in one of the 17 subject-matter short courses being offered. The training in agricultural and home economics subjects is designed so those receiving the training may pass it on to others when they return home.

County delegations will be limited to two boys, two girls and adult leaders or county extension agents must accompany a county group. District winners from a county are not counted as delegates, according to Lynch.

The first session is scheduled for Guion Hall on the evening of June 12. The contests are to be held on the 13th and the short course commence on the same afternoon and continue through the 14th. The popular Share the Fun Festival is scheduled for the night program on the 13th.

Presentation of awards to all state contest winners will be made the afternoon of the 14th. The "Chuckwagon Feed" and special entertainment at Kyle Field will wind up the third day of activities.

Lynch says all county extension agents have details on the meeting and advises 4-H members and leaders to start making plans now to attend.

The Texas Department of Agriculture
By John C. White, Commissioner

Cotton production and processing is moving into the jet age.

Within a short time, nuclear energy radiations may be used to give cotton a new versatility and improve its textile properties.

This project is just one of many new developments now planned by state and federal cotton research agencies. Goal of this research is to find and create new uses and demands which will put a new sheen on "King Cotton's" slightly tarnished crown.

Future plans were laid for cotton during a research and marketing advisory meeting in Washington last month. The committee, composed of leading agriculturists from over the nation, set a course of action that includes all phases of cotton handling, including production, utilization and marketing.

Rated high on the list were experiments on irrigation of cotton grown in humid area, improved weed control, better processing methods for cottonseed oil and meal and other work to reduce costs of cotton production. Any savings effected will give a needed shot in the arm to this white crop, notorious for its expensive growing and harvesting methods.

The Gulf Coast area of Texas will be the site of research to study irrigation in humid areas for more prolific production. At the same time, mechanical and chemical weed control studies will be conducted to determine best methods for various localities.

The pink bollworm, Texas' most serious cotton pest, is on the list for advanced research, as well as cotton breeding to improve fiber quality and increase growing efficiency.

New uses for cotton must be developed also. Development is planned on cotton-filled plastic laminates for industrial uses, and stretchable cotton yarns for socks and other knit wear.

These are but a few of the plans outlined by the committee. Cottonseed and related by-products are due their full share of attention. Progress reports on research data will be made available to the industry as they become available.

BUILDING YOUR HOME

When you are ready to build, you will find that the law helps in many ways to make your home enjoyable and secure.

Have you decided on the type house you want and the amount you want to spend? If so, then let's go into details!

1. Your lot: Junior's school or your church may be nearby, but find out—

(a) Whether they are planning to run a highway through the area or nearby, or make any improvements for which you can be assessed.

(b) What "covenants" or restrictions run with the land? To protect residents, the plats or basic deeds of some neighborhoods call on you to build a certain size or type of house. Do you want to and can you afford to?

(c) Easements. Either you or your neighbors may need to run pipes, or string wires over each other's land or to share a driveway. Have the abstract checked carefully to disclose any easements.

2. Zoning Ordinances: For your protection the local government frequently zones some areas, for example, for single houses only, for multiple dwellings; for retail stores, for manufacturing, etc.

Unless the local governing body changes its zoning ordinance, no filling station, for instance, can go up next to you in a residential area. Neither could you turn your home into a store. In any case, you should find out what your neighborhood zoning rules are.

3. Building Codes: Be certain that the plans and construction will meet the requirements of the local building code as to size, location and structure. Municipal ordinances usually impose strict standards for the building, the plumbing and the electrical wiring. In many cases only licensed building tradesmen are permitted to make the installations.

4. Financing: Financing contracts protect both you and the lender. Unless you pay cash, you will use credit to pay for your house, most likely a deed of trust or a land contract. Your installments often include principal, interest, insurances and taxes. Under a land contract the lender holds title to your house until you pay for it. If you fall behind,

IMPROVED LIVING GOAL OF 4-H'ERS

Comfortable homes, modern conveniences, safe communities, and recreation for all, are the goals of 4-H Club members throughout the country participating in the National 4-H Home Improvement, Electric, Safety and Recreation Programs.

Boys and girls carry out "do-it-yourself" ideas by improving their homes, learning new and improved uses for electricity, practicing safety at all times, and taking the lead in recreation activities.

Incentives valued at $100,000 are provided through the National 4-H Award Programs in the four areas to encourage members to do more and better work. Home Improvement awards are given by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation; Electric honors by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation; Safety incentives by General Motors; and Recreation awards by the United States Rubber Company.

In each of the programs, four gold-filled medals are offered for county winners. State honors consist of expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. At the Congress, national awards of $300 college scholarships will be presented to six winners each in Electric and Recreation, and eight champions in Home Improvement and Safety.

Local clubs in each county reporting outstanding Recreation and Safety programs will be preferred certificates of honor. Certificates are also provided for the ten clubs reporting the best Safety programs in the State, and $20.00 cash awards are given to State blue award winner clubs in Recreation.

Leader training funds are made available in the Recreation Program. Each year, over 20,000 adult and junior leaders receive training made possible with these funds.

All of the programs are conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, and the award programs arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Work. Complete information is available at county Extension offices.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patterson visited their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Doyle, in Tell several days last week.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gaines were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaines of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gaines of Lubbock. Little Gerald Gaines who spent last week here with his grandparents, returned to his home in Lubbock with his parents.

Local clubs in each county reporting outstanding Recreation and Safety programs will be pre-

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

In addition to the farm bill, the House this week considered the authorization for military construction for the next fiscal year. This bill was favorably acted upon and among its other provisions it provided that to support the construction requirements of the Air Force in accordance with its present program, military construction at Sheppard Air Force Base was authorized in the amount of $6,842,000. These funds, of course, were made available at a future date and will provide for a hospital and medical facilities and housing and community facilities at Sheppard. When the funds have been appropriated and the plans completed, the detailed information concerning each of the various projects at Sheppard will be announced by the Corps of Engineers of the Army which acts as the construction agency of the Air Force.

Next week the House will consider two pieces of legislation that we have previously discussed here one of which is the bill that would expand the upstream flood control program which was introduced by Congressman Bob Poage of Waco. This bill would expand an already effective program for better conservation of water. It has provisions in it that will also be most helpful to municipalities seeking new sources of water. The other bill that will be considered is the one that provides for a great expansion of the Federal highway system and

HOW TO CLEANSE FRESH FOODS OF FALLOUT

1. Lift fruit, hands covered. 2. Remove peel with tissue. 3. Dispose of peel and tissue.

TIP TO HOUSEWIVES on how to cleanse fruits and vegetables of radioactive material if they became contaminated is provided by radiological expert and housewife Dr. Rosalind Yalow of the U. S. Veterans Hospital, New York. At a demonstration during a Radiological School sponsored by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, she showed how to prepare fruits or vegetables for eating when the outside is "contaminated" by fallout particles.

Housewives might have to handle radioactively contaminated fruits and vegetables as gingerly as a newborn baby for a time if their food stocks are ever exposed to fallout. Under those circumstances, radiological expert Dr. Rosalind Yalow, a housewife and staff member of the New York Veterans Administration Hospital, emphasizes that a housewife would have to take special precautions to avoid contact with radioactive particles in preparing food.

FRESH FOODS most likely to be exposed to fallout contamination would be those coming directly from home garden plots, open fruit stands, or left near an open window in a fallout area. Fruits and vegetables left on open pantry shelves would have more of a chance of being contaminated than those in closed cupboards or refrigerators.

This so-called "contamination" would affect only the surface of fruits and vegetables unless, through careless peeling or washing, a housewife allowed the center of the fruit to become contaminated.

Dr. Yalow had the following tips to avoid this:

1. Use fruits and vegetables which were pre-wrapped, or kept away from the open air such as they would be in a refrigerator.

2. When washing produce, use running water if possible, providing it comes from a covered source such as a well or a known uncontaminated supply. If running water is not available, be sure the water used to wash the vegetables is changed frequently.

3. Fruits and vegetables with thick skins, such as bananas, or those that may be easily washed, such as apples, would be preferable. A housewife would be wise to handle these foods with disposable towels during cleansing.

WITHOUT SPECIAL "know-how" and care, Dr. Yalow points out, it would be easy for a person accidentally to transmit radioactive contamination into fruits or vegetables by washing them with "contaminated" water, or simply by handling peeled fruits with "contaminated" gloves or towels.

With this knowledge, a farmer's wife, for example, could in most cases make the produce from her fallout-exposed garden safe and usable again by her family.

After an attack, housewives would find out by radio whether their homes were located in a fallout zone. Then they would learn whether to take these precautions or not.

Cattle were generally steady, except cows were again slow and weak, with some sales unevenly lower again. Choice fed heaves topped at $20. Slaughter calves ruled steady. Stockers and feeders were fully steady. Relatively few high grade stockers appeared in the receipts.

Hogs were steady, and sows were mostly steady, with spots 50 cents lower than last week's close. Top butchers scored $15.25

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For the Home

Underlayment, Money Saver
IN NEW homes that will have wall-to-wall carpeting, wise owners are insisting on omitting finish floors as an unnecessary expense. Instead, they are specifying Masonite Underlayment, which goes right over the sub-floor and provides a smooth, even base for the carpeting.

Wherever flexible floorcoverings are wanted, in homes new or old, experts recommend the under-layment for several good reasons. These are:

- Greater life expectancy for rugs, linoleum, rubber, asphalt tile or cork.
- Greater strength and stiffness in floor construction.
- Tighter, warmer floor, especially over crawl spaces in slab construction.
- Less transmission of noise to floor below.
- Underlayment furnishes additional insulation, decreasing heat losses.
- Easy to apply, Masonite Underlayment is readily fastened down with nails or staples. It is available, with directions, in lumber yards. The panels have a uniform thickness of .215 inches, slightly less than 1/4", and are available in two convenient sizes, 3 x 4 ft. and 4 x 4 ft.

TURN KEY JOB

ON YOUR IRRIGATION WELL?

We are now in a position to arrange a turn-key job on your new irrigation well. We can arrange for the digging of the hole, installation of the casing, putting in the pump and installing the motor. All of this can be financed, and we would be happy to discuss your well with you. Won't you come in today and let us talk about your irrigation problems?

We realize that many farmers of this area have not put down a well because they have not been able to pay cash for it. For this reason we have been working for several months to secure a satisfactory finance plan. We believe we have the best plan that can be secured along with the best equipment.

Don't go another year without a good crop. Here in West Texas rainfall is usually not enough. Insure your crop in 1956 by putting down an irrigation well in time for Spring watering.

Top-Flight Performance has made Peerless the World's Largest Producer of Deep Well Turbine Pumps. ## Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims That Science Can Speed Up Election Returns, But Can't Affect The Result

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek, as best we can figure, must have been looking at somebody's television set, his letter this week indicates.

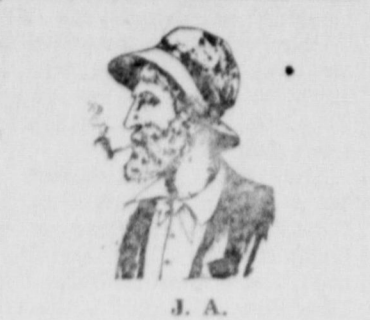

The trouble with science is that it never can live up to its claims. I came around to this conclusion once more this week while I was reading a newspaper article about the preferential primaries as they're called which are being held in some states to keep the people in the habit of voting, I guess, as I've never been able to see anything else they accomplished.

If you recall, when the radio was invented it was supposed to revolutionize politics, it was going to enable every man to sit in his own home and listen to the candidates and make up his own mind and this would result in a better quality of office-holder, the same as happened when they gave women the vote.

Well, radios kept getting better and better, but the quality of the office-holder remained the same. That is, some good ones got elected all right, but about the same proportion of sorry ones got in also.

Well, they said, radio does allow you to hear a candidate, but where it failed was in not giving you a chance to see him. You've got to see a man to really size him up, they said.

So, here came television. And what happens? As you know, this fellow from Tennessee put television back on its heels by coming up a new weapon, the common handshake. No picture tube, no network interruptions, no antenna, just a handshake.

I never have understood the political magic of the handshake, but I know it works, as I've seen lots of men who got into office with no other qualification.

Now you'd think that television would be the answer to the handshake, but television may be one of the worst enemies a candidate ever had. When he comes up to you in person and grabs your hand, you don't have much chance to really study him, by the time you get a good look at him he's already moved on to the next hand, but when he's talking on television, you don't have much else to do except watch him pretty close, as there aren't over four or five politicians in the world who can read a speech and hold your attention longer than two or three minutes. Half the time you figure somebody else wrote his speech, and the other half, you figure he wrote it himself, and neither method is guaranteed to build confidence. When it comes to elections, about all science has achieved is the ability to tell you today who won yesterday without waiting a week or so.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Emergency Feed Program Given For Knox County

Wilburn A. Satterwhite, supervisor, has received word from Walter T. McKay, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, giving details of the emergency drought feed program for Knox County. Feed will be issued to maintain the basic livestock herd.

The amount to feed received will be determined by the amount on hand, and feed will be issued from the date of application to May 15, 1956. Application may be made at the ASC office in Knox City, and they will be reviewed and certified by the Knox County FHA committee, which is composed of B. E. Smith, Murval H. Jackson and John H. Atterbury.

Applications for emergency feed must be made not later than April 27, and the committee must act upon them not later than April 30. Applications must be signed by the livestock owners. Eligibility is subject to the following conditions:

Any established farmer or stockman (partnership or corporation) whose principal occupation is farming or ranching and whose financial condition is such that he requires assistance under this program to maintain his foundation herd and continue livestock operations. The fact that the purchase of hay or other feed at regular prices may not be profitable to the applicant is not sufficient to qualify him for assistance.

The principal occupation of an applicant may be considered to be either the occupation from which he received at least one-half of his net income for the calendar year next preceding the date of his application, or the occupation to which he devoted at least one-half of his time during such year, provided that partnerships or corporations will be eligible only if at least one-half of their net income for such year was derived from farming or ranching.

Feed certificates will be issued by Jesse T. Gilpin, office manager of the ASC, and will be mailed to the applicant.

For seasoning succulent green vegetables, like broccoli, stir a tablespoon of lemon juice into one-fourth cup melted margarine. Pour over the hot cooked vegetable just before it goes to the table. For carrots, use equal parts of melted margarine and orange or pineapple juice.

Clark. She is a sweet young thing who has a "trace of vinegar" in her disposition. Of course the town constable, Jim Belton, gets in the act with his "courtin'" Martha for fifteen years. Other comedy characters are Archie Techor, who is in love with some girl if he could find out who. Mrs. Jones Wright adds to the hilarity of the occasion with her up-town idea.
