The potato harvest has started in the Munday area. The "Brazos" potatoes have started off to market. The reason they are Brazos potatoes, according to Jack Renfro, is that they have been named after the Brazos river.

k-k

Harvest started last Monday in the field of Johnny Michels, whom, we believe, was the first grower to harvest last year, and workers have been busy both in the fields and at the processing shed. Several large trucks were on hand to be loaded and to truck the spuds off to market places.

k-k

Both Jack Colville and Jack Renfro of the firm of Colville and Renfro are here for the harvest, and the 'taters are moving.

k-k

One of the firm's top men, who appeared to be foreman of the crew, told us Monday that around 110 people are employed in the potato harvest—around 80 in the field and about 30 at the processing shed. It's rather interesting to see the spuds processed, as they are dumped on a conveyor and run through the washing processes, out onto another conveyor where they are sorted as to No. 1 and No. 2 spuds, culls, etc.

k-k

The boys who are sacking the No. 1's are kept rather busy, handling two chutes, changing sacks, etc. Then they are set aside to be weighed in at exactly 100 pounds to a sack. After the weigher is satisfied, other men are on hand with needles and string to sew up the sacks—then they are ready for loading onto the trucks.

k-k

With 318 acres in spuds this year, someone has estimated that this will keep the harvest crews busy for around 30 days.

k-k

Then another crop will be about ready for harvest. Those who are growing cantaloupes believe their crop will begin the harvesting process around July 1. And there are around 1,100 acres in this little melon.

k-k

Work is expected to get under way on erection of the cantaloupe processing shed this week, and it will be ready for the harvest.

k-k

Of course, the bad sandstorm that came at the wrong time—as if there is a right time for one of them—just about put us out of the carrot business. Only 21 acres were left, the field of J. B. King. But it is expected that around 400 acres will be planted in fall carrots.

k-k

Then there are some 55 to 75 acres in onions, some in water-melons and some in B. E. peas—and the vegetable growing business is bigger this year than ever before. But Mr. Renfro remarked that this would likely develop into a nice little vegetable growing area—nothing big. It may seem big to us, but Renfro is used to big stuff in the vegetable harvest and shipping business, and big means shore 'nuff big to him!

k-k

Anyway, the harvest is bringing in money when money is needed and furnishing employment when employment is needed. No big crews of local labor are used because it is always necessary to have those "key men" who know their business when harvest gets under way.

k-k

C. E. Haskin, whose farm is north of Goree, was in to see us last Monday and to have the paper come to him for another year. We learned that he was in the area before there was a Munday, and that he's not a "town boy" at all. He likes the wide open spaces, but having his car worked on required his saying in town a few hours.

k-k

"I've seen droughts before," he said, naming the dates of two which we forgot, "but I've never seen one that lasted over a period of five years like this one."

CORRECTION

We have been informed that it was L. H. (Leland) Burgess, and not Lloyd Burgess, who was injured at Goree when the tire rim blew off the wheel. Lloyd is a uncle of the injured man.

Munday Boys At Salvation Army's Camp

The recently-completed Salvation Army Hoblitzelle near Midlothian, Texas, has opened for the first campers in its history, and two boys from Munday are in attendance there this week, according to M. L. Wiggins chairman of the local Salvation Army Service Unit Committee. They are William Shahan Cary and Bobby Masters.

The Youth Camp, for boys 8 through 14 from throughout the state, is held each summer by the Service Unit Department of the Texas Division of The Salvation Army. This is the first year for new and greatly expanded camp center which was just recently dedicated and which offers camping opportunity to many more boys and girls throughout Texas than was possible before.

The new camp features year-round construction of brick, with craft lodge, recreation hall, hospital and dispensary, swimming pool, and chapel in addition to campers' cottages and a dining hall. The camp center is on a 340-acre ranch which is completely fenced and offers room for all types of outdoor recreation.

The boys are taught hand crafts, swimming, sports, and are given lessons in Christian living at the camp. They are under the supervision of trained and dedicated Salvation Army officers. This is one of the many services of The Salvation Army that are supported by Community Chests, United Funds, and annual financial campaigns.

Voters Approve School Bonds

Voters of the Munday Independent School District stamped their approval on the $125,000 bond issue for repairs and improvements to the local school system at the election last Tuesday. Interest in the election was light, as evidenced by the 103 votes cast in the election.

Returns of the election, which are unofficial, were announced by H. P. Hill, election judge, as follows:

For the issuance of bonds and levying the tax in payment thereof, 9; against the bonds, 4.

For the assumption of indebtedness, 93; against 3.

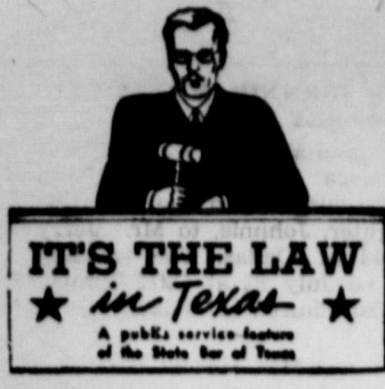

Extensive repairs and improvements are planned for the colored school, as well as repairs to the elementary school and Sunset school buildings, replacement of wornout furniture, etc.

Propositions In Goree Election Are Explained

The present total tax rate of $1.25 per each $100.00 assessed valuation cost each taxpayer last year $12.50 for each $1000.00 of their assessed valuation. The proposed tax rate of approximately $1.60 per each $100.00 assessed valuation, will cost each taxpayer $16.00 per each $1000.00 of their assessed valuation. Taking also into consideration the valuation increase of ten per cent which will add $1.60 to this $16.00 for each $1000.00 assessed, for a total of $17.60 per each $1000.00 assessed valuation. This amounts to an increase over last year, of what the taxpayer will actually pay for the new buildings of $5.10 per $1000.00 of property value per year.

When the voters go to the polls June 9th, they will be faced with three elections instead of one. The first election has three propositions and the others one each. Since the Goree Independent School District includes parts of three counties, Knox, Haskell and Throckmorton, the residents of each of these counties residing in the Goree District will be affected by the election.

This election has three propositions and the ballot is printed on white paper. Proposition No. 1, is whether the provisions of Senate Bill No. 116, will be adopted by the Goree Independent School District so that it may have the (Continued on last page)

Marriage Does Not Change Property Ownership
June is traditionally the month for weddings, and many couples will be taking marriage vows within the next few weeks. But, while a certain symbolic transfer of "worldly goods" is often associated with the wedding ceremony, under Texas law, the act of marrying another does not give you the authorization to take control of his property.

Generally speaking, each spouse has the right to control and dispose of his or her own separate property. The separate property of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired by either after marriage by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Aside from the ordinary community estate, there is a class of property known as the wife's "special community," which includes all the income from her separate real property, and probably the interest on bonds or notes, and dividends on stocks owned in her separate right. While the husband may have similar assets, the law accords them no particular distinction from ordinary community property.

Although the history of the matter is somewhat confusing, it appears that under present day law the husband has control of ordinary community property; but control of the wife's special community property is reserved to her.

Certain restrictions are imposed upon both husband and wife in exercising such control. For instance, the husband cannot legally dispose of community property in such a way as to defraud the wife, nor can he sell the homestead without her signature and acknowledgement. And the wife's sale or mortgage of her separate real estate, stocks or bonds is not valid unless her husband joins with her in the transaction—he must sign and execute the necessary legal papers along with her.

There are laws exempting the wife's separate and special community property from liability for debts incurred by the husband. Such liability is restricted to his separate property and the ordinary community property.

On the other hand, debts incurred by the wife in obtaining necessities for herself or the children bind all property belonging to either party, including the husband's separate property. For other debts which she has power to incur, only her separate and special community property are liable.

All of these distinctions emphasize the advisability of keeping proper records. By doing so the various classes of community and separate property owned by a married couple will always be easily distinguishable. Each category will then receive the special protection afforded to it by our laws.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Weekly Health LETTER
Issued by Henry A. Hollis, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Whether you call them red bugs or harvest mites or chiggers or just plain Eutrombicula alfreddugesi, you'll meet them this spring and summer. Forewarned is forearmed.

Texas, says State Health Department entomologists, has more than its fair share of the parasites, a statement with which anyone who has endured ceaseless spasms of itching misery from red bug bites will agree.

They—the chiggers—have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass lawns harbor them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are not usually in carpet grass.

Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall out. The severe itching is caused by an anti-coagulant material they inject into their host.

Although adult chiggers—large, red, and velvety—are entirely harmless to man, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. The entomologists say they do not spread any specific disease entity in this country, but their bites often produce secondary infection in the form of sores and boils.

A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks, but the vast majority are fair game from about May until cold weather reduces chigger ranks. Favorite spots to attach themselves for blood meals seems to be hands, feet, and the stomach around the belt line.

They attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking man. No distinction is drawn between humans and lesser animals species, which is hardly complimentary to us Homo sapiens.

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used for years to successfully control chiggers. Nowadays, the newer organic insecticides such as chlordane and lindane give better results. Just follow the directions on the label.

A word of caution: be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide. If you spill the concentrated material on your skin, wash it off immediately. And be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries.

If your favorite golf course or play ground has not been treated against chiggers, rub your legs and arms with a good commercial mosquito repellent. It will keep the chiggers at a distance.

"MAY SAVE YOUR LIFE"

When Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association, saw "Devil Take Us," he was very much impressed with it and he authorized the following statement:

"This is a motion picture without actors, a drama in which all of us are the players. It's shocking as the problem is shocking, see it—remember it—this picture may save your life!"

The man or woman at a bar who takes "one for the road" and who reads or smokes or makes love while at the wheel, the dreamers, the careless, those not so quick, and the maimed and the dead make up the cast of Devil Take Us," June 24-25 at the Roxy Theatre. It is the story of our dizzy drivers and one of them who is reformed. RKO-Pathé present this Theatre of Life picture produced, written and directed by Herbert Morgan with the cooperation of the Associated Press.

excessively when insecticide applications were followed by too early or delayed irrigation, says Owen.

Toxaphene, dieldrin and heptachlor proved effective in control of thrips and fleahoppers. Although differences were not significant, toxaphene and dieldrin gave somewhat better control than heptachlor at the dosages used. Two applications held fleahopper infestations to low levels in one test. In the other tests, a third application was necessary to control rapidly increasing infestations of fleahoppers.

Control of thrips and fleahoppers resulted in economical increases in yields in all three tests. Two applications of the materials produced gains of 310 to 370 pounds of seed cotton per acre, states Owen. Three treatments produced increased yields of 321 to 391 pounds of seed cotton per acre in one test and 565 to 602 pounds per acre in the other. Cross value of gains in production ranged from $ 36.62 to $71.32 per acre.

FORT WORTH—The second largest run of sheep of the year arrived at Fort Worth Monday when more than 16,500 head arrived. Trade was fairly active and prices were generally steady on all kinds, quality considered. A large portion of the receipts were Spring lambs and a big percentage of that classes were in just fairly fat condition.

Slaughter Spring lambs topped at $23, and shorn old crop slaughter lambs topped at $22.

Hogs were steady to 50 cents higher and choice meat type hogs topped at $16.50 to $17. Sows were strong to 50 cents higher at $10 to $13.50. Less desirable weights and grades of butcher hogs scored $13 to $16, and pigs sold around $11 to $13. Stags sold around $5 to $7.

Fed steers and yearlings were mostly steady, some spots stronger to the shipper and independent packer trade. Cows and bulls were strong, spots 25 cents higher. Slaughter calves were fully steady to strong, and stocker and feeder cattle and calves were strong to 50 cents higher. Stocker trade was again active from the start.

Good and choice slaughter Spring lambs sold from $18 to $23, while cull, common and medium Spring lambs sold from $12 to $17. Stocker and feeder Springs lambs cashed at $14 to $16.50, a few $17.

Good and choice shorn old crop lambs cashed at $17 to $22, and cull, common and medium shorn lambs cashed at $10 to $16. Stocker and feeder shorn lambs sold from $12 to $15. Slaughter ewes sold from $4.50 to $5.50, and breeding ewes were too scarce to test values. Aged wethers were reported mostly from $8 to $13, a few outside that range. Old bucks sold around $4 to $4.50.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings sold from $16 to $21 while common and medium offerings sold from $10 to $16. Fed hiefters sold mostly from $20 downward.

Butcher and beef cows sold from $10 to $12.50, a few choice young cows to $13. Canners and cutters cashed at $7 to $10.25. Bulls sold from $10 to $13.50, a few top individuals to $14.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $16 to $19, and common and medium offerings cleared at $13 to $16. Culls cashed at $9 to $12. Good stocker steer calves cashed at $16 to $20, and good stocker steer yearlings sold from $17.50 downward.

Parity For Hogs July 4

Some observers are predicting smooth meat type hogs will be selling at 90% of parity by the Fourth of July. This theory is based on the fact that feed prices are higher and feed supplies will remain "tight" until the new corn crop, and the fact that recent surveys indicate lower numbers of hogs than had been predicted earlier. Rising feed costs are knocking some speculative hog feeders out of the business.

Lambs A Cinch

One reason smaller supplies of lambs are coming in from Southeastern and the Midwestern "native" area, is the increased numbers of ewe lambs being held back for breeding purposes.

With the national supply already short, this has accentuated the matter. Reason so many are being held is that lambs look like a cinch money maker for the farmer who is set to handle them. Lambs are selling nearest part of any livestock and likely for a long time to come. Incentive payments on the ewe's wool make a lamb crop even more attractive.

At Fort Worth this Spring demand has been very active on yearlings ewes, and orders from out-of-state buyers

State Candidate

Supreme Court Justice Will Wilson has resigned his post on the State's highest tribunal to launch a fighting campaign for Attorney General of Texas. His resignation was made effective June 1.

"The most compelling call to duty for me today is to serve the people of Texas as their Attorney General," Wilson said.

With a career as Dallas' racket-busting district attorney, followed by six years on the Supreme Court, Wilson said he left the court "with reluctance." However he surprised few Capitol observers in responding to the challenge to serve as Texas' number one law enforcement officer.

"I have been asked why I am willing to leave the Supreme Court," Wilson commented. "Like for them are in every order buyers pocket . . . unfilled!"

Hot Summer Due

Weather Bureau forecasters warn this Summer may be a scorcher, following the late, cold Spring in much of the country. They say a bumper crop of sun spots is responsible for the unusual Spring and under similar circumstances the Summers have been terrifically hot.

News From The U. S. Congress

WEATHER CONTROL BY CLOUD SEEDING?

This is the season of the triple threat to crops—hail, lightning and tornadoes—in Texas.

Can their potential dangers be minimized? A number of weather control studies are being made to find out.

All three of these natural disasters cause tremendous damage in Texas each year. Hail is a deadly destroyer of crops and can churn the year's work and income of a thousand farm families into mush in a half-hour. Lightning is particularly dangerous in starting forest-fires in the wooded sections of East Texas.

Back in 1946, when cloud-seeding became prominent in the news a young General Electric scientist, Vincent Schaefer, became interested in the possibility of suppressing hail and lightning by this method.

Lightning and hail occur in the same general type of storm which may grow into a tornado. These storms come from the immense blue-black thunderclouds that tower far above the freezing line into the atmosphere for as much as nine miles or even more.

When water-vapor condenses into a cloud, it gives back to the atmosphere the heat-energy that turned it into vapor in the first place. Such energy is enormous. Even any small thunderstorm represents the energy of several atomic bombs. This energy is discharged in lightning, or in rain.

If such a cloud "cannot rain," but builds up in bellowing anguish to great heights, it may result in destructive hail or lightning, tornadoes—or all three.

Experiments have shown that cloud seeding induces rain or snow more quickly than under natural conditions. Thus seeding may cut down cloud growth, and the menace of the bellowing clouds.

This, and other possibilities, are being studied by the U. S. Committee on Weather Control. We are still a long way from "ready-made weather," but the reduction of natural disasters may not be too far in the future.

Several bills recently introduced in Congress would have the effect of saving Two Billion Dollars worth of what appears to be needless Government spending each year. These measures are designed to put into effect several of the more desirable recommendations of the Hoover Commission and would have the effect of promoting efficiency by eliminating duplication of services and much wasted effort. This legislation proposes to do several things. For instance, unused warehouse space used by the Armed Services would be pooled. In many instances all three Branches of the Army, Navy, and Air Force, maintain separate storage facilities, some of which are nearly always at least partly vacant. These warehouses sometimes are in the same locality. These bills permit the interchange of excess warehouse space among the Services and provide for their common use. Warehousing costs alone approach Three Billion Dollars annually for the Defense Department. By this pooling arrangement, it has been estimated that approximately Two Hundred Fifty Million Dollars could be saved each year. These also seek to eliminate much of the waste in the disposal of surplus goods. It is proposed that the General Services Administration receive broader authority to coordinate Government disposal and buying policies. As a good example of what now can happen, Two Hundred Thousand Dollars worth of Marine engines were offered recently for sale as surplus by the Army Transportation Corps. It developed that the Army Engineers needed exactly this type of engine. It is obvious that a great deal of tax money could be saved if some agency like General Services Administration had the authority to clear all the sales of surplus property with other Departments of Government before the items in excess were finally disposed of. These bills would also provide for streamlining and modernization of the Bureau of the Budget whereby annual accounting would be tightened and additional safeguards of spending of money would be imposed. Under the present arrangement control of funds is sometimes lost as was illustrated in the recent case where several Million Dollars worth of unseable Navy planes were purchased. The Bureau of the Budget is responsible entirely to the Executive Branch of the Government, and literally hundreds of people are employed in that Bureau to work out the proposed expenditures of the Federal Government as set out in the annual Budget. The Committees of Congress that have the responsibility of providing the funds to carry out the programs provided for in the Budget have very small staffs, and it is sometimes physically impossible for them to check all of the items that are recommended by the Bureau of the Budget; therefore, there is a great need for greater control in the Bureau of the Budget.

HISTORY OF THE GOREE SCHOOL

The election to make Goree an independent school district was held February 19, 1910. The first board meeting after the election was March 24, 1910. The following were trustees: W. W. Coffman, J. E. Allen, R. D. Stalcup, W. S. Heard, E. W. Norris, W. P. Hutchens and J. T. Lawson.

The first bond election held after becoming an independent district was on June 4, 1910, and the board met in regular session June 11, 1910, to canvas the returns, which were as follows:

53 votes for the bond issue, and 25 votes against it; 53 votes for the maintenance tax, and 26 against.

The board ordered that $12,000 in bond "at once" to erect a building. In a meeting held January 3, 1911, the bonds were ordered in that amount.

The board met in special session June 26, 1911, and adopted plans of Mr. Withers for a two story brick building, to have cut stone trimming, four rooms 23 x 32 feet on the first floor; two rooms 23 x 32 and an auditorium 38 1/2 x 48 1/2 on the second floor, halls 14 14 x 20; brick walls to be 13 inches thick and partitions to be lathed and plastered on 2 x 6 studs. The building was not to cost over $10,000.

The board met August 2, 1911, in the afternoon and considered the bid for a building, Mr. J. N. McFatter of Haskell awarded the contract on a bid of $9,970.75.

The board met February 14, 1912, and decided to change plans in the beams of the building to heavier material.

Another board meeting was called for July 10, 1912, and after looking over the building it was decided to accept it from Mr. McFatter on a guaranteed that if the roof leaked within a reasonable time R. D. Stalcup was to repair the leak at the expense of Mr. McFatter.

The next building done was to build a contract to B. O. Howle to add an addition to the present building. The contract was let September 16, 1921. The building was to cost $11,000. This is the present grade school building. The board met December 13, 1921, to accept the building from Mr. Howle and paid him the remaining $2,900 due him.

The next building done was under a bond issue voted March 22, 1929. This was for $40,000, and was to build the present high school building and gym and remodel the building erected in 1921 and make it into a grade school building.

Knox Prairie Philosopher, As You Might Expect, Is Figuring Out The Angles On The Soil Bank Proposition

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek, as might be expected, is hard at work trying to figure out the angles on the soil bank, his letter this week reveals.

J. A.

Dear editor: Now that Congress has passed and the President has signed the Soil Bank bill, I have been giving considerable thought to how I can put it into effect this year. After all, if Congress is going to the trouble of offering me help, the least I can do is figure out a way to accept it without stalling around.

As I understand it, the Soil Bank is now in effect, for this year, if I can meet the requirements, and I aim to try, because since I suppose it'll be in effect not only next year but several years to come, anybody who misses out on this year has just missed that portion forever, and it's not Congress intention, or mine either, to miss out on anything as pleasant as getting paid for staying off my cultivator.

But what I can decide not to plant this year is a problem. However, I've been thinking. In view of the fact it would suit Washington mighty well to get rid of some of that money this year, since all you have to do to qualify is to decline to plant a given number of acres this year, I have decided not to plant any Fall cotton this year. I will be glad to sign up on September 1 not to plant a stalk of that stuff this fall, and I figure if Washington is on the ball I should get my check before Christmas, maybe even before the election in November.

Of course, if Washington smells a rat in this deal, I have some other crops which ain't doing so well right now, in fact they could be turned back to grass like the Soil Bank stipulates merely by throwing my hoe away, and I would like to get those acres in at least. It's true I've already been to some expense in getting the crops up, but I figure this is a give and take proposition, and I'll make a sacrifice if Washington will make a bigger one.

Another thing I'd like to find out about the program is the possibility of borrowing acres from your neighbors. Say a man has some extra energetic neighbor who doesn't want to put any of his land in the Soil Bank. Since the purpose of the bill is to reduce the surplus by reducing the acreage, could I borrow his allotment and transfer it to my farm? I figure if I could get enough borrowed acres, I could put my whole farm in the Soil Bank, and give not only my farm a rest but me and my equipment too.

After all, Washington ought to be willing to lean over backwards a little if I'm willing to sit down altogether.

Your faithfully, J. A.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By W. J. Bryan, Knox County Agent

Farmers are hearing a lot about hybrid grain sorghums this year, and are wondering what they can expect from them. In order to see what hybrid will do in Knox County, I secured enough seed to plant sixteen one-acre plots over the county, and everyone will have a chance to see them grow this summer.

Africa is believed to be the native home of sorghum, but it has been cultivated since ancient times in the Middle East, India, China and Manchuria. Sorghum was first introduced into the Americas with the slave trade when grain was brought along as food. The first sweet sorghum introduced came from China in 1851, and was called Chinese Amber. Many other present day forage varieties came from Natal, South Africa. White and Red Kafir also came from Natal. Several other varieties were introduced from Egypt.

Sorghum, as introduced to this country, was a long season, high temperature crop. Subsequent work by experiment station personnel shortened the growing time requirement, so that now sorghum is grown widely in South Dakota and the higher altitudes of Colorado where early frost is always a hazard.

The last big step in sorghum improvement is that of producing hybrids. Until male sterility in sorghums was discovered, hybrids were not practical. A hybrid is produced through crossing a male sterile female of one strain with a pollen producing male of another. The result is a hybrid, the seed that the farmer plants.

Experiment station tests have shown that hybrids will outyield common sorghums by as much as 30% or more. Hybrid seed should be available for all farmers next year.

We have six different hybrids growing in the county this year with each of the sixteen farmers having one or more varieties.

The hybrids can be observed at Herbert Partridge, Sunset; Ted Russell, Vera; George Nix, Goree; B. B. Bowden, Munday; Arnold Navratil, Gilliland; Shorty Kuehler, Rhineland; and J. B. Reneau, Munday; League Ranch, Benjamin; Gaylon Scott, Vera; J. C. McGee, Knox City; B. M. Farmer, Knox City; Joe Butler, Hefner; Clyde Hackney, Munday; Chester Bowden, Munday; Doris Dickerson, Munday and Howard Barnett, Benjamin; power to levy taxes and issue bonds as provided by the bill. Even though the bill has been passed by the legislature each district must vote itself under the law. Proposition No. 2, is whether the Goree ISD shall be authorized and empowered to levy an annual ad valorem tax at a rate not exceeding $1.50 on the $100.00 assessed valuation of taxable property for the maintenance of the public free schools therein provided by Senate Bill 116. (Although the wording in this proposition has to be $1.50, in the case of Goree having a debt ratio of over 9% of its assessed valuation if the bonds are voted, it can only levy a tax not exceeding $1.20 and according to the Board of Trustees it is felt that the District will be able to get by on approximately $1.00 depending on the number of teachers it will have to employ.

Proposition No. 3, Shall the Board of Trustees of the Goree ISD be authorized and empowered to issue bonds of the said district, pursuant to the authority of Senate Bill 116, in the amount of $125,000.00 to build the proposed elementary classroom, cafeteria and to make necessary improvements to the present buildings. The bond issue is the main purpose for the election, the Board explained.

Who Can Vote: — In Election No. 1, only those who are resident qualified voters, who own property in the Goree ISD who have rendered it for taxation and it is listed on the tax rolls, and who have either a poll tax receipt or are exempt.

Election No. 2, The ballot for this Election is pink and there is only one proposition and that is whether the District shall adopt the provisions of Senate Bill 116. Those who can vote are all persons who are qualified voters of the District holding a current poll tax receipt or who are exempt. Ownership of taxable property not required.

Election No. 3, — The ballot for this election will be printed on blue paper, and the proposition is the same as that in Election No. 2, which is whether the District shall adopt the provisions of Senate Bill 116. Who Can Vote—None but qualified resident voters of the District who own property that is duly reentered on the tax rolls of either Knox, Haskell or Throckmorton counties shall be allowed to vote in this election.

A simple majority will carry the election and it should be emphasized that if a voter is for the bond issue he should vote "For" the different propositions in each election in which he is qualified to vote. If not, he should vote "Against", all propositions.
