Odd Bits Salvaged
at Random

We visited an animal hospital. We'd threatened to, we'd promised, and we suppose Dr. Stewart had decided we weren't going to keep our promise.

But out to the west of town, a two-acre plot of ground that used to belong to Gill Wyatt has been purchased.

On it has been erected a sort of quonset hut type of building, which is the Munday animal hospital.

Its about the nicest thing, we guess, an animal, especially a sick one, could go to.

Animals are like people, we guess, in that they don't like to go to hospitals. In fact, animals just don't go—they have to be taken.

We stepped inside the building into what we termed the waiting room. Just to the north of it is the office with a nice desk, filing cabinet, and various books and types of literature on animals.

We found no one inside, so found our way through the building, where Dr. Stewart was doctoring a horse.

When that job was finished, he took us through the buildings—portions of which we'd ambled through before but didn't know just what they were.

Down the hallway from the waiting room was his supply room—a sort of walk-in closet that was replete with shelving, drawers, etc., and well stocked with medicines.

Next, he showed us the small animal operating room. There was the operating table, sterile instruments, a sink with running water and most everything needed for operating.

From there we went to the kennel room, where several animals were being kept. Some had received and others were waiting to receive the doctor's attention.

To the east of this room was the bath room, equipped with bath tub for bathing or dipping animals, a lavatory, commode and with hot and cold water.

The rear of the building is equipped for doctoring larger animals, with a "horse stock" and a "cow stock" for keeping these animals under control while doctoring or operating on them.

It seemed to us a rather complete lay-out, but Stewart is full of plans for the future.

Over the remainder of that two-acre plot, he plans to erect pens, etc., so animals left under his care will have room for exercise, can enjoy the sunshine, etc.

A horse that was under his care had the run of the entire Wyatt pasture, but the small animals were confined to the hospital building.

Stewart says his practice is increasing as the local animal hospital becomes known. People from Seymour, Knox City, Munday and other places bring their animals to him.

His calls take him into several counties—parts of Haskell, Baylor and Knox and sometimes to Throckmorton.

"I don't really feel like I'm busy unless I'm working on calls out in the field," he said, "but I realize I can do more if the animals are brought in because in the hospital I have better facilities for treating animals than can be transported by auto into the field."

It seems that Munday's animal hospital is off to a good start. Visit it sometime and see the ample facilities there for treatment of animals.

CATTLE SHIPPED

Chas. and Deaton Moorhouse loaded out several hundred head of cattle during the past two weeks. These went from this area to northern feeders.

Last Rites For Jim Hughes Are Held At Vera

Funeral services were conducted at 4:00 p. m. Saturday afternoon, June 3rd for J. F. Hughes, who passed away Friday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wesley Trainham. Mr. Hughes' health began failing about ten years ago. It was in January of this year he suffered a stroke but had recovered from it in a remarkable way. He was stricken again on Monday, May 30 but he had recovered enough to be up and about. Friday afternoon while cleaning his car the fatal attack struck him.

Services were conducted at the First Methodist Church in Vera, with the pastor, Rev. S. A. Wolfe and M. A. Bumpas, Jr., of Benjamin, officiating.

Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Clyde Whitehead, Edgar Burrus, Judson Balch and Billie Ray Keck of Seymour, and a solo by Cecil Trainham. Mrs. Harry Beck was piano accompanist.

Interment was in the Vera Cemetery. Pallbearers were his grandsons, Jerrell Trainham, Lynn David and Larry Hughes, Benny Carl and Jim Frank Coulston and one nephew, Quel Hughes. Honorary pallbearers were Ike Shipman, Jim Klinnburgh, Rube Richards, Henry Patterson, John Rice, Barney Welch Lee Richards, Bill Feemster and H. H. Gore.

Members of the Masonic Lodge were present to administer graveside rituals. Mr. Hughes was a member of Seymour Lodge No. 604 and had been a Mason since 1924. He became a Christian when 15 years of age and had been a member of the First Christian Church many years. He was a faithful worker when his health permitted.

James Franklin Hughes was born in Williamson County, Texas on May 30, 1883. He moved to Knox County in 1904. He was united in marriage to the former Annie D. Williams of West, Texas, January 21, 1906. To this union were born five children—J. Lyndal Hughes of Justin, Texas; Mrs. Loreta Trainham, Vera, Mrs. Edith Allen, Abilene; Mrs. Winnie Grace Tanner of Olton, and Mrs. Thelma Lee Coulston, Vera. All were present for the services, as were 17 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are two brothers, George A. Hughes of Vera, and E. P. (Buck) Hughes of Little Rock, Ark.

In a true sense, Jim Hughes was a pioneer of the agriculture frontier. He was one of the many young men, who, at the turn of the century, followed Horace Greeley's advice to go West and find opportunity. He brought with him the spirit of optimism and personal confidence that drought hot winds and sandstorms never slackened. The backing of Uncle Billy Ward of Benjamin made it possible for him to purchase an eighty acre farm in 1907. From this beginning he shared with his friends and neighbors the risks and hazards of dry land farming in the Vera community over a period of 50 years.

Interested always in progress, he ardently supported good churches and schools in the community. He encouraged young people to get an education. He believed in young and possessed a unique way of instilling confidence in them.

Relatives present from out of town were John Williams, West; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Jones, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reeves and sons, Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Gore and children, Hobbs, N. M.; Ervin Hughes, Munday; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schoepf and family, Lorena, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Rall Jones, Hermleigh, Texas; Byron Hughes, Eunice, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Trainham, Jr., and sons, Duncan, Okla.

Cloud on Wednesday Sends Frightened People To Cover

That nasty old storm-looking cloud sent many people scurrying to the storm cellars Wednesday afternoon, and the "big blow" did a little damage here.

Billowing dust clouds blackened out all view for a few minutes, and street lights were turned on at 1:45 p. m. for a short period. It became black as night, and one could barely see across the street.

The blow that accompanied the stormy threat took out two store windows. One of the front windows of the Atkeison building, occupied by Cypert's Auto Repair, was blown out, and a large window on the north of Boggs Bros. Furniture also became victim of the storm. The hard wind sent rain into these buildings.

Heavy rain, accompanied by small hail pellets fell for about 45 minutes.

As folks emerged from cellars, they kept their "weather eyes" trained on the clouds during the remainder of the afternoon. The first storm threat caused some businesses to close and employees headed for cellars. It was reported that one Goree businessman didn't bother to lock up before heading for cover.

The wind took the roof off a barn and destroyed a windmill on the Wylie Johnson farm northwest of town. Nearly an inch of rain was recorded in Munday.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keel were Mrs. Keel's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crockett of Winters.

Roberts; treasurer, Mrs. Bill Gaither; conductress, Mrs. R. M. Almanrode; associate conductress, Mrs. Chester Bowden; chaplain, Mrs. J. W. Massey; marshal, Mrs. Don Wardlaw; organist, Mrs. Genieve Cammack; Adah, Mrs. R. B. Bowden; Ruth, Miss Helen Ford; Esther, Mrs. Buel Claburn; Martha, Mrs. M. F. Billingsley; Electa, Mrs. W. C. Cox; Warder, Mrs. M. H. Dean; Sentinel, Bill Gaither.

Masons Elect New Officers At Meeting Monday

New officers who will serve Knox Lodge No. 851 AF&AM, were elected at the regular meeting last Monday night. Installation probably will be at the July meeting.

Levi Bowden was elevated to worshipful master to succeed E. L. Goolsby. Named as senior warden, the post held by Bowden, was Jimmy Henson, while "Hub" Ford was elected junior warden.

Re-elected were J. D. Gillespie, treasurer; M. T. Chamberlain, secretary, and H. D. Henson, titular. Lee Haymes succeeds E. R. Ponder as chaplain.

Appointive officers will be named within the next few days, it was stated.

BEST PASTURES AFTER THE RAIN

Rest after a rain is the best prescription for drouthy, overgrazed pastures.

Since many ranches are carrying reduced numbers of livestock, producers should be able to defer one-fourth of their grazing lands without damaging the remainder, A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, says. This way many pastures can gain full advantage of recent soaking rains.

Pastures with most native grasses and vegetative cover will make the most recovery in a shorter period of time and should be deferred first, says Walker. Poorer pastures can be rested later since they may require several years to recover.

It's better to remove all livestock from a pasture than to leave it lightly stocked, he adds.

Defer for three to six months, or until frost. But if the grazing is needed sooner, wait at least until the growing grasses mature and drop a seed crop. Deferring promotes seed and plant reproduction in addition to increasing the vigor of existing plants.

The specialist recommended moderately grazing the pasture during the winter. This method provides some forage for live stock and helps distribute plan seed.

Many ranchmen looking over their bare ranges are considering reseed. In some instances reseed may be warranted but deferment more often does the job cheaper. If as much as 1 percent of the "key" grasses are left, rest rather than reseed, the specialist suggests.

RELATIVE INJURED

A message was received by M and Mrs. Frank Russell on Tuesday advising them that their son-in-law, Prentis Harris of Sai Jo, had suffered a serious accident. He was mowing grass with a gasoline motored mower and became ignited, and a great portion of his body was burned. Condition is considered serious.

A HOLE IN THE PENSION UMBRELLA

An editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association observes that there "is a gaping hole in the pension umbrella that has been raised over an aging population by the federal government during the past two decades." That gaping hole affects self-employed people—professional men, merchants, independent salesmen, and the rest.

Back in 1942, Congress provided for a system whereby employers' contributions to pension funds would be considered business expense, if the particular plans were approved by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Some 20,000,000 employed taxpayers are covered under that system. But no comparable provision has been made for the self-employed.

Identical bills, known generally as the Jenkins-Keogh bills, have been introduced in both branches of Congress in an effort to sew up this hole in the pension umbrella. Their purpose is to encourage, but not compel, savings for retirement by self-employed persons, and also by employed persons whose employers have not provided either pension or profit-sharing plans for them. This would be done by offering certain moderate tax benefits and deferrals to people wishing to save for retirement in an approved manner.

President Eisenhower, among legions of others, has spoken of the importance of encouraging private pension plans. And the AMA Journal's editorial made a big point when it said: "If self-employment continues to become less and less attractive in an era of fringe benefits, small labor and small business will surely be swallowed up by large labor and large business. Patching the hole in the pension umbrella will make self-employment more attractive."

SMALL DARK CLOUD

Nation's Business observes that "the local income tax is a small dark cloud looming larger on the local tax horizon." More than 400 American communities with a total population of 7,500,000 are levying a tax of some kind on incomes. Collections run over $100,000,000 a year.

This is simply another example of overlapping taxation—and of the fact that the public should give far more attention to local financial problems than is generally the case. State and local tax collections are climbing ominously. This year state after state increased existing taxes and passed new ones. In some areas that will offset, or nearly so, the much-publicized income tax reductions made by the 1954 Congress.

MORE MOUTHS TO FEED

Our "bumper baby crops" continue. Some 4,000,000 new American citizens are coming into the world each year.

From a business point of view, this means that the potential market for all manner of goods and services is increasing at a tremendous rate. It is one of the reasons why most forecasters are convinced that the American economy, far from being mature, will keep on expanding—and keep on bringing better living standards to the masses of people.

At the same time, certain inescapable problems are involved. In addition to the bumper baby crops, our senior citizens are living longer and the indications are that the U. S. population will touch 215,000,000 in 20 years—a jump of about 50,000,000 over the present figure. Producers in all fields have a real job ahead to compensate for that. Meat is a good example, inasmuch as it is a basic item in the eating habits of almost everyone. Our per capita consumption is now running around 154 pounds a year. If that rate is to be maintained, it is estimated that production will have to be increased by as much as 15 per cent in the next 15 years and 30 per cent in the next 20. The livestock and meat industry is thus faced with a task of the first magnitude.

Luckily, past experience indicates that this industry will find ways and means of doing whatever is needed to meet the demands of the public. It is a significant fact that we've never had a meat shortage in this country—except when government controls discouraged producers on the one hand and boomed black markets on the other.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Cannelton, Ind., News: "Our great freedoms, our tremendous industrial assets, our great farm endeavors, our record of discoveries and inventions and countless other fundamentals which combine to make us defenders of our theory of life have not come by accident. They have all been possible because we live in a nation of free enterprises."

International Falls, Minn., Daily Journal: "The customers—you and I multiplied by millions—decide what products our factories will make, how much will be made, and the price they will be sold at. Competition for the customers' money weeds out inefficient businesses, and forces others to become more efficient. This in turn brings about lower prices, better quality and service, and the development of new and improved products."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

Faith and Obedience

Faith and obedience are two fundamental principles by which God has governed in every age of dispensation of the Bible. In no age of the world could man please God without faith and obedience. The Lord's particular requirements for each dispensation: Patriarchial, Jewish, and Christian, has been different; but the principles that have regulated individuals in carrying out these requirements in every age have been faith and obedience.

What is obedience? Webster's dictionary defines the term to mean "Compliance with command, the performance of what is required or enjoined by authority, or abstaining from what is prohibited, in compliance with the command." Which means the doing of what authority says to do and the abstaining from that which authority says not to do. The one who has authority in the case of religion is the Lord.

The best way to learn what Bible obedience means is to examine some recorded examples. Let us examine Num. 21:4-9—From this scripture we learn that the people had spoken against God, and against Moses. For their disobedience God had sent fiery serpents among them to punish them. The serpents bit many and they died. The people then requested Moses to pray unto the Lord that he might take away the serpents from them. Moses prayed for the people. The Lord did not take away the serpents and heal them immediately. He told Moses to do something to make a fiery serpent and to set it upon the pole. Then He told the people to do something. "Look upon the serpent and ye shall live." To look upon the serpent was the divinely appointed way of life for those serpent poisoned people. They were given no choice in the matter. It was either look and live or disobey and die. Here was the test of their faith. Had some healing solution or salve been prepared and applied to their wounds, the people would have attributed the cure to those things and would have lost sight of God in the matter. But can any one explain how one could be saved from the deadly poison serpent by just looking upon a serpent of brass lifted upon a pole? The only reasonable conclusion from this would be that God did the healing when the people obeyed his commands. Even a child can see from this example that it took obedience to the command of God to bring forth the blessings of God.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

One of the matters that must be disposed of by this session of Congress before it adjourns is legislation dealing with the Federal Highway System.

Sometime ago the President appointed a Commission headed by General Lucius D. Clay to study this problem and to make recommendations. This spring the Clay Commission reported to the President and proposed a plan which has been endorsed by the Administration. This plan for a Federal Highway Program briefly is as follows:

It is proposed that approximately $32,500,000,000 will be spent on the program. This money will be raised by the issuing of special bonds which will bear 3 percent interest for thirty years. The bonds will be issued by a special Federal Highway Corporation. The emphasis under this plan is placed on an interstate super highway system. The plan would abolish the present apportionment formula as between the states and would leave the matter of apportionment on roads up to the Secretary of Commerce. If it should be enacted into law, the contribution to the program would be 95 percent by the Federal Government and 5 percent by the states. It is estimated that it will take ten years of construction to build the system outlined by the Clay Commission and, of course, under the plan of financing suggested the bonds would be outstanding for thirty years.

The House Public Works Committee is still considering this measure and as yet has not reported a bill. However, recently the Senate passed a bill dealing with the Highway Program that is substantially different from the program outlined by the Clay group. The bill passed by the Senate authorizes a total expenditure of $12.7 billion which would be financed by annual congressional appropriations over a period of five years. The Senate bill would increase funds and provide for the building of all types of Federal Aid Highways including primary and secondary road systems. It was pointed out that the interstate system which would receive nearly all the funds under the Clay program carries only about one-seventh of the nation's traffic. The Senate bill also continues into effect the same apportionment formula that is presently being used and provides that for the interstate system the Federal government will bear 90 percent of the cost while the states will bear 10 percent.

It seems to me that the Senate version is probably the best practical approach to the problem and that something about like the Senate bill is likely what will be passed by Congress. However, either bill will provide the most sweeping highway legislation that has been enacted in our country's history. It is estimated that 350,000 high school students visit the Capitol here each year. This week we were most happy to have about 100 visitors from

Knox Prairie Philosopher Explains As Best He Can Just Why He Lets His Lawn And His Beard Grow So Shaggy

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses trimmed lawns this week, which is about like a prize fighter discussing Paris fashions.

Dead editor:

I read in a newspaper which one of my cows was chewing on and I took away from her before she'd gotten over to the editorial page, there's nothing worse than a cow with indigestion in hot weather, where some scientists in England have been working on a liquid you spray on lawn grass and keep it from growing more than two inches tall.

If it works, the article said, it will be great news for the millions of people who have to mow their lawns at least once a week all summer long.

I guess so, but the news leaves me cold. Out here on this Johnson grass farm, my problem has been getting grass to grow tall, not short, and as for my lawn, I figure out of thirty-five million neatly mowed lawns in the United States, one like mine won't have any effect on the national economy. My theory is that a man with a mowed lawn gets more satisfaction out of it if somebody down the street has one with grass a foot tall and shaggy with weeds.

I tell you, there's a place in this world for a man who gives pleasure to others by letting them out-distance him. The efficient man must get some pleasure out of contrasting himself with the failures. It works in all phases of life. What fun would there be in being an officer in the army if there weren't some privates around? It's the scrub cattle that makes the registered stuff look good. It's the spend-thrift that makes the tight-wad have an edge. If everybody saved all the money he made, business would dry up in two months.

Personally, I let my lawn work slide, as a horrible example to the people now sweating over theirs. It's a public service and it's good for the happiness of the lawn trimmers that there are people like me willing to make this public-spirited sacrifice. And if it'll work with lawns it'll work with beards, too.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TIPS OFFERED FOR A SAFER VACATION

Vacation motor travel is big business in the United States. Each year more and more vacationers take to the road, with the majority of private cars and the average car is driven 1,200 miles during the vacation. As motor travel booms, traffic accidents, especially in rural areas, also boom.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee offers a few suggestions which they feel, if followed, will take some of the boom out of accidents. Give the family car a thorough check-up before starting and watch for signs of trouble along the way. Don't block vision, say the experts, by improperly loading the car. Good vision is a must for safe driving.

Be prepared for emergencies. A first aid kit, maps, permits, identification, a flashlight and a tool kit and maybe a few spare parts should be carried along.

With the driver rests much of the responsibility for a safe trip. His efficiency is greatly affected by fatigue. Plan the trip, urges the committee, to allow rest stops during the day and a good night's sleep each night. And don't try to drive and see the sights at the same time.

Ignorance of the law is only an excuse. Most states use standard traffic sign shapes. They are a constant guide to safe driving; know and obey them.

Traffic will be a problem during the vacation season in all parts of the country. Just don't drive faster than conditions justify, says the committee. Be adaptable and fit your driving to the peculiarities and conditions

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—It's been a great year for the "oak worms."

The thick-set, 2-inch long caterpillars with the stinging hairs have been out in force in Texas this spring—notably central regions of the state. Curious youngsters see the crawling leaf-eaters on low hanging limbs of oak tree or on lawns, pick them up and get ugly looking welts for their trouble.

When mother notices the welt or rash, her first worried reaction is to seek advice from health officials on control measures. The reaction is the right one, for State Health Department entomologists know "oak worm" character from one end of its stubby chassis to the other.

Here's what they say about the caterpillar:

As is the case with immature stages of several types of moths and butterflies, the oak worm has poison glands scattered over its body from which arise large, hollow spines.

The tips of the spines readily penetrate human skin and break off, liberating some of the poison. When this happens a serious rash may be produced—especially in children—resulting in systematic disturbances requiring medical attention.

People up East call these stingers "buck moths", presumably because they are most active in the fall of the year—during deer season.

Females deposit eggs on oak leaves and twigs, and occasionally on other trees and shrubs. The larvae get along very well together frequently feeding in clusters.

In addition to their harmful effect on humans, the worms are economic pests in that they damage young foliage. After completing their larval development, they drop to the ground to transform into the harmless adult stage.

The caterpillars have chewing mouthparts and that's the thing that gets them in trouble, entomologists say. It means they can be controlled with most insecticides of the stomach poison type which can be purchased commercially.

Health department entomologists recommend lead arsenate applied to infested foliage at the rate of 1 ounce per 1½ gallons of water.

Sad Note From The Bugle

All of us on the Clarion were alarmed to learn that our principal rival in the newspaper field—the Balesville Bugle—might have to shut down.

Crops were bad in Balesville last year and one of their factories moved out of town. Just temporary hard times, of course—but the Bugle needs help now if it's to survive.

So, this paper is going to scrape up a little money to help tide them over, and we hope other local concerns will do the same. We've seldom agreed with them editorially over the years—but we want their competition to keep us on our toes.

From where I sit, this country needs papers with different points of view—just as it needs people with different ideas and tastes. You may prefer iced tea as a hot-weather cooler... I generally choose a cold glass of beer. But if either of us couldn't express his opinion, and act on it, that would be "bad news" for the whole community.

Labor-Saving Siding

NEW on the market is a revolutionary kind of siding that is much faster to apply than conventional siding. In addition, it comes in popular wide sizes, 10" or 12", at no premium in cost.

Masonite Shadowvent siding is a free floating combination of prime-coated Tempered Presdwood and a patented aluminum shadow line strip which is nailed through the sheathing to studs. No nails are driven into the siding itself, which fits quickly into the aluminum strip. The metal is vented at intervals to allow escape of moisture that may condense inside the walls. Field tests have shown that this combination permits carpenters to install Shadowvent Siding with substantial savings in application time. The siding and the aluminum strips are sold together at lumber yards.

The new quarter-inch siding is primed on the surface and bottom edge, and a clear sealer has been applied to the back. The combination of the long-lasting, smooth surfaced Tempered Presdwood and the prime coat provides an exceptionally fine surface for top coats and assures a long-lived paint job.

Mrs. Bruce Barnett and Miss Ruth Baker attended the high school graduation exercises for Billy Marvin Huskinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Huskinson, in Wichita Falls on Tuesday night of last week.

Mrs. Wilma Dean Griffith visited with her parents in Plains, her brother in Brownfield and relatives in Lovington, N. M., over the week end.

U. S. Not Alone In Eating Better!

While the domestic production of meat is at high levels and the per capita consumption in the United States reaching all time highs, it is interesting to note this situation prevails in most of the world.

Figures just released by USDA indicate that last year (1954) meat production of the world was three percent greater than the record year 1953. Forty-two countries produced an estimated $3 BILLION pounds. This is believed to represent 93% of the total world output.

Meat-Type Lamb?

This year at Fort Worth the medium to good lambs have been selling at prices very near the extreme top for fancy choice kinds. In fact, feeder buyers have been getting fewer of these just "meaty" lambs than ever before, because packers have been so eager for them.

We have been hearing a lot about "meat-type hogs" but it looks like the country is going for meat-type lambs in a big way, too!

Many half-fat lambs selling in the $19 to $21 bracket at Fort Worth Monday look a full two grades below the choice $22 and $23 kinds. Shorn old crop lambs Monday sold up to $18, the highest since around Easter for the class. The trade credits cool weather in many parts of the country, and a late start on the Southeastern states lamb crop for the good market at Fort Worth.

Monday Spring lambs were 50 cents to $1 higher and old crops were 50 cents to $1.50 higher. Other sheep steady, breeding ewes in very active demand in view of the improved pasture outlook.

Cattle Steady, In Line With Prices Year Ago

Cattle prices at Fort Worth Monday are almost identical with those in effect a year ago at this time. Fed steers and yearlings are about $2 per hundred lower than a year ago, but cows, bulls, slaughter calves and stockers are all selling just about like last year at the same time.

So we can quote you prices for this year and last at these levels, with the above mentioned exception.

Prices Monday: Good and choice graded steers and yearlings $19.22.50; common and medium grassers $12.18. Stocker steer yearlings $21 down. Fat cows $11-$14; canners and cutters $7-$11. Stocker cows $7 to $12.50. Bulls $10-$14.50. Good and choice fat calves $16-$20.50, few higher. Lower grade calves $10 to $15. Stocker calves $23 down.

Swine Soar; Market $1.00 Higher Monday

Hogs topped at $19.50 at Fort Worth Monday a flat $1 higher than last week's close. Receipts have been tapering off seasonally in the Corn Belt and with pork still moving in big volume hog prices have been on the mend. Sows drew $11 to $15.50 Monday—50 cents higher.

Feeder Calf Sales Dates Are Set

The Texas Hereford Association will stage a feeder calf show and sale on the Fort Worth Stockyards June 30. Henry Elder, secretary, announced the showing will include lots of 10 and 20 head, and also classes of above or below 500 pounds.

The Hereford Association will also choose a Fall date for a similar show and sale. These public market sales give the cowman with a small or intermediate sized herd a chance to show his calf crop under more favorable conditions. For details write Elder, or Ted Gouldy at the Fort Worth Livestock Market.

Angus Ass'n. Sets Two Show-Sale Dates

Glen Tole, secretary of the Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association has announced feeder calf shows and sales for July 8th and September 9th at Fort Worth.

Commercial Angus breeders decided they needed two dates so that calves off early country will have a favorable sale time.

Last Fall the highly successful Angus feeder calf sale at Fort Worth launched these special feeder days at the market. Calves sold to much better advantage than they normally would have and many lots were $1 to $2 above current market prices.

Details on the sale of "blacks" can be gotten from Glen Tole, or Ted Gouldy, Livestock Exchange Bldg., Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Prentiss Harris and son, Van, of Saint Jo spent several days last week visiting in the home of their parents and grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Russell, Mrs. Harris returned home Sunday and Van remained for a longer visit.

PINK BOLLWORM CONTROLS DELAYED

Two extremely opposite weather conditions have posed a threat to the cotton pink bollworm control program in Texas. Unusual weather is nothing new here—it is practically normal for Texas as a matter of fact—but it can seriously damage the State Department of Agriculture's efforts to keep insect populations to a minimum. Sixty-four cotton growing counties in the South and Central portions of Texas have planting and plow-up deadlines enforced on cotton crops. This is designed to cut the breeding period of the pink bollworm. In order to be effective, cotton must be planted before a certain date and then the stalks destroyed as soon as practical after harvest.

This spring the planting deadline was extended in more than 30 counties for two reasons. At one time, it was too dry to plant the cotton. Ten days later, the fields were too wet to plow.

Irregular planting provides an almost continuous supply of young tender cotton which is ideal food for the pink bollworm. The situation cannot be helped to any great extent this year due to the weather. As a result, the control program hinges on strict compliance to the plow-up deadline. No winter hibernating places must be left in Texas cotton fields which would encourage a large insect build-up next year.

As an added precaution, farmers over the state are urged to follow a practical program of control over all types of insects this season. Careful planning of spraying or dusting keeps down cotton pests, and gives added value to the crop.

County agents, the Extension Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture are ready to offer advice on the best times for control measures. To spray or dust cotton at improper intervals means dollars lost to the farmer. Get the facts first! Then act to your best advantage.

Like Frosting on Cake

ADDING shutters to a house is something like frosting a cake. In many cases, the shutters will make a great improvement. An easy rule for determining the correct size is to measure the window and make the shutters the same height and half the width.

A simple way to make attractive shutters is to cut a panel of Masonite 1/4" tempered preswood ite 1/4" Tempered Preswood to the desired size, bevel the edges slightly with a file or sandblock and make V-shaped score lines as illustrated with a scoring tool. Use two backer strips of 1 by 2-inch lumber.

The decorative cutout may be removed with a keyhole saw after drilling holes at the corners. Instead of this, you might attach the cutout of a tree, or other figure, which can be cut with a scroll saw or similar tool from a scrap piece of the Tempered Preswood. Attach it with waterproof glue. Prime and paint both sides of the shutters before attaching them to the house.

SUPPORTING YOUR TOWN

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give you a new slant on business, your own business, as well as the matter of building your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

WILL MAY REDUCE RED TAPE INVOLVED IN SETTLING ESTATE

A properly drawn will can be the means of short-cutting many legal formalities, and save a great deal of time in distributing the estate of a decedent among his rightful heirs. It may also serve to save many dollars in legal fees and court costs.

As an example, whenever a person dies without a will and it is necessary for the probate court to appoint an administrator of his estate, the person so appointed is required to post a bond. This bond is for the purpose of insuring the faithful performance of his duties. When signed by individuals, the amount thereof must be double the estimated value of the personal property of the estate plus a reasonable amount to cover prospective rents and other income from real estate involved.

When issued by a bonding company, the estimated value of the personal property need not be double. The administrator's bond must be kept in force until the estate is finally closed and he is discharged from his obligation by the court.

The same rule applies to an executor under a will, unless the testator has specified that no bond shall be required. This provision may be inserted or left out of the will at the option of the maker. Needless to say, there are situations in which the bond serves a real purpose. But when not needed, the statutory requirement may prove a distinct annoyance to the executor and a burden upon the estate in the form of annual premium payments.

Another example: A court appointed administrator may not sell any property of an estate without an order of the court authorizing him to do so. He must make application to the court for approval of each sale. The court must be advised of and approve the sale price and

"WORSE THAN WORCESTER TORNADO"

BLACKWELL, OKLAHOMA—Mrs. Bertha E. Kubly, 2 South Street, Worcester, Mass. (right) plans rehabilitation for Mrs. Flora Parr, age 71, whose home was completely demolished in the tornado which struck the community May 25th. Because of her past experience in all phases of disaster work, Mrs. Kubly was flown to Blackwell, Tex. and after visiting the ruins of the Parr home and Blackwell in general, "We thought the destruction in the Worcester tornado of 1933 was bad but it cannot compare to what I have seen here." (ABC Photo by Palmer) the manner in which the same is to be collected. Similar provisions apply to the making of mineral leases and other transactions.

These provisions apply equally to the executor of a will, unless the testator has freed him from such requirements. A single short paragraph inserted in a will designating him as an independent executor in appropriate phraseology may serve this purpose. Then he will have a free hand to dispose of property upon short notice whenever a favorable opportunity arises, with a minimum of legal formality.

Since every application or other paper filed with the probate court and every order obtained from the court involves the expenditure of attorney fees for its preparation and court costs for its handling by the clerk, in proper cases many dollars may be saved for the heirs by adequate provisions of a will.

A free pamphlet containing useful information on wills and related matters has been prepared by Texas lawyers. To obtain a copy, merely print your name and address on a postcard and mail to State Bar of Texas, Colorado at Fifteenth, Austin 1, Texas.

BOYCE HOUSE
Gives You Texas

Texas! How can one describe its infinite variety? Where can one begin?

The grandeur of El Capitan peak, wrapped in a faint blue veil, the lord of a lonely landscape;

The tall pines, the dogwood blooms and the unbelievably red soil of East Texas;

A cascade of green and blue vines in blossom almost hiding barnhouses near Lufkin;

In mid-afternoon, shadows deep as twilight on the tree-clad campus of the college in old Nacogdoches;

The dazzling sunshine of Eagle Pass;

The tiny, swinging bridge at Lovers' Retreat near Mineral Wells and the tremendous span near Port Arthur, seemingly insurmountable in its steepness when seen from a distance;

San Antonio's winding river with its many bridges, the rose window of San Jose, the Alamo;

The dome of the Capitol at night;

Old Jefferson, which once knew steamboats and long lines of wagons bringing in cotton from East Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana, where now the spirit of history broods over the fallen columns of perished glory;

The wide main street of quaint Fredericksburg, with its old stone buildings, the lidded schooners of golden brew and the porcelain pipes with long curving stems to fit around the bulging stomachs of placid burghers;

Galveston with its gleanders and its boulevard with bronze statues and granite shafts and memories of Civil War battles and of the Titanic flood;

The long highway lined with palm trees and citrus groves and towns in the Rio Grande Valley;

Crowds—at football games, on first Mondays, on opening day of court, at political speakings and at parades;

The King Ranch of a million acres, fox hunts in East Texas and wolf hunts in West Texas, boots and big hats, and son-of-a-gun stew;

Sheets of pink and gold wild flowers, acres of bluebonnets, the gushing hillside which is Seven Hundred Springs, the crumbling buildings and memories of Fort McKavett;

Old book stores, and forests of derricks, and rippling fields of wheat, and the smoke and glare of carbon black plants passed at night on the train;

Flood and drought and the wind, Texas!

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Don't argue with this baby!

All Chevrolet's competitors and most of the high-priced cars tried it recently in official NASCAR* trials—and took a licking!

Meet the champ! The new Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"—the most modern V8 on the road today. Here's what happened—

Daytona Beach, NASCAR Acceleration Tests Over Measured Mile From Standing Start. Chevrolet captured the 4 top positions in its class! 8 of the first 11! And on a time basis Chevrolet beat every high-priced car, too—but one! But wait!—this is just the beginning!

Daytona Beach, NASCAR Straightaway Running Over Measured Mile. Open to cars from 250 to 299 cu. in. displacement. Chevrolet captured 3 of the first 5 places!

Columbia, S. C. NASCAR 100-Mile Race on half-mile track. Very tight turns. Chevrolet finished first!

Fayetteville, N. C. NASCAR Late Model Event. Chevrolet again finished first. Because of even tighter turns the driver chose to run the entire 150 laps in second gear! Yet no overheating or pit stops!

These facts you can't laugh off. Sales leader. Road leader. A crowning achievement of Chevrolet and General Motors. Try a Chevrolet... and live in a land of going-away where you win all the arguments! Soon, maybe?

Way, way ahead!
