LET'S CURB THIS KILLER

In an age when medical science is striving to overcome those diseases which kill and maim mankind, should we not pause to consider another killer—the traffic accident—and what can be done every one of us to curb its threat?

The sponsors of "S-D Day" or "Safe Driving Day" are asking for contributions of common sense—not money—in the fight against traffic accidents and injuries. They realize that only with a whole-hearted support of the driving and walking public can any safe-driving campaign be successful. And they are asking for that support in terms of individual awareness, by each person, of his own responsibility in curbing traffic accidents. "S-D Day" is Thursday, December 1. On that date, the President's Committee for Traffic Safety and the many organizations cooperation in the observance of "S-D Day" are hoping for a 24-hour traffic-free "holiday." But this year's observance of "S-D Day" will go beyond that 24-hour period in an attempt to educate the public to a re-around reconsideration of driving and walking habits.

The President has asked all Americans to join this job of accident elimination. The program is also being endorsed by Governor Shivers and nearly 200 national, State, and local organizations who are banding together in a concerted effort to rid our streets and highways of the traffic accident menace.

Their success, the success of "S-D Day," depends entirely upon how well the program is brought to the attention of the individual driver and pedestrian, who, after all, is the one that must change his attitudes.

Common, everyday courtesy and an extension of the Golden Rule—and the will to use them—will go a long way. It would be well to keep in mind that over 5,000 Americans would still be alive today if we had driven every day during the last year as we did on "S-D Day" last year.

SLOW-BURNING FUSE

Publisher Tom Anderson of Farm and Ranch magazine defines Socialism as "Communism with slow-burning fuse." He adds: "Whether we call Communism, Welfareism or Socialism, it leads to the same thing: ruinism."

Probably the best word describing any and all forms of total government is Statism. It creates an accurate picture. More and more individual responsibilities and rights and obligations are turned over to the state—until the people wake up one dismal day and find that the state is the boss of everything.

FARM MACHINERY PRICES

One complaint made by farm spokesmen is that prices in general are high, and in some cases are rising, at a time when farm income has declined. Farm machinery has been one of the targets of criticism in this connection.

An informative contribution to the controversy was made in a letter written by the head of one farm equipment manufacturer to Secretary Benson. He said: "Farm prices and farm machinery prices are both affected by long-range trends in general price levels and the general level of economic activity but . . . in the short run, there is no essential relationship between them. Farm prices are determined largely by world prices, governmental policies, and crop yields. Farm machinery prices, on the other hand, are determined in large part by the prices of iron, steel, rubber, and other industrial commodities, and by wage rates."

He then showed what has happened in the case of his company, which is typical of the industry. Since mid-1950, average hourly earnings of its factory employees have increased by 34.4 per cent in wages alone. In addition, there have been greatly increased costs in fringe benefits. The cost of materials, also, has risen substantially.

Yet, since mid-1950, the prices of the machines it sells (including an increase posted very recently) have risen but 25.1 per cent—much less than the wage increase alone.

In other words, to quote him again, "the cost of making farm machines . . . has gone up further and faster than the prices of farm machines." That fact should be emphasized in any discussion of farm prices and farm costs. So should the fact that the newer machines are more efficient and productive—which in itself is a major economy to the farmer.

FIRST STEP

"Taxes should be reduced, but the first step is a balanced national budget, and every effort must be bent to balance the budget." That eminently logical statement comes from Congressman Rees of Kansas. Then he says: "Government employment can and should be reduced at least 10 per cent without any impairment of essential government services. In fact, greater efficiency should result."

Here is a goal that Congress and the Executive branch should go all out to reach—and in doing that, they will earn the heartfelt thanks of the hardpressed American taxpayer.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

WHY SHOULD CHRISTIANS TRY TO CHANGE OTHERS?

Many who are not converted to Christ ask the believer why he doesn't live the Christian life and let everybody else alone. Of course, no Christian should try to force other to agree with him. We believe in religious liberty and the right of each individual to worship God or not to worship without being molested. However, the Christian religion is basically evangelistic. Jesus commanded his disciples in every age to: "Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I commanded you, and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Matt. 28:19-20).

The early church was intensely evangelistic. On the day of Pentecost Peter not only told the people who had helped to crucify Jesus to "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of your sins . . ." but he testified and exhorted them with many other words saying, "Save yourselves from this crooked generation" (Acts 2).

When the early church was scattered abroad the members went about preaching the word. They would not be silenced even by threats and violence. So today, those who really believe that Jesus Christ is God's Son must bear witness to this to others or deny their Lord who commanded them to go and teach others. If believers really love their neighbors as themselves, they must share with their neighbors the greatest thing in the world, salvation in Christ and the hope of heaven. If Christians believe Jesus' words about a hell to be avoided and a heaven to be gained they are under obligation to tell others about the Saviour.

This is a brief explanation why New Testament Christians cannot be content to enjoy their own faith and let the rest of the world go by. Their faith demands that they share it with others. They should do this in love and with meekness. But the true Christian must seek to win others to Christ.

BANKRUPTCY PROCEEDINGS EXPLAINED

There are always a certain number of families in the United States with serious financial troubles. At this time, the number is relatively few. To those few and to their creditors, this column should be of particular interest.

The principal reported causes which throw families into financial difficulties are: Inflation and high taxes, inability to resist "impulse" buying, combined with easy credit, illness or other emergencies, or just plain bad judgment and mismanagement.

Some people in financial difficulty, when threatened with legal proceedings to collect outstanding debts, seek the relief offered them by federal bankruptcy laws.

The purpose of bankruptcy laws is to permit an honest but unfortunate or weak debtor to surrender or account for all his property for the benefit of his creditors and in exchange be discharged of his debts.

Any adult who is insolvent may become a voluntary bankrupt by having his attorney prepare for him a bankruptcy petition, together with schedules of his assets and liabilities, and then file the same in the proper United States district court.

After the debtor is adjudicated a bankrupt he is required to appear for examination as to his assets in the bankruptcy court, and if he fully accounts for his assets and has not violated any of the bankruptcy laws he will thereafter receive a discharge of his debts.

If he is granted a discharge of his debts, he has started a new financial life as of the date he filed bankruptcy. The assets which he thereafter acquires cannot be reached to satisfy the old debts, nor will creditors be permitted to sue him on the old debts.

Dishonest debtors sometimes endeavor to gain advantages for themselves not allowed by the bankruptcy laws. In these instances, upon objections to discharge by creditors, they not only will be denied a discharge of their debts, but the courts will be prone to deal harshly with the offenders if they have violated the criminal laws.

The head of a family is entitled to claim as exempt any property which is exempt under Texas homestead laws, which in the ordinary case will be his home, household furniture, wearing apparel, the family automobile and tools of his trade or profession. However, if any of this property is covered by a mortgage or conditional sales contract he must pay any balance due thereon, or the owner of such mortgage or contract may repossess.

Bankruptcy has a lasting effect upon a person's future credit and in the usual case causes the creditors to lose their entire debt. Many bankruptcies could be avoided if the "overloaded" debtor would make a timely effort to sit down with his creditors and work out plans for reduced payments over extended periods.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Helle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—The complications of vital statistics—facts of life and death so confidential that discarded correspondence must be specially burned—will be aired during a 2-day conference of Texas registration officials December 2-3 at the State Department of Health.

Invitations to attend have been mailed to all vital statisticians in cities of 10,000 or more, to all health unit directors, and to all county clerks in counties of more than 25,000 population, but State Registrar W. D. Carroll said anyone working with vital records will be welcome.

High on the list of discussion subjects is "cause of death" coding methods. Carroll and his staff will carefully go over each point in the international system of death coding, the method established by international agreement to standardize death records and permit comparisons for world-wide study.

"Nosologists"—cause-of-death coders from each of the state's registration areas—will meet in special institute simultaneously with the meeting of other vital statisticians, Carroll announced.

The workshop was conceived last year as a means of keeping local registration officials abreast of vital statistics policies of state and federal governments.

"The problems facing registration officials are as varied as the personalities of the 8 million Texans they try to keep tabs on, Carroll said.

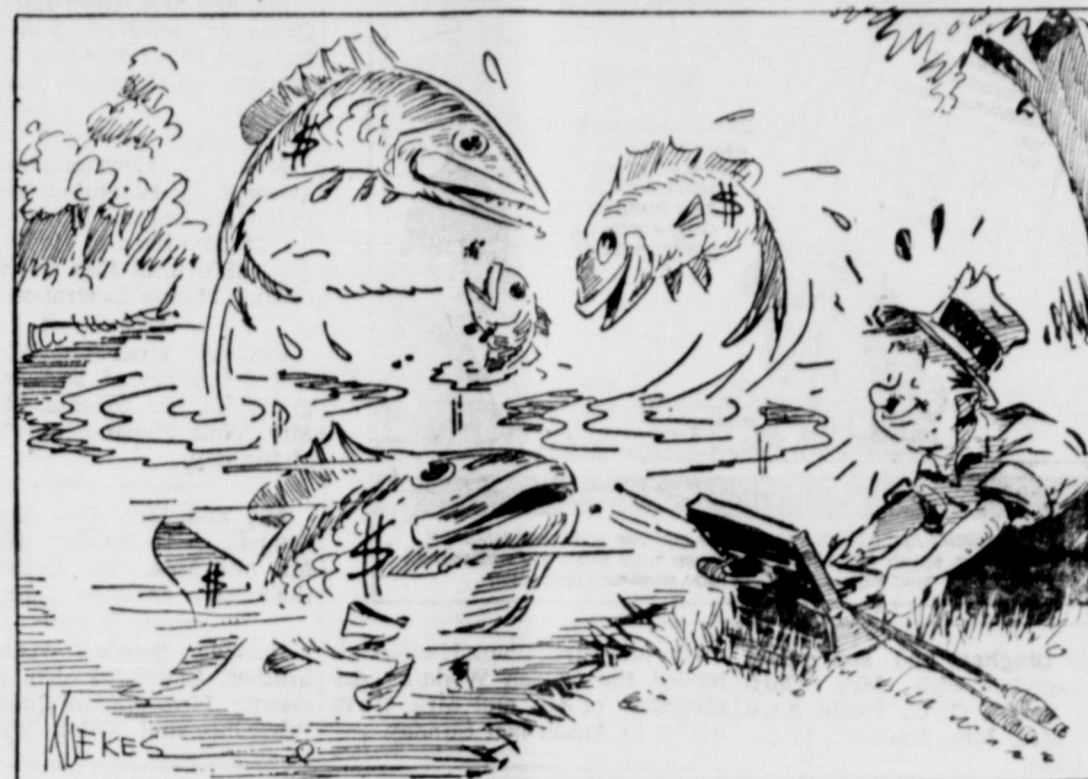

For example: When the mother and father of an illegitimate child marry, how are the circumstances of the birth recorded?

Answer: A new birth record may be issued on which the child is shown to be legitimate.

Another frequent problem involves the birth record of an adopted child. Carroll says there are legal means by which a new record of birth can be filed showing the adoptive parents to be the natural parents. Furthermore, the

The choral group of Dunbar school rendered two numbers on the Thanksgiving program at the elementary school on November 23 which was enjoyed by all who were present.

The turkey dinner, sponsored by Mrs. Calvin, was quite a success. $27.00 was raised for the expense of the school.

The teachers were away for the holidays. Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Rutherford attended the State Association of Teachers in Dallas. Some three thousand teachers were in attendance at the meeting.

The ticket rally for the educational tour ended Tuesday night, November 22. The grand prize given away was a nice ham which went to Mrs. A. A. Smith, Jr.

Mrs. Bobby Brooks received the fryer and Mr. E. B. Littlefield received a dozen eggs. Mrs. E. J. Calvin was sponsor of the tour and wishes to thank everyone who has helped her in the ticket rally. She states that $54.20 was raised in the drive and has been deposited in the bank.

Eugeon Curtis, who was employed at the Reeves Motor Co., was badly burned Saturday, November 22, and is in the hospital at Knox City. He is reported to be doing nicely at this time.

If the poultry flock is to be comfortable during the winter months, their housing must be properly ventilated. Panels made of a glass substitute are recommended as covers for all outer wall openings in the poultry house. Hinge them so they can be opened on warm days and adjusted for proper cold weather ventilation.

new birth record will bear no evidence of the adoption.

One of the most important items to be considered will be the necessity of requiring complete documentation before amending a birth certificate. Carroll outlined a case in which a man made application for his birth record to join a Masonic order. When the birth record was issued, the man's middle name was listed as "Philip" instead of "Harold", the name he had been using all his life. Before an amended record could be issued, the man had to furnish documentary evidence in the form of a baptismal record, showing early use of "Harold" as a middle name.

"Without such documentation," Carroll said, "birth records lose some of their value as evidence."

Ways of handling delayed birth certificates, amendments to death certificates, and methods by which Texas parents who adopt children born in other states or foreign lands can get birth records for the children will also be discussed.

Carroll requested that registration officials planning to attend notify him by writing to the Division of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, Austin.

A MOUNTING FIGHT AGAINST THE PINK BOLLWORM

More Texas farmers than ever before are rallying against the worst of all cotton insect pests—the pink bollworm.

The Plant Quarantine Division of the Texas Department of Agriculture has had excellent cooperation with growers during this season.

In areas of the state where infestation has not been sufficient to force stalk destruction deadlines, many people have asked for voluntary plow-up dates. In the control zones of extreme southern and southeastern Texas where infestation is most serious, stalk destruction deadlines have all been met with very little discussion, and good cultural practices are being followed.

VALLEY ESCROW PROGRAM SET UP

In four Rio Grande Valley counties where the pink bollworm menace is a serious threat, cotton farmers recently voted 2 to 1 in favor of an escrow program designed to assure compliance with stalk destruction rules.

Under terms of the program to become effective during the 1956 season, cotton farmers in Hidalgo, Willacy, Cameron and Starr counties will post $7.50 for each bale of cotton ginned to be put in the escrow fund. Growers who fail to meet the cotton stalk destruction deadline will be required to pay for plow-up of their fields from their escrow fund, in addition to penalties previously prescribed by law.

The First National Bank of McAllen, successful bidder to hold the multi-million dollar escrow fund, will return all money remaining in escrow to the growers 30 days after the plow-up deadline. The only deduction will be 6 cents per bale to the bank for salary, material and service costs.

I am personally very pleased to see this exerted effort being put forth by our Valley farmers to make their cotton insect-free.

NEW INSECTICIDE DEVELOPMENTS

Experiments with a new chemical which promises to be even more effective than DDT in combatting the pink bollworm are being held on test plots over the state. The new chemical, Bayer No. 17147, is also believed to be effective against the boll weevil.

whereas DDT is successful against pink bollworms only. It is also probable that fewer applications of the Bayer phosphorous compound would be necessary than the periodic treatments required when DDT is used.

With such intensive research on insecticides, compliance with our vital pink bollworm control regulations, and—most important—the full cooperation of Texas farmers, this threat to a major Texas cash crop will eventually be ended.

This is a little story of a desperate druggist. The scene: Breckenridge. The time: Early 1930's.

There had been a night football game and the Buckaroos, as usual, had won. My account had been wired in to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and I entered a drug store to get a soda. The place was crowded and the sales force was rushing wildly to serve the customers.

Someone asked me a question about an unusual happening in an Oil Belt game a few years before and I described the incident. That reminded me of another—and still another. Everybody was listening, including the clerks and soda dispensers, and nobody was buying. But of this I was not cognizant. Ham that I am, all I saw was an audience and an opportunity to talk.

After a few minutes, the proprietor said, "You're wanted on the phone." It was a doctor with a cordial invitation to come out to his house right away for sandwiches with a group of my friends. Upon arriving, I found I had never met the doctor or any of the others there. Why had a complete stranger been invited? I have always suspected that the druggist—with his store crowded and business paralyzed—had telephoned the doctor and begged him to get me out of the place.

So the doctor made the sacrifice.

Lighting a cigaret—so little a thing—yet it cost a man's life.

A truck driver going along a highway killed a pedestrian. He said he saw no one, turned his head to light a cigaret and, in that moment, the truck struck the man.

An unavoidable occurrence perhaps—but under-scoring that all of us who drive should give as much attention as possible to the road.

An Indian wanted to borrow some money. The bank president asked him what collateral he had. After "collateral" had been explained, the Indian said, "I got 50 horses" so the banker let him have the loan, which was paid back. Some time later, oil was struck on the Indian's land and the royalty began to roll in. The banker said, "You ought to put your money in my bank." The Indian asked, "How many horses you got?"

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Spotlight on HEALTH

The Calcium Needs Of Mother And Child

Shortage of calcium, the mineral most important to sound bones and teeth has long posed a problem in prenatal care.

A frequent symptom of calcium deficiency is leg cramps. These are experienced by more than 50 per cent of expectant mothers. If the deficiency becomes severe enough, even be affected. It may also create health hazards for the mother. However, calcium deficiencies can exist silently in the mother's system, without the appearance of leg cramps.

Medical science has always been acutely aware of the increased calcium needs of expectant mothers and the growing child in her womb. To fill the additional requirements, doctors have prescribed calcium—and protein rich diets, vitamins, as well as a long-used prenatal dietary supplement called dicalcium phosphate.

Recent medical studies have shown that calcium deficiency is actually only one aspect of the problem. The other is an over-supply of phosphorus which acts as an antagonist to absorption of the calcium that can enter the blood stream of the mother and unborn child.

In fact, clinicians have reported that the phosphates normally present in a rich protein diet, and in the dicalcium phosphate supplement, actually lower the calcium content in the blood of the pregnant female and her unborn child to the point of a rather severe deficiency.

An adequate quantity of calcium is necessary to life not only because the mineral supplies about 90 per cent of the substances necessary for healthy bone formation, but is also essential to normal heart action. Calcium also plays an important role in the body's blood-clotting mechanism.

Furthermore, the mineral helps the nervous system to function properly, and makes it possible for the body to obtain energy from the food it consumes.

Although the ordinary North American diet is ample to fulfill these functions—its average calcium content is 0.85 gm. per day—it does not provide enough of the substance to fill the needs of mother and child. According to medical authorities this need rises to 1.5 gm. in pregnancy, and continues during the period of lactation.

The answer to prenatal calcium deficiency now seems to have been found. Doctors who have tested a new calcium supplement, called Calcisalin, which is free of phosphates, report the new remedy notably raises calcium levels in the blood and reduces the incidence of leg cramps. Calcisalin is reinforced with vitamins and minerals known to be required in prenatal supplementation. Aluminum hydroxide gel is also added because it reduces the amount of phosphorus compounds absorbed into the mother's system.

Farm Land Values Showing Increases

A report by the U. S. Department of Agriculture on current developments in the farm real estate market as of July shows a continued upward trend in market prices of farm land in Texas this year.

Farm land values in Texas rose 6 percent between March and July 1955, bringing them 8 percent above their general level as of July 1954.

Nationally, a continued moderate advance in dollar value of U. S. farm land during the first half of 1955 brought farm real estate values back to their previous peak reached in late 1952, following the Korean outbreak.

Compared with a year earlier, farm land values in 36 States showed gains of 2 percent or more this July and the National average increase was 5 percent. Largest increases occurred in the central Corn Belt, where gains ranged from 5 to 8 percent. But similar increases occurred in Texas, Louisiana, and Florida. Only three States—Maine, Vermont, and Wyoming—reported values significantly below a year earlier.

The strength in land values, according to the Department of Agriculture, appears to be based in part on strong demand for additional land to enlarge existing farms and permit more efficient use of farm machinery. More available credit is also given as a factor, plus favorable crop prospects at mid-1955, and a generally favorable outlook in the national economy.

More than two-thirds of the farm tracts sold in 1954 and the first half of 1955 were bought by farmers, and farmers who already owned some land were the principal class of farmer-buyers.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spann during the holidays were Miss Bera Faye Spann of McMurry College in Abilene, George Spann of Texas Tech in Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Spann, Jr. and daughter of Sweetwater.

Capt. Bill Bouldin of Kingsville and Lt. Roy Bouldin of Perrin Air Force Base in Sherman spent the Thanksgiving holiday week end with their mother, Mrs. M. L. Wiggins, and Mr. Wiggins.

Mrs. Elbert Knox of Abilene was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McMahon on Thanksgiving day.

Rev. Ezra Murphy and son, Don, of Monroe, La., visited Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Patterson, Jr. and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Patterson and family over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thompson and children visited relatives in Hereford and Borger over the holidays.

New Super-Refined GAS-OIL TEAM gives you

... per gallon ... per quart

Gulf No-Nox Gasoline burns clean
Here's proof: Note the black deposit on plate at left, caused by the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the part Gulf refines out in making new NO-NOX. But see how clean new NO-NOX leaves the plate at right. Now—in your own new 1956 car—see how NO-NOX can give you more miles per gallon in the short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

Gulfpride Select Oil works clean
Here's why: Most conventional oils are refined only to the stage shown in A. But New Gulfpride Select is further refined by the Alchlor Process—removing up to 15% more of the carbon-formers, in B. . . C contains the new super-refined oil that gives you more miles per quart because it gives the toughest protective film ever developed.

Easy Coins A Quick Profit

Hear about Easy Roberts last Friday? I helped him count his money—both before and after—so believe me, the story's true.

Easy was on the way to the bank to deposit his "cookie jar" savings—exactly $24.95 in nickels, dimes and quarters. He had them in a paper bag and as we crossed Main Street the bottom fell out.

Money went flying. Passers-by pitched in to help recover the coins. Later on when Easy counted up, he had $25.05. The "search party" had turned up all of Easy's money plus ten cents someone else had lost!

From where I sit, I wouldn't want to try this "Easy" way to make money. Usually, it takes time for a bank roll to grow... just as it takes time for a friendship to grow. But by respecting a neighbor's rights—including his right to drink coffee, tea, beer or buttermilk, whichever and whenever he chooses—it's wonderful the solid friendship you can build. You can "bank" on that.

New Billing System Introduced By West Texas Utilities Co. This Month

Reddy Kilowatt, West Texas Utilities Company's versatile service symbol, will greet customers on the monthly service statements in a new manner beginning this week—on handier more convenient post card statements. WTU's local office in Munday will mail out the new cards for the first time in December, instead of the long statement form used so many years.

Inauguration of the new statement form was decided on after lengthy study and investigation which showed the new method would provide a more convenient statement for the customer and a more efficient system for the company.

A. H. Mitchell, WTU's local manager, said, "The new post card statements are prepared on long sheets of heavy paper that feed through machines in a continuous run much as newsprint runs through a printing press. The machines figure the statements, print them, and separate them for mailing automatically. The 2c postage is printed on each statement at the time the statement is figured and the information is printed on the statement. Use of a mailing permit eliminates the need for stamping the statements separately."

Mitchell said every effort has been made in preparing this new statement form to keep it as simple as possible and to present all the information the customer desires. He pointed out that the new statement interprets service charges in both kilowatts of electric power used and hours Reddy Kilowatt worked in the home; that is, kilowatt hours of electric service.

It was pointed out that the new statement is basically a simpler and modernized form of the old statement. There has been no change in rates or manner in cal-

The Munday Times

FOOD... through the ages...

MILK PROMOTES MIRTH, ONE SCIENTIST DECLARED, COMPARING THE MILK-LESS SOLEMN CHINESE AND JAPANESE WITH THE MILK-GORGED MIRTHFUL TIBETANS.

WHAT A BOWL WITH NO MILK DELIVERY

BUT MILK AND MIRTH WERE OPPOSITES IN NEW YORK'S 1850'S, WHEN HOT WEATHER SPOILED THE CITY'S SUPPLY. THEN (1856) LONG-LASTING SWEETENED CONDENSED MILK WAS PATENTED.

WHILE TODAY'S MILK SUPPLY IS ADEQUATE AND PURE, SWEETENED CONDENSED MILK STILL RECEIVES WORLDWIDE USE, BECAUSE IT MAKES SO MANY EASY DESSERTS.
