Odd Bits Salvaged
at Random

Munday doesn't have very many pretty lawns, as compared with other years when we had more rainfall than this season.

k-k

One of the best looking, of course, is the city hall lawn where water has been used in plentiful supply and greater care taken of the grass. Some citizens quit watering quite a while ago, in view of the fact that increased watering brings higher water bills.

k-k

Others have had private wells dug on their premises and equipped them with electric pumps to offset the situation. It is the first year in our recollection that watering was started early in the spring and continued almost incessantly without benefit of much rainfall.

k-k

But the few pretty lawns may not remain so for very long.

k-k

Mayor M. F. Billingsley stated Monday morning that the city's water situation was worse than most people believe. This fact was presented us one day last week by another member of the city council, but Mayor Billingsley says it's reaching serious proportions.

k-k

"We may have to curtail the use of water for all lawn or garden watering purposes," he said, "and restrict it to domestic use."

The two wells near the swimming pool are not able to furnish water for daily consumption. These wells, it was stated, are being pumped dry by early afternoon, and it takes several hours for the water supply to become replenished. The city's pumps are switched to the old well, and water there is lowered several feet by the daily consumption. So the mayor says restrictions may be placed on water consumption within the very near future.

k-k

We gave our front lawn a good watering last Sunday, all the time wondering what our water bill should be this month. If restrictions come, that may be the last watering it gets.

k-k

It's happened! Taxpayers of the Munday area who have been paying "drainage district" taxes for several years have had their taxes lowered by one-third—from 60 cents to 40 cents on the $100 valuation. This has been recommended to the Commissioners Court by the drainage district commissioners, who are: R. D. Atkelson, chairman; J. L. Stodghill and C. P. Baker.

k-k

People don't get their taxes lowered often, especially in times of increasing costs, etc., but it's happened to taxpayers of the Munday Drainage District No. 1. Now what we'd like for the commissioners to do is to put that drainage ditch into use to drain off some of our "surplus water," the purpose for which it was dug. We think the ditch is ready, however, if we can just get the water.

k-k

Sue Bowden (that's Levi's wife) is happy to have the Chamber of Commerce fixtures and records moved back into their own building. Improvements to the office, including a concrete floor topped with tile covering, have been completed with the expectation of additional book shelves for the library, and Sue was busy getting things arranged again.

k-k

Now when her telephone rings she can hear it better than when she temporarily officed in the city hall.

NO GOUGING

A prime factor in the operating overhead of farm equipment manufacturers—as in all manufacturing industry—is wages and related payroll costs. Increases in the selling prices of farm equipment have largely resulted from wage increases.

It was recently charged, however, that the manufacturers have increased the prices of their products much more than the amounts of wage increases received by employees. That charge was flatly disputed, with factual evidence, by the head of one of the companies concerned. And, while he spoke for his own company, he added that what is true of it is true of the rest of the industry.

This authority traced in detail the history of payroll costs since mid-1950, when the company first entered into union contracts calling for annual improvement wage increases and automatic cost-of-living wage increases. From that time to a recent month of this year, wages had risen 37.5 per cent. Farm machine prices, by contrast, had increased 21.7 per cent. The wage increases were not far from double the price increases.

Farm equipment is a highly competitive business, with many manufacturers and great numbers of local dealers urging the merits of their particular brands. Price is a mighty important competitive factor—and the equipment manufacturers must hold it to as low a level as possible in order to maintain sales.

WATCH THE STATE HOUSE:

It's all very well and necessary to talk about cutting the cost of the federal government. But we must not let that obscure the problem of local government spending.

The Tax Foundation reports that total state tax collections (excluding unemployment compensation collections) were 46.1 per cent greater in fiscal 1955 than in fiscal in 1950.

Obviously, it won't help anyone if we manage to bring about some reduction in federal taxes—and local taxes eat up the saving.

SHELDON, IOWA, MAIL: "Speaking recently before the Inter-American Bar Association at Dallas, Texas, Mr. Hoover warned that Russia's new strategy for the promotion of world-wide communism was through Socialists operating under the guise of 'liberals and progressives.' Less than 48 hours after our former President made this prediction, Russia itself announced that 'Socialist successes have created new conditions for the activities of the Communist and other workers' parties.'"

THE PRICE OF GASOLINE

Gasoline costs more in some states than it does in others. Many a motorist no doubt wonders why—and wonders also if he is being gouged when he says "fill her up."

A clear explanation of the reasons for price differences has been made by an official of a leading oil company. His explanation concerns Montana, and was presented to the Montana Trade Commission, which has been conducting an investigation of gasoline prices in the state.

In Montana, this authority says, the market for gasoline is thin and the volume of sales is low. Transportation and handling costs are high because of long hauls. And the seasonal fluctuations, because of long winters, are extreme. The result of all this is that unit cost for transportation and distribution for gas in Montana is nearly twice the company average.

Other states are in a similar position, for these or other reasons. Gasoline which must be moved great distances to limited markets must obviously cost more than gasoline which is moved shorter distances to concentrated markets.

Actually, there are three elements making up the price of gasoline. One is taxes, which are beyond the control of anyone except the government. The second is the dealer's mark-up, which is established by competition. The third is the wholesale price dealers pay, and that has to cover the costs for finding crude oil, transporting it to refineries, refining it into products, providing marketing facilities, and moving the products to the service station pump. All these elements vary, often materially, in one area as against another area.

YOUR NAME IN THE PAPER

How valuable is local newspaper advertising to local business people? Here's what the American Bankers magazine, a publication which represents a traditionally hard-headed profession, has to say: "No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half, or even a quarter page advertisement in each issue of the paper but your name and address should be mentioned if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town . . . it's the best possible town advertiser. The Man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

If Baptism Is Non-Essential

Non-essential means not necessary. It means that people can be saved without baptism. The same people who teach that baptism is non-essential, teach that it is a commandment of God. Why would God command a thing if it is not necessary?

If baptism is non-essential, the new birth is non-essential. Jesus said to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God" (Jno. 3:5).

If baptism is non-essential to salvation, then the remission of sins is not essential to salvation. To those who were convicted of sin by the gospel, Peter said, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remissions of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost" (Acts 2:38). There is no promise of remission of sins to the alien sinner without baptism.

If baptism is non-essential to salvation, then being in Christ is not essential to salvation. Paul says, "For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ" (Gal. 3:27). The New Testament does not teach that one can believe into Christ, nor repent into Christ. Baptism is the divine command by which people enter into Christ.

If baptism is not essential to salvation, then becoming a new creature is not essential to salvation. Paul says, "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: Old things are passed away; behold all things are become new" (2 Cor. 5:17). Concerning the new life Paul said, "Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death; that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, so we also should walk in newness of life" (Rom. 6:4). We find the new life only in Christ, and we receive it when we are baptized into him. The highest attainment of morality does not lead to the newness of life.

AUSTIN—Almost 4000 Texas foodhandlers so far this year have won certification for having "satisfactorily completed the public health course in sanitary preparation and handling of food as prescribed by this department," the State Department of Health has announced.

Of the 3864 embossed certificates handed out by the department's three public health instructors, 463 went to owners and managers of food establishments who attended and completed the 5-day course of instruction covering all phases of sanitary food production, preparation, and service.

"We feel the accomplishment is significant," State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle said, "since some 31 different diseases can be spread through improperly handled food and drink."

The free courses have been part of the department's health education curriculum since 1938. Most health departments over the nation conduct similar schools, but the movement originated in Texas.

Devil Made Happy By Smell Of Motor Gas; Film Takes Viewers On Danger-Death Roads

Sun. Mon., the Roxy Theatre has the honor and distinction of presenting one of the season's most important screen productions, a drama of the highway so vital to the average citizen that it might well, indeed, have a bearing on his safety as a driver. And as a passenger, perhaps, or as a pedestrian.

The title is "Devil Take Us," and that the devil is made happy by the smell of motor gas is attested to in the fact that one in every two Americans can expect to be involved in an automobile accident before he dies—or when he dies.

The new action and factual thriller has been honored by documentary nominations from Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences, the Liberty Mutual Trophy Award, and the Annual Safety Award from the National Committee on Films for Safety. Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association, says, "This is a motion picture without actors, a drama in which all of us are the players. It's shocking as the problem is shocking, see it—remember it—this picture may save your life!"

As seen and told by Highway Patrolman Del Kuhn and Police Lieut. Charles Reineke, "Devil Take Us," a Theatre of Life presentation produced in cooperation with the Associated Press and distributed by RKO Radio Pictures, the story takes viewers across country with the cameras trailing the honk! honk! of motorists by the hundreds and the thousands.

Although there is a fellowship of the road, and the travelers, often tired and sometimes lost, meet each other on the same footing, there is usually trouble ahead—sometimes behind, and sometimes in the middle. There are drivers of all types, the lazy, the drinker, the careless, the thoughtless, the hopeless—and the careful, the trained, the considerate, all may go down with splintered bones, severed arteries, smashed chests and fractured skulls. The margin may be close, the wink of an eye, the width of a fender.

People and automobiles don't mix—they mash.

Herbert Morgan produced, wrote and directed "Devil Take Us."

Provisions Of Soil Bank Act

The 1956 soil bank program, as provided by the law, contains special provisions and payments which enable farmers to participate this year. Any farmer who otherwise complies with the provisions of the Acreage Reserve will be eligible for payment if:

1. He has underplanted his Soil Bank corn base or his allotment for cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts, or wheat (when planted to spring wheat) and he certifies that he underplanted (a) in anticipation of complying with the 1956 Acreage Reserve or (b) because of adverse weather conditions; or

2. He has underplanted his 1956 allotment for winter wheat and certifies that this was done because of adverse weather conditions; or

3. He has complied with his Soil Bank corn base or his farm allotment for a particular crop, but an acreage of the crop was not harvested because of destruction by natural causes; or

4. The farmer is in an area where an established final date set for the basic commodity for his area is subsequent to May 28 and he plows or otherwise physically incorporates the crop into the soil, or clips, mows, or cuts the crop after May 28 and prior to June 30 or the established final date, whichever is later. (The "established final date" will be the same as the last date on which the acreage of a basic crop may be adjusted in order to bring it into compliance with the acreage allotment of the regular production adjustment program).

Maximum and minimum acreages of the basic crops which may be placed in the Acreage Reserve have been established as follows (except that where the allotment is less than the specified acreage minimum, or maximum the total allotment shall be considered as the minimum or the maximum):

For corn, the maximum is the larger of half the corn base acreage or 50 acres. The minimum is the larger of 10 percent of the base acreage or 5 acres.

For wheat, the maximum is the larger of half the wheat allotment or 50 acres, the minimum is the larger of 10 percent of the allotment or 5 acres. For rice, the maximum is the larger of half the rice allotment or 50 acres. The minimum is the larger of 10 percent of the allotment or 5 acres.

For cotton, the maximum is the larger of half the allotment or 10 acres. The minimum is the larger of 10 percent of the allotment or 1 acre.

For peanuts, the maximum is the larger of half the allotment or 10 acres. The minimum is the larger of 10 percent of the allotment or 1 acre.

For tobacco, the maximum is the larger of half the allotment or 5 acres. The minimum is the larger of 10 percent of the allotment or 1 acre.

The payment which a farmer may earn for participating in the Acreage Reserve will be determined by multiplying a base unit rate by a yield factor. The national average rates for 1956 crops are: Corn, 90 cents per bushel; cotton, 15 cents per pound; wheat, $1.20 per bushel; rice, $2.25 per hundredweight; peanuts, 3 cents per pound; and tobacco, varying rates per pound for different types (details in USDA press release 1661-56 issued today, June 8, 1956).

The payments will be determined as follows:

For underplanting the corn base or the allotment for cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts, or wheat (when planted to spring wheat), the payment rate will be based on the normal yield for the designated acreage.

For underplanting 1956 winter wheat, because of adverse weather, the payment will be $4 per acre.

For destruction due to natural causes or for plowing or otherwise physically incorporating the crop into the soil, or for clipping, mowing, or cutting the crop, the payment will be based on the smaller of an appraised yield for the field or the normal yield for the farm, but will not be less than $6 per acre.

Provisions of the Conservation Reserve part of the Soil Bank will be announced as soon as practical. Under this part of the program, a farmer will be able to earn two types of payment—an annual payment to help compensate for income which he would have received if the "reserved" land had been in crop, and a payment representing a percentage of the cost of establishing conservation practices on such land.

The same acreage on a farm may be included under both the Acreage Reserve and the Conservation Reserve parts of the Soil Bank.

Participation in the Acreage Reserve Program will be on a voluntary basis.

TEXAS BANKERS TO AID 4-H FOUNDATION
AMARILLO — Four-H Club work throughout the nation will benefit from a special fund now being raised by Texas bankers. These longtime friends and supporters of 4-H under the leadership of Art P. Bralley, vice president of Amarillo's American National Bank have joined in a national fund raising effort in behalf of the National 4-H Club Foundation.

Bralley is state chairman and J. W. Tapp, Chairman of the Bank of America, is the national chairman for the program. The state chairman has told Texas bankers that the National 4-H Club Foundation is a non-profit, educational organization which not only helps improve and expand 4-H club work in the United States but also provides an opportunity for our young people to promote world understanding and peace.

Currently, Bralley said the Foundation is supporting the International Farm Youth Exchange program which exchanges rural youth between the U. S. and other countries; is engaged in National 4-H Club Center; conducting a citizenship improvement study in which Texas is participating as a pilot state and sponsoring a workshop program in human relations training for youth leaders. Bralley said 10 Texas 4-H leaders have attended one of the workshop sessions. The Amarillo banker said that many banks are supporting 4-H club work on the local level but urged all banks to give consideration to the support of the National 4-H Club Foundation.

KEEPING THE PINKIES DOWN

Cotton losses from pink bollworm infestation may show a marked drop this year if early-season bloom inspection results are a good barometer.

Findings in an annual inspection of Lower Rio Grande Valley cotton blooms indicate a significant decrease of infestation both in number of fields and density of blooms attacked.

Out of four counties checked—Cameron, Willacy, Hidalgo and Starr—only Willacy got a clean bill of cotton health, although infestation was down in all counties. In Willacy, no bloom infestation was found, compared with 35 pink bollworms per 100,000 blooms and 33 per cent of fields infested in 1955. Part of the Willacy County cotton was not as far advanced as during the 1955 bloom inspection, however.

In the other counties, infestation was less than half the degree recorded in last year's inspection.

This noted drop in early bollworm occurrence is probably due in part to slightly shortened planting periods in the areas checked. Eleven days were pared off the permissible planting period in the Lower Rio Grande Valley pink bollworm control zone. Resultant suicidal emergencies of pink bollworm moths where there are no cotton squares up have a marked effect on local infestation.

Strict compliance with planting and plow-up rules are invariably our best means of preventing pink bollworm build-up, and it is through such cooperation as that given by the valley farmers that this pestilence will eventually be safely controlled.

No Shade Tree At The End Of The Row?

They're liable to start a revolution among the farmers' kids if what I hear is true. They say the fence row shade tree is on its way out.

If there was ever anything pleasant about chopping cotton under the hot July sun, it was the water jug hanging from the lowest limb of the mesquite at the turning row. Talk about incentive! Nothing could make a boy hitch up his overalls and bear down on the hoe handle so much as sighting the promise of a moment's repose under the shade of a big mesquite.

The boy never cared, nor even noticed, that the cotton didn't grow up under the tree. And he didn't realize that the water it took to hold up all that beautiful green foliage could produce nigh on to another bale.

But, with water being hard to come by and money even harder, many farmers are taking the practical viewpoint and poisoning their fence row thieves.

So I expect the young man in the stripped overalls will get practical too and go modern—with a beach umbrella and a thermos of cracked ice and water.

This-and-that:

Herbert Hoover, when president, was said to have had 36 suits—all of them blue serge, double-breasted. What good is it to have so many suits if they all look the same?

All of us are dependent on others. The more people a man is dependent on, the more service he is rendering. Woolworth, Kress and Ford made huge fortunes by providing products for the masses.

A little modesty never hurt anybody. I ought to know—I have as little modesty as anybody.

In San Antonio, there's a drug store that sells sugar. The Alamo City has a man with perhaps the shortest name in Texas: Max Itz.

Most hotels have gone all-out for air-conditioning and the rooms are sealed up quite without any regard for the fact that there are some people who get sore throat from the breeze of chill air piped in and others who, for various reasons associated with the little matter of breathing, prefer to raise a window and inhale the air the way Nature manufactures it. One San Antonio hotel, however, has half the rooms air-conditioned, and half not.

A man entered a newspaper office and handed a piece of paper across the counter: "For sale, my 160-acre farm, cheap, John Smith." The advertising man said, "Why not let me write an ad that will sell your place?" and, after gaining information, the expert wrote: "For sale, My 160-acre farm, with a log cabin on top of a hill, a brook flowing at the foot, honeysuckle growing around the door, roses blooming at the gate, an orchard of peach and apple trees where bees buzz and birds sing. John Smith."

The man read it over and turned toward the door. "Wait," the advertising man said, "you haven't left the ad."

"No," the other replied, "and I'm not going to; I've been looking for a place like that all my life myself."

FORD sets 500-mile record at Indianapolis Speedway

Again proves nobody outperforms Ford

... dramatic demonstration of the kind of performance and roadability that makes all your driving more fun in a Ford!

Ford's record was timed and certified by the United States Auto Club

A Ford V-8 hurtled across the brick and asphalt surface of tough and testing Indianapolis Speedway... whirling through the tight turns and flashing over the straight stretches... to set a mark that no stock car ever reached before!

Previous to Ford's record run, no other stock car had gone even one lap at Indianapolis at 100 m.p.h., but one of Ford's laps was timed at the electrifying speed of 113.7 m.p.h. And Ford averaged over 107 m.p.h. for the full five hundred miles... close to the average set by the extremely costly, specially-built racer which won the Memorial Day "500"!

Ford fully realizes that the welter of claims and counter claims about "racing victories" (many of them completely contradictory) must be confusing and disillusioning to the public. Ford ran this race against time, over the true "Classic" distance and at the most famous track in America, in order to dispel this cloud of doubt and disbelief and prove that no one outperforms Ford!

Peter de Paolo, leader of the team of drivers that piloted the winning Ford, states flatly: "No other stock car could have equalled this performance!" And Peter de Paolo should know, for he was the first driver to win the "500" Classic with a better than 100 m.p.h. average. And now he comes back with a group of drivers to establish a stock car record with the great '56 Ford!

Ford wrote this new mark large and bold in the record books. And the whole Ford did the trick. From the hog-full of throbbing horsepower to the road-hugging rear end, Ford demonstrated that it has what it takes to make your driving more enjoyable. Convince yourself that driving a Ford can be real fun. Test drive a '56 Ford. There's a set of keys waiting for you, so come in and see us soon.

Used on thousands of acres of cotton land, dieldrin has proved to be one of the most effective insecticides for control of boll weevils. So effective is dieldrin's killing power, that weevils and other major cotton pests are finished for keeps if they touch, taste, or breathe it.

Long lasting. A single application of powerful dieldrin will knock out boll weevils for many days after application. Even hot, dry areas cannot discourage dieldrin's long-lasting effectiveness.

Easy to use. Dieldrin can be applied as a spray or a dust. Either way, you can be sure of effective, high kill.

Don't put up with boll weevils and other cotton pests this season—use dieldrin! Dieldrin is available under well-known brand names from your insecticide dealer. See him today!

Knox Prairie Philosopher Sees No Point In The Rest Of The World Waiting For A Boom To Reach Him

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is talking about, if we understand his letter, international prosperity, although we may be wrong.

Dear editor: One thing I understand about foreign aid—and understand, I'm in favor of it, I'm in favor of both foreign and domestic aid—is the argument that if we don't help other countries to get and stay prosperous, we can't stay that way ourselves.

In fact, I was reading just last night in a copy of a newspaper which a neighbor had wrapped some vegetables in and left on our doorstep as an example of domestic aid, where a foreign aid expert said in Washington that "we can't have world-wide prosperity as long as one segment of the world is still not prosperous."

I doubt this. Take me and the rest of the United States. As I understand it, the U. S. is at its most prosperous peak in history, people are making more money, spending more, borrowing more, owing more, than ever before, in fact, you might say prosperity is nation-wide, but you ought to see the segment of it bounded by the four sides of my farm out here. My situation seems to defy the argument you can't have nation-wide prosperity as long as one segment of it hasn't got it, and I don't see why you couldn't stretch it to take in a world-wide situation too.

In fact, I have an idea if we're waiting for every single nation, and every single individual in every nation, to be prosperous before anybody can relax and enjoy prosperity we've got a long, unrelaxed wait ahead of us.

In fact, if there's anybody in this country overflowing with prosperity and waiting for me to reach that status before he cuts loose and enjoys his, my advice is to go ahead and cut loose, don't wait on me. I've got a different system out here. It's ridden out not only prosperous times but depressions too; you can hardly tell the difference.

My advice to anybody with prosperity on his hands and bashful about what to do with it, is to forget about me and use what he's got. I have no objection to me being prosperous, but I know what it takes, it takes work, and that's a pretty high price to pay. Your faithfully, J. A.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Now that millions of people are taking their summer vacations and driving about the country, automobile accidents are occurring with increasing frequency. When involved in an accident, it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do.

It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.
2. Render Aid. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.
3. Protect the Scene from Further Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.

4. Call an Officer. Policemen, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

5. Gather Information . . . Write it Down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess—be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver—and he must do the same.

6. Be careful What You Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.

7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.

9. Inform Your Insurance Company Promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.

10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.00.

An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Dept. of Public Safety.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

Picnic time

Picnic Time is here again, but life without Christ is no picnic. Trusting Jesus Christ will bring new joy into your life. Jesus said, "...I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." John 10:10.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Bcard

One of the most amazing things happening today is the debunking of Stalin that is being indulged in by all the present Leaders in Russia. Khrushchev who appears to be the top man in the USSR at this time blames Stalin for all the bloody purges that have taken place in the Soviet Union and accuses the dead Premier of being a coward and responsible for the Russian losses in their war with Germany, as well as many other high crimes. Just why this is going on presents somewhat of a puzzle to most observers; however, there seems to be little question but what one of the principle reasons is that Khrushchev and the others are taking this line of attack in self-defense on account of the intense struggle for power that is going on between the Communist Leaders. It also indicates that all might not be well behind the Iron Curtain.

This week the Administration is requesting that our National debt limit be increased by Three Billion Dollars. About a year ago it was increased Six Billion Dollars for one year. The fact that the request this year will be for only a Three Billion Dollar increase for a period of one year indicated that we are making progress in the right direction. I hope that next year we will be able to operate within the legal limit without having to raise it at all.

The advocates of statehood for Alaska and Hawaii are making a last-minute effort to get Congressional approval which would lead to their admission into the Union as full-fledged States. Alaska is a great undeveloped country that unquestionably some day will be a State even though it is doubtful if they are ready at this time. It is hard to see how the admission of Hawaii into the Union can be justified, however, at this or at any time in the future.
