Odd Bits Salvaged
at Random

"You all stay right here until I get back!"

Those words became rather popular with us last Saturday. Yes, we were one of the 230-some-odd thousand who helped the State Fair of Texas get off to a good start. We reckon that was more people than we'd ever seen on those fair acres before, since they claimed we done went and broke another record for attendance on opening day.

So when one of us had the urge, or necessity, to saunter off some place, we'd admonish the others to "stay put" until we returned. In that way, we knew where we went from and where to go back to, so our bunch just wouldn't wander away, we'd know where to find them.

By the time we'd ambled through the general exhibits building a portion of the automobile building, the electric building, women's building, etc., and on to the picnic pavilion where the press group were assembling we felt like our feet had taken another beating worse than our regular news and advertising beat on the streets of Munday.

At one stage of events, we purchased a permit to ride on one of those tractor-pulled conveyances about the fair grounds. While indulging in this foot-resting activity, we heard a familiar voice saying: "Munday people are not allowed to ride on those things," or something like that—and there was our "ag man" E. R. Ponder. A little further down the way was Dee Allred, who'd driven the bus down for the Munday youngsters.

And that was one thing that swelled the opening-day crowd—it was Rural Youth Day, and you never saw the like of 4-H'ers and FFA'ers in your life. For two hours or more, a man yelled over a public address system, telling these youngsters where to go for their free feed—and they went, too. Estimates were that over 100,000 of those youths attended the fair.

Several years ago, we had the experience of getting among them on the midway and got into such a jam of humanity that we couldn't see anywhere but up. We rather willingly turned the midway over to them Saturday.

Helping us to take in the sights of the big city and state fair were the H. F. Jungmans.

And just about the time our feet were ready to call it quits, the show in the auditorium opened. There hadn't been an entertainment, the air-conditioned building and nice soft seats would have been a good resting place, but "Damn Yankees" is a pretty good show for a country boy to see. We liked it.

But Roy Craig, our editor friend from Stamford, didn't care so much for it. He liked "The King and I" we informed him if that show should come on TV we'd turn it off, but Roy offered no apology for liking it—just said that's the difference in people!

We almost got locked up in the Hall of State, but some kind policeman was good enough to come to the far end of the building and tell us they were locking up. We appreciated the information, because it was too hot in here to spend the night.

Another place on our agenda was the Cotton Bowl, where we saw Texas A&M romp over Texas Tech, just like the Moguls did Paducah! Other than the fact that it was a big college game, we believe we'd have enjoyed the fogal game more. We would at least have known some of the layers!

Lo of those A&M exes were present, and they were just as happy for the Aggies as we are for the Moguls. And as we were leaving the game, we ran smack into Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Baker.

It's going to fool around and in one of these days. And we'll sure appreciate it when it does!

Moguls Win Easy District Victory From Paducah; Chillicothe Is Next

The Munday Moguls had a combination that was too much for their visitors last Friday night as they won their first District 11-A victory easily from the Paducah Dragons. They almost scored at will to rack up a 41-6 victory.

That combination was a slippery halfback, Boyd Meers, and a winged-T magician, Glen Amerson, the two who with the help of a good line, the Moguls to their victory.

Meers scored four touchdowns, and his 190 yards amounted to almost twice the length of the field. Amerson accounted for one TD, but his toe added five of the extra points while he was engineering the Mogul tactics.

But there was also Bob Elliott, who completed the scoring for the Moguls and added that closing second thriller that always pleases Mogul fans.

Tom Goodgame was the scorer for the visiting Dragons, adding the touchdown early in the fourth quarter, capping a 65-yard drive.

Meers scored on runs of 48, 20, 22 and 30 yards, the latter coming when he snatched a Paducah fumble in mid-air and raced across the goal stripe.

Amerson scored from 31 yards out, and had a 25-yard assist on Elliott's 95-yard touchdown in the last 20 seconds of the game. Amerson started the play on the five, then later led to Elliott as he was being pulled down on the 30, and Elliott went the remaining distance.

Munday's long TD scampers ran them short on first down, as they racked up 9 to the visitors 14. The Moguls gained 437 yards rushing to 236 for the Dragons, made 198 yards passing to 4 for Paducah. Each team fumbled 4 times and each had one pass intercepted. In the punting department Munday had 1 for 40, and Paducah 2 for 37. Munday received five penalties for 35 yards; the Dragons four for 20 yards.

The Chillicothe Eagles, Friday night's opponents for the Moguls, bowed to the Archer City Wildcats 7-0 last Friday night while the Moguls were scoring their victory. The Moguls will journey to Chillicothe for this game, which will be their second district game, and they will be pointing for another win.

Moguls fans are making preparations to "take to the road" with the Moguls for Friday night's game.

THE FAMILY FARM

The charge that the family farm is dying and is destined to be almost entirely replaced by gigantic corporate farms has no basis in fact. Every objective study shows that the family farm is the solid foundation on which our agricultural economy rests—and that there is every indication that this will continue to be true.

However, the character of the family farm has changed.

The change was made inevitable by agriculture's technological revolution. The tractor, symbolically speaking, utterly transformed farming. It put it on a business basis. A substantial investment is now necessary, as is a high degree of operating efficiency. Numberless family farms have adapted themselves to the new conditions—to their enormous benefit. These farms have grown larger, too—primarily because modern equipment gives each man a far greater productive power than he had before.

In modern agriculture, there is less and less room for marginal farmers, with poor land, or the inability or lack of desire to deal with the conditions of today as against those of the past. Many of these farmers have left agriculture to industry—and they are better for it. The good farmer, on the other hand, has stayed with his land, and enlarged, improved and conserved it. Like everyone else, he's had his ups and downs. But over the years he's done very well indeed.

Yes, the good family farm is here to stay. And efficient farm equipment is among its principal mainstays.

FROM AN ELDER STATESMAN

In the view of Herbert Hoover, "the greatest issue in America and all mankind is the encroachment of government to master our lives."

That single brief sentence says more than a hundred windy political speeches—or tortuously phrased partisan platforms designed to offer all things to all men.

Those who look to government for doles, for favors, for special privileges, for cradle-to-the-grave security, will find that government will demand the death of liberty in return. Then we will have the security of the prison.

Drive Safely! Spend a little more time with us.

THE SEAS AROUND US

The head of a steamship association makes an interesting observation on the Suez crisis. This, he points out, has served to emphasize man's dependence on the sea—"despite the great advances of science in this age of supersonic speeds and thermonuclear weapons, the seas around us have not lost their importance."

We will realize that to the full if worst comes and there is another great war. For, as he said, whether we fought this war from fixed or floating bases, our forces would still depend on "the floating pipelines of supply maintained by the American Merchant Marine."

That points up the importance of the multi-billion dollar new ship construction program which is now underway—the greatest peacetime program of its kind in maritime history. It is made possible by partnership between the government and industry—the kind of partnership which offers the only hope for creating the kind of merchant marine we must have.

The national defense, of course, is but one reason for such a program. More and more agricultural and manufactured goods are sold abroad—to the vast benefit of American enterprise and its workers—and we must have ships to carry them. We also must have ships to bring home the great quantities of materials, strategic and otherwise, that we buy abroad.

To quote the spokesman once more, "... American ships are truly the floating islands of democracy."

SULLIVAN, IND., UNION: "While the farm situation will continue as a political question, it is not expected to be an over-riding issue because of the slow but steady rise in farm prices, and the belief the index will be even better in late October. United States Department of Agriculture officials pointed to hog prices, the precipitous slip in which was a major cause of farm unrest a few months ago, as now being upwards of 60 per cent above December 1935 low point."

PALATKA, FLA., DAIL NEWS: "Few parents would give their teen-aged youngster a stick of dynamite and tell him to go and have fun with it. Nor would they present him with a loaded pistol and urge him to take it to a party and have fun." But they do not hesitate to provide him with a lethal weapon far more dangerous—the family car."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

What Baptism Will Not Do

Baptism is only one command of Christ. It will not take the place of any other. It is not the command of commands, the only important one. Every command of Jesus Christ is important. Baptism is a part of the new birth and is essential, but let us notice other matters which it does not replace.

1. Baptism will not take the place of faith. The Bible says that "without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him" (Heb. 11:6). In fact, one cannot be scripturally baptized until he has so much faith that he will not refrain any longer from obeying the command to repent and be baptized. Baptism is an act of faith. It is "faith working through love" (Gal. 5:6).

2. Baptism will not take the place of repentance. Jesus commands us to "repent and be baptized for the forgiveness of sins . . ." (Acts 2:38). Many who have understood the importance of being baptized have failed to genuinely repent. Godly sorrow must lead us to turn from sin, change our will and start serving God. Without this change of will the believer is not ready for baptism.

Baptism will not take the place of confession of faith in Christ.

"For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation" (Rom. 10:10). "And Phillip said, 'If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God'" (Acts 8:37).

4. Baptism does not guarantee freedom from temptation. After Jesus was baptized the devil tempted him more than usual.

5. Baptism does not mean one may not fall from grace. John was speaking to baptized Christians when he said: "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive our selves, and the truth is not in us (1 Jno. 1:8). Peter speaks of those who once born again when he writes, 'For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning. For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them'" (2 Peter 2:20-21).

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Exactly one year has passed since Harrison County physicians and school officials, in legal disregard for "priority" ages, gave 7600 school children their first shots of Salk polio vaccine in Texas' first all-grades immunization campaign.

In the 12-months interim, not a single untoward reaction to the vaccine has occurred, and not a single case of paralytic polio has been diagnosed among the county's 50,000 population. One non-paralytic case was reported to state health officials in July.

"We consider the Harrison County campaign additional proof that Salk vaccine gives excellent protection against paralytic polio," said State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle.

Dr. Holle called the East Texas county's drive against polio a "study in doctor-community cooperation." He said careful analysis of the project may give an indication as to what percentage of population must be immunized to forestall a polio epidemic.

Approximately 58 percent of the eligible Harrison County population was immunized with two shots of the protective vaccine. Third shots were given on the initiative of parents. In comparison, only 38 percent of the entire state's under-20 population have received two shots as of September 30.

Prime movers behind what Dr. James H. Harris called "the action of free men facing a new situation" were the 18 physicians who compose the county medical society.

The State Department of Health, with approval of federal authorities, designated Harrison County as a special study area and furnished sufficient vaccine to inoculate all willing school children in grades 1 through 12. By contrast, established priority ages at that time included children under 15 and pregnant women.

Priorities have since been eliminated on the use of commercial vaccine, but still apply to the use of public vaccine to persons under 20 and expectant mothers.

Teamed with the physicians in the altruistic enterprise were school officials, teachers, hospital and special duty nurses, and doctor's wives. Their time was donated free. Doctors dipped into their own resources for clinic supplies, and paid the bills incident to advertising the clinics.

MODERN HOMEMAKING

RECIPES... HOUSEHOLD HELPS

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS COMPANY

Just as breakfast and supper are important for good nutrition of the school child, so is an adequate lunch. This midday meal should be a substantial one and provide approximately one-third of the food needs for a day.

School cafeterias carefully plan balanced nutritious meals. The same careful planning for children who take their lunch is necessary if the lunches include a balanced share of the nutrients so important to the strong, robust growth.

Supplementing cold lunches with a hot dish is a good idea, especially in cold weather. A lunch taken from home may have a hot dish added from the cafeteria or hot soup, or hot chocolate can be taken in a small thermos.

The noon meal of the school child should be considered with

World's Most Modern Can Plant

Leading Texas civic, educational and industrial leaders this week heralded the opening of American Can Company's new can-making plant in Arlington—the most modern of its type in the world. Situated on 12 acres of land midway between Dallas and Ft. Worth, it will bring increased service to the many canners and packers in the Central Texas area. Modern high-speed equipment laid out over 180,000 square feet of floor space will produce metal cans at a rate of 450 per minute or 500,000,000 per year. American Can also has another plant in Houston which has been serving the Texas container-using industries for two decades.

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, Mrs. Mauryse Blacklock and Mrs. Effie Alexander visited Mrs. J. R. Smith in the General Hospital in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

Burnice Bowden visited relatives in Fort Worth over the week end.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Happy Swap

More and more farmers—who badly need hired help sometimes, but can't afford a full-time hand—are making deals with young town workers and the employers they work for.

For instance, young Hap Hooper now lives rent-free on Easy Roberts' farm. In return he works about 100 days a year for Easy—for a farmhand's pay.

The rest of the year Hap works for his "regular" boss... Buzz Ellis, the electrician. Buzz just speeds up his business when Hap's on hand—slows it down when he isn't—and, like Easy, pockets healthy savings in wages.

From where I sit, it's great how people with different backgrounds—and different viewpoints—can co-operate. How about more of us trying that? I live in a town—maybe you're a farmer. I'm partial to a good glass of beer—you may prefer coffee or milk. But we can make things pleasant by ignoring differences and giving each other a "hand."

Ike Can't Make It Rain, But He's Still Best Man

The other day I asked a farmer if it was dry out his way. He said it sure was. "Looks like we just can't get any rain," he said. "Why, when Noah had his 40-day flood, we didn't get over half an inch."

There's no mistake about it, Texas is having itself a real drought. Some of the farmers and ranchers in our county are in such bad shape that they may vote for Stevenson.

Old Man Jones, from across the river, said he wasn't going to go to any such extreme. He said he needed rain as bad as anybody else. He claimed water was so scarce in his community that the preacher was baptizing new members with a wet handkerchief. But he was holding out awhile longer, anyway.

"I may be stubborn," said Old Man Jones, "but I just ain't been convinced that President Eisenhower is keeping it from raining."

He said he knew that Stevenson and Kefauver acted like they thought so, and they had a right to their opinion. Lyndon Johnson, he figured, knew better, but he was sticking with Adlai and Estes for the sake of unity. He said he didn't figure Mr. Sam Rayburn had known whether it was raining or not for the last 25 years.

"I hate not to go along with such a widely known crowd of weather observers," Old Man Jones said. "If there's anybody who keeps up with which way the wind is blowing, generally speaking, it's Stevenson, Kefauver and Johnson."

Then he went on to say that he realized the national farm program hadn't pleased everybody—including him. If he was in the White House, he would do things different, at least in our county. He allowed that the $61,000,000 spent by the Eisenhower administration for drought relief in Texas could have been doubled and still not made all the farmers happy and prosperous.

"But," said Old Man Jones, "I keep remembering that the main reason for our troubles, besides the drought, is the fact that we are not at war. Now, if Adlai and Estes really want to jump on President Eisenhower, there is a real issue. They've sure got the goods on Ike in that respect. If he hadn't stopped that Korean War, farm prices would be higher, no doubt. I wonder why they never mention that."

Old Man Jones was kidding a little, of course, in his usual way, but I think he had something there. We have got to adjust to peace-time, which is taking awhile but President Eisenhower is working at it. And meanwhile our boys aren't fighting and dying on foreign soil. It's worth thinking about.

Yours truly,
Tex

Memories of an old-time police reporter:

A "bad man" had words with a policeman and turned toward a car where he had a rifle. The officer shot him to death. Public sentiment justified the killing on the ground that, in view of the victim's homicidal record, the shooting had been in self defense.

Before the killing, the policeman had been genial and friendly. But afterwards he withdrew from the company of others and almost never smiled.

One day, he walked into the chief's office, laid his pistol on the desk and said, "Take it; I'm resigning." Then he went on, "I've been hearing voices; I want to get rid of the gun before I harm someone."

Our family physician in Memphis, Tenn., was Dr. Moore Moore. That's right; his first name was the same as his last name. It was a custom for one member of the family in each generation to have the double name. No one called him Dr. Moore; they always spoke of him as Dr. Moore Moore.

One day he handed this then youthful patient a bottle of eye lotion and I couldn't help asking, "Do I use it before, or after,

Fall Hay Fever Relief

"Will that first frost never come?" That is what millions of hay fever sufferers are wondering at this point. Though summer's peak is past, there's plenty of hay fever around. Ragweed—the cause of 60% of all hay fever cases in this country—is thriving, and where ragweed doesn't exist, there are plenty of other weeds that contribute to sniffles and sneezes.

Hay fever is caused by pollen. The almost invisible grains are carried from plant to plant to help form the seeds from which next season's plants will grow. Contrary to popular belief, fragrant flowers such as roses and goldenrod seldom cause hay fever. Their pollen is too heavy to blow through the air, so allergic people don't get much chance to breathe it in.

The real menace are weeds, grass, and trees whose pollen is light enough to float in air. In most of the United States and southern Canada, pollen from many trees causes "spring hay fever," while in June and July grass pollen takes over.

Right now, from August through October, "late hay fever" abounds, thanks to ragweed, sage, amaranth, Russian thistle, and other weeds.

Hay fever is not fatal, but it is something to see a doctor about. The sneezing, running nose, watery eyes and other symptoms cause severe discomfort, often enough to keep the sufferer home from work.

Generally speaking, hay fever is not "cured," but most cases can be successfully treated. The best long-term results are attained by injections at least two months before the hay fever season starts.

Once the season is underway, medical researchers report that the fastest relief can be obtained either by avoiding pollen, or through treatment with one of the new prescription drugs, such as Metretol. In addition to an antihistamine, this new medicine contains Meti-Steroids, the "super-Cortisone" found so effective in treating arthritis, asthma, and other allergies. A Meti-Steroid type of drug proved "rapidly active and highly effective" in test treatment of nasal allergies, according to two New Orleans specialists writing in the Annals of Allergy, published by the American College of Allergists. "As for 'avoiding pollen,'" all you have to do is take a long ocean voyage until the first frost finally comes!

IMPORTS AGGRAVATE SURPLUS PROBLEMS FOR U. S. COTTON

While U. S. cotton acreage has been restricted sharply to reduce surpluses, cotton in the form of textiles is coming into this country at the rate of several thousand bales each month.

Wm. Rhea Blake, Memphis executive vice president of the National Cotton Council, points out that unless adequate remedies are provided, these imports threaten to aggravate the surplus problem and possibly bring about further acreage curtailment, reduced farm income and economic hardship in the Cotton Belt.

The volume of imports for the 1955 calendar year was estimated to have been between 200,000 and 250,000 bales—some 66 per cent above 1954 levels. It has risen rapidly since September 1955 when tariffs on basic textile constructions were reduced up to 48 per cent. These imports, Mr. Blake notes, tend to displace domestic products and reduce the demand for cotton by U. S. mills.

Price of U. S. cotton to foreign mills, under the present government export program, is about 6 cents per pound less than that to domestic mills, enabling manufacturers abroad to lower their textile prices about 12 per cent. Domestic mills—by far the U. S. cotton farmer's biggest customer—cannot cut their prices to meet this increased competition since their average profit on sales is only about 2.5 per cent.

Research Places Cotton First In Market For Convertible Auto Tops

Cotton is tops in convertible market.

The National Cotton Council reports that new cotton materials developed through research are now being used in 95 per cent of convertible tops on automobiles. Synthetics, once widely heralded as taking over this 10,000-a-year market, have all but dropped out of the picture. The reason is that synthetics failed to give performance while cotton staged a comeback.

In 1950 a government survey of auto makers revealed widespread dissatisfaction with the cotton duck fabric then principally being used. Auto makers said the duck, bonded to a cotton lining fabric with rubber, had a tendency to wrinkle after use. It lacked color permanency, became ragged, and did not resist rot.

Field Wide Open
So car manufacturers declared the field wide open for a new convertible top material, and it was freely predicted that synthetics would come up with the answer. At first, the Council says, its prediction appeared accurate. In 1954, manufacturers reported that synthetics had gained 40 per cent of the convertible top market.

But the man-made fibers failed to hold up in use. Orlon was reported to be the closest to a perfect topping material, but it would not take or retain dyes and had to be used in its natural colors. As time went by, it was discovered orlon fabric could not be matched from batch to batch. Its "natural color" ranged all the way from snowy white to dingy pink.

Nylon was found to stretch too much, and it faded excessively except when black or natural was used. Rayon also stretched and failed in color fastness, even though the fabrics were spun dyed.

New Fabric Durable
The cotton top material now being used is a vinyl-coated fabric specified by car makers because of its durability, the Council states. It is easier to fit on the metal auto frame, has true color permanency, and can be cleared readily.

Research efforts are continuing so that an even better cotton top material can be developed to satisfy the American motorist's demand for a constantly improved automobile.

IRON MAKES CARE OF RUFFLES EASY

Tucks, pleats, ruffles, and puffed sleeves are so very feminine. And these trimmings on pretty cotton dresses and blouses no longer present an ironing problem.

A new electric ruffle iron helps do the trick easily and in no time at all. The iron has a tall stand which fits over the edge of the ironing board and a fabric dial which can be set for the correct temperature. The fabric can be eased over the heated aluminum iron head and smoothed with two hands when necessary.

Dicky Ponder of Texas Tech in Lubbock was a week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ponder.

One of the world's largest single pieces of precision mechanized equipment, a 300-foot rotary kiln for the manufacture of cement, is being completed at the Texas Portland Cement Plant at Orange, Texas.

The kiln will convert oyster shells into regular and special types of cement. Those responsible for engineering and constructing the facility have designated it as 'the world's most modern cement plant'.

Poage To Speak At Farm Clinic At Stamford

W. R. (Bob) Poage, Congressman from Waco, will be speaker for a farm clinic meeting sponsored by the Stamford Rotary Club on Monday night, October 15.

The meeting will be held at the National Guard armory building, immediately northeast of Stamford, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

All farmers from Jones and surrounding counties are invited to hear Poage.

Congressman Omar Burleson will introduce the speaker and state Senator David Ratliff of Stamford will be master of ceremonies.

Jack Watson is president of the Rotary club and W. A. (Bill) Thompson is chairman of the rural-urban committee of the host club, which is making the arrangements.

Mr. Poage, ranking member and vice chairman of the House committee on agriculture, is author of House Bill HR 8703 which is a self-financing cotton program to assure 90 per cent of parity to the farmer, but reduce the sale price of cotton through a sales tax on all textiles. He is considered probably the best informed individual in the nation on the needs and possible solutions from a legislative view, of the farm problem. This is his only appearance and statement on the farm problems during the current recess. The meeting, non-political in nature, is intended to assist farmers in reaching a decision as to current problems.

The Vera 4-H Club met recently and elected the following officers to serve for the school year: President, June Fuller; Vice President, Marianne Coffman; Secretary, Lynette Fuller; Delegate, Melba Ritchie and Reporter, Fredia Wiles. Twenty two members were present.

Mrs. Nora Broach was a business visitor in Wichita Falls last Monday.

ADD LIFE TO SPRINKLER IRRIGATION EQUIPMENT BY PROPER MAINTENANCE

The useful life of sprinkler irrigation equipment can be extended through proper maintenance. Bob Thurmond, extension irrigation specialist, says as soon as the irrigating season is over, it is time to do some of the maintenance jobs.

He says the engines should be checked by a qualified mechanic and if the pumping units are left in the field over winter, they should be covered by a water-proof tarpaulin or a suitable structure. Special care should be taken to see that no moisture enters the exhaust pipes of internal combustion engines.

Impellers and seal rings on centrifugal pumps should be checked. Sprinkler heads should be removed and checked for excessive wear and repairs made if needed. Gaskets should be inspected and all sand or packed soil removed.

He advises storing pipe on racks well above the ground and in the colder areas of the state prefers indoor storage. If pipe is left in the field during freezing weather, it should completely drained after use. Buried lines must have complete draining facilities in colder areas unless they are buried below the frost line.

If fertilizer is applied through sprinkler systems, he says make sure all equipment is thoroughly flushed and is clean before shutting down. Should corrosion be detected in any part of the system, he advises getting in touch immediately with the supplier. If corrosion is detected early, several remedial steps can be taken to stop the damage.

The investment in a properly equipped sprinkler is a heavy one and deserves to be protected not only for extending its useful life but also to get the most efficiency from its use, says Thurmond.

FIXIN-UP TIPS
For the Home

Install Low-Cost Soffits
IN BUILDING a house, it's smart to include products which will serve better than the material replaced. A good example is the surfacing of soffits on the under sides of eaves, porch or breezeway ceilings and carport ceilings.

Many home builders have discovered that they can utilize low-cost Masonite Panelwood or Standard Presdwood in preference to the customary material. The high moisture-resistance of Panelwood, Presdwood or Tempered Presdwood and their ability to take excellent finishes qualify these hardboards for such applications.

An added advantage is that all three products may be obtained factory-primed. At a minor premium in cost, primed hardboards can be installed and finish-painted at a lower cost than the unprimed product.

A new hardboard, Panelgroove, is becoming popular for soffit installations. It has 1/2" wide grooves at intervals of four inches. The pattern is extremely attractive.

Many older houses have open roof overhangs. Their appearance can be greatly improved by the installation of Presdwood soffits, as described in the illustration. This project is one way to participate in Operation Home Improvement.

The Business Of Not Raising Hogs

Is history repeating itself, again? A certain "famous" letter is back in circulation again which would indicate we are completing another agricultural cycle.

Back when Henry Wallace was Secretary of Agriculture, one Ramon Ortiz de la Munoz inquired about the possibility of "not raising hogs". The letter appeared again recently in the Gorman Progress in Eastland County and, in these days of soil bank when it is profitable not to raise wheat and cotton, it has a very timely note. Here is the letter:

Amigo Mior:

My amigo, Pedro in Brazoria County received a check for $1,000 from the government this year for not raising hogs. So I am going into the "not raising hog business" next year.

What I want to know is, in your opinion, what is the best kind of farm not to raise hogs on and the best kind of hogs not to raise? I would prefer not to raise razor-backs, but if that is not a good breed not to raise, I will just as gladly not raise any Berkshires, Durocs or Poland China.

The hardest work in this business is going to be in keeping on how many hogs I haven't raised.

My Amigo Pedro is very joyful about the future of this business. He has been raising hogs for more than 20 years and the best he ever made was $400 back in 1918, until this year, when he got a thousand dollars for not raising hogs.

If I can get $1000 for not raising 50 hogs, then I will get $2,000 for not raising 100 hogs, etc. I plan to operate on a small scale at first, holding myself down to about 4,000 hogs, which means I will have $80,000.

Now, one other thing. These hogs I will not raise will not eat 1,000,000 bushels of corn. I understand that you also pay farms for not raising corn. So will you pay me anything for not raising corn not to feed the hogs I am not raising?

I want to get started as soon as possible as this seems to be a good time of the year for not raising hogs.

Your truly, Ramon Ortiz de la Munoz P. S. Can I raise 10 or 12 hogs on the side while I am in the business of not raising hogs? Just enough to get a few sides of bacon to eat?

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Title Check Essential In Buying Home

Thinking of buying a new home? How will you know whether you are receiving a good title to the property you purchase? The safest method is to have a title examination made—that is, a careful study of the abstract and other title evidence.

Here are a few of the common sources of trouble in real estate transactions to show why the minor expense of a title examination is justified.

Many persons sign "earnest money contracts" believing that they are mere receipts with no serious implications. In reality they may specify, among other things, the kind of title you must accept.

A "warranty deed" from a responsible seller is comforting to have but it is a poor substitute for a careful title examination. A warranty deed does not guarantee a marketable title.

Moreover, serious title defects may not come to light until long after the seller on a warranty deed is dead, has moved to an unknown address, or is bankrupt. Even if he is available a good title is much better than a law suit.

The fact that the seller has possession of an "abstract" does not mean that he owns the property. An abstract is only a history of a title. Possession of an abstract no more indicates ownership of land than possession of the history of Texas means that you own the state.

Some purchasers of land feel safe because the title is being examined at the time of purchase by an attorney for the mortgage lenders. This seems logical but is a dangerous theory. Mortgage lenders are sometimes willing to accept less than good record title as security. This is sound business for them because, among other reasons, the chances are that the mortgage will be paid off so that no expense in perfecting the title would ever need be incurred. It is risky business for you when you are putting your life savings into the purchase.

These are a few of the reasons why a title examination is an important safeguard to you. When it is completed, the attorney gives you a written opinion stating his conclusions as to who owns the land, the defects in or charges against such ownership, and the requirements to be met if any, to make good record title.

Off-hand this may seem a simple operation. In fact it is not. It requires the interpretation of numerous deeds, mortgages, wills, court decrees and other instruments; the consideration of the order in which transactions and events affecting the title occurred; and the application of statutes and court decisions to the various situations disclosed in the abstract.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

Mexican Cattlemen May Buy Southwest Heifers

It was learned at Fort Worth this week that "big news" might come momentarily from Mexico with regard to the proposal of the Sonora, Mexico, Cattlemen's Association that they buy from 50,000 to 100,000 high quality cattle. Efforts to get money through the Export-Import Bank for the purchase have been underway for some months.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson announced a combined mission of the U.S.D.A. and the Export-Import Bank would leave Washington October 2 for meetings in Mexico in an effort to push the plan through.

It was hoped at Fort Worth that the loan could be arranged in time for the Mexican buyers to attend the special Hereford stocker and feeder sale on the Fort Worth stockyards October 19. Heifer calves and yearlings have been on sale this season due to the dry conditions in the Southwest and it was felt that this outlet could enable the Mexican stockmen to buy some of the better commercial heifers and heifer calves at prices that would be favorable to both they and the south ridden cattlemen of this section.

Officials of the Texas Hereford Association initiated the move when it became known that the Sonora ranchers wanted these stocker heifers. Since that time an effort has been joined by cattlemen and cattle associations over the west.

While it was not considered likely that the loan could come through in time to enable the Mexicans to attend the October 19 sale at Fort Worth, it was announced by the Fort Worth Livestock Market Institute that if and when the financial arrangements completed the market interests here would be glad to give special events to enable the all and large cattlemen to show their stocker heifers to the buyers.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE!

from South of the border.

Cattle About Steady In Opening Session.

Most classes of cattle and calves were about steady at Fort Worth Monday, compared with the low close of the previous week. Fat cattle were scarce, and again the run comprised large numbers of aged cows. There was more activity on the good and choice quality stockers and feeders, and some sales indicated a little strength in that department.

One load of choice stocker calves from Love County, Oklahoma, sold with 360-pound steers at $20, and 332-pound heifer calves at $16.

Comparative prices: Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings $16.50-22.00; common and medium grades $10.00-16.00. Fat cows $8.50-11.00 and canners and cutters $5.00-8.50. Bulls $8.00-12.00. Good and choice slaughter calves $14.00-17.00, some heavy fancy baby beefs to $18 and above sparingly. Cull, common and medium kinds $7.00-13.50. Stocker steer calves $20.00 down; steer yearlings $17.50 down; stocker cows $7.00-10.50.

Feeder Lambs Tumble $1.00-2.00 Monday.

Northern outlets narrowed sharply at Fort Worth for lightweight Southwestern stocker and feeder lambs Monday as competition from Western feeders from the Western Plains and Eastern Slope of the Rockies became critical. Prices on stocker and feeder dropped $1 to $2 per hundred, the lighter weights off the most.

Slaughter kinds of sheep and lambs sold about steady. Good and choice slaughter lambs cashed at $17 to $19, while cull to medium sorts drew $10 to $16.50. Stocker and feeder lambs sold mostly from $4 to $5.50, with some slipwooled and fresh shorn canners down to the $3 to $4 bracket. Old bucks sold around $3.50 to $4.50. Old wethers were quoted from $8 to $12.50. Yearlings muttons were listed at $9 to $16.

Hogs Open Strong To 15 Cents Higher, Top $16.50

Choice meat hogs at Fort Worth Monday topped at $16.25 to $16.50, and the less desirable weights and kinds sold from $13 to $16. Sows sold from $13 to $14.50.

D. Burns, Jack Idol and William Bonner To Judge. Three of the six judges for the special stocker and feeder sale

'BIG VOICE' test in Gary, Ind., conducted by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, used to supplement sirens in heavily populated areas. The first such test in the nation took place on the opening day of Operation Alert 1956 with 32 loudspeakers in action. (Lewis & Martin Photos) at Fort Worth October 19 have accepted, according to Secretary Henry Elder of the Texas Hereford Association. D. Burns of the Pitchfork Land and Cattle Company, Guthrie (King County) Texas; Jack Idol, of the League Ranch, Benjamin (Knox County) Texas; and William Bonner, Gainesville (Cooke County) Texas, have accepted, and three more judges will be picked.

Handy Jim's Fix-Ups Tips For the Home

Add Space, Save Work

If HE chooses materials carefully, the man of the house who converts wasted attic space into an extra room can save himself work both at the time of installation and in the future. Using Marlite planks and blocks, which have tongue-and-groove edges, walls and ceilings can be covered in short order. The paneling can be applied over furring strips or a continuous base like plasterboard.

Since this paneling, made of Tempered Preswood, is already decorated with plain colors or wood grain patterns, no painting or finishing is necessary. What's more, its baked plastic finish not only resists soil and wear but needs no decorating later.

For design interest, an end wall may be covered with blocks to match planks on sidewalls, and planks of a different color used on the sloping ceiling.

Handy Wall Racks
ATTRACTIVE and handy wall racks for various household uses can be made easily from small pieces of Marlite paneling left over from a wall or ceiling installation.

Such a rack, made of a size to hold loose sheets of note paper, might be hung near the telephone. Or a rack for the telephone wall might be made for directories. Or one might prefer to design a rack to keep catalogs, magazines, mail or other articles easily accessible but out of the way.

Wood grain patterns in Marlite paneling are especially suitable for wall racks. Authentic reproductions of selected wood, they supply a distinctive touch in decoration and harmonize with a variety of backgrounds.

For a simple and interesting construction, the rack may be put together with leather or plastic lacing, threaded through holes in the pieces of paneling that form the rack. The predecorated paneling, made of Masonite tempered hardboard, can be drilled with a hand drill. Holes should be started on the finished side. Because of its baked plastic finish, the paneling needs no waxing. It can be damp-wiped clean.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Comes Out For The Right Of A Man To Stay Sitting If He Wants To

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses sitting down as opposed to working this week, one subject on which he must be an authority.

Dear editor:
I made a special trip into town yesterday to get hold of a newspaper to find out what my economic index was for this week. As I understand it, the government in Washington now knows more about whether a man is well off than he does himself and about every two weeks issues a set of figures showing whether the prosperity index is two points up or down, holding its own, etc., and while I have never able to get a bank to honor my checks on the strength of a jump upward in the economic index, still I like to get these reports.

According to this one, the country is now at its highest peak of prosperity in history, and while the figures have the same meaning to me that the figures showing the nation was at its healthiest peak in history would have to a man in the hospital, still I've always contended there was an advantage in being busted during prosperity instead of a depression. Even if you aren't inside the stadium watching the game, there's some satisfaction in hearing the cheers of the crowd and imagining what's going on.

But don't get the idea that I'm complaining. I know there are people in Washington who say if I'd get up and go to work, I'd be better off, but that's because whoever said that doesn't know how much pleasure there is in sitting where you are. At the moment, I'm writing this sitting under a shade tree watching the month of October unfold, and if anybody in Washington thinks I'd be happier if I leaped on my tractor and started stirring up the dust, he either likes dust better than I do or he hasn't got a calendar. Furthermore, there are people who also say if a lot of government people would get up and go to work, they'd be better off, or at least the country would, but I want it understood I'm perfectly neutral in this.

Whether a man gets up or sits, is a matter for him to decide, doesn't make any difference whether he's sitting out here on my farm or in a swivel chair in Washington. And as far as the country is concerned, it's about as well with some people sitting. There's nothing personal in this, but where were you when you read this?
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

News Of Munday F. F. A. Chapter

The Munday chapter, Future Farmers of America, are a very busy group of boys. They have brought their magazine subscription campaign to a successful close. Their quota was 192 subscriptions, and the boys surpassed this by getting a total of 206, which entitles them for first class premiums.

Robert Beck won first place, Jerry Jetton, second, and Joe Decker, third.

The boys and their adviser, E. R. Ponder, express their sincere thanks to all who gave them an order for magazines or newspaper. The orders have been sent air mail, and the magazines should be coming in a few weeks.

By securing their quota, the boys got to make the trip to the Dallas State Fair. Several saw the A&M-Texas Tech football game, and all seemed to enjoy the fair.

Now the boys are busy getting their FFA sweetheart elected. You may vote for your choice at a penny per vote, or you may also vote by subscribing to newspapers or magazines.

Officers of the chapter are: Robert Beck, president; Gayle Gulley, vice president; Joe Decker, secretary; Glenn Phillips, treasurer; David Rister, reporter; Tommy Cunningham, sentinel, and Mr. Ponder, adviser.

Mr. Ponder, Robert Beck and Gayle Gulley will attend the district meeting at Graham on October 11, when the district group will be organized.

MIXED ROUGHAGE NOT IN DROUGHT PROGRAM

Mr. Walter T. McKay, State Director, of the Farmers Home Administration has informed Wilburn A. Satterwhite, County Supervisor, concerning the eligibility of mixed roughage under the Drought Roughage Program.

The question has arisen over a great part of the State as to the inclusion of mixed roughage feeds in the Drought Roughage Grain Program.

For your information we are quoting a part of a memorandum Mr. McKay received from Mr. K. L. Scott of the Department of Agriculture regarding this point.

"We have given careful consideration to this and other requests to include mixtures of various roughages and other products, such as meals, molasses, proteins, etc., as eligible roughage and feel that to do so would bring about a conflict between the feed grain and roughage programs. Since the combinations we have considered to be more properly classified as mixed feeds rather than roughages, we can see no basis for their inclusion in our roughage programs."

"Don't give Fire a Place to Start" is the theme for the 1936 National Fire Prevention Week. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council says the objective can be accomplished if every family will take the time to do some checking in the home and in other buildings. Fire hazards should be spotted and removed, and they add, give the electrical system and the heating and cooking equipment a special check for all are prime contributors to building fires.

It's Wise To Plan Your Escape From Home Fires Early

You'd scream blue murder if the school your child attends failed to hold fire drills. But, have you planned how to leave—and live—if fire starts in your own home?

Plan escape routes from all parts of the house you regularly use—especially bedrooms, advises the National Fire Protection Association.

Windows, porch roofs, ladders, back stairs and outside fire escapes, says the Association, are some of the escape means that you must be ready to use when normal exits are blocked.

Arrange for practical ways to rescue small children, aged and sick persons.

Once out, keep track of the children—make certain they do not re-enter the house.

ROBERT ANDERSON'S ARE PARENTS OF SON

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Anderson of 3930 Lynwood Lane, Abilene, are announcing the arrival of a son on Wednesday morning, October 10, 1936. He weighed 6½ pounds and has been named Robert Clinton. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Anderson, Sr., of Bonham and Mrs. George Hammett of Munday.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sloan and daughters of Midland were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mitchell, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Borden visited Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Borden and Little Joe in Midland over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Baker of Amarillo visited relatives and friends here and Gorce over the week end.

The USDA has released a list of 23 varieties of wheat which are classed as undesirable because of inferior milling or baking qualities. They will be discounted 20 cents per bushel in price-support rates on the 1937 wheat crop.
