THOSE FARM EQUIPMENT PRICES

Farm machinery prices have risen each year since 1949, except for 1943. That fact has caused much discussion—some of it highly acrimonious. So an explanation of what has happened and why it has happened should be of interest to farmers everywhere in this age of highly mechanized agriculture.

That explanation has been provided by two members of the Department of Agricultural Economics of Purdue University. The primary causes of the price rises are two: First, increases in the costs of labor and steel, the most expensive items used in making machinery and, second, costs of development and improvement in the quality of the machinery.

At the same time, the equipment producers have made notable strides in increasing the efficiency of production—and those strides have held the price increases to lower levels than would have been necessary otherwise. That story is told by the statistics. Hourly wages of workers in the farm machinery industry were 2.8 times as high in September, 1956, as in 1949, and iron and steel prices were about 2.5 times as high. However, wholesale prices of farm machinery were only 1.9 times as high.

As these Purdue authorities state, "When this or any other industry has to pay more for its major cost items, there is little it can do but raise the price of its products unless the rises can be offset by operating efficiencies." The equipment makers have adopted every operating efficiency possible, and so have kept price rises to a minimum figure.

REVENGE!

February 25th marked an important anniversary. But it wasn't one that was received with cheers. It was the 44th anniversary of the federal income tax.

A look backward is in order. In 1913, in the tax's infancy, the normal rate was one per cent and the highest at surtax was six per cent.

Today the tax starts at 20 per cent, on the lowest taxable incomes, and rises to a high of 91 per cent.

The Portland Oregonian makes this wry, and apt comment: "We didn't invent the income tax. . . . The British started using it to support their military campaigns in the late 1700s, shortly after we licked them at Yorktown and won our independence. Well, they have their revenge."

COVETOUS EYES ON THE ATOM

The public-power groups, naturally enough, have covetous eyes on the atom. They would like to see the development of atomic energy for peace-time purposes monopolized by a government agency—a sort of atomic-TVA on a grand scale.

As part of their campaign, they argue that the U. S. is a laggard in atomic research and development. As the clincher, they now point to the fact that Britain has a commercial atomic electric plant in operation, while we do not.

As is often true with such socialistic arguments, this deals in a highly capricious manner with the facts and the background of the situation. England does have an atomic electric plant—but many top authorities do not think that it is an economical or efficient type, and they do think that it may become obsolete comparatively soon. England built the plant for one reason—her extremely serious shortage of conventional sources of energy, such as coal and oil. In other words, she had to develop power from the atom in a hurry, all other considerations notwithstanding. She had no choice.

The U. S., by contrast, has an abundance of conventional fuels. As a consequence, we can devote the necessary time to experimenting with atomic reactors of many varied types, in order to find those which are cheapest, safest, and best in all ways. That is what is going on. And that is what will assure us leadership in sound peace-time development of atomic energy—providing the public ownership issue does not set up too many road blocks.

LONG SHADOW

There is one phase of the tax problem which deserves more attention than it has been getting. That is what excessive taxation will do to future employment and opportunity in this country.

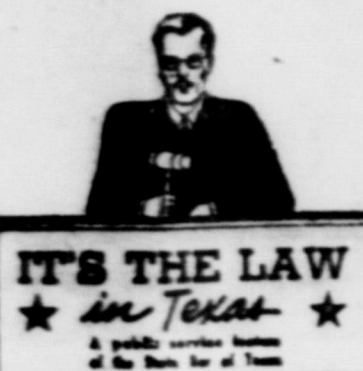

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has pointed out that our labor force is growing by almost 1.5 million people a year. But, he says, if the government keeps on taking as much money out of the economy as it does now, there won't be sufficient capital available to pay for the industrial expansion needed to create jobs for all these new workers.

The tax problem isn't just limited to how much we must pay this year or next. It is casting a long shadow on our children's future.

WATCH YOUR HAT, COAT

The sign over the coat rack read: "Not responsible for lost or stolen articles." John glanced at it as he hung up his coat and hat and then turned to assist Jean, his wife, in taking off her fur coat. He put it on a hanger beside his own.

The two of them drifted casually down the corridor into the dining salon and were assigned to a table by the hostess. The lunch was exceptionally good and both were hungry. The minutes flew by. John glanced at his watch. "Golly, it's almost 1 o'clock. Better get going." But when they got back to the coat rack, Jean's fur coat was gone.

"I'm sorry, sir," said the manager, "but we are not responsible for lost articles. We put up the coat rack for the convenience of our patrons, but that sign you see makes you responsible for your own hat and coat. I'm awfully sorry, but we just can't watch everybody's possessions." Sign Not Factor

The fact is that in the case of Jean's fur coat the restaurant would not have been responsible for its loss even if there had been no sign. One who takes off a garment and places it on a coat rack, as one would do in a restaurant, retains the power of surveillance and control over it himself.

Ordinarily under such circumstances, the operators of the restaurant have no responsibility toward the customer's belongings because they have not knowingly received the exclusive possession and dominion over them.

The case would be different, however, where the coat had been delivered to an employee in a checkroom. In such event, the management probably would be responsible. So, also, in the cases where a customer checks valuables with a bathing house proprietor, or with a hotel desk clerk, or leaves his automobile with the parking lot attendant to be parked and stored for him, those receiving possession of the customer's property have the duty to use proper care to see that the customer's property is returned. Who rates what for performance and smoother riding in the low-priced three? Chevrolet has laid the answer and the proof on the line!

First, Chevrolet won the Auto Decathlon over every car in its field, and over the higher priced cars that were tested, too. This rugged ten-way test (right, below) showed Chevrolet was the champ in handling ease, braking, acceleration, passing ability, smoothness of ride and other driving qualities you want in a car.

Then, Chevy won the Pure Oil Performance Trophy at Daytona (left, below) as "best performing U. S. automobile."

It's quite a feeling to know that you are driving a car that performs so well, responds so beautifully and is so finely built. You feel proud, of course. But you also enjoy a surer, smoother, steadier way of going, a keen cat-quick response of power, and the easiest handling you've ever experienced behind a wheel. Just try this Chevrolet (V8 or Six) and see!

Recipes . . . Household Helps

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Prices are edging upward but beef is in good supply and is always a smart buy. Supplies of Prime, Choice and Good beef are much larger than usual so prices of this top quality are not too much higher than other beef.

How can you make sure of the quality of beef you're getting? Look for the United States Department of Agriculture grade marks. On packaged meat the grade mark is usually on the label along with price and weight. On beef cut by the butcher according to your order, the grade mark is stamped on the carcass with a harmless purple ink. Top grade of beef, U. S. Prime, is so popular with speciality restaurants and steak houses only a small supply goes to retail outlets. The second grade, U. S. Choice, is readily found in most markets. The third grade, U. S. Good, is also found in most markets and is a top grade beef. It carries less fat than Prime or Choice.

Cook more tender cuts of beef by dry heat methods. These methods include roasting, broiling and pan-broiling and the more tender cuts include rib, loin and rump roasts; sirloin, porterhouse, club, rib, T-bone, tenderloin and ground steaks.

Cook less tender cuts of beef by moist heat methods. These methods include braising and stewing and the less tender cuts include neck, shank, chuck, brisket, short ribs, round, heart and liver.

A beef roast is one of the easiest of meat dishes to prepare and certainly one of the most popular. Just place the roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Do not add water and do not cover the pan. Roast in a 325 degree F. oven for length of time according to desired doneness and size of the roast. A six to eight pound standing rib roast will require 22 to 25 minutes per pound for medium doneness. A five to seven pounds rump roast will require 20 to 22 minutes per pound for medium doneness.

Searing is not necessary for a roast. Contrary to what was once a popular belief, searing does not "seal in the juices." Searing develops flavor and a browner color on outside slices, but the high temperature for searing draws juice from the meat and causes greater shrinkage. When braising or stewing meats, searing is advisable so the liquid or gravy will have a rich brown color and any juice drawn from the meat is not lost, for it goes into the liquid or gravy.

Recipe Of The Week

De Luxe Hamburger Steaks: Saute 1 cup chopped onion in 1/4 cup bacon drippings. Combine 1 pound ground beef, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1/4 cup catsup. Shape the meat mixture into 8 flat patties. Top 4 patties with sauted onion, then with another patty, pressing edges of patties together to seal. Wrap each double patty with 1 slice bacon, fastening the bacon with a toothpick. Place the patties on a cold broiler grid. Broil them 3 inches from a full gas flame 15 minutes. Turn and continue broiling 10 minutes.

News From The U. S. Congress

The most important reason that we must win the current "battle of the Budget" is to be able to bring some real tax relief in the annual oppressive tax levies which are now imposed on the people of the country. We here in Congress must accept the responsibility of materially reducing the expenditures proposed in the President's Budget. The reductions that we make must be sufficient to enable us to commence a program of general tax reduction and still keep the operation of our Government on a sound fiscal basis. Tax relief must be given both to individuals and to business, but it must be given in a responsible way. We cannot with any seriousness speak of tax reduction unless our expenditures are substantially reduced. It seems to me that now is the time, this year, to make the reductions that are necessary for us to start a general program of tax reduction. We cannot expect either individuals or business to endure for much longer the highly oppressive tax rates with which we are now saddled. People cannot be expected to continue to pay high special taxes that were imposed during World War II and the Korean War for an indefinite period. As far as the Budget receipts are concerned, we have been in a dangerous upward trend. The total Budget receipts for the fiscal year 1956 were 68.1 Billion Dollars. The estimate for 1957 is 70.6 Billion Dollars, and the 1958 estimate is 73.6 Billion Dollars. These vast sums taken in taxes from the earnings of the American people have generated many inequities and hardships. There can be no question but what tax relief is necessary. Almost any segment of our economy can make an excellent case for tax relief and point to hardships that are worked on them by the present tax laws; however, there can be little argument but what the first tax relief granted by Congress should be for the benefit of the individual tax payer.

A visitor from Wichita Falls this week was Mr. R. Marvin Pierce.

Comanche county was named for the Indian tribe whose warriors have been declared the greatest horsemen of all the red men. They were fierce in battle and many a time their war-whoop rang out on the air and many a fight was waged on Comanche County soil. The Comanches were especially skilled in driving off the settlers' horses. Bigfoot Wallace said that the Comanches were such skillful horse-thieves that they could almost steal a horse from a corral that didn't have one in it.

In Mrs. Eulalia Nabers Wells' excellent history, "Blazing the Way", many interesting facts and happenings are recorded—such as:

Indian raids took place from 1857 to 1873, which later was the year that the Comanche Chief was established. The Chief is not only Comanche's oldest business establishment but it is the oldest newspaper published west of Fort Worth.

A postoffice was established in Comanche in 1860 and the mail came once a week in a two-wheel gig from Gatesville.

The first justice of the peace at Sipe Springs—so the story goes—had two marriage ceremonies to perform, but they were in different directions so he deputized a man to perform one of them for him. Another early-day justice of the peace at Sipe Springs said he was in office a year and a half before he learned that he did not have the authority to go over into Eastland County and marry a couple.

In the days of danger from the Indians, there was a pioneer minister who often preached with two revolvers belted around him and his gun within reach.

Why doesn't someone paint a picture of such a scene of worship that used to be in the school-room when I was a boy, and I imagine it still is—showing the Pilgrim Fathers on the way to church with their guns over their shoulders?

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burnison and little granddaughter, Debra Anderson of Clovis, N. M., left last Thursday for several days visit with relatives in Houston.

About That Happy Brown Family—

By Frank X. Tolbert
in The Dallas Morning News

People all over the nation are indignant that the 91 travellers saved from the terrible Panhandle blizzard by the Andy Brown family paid only $171 for their weekend accommodations.

"I think it's ridiculous that these 91 persons, whose lives were saved by the Brown and who were fed and housed by the family, could raise only $171 or so for the imposition they made," a Dallas man called The News. "It grieves me that 91 people could have so little generosity."

We talked with Andrew Starland Brown, 38, who works his uncle's 1,100-acre farm near Jericho on the Donley-Gray Counties line. Mr. Brown, who has had nine straight crop failures, first read us a poem by one Robert Davis which he said "comes pretty close to expressing the philosophy of Melba (his retty wife) and myself." They're having the poem framed to hang up in the living room. It goes like this:

"I thank Thee Lord for strength of arm to win my bread.
And that beyond my need is meat for friend unfed.
I thank Thee much for bread to live.
I thank Thee more for bread to give."

The Brown's new living-room rug was damaged by the trappings of 91 pairs of wet feet. "We're not worried about our rug," said Mr. Brown. "When we look at those hoof prints and water spots on it we get pleasant memories of the 91 new friends we made last weekend. Andy Brown comes of pioneer Panhandle stock and he was born in the now famous 7-room farmhouse in which the 91 strangers sought shelter from the killing cold.

"We didn't expect any money from our guests last weekend," said Mr. Brown. "A lot of those folks were probably in pretty bad financial shape, anyway. We're getting letters and telegrams and phone calls from all over the country. Dave Garroway called the other morning."

Andy Brown said: "Yesterday a lady from the East had a flat near Groom. She asked the garage man who fixed the flat if he knew me. Then she gave him $3 to pass on to us to pay for cleaning our rug. There are sure lots of good people in this world." Andy said that an Indianapolis, Ind., rug cleaning firm wired that they were air-mailing a preparation to clean the rug.

"I'll kind of hate to clean all the hoof prints off that rug," said he.

ABOUT YOUR CAR

Want television in your car? One West Coast mogul has it. He also has a built-in tape recorder, a collapsible and a portable desk with typewriter. This is all in the back seat. In the front he has a retractable phonograph and a dashboard indicating everything from altitude to the number of gallons left in the gas tank.

The number of cars in the U. S. has increased five times as fast as the population in the last ten years. In 1957 more than 65 million cars will be registered. About 60 per cent of them will be in the three-to-nine-year age bracket.

A tip from the Automobile Seat Cover Manufacturers Association to protect your car's upholstery against the sun's wear of picnics and beach outings this spring, take the following steps now: 1) Install seat covers or see to it that the present covers fit as tightly as possible. A loose fit is the greatest cause of premature wear and tear. 2) Invest in a soft sponge now and use it to clean out accumulated dirt particles that cause abrasion. 3) Get floor pads which will gather 80% of the dirt and can be easily shaken out before the particles work their way into the rest of the car.

Remember the old hand throttle? You used to pull it out on long trips so you could take a rest from pushing that gas pedal. Now there's a device that attaches to the steering column and presses down your gas pedal with a flick of the wrist. New improvement: when you step on the brakes, the device automatically lets go of the gas pedal and permits the motor to idle.

Ever have trouble getting at a road map, spreading it out and pinpointing your route? No more of that says the Automobile Seat Cover Manufacturers Association which takes a special interest in everything that concerns the car's interior. A new holder which attaches to the sun visor permits you to unroll a map like window shade. Let go and it gently rolls back into place.

Landowners Can Get Assistance On Windbreak Trees

COLLEGE STATION—West Texas landowners can get assistance in planting windbreak trees through the Conservation Reserve portion of the Soil Bank Act, according to Don Young, head, Forest Management Department of the Texas Forest Service. The deadline for entering contracts for the Conservation Reserve in 1957 is April 15.

"Acreage removed from production of soil bank base crops can be planted to windbreak trees and landowners can receive $8 to $13 per acre in annual rental payments for the 10 year length of contract, Young said. In addition, the federal government will pay up to 80 per cent of the cost of purchasing and planting the trees.

"In the West Texas region, such tree species as Austrian pine, Chinese elm, honey locust, and red cedar, to name a few, may be planted, Young stated.

Conservation Reserve specifications call for a minimum of three rows of trees planted 6 to 12 feet apart with the rows between 8 to 25 feet 25 feet apart.

"Windbreak species will be available for the planting season commencing in December, 1957, through the Texas Forest Service," Young added.

West Texas landowners interested in establishing farmstead or field windbreaks through the Soil Bank Program are urged to contact the A. S. C. committee in the county in which their lands are located.

Longfellow's "The Day is Done." Evelyn Bellinghausen and Marilyn Albus won second place in spelling. Jerry Bellinghausen will enter the regional meet in Lubbock on April 13.

Miss Kittie McElroy is teacher of English and speech at Rhineland.

For Safety Be A Plus Driver

"Be a 'plus' driver. Offset the other fellow's blunders by your defensive tactics!"

This advice was given to motorists today by J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, as he urged them to cooperate fully with the defensive driving program of TSA throughout March.

This program is part of the Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents campaign designed to cut down the 1957 traffic toll. The spring phase of Back the Attack places emphasis on the responsibility of the driver for his own and others' safety.

"Many of the cases that come before the courts concern accidents that need never have happened," Musick said. "If the 'innocent' party in the accident had foreseen the danger in time, had known what to do, and had done it quickly, there might not have been an accident."

He pointed out that the driver's responsibility goes further than driving safely himself, knowing and obeying traffic laws, keeping his car in good mechanical condition, and driving only when he is in good physical condition.

"A driver might do all these things and still be involved in an accident through the unsafe behavior of a pedestrian or another driver," Musick said. "The 'plus' driver goes a step further. He is constantly alert to the accident potential of pedestrians, other drivers, and traffic and weather conditions. He is aware of the types of hazards they may suddenly present and is prepared to combat them.

THE MUNDAY TIMES

By John C. White, Commissioner

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

The Texas Department of Agriculture is 50 years old this month. Voted into existence by the Texas Legislature in January of 1907 to become operative in March of that year, the original agency had four employes whose duty was nothing more than to organize farmers' institutes over the state to keep alive agricultural interests. Future sessions of the legislature broadened the scope of activities and established greater powers for the protection and furtherance of Texas agriculture.

Today, 50 years after its inception as a bureau of limited function, the Texas Department of Agriculture is a major state agency charged with the administration of agricultural laws and providing services to all Texans through its many and varied duties.

To carry out the numerous and important tasks of the department there are now some 140 employes with the Commissioner of Agriculture as head.

Briefly, the Texas Department of Agriculture serves to keep open the channels of trade within and without the state for Texas farm products.

It promotes, fosters and encourages expansion of Texas agricultural industry through recognized inspection procedures such as quarantine control measures against certain plant diseases and pests; makes available to farmers and seedsmen better planting seed, both registered and certified; protects the entire public through inspection services from fraudulent and dishonest weighing and measuring devices; prevents operation of improper nursery, floral and other agricultural businesses through licensing, registration and inspection; provides market news reports of primary benefit to the farmer; and expands and develops better markets for Texas

Dallas Plans Welcome For Metropolitan Opera Stars

These are four of the train load of celebrated singing stars, conductors, orchestra, chorus and ballet to be brought from New York for Dallas' civic-sponsored Metropolitan Opera season in State Fair Auditorium May 10 to 12. The Dallas Grand Opera Association, composed of 135 civic leaders, has opened offices at 1315 Elm St. to receive reservations from Southwestern opera lovers for the four gala performances. The season and its illustrious stars will be: May 10 evening, "Il Trovatore," with Zinka Milanov, Jean Madeira, Kurt Baum and Leonard Warren; May 11 matinee, "La Boheme," with Lucine Amara, Laurel Hurley, Jussi Bjorling and Frank Guarrera; May 11 evening, "La Traviata," with Renata Tebaldi, Giuseppe Campora and Ettore Bastianini; Sunday, May 12, matinee, "La Perichole," with Patrice Munsel, Cyril Ritchard and Theodor Uppman.

straight year that the Texas State Chiropractic Association has sponsored the observance of Posture Week in Texas. The purpose of Correct Posture Week, the sponsors said, was to stress to the public the importance of good posture and good health and the relationship of the spine to good posture. A survey recently completed shows that at least 75 per cent of the people have imperfect distribution of weight between the right and left sides, the regional chairman said. "Imperfect body balance is conducive to many nerve irritations and strains," he said. "For correct body balance the spinal column must be a straight line between the base of the skull and the pelvis, and true body balance must be preserved in order to avoid unnecessary nerve irritations."

agricultural products. It is the only major state agency established by statute and is one of the few independent farm agencies remaining in the United States. Through reorganization plans carried out in the last few years, the Texas Department of Agriculture has become more self-sustaining in order to provide more services to more Texans at less general cost than at any time in its entire 50-year history.

Cow Cattle For brought ket or day at the m ever, a alty steady cents than t Fed in sm

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

Cows Weaken, Other Cattle Calves Steady

FORT WORTH—Clearing skies brought considerably larger numbers of cattle and calves to market on the opening session Monday at Fort Worth and all round the major marketing circle. However, at Fort Worth the only casualty was cows which opened steady, but later sales were 50 cents and some bids $1 lower than the extreme highs last week. Fed mature cattle were again in small supply, however, rather liberal numbers of lightweight fed yearlings and fed heavy calves arrived, and met firm prices as most slaughter interests apparently needed some members. High grade stockers were again scarce, but quality considered sales in this category were fully steady to strong.

Comparative prices: good and choice steers and yearlings $18.50-23.00; common and medium $13.00-18.00; fed heifers $22.00 down; fat cows $12.00-14.50; canners and cutters $9.00-12.50; bulls $10.00-15.00; good and choice slaughter calves $18.00-22.25; medium and lower grades $12.00-17.00. Stocker steer calves $22.00 down; steer yearlings $20.50 down; a few medium to fair stocker cows at $10.00-13.00; some load lots of rather agey cows at $12.00 had 200 to 300-pound calves at side at $21.

Lots Of Talk About Stock Cows, Little Action.
To date this season the stocker cows trade has been more of a conversation piece, and most of the trade has centered around the steer calves and steer yearlings. Pasture recovery has been very rapid in some sections, but others need more rain immediately a factor that makes the purchase of replacement females for farms and ranches still an "iffy" matter.

Possible consignors to the special sale of stocker cows and pairs at the Fort Worth yards April 12 are still "on the fence" in many cases, since the cattle they want to sell this Spring are in many cases making the best gains in years and they find it hard to pull them off the new green feed.

Two potential entries, one of 500 to 600 cows, and the other with 600 to 700 head, are in this category at this writing and if they definitely come in, it could represent two of the largest strings of one mark and brand cows to be sold at one time in this part of the country in years.

Worth Monday, and most of the young folks had done a good and profitable job, despite adverse conditions in the drought.

The 231 shorn Lometa F. F. A. and 4-H lambs cashed at $21 and $18. The Lampasas F. F. A. and 4-H lambs, 447 head, also cashed at $21 and $18.

Knox County F. F. A. and 4-H lambs cashed at $21.50 and $22. County Agent Roy England of Knox County reported the boys bought their lambs at $16.50 last November in Coleman County, so the price Monday gave them a good spread and some of them nice profits. One boy had a 60-pound gain in his lambs.

England reported the lamb project proved especially profitable where the boys worked in conjunction with irrigated wheat pasture. He said that some of the grown-ups in Knox County had been so profoundly impressed with the project they planned to launch similar operations.

Sheep, Lambs Slow and Weak, Milk Lambs $23.50 Down.

Trade was rather slow and prices weak at Fort Worth Monday on sheep and lambs with some bids and sales of stocker and feeder lambs sharply lower, and all classes selling in line with last week's sharp break in prices.

Good and choice milk fat lambs $22.00-23.50; cull to medium milk lambs $15.00-20.00. Good and choice old crop lambs $20.00-22.00, with cull to medium kinds $12.00-19.00, and a few hard culls below that range. Slaughter ewes sold from $5.00-7.00. Old bucks around $5.00. Aged wethers $13.00 down.

Hogs Open Weak To 25c Lower, Top $17.75.

Larger receipts of hogs at Cornbelts points Monday dampened the ardor of the buyers at Fort Worth Monday and prices were steady to 25 cents lower. Choice hogs topped at $17.25-17.50, a few to $17.75. Less desirable weights and grades $15.00-17.00; sows $14.50-15.75; and pigs around $12.00.

Deferred Grazing Described As Top Range Practice

Deferred grazing can give the good perennial range grasses the boost they now need for survival, declares A. H. Walker, extension range specialist.

In some areas of the state, such grasses as sideoats gramma, little bluestem and switchgrass are now making seed. This situation, according to Walker, is most unusual since these grasses normally produce seed in the fall. Overgrazing and the prolonged drouth have interfered with the normal growth habits of the range plants and "mother nature" is doing her best to reseed the ranges. Give her a chance to succeed by deferring as much range now as is possible, advises Walker, for the improved moisture situation should materially add to the benefits to be derived from deferred grazing.

Grasses need top growth to make root growth, and because of the drouth, root systems are far below normal and need time to get re-established. Walker believes that ranchmen generally should be able to rest at least a fourth of their range without overstocking the remainder. He emphasizes that it is better to remove all stock from a pasture than to stock lightly. A few animals can graze off the good plants left and keep them from making seed.

of 34.5 gravity oil with 33 1/3 per cent water for No. 7 J. K. Johnson, 1 1/2 miles southwest of Benjamin, to drill to 2700 feet.

R. Clay Underwood No. 1 R. C. Hamilton, in the same area, will go to 2600 feet.

A failure for a deep wildcat venture was reported when Charles Grace Drilling Co. abandoned at 5612 feet No. 1 Elizabeth Friske, nine miles north of Munday.

Walker suggests that the best conditioned pastures be rested first. On these will be found more of the good grasses and their recovery will be faster. The rest period will vary, he says, but the longer the better or until the good grasses have produced a seed crop. Graze the deferred pastures moderately during the winter, he advises, in order to plant the seed and distribute the litter.

As for reseeding, Walker says, if as much as 15 percent of the good or key grasses are left on the range, defer rather than reseed. Reseeding is expensive and hazardous and requires some types seedbed preparation, he says. And, too, reseeded ranges must be rested. His advice, don't reseed but give the pastures a year's rest and see what happens. Local county agents can supply information on how to help the range recovery program along.
