CHARACTERISTICS OF RETAIL TRADE

A discussion of the economic characteristics of retail trade, by Jules Backman, Professor of Economics at New York University, is of general interest today, in the light of proposals to extend the federal minimum wage laws to all or a large part of retailing.

First of all, he points out, retailing is essentially local in nature. Regardless of the size of the store, its activities are centered in a relatively small area.

Second, retail stores usually are relatively small both in size and volume of business. For instance, a chain store system may be a big business . . . but its individual outlets are not. Their volume of business is often in line with that of independent stores operating in the local area. And they must compete locally.

He then explains that employment in retail trade also has certain special characteristics. While retailing offers relatively stable opportunities for the basic full-time staff, it also provides a marked amount of seasonal employment. It employs large numbers of part-time employees and young and inexperienced workers, whose services are of comparatively small value. And, finally, wage rates are determined by local factors . . . a statement that is as true of chain outlets as of any other type of store.

These facts indicate why retailing and other service enterprises of a local nature have been exempt from the federal wage-hour laws during their entire existence. They indicate why that exemption should be continued, and regulation left to the states.

"A HITLER TACTIC"

Opponents of right-to-work laws (which simply say that a man can join a union if he wants to and can refrain from joining if that is what he wants, and that in either case he can work at his job free from coercion by union official or employer) argue that they are anti-labor, and that those who advocate them are trying to undermine the labor movement.

In this connection, a remark by Senator Goldwater is apt. He recalled that the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was one of the greatest friends of labor ever to occupy the White House, stated his absolute opposition to the requirement that a man must join a union, and characterized it as "a Hitler tactic." And that is precisely what it is.

BIG BUDGET QUIZ

The quiz show has become one of the phenomena of the times. Television is now crowded with programs in which contestants can win all manner of prizes if they are able to answer enough questions correctly.

The Citizens Committee for The Hoover Report also has produced a quiz. It involves billions of dollars . . . some of which comes out of your own pockets. It is called the "Big Budget" quiz . . . and here are the questions and answers.

1. How much is the government's proposed budget for fiscal 1958? The answer: $71,800,000,000.
2. How long would it take you, an individual citizen, to spend this sum at the rate of $100,000 a day? The answer: Nearly 2,000 years.
3. Has the government ever spent more in a single year? The answer: Only in wartime.
4. How does the 1958 budget compare with federal spending 20 years ago? The answer: 1,000 per cent increase.
5. What will 1958 budget costs mean to families and individuals? The answer: $1,400 per average American family, or $427 per capita.
6. How high is the national debt now? The answer: $274,000,000,000.
7. What is the average family's share of this debt? The answer: $7,000.
8. What was the average family's share 20 years ago? The answer: Less than $1,100.
9. The Hoover Report points to eventual savings of $5,000,000,000 yearly. What would this mean in savings per average family? The answer: $100 a year.
10. Who must move for action on the Hoover Report? The answer: Congress, the Administration . . . and You!

The electric industry is currently spending $2 million a day for plant expansion and new facilities.

IMPORTED FIRE ANTS THREATEN TEXAS

Imported fire ants, native South American pests, have become a present problem and a serious threat to Texas farmers.

The ants now live in the Southern states in a line from Florida eastward, infesting in their final course an area in Southeast Texas from the Louisiana border to Houston.

The imported fire ants is noted for the fierceness of its attack. Its painful sting can cause boil-like sores on humans and severely injure animals. They aggressively attack small animals in numbers and have killed new-born calves on the farm.

Their damage extends from poultry, livestock and wildlife to all types of plant life. Feeding both above and below the ground, they seriously damage many vegetable crops. They injure pasture grasses, cereal and forage crops, nursery stock, and fruit trees.

Imported fire ants are easy to detect by the mounds that they build—reaching up to two feet in height and three feet in diameter. The huge, hard-crust mounds mar lawns, damage pasture lands and interfere with cultivating, mowing, and harvesting machinery.

Entomologists have said the ants are at their worst as a nuisance, hampering all types of farm operations. In heavily infested fields, it is difficult for cotton pickers and their farm labor to work.

The tiny fire ants at present have covered only a relatively small part of Texas, but the continued growth of their population since introduction into this country some 30 years ago gives cause for alarm.

Spread of infestation is high in the springtime when the queens scatter to start new colonies. It takes only 8 to 10 days for the queen's eggs to hatch into dirty white grubs and ano-

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter
HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Good for breakfast, lunch, dinner and between meals, dried prunes are on hand in large supply. Since they are available in a variety of sizes, choose a size for a particular recipe or choose one size to serve in a number of ways. Those larger in size are slightly higher in price, but may be your preference if you plan to serve them whole or stuffed. Be gentle when cooking dried prunes so they cook to delicate tenderness yet hold their plum shape. New processing methods have eliminated overnight soaking of most. Soak them if you prefer, but be sure to cook them in the water in which they were soaked for it contains food values and flavor. Unless you have use for the extra liquid, cook prunes in a small quantity of water so the liquid may be served with them. Most packaged prunes will be tender in 15 to 20 minutes simmering.

Begin breakfast for the whole family with steaming bowls of oatmeal topped with cooked prunes. Pass brown sugar or honey for sweetening, then a pitcher of milk or half-and-half. Breakfast all in one dish, and with lots of nourishment.

Give a flavor of spring to cooked prunes by adding a few fresh mint sprigs while they are hot. Cover and let stand overnight. These are nice to use in salads and refreshing when served as dessert with crisp plain cookies.

Thread quarters of canned peach halves, pitted cooked prunes and canned pineapple chunks on skewers, brush the fruits with melted butter or margarine and place about three inches from a full gas broiler flame to brown lightly. Wonderful served with broiled chops or baked ham. Need something different to serve with coffee? Stir chopped cooked prunes and chopped nuts into rich baking powder biscuit dough. Drop small spoonfuls into hot shallow fat and fry until golden. Drain on absorbent paper and dust with powdered sugar. A sure hit served hot or cold!

Perhaps a meat dish recipe with prunes as a principal ingredient doesn't "sound" good to you, but the Recipe-Of-The-Week is just such a recipe. A delicious dish it is and we urge you to try it. It's different, it's good and with a simple green salad and hot French bread it makes a complete meal.

Recipe Of The Week

BEEF RAGOUT: Slowly brown one pound cubed beef in a small amount of hot fat in a deep skillet or Dutch oven or over a medium gas flame. Add one and a half cups liquid from cooked dried prunes. Cover, bring to boil over full gas flame, reduce flame to simmer and continue cooking 45 minutes or until beef is tender. Add two thinly sliced medium onions, two large potatoes peeled and cut in half-inch strips, two thinly sliced lemons, one teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon salt and two bay leaves. Bring to boil again over full flame, reduce flame to simmer and continue cooking until vegetables are tender, about 20 minutes. Serve garnished with cooked prunes. Makes four servings.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bradford of Aspermont visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Tuggle, over the week end.

Richmond and children and Don Haynie of Lubbock, Miss Janie Haynie of Fort Worth, Lloyd Haynie of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Butch McCanlies and daughter of Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Jr. and children and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Roland Haynie and daughter of Munday.

Miss Diana Hobert of ACC in Abilene spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Hobert.

When the new junior United States Senator from Texas made his first State-wide race (in 1938 for Attorney General), your columnist handled the publicity in his campaign and we traveled together for six months.

There were lots of opportunities to observe his campaigning. He was absolutely tireless and went at top speed from morning till night. When he went up to a group of, say, five men and one boy, he would shake hands with each one, including the lad, and hand him a card, as he did all the rest. I commented on this and Judge Yarborough said, "When I was a boy and a candidate came up a group of voters, he never saw me at all and I felt 'left out.'" In meeting a voter, the Judge would always learn his name and make some comment, such as, "Are you kin to the doctor by that name over in Palestine?" The answer usually was, "No, but I've heard of him." When I remarked afterward that Texas was a big State . . . (hardly a novel comment!) . . . and that it would take a lot of time to inquire about the kinfolks of every man he met, the Judge replied that a man takes pride in his name; he likes to feel that it stands for something in the eyes of others and, if he himself had not achieved deeds that the world considers great, he takes a measure of pride in the fact that someone else bearing that name has given it some degree of renown.

He was right of course. Senator Yarborough has a good sense of humor. During that 1938 campaign, he entered a lawyer's office and introduced himself. The attorney said, "Yes, Judge, I've been hearing lots of good things about you among the people here." After leaving the office, the candidate walked down stairs . . . (the office was on the second floor), . . . and then paused at the foot of the step to consider for a moment which way to go. As he stood there, he heard the lawyer call to his secretary, "What did that young man say his name was?" When the Judge came back to the car, he chuckled as he related the incident.

National Cotton Week, now in its 27th year, is sponsored by the National Cotton Council. More than 17,000 retail stores across the nation are taking part this year.

A TIP FOR TRAVELERS

The 1957 Maid of Cotton, Helen Landon, tries on trick earrings which become sudsy cotton washcloths when dunked in water. The earrings were made up as a gag by Maggi Ryan, New York cosmetics creator. But everywhere she goes on her 50,000 mile tour for the cotton industry, Helen does carry in her purse a packet of compressed cotton sponges designed by Miss Ryan for travelers. When wet, the sponges can be used once for a quick sudsy cleanup and then thrown away.

DRIVE LIKE THE OTHER DRIVER IS CRAZY

"Never trust the other driver!" In these words, a bulletin of the Texas Safety Association, warned Texans to be on their driving-guard against the unpredictable behavior of pedestrians and other drivers.

"It isn't enough to obey the law and mind your own business," the bulletin reads, "You have a moral responsibility to prevent an accident if you can — even if the other fellow is at fault."

A few of the other-fellow's common blunders were listed as being:

Failure to heed a stop sign or sneaking across on the "Yellow-light."

Making a turn from the wrong traffic lane.

Failure to signal a turn, or giving the wrong signal.

Stopping suddenly (Of course this won't bother you if you're not too close).

Trying to pass on a curve, hill or other no-passing zone.

Traffic weaving or double parking.

Drivers were also warned to watch for pedestrians who are foolish enough to jay-walk, get out of a vehicle on the street side, walk along the road at night and wearing dark clothing, or, for children playing near the street.

Mrs. Alleen Koenig and sons of Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Doran of Odessa and Mrs. Sam Lewis of Houston visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bevers over the week end. Mrs. Lewis remained for a longer visit.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Moore were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Moore of Smyer; his sister, Mrs. Sonny Moore of Ralls; and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Floyd and children of Marshall.

Woman Makes One Thousand Quilts In Ten Years

CHAMPION QUILT-MAKER

In Texas there's a little 80-year-old lady who probably is the quilt-making champion of the world. Mrs. M. E. Baccus, who lives in Castlepeak community close to Abilene, has made 1,087 quilts in the last ten years.

Sewing for her family and neighbors, "Granny" Baccus turned out a quilt on the average of every three days. She used a sewing machine, a practice frowned upon in most quilting circles. Her designs are simple, and her workmanship is neat and sturdy.

During her ten years of quilting, Granny Baccus figures that she used more than 10,870 yards of cotton material. This includes cotton feed and flour sacks, domestic prints, and outing. She used approximately 300 pounds of lint cotton and 1,500 spools of cotton thread.

Granny can tell you the whereabouts of just about every wooden spool that furnished thread for her quilts. Some 1,200 decorate the walls of her homestead, and another hundred lie in a box ready for stringing. Hundreds more have been given away as children's playthings.

Just recently Granny Baccus quit quilting. But she already has a new hobby—serious reading.

• Mrs. M. E. Baccus, who lives in a farming community outside of Abilene, Texas, has made 1,087 cotton quilts in the last ten years. Using a sewing machine, the 80-year-old grandmother concentrated on practical rather than artistic quilting. She told her neighbors: "You furnish the material, and I'll make you a quilt for $1."

In addition to magazines and newspapers, she's read more than 100 books, and her friends are betting that she'll top the thousand and mark before she stops.

Early Morning Fire Damages Garage

A damaging fire broke out at about 6:30 in the garage of the Jim Gaines home Thursday morning. The building was used as a wash house and storage, and Mrs. Gaines was preparing to wash when the fire occurred.

All of the clothing and many items in storage, including a new motor, were destroyed before the fire was brought under control by the Munday Fire Department.

The rotary hoe is effective, under proper conditions, for eliminating young grass and weed seedlings in row crops. Use of the machine according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, will greatly reduce expensive hand-hoeing labor and aid in getting crops started faster than those competing for moisture and nutrients with weeds.

Enlistments In 3rd Infantry Taken

May 1 was an important date for the 3rd Infantry Division, presently stationed at Fort Benning, Georgia.

On that date the U. S. Army began filling its ranks with volunteers for direct assignment to the 3rd Infantry Division prior to the transfer of the division to Europe in 1958.

Men who meet the high mental and physical standards may enlist for Regular Army tours of three or four years and request assignment with the 3rd Infantry Division. These men will be processed at Fort Chaffee, Arkansas, then proceed to Fort Benning for basic and advanced training with the Division.

The Army has already charted the future location for the 3rd Infantry Division in its unit rotation policy. Thus a man knows where he will be stationed throughout his enlistment period, and can plan accordingly. This assignment also holds a guarantee of travel to the historic and tourist areas of Europe where the 30-day vacations granted Army personnel annually can be used to good advantage.

Complete information on direct enlistment to the 3rd Infantry Division, or to other Army units in the Operation Gyroscope plan, may be obtained from Joseph W. Robbins, Army recruiter for the area at City Hall, Stamford, Texas, or at City Hall in Munday each Friday afternoon.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

FUTURE TENSE LAW
You can tell a lot about people by the way they regard time. Do they put stock mostly in the past . . . their record; the present . . . their joy in work or play; or the future . . . their plans? Why not use all three dimensions of time? Past experience to guide, the present for zest, and the future to realize dreams.

Lawyers report a sharp shift in the way people regard time and the law: Of old they thought of law in terms of past facts like failures to meet legal duties, misdeeds, etc., facts useful chiefly in lawsuits.

You still have to think of the record, since you may have to go to trial some time. So keep good records of your affairs.

But more and more people now also think of the law in the future tense . . . in terms of built-in safeguards for plans which they want to go through without legal hitches.

Our heavy income and death taxes have made people plan ahead legally, rather than wait for the axe to fall.

Any time you buy or sell a home or business or make an investment you have choices of how you may do it . . . some wise, some not, in view of your circumstances.

Should you do business as a sole proprietor, a partnership, or corporation? Do your contracts set out ways of meeting unexpected events? How best may you serve your estate (and also carry out your wishes) . . . by a will or a trust, or by direct gifts?

While all of these things point forward, the past in the form of court records can serve you by showing where trouble may come from.

As more and more people know the symptoms of legal trouble, where to look for legal hitches in plans before big trouble starts, there will be fewer law suits and better human relations.

And where does trouble sometimes start? Most often where you lack a clear grasp of your relationship, your rights and duties, and your own and the other fellow's resources . . . in transactions involving large personal or financial stakes.

(This column, based on Federal law and prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Dr. J. O. Haymes, Veteran Methodist Minister, Will Retire On June 1st

Dr. Joe O. Haymes, brother of Lee Haymes of Munday and veteran of almost 50 years in the ministry, has announced his plans to retire from an active pastorate, effective June 1. He is serving as pastor of the First Methodist Church in Childress, and announced last week that he would retire and move to Lubbock, where he and Mrs. Haymes have purchased a home. He has been serving as pastor at Childress since 1955, going there from Plainview.

During his 48 years in the ministry, Dr. Haymes has spent all of his life in Texas. His first pulpit was at Rule, and he has filled pulpits at Aspermont, Spur, Miami, Hereford, Abilene First Church, Lubbock, Big Spring, and Abilene's St. Paul's in addition to Plainview and Childress.

In addition, he has served as superintendent in the Vernon district, three years; Amarillo district, four years, and the Lubbock district, five years.

He has been a member of the Board of Directors of six General Conferences of the Methodist Church and was a member of the board of trustees of Southern Methodist University, McMurry College, and the Methodist Hospital, Lubbock.

Dr. Haymes is a graduate of Stamford College, Southwestern University and received both his B.D. and M.A. degrees from S. M. U. He was awarded an honorary D.D. degree from McMurry in 1937. His ministry was launched in 1909, and he became a member of the Methodist Conference in 1914.

Although a native of Webster County, Missouri, he has spent most of his life in Texas. He was married to Miss Nancy Hinds at Tye on September 10, 1913.

The couple has two children, Dr. David Haymes of Lubbock and Mrs. R. W. Thompson of Big Spring, and four grandchildren.

Although Dr. Haymes is retiring from holding a full-time pastorate, he emphasized that he is not settling down to the proverbial rocking chair.

"I plan to preach some and teach some," he said. "Then I also hope to get some fishing and maybe a little golf." He rates fishing as his favorite hobby. Some travelling also is on tap for the couple.

They will reside at 502 48th Street in Lubbock.

Larger cities may go ahead on their own.

Scarcely a Texas community has not felt the scourge of slums. Slums have spread so far, their costs have become so great, that they are now a problem of national dimensions and concern.

Slums are the final product of a continuing process of decay that, in various stages, affects a large part of the community and threatens all of it — decay that comes largely from civic neglect and inaction.

A national study found that blighted areas were forming faster than old ones were being cleared, which justifies assistance for communities which face up to the problem of neighborhood decay and undertake long-range programs directed to its prevention.

The new law will make it possible for the Texas State Department of Health to work with smaller cities for this planning and will allocate federal funds enabling only the highest caliber master planning to prevent further blight.

Only prompt action and a willingness to help themselves to keep a healthy environment is needed by cities of under 25,000 population to receive this assistance.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holla, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—With the signing into law of House Bill 434 early this month, the Texas State Department of Health became the official planning agency for the administration of urban renewal advance planning funds to cities under 25,000 population in Texas.

The law permits the State Department of Health to arrange for planning assistance for these municipalities and to arrange for planning advances and grants from the Housing and Home Finance Agency under the provisions of the Federal Housing Act of 1954 or from other sources.

The planning and allocation of funds is the first step in improvement of health, social and economic standards of thousands of Texas citizens through urban renewal.

The urban renewal program of assistance, authorized in the Housing Act of 1954, carries out the recommendations of President Eisenhower for broadscale clearance and prevention of slums and blight and for improving and conserving good neighborhoods.

These special aids can be, and are being applied to the problems of communities of any size, from small towns in rural areas to the largest metropolitan centers.

mors. Visiting with cattlemen here last Friday for the special stocker-feeder sale we came up these ideas.

1. West Texas will be a strong buyer of all kinds of stocker cattle late this Summer or this Fall, IF conditions continue to improve.

2. Texas and New Mexico, as well as Oklahoma, will feed many more cattle next Winter, IF the bumper crop of grain sorghums makes. It's getting too late for corn in many sections, and acres taken out of cotton, wheat, etc., will grow lots of feed.

3. Native grasses in West Texas are making phenomenal recovery. Even the Old Timers are surprised. Water supplies are excellent, and hills are seeping which have not done so in a dozen years or longer in many good parts of the North Texas cattle country.

Yes, it would not be surprising if the fears of the Cornbelt feeders were well founded. Texas will have a home for many thousands of its own cattle this Fall and Winter, IF, IF, IF!

LAMBS WEAKEN, TRADE HIGHLY UNEVEN, TOP $24

Trade on sheep and lambs was highly uneven at Fort Worth Monday. Shippers topped a few fancy Springers out at $23 and $24 early in the day. Local packers topped out some old crop shorn lambs at $21 and $22 early in the day. Later bids were 50 cents to $1 lower and in a slow trade a part of this decline was effective and part of it was not.

Quality of the lambs in the run, aside from a few tops, was not so good as it had been. This factor, coupled with wet fleeces, served to offset a good start of what looked like sharply lower bids.

How much water will a lamb pelt hold? The packers hold their heads and moan at the thought of it! Especially when there's some sand or mud there, too!

Good and choice spring lambs $20 to $24, mostly $22.50 down. Good and choice old crop lambs $18 to $22, mostly $20.50 down. Cull to medium cull lambs $12 to $17. Cull to medium Springers $15 to $20. Feeder Spring lambs $18.50 down. Old ewes $5.50 to $6.50. Two's $16 down. *Aged wethers $12.50 down.

HOGS OPEN 50c HIGHER; TOP $18.75, SOWS $16

Choice butcher hogs opened at $18.50 and $18.75 at Fort Worth Monday. This was half a dollar above last week's close. Sows sold from $15 to $16, also 50 cents higher.

SPECIAL SALE CATTLE AVERAGED $93.92

The rains drowned out the special stocker and feeder sale Friday, May 10 at Fort Worth as $28 head sold for $77,768.31, to average $93.92 straight across. This high average included baby calves as one head. Most pairs sold from $13.50 to $16, with top steer calves in the Hereford class at $24 and heifers at $22, and Angus steers topped at $23.50.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants A Closer Look At The Farmer Who Knows Just What's Coming Up In '57

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is trying to find a short cut to a farming profit, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
Everybody is talking about the budget these days, as though budget troubles were something new, and they may be or some people, but not me — I've been having budget troubles ever since I can remember — and I was especially interested in an article I read in a copy of a newspaper which I picked up in the road near my house yesterday morning. I think somebody had thrown it out the night before with some tin cans wrapped up in it.

According to it, officials in Washington are worried about the size of the budget and worried more about what'll happen to them if they cut out the wrong items, and consequently they've decided to call in a bunch of economists to tell them if the budget is so big it might break the country, and if not, whether the national economy is going to continue up or start down or hold its own.

Now the thing about this move that interests me is that among the economists and leaders invited to the conference is a farmer. They didn't say what farmer, but just added that in addition to leading economists, professors, business advisors, etc., there'd also be included a farmer.

What I want to know is: who is this farmer who knows what the economy is going to do in the next twelve months?

Furthermore, does he believe in it strong enough to plant by it? And if so, does it work? And if so, how come he's been keeping this information to himself?

That is, you take me. I've been trying to guess what the market 12 months away is going to be on the products from this farm out here for years, and I can count on the fingers of one hand the times I've hit it right. I don't know about this farmer that's going to Washington, but I don't have anymore idea at planting time what the market is going to be at harvesting time that what the weather will be like next Tuesday. Moreover, if there are any other farmers that know, they don't live close to me.

If Washington ever identifies this farmer that knows what the national economy is going to do in the next twelve months, I'd like to start a collection to bring him to Munday and let the rest of us get a close look at him. They are several questions I'd like to ask him about this year's crops, not to mention what the cattle market will be like this fall.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

News From The U. S. Congress

On the eight appropriation bills for the fiscal year 1958 debated and voted on in the House thus far this session are shown cuts totaling over a Billion One Hundred Million Dollars. The President's request in these bills total $14,968,542,403, and as finally approved by the House, they represented $13,827,366,654, which is a reduction of about 9 per cent.

KEEP THIS AD!
Over 20,000 Arthritic and Rheumatic Sufferers have taken this Medicine since it has been on the market. It is inexpensive, can be taken in the home. For Free information, give name and address to P. O. Box 522, Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Yet to be considered by the House are the largest appropriation bills such as defense and foreign aid. None of the bills that have passed the House have yet reached the Floor of the Senate but are all at this time being studied by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Recently Congressman Oren Harris, Chairman of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, introduced a bill the effect of which was to bring some order to the marketing and sale of natural gas and in many respects softened the control by the Federal Government. Hearings on this bill began May 7th. The first witness who is the Council for the office of Defense Mobilization and spokesman for the Administration proposed amendments to the Harris Bill which will make it impossible for the legislation to accomplish the purposes for which it was designed. This refusal on the part of the Administration to approve this proposal means that it will be impossible to pass any sort of gas bill during this session of Congress.

The House Rules Committee is now considering the highly controversial "civil rights" bill. Indications are now that this measure will be on the Floor of the House sometime late this month or in early June. This is one of the most controversial measures of our time. If the measure should be approved by Congress, it would abolish many of the concepts that we have had in this country concerning personal freedom. For instance, it would abolish the jury trials in some types of cases. Even though this measure is being pressed under the guise of protecting so-called "civil rights," actually it would destroy them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tole, Mr. and Mrs. Jean P. Montgomery, and Mr. Thomas Myrick of Wichita Falls and Mr. David Eaton of Decatur were visitors in Washington this week.

How Do You Measure Love?
"You cannot love without giving." True love always gives its best to the one it loves. God loved you so much that He gave His Son, Jesus Christ to die in your place. "God commendeth His love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." Rom. 8:8
