

Kracker Krumb's

Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

"That last rain is what did it," reported O. B. Southern, field man for Trautman Bros., last Monday when he stated the cabbage harvest has been stopped.

Toward the latter part of last week, the cabbage became of such poor quality that harvesting was stopped and the vegetable growers' shed was prepared to handle potatoes. Southern said a "stem rot" had developed in the cabbage, causing them to be below marketing quality.

Most of the growers, however, got some cabbage on the market before this trouble set in. Only field, Southern said, that had not been entered was that of Chalmer Hobert. Too much water after the heads become pretty well formed cause the stem rot, and that last rain was just too much for what seemed to be fine prospects for cabbage growers.

Water and too much of it also has caused a different potato than what was grown last year, it was reported. Some of the spuds were knobby, while some had scales on them, and there were lots of "creamers" — those smaller ones that did not grade up to No. 1 spuds. But, all in all, it seemed the potatoes were going to be pretty good, despite the fact that too much moisture at the wrong time cut down production an estimated 25 per cent.

Both processing sheds were very busy Monday morning, as the potato harvest got well under way. Harvesting actually started on Wednesday, June 12, when Colville and Renfro began operations on the Johnny Michels crop.

Concerning some of the other vegetable crops, we quote the following from "The Wagon Tongue" in the Abilene Reporter-News:

"It looks as though there won't be many watermelons and cantaloupes around Munday this year. Wet weather has kept farmers out of their fields, and it's getting too late now to plant watermelons and cantaloupes, Combs said.

"A few farmers, however, have been able to get up some of their melons and cantaloupes. Combs had 20 to 30 acres up, and J. B. Reneau, southwest of Munday, has 30 acres up. J. E. Hunter and Clyde Yost also have up a few acres."

Other busy spots in Munday this week are the grain elevators, as the combines continue to roll and the wheat comes in. The past several days of hot, windy, drying weather have gotten most fields in shape for combining, and harvesting is going on into the night — until the grain becomes too damp.

What one writes about the weather during times like these won't "hold water" until a weekly sheet can be published. Just above we remarked about the hot, windy, drying weather — which was on Monday — went home and helped the Missus water our blackeyes, then we got a nice shower before morning amounting to .45 of an inch.

This was enough moisture to put a quietus on some of the farming operations, such as wheat harvest which was resumed southeast of town Tuesday afternoon. We're glad the rain was lighter out at Lloyd Pattersons, because we promised him Monday we'd keep the rain away from his part of the area for another two days.

AIRMAN SPENDING 15-DAY LEAVE HERE

Byron Gass, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Gass of Munday, is spending his 15-day leave with his parents after completing 14 weeks of training in the aviation structural mechanical school at Memphis, Tenn.

The 19-year-old airman was graduated from Munday High School, and entered the Navy in September, 1956.

Graduates of the structural school are capable of repairing various structural parts of aircraft bodies.

Airman Gass will be assigned to the Air Anti-sub Patrol Squadron 37 at San Diego, Calif.

Just How Unlucky Can A Fellow Be?

Last Friday night, Marcellus Johnson, well known local colored man, had business or was a spectator at one of the vegetable processing sheds. He parked his car near some empty freight cars on a rail siding, but evidently not too far away from the main line. A through freight approached with whistle tooting. It struck Johnson's car, slammed it against some empty cars and soon transformed it into a batch of rubbish. "I sho' is unlucky," Marcellus lamented as he surveyed the wreckage.

Orphan's Homes Get Vegetables

A group of 10 or 11 boys from Lubbock Children's Home, together with their adult sponsor and several members of the local Church of Christ, were busy gathering potatoes and cabbage on the Lonnie Offutt farm last Tuesday.

The vegetables were of unmarketable quality, yet good for food, and were donated the home for the gathering. Some vegetables were also given from the Chalmer-Hobert farm.

A group from the Voles Orphan's Home in Quinlan, Texas, were here Tuesday for the same activities, and another group from Tipton Orphan's Home at Tipton, Okla., were due here Thursday. Sacks for the potatoes were donated by Trautmann Bros.

CO-OP PRODUCT—Kenneth Whittemore, whose potatoes were the first harvested and processed at the Munday Vegetable Growers-Cooperative shed, is shown here with a 100-pound bag of the potatoes in a bag designed by the coops. The design features "Heart of the Knox Prairie" potatoes and is being used on all spuds grown by the coop members.

Haskell-Knox Baptist Workers To Meet At Gillespie Church Tuesday, June 25

The Haskell-Knox Baptist Association worker's conference will be held with the Gillespie Baptist Church on Tuesday, June 25. According to Moderator M. D. Rexrode, a very interesting, worthwhile and stimulating program has been planned around the subject of "Moral and Civic Righteousness."

The Board Meeting will be at 5:00 o'clock, the meal at 6:00 and the panel discussion and program will begin at 7:00 o'clock. The Rev. Browning Ware, formerly with the Christian Life department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will be the inspirational speaker and also the director of the panel discussion. The interesting part of this program will be a panel discussion on matters of moral, civic, and Christian righteousness as they relate to our homes, our churches, and our school and community life. A panel will be made up of capable, qualified people to discuss these basic questions. Those on the panel will be a school superintendent, a doctor, a county attorney, a Christian housewife and mother, and a preacher. These are some of the people who deal with the basic and complex problems of our day.

A sample of some questions which will be discussed are:

To what extent is Christianity concerned with morality?

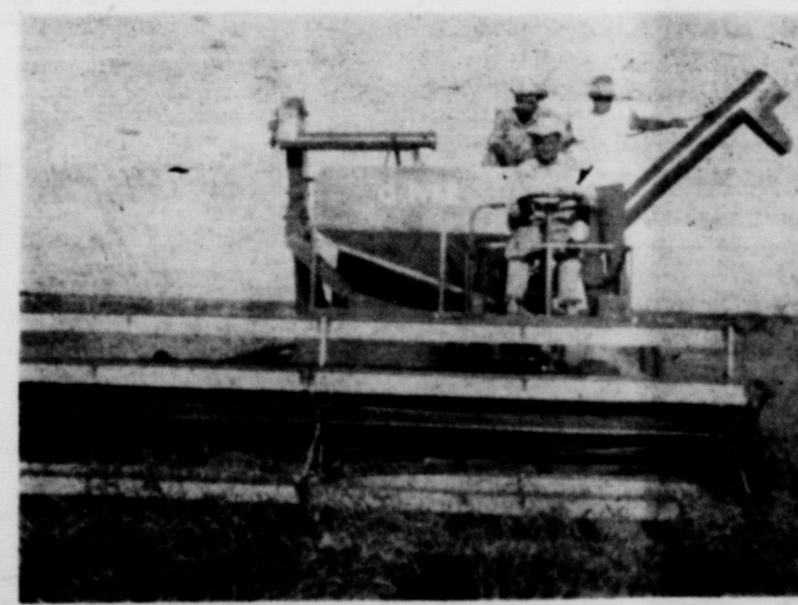

What is a family's relationship to their church, their school, and their community?

How can our lives be more home-centered?

How can Christians within the home achieve a Christian solution to family problems?

How can the church strengthen family life?

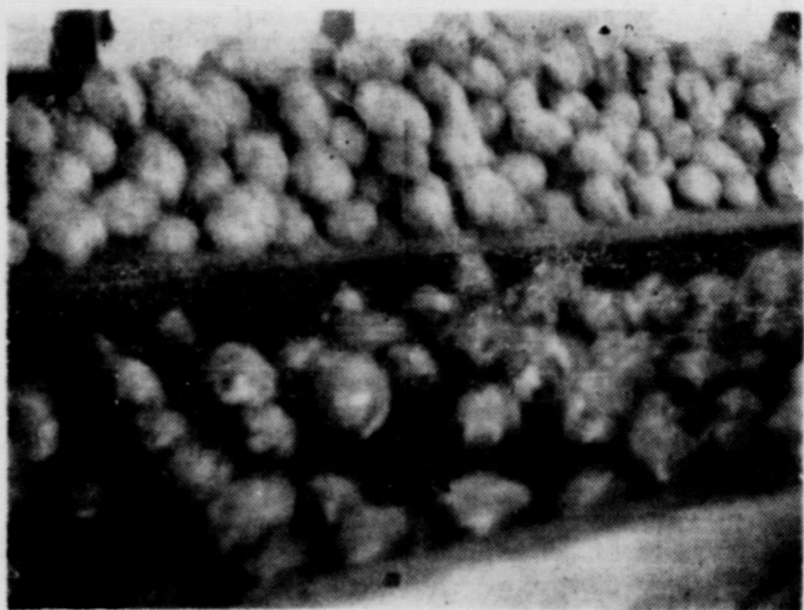

How can we better understand parent-child relationship within the home, school, and community?

GOLDEN GRAIN—Wheat, too, was being harvested in the Munday area before the rain Monday night halted operations. Shown above is a combine harvesting the grain grown by Lloyd Patterson on the J. C. Borden farm southeast of Munday. At the controls is Warren Rister, and others are Eddie Melton, left, owner of the machine, and "Spike" Bryan, trucker who is hauling the grain to market.

ONIONS AND TATERS—Munday's first onion crop was harvested last week on the B. E. Smith farm by Colville and Renfro, and a portion of the harvest is seen above, sacked and ready for market. In the lower photo are some of the 1957 potatoes riding the conveyor belt toward the sacks as they are being made ready for market. These were grown on the Johnny Michels farm and were the first of the '57 crop to be dug.

Potato Harvest In Full Swing Here

The potato harvest, which was started on Wednesday last week, got under way in earnest last Monday morning as additional crews arrived to help with the crop. Around 300 workers were expected, but packers were operating with short crews Monday afternoon.

Colville and Renfro, who have been packers here for the past few years, opened the harvest June 12 when they started on the Johnny Michels farm. Their large-scale operations got under way this week and several truck loads were waiting to be processed at the sheds Monday morning. O. B. Southern, field supervisor for Trautman Bros., started operations at the Munday Vegetable Growers Co-op shed Monday, the first field to be harvested being grown by Kenneth Whittemore.

Whittemore said early Wednesday afternoon his field would crowd 150 sacks per acre, but only around 80 per cent of the potatoes was being graded as No. 1 potatoes. There were quite a few sacks of No. 2's, some B's and some creamers with each truck load. Prevailing price Monday was netting the producer $2.25 per sack for the top spuds, but the B's and creamers were not paying the processing cost.

Charlie Trautman is here to act as manager and salesman for the co-op shed. His brother, Del, is president of the Trautman firm, which has headquarters in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Digging operations are being conducted during the cooler hours each day. Work gets under way around dawn each morning and is stopped around 10 a.m. when weather is hottest, resumed at about 4 p.m. and continues until dark.

Benjamin Athlete Signs With H-SU

Johnny Hudson, Benjamin athlete, has signed a football scholarship agreement at Hardin-Simmons University, it has been announced by E. W. Ledbetter, athletic director.

Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hudson of Pampa, is employed by the F&C construction Co. in Pampa this summer. While attending Benjamin High School, he participated in football, basketball and track.

He averaged 27 points per game in football last season scoring 45 touchdowns. He made five touchdowns for Benjamin in defeating Paint Creek last season, aiding his team to beating Paint Creek for the first time in the history of the district.

Hudson amassed a 28-point average per game in basketball last season, and his running on the 140-yard relay team allowed Benjamin to win its third straight district crown. Other honors include being elected football hero in 1955 and the most outstanding athlete in 1953.

Henry J. Michels Dies Suddenly Here On Tuesday

Henry J. Michels, known by his many friends over the area as "Little Henry," passed away suddenly at 8 a.m. Tuesday at the home of his sister, Mrs. H. F. Jungman. He underwent surgery at a Wichita Falls hospital some two weeks ago, appeared to be recuperating nicely and was brought home from the hospital last Sunday.

He had arisen after a restful night and was preparing for breakfast when he became suddenly ill and passed away before medical aid could be summoned. He apparently suffered a stroke. Mr. Michels was born at Bastrop, Texas, on February 20, 1902, and was 55 years, three months and 28 days of age. He came to the Munday area with his parents in 1906, making the journey from Bastrop by covered wagon.

He was closely associated with his pioneering father, H. M. Michels, until the latter's death in February, 1952. Through his association, he learned in early life that hard work, honesty and integrity were prerequisite to a happy life and he practiced those virtues. A quiet, soft-spoken man, "Little Henry" was always a man of his word and those who had dealings with him knew that . . . like father, like son . . . his word was his bond.

A Catholic by faith and training, Mr. Michels was loyal to the rites of his church and faithful in attending its services.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. H. F. Jungman of Munday, Mrs. W. C. (Bill) Hertel of Rhineland, and Mrs. Carl Jungman of Vernon.

Funeral services were held from St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Rhineland at 4 p.m. Wednesday with the pastor, Rev. John Walbe, O. S. B., officiating. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery under the direction of McCauley Funeral Home.

Serving as pallbearers were Troy Lindsey, Johnny Michels, M. C. Kuhler, Ted Hertel, Clarence Herring, Walter Jungman, Aaron Edgar, and Albert Loran.

Munday Yields First Onions On B. E. Smith Farm

Probably the only commercial-grown onions in this area are being harvested this week on the B. E. Smith farm about 4½ miles east of Munday.

Smith has about 30 acres of onions that are making between 300 and 400 bags per acre. The onions are packed in field bags of 50 pounds each before being processed.

Current price of processed onions is $3 to $4 per bag. That means the total per-acre income will be between $90 and $1,600.

Smith has four varieties of onions, 15 acres of yellow and 15 acres of whites. His sons, James and Edward, and his son-in-law, William Browning, are partners with Smith in the onion crop.

The long period of rain and wet weather cut down on the yield of the crop, but the grade is reported to be exceptionally good, considering the amount of water the onions received.

Jack Renfro and Jack Colville, Munday vegetable packers and processors, are handling the onions.

THE PROPOSED 23rd ADMENDMENT

A proposed 23rd amendment to the Constitution of the United States, known as the Gwinn amendment, consists of one clear sentence: "The government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial, or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution."

The possibilities within that simple statement of principal are literally enormous.

The government has billions upon billions of dollars invested in business enterprises of many kinds, all of which are performing functions that can and should be handled by private enterprise. These socialized businesses could be sold, and the money used to reduce the national debt, or to cut taxes, or both.

But that is only the beginning. Government business enterprise are tax-free, and in an age in which private business corporations pay up to 52 per cent of all their profits in federal taxes alone. On top of that, it is common for government business enterprises to operate at a loss, which means that they must be subsidized by all the taxpayers. Once they were sold to private enterprise, the subsidies would end and they would become major taxpayers. The gain to the nation over the years would run into tens of billions.

One big reason for the government's financial plight today is that it has gone far beyond Constitutional provisions, and into fields where it does not belong and where its presence is wasteful and destructive. This is not just a matter of economics — super — government is the greatest enemy of human freedom that exists. The proposed amendment would give us the kind of government envisaged by the founders.

TOO MANY LAWS

The Journal of More, Oregon, says: "The Washington legislature passed less than one bill of four introduced. And that was probably too many."

It seems as if almost every bill passed by our busy-bee legislatures cost the groaning taxpayers more money — and, at the same time, imposes more restrictions on their rights, liberties, and freedom of action. The urge to legislate has the characteristics of a disease — unless it is checked, the patient, which is the public at large, gets sicker and sicker.

—SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE TIMES—

THE BIG SCHOOL PROBLEM

Stewart Alsop, the liberal-minded writer on current affairs, recently made a little tour of some suburban schools. He was motivated in this by the proposal that the federal government provide funds for classroom construction.

At the beginning of the trip, Mr. Alsop was inclined to agree with the proposal. But at the end of it, he was no longer so sure.

One reason for that is that the school situation, while serious in many places, "is not quite so desperate a crisis as it has sometimes been painted."

Another is that "if the federal government does move in, the federal government will stay in, despite the President's fond hopes."

Still another is that "surely there is something to be said for the notion" that the citizens of a state "should be financially responsible for the education of their children."

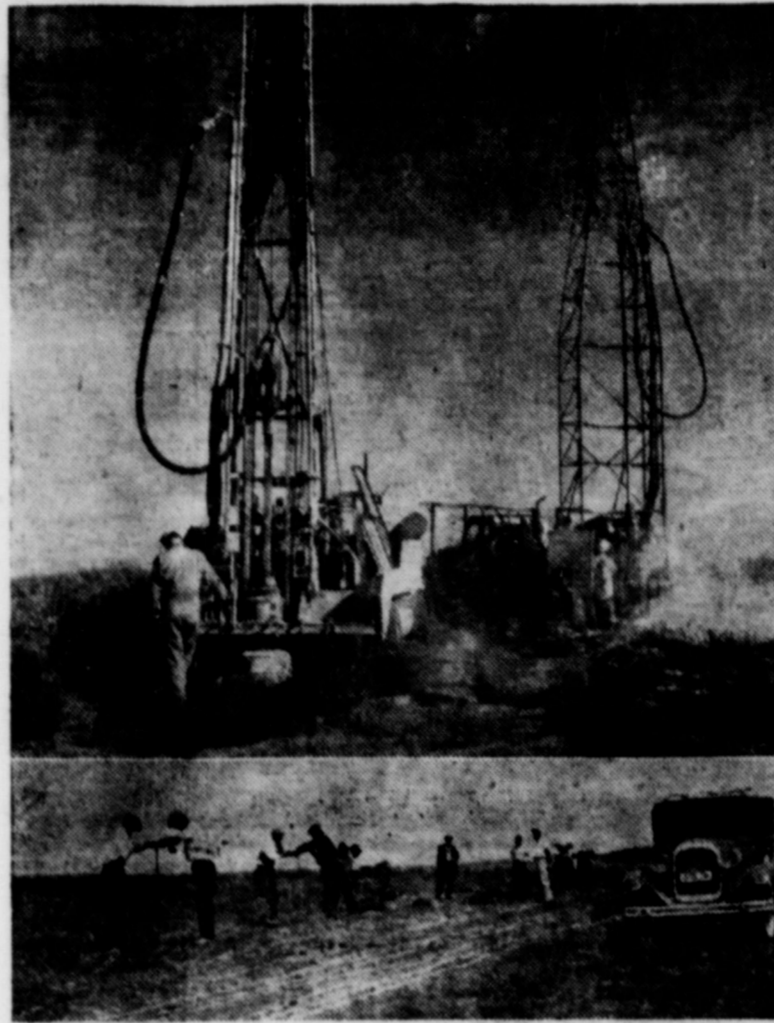

Finally, Mr. Alsop came away from his tour with this impression — "that the teachers and officials I met, all admirable people, were a little too much interested in the buildings the children were taught in, and not enough in what they were taught."

All of these moderately-phrased observations are important — and the last is the most important of all. We will put the cart before the horse with a vengeance if we lay heavy emphasis on the physical characteristics of our schools — and only secondary emphasis on what goes on in the classrooms.

A short time ago the New York Stock Exchange celebrated its 165 birthday — in a nation which itself is only 181 years old.

From Prime Minister MacMillan of Great Britain: "There is no difference between Socialism and Communism except this: Socialism is soft, Communism is hard: Socialism is pink, Communism is red. Socialism gets you down bit by bit by a kind of anesthetic process. It might be called mercy-killing. Communism just knocks you on the head."

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT-ARGUS: "Many responsible congressmen have been saying, 'The reason we spend so much is that the people demand it . . . These congressmen are right, says the New Mexico Taxpayers Association, which claims: 'Too many Americans shout "economy" with one voice, and yell "gimme" with another.'"

DRILLING SHOT HOLES for seismographic surveys has come a long way from the hand auger days of the mid-30's, pictured here. Where terrain permits, today's shot hole crews use power-driven bits mounted on trucks. The holes are drilled for explosive charges which, with the aid of sensitive instruments, give geophysicists valuable information about the position of formations deep in the earth.

GROWING IMPORTANCE OF IRRIGATION

Irrigation plays a much bigger part in Lone Star Agriculture than most Texans realize.

Nearly a half billion acres of Texas land are now irrigated. About one-fifth of the crop land harvested in the state is irrigated land.

Although many centuries old, the practice of irrigation is relatively new in the state. There were no definite reports on the amount of irrigated Texas acreage until 1940, when less than 895,000 acres were irrigated.

But with the advent of larger more mechanized farms in recent years, irrigation systems have spread to all corners of the state. Irrigation has fit well into the ever-changing agricultural picture. It has been the answer to problems of drought, low yields and cost-price squeeze. And there probably isn't a farmer in Texas today who hasn't given some thought to irrigation.

This is no wishful thinking on the farmer's part . . . to want "rain" at the right time in the right amount. Many farmers in the heavier rainfall sections of Texas are setting up irrigation systems for small tracts and increasing yields up to 200 per cent.

Although 95 per cent of the irrigated farms are located in

Just 78 counties, the scientific principals of irrigation are rapidly being applied in all areas of the state.

During the past year, numerous irrigation "clinics" and demonstrations have been held under auspices of county agents, Soil Conservation Districts and irrigation engineers and manufacturers.

Economical, low-cost sprinkler systems have been devised for use on small tracts. Many of these operated last summer in East and Central Texas.

All indications point to an even bigger role for irrigation in Texas agriculture's future.

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Cottage cheese is always economical, nutritious and an all round favorite. It knows no season, but since June is dairy month, these are good days for using it in many different ways.

Emerald salad is as pretty and refreshing as its name. Dissolve 1 package of lime-flavored gelatin in 3/4 cup hot water. Cool and chill in gas refrigerator until thickened. Combine and fold into thickened cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 1 cup cream style cottage cheese, 1 cup mayonnaise and 1/3 cup slivered blanched almonds. Pour into well-oiled molds. Serve on salad greens. Garnish with sprigs of fresh mint. Makes 6 servings.

With cold meats, serve Cheese Topped Aspic. Arrange slices of canned tomato aspic on salad greens. Add onion-soup mix to cottage cheese, enough to season to taste. Heap the cheese on the aspic slices. Garnish with a springling of paprika.

Cottage Cheese Potatoes have a different and delicious flavor and texture. Mix 2 cups hot mashed potatoes with 3 slightly beaten eggs. Add 2 tablespoons finely chopped green onions (part tops), 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 teaspoon minced green pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon nutmeg. Stir in 2 cups cream style cottage cheese. Beat thoroughly. Spoon mixture into a greased 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Bake in moderately hot gas oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Makes four servings.

Recipe Of The Week

COTTAGE CHEESE PIE: Combine 1 cup cream style cottage cheese, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/8 teaspoon salt and 2 eggs. Mix well. Stir in 1/2 cup milk and 1/2 cup cream. Pour into a 9-inch unbaked pastry shell. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in hot gas oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to 300 degrees F. and continue baking 1 hour or until a silver knife inserted in the center comes out clean.

LIVESTOCK RECEIPTS

MODERATE MONDAY

FORT WORTH—The movement of livestock to market at Fort Worth, and all around the major marketing circle, was of only moderate proportions. All species were in smaller numbers than last week, and well behind a year earlier.

Preoccupation of farmers with field work was given a major part of the credit for the moderate movement.

Despite a collapse of 4 to 7 cents per pound at major wholesale meat markets in the Eastern Seaboard and Midwestern areas over the weekend, hogs prices were strong at all points and at Fort Worth the top was $21, hitting a new high for the year. This was 25 cents above last week's close. Medium grade butchers sold from $16.50 to $20. Sows drew $18 down.

CATTLE TRADE AGAIN ACTIVE AND STRONG, DEMAND BROAD

Out of state demand for both stocker and slaughter cattle and calves enabled trade at Fort Worth to get away to a favorable opening session Monday. The prices were fully steady.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings cashed at $20 to $23.50, while common and medium slaughter kinds sold from $12 to $19. Stocker steer yearlings sold from $21.50 down, and feeder heifers sold from $20 downward.

Good and choice stocker steer calves cashed at $20 to $24, and heifer calves ranged mostly from $21 down. Good and choice slaughter calves cashed at $19 to $22, and cull, common and medium sorts sold from $10 to $19.

Fat cows sold from $13 to $15.50, and canners and cutters cashed at $9 to $13. Stocker cows drew $10 to $14. Bulls sold from $11 to $15.75.

QUALITY OFF, PRICES FIRM ON SHEEP AND LAMBS

Trade was active and prices were fully steady at Fort Worth Monday in the sheep yards. The run included relatively small numbers of choice grades, and a good many of the lambs showed excessive fills due to the high temperature.

Good and choice slaughter Spring lambs sold from $20 to $21.50, and common and medium slaughter kinds sold from $14 to $19. Good grade feeder Spring lambs sold from $18 down.

MID-JUNE CATTLE, HOG PRICES ABOVE 1956, LAMBS LOWER

A check at the prevailing prices at Fort Worth at mid-June a year ago reveals sharp improvement on cattle and calves. Hogs are also selling far better than last year. However, lambs enjoyed a $24 top last year at this time, as compared with $21.50 at Fort Worth Monday.

Shorn yearling lambs a year ago sold up to $20, against an $18 top this week.

Cattle and calves prices are far ahead of last year. Fed steers and yearlings at $23 to $24 this week, compare with $20 to $21 beeves at this time a year ago. Slaughter cows ranged from $7 on low canners to $13.50 on best fat cows a year ago. A similar kind sell from $8.50 to $15.50 this week. Bulls topped at $14 a year ago, against $15.75 this week.

Stocker steer calves a year ago stopped at $21.50, against $24 this week. Heifer calves sold from $16.50 down, against $21 Monday. Steer yearlings a year ago sold for $18 down, against $21.50 Monday. Feeder heifers at $15.25 a year ago, compare to $19 to $20 Monday.

Hogs topped at $16.50 to $17 a year ago, and similar hogs drew $20.75 to $21 Monday. Sows at $14 down a year ago, compare with $18 down on Monday.

A year ago in the last two weeks of June the lambs market broke $3 to $5 per hundred and on June 28, 1956, the top was $19, whereas it was $24 on June 14, 1957. At the end of June last year old crop shorn lambs had a top of $15, against the mid-June top of $20 mentioned above.

16-MILE HAUL — 4300 FEET UP — When Sheriff Cal Boies of Maricopa County, Arizona, sends his 4-wheel-drive GMC to his radio transmitting station on a mountain peak, one round trip deals out more punishment than a year's ordinary use.

IT CROSSES 3 MOUNTAIN CHAINS, wades through shifting sand, picks its way over boulder-strewn passes—goes where no sane horse would set foot. The deal includes climbing up a 65% grade. But—"It hasn't even breathed hard yet," says the Sheriff.

How tough could you make it for this GMC 4-WHEEL DRIVE?

You probably never would push a GMC truck this far.

But it's great to know that GMC's can do incredible jobs, beyond all normal requirements for their class—and still run longer, cheaper and with fewer repairs than other trucks.

Got some tough assignments for this GMC 4-wheel drive? It's just about the handiest truck ever built — goes anywhere, makes its own roads, has full traction in muck or deep snow, has clearance on high-crowned roads.

With a few accessories, it pulls stumps, drills postholes or wells, stretches fence, pumps water, hoists anything. It takes a king-size cargo and—in 2-wheel drive—gives you full road speeds.

The GMC 4-wheel drive is really two trucks in one — and it costs surprisingly little. Just ask your GMC dealer!

Large picnic facilities are built in Palmetto State Park for the convenience of nature students, scientific societies and other large groups who visit this unusual semi-tropic botanical area near Ottine. Palmetto State Park's astonishing vegetation includes native orchids and other exotic plants far from their usual locations. The park takes its name from an abundance of dwarf palmettos that ordinarily would be seen in Florida. Sphagnum bogs, mud boils and an astonishing number of rare birds and butterflies attract people to this park, off U. S. Highway 153 about midway between Gonzales and Luling.

4-H's Active In Conservation Of Health, Soil

Conservation is the keynote of two highly important 4-H projects vital to the future welfare of the nation. They are the national 4-H Health, and the Soil and Water Conservation programs. Thousands of 4-H boys and girls are now participating in the activities which benefit themselves, their homes and communities.

Last year over a third of all 4-H Club members enrolled in the health program, according to the Cooperative Extension Service, while those taking part in soil and water conservation worked on a total of nearly 400,000 acres.

"Learning by doing" pays worthwhile dividends, too. At the wind-up of the 4-H Club year, members' records will be reviewed by the State Extension office, and recommendations made for individual 1957 awards. Based on outstanding program achievement and all-around 4-H performance, awards are given at the county, state, and national levels.

All awards in the health program will again be provided by Eli Lilly and Co., of Indianapolis, Indiana. The soil and water conservation awards will be given for the 14th consecutive year by Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio.

As many as four qualifying members in each county may win gold-filled medals. The top ranking boy or girl in the state will be a delegate to the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next fall with all expenses paid. The highest honor — a $400 college scholarship — goes to the national winners.

Many splendid opportunities for community service are offered through these programs. Local volunteer 4-H leaders lend moral as well as active support in helping club members to develop good personal health habits and to improve health conditions generally. The soil and water conservation program covers a wide variety of undertakings ranging from erosion control to long-range plan that will eventually reclaim hundreds of acres.

Mrs. Ward, who has served her local chapter in almost every capacity is currently serving as chapter parliamentarian and committee chairman of publicity.

Mrs. Ward states that Beta Chi will participate in a summer program planning workshop in Wichita Falls on Saturday and will be one of the six chapters to hold a joint regional meeting in Wichita Falls in October. ## Wichita-Brazos Soil District News

Moisture conditions of the Wichita Brazos Soil Conservation District are ideal for that soil improving crop this year. Our soil is much like our bank account. If everything is taken out and nothing replaced, they will both play out.

Guar is one crop that can be grown that will improve the soil. It is a summer annual that is very drought resistant. Guar can still be planted during the months of June and early part of July. Six to eight pounds of seed per acre should be planted when seeded in rows. Row seedings can be done with planters used for combine sorghums. The seed should be covered from one to two inches deep, on land prepared in the same manner as for cotton or for grain sorghum.

Cow peas are another annual legume being grown successfully in the district. This legume can also be seeded in June and early July at the rate of 10 to 12 pounds per acre when planted in rows. When planted in a mixture with grain sorghum 5 to 10 pounds should be seeded.

Some of the advantages to be gained by planting soil improving crops are: the roots will increase water intake and waterholding capacity, add nitrogen to the soil, can be used as a green manure crop to add organic matter, cover soil for protection from erosion, seed can be a cash crop, reduce soil temperature, and in some cases help reduce the effect of root rot.

A soil improving crop could prove beneficial on land that is placed under the acreage reserve of the Soil Bank Program and used as a green manure crop.

When planting these legumes the seed should be inoculated with the proper inoculant to obtain the best results.

Farm Exports On The Rise For Four Straight Years

United States farm exports for the current fiscal year are soaring to a record level. Four straight years of export increases find 1956-57 values approaching 4 1/2 billion dollars — a full billion ahead of last year.

Several factors help this favorable situation. Competitive pricing of CCC-owned cotton and other products has done a lot for our export market and a generally strong financial position is now enjoyed by most of our best customers. Extension Economist Alvin Wooten says there is also a growing desire abroad for the high quality products in US stocks. He stresses the fact that considerable progress has been made toward easing barriers against imports from this country.

The "sold out" sign has gone up on several commodities, Wooten says, including cottonseed oil, linseed oil and soybeans. Stocks of grain sorghums, rice, barley, butter and dried milk have been reduced and CCC wool stocks are being cut at a fast clip.

Exports for dollars are now being emphasized more and more. Dollar sales now total about two-thirds of all CCC disposals. Wooten says the 31 friendly nations now buying from America with foreign money will probably soon develop into dollar markets. A billion dollars in farm surpluses have been bartered for strategic foreign materials and vital defense needs, he says.

Wooten attributes much of the recent export success to better promotion tools. We now have top-notch agricultural attaches, marketing specialists, special export programs and trade fairs to facilitate movement.

Letters From The People

Editor's note: The following letter from Robert H. Lloyd and family was received this week and is being published for the interest it may hold for the many friends of the Lloyds in the Munday area:

Dear Friends:

Now that we have been in Costa Rica a little more than a month we will try to write you our impressions of the place and its people. Perhaps you can imagine how frustrating it is to turn on the radio and hear nothing you can understand, or pick up a newspaper and be able to read none of it, or to try to do a simple thing like giving a telephone operator a number and not have her understand your earnest effort in Spanish, or to sit in church and know nothing that is being said. These are some of the things that are faced in the first weeks in a new country.

Besides the mental frustrations there are other adjustments we must make. The windows have no screens and the flies are plentiful. Much of every meal-time is spent in chasing or swatting flies; it seems to be a losing proposition. We select our meat at the market as it hangs from hooks on the ceiling. After the first visit there we have tried not to notice the flies. All the water we drink must be boiled and still we foreigners inevitably get some bugs that we are not accustomed to. For the next six months there will be few days in which there is no rain. Lights will be kept burning day and night in our clothes closets in an effort to keep shoes and clothes from mildewing.

We are happy to discover that fresh fruit and vegetables here are very reasonable in price. Still we must depend on some things imported from the states, such as Crisco and Fab; and these are very expensive. Once in awhile we get hungry for something from the states and just can't resist buying it — like Campbell's tomato soup at $0.59 per can or Spam (yes, even Spam sounds good after a few weeks here) at $1.05 per can.

The ticos (as the Costa Ricans call themselves) are a very friendly people and very patient with those of us who are strangers. The valley in which San Jose nestles is very beautiful, and the climate on the whole is quite pleasant. The city is situated at an altitude of 4,000 feet, and the mountains completely encircle the valley. Many times the tops of the mountains are hidden behind the clouds. The mornings are usually clear with the sun shining brightly; the middle of the day is quite warm. Shortly after noon the clouds get thicker and the rains begin. Every night we sleep under one or two wool blankets. Even though this may sound like an ideal place, we know that we have found real happiness here only because we know it is where God wants us.

San Jose is a busy city of 100,000 people. There are peddlers everywhere, selling candy, fruits, brooms, and chances, chances, chances. Everywhere we go we can hear the cry of "Chances." The vast majority of the people have little income, but still they spend their hard-earned money on chances in the national lottery hoping to win the big prize that will give them financial security.

Many of the Ticos have no shoes but others drive expensive cars and live in luxury. Older missionaries here say that traffic has become a problem only in the last five years, but now it is dangerous to get on the streets. There are 10,000 cars in the city whose streets were designed for oxcarts. The streets are swarming with bicycles, many with small gasoline motors. The pedestrian never has the right of way; only the agile can survive. The cars at night drive without lights many times to save batteries.

We lived only three weeks in our first house here. It was too far from school to be practical. Now we are in a nice neighborhood about ten blocks from school. Browning started to school recently. He is attending a Methodist Kindergarten along with many of our Baptist children. We have to leave home every morning by 7:10 in order to get Browning on his school bus. He is brought back to the language school a few minutes before noon so he can walk home with us from there. While the three of us are in school Suann stays home with the Costa Rican woman who lives with us and does most of the housework. Charlotte and I must spend all of our time in study — and still we can't study enough. Learning Spanish is not just acquiring a new vocabulary and learning the proper word order in the sentences, but it is learning to talk all over again. In speaking English we move our lips and jaws up and down like an alligator. In speaking Spanish we must learn to move our mouth muscles sideways like an accordion. After all these years of one language it is quite difficult to develop new speech patterns.

Suann had her first birthday a few weeks ago. She is walking everywhere and getting into everything. She still doesn't have just a lot of hair but what she has is getting curly.

There are ten churches and five other mission stations which have been started by our Southern Baptist missionaries in Costa Rica. Our work is fairly new, having been started in 1949. At the present time we have only one missionary family here, and much of their time is taken up in helping our language students get into the country and helping them get adjusted after they get in. None of the churches has become self-supporting yet, although we hope to be able to lead them in that direction as quickly as possible.

There are 31 of us Southern Baptists now in language school. After completing the year here we will be scattered to all corners of Latin America. Half of them will complete their study in August. The other sixty students who started school this term represent dozens of various sending boards and agencies. Among our Southern Baptist group we have one man who is an M.D. and three with Th.D. degrees.

San Jose has thirty radio stations so we have a variety of programs from which to choose. There are some stations that send out such music (???) as "Hound Dog" in Spanish (and it doesn't sound a bit better than it does in English). There is one station that has nothing but good music (classical, semi-classical, and religious). Now that we have found it we never have to change our radio dial. There is no television; Browning has not mentioned it even once since we left the states.

Our work is harder than manual labor would be because of the many frustrations and the large amount of nervous tension involved. The students are pushed through a strenuous schedule. Every morning we are up before 5:30 (sometimes long before) and then seldom get through studying but usually just quit by 10:00 or 11:00 at night. In many ways this year is the most difficult one that a missionary has.

We know that you will be praying for us that we might get the language and be able to use it effectively wherever the Lord leads us in His service. At the same time we are praying for you people in the churches at home who are supporting those of us on the foreign field.

Your missionaries,

These Forty Years!

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.

the debtor and his family into slavery forever.

In the Middle Ages a bankrupt was a criminal. Later he got some rights: Though creditors could force him to turn over all his goods, he would escape prison.

The basic concepts of our bankruptcy law: (1) Prorate the bankrupt's assets among his creditors, (2) discharge him from most of his debts, and (3) "grubstake" him by exempting certain things from the creditor's reach.

The English wanted to discourage extravagance, yet they saw that a debtor's misfortune could trap him. So the early bankruptcy laws grudgingly were only for actual tradesmen. Others had to take their medicine.

Our constitution gives Congress power, first used in 1800, "to establish a Uniform . . . Law on the subject of bankruptcies."

After Congress had passed and then repealed three laws it passed our present bankruptcy act in 1898. It amended the act in 1938 to refine liquidation and rehabilitation procedures.

Today the act relieves the debtor through liquidation, or reorganization and rehabilitation. His creditors have always worried about the debtor, but now the state through law has declared the public concern in putting him back on his feet.

The Supreme Court has said that the act aims to "relieve the honest debtor from the weight of his obligations . . . consequent upon business misfortunes."

This purpose is " . . . it gives to the honest but unfortunate debtor who surrenders (his property) a new opportunity in life and a clear field for future effort . . ."

Also the law puts creditors on notice to watch out that their debtors do not overextend themselves.

(This column, based on Federal law and prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Mrs. Paul D. Krahl and four daughters of Oklahoma City, Okla., spent Friday night with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Mitchell. Miss Becky Arrott returned home with them for several weeks visit.

News From The U. S. Congress

There can be little question but what our Nation made a grave mistake in its decision to turn over to the Japanese Army Specialist William S. Girard, for allegedly killing a Japanese woman, while on duty. There can be no justification of our drafting young men into the military service and sending them into the bases located on foreign lands only to have them stripped of the protection of the laws of this country which the Constitution guarantees them. Notwithstanding the fact that our military personnel must not be allowed to seek refuge behind American laws in an effort to escape punishment for the violation of the basic laws of foreign lands or the rules of human decent conduct, they should most certainly be entitled to take refuge under our Constitution to the extent that they be guaranteed the type of justice to which our Nation is pledged. Any agreement that would allow us to send our youths to foreign lands while refusing them the protection of the very freedom that they seek to protect can have no justification whatsoever. The Girard case has focused great public interest in this whole general subject, and there is a better chance now that some action would be taken in Congress to prevent this situation from arising in the future; however, there are two facts in the problem that Congress cannot meet: First, the Congress can only ask the President to withdraw from a treaty that would deprive our military people of the kind of justice that they are guaranteed by the Constitution, for the treaty powers are invested in the President by the Constitution; and in addition, in Girard's case, the problem did not arise under a treaty provision. The United States has contended that the treaties do not cover the Girard case but that our Government agreed to hand him over to the Japanese Government, this decision having been made by our Secretaries of State and Defense and concurred in by the President as Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Services Special Congressional Committees will shortly begin looking into this matter, and it is hoped that strong Congressional opinion will have some influence on the Executive Branch.

The House through May 31st had passed 11 appropriation bills for various departments and agencies of the Government for fiscal year 1958. The total of these appropriations show almost a Four Billion Dollar cut below the Budget estimate or an average reduction of about 7 percent. During the same period of time the Senate has finally acted on four appropriations bills with an average reduction of about 8 percent.

BANKRUPTCY

"Bankruptcy" came from the Latin "banus" (a tradesman's table) and "ruptus" (broken).

Under old English law a bankrupt was a trader who hid himself or did other things to defraud his creditors.

Under the Roman law creditors could cut up the bankrupt's body and each take his due share. Other laws would put the debtor in prison or in chains, allow whipping and hard labor. East Indian creditors could sell

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants To Qualify For Brand New Type Loan On The Grounds That He's Weak, Too

J. A.

Editors note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek may be showing a lack of grasp of the international situation, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:
After one of the greatest surprises of my life yesterday — I found a copy of a newspaper lying on my front porch, right beside my chair where I could pick it up without moving — I settled down to reading and hadn't gone far when I ran across an article that made me sit up straight and think.

According to it, the United States has figured out a new way to attack the agricultural surplus problem.

Under this plan, for example, Washington is going to lend Poland $95 million dollars with the provision that she has to use the money to buy farm surpluses from us.

Also, because Poland needs help in strengthening herself against Russia, part of the loan will be interest free.

Now this opens up a brand new method of dealing with surpluses, and I wish you'd use your influence if you haven't misplaced it to swing a deal like that for me.

That is, I don't know exactly off hand what I'd do with a lot of farm surplus, but if the government will lend me some money interest free, I'll be glad to see what I can figure out. We've all got to pull together on this thing. And while I don't need strengthening against Russia, I do need strengthening against a lot of creditors, and I don't see why Washington should quibble over this small point. If a man or a country is weak, they both need strengthening, it doesn't matter what against.

Also, it seems to me that the idea ought to have even wider use. For example, the agricultural surplus isn't the only surplus we've got in this country. I know some merchants in town who have a surplus of drygoods on their shelves. I think one or two car dealers have some cars they I like to dispose of, and I've never seen a supermarket that didn't seem to have a surplus of groceries.

If Washington will turnish me the money interest free, I'll do my part — I'll prove I'm weak and need strength, and both together we'll eat into this surplus that's bothering this country.

Please let Washington know I'm ready to sign the loan papers.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Hooten, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—It may come as a blow to the male ego, but the facts are inescapable: men belong to the weaker sex-outnumbered, outwitted, and outlived by the sturdier female.

Are women biologically more resistant to disease and death than men? Is the male animal shortening his life by greater aggressiveness, greater exposure to stress and disease, or by ignoring the laws of health? Can anything be done to reduce male mortality?

cal instructions better than men. Much can be done to reduce excessive male mortality. One investigator has suggested a national inventory of the physical, mental, and emotional assets and liabilities of men in preparation for intensifying the attack on accidents and occupational disease and the research into cardiovascular diseases and cancer.

Alleviating the stresses of competitive living in a materialistic age requires that the fragile male be continuously instructed in the laws of health and encouraged to follow them.
