

Kracker Krumbs

Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

We awoke to find a lovely Sunday day, Sunday, April 5, in the making. The sun had already started its climb in the east, shining brightly and beautifully, as if to say: "I will dry up the flooded lowlands, make the seed sprout, the plants come up and turn green and grow and become fruitful, and all nature shall declare the glory of God." And thus the "Monsoon" season was over in Texas.

k-k

We didn't hear many gripes about the wet weather, but some were ready for the rain to quit. One story going the rounds last week was that a farmer was fussing because it had rained so much he couldn't get to town to pick up his drouth relief check!

We found this in our perusing of daily newspapers a few days ago:

k-k

"Nature produces droughts and water shortages, and at other times causes floods and rings plentiful rainfall. This is it that the Southwest now presents a picture of soaked land and overflowing lakes and streams that is in marked contrast to conditions prevailing only a few weeks ago. The lack of water has been remedied almost overnight.

k-k

"When the rains continue to pour, it is easy to become complacent about the water situation and be lulled by the patter on the roof into thinking that the water problems has been solved."

Think this over. The Miller Creek reservoir proposition will be coming up for your consideration soon.

IN MEMORY OF
WAYNE PATTERSON

Munday lost one of its staunchest sports fans last week with the death of Wayne Patterson.

Mr. Patterson, or "Wayne" as he was called, was probably the best known man in Munday sports during the past years. He was a companion and loyal rooter of all players in Munday High School.

He was always around when any of the players needed a boost, and he worked as hard as any coach. There just wasn't a work-out or ball game in the past few years that Wayne wasn't on the scene, fretting over the boys, from the lowest scrub to the all-state star, it made no difference. Wayne could always be depended upon when a player needed help. He always enjoyed having the town's youth in his home. There was never one of the youngsters who was not made to feel as welcome there as in his own home.

Wayne's life leaves this memory with us:

"Live For Something"

"Do good, and leave behind you a monument of virtue that the storms of time can never destroy. Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with year by year."

k-k

Think it over: "A man may be happy without a fortune, but he can never be happy without a friend."

A CORRECTION

Our attention has been called to the fact that the names of Lloyd and Helen Patterson were omitted, through error, from the Patterson family card of thanks last week. We regret the error and are glad to make this correction.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

In first zone, per year . . . . . $2.00
 In second zone, per year . . . . . $2.50

The Munday Times is Democratic, yet supporting only what it believes to be right, and opposing what it believes to be wrong regardless of party politics, publishing the news fairly, impartially.

THE PLIGHT OF THE POSTAL SERVICE

The news media have given much attention to the financial plight of the Post Office Department, as detailed to a House Committee by the Postmaster General. He testified that a large additional appropriation . . . some $47 million . . . was needed to carry the Department through the current fiscal year if serious reduction of services was to be avoided.

The ultimate result is likely to be higher postal rates in certain classifications. One possibility, for instance, is the raising of first-class letter postage from 3 to 4 cents, and there are others. Post office receipts apparently, aren't up to post office costs, and so heavy deficits follow.

There is one important category of mail which should not be overlooked when rate-revision time comes. That is fourth-class, or parcel post. Parcel post started in 1913, was supposed to be self-supporting, and it was also supposed to supplement, not supplant, private parcel carriers. Yet, as the Hoover Commission and other authoritative bodies have demonstrated, parcel post has run at sizable direct and indirect deficits during most of its career. Thus, as a tax-subsidized undertaking, it competes unfairly with private enterprises ranging from the Railway Express system down to local cartagemen.

The principle at stake is simple . . . those who use parcel post should pay all the cost, just as they do with any commercial service. If rates were adjusted to bring that about, the post office would be in a better financial position.

CUT TAXES—BUT SPEND MORE MONEY!

In a report to constituents, a Congresswoman from Oregon says: "The proposed Federal Budget for 1958 has brought a flood of letters to my office. Almost without exception, the letters urge cuts . . . Some letters . . . urge me to vote to repeal the income tax and to cut the Budget . . . and also to vote for a pension to every citizen over 65."

This is simply an extreme example of a widely-held public attitude . . . that economy should be confined to "the other fellow." So long as it prevails, we will have grossly swollen budgets, confiscatory taxation and we will face the specter of more inflation.

ALTOONA, PA., MIRROR: "A doctor contends that people will be shorter in the next hundred years. Aw — maybe they'll reduce taxes before then."

MEDICINE AND RELIGION

Eleven years ago all patients at Bellevue Hospital in New York had to be seen by a minister. This recognition of the importance of religion by a hospital was then termed unique.

Today the once-unique has become the commonplace. Of the 7000 hospitals in the United States, 1,100 have some religious affiliation and most have available the services of ministers of three major faiths.

This change is cited in an article and editorial appearing in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The point is that American medicine and religion are in closer accord today than in any period in modern times.

Why should this be so? The editorial suggests an answer: That the individual is re-emerging from the "part-of-the-mass" status which came with merchandization and specialization of society and, helped by the increase in leisure time that has resulted from the decline in working time, "wants to know more and more about himself and how he relates to all men and all things of all times."

Whatever the causes, medicine and religion seem to be on the threshold of a "unified field theory" of faith and health. Clergymen are developing a greater interest in medicine, especially as it applies to mental health. In some cases theological students are given training in ministering to the sick, while medical students are offered elective courses in religion to help them learn about the resources the church can offer them in practice.

This is opening up great new frontiers of service to mankind. Its implications were well expressed by a professor at the Cornell University Medical College who said: "Very often we do not know what it is that brings about the recovery of the patient. I am sure that often it is faith which is a most important factor."

PLEASANTVILLE, N. J., PRESS: "The continuing battle against man's relentless enemy, cancer, must be waged increasingly. You can help by your contribution to keep research at top speed."

MORO, OREGON, SHERMAN COUNTY JOURNAL: "Those who have money tied up in social security should be the ones most interested in stopping inflation. They have the most to lose."

SMALL DAMS FOR TEXAS CONSERVATION

The state's tremendous land and water resources — ill from many years of neglect — are getting a good "shot in the arm" from the various Soil Conservation Districts.

Hundreds of small dams, known as retention reservoirs, have been constructed on upstream tributaries in major Texas watersheds. Many others are planned in conjunction with large downstream reservoirs.

These upstream water retention structures are beginning to dot the countryside. In some areas, they can be seen from the highway. They might appear, at first, to be an exaggerated "Texas-size" stock tank.

The small dam projects have a three-fold purpose: Prevent flash floods, conserve water and stop soil erosion.

Thousands of acres in lowland areas have been made available for crops and pastures because the retention structures have eliminated seasonal flash floods.

SCD co-operators in the area, through proper land treatment on farms surrounding the reservoirs, help preserve every drop that falls. They also assist the Soil Conservation Service in obtaining necessary easements for proposed reservoirs.

The dams, when constructed, remain the property of the landowners. Recreational facilities have been set up by many owners. An irrigation has been applied to small, adjoining crops.

The structures are designed to release excessive water downstream at a slow rate, thereby putting into practice the idea to "make water walk, not run." When a flash flood strikes, the reservoirs catch the water and release it very slowly.

Completion of all the planned small dams will, in the future, tend to stabilize the flow of large creeks and rivers — providing more dependable, year-round surface water supplies.

All Texans should be proud of the locally controlled Soil Conservation Districts SCD boards of supervisors and the farmer-cooperators are far-sighted, progressive leaders. They have recognized that, as the soil goes, so goes the nation. And they're doing something about it.

MODERN HOMEMAKING Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

A homemaker once said to me, "If I have something I want to sell my husband on when he comes home in the evening, I either dress up or serve hot bread." This seemed to me to be good salesmanship. I often think of her technique when I see the many packaged breads on the grocer's shelves and realize how easily she can now use both sales tools.

With the many packaged breads available, a delicious hot bread can accompany every meal and with so little effort on the part of the homemaker, she can wear her best party dress while preparing it. These packaged breads are delicious just as they are, but there are unlimited ways to vary them.

Try one of the following suggestions or create your own variation. Whether you are selling a husband on an idea or not, a hot bread can make a special event of the most ordinary meal.

Bacon-Cheese Rolls. for instance, are a treat, easy to prepare. Brush melted butter or margarine over top of each of 6 brown-'n-serve rolls. Make a lengthwise cut in top of each roll. Combine 2 tablespoons snappy cheese spread and 1 teaspoon chopped cooked bacon. Insert 1 teaspoon mixture in each cut. Place in greased shallow pan and bake in hot gas oven (400 degrees F.) 12 minutes. Serve hot.

Cinnamon Pecan Rolls are just right for breakfast. They are easy to make, also. Brush melted butter or margarine over top of each of 8 brown-'n-serve rolls. Combine  $\frac{3}{4}$ -teaspoon cinnamon, 1 tablespoon sugar, and sprinkle  $\frac{1}{2}$ -teaspoon of mixture over each roll. Top with chopped pecans.

Place in greased shallow pan and bake in hot gas oven (400 degrees F.) 12 minutes. Serve hot.

Here's one to satisfy the sweet tooth. It is Orange-Wedge Rolls. Combine 1 tablespoon orange juice, 1 tablespoon sugar and  $\frac{1}{4}$ -teaspoon cinnamon. Make slit in each of 6 soft brown-'n-serve rolls; place an orange section and some of juice in each slit. Brush with butter or margarine. Bake in hot gas oven (400 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Serve warm.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
PARSLEY - CHEESE BREAD STICKS: Combine 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon grated cheese, 1 teaspoon parsley and  $\frac{1}{2}$ -teaspoon prepared mustard. Remove crusts from 6 slices toasted bread and spread 1 tablespoon cheese mixture on each slice of toast. Place on cold broiler pan and broil as far from flame as possible for 5 minutes. strips. Makes 3 dozen bread sticks.

HOMEMAKERS LACK NUTRITION KNOWLEDGE

Most Americans get enough or too much food, but not always the right kind. Three of every four homemakers have only a scanty knowledge of nutrition, a recent study in New York State shows. The other fourth of the homemakers surveyed had only a "fair" knowledge of nutrition as related to feeding their families. Surveys are now being conducted in 12 sample Texas counties which will reveal some of the eating habits and meal planning techniques used by Texas homemakers.

The younger, better educated group know most about food values but also expressed more need for help with problems of planning, buying and preparing food. Meal planning was the most common problem reported. Women want help on planning meals that their families will enjoy. They also want the satisfaction of knowing that family meals are properly balanced and provide the nutrients needed for good health.

"Good Meals Everyday" — a new colorful publication by extension-foods and nutrition specialist, gives up-to-date information on planning balanced daily meals, on buying and preparing food. Also included are sections devoted to special needs of certain family members, infants, teenagers, over-weight and under-weight members.

Copies of the new bulletin are available at your county extension agent's office.

FINDERS KEEPERS?

"Finders keepers, losers weepers." It is this old rhyme true or false? Lawyers say it is not always strictly accurate under the law. It is sometimes rather difficult to define the rights of a finder in court.

There are some rather fine distinctions and exceptions to the "finders keepers" maxim that have plagued the courts — and finders — for generations. In the first place, the finder is not entitled to keep the property unless the original owner is not known and cannot be located. Neither may he keep it unless the object is truly "lost," and not merely "mis-laid."

In general, property is legally "lost" when parted with involuntarily — through "accident, neglect, forgetfulness or any other unintentional circumstance. Property is not lost in the legal sense when voluntarily left by the owner, intending to pick it up later — even though he fails to do so. Such property is "mis-laid."

Thus, if one loses a watch on the street by having the clasp break, not knowing where or when it was dropped, it is legally "lost." The same is true of a fountain pen falling through a hole in one's pocket unobserved. In such cases, the finder owns what he has found against all but the true owner.

On the other hand, a package left on the seat of a bus is "mis-laid" rather than lost. In one southern state, a pocketbook left in a barbershop by a customer was held to have been "left," not "lost." The barber was arrested and convicted of larceny when he spent the money that was in it.

Under the law the finder of either lost or mis-laid property should make a "reasonable effort" to find the real owner.

When articles are left on a train or bus, in a public hotel room, or even when dropped on a shop floor, under circumstances indicating that the true owner will later return to claim them, such items are not considered lost. The proper custodian to hold them for the owners return would be the proprietor or other person in charge.

Remaining unclaimed, the property sometimes goes to this custodian, sometimes to the finder. The distinction here appears to be whether the place it is found is private or semi-private, or a place used by the general public.

(This column, based on Federal law and prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

News From The U. S. Congress

The Middle East is still like a tinderbox and may go up in the flames of an area of hostilities at almost any time; however, it does seem that the very forthright and courageous action on the part of the young King of Jordan has given stability to the situation in that area. The whole free world has applauded his willingness to stand up against Communist pressure.

Interesting facts about agriculture in the Thirteenth Congressional District . . . Our Congressional District has 8,646 farms which represent 1,645,000 acres, of which 548,000 are in crop land. The total value of agricultural products sold in 1954 in our Congressional District were $27,282,000 which is an average of $3,155 per farm. Cotton remains the principal farm product. These figures are from a recent survey made by the Department of Commerce based on the 1954 census of agriculture.

This week saw the passing from the National scene of probably the most controversial man to sit in the United States Senate in recent times, Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin. At his height, Senator McCarthy was one of the most influential men in Congress, and the investigations that he conducted will long be remembered. Since being censured by the Senate several years ago, his influence has continued to decrease until at the time of his death he lived in obscurity.

The current economy drive in Congress will unquestionably continue. This is true despite reports that the President and Members of his Cabinet are reported to be ready to exert as much influence as possible to gain Congressional approval of the Budget. The President is reported ready to take his case to the people. During the next six weeks or two months when the House is considering the remainder of the appropriation bills, I believe the feeling will continue to grow that we must cut enough out of the Budget to justify some reasonable tax reductions.

Visitors this week were Mr. Charles W. Ward, Jr., of Wichita Falls; Mr. Joe M. Leonard, Jr., and Mr. Frank Morris, Jr., of Gainesville; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Graham of Knox City; and Mr. Patrick R. Thomas of Vernon.

Notes From Home Demonstration Clubs

Twenty three different vegetables and garden fruits are growing in the garden of Mrs. J. W. Melton, H. D. member of Benjamin. This garden is furnishing 6 different vegetables for the table at this time and has furnished lettuce, endive, and onions all winter. For the last three months asparagus as well as the leafy vegetables have been available for use with some for freezing.

In addition to the 23 different vegetables and garden fruits, Mrs. Melton has two or more varieties of a number of these. She has most all the items that are commonly grown in this section of the country and also swiss chard, gerkins, sweet potatoes, endive, hot pepper (including the small pepper-sauce type, and sweet pepper plant ready to set), also parsley, garlic, sage and dill.

Mrs. Melton is a great-grandmother whose gardening is done more for a hobby than for vegetable production.

Top Crop is a new variety of snap beans recommended for heavy production. By making repeated plantings of beans every three or four weeks, during spring and early summer, a continuous supply of fresh beans may be produced.

Garden insects usually are easy to keep in check if the measures are used while the insects are young and before they build up in large numbers.

Regular applications of an all-purpose garden insecticide dust every 7 to 10 days is suggested. A regular program of insect control will keep the insects to a minimum and prevent serious damage to the plants. A number of these all-purpose dusts are available to the gardener. All contain a combination of insecticides that will control both chewing and sucking insects.

When weather conditions become favorable for farm and ranch work, farmers and ranchmen will be busier than in many years trying to catch-up with all of the jobs which are now behind schedule. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council passes on this word of warning. "Fatigue plays a most important part in farm accidents. . . don't drive yourself nor your farm workers to the point of exhaustion. It will pay to conserve your health and well-being just as it does to conserve other resources. Just plain be careful," advises the Council.

in a LOVING, SOVEREIGN GOD

A little brown-eyed girl returning home from Sunday school said to her mother, "I wish God were like Jesus."

When her mother asked her what she thought about God, she indicated that to her God was distant and unfriendly. She thought Jesus kind, friendly, and very close.

Her mother explained to her that much of what we know about God is what Jesus told us about him. She reminded her of the statement Jesus used to describe God to his disciples: "O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee; but I have known thee. . . ." (John 17:25), and "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father" (John 14:9). Her mother said that Jesus came to earth and showed us what God is like.

With her big brown eyes she looked at her mother and said, "So my wish has come true. God is like Jesus."

Have you wondered what God is like? Baptists follow the Bible in believing Jesus showed us what God is like. The Bible teaches that God is all powerful, but also that he makes moral laws which he himself obeys. For instance, God has said, "Thou shalt not bear false witness." He does not lie. God is supreme but he is not a cruel dictator, arbitrarily exercising his supreme power without regard for justice.

God is love. Jesus made this very plain. He once said, "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son . . ." (John 3:16). His love is a giving love.

The greatest demonstration of the supreme power of God is found in what he did in giving his Son to die for us, so that by accepting his Son we might have eternal life with God. God shows his great power in his great love. Love teaches that it is greater to give life than to kill, to build up than to destroy, to give than to get, to lift up than to crush, to heal than to hurt.

The little brown-eyed girl made one of life's greatest discoveries when she found out that all of the love and helpfulness she saw in Jesus is the love and helpfulness God gives. God's greatness is proved in what Jesus showed he does for man.

God loves us, and wants us to accept his offer to save us from sin. But he will not force this love on us. We must make our own choice. He will not compel us to accept his love against our will.

God is friendly; he is gracious. He wants to be known as Father. Jesus told his disciples to shut themselves up in a closet with God and say, "Our Father." Alone with God—it is the safest place in the world. This is what Baptists believe.

New Deadly Disease Taking Toll Of Lives That Miracle Drug Won't Stop

A new, deadly disease has the American people in its grip and no miracle drug is in sight to stop its frightful toll of human lives.

Heedless horsepower is the chronic disease of the Age of the Automobile. Its symptoms are many and various. The heavy foot on the accelerator; the eye fixed on the climbing speedometer; the hand on the horn; the mind idling while the car is in high.

In its 23rd annual highway safety publication, "Heedless Horsepower," The Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, Conn., point to the fact that 40, 000 Americans were killed and 2,368,000 injured in 1956 on U. S. highways. That's an increase of six per cent in fatalities and nearly ten per cent in injuries over 1955's toll.

"The disease of heedless horsepower is highly contagious," the booklet states. It can be spread by an irresponsible word, an inflated claim, a careless example. And everyone who is in a position to influence drivers should learn that horsepower, in the hands of the heedless, is the fundamental cause of our ever-mounting toll of disaster.

In recent years, engineers have made many attempts to feature safety equipment in the new cars. Probably many lives have been spared by safety glass, seat belts, padded instrument panels, all-steel bodies, etc. But these safety devices can be nullified by any combination of speed plus carelessness, thoughtlessness or lack of judgement by the driver behind the wheel.

However, it is the driver, not the manufacturer, the advertiser or the salesman who must bear the greatest weight of blame. For it is the driver who can control the horsepower and use it safely for his greater ease and convenience. It is the driver who is lectured to legislated at, prayed for, preached to . . . in every medium of public expressions known to man. And it is the driver who nods sagely, promises readily, and forgets everything but his sense of overwhelming power when he steps on the gas.

Casualty lists on U. S. highways have mounted steadily until in 1956 all records of heedless haste and needless waste were shamefully broken. The facts of human suffering and death speak for themselves.

Human error is by far the biggest single cause of accidents. Figures compiled by The Travelers show that in 96.4 per cent of the fatal crashes last year, the automobile was in apparently good condition. Clear, dry weather prevailed in more than 85 per cent of these instances!

If this year's record is equal to that of 1956, one in 70 Americans will be a statistic . . . a pain wracked survivor, or a name in the obituary column.

Courts Nipping Hunting Cases

AUSTIN—Late winter or spring hunting hasn't been legal in Texas for almost half a century, yet game wardens find sizeable efforts to follow this "sport," according to the Director of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission.

His latest statewide arrest report shows that more than one third of the violations taken into court involved out-of-season shooting at game birds and other animals.

The Director suggested one way to avoid this crisis, for those having difficulty in distinguishing one season from another, is to "dig a can of angle worms and get legal with the current fishing craze."

An indication that some already are following this trend is the item in the report showing that twenty-seven persons got tickets for failure to have resident fishing licenses.

On the off-season hunting front, some of the violators ran up expensive overhead for their indiscretions. Two men from Idabel, Oklahoma, were fined $300 plus costs for killing deer in closed season in the Clarksville area.

That citadel of justice - Columbus in Colorado County - again was bracketed with the ster-

Social Security Yellow Leaflet Is Aid For Farmers

A farmer walked into the Wichita Falls, Texas social security district office the other day and said: "A crew of migrant workers are coming out to my place tomorrow to start chopping the cotton crop. Do I have to keep a record of the cash wages I pay them and take the social security tax out of their earnings?"

While the farmer was asking this question, a crew leader was inquiring at another desk in the same social security office. He was furnishing a crew of workers to hoe corn on another farm. Was he their employer for social security purposes?

Both the farmer and the crew leader were handed a yellow leaflet. It answered briefly and clearly their individual questions. The farmer was the employer if he and the crew leader had agreed in writing that the crew leader was also his employee. If there was no written agreement to that effect, then the crew leader was the employer if he paid the workers either on his own behalf or for the farmer. If there was no written agreement between the farmer and the crew leader, and the crew leader did not pay the workers, then whoever had the final right to control the crew members was the employer under the social security law.

The leaflet in question is entitled "Social Security Information for Crew Leaders and Farmers." It is available for the asking at the Wichita Falls social security district office, which is located at 421 Federal Building, P. O. Box 1650. In addition to explaining clearly farmer-crew leader-farm crew relationships for social security purposes, the leaflet contains a tear-off postcard which an employer of farm labor can use to obtain an employer identi-defenders of the law, with three different illegal deer hunters being assessed $200 fines each plus costs. Two were from Wharton and one from Fayetteville. One was charged with hunting at night, one with hunting in closed season and the other with killing a doe deer.

One Brownsville man paid $75 plus costs for buying game birds. The same penalty was exacted of a Houston man for running deer with dogs, an ancient custom outlawed in all but a few Texas communities.

HIGH WATER INCREASE TEXAS CATTLE SALES
FORT WORTH—Expansion of the cattle receipts was general over the country Monday, and at Fort Worth a part of the increase was credited to movement of cattle and calves out of lowlying pastures by the high water. In some cases the cattle were reported moved off pastures which are now at the bottom of some of the larger lakes.

Other shippers reported they were starting shipping a bit earlier than usual because of their reluctance to wait until the annual Summer break in cattle prices hits the grass fat variety of yearlings and older cattle. "The high prices on grass cattle can't be expected to hold once hot weather comes," was the way one East Texas cowman put it. "A sharp price break would more than offset any gains we could put on."

Slaughter cattle and calves opened in the face of sharply lower bids at Fort Worth Monday, but reliable stocker demand and some independent packer support, offset the worst of the low bids. Prices on slaughter cattle and calves ranged from steady to 25 to 50 cents lower. Stocker classes were firm.

Comparative prices: Good and fat yearlings and heifers $19.00-23.00; few mature steers arrived.

Common and medium yearlings and heifers $12 to $18. Fat cows $12.50 to $15, some heiferish kinds to $16. Cannors and cutters drew $8.50 to $12.50. Bulls were reported from $11 to $15.75.

Good and choice fat calves sold from $19 to $22.50, a few fancy kinds $23 to $23.50. Cull to medium slaughter calves $10 to $17. Stocker calves $23 down, and stocker steer yearlings $21.50 down.

BIG RUN OF SHEEP SELLS FULLY STEADY

Upwards of 12,000 sheep and lambs arrived at Fort Worth Monday, one of the largest runs of the Spring. Trade was active from the start and prices were fully steady. Once again packers were taking virtually all of the offering, as slaughter prices were well above feeder limits on most kinds.

Good and choice spring lambs drew $22 to $23.50 and cull, common and medium Spring lambs sold from $15 to $21. Good and choice shorn old crop lambs cashed at $18 to $21.50, with lambs with No. 1 pelt at $21.50. No. 2 pelts sold from $21 down, and No. 3 pelts sold from $20.50 down. Cull to medium shorn lambs cashed at $12 to $17.

Aged slaughter ewes cashed at $5 to $7, and old bucks sold from $5 to $5.50. Two-year-olds sold from $16 down. Aged wethers drew $12 down.

HOGS OPENED MOSTLY STEADY ON MONDAY

Choice butcher hogs topped at $18.50 to $18.75 at Fort Worth Monday, or steady to 25 cents above the previous close. Medium grade hogs sold from $15 to $18. Sows cashed at $15 to $16.50.

TOP CATTLEMEN NAMED AS JUDGES, SUPERVISORS

Judges and supervisory committees for the STOCKER-FEEDER SPECIAL at the Fort Worth Livestock Market were announced Monday by the Texas Hereford Association and the Texas Angus Association. The sale will be held Friday, May 10 and will be open to all breeds, but the associations will judge entries of their own breeds.

Secretary Henry Elded reported Herman Carr of Weatherford and Jeff Slocum of Cresson would judge the whitefaced entries and Secretary Glen Toie said the blacks would be judged by Joe Lemley of San Angelo and Les Ljungdahl, manager of the Essar Ranches, who lives in San Antonio.

President R. J. Roeder of Yorktown announced the Hereford stocker-feeder special committee to serve the rest of the season would be Kirk Edwards, Henrietta; Elton Dudley, Comanche; Carr; Ferd Slocum, Cresson; D. Burns, Guthrie; Watt Matthews, Albany; Clyde Wells, Granbury and D. G. Talbot, Fort Worth.

President Herman Allen of Menard announced the Angus stocker-feeder special committee would be Stewart Sewell, Jacksboro, and Bill King of Grapevine.

Early entries Monday indicated a sizable number of stocker cows, heifers, and several shipments of pairs of cows and calves would be in the offering. Some of these cattle are purebreds, and many others are from top commercial herds.

Weekly Health LETTER
 Issued by Henry A. Hoyle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—The Big Three in America today are reserpine, chlorpromazine, and meprobamate. They are tranquilizing drugs . . . so-called "happy pills." And as more and more people take them for real and imagined tensions, they are fast becoming household words.

Americans last year spent well over $150 million for various types. A single drug company reported the sale of 30 billion tablets during the first 10 months of 1956, and indicated that sales were expected to double in 1957.

Scientific studies indicate that the drugs have great value in the treatment of some types of mental illness, but when healthy people, for no other reason than that they had a bad day at the office or that the children have been unusually noisy, begin eating them like popcorn, an insidious danger is in the making.

Like other valuable drugs, tranquilizers can be harmful physically and mentally. Medical researchers have reported that in some cases there is a tendency toward habit formation. In a few cases unpleasant side reactions have occurred. Some users have been depressed rather than calmed. Calm users have become excited. Some reactions have been severe enough to require hospitalization and extensive treatment. And only time can tell whether prolonged use will permanently damage the nervous system.

Last September, some 700 of the nation's foremost authorities on mental illness met to discuss tranquilizers and some of the problems their wide usage had raised. The conference concluded that the drugs do evidently relieve tensions in mentally disturbed persons, but for every research team reporting positive results, another reported failure in trying to duplicate those results.

Certain tranquilizers influence the release of a body chemical called serotonin . . . a hormone found most heavily concentrated in the brain. What the chemical does is not yet fully understood, but present belief is that it acts as a switch to turn moods on and off by sending impulses of good or bad feeling along the pathways of the central nervous system. Enough serotonin in the brain might actually be a factor in sanity. When the role of this hormone is fully known we may have the final answer as to how certain tranquilizers produce their effects.

More than a dozen tranquilizers are already on the market. Some are used very beneficially in hospitals; others by private physicians in their practice. All are potentially powerful medical tools. But it will take time . . . perhaps years . . . to test them thoroughly.

Until that day comes, all of us would do well to remember that a certain amount of tension and anxiety is a part of normal life. Peace of mind and zestful living do not yet come in pills. It comes from facing our problems and working to solve them. In any event the so-called tranquilizers should only be taken under the direction of a physician.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Willing To Risk The Monotony Of Getting Same Price Every Year For His Calves

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses the cattle business this week, a subject he's as much an authority on as he is the international situation, if you follow us.

Dear editor:
I didn't have anything to do the other afternoon, or rather I had plenty to do but wasn't interested, and went into town to sort of break the monotony and while I was there I borrowed a newspaper off the cafe counter and the first thing that caught my eye was an article about a proposal an agricultural expert has for stabilizing, as he calls it, the cattle business.

According to him, if the oil industry can prorate oil production, which as I understand it means control the amount of oil anybody with an oil well can take out in any one month and thus maintain the price of oil at around $3 a barrel, then farmers and ranchers can prorate the cattle business, control the number of calves being raised, and hold the price of a steer at 33 cents a pound.

However, he went on, this might get awfully monotonous, selling cattle at 33 cents a pound year after year, and might detract from the system whereby a man doesn't know when a calf is born what it'll be worth at selling time. He said it might take the adventure out of cattle raising.

Well, now, I'll tell you, getting 33 cents a pound for a steer might get monotonous to some people, but as far as I'm concerned it ain't near as monotonous as getting 15 cent one year, 12 the next, 18 the next, etc.

To some people, raising a calf to market age may be an adventure, but as far as I'm concerned the adventure comes after you sell him for a profit and start figuring what you'll do with the money.

I know from experience that there's a certain amount of adventure in raising cattle, even scrub cows, in looking after them, watching the calves grow while you sit in the shade and speculate, figuring when it's time to load em up and head for market, but the big adventure comes when you get your check, and one of the most monotonous things on earth is getting one smaller than you figured.

If this fellow can figure out how to guarantee me a price of 33 cents a pound for calves, year after year, tell him to go ahead, I'll bear up under the monotony of it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

BOYCE HOUSE
Gives You Texas

A slender active, gray-haired man who was living in retirement in Ranger a decade ago entertained this chronicler with his vivid memories of 56 years' service in the oil industry.

James McLaughlin was born in Pennsylvania where his father was an oil field teaming contractor. The lad, large and sturdy for his age, began to work around wells when he was only 11. Most of his long career was spent in the pipeline division.

Laying lines in early days was productive of difficulties from landowners. While a line was being built into Cushing oil field in Oklahoma, an Indian and his family blocked the way with weapons. The man had an awe-some record, it being said that, on one occasion, he was deputized to bring in three outlaws and he did—in a wagon, dead. Anyway, "Mr. Mc," who had charge of the construction, persuaded him to allow the line to cross his land.

"Of course, we paid him a good amount for the right-of-way," McLaughlin related. The man had not understood he was to be paid anything.

Another time also in Oklahoma, a big well came in and, for some reason, it could not be shut in, so a line was being rushed to the scene. A landowner forbade the crew to cross his land.

"He was a giant of a man with piercing black eyes and he was certainly mad," McLaughlin said. "I kept my hands in my pockets so he couldn't see how bad they were trembling. He opened his mouth to speak but I said, 'Before you say anything, let me ask you a question: Suppose a big oil well had been drilled on your land and the oil was running down the creek and a neighbor wouldn't let a pipeline get to your well, how would you feel about it?' The man said, 'You're right.'"

There was one occasion when a man attempted a shakedown. A line was going to cross the land of some of his neighbors and he came into town and told McLaughlin. "Just pay me and I'll take care of my neighbors." Mr. Mc listened courteously, said he'd like a little time to think about it. Meanwhile he had a bowl of fruit brought in and he and the other munched on big juicy apples and enjoyed a long social visit. Several hours went by quite pleasantly but McLaughlin said he still was not ready to answer, so the man left. When he got home he found that a big crew, working at top speed, had crossed the neighbors' land.

It was rumored that he was very angry but Mr. Mc didn't hunt him up to find out.

Miss Paula Ann Conwell of Fort Worth visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Conwell, over the week end.

Mrs. Billy Reeves and three children of Fort Worth are here visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. U. Hathaway.
