

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By Roy England, Knox County Agent

Mr. Wilfred Klement, graduate entomologist from Texas A&M College, has been hired by a group of businessmen in the Munday, Knox City, and O'Brien area to assist the farmers in this area in the control of cotton insects. Mr. Klement will cover this area by the following weekly schedule: On Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, he will cover the Goree, Munday and Rhineland area; on Wednesday and Saturday, the Knox City and O'Brien area. While in the Munday area, Mr. Klement can be contacted at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Additional cucumber acreage is being planned by the Munday Vegetable Growers Co-op, and any farmer interested in planting cucumbers during the period July 1-10 should contact the Co-op manager or one of the officers. A guaranteed price has already been arranged for.

4-H District Camp

Tommy Dickerson, of Munday, Maynard Moore, of Rhineland, and Jim Frank Coulston of Vera, accompanied by the county agent, departed Wednesday morning for Buffalo Gap to attend the annual 4-H District Camp. Activities during the 3-day camp will include study groups in entomology, plant life, Soil and water Conservation, wild life, crafts, and various recreational activities.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Judging from the questions asked at the Internal Revenue offices, a lot of people have trouble understanding Federal estate and gift tax laws. Here are the basic rules:

- (1) You don't have to pay any estate tax unless the estate is worth more than $60,000;
- (2) In Texas, a community property state, if the entire estate is community property, no tax is due unless the community (husband and wife's property) estate is worth more than $120,000;
- (3) You don't have to pay income tax on inherited property but you do have to pay income tax on earnings from inherited property, and
- (4) You don't have to pay income tax on a gift. The giver must file a gift tax return if the gift is worth more than $3,000.

STOCKER DEMAND AGAIN BROAD, PRICES STRONG

FORT WORTH—Demand for replacement cattle and calves was again a dominant factor in the opening trade at Fort Worth Monday. The present scale of cattle prices which reflects replacement stock selling at higher prices than finished cattle in most cases, leaves room for little doubt as to the optimism of feeders concerning the long-term prospects.

Efforts of the slaughter interests to weaken grass cattle and calf prices were largely unavailing, since the stocker buyers again took most of the two-way or borderline cattle at prices superior to packer values.

Fed cattle moved readily, with good and choice steers and yearlings at $20 to $24, and plain and medium butcher sorts from $13 to $19. Fat cows drew $13 to $15.50, and canners and cutters cashed at $8.50 to $13. Bulls scored $11 to $16.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold mostly from $19 to $22, a few fancy calves to $22.50. Common and medium butcher sorts drew $14 to $18, and culls cashed at $10 to $13.

Stocker and feeders continued to move at the best levels since November, 1952. Choice stocker steer calves sold at $24.50 and heifer calves at $21.50 down. Late last week a new high for the year was reached as steer calves scored $25.50 and their heifer mates sold for $22. Stocker yearlings sold from $22 down, and feeder heifers sold from $20 down.

HOGS REGAIN LAST WEEK'S DECLINES

The decline in hog prices last week, due to the heat wave in the northeastern states, was partially recovered at Fort Worth Monday. Choice butcher hogs topped at $20.50, an advance of 50 to 75 cents over last week's low close. Sows at $17.50 down, were 50 cents higher.

SHEEP AND LAMBS OPEN ON STEADY BASIS

The bulk of the offerings in the sheep yards at Fort Worth were medium and lower grades, and prices were fully steady with the previous close.

Good and choice slaughter Spring lambs cashed at $18 to $20, and some shorn Spring lambs sold at $19. Cull to medium Springers sold from $13 to $17.50. Feeder Spring lambs sold from $17.50 down.

Good and choice yearling lambs cashed at $15.50 to $17, and cull to medium yearling lambs sold from $10 to $15. Feeder wether yearling lambs sold from $15 down. Slaughter ewes sold from $6 to $7. Old wethers cashed at $12 down. Some breeding ewes sold from $9 to $13 per head. Aged bucks sold around $5.

TWO SPECIAL FEEDER SALES SET IN JULY

The strong demand for stockers and feeders is expected to continue fairly well due to the Improved pasture and water conditions and many commercial cattle men are looking forward to the special stocker and feeder sales at Fort Worth in July as an opportunity to market their cattle at the best July weights in many years. Currently strong prices, will enhance the returns greatly, along with the added poundage.

First of the special sales will be for Angus, or Angus cross-breds, on July 12. The sale is the third annual event at the Fort Worth market for the blacks, and in each of the previous sales new high marks for numbers and prices have been chalked up. This record is expected to be kept intact in view of the above mentioned factors.

The second July sale is for commercial Herefords and white-faced crosses. The sale is expected to attract some of the best quality commercial whiteface cattle in the Southwest this year, and competition for the championships will be keen between many of the "name" bunches of cattle.

Some intense interest from out-of-state buyers ranges from inquiry from Clearwater, Kansas, for some light 300 to 400 pound calves, to a letter from Louisiana asking if some club calf prospects will be included. Cornbelt feeders are especially interested in the prospects for seeing some fleshy feeding types of cattle which can take a quick turn in the feedlot and hit a high market early in the Fall.

These sales are jointly sponsored by the Texas Angus Association, the Texas Hereford Association, and the Fort Worth Market Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fatharee of Fort Worth visited her mother and brother, Mrs. Ellie Phillips and Murry, last Saturday enroute to Ruidoso, N. M., where they have their summer home.

A CHANGE IN THE POLIO PICTURE
With the introduction of the Salk vaccine the polio picture in this country has undergone a radical change. Since this change has a bearing on the health of your entire family, you ought to know about it.

Here's what has happened in the past few years:

Children from five to nine years old used to be one of the largest groups of victims. In 1952 they accounted for 24 per cent of all paralytic cases. By now most of these school youngsters have been vaccinated and the proportion of cases among them is declining. In 1956 it dropped to 16 per cent of all cases. That's the bright side of the polio picture.

Of course, with a decline in one age group, there has been a corresponding rise in percentages among other age groups not yet protected by Salk vaccine.

Take pre-school youngsters under five years old, for instance. In 1952 they comprised 29 per cent of paralytic cases. In 1956 the proportion had climbed to 39 per cent. Infants one and two years old had the highest percentage of all. That's why polio authorities like the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis urge that they be first on the vaccination list.

The next most vulnerable group in the new polio picture are teenagers and young adults from 15 to 40 years. In 1952 they comprised 33 per cent of paralytic cases. In 1956 the percentage was 34 per cent. Since polio paralysis is especially disastrous to wage earners in a family, the need protection is urgent.

Think these figures over. If your school-age children have been vaccinated, that's fine. But don't forget the other members under 40 in your family, starting with the baby.

According to the Associated Press, the gas utilities and pipeline companies have so far spent $500 million on holes in the ground. These holes amount to warehouses, in which gas is stored in the warm season for delivery when winter sends demand soaring.

Companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange paid their common share owners $2,124,608,430 in cash dividends during the first quarter of 1957—a record high for any past comparable period.

A SAFE FOURTH OF JULY
From Independence, Calif., to Independence, Mo., to Independence, Va., Americans will celebrate the 181st anniversary of their independence on July 4.

In 1956, a total of 137 persons died in motor vehicle accidents during a one-day holiday. Seventy-six drowned. One was a victim of fireworks. Thirty-eight others died from miscellaneous causes.

The last four-day Fourth of July holiday was in 1950. A shocking 491 traffic deaths were recorded. A total of 793 persons died from all causes. And the traffic accident death toll that year was well below what it is now.

What kind of Fourth of July will this be for the nation's motorists? For the swimmers? For the tots who twirl sparklers?

It will be a fun-filled Fourth if it's properly controlled. On this 181st birthday of U. S. independence, a look backward shows graphically how controls contribute to safety.

In the year 1903 fireworks took 466 lives. The fledgling automobile . . . a stiff-jointed youngster then . . . took only 400 lives for the whole year.

Last year on the Fourth only one person died from fireworks. But on the highways between Independence, Calif., and Independence, Mo., and Independence, Va., 137 died in auto accidents . . . in one day!

The National Safety Council, in an effort to make this Fourth a holiday from accidents, urges motorists . . . and the swimmers who'll swarm to beaches and the youngsters who'll thrill at the excitement of fireworks . . . to "Be safe on the Fourth . . . be alive on the Fifth!"

STOCKTON, KAN., RECORD: "Ever since J. Edgar Hoover announced a few months ago that he was of the opinion that the names of juvenile offenders should be publicized, there has been considerable argument pro and con in the press of this country . . . More and more the pendulum seems to be swinging to Mr. Hoover's idea."

CARLSBAD, N. M., CURRENT ARGUS: " . . . West German housewives are complaining that their husbands won't help them with the kitchen work despite a new law that gives the women equal rights with men . . . Congress is expected to pass a bill just most any day, giving American men equal rights with women."

Frankfurters fit right into summer eating plans. Call them franks, hot dogs, weiners or by any other name and they are always popular. That goes with adults as well as with the younger set.

Store frankfurters in the refrigerator until ready to use. Authorities say their flavor deteriorates when frozen, so freezer storage is not recommended. Serve them right from the package if you like, for they are cooked, but there are more ways to cook them than there are names to call them.

To cook franks in water, first bring the water to a boil over a full gas flame. Use enough water to cover the franks. Add the franks to the boiling water, cover the pan with a close fitting lid and turn off the flame. Let stand 5 to 8 minutes. Franks will be piping hot and plump. This gentle heating keeps their plump shape. Boil them and they shrivel.

For broiling, just place franks about 3 inches from a full gas flame to broil to a light brown. Bake them in a shallow baking dish in a moderate gas oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. Stuffed franks are good for broiling or baking. For stuffing, split them almost all the way through lengthwise. Stuff with sauerkraut, baked beans, potato salad, mashed potatoes or cheese sticks. Applesauce makes a slightly different stuffing. Wrap the applesauce stuffed ones with a strip of bacon.

To fancy franks up a bit, make them into kebabs. Alternate chunks of the meat on skewers with mushrooms and stuffed olives. Brush with melted butter or margarine. For rotisserie cooking, rotate the skewers about 3 inches from a full gas flame until kebabs are evenly browned. For broiling, place kebabs about 3 inches from a full gas flame and broil 3 or 4 minutes each side.

Recipe Of The Week
BARBECUED FRANKS: Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in a saucepan over a medium gas flame. Add one-half cup minced onion and cook until tender. Add one cup water, three-fourths cup catsup, one tablespoon brown sugar, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon

Over-exposure To Heat And Sun May Cause Heat Cramps And Exhaustion

Excessive heat takes more than four times as many lives annually as excessive cold.

More persons die each year from too much heat than from accidental electrocutions.

These are facts on excessive heat presented by the National Safety Council.

Heat cramps and heat exhaustion — results of excessive heat — come from over-exposure to sun or intense heat. Heat cramps are caused by excessive loss of salt from the system through perspiration and are identified by cramps in the abdomen and in arm and leg muscles.

Heat exhaustion — which doesn't always accompany heat cramps — has these symptoms: paleness, chills, dizziness, nausea, abnormal sweating, rapid and shallow breathing, rapid and weak pulse, weakness, below-normal temperature and skin either hot or cold and clammy.

Unconsciousness and possible death may result in severe cases, the Council said.

Heavy exertion in abnormally high temperatures — engine rooms, foundries, steel mills, bakeries and laundries, for example — may cause heat sickness.

Most susceptible to heat sickness are persons not used to high temperatures, those in poor health or previous sufferers from it. Here's how it can be prevented:

1. Avoid alcohol and ice water. Instead, drink cool water and citrus fruit juices. Eat vegetables and easy-to-digest foods.

2. Wear light, loose clothing. Avoid over-fatigue. Bathe daily and get plenty of sleep.

3. Replace body salt lost through excessive perspiration by salting your food or taking salt when you take a drink of water.

First aid for heat exhaustion should include these points:

1. Remove the victim to circulating air.

2. Keep him lying down. Apply blankets over and under him.

3. If he's conscious, give him warm liquids to drink — also salted water (a teaspoonful to a pint).

Fish Ponds Full; Owners Want Fish

AUSTIN—Land owners whose stock tanks and farm ponds have been dry since they were built now are wanting fish to stock them, according to the Director of Inland Fisheries of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

On Tuesday the Department received 204 applications in one mail. During the past two weeks thousands of others have poured into the office.

Several of the hatcheries have been badly crippled by flood waters, curtailing the production materially. Applications will be processed and efforts will be made to distribute the fish as equitably as possible to the major impoundments, according to the Director.

On ponds smaller than ten acres, no fish can be delivered by the Department before September 1. Owners, however, whose applications have been approved, can pick up fish by calling at the hatcheries. Since bass fry are no longer available, lakes in excess of 9 acres cannot be stocked with them before the spring of 1958.

Guar Planting Season Continues Through July 15

The beautiful drought-breaking rains have resulted in unfavorable conditions for the timely planting of spring and early summer crops and many farmers are running far behind schedule compared to the normal plan of operations.

The wide and extensive range of planting season for guar will be of particular interest to farmers in Texas where, for many crops, planting deadlines are advancing rapidly and, in instances, have already passed. Guar, a soil-conditioning summer legume, can be planted through June and the forepart of July as a combination soil-improving and cash crop offering substantial returns to the grower.

Guar is strictly a hot weather crop and thrives when moisture is available for growth. The 1957 summer season promises excellent performance for guar and apparent assurance of crop production, even on lands following winter crops of small grain.

Seed is in plentiful supply from wholesale seed houses and available through retail seed dealers. Plant guar like milo or begar, but at only 5 to 6 pounds per acre, and cultivate to keep fields clean. It harvests readily with standard combines.

Cattle Numbers Are Down, Higher Prices Possible

For the first time in seven years, cattle numbers are down in the United States. A nationwide drop of 2 percent in total cattle numbers last year coupled with recent widespread rain creates a better-than-average chance for higher prices.

The long drouth was largely responsible for this decline, and cattle numbers have not yet turned downward in either the South or Midwest although Texas registered a 7 percent reduction in 1956. Actually, national numbers are now at a point of balance and could swing either way if moisture conditions keep on improving.

Extension Economist John McHoney says cattle prices will probably improve if rains continue to fall at the right time and in the right places. He figures this would cause many ranchers to restock, holding back a good many heifer calves from slaughter. He says it also might create a better demand for steer and heifer stockers.

McHoney says American cattlemen can generally expect higher prices in a few years if the overall economic activity and non-farm income remains high. He bases this prediction on the declining cattle to people ratio in recent years with the assumption that it will continue.

The economist advises cattle raisers to finish animals out by late June to avoid heavy July and August marketing. There were 4 percent more cattle on feed in January than a year earlier and indications this year point to a longer feeding period. Feeder cattle prices won't increase greatly by next fall, but they will probably be slightly higher. Increased pork and poultry supplies will compete with beef.

Yes, sir, Mr. President! As the Electric Servant, my average hourly residential wage has been going down steadily, right along!

Let's look at the record of my hourly wage in homes across West Texas:

In 1937 (20 years ago) it averaged . . . 4 1/2¢ an hour

In 1947 (10 years ago) it averaged . . . 4¢ an hour

In 1952 (When you became President) it averaged 3 3/4¢ an hour

In 1957 (Today) it averages ONLY . . . 3 1/4¢ an hour

News From The U. S. Congress

This week saw the approval by the House of the so-called "civil rights" bill. This bill is the most ill advised piece of legislation to be considered by the Congress since Reconstruction Days. It violates many of the fundamental concepts of individual freedom that we have always had in this country, the most important of which is a trial by jury in contempt cases. Practically all of the Republicans and most Northern Democrats supported the bill leaving only slightly over one hundred Members from the South opposing it. The proponents of the bill are now maneuvering to bring it to the Senate Floor for consideration. It can only be hoped that they cannot be successful in their attempts until the public generally has had an opportunity to find out the details of this legislative monstrosity for I cannot see that once the public knows what the bill proposes to do that it could have any widespread support.

Reported out of the House Committee this week were recommendations for the approval of several more Hoover Commission recommendations on budget and fiscal control. One of these would overhaul the accounting procedure for Federal budgeting, and the resulted savings are expected to run into billions over a period of years.

The Senate has given its final approval to the appropriations for the Departments of Agriculture, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare. One major amendment to the Agriculture Department appropriations bill was restoration of authority to continue the acreage reserve portion of the Soil Bank through the 1958 crop year. This had been voted down in the House.

Recently there has been much public interest concerning the possibility of radio active fall-out from the tests that are being conducted in the United States and other parts of the world and just to what extent this fall-out may be a threat to livestock, crops, and human beings. We have heard a great deal recently in magazines, newspapers, and other publications about this effect on humans; however, little has been said about what it would do to livestock and crops. The Department of Agriculture has recently prepared a pamphlet answering some of the questions about fall-out in this area and also giving suggestions to farmers as to how to protect themselves as well as livestock and crops. Anyone desiring this bulletin which is entitled "Defense Against Radio Active Fall-Out on the Farm," may have a copy by writing me at 1329 House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Visitors from home were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Crawford, Mr. Jerry John Crawford, Mr. R. L. Crawford, Jr., all of Lewisville; Mr. Bill Kolter of Wichita Falls, Miss Marion Dean of Denton; and Mr. and Mrs. W. Buel Bowman of Vernon.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Hoin, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN — Although summer has hardly started in Texas, school days are practically around the corner and it is time that mothers should start thinking about getting the young ones ready for school again.

Special consideration should be given to the thousands of Texas youngsters who will be starting school for the first time.

Most school districts have certain requirements which must be met before a child may be entered in school. Foremost in nearly every school is proof of birth.

If you do not have a copy of your child's birth certificate, a certified copy may be obtained from the Texas State Department of Health for a one dollar fee.

Write to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas. Be certain to include the child's name, birth date and birth place, and the name of his parents. Also, enclose $1.00 cash (at your own risk) or money order. Do it now and avoid the rush.

Every child should have a pre-school health examination. Height, weight, posture, vision and hearing should be checked. Often school beginners' problems can be traced to faulty vision and hearing.

Have your dentist go over your child's teeth again. With the excitement and challenge of school, new physical — and emotional — demands are made on him and to get the most out of school, he needs to be physically ready for it.

With school come more chances for exposure to communicable diseases. This isn't the school's fault — it's because your child is becoming a part of a bigger world.

To help prevent illness, check up on immunizations, especially your school district's requirements. See that your child is still protected against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, small-pox, and by all means have his polio series started if you have not already done so.

Going to school will be all new to your child. It means new children, a new place, new adults, new things to do. It's the same child, but one who is changing physically, mentally, and emotionally. If he is healthy and you keep him healthy, his adjustment into school life will be made much simpler, and he'll be happier.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nobles and daughters, Cindy and Suzie, of Big Spring visited her father, Lee Haymes, and Mrs. Haymes several days last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Davis Edens and children of Rochester visited Mr. and Mrs. Lee Haymes on Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Edens is the former Patsy Kirk.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Garner of San Antonio visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Press Phillips, several days last week.

Linda Joyce Lambeth And James M. Hendon Married In Rites At Goree

A double ring ceremony June 15 in the Goree Methodist Church united in marriage Miss Linda Joyce Lambeth of Goree and James Mathis Hendon of Wichita Falls. Rev. Walter Hadley officiated before an archway decorated with pink gladioli and greenery flanked by branched candelabra holding pink cathedral tapers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernis Lambeth and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hendon of Wichita Falls.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of white lace over net. Her dress was fashioned with tapered sleeves, a bouffant skirt of scalloped lace, and a victorian collar. She wore a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestone which held a finger tip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias and carnations atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bobby Lambeth of Midland, sister-in-law of the bride, attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Ruth Hendon of Wichita Falls, sister of the groom, Patsy Lambeth of Anton and Nahwana Lambeth of Goree, both cousins of the bride. They wore street length dresses of pink cotton satin and pink taffeta cummerbund, fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Each carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Lighting the candles were Misses Judy Ledbetter of Wichita Falls and Donna Kay Bush of Waco. Both wore pink organza dresses. Ushers were Wesley Hendon, brother of the groom, Doug Mullins and Roger Einhaus, all of Wichita Falls.

Driving Tips

When you make a weekend drive to the country or the lake, remember to make safety your prime concern.

Saturday and Sunday are only two out of the seven days of the week, but about 40 per cent of all fatal driving accidents occur during those two days, statistics show. You can make your weekend trip safer and happier by following these recommendations from safety experts:

1. Don't over-work or over-exercise on your weekend in the country. Building a terrace, weeding and hoeing a garden or painting a porch can be hard on soft muscles. So can a lot of golf, or a long row on the lake. If you over-do you'll start home worn out and ready for an accident.
2. Play car games, or if you are driving alone turn on the radio. The family will keep you alert when it's looking for out-of-state licenses or trying to spot cars of certain colors. A lively and interesting radio program is also stimulating.
3. Always travel with a supply of safe caffeine tablets in your glove compartment. Taking one or two is an aid in restoring mental alertness. If possible, get out of the car, stretch and move around a few seconds, as an additional awakener.
4. Eat only a light meal before starting your drive home. It's natural for friends and relatives to set a bounteous meal before you, but eat sparingly if you have a long drive ahead. Too much food will make you drowsy and thereby increase the possibilities of an accident.

Abilene Woman Named Baptist Mother Of Year

DALLAS—A 54-year-old housewife who has taught Baptist Sunday school classes for more than 30 years Saturday was named District 17 Mother of the year for Texas Baptist.

She is Mrs. Sue Hazel Lewis of Abilene, a long-time church worker and community leader. Her husband, is Marvin Lewis, a soft drinks manufacturer and a deacon at the First Baptist Church. The couple's two daughters are Mrs. Renel Nash of Plainview and Mrs. W. G. Kiker of Abilene.

Sponsors of the mother of the year project are the Baptist Standard and the Baptist General Convention of Texas. District 17 includes 176 churches and missions in an eleven-county area bounded by Knox City on the north, Tuscola on the south, Roscoe on the west and Ranger on the east. Texas Baptists expect to name a state mother of the year next week.

Mrs. Lewis is a member of the First Baptist Church and first started teaching Sunday school classes there in 1926. She has also been a Sunday school superintendent, Training Union teacher, missions study chairman and Woman's Missionary Union officer and member.

In community activities, Mrs. Lewis has been president of the Abilene Woman's Club, a United Fund worker, a Red Cross member, a Parent Teachers Association member, a Federated Women's Club member and a worker in cancer and non-malignant fund-raising campaigns.

Farmers Urged To Apply For Smith-Doxey Services

Cotton improvement groups, other than those in counties where the deadline has passed, are urged to apply now for free cotton classification and market news services. The final date for submitting a group application is August 1, says Fred Elliott, extension cotton specialist.

Any group of producers which organizes to promote the improvement of cotton, adopts a single cotton variety, files application, arranges for sampling and meets certain other requirements is eligible for free Smith-Doxey services, according to Elliott.

He urges producers to submit their applications well in advance of the ginning season if they wish to obtain the classification of cotton ginned early in the season.

Samples submitted must be cut from each side of the bale by a bonded sampler or by an employee of a public warehouse or compress which issues negotiable warehouse receipts. Representative samples must be obtained.

The deadline for filing applications from Dimmit, LaSalle, McMullen, Live Oak, Karnes, DeWitt, Jackson, Matagorda and all counties lying to their south has passed. Applications from other eligible counties should be made as soon as possible after members have planted their cotton. The actual deadline is August 1.

Last year, more than 126,500 Texas farmers in 239 cotton improvement groups were eligible for Smith-Doxey services. Nearly 90 percent of the cotton produced in the state during 1956 was classed under the program.

Instructions and applications are available from county agricultural agents, local AMS cotton classing offices, or from the Cotton Division, AMS, USDA, Room 506, U. S. Terminal Annex, Dallas 2, Texas.

NON-RESIDENT FISH LICENSE TO COST LESS

AUSTIN—Visitors from other states from now on will be able to fish in Texas lakes and streams without having to pay a premium for an out-of-state fishing license effective September 1, according to the Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

This is a feature of the new fishing license bill passed by the last session of the legislature. The fishing license fee was increased from $1.65 to $2.15, will increase the revenue of the Department by an estimated $625,000. "The elimination of the non-resident feature of the license should be helpful in promoting tourism in Texas," according to the Executive Secretary. "Previously when a visitor came to Texas he had to buy a short-period license. Now he can get a license for $2.15 that is good for a year."

There's No Time To Waste!

It takes adequate fertilizer to produce maximum crops. Deficiencies are already showing up in the field. Tissue tests on the growing plants show serious phosphorus deficiency in many cases.

The newest approach to correcting phosphorus deficiency is the direct application of a neutral liquid phosphorus fertilizer to the leaves of the growing plant. Absorption is quicker, results more economical, because of a 5-times more efficient absorption of the phosphate applied in this manner.

Phosphorus in adequate supply promotes vigorous root development on young crops, reduces excessive shed of fruit on cotton.

We are prepared to make tissue tests and welcome the opportunity to show you the results you can obtain.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

A lot of folks are surprised to find out that (if you are rich enough) you can give away a lot of money without paying Federal gift taxes. Every person has a $30,000 specific lifetime exemption that they can give away without paying a gift tax. They can also give away $3,000 a year to as many different people as they can afford without paying any gift taxes, with some exceptions. How much you can give away without paying taxes, as long as you do it more than three years before you die, is brought out by this example:

John and Mary have struck oil. They have five children and twenty grandchildren. They can give away $30,000 each or $60,000 under their specific lifetime exemption. They can also give each of their children and/or their children's husband or wife and each of their grandchildren, or a total of 30 people, $3,000 each or $6,000 per year. This makes a total of $180,000 per year that John and Mary can give to their children and grandchildren tax free. During the first year John and Mary could give as much as $240,000, under the circumstances cited above, tax free. Each year thereafter they would be limited to the $180,000 unless they choose to pay gift tax. It is too bad we are not one of the children.

Cotton At The Crossroads

The cotton industry of Texas and the nation has a vital decision to make in the next few years. It must decide whether to accept more and more controls and restrictions or meet the challenge of modern technology. The first path leads to virtual extinction of the small farmer in a decade or so — the other opens up vast new fields in marketing and demand.

The key to a successful future for cotton lies in greater research towards developing new uses and wider markets for the product. We have a number of research projects now — but they have been directed mainly towards increasing production or per-acre yields. We have gone about as far as we can go in that direction under the present economic demand.

It is a cold, hard fact that almost every bale we produce over the 9-million bale mark each year must be either stored, subsidized or dumped at a loss in countries abroad. Once our domestic consumption exceeded 12 million bales. But synthetic fabrics have cut deep inroads in cotton markets at a time when our main goals were to get more cotton from less acres!

Today, the industry and government agencies must develop a new approach. The surface hasn't been scratched on all the potential uses for cotton. Only a vast research program will bring them into being.

There are several immediate goals which could create a market demand equal and eventually surpass our previous 12-million bale consumption. But the cotton industry, and the government, have been guilty of letting many opportunities slide away.

As an example, a vast quantity of jute is imported each year to make binding cloth for cotton bales. Using even poor grade cotton, a competitive fabric could be manufactured to wrap cotton bales and increase consumption by about 35,000 bales annually — right on the cotton industry's doorstep.

Other outlets can be developed by producing superior quality in cotton fabrics such as:

1. Flame resistant cloth which would open up a demand for an additional 1½ million bales each year.
2. Cotton garments that require no ironing would utilize some 1 million bales.
3. Rot and weather resistant cloth — 200,000 bales.
4. A superior but competitive cloth for auto seat covers — 100,000 bales.

These are just a few examples of new possibilities in cotton marketing.

Of course, our present controls and regulations cannot be immediately abandoned until demand comes closer to the supply. But restrictions should be regarded as emergency measures, not permanent institutions.

without compensation.

You may ask him to buy or sell property for you. Or, his responsibility may be to negotiate an agreement for you with a third person.

If representations or warranties are made by your agent in performing the task which you assigned to him, you are responsible.

In a like manner, you are responsible for the contract made by him while he was acting for you.

You may be held responsible for the acts of a person who customarily represents you even though he entered into a contract for you without your consent or approval.

For example, you may have a partner in a business, and you and he have agreed that certain contracts shall be made only upon the signature of both of you.

Unknown to you and without your consent, your partner signs such a contract with a third person involving partnership business. If the person with whom this contract is made has no knowledge of the terms of your partnership agreement, you are responsible for the contract which your partner has made.

You may have agreed between you that neither of you would buy, without the other's consent, any items of merchandise costing more than $50. You did not give this information to salesmen who called on you. In your absence on a Thursday afternoon, your partner ordered merchandise for your store costing more than the $50 limit.

When the merchandise is delivered, you can not refuse to accept it because you can be bound by the contract of your partner. This is true in many situations, and the salesman is not bound by your partnership agreement because you did not advise him of the $50 limitation.

As the actions of your agent are considered to be your actions, you assume the responsibility of his doing them correctly.

AGENCY LAW EXPLAINED

Suppose that you hire your neighbors teen age son, Jimmy, to cut your grass, and he runs your new mower into another neighbor's hedge. The hedge is ruined. Are you responsible for the damages? Quite likely you are.

Or let us suppose that you find you need a loaf of bread for the evening meal. You ask a friend to take your car and run to the store for it. On the way, he runs down old Mr. Peabody, seriously injuring him. Can you be held responsible? It is possible that you can.

In both instances, an "agent" was acting for you. His acts while performing those duties are, in the eyes of the law, your acts. In legal terms, you are the "principal."

You may be liable despite the fact that you may have cautioned him to be extremely careful. The average individual expects to answer for his own actions. He does not usually consider that he may be responsible for the actions of other persons. That, however, is frequently the case.

Suppose you ask another person to do something for you, that is, to act as your agent. You may pay him, or he may be doing it

Expert Driving Saves Money

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

INTERESTED in stretching the family budget? Of course you are. Driving like a professional (and encouraging your husband to do likewise) is one way you can do it.

Automotive test drivers have perfected some driving techniques which reduce gas consumption. If you follow these same simple rules, it's possible to cut your car's gas usage by as much as 50 PERCENT—and this means money in your pocketbook!

George Watts, traffic safety director for the Greater Los Angeles Safety Council, which works closely with test drivers on the West Coast, recently gave me some of these gas-saving tips.

1. Start smoothly, at a reasonable speed. Fast getaways in city traffic can cut total gas mileage from 15 miles per gallon to a low of eight miles per gallon.
2. Don't hop around in traffic. Driving in spurts causes over-acceleration and can increase gas consumption by 30 percent.
3. If you have a manual gear shift in your car, always shift into high as soon as possible. At 20 miles per hour, second gear uses 15 to 20 percent more gas than high gear; at the same speed, low gear uses 20 to 50 percent more.
4. Slow down. As speed increases, mileage decreases. For example, at 60 miles per hour, you'll get just about half the mileage you expect at 20 miles per hour.

In other words, says Watts, take it easy—and save money.

GAME HARVEST IN PANHANDLE PROVES GOOD

The Texas Panhandle provided a satisfactory game harvest in 1956, according to a summary made by employees of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. The report covers 28 counties, according to the Assistant Director.

The report shows a kill of 256 deer, 397 turkey, and 229 antelope, checked in by the hunters. The antelope hunts were staged on 29 ranches which had contracts with the game department to permit hunting.

There were 305 antelope hunt permits issued, with a kill of 229, or 83.27 percent. The average antelope checked out at 75.3 pounds. The average weight of the mule deer killed was 124 pounds, against 120 pounds on
