Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

They started out erecting new office buildings several years ago, and last Saturday they held their formal opening of the last building at Spur.

Being connected with the Stamford Production Credit Assn. (by marriage), we've been invited to these formal openings, to mix and mingle with the people, partake of refreshments (cakes and goobers in most instances) and close the event with a big feed.

New buildings have been erected at Stamford, Anson, Munday, Haskell and Spur — and last Saturday completed the cycle with each of the PCA offices now in new quarters. We got to attend four of the formal openings, and we're kinda sorry their building program is over. They will be no more formal openings.

Bill Ginn, field man at Spur, was kinda struttin' his stuff Saturday, and had reason to, with the beautiful new building, new office furniture and fixtures, new air conditioner, etc. We remarked to J. L. Hill, secretary and treasurer of the association, that one thing didn't make sense to us — that they'd give a field man a new air-conditioned office then require him to get out and make field inspections on a hot day.

In commenting on this final building program for the district, Mr. Hill said their president said there's just one thing left to do — "that is, get out and get to work."

And speaking of building, Boggs Bros. started out several weeks ago to just repaint a few spots on the outside of their building. This done, it made the remainder of the building look so shabby that they had all the outside repainted. Early this week, they were putting the finishing touches on it by having their business name repainted on the front. Gives the place a nice appearance, too.

That activity started just north of Oates Gouzen's office this week will result in a new super-duper drive-in tailor shop, cleaning and pressing plant, etc., being erected by Joe Bailey King. Someone very closely associated with Joe says she will have to keep a tight leash on him while the place is being erected, or he will have the jitters, ulcers and maybe a nervous breakdown before he's through. Wait until it begins to take on form — and you'll see just how snazzy it will be.

Sappy Bowley was forced to move his business because of this building program. His sand and gravel business is now located next to Morton and Welborn Food Store, which makes his fourth location for his business.

When we first heard of the death of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge at 78 years of age, the discussion came up here in the office of how much older he was than she. It seemed many, many years since he had made famous the statement: "I do not choose to run." Further reading of the news, however, revealed that Calvin was only 7 years older than Mrs. Coolidge, and he was not regarded as an old man when he died.

More recent news is that the House at Washington has voted to continue the soil bank for another year "as a means of keeping down overproduction." We who have struggled in the drought area don't feel that we've quite overproduced during the past five years.

The fact that Knox County has been placed under Herbicide Regulation No. 1 means that all persons who go about poisoning weeds, etc., should study up on this regulation. It doesn't mean much to us, but guess we won't do any big-scale poisoning, though.

Think it over: "When you reach for the stars, you may not quite get one, but you won't come up with a handful of mud, either."

Scouts Attending Jamboree Held At Valley Forge

Jim Lee and Allen Eiland of Munday and Doyle Graham and Eddie Williams of Knox City left last Friday afternoon for Valley Forge where they are attending the National Scout Jamboree for two weeks. Sixty thousand boys representing 23 countries will be at Valley Forge where a tent city has been erected to accommodate them.

Enroute to the Jamboree the boys visited in Washington, D. C., New York City, Atlantic City and Philadelphia.

Knox County boys took numerous items such as horned toads, cotton, rattle snake rattlers, grass hoppers, cockle burrs and cat claws to exchange with the boys from other countries. It will be interesting to see what items the boys return with.

On their return trip the boys will visit Buffalo and Niagara Falls and return to Wichita Falls on July 18th.

LOCAL GIRLS GO TO McMURRY REUNION

Misses Pat Putnam and Carlene Morgan left Sunday to attend the reunion of "TIP", one of the five social clubs for women on the campus of McMurry College. The reunion was held in the home of Mrs. W. E. Jarrett, who became sponsor of the club after the death of Miss Chris in April.

Mrs. Jarrett is serving as secretary to Dr. Gordon Bennett. She and her husband, the late W. E. Jarrett, have worked diligently through the years for the development of McMurry.

Pat and Carlene will be mid-semester sophomores at McMurry this fall.

TO FATHER'S BEDSIDE

Mrs. Charles McCauley and Marilu left last Saturday morning for Mertens upon receipt that her father, J. Bryan McCallum, had suffered a heart attack and was in serious condition. Mr. McCallum, who is undergoing treatment in a Dallas hospital, was reported improved early this week.

TORNADO TERROR was visited on this west Dallas apartment house (right), while the twister found only debris, and workers from Dallas City-County Civil Defense, police, firemen and Red Cross guarding the wreckage and ready to provide temporary shelter. (Dallas Morning News Photos)

Cardinals Winners Over Red Sox In Opening Game Of Little League Series

Almost every person was talking Little League baseball last Tuesday after some 250 persons witnessed the opening game of the series here Monday night.

Sparked by the swatting of Cloyce Mitchell, who banged out the only home run of the game, the Cardinals, coached by Gene Thompson, won the game 8 to 4 over the Red Sox, coached by George Sturdivant.

Winning pitcher was Raymond Silva, and the man behind the plate was Jimmy Duncan. Losing pitcher was Freddie Smith, with Ricky Couch catching.

Games coming up are: Thursday night, Sox vs. Yanks; Friday night, Cards vs. Yanks, and Monday night, July 15, Cards vs. Red Sox.

A still larger crowd is expected to attend as the League schedule progresses. It was pointed out that there is no admission charge, and everyone is urged to attend. Work of erecting new bleachers for seating the crowd is now under way and these will be completed in the near future. Meanwhile, it was pointed out Tuesday that bringing a good folding chair will enable you to enjoy the game in more comfort.

Jackson Takes Childress Post

Harold Jackson, director of the Munday Mogul Band, for the past four years, announced Wednesday that he is resigning his position with the Munday schools.

Mr. Jackson and his family will move to Childress as soon as housing facilities can be secured, and he will become band director in the Childress Public Schools with the opening of the 1957-58 term.

J. W. Hamilton, former superintendent at Seymour, was recently elected superintendent at Childress.

During the four years Mr. Jackson has been band director and instructor here, the Mogul Band has made many improvements and much progress. The band has been a consistent winner in district and area contests, and Jackson has always "plugged hard" for his band students and members.

The Jackson family has many friends here to regret that they are leaving Munday, but who wish them much success in their new venture.

Area Farmers Are Advised To Fertilize Cotton, Grain According To Soil Tests

Cotton and grain sorghum farmers were advised to fertilize their crop according to the soil test recommendations this week by Roy McClung, Baylor County Agent, who is in charge of the Baylor County Soil Testing Laboratory, and makes recommendations following the test. McClung stated that during the past several weeks he had received many telephone calls and personal contacts from farmers who have formed the opinion that since the crop is late as it is that they should not fertilize their crops with the amounts recommended. "I don't know where anybody got such information or what their opinions were based on," stated the county agent. "Actually since the crop is as late as it is it is even more important than ever that it be fertilized according to the soil test recommendations. It is very important that the nitrogen side-dressing be applied about the time or just before the first square. This nitrogen need not be applied close to the cotton, but out in the middle, and it is not necessary to place it deep. Just place it in the soil out in the middles anywhere, then when it rains or you water your cotton the nitrogen moves with the moisture. Cotton sets its fruit as it grows and it is very important that we apply plenty of nitrogen to make the cotton grow off fast. Remember nitrogen is the growth element, and phosphorus your fruiting and rooting element. Apply the fertilizer as recommended and control the flea hoppers and thrips so that the cotton can set its fruit early and start to making cotton."

The county agent requests that every one that has not used fertilizer before to leave at least a few rows in the field that you do not fertilize so that you can see for yourself how much difference it makes.

Blood Typing To Be Resumed

Since the blood typing program occurred during the rainy weather, very few people were able to take advantage of it.

Civil Defense authorities have been urging that more local people have their blood typed, and for this reason the laboratory technicians in the offices of Drs. Eiland, Markward and Newsom will do this typing during the two weeks period, July 15 to August.

The typing will be done free of charge, and this continued program is only for people over 16 years of age.

It is hoped that everyone in this community will avail themselves of this opportunity to know their blood type, as it is very useful in case of disaster.

Cards will be mailed to everyone, so they may be carried in their billfolds.

"Thinknic" Slated For Training Union At Gillespie Church

Something for the body, the mind, and the spirit — this is the aim of the Training Union "Thinknic" to be held at the Gillespie Baptist Church on five consecutive Wednesday nights, beginning July 10.

The Training Union Director, Mrs. T. J. Partridge, has planned for an hour of outdoor recreation at the church from 7 to 8 p.m. Then there will be two study periods of 45 minutes each, with an intermission for the serving of refreshments.

Classes will also be held out of doors. Adults will have a choice of two books: Pastor Burgess will teach "How To Pray," by R. A. Torrey, and Mrs. Burgess will teach "The Church Library Manual." A part of the latter study will be the preparation of books for the new library which the church is starting. Juniors will study "The Junior Training Union Manual," to be taught by Mr. and Mrs. Alton Ward. And the Beginners and Primaries will study a book on American Indians, to be taught by Mrs. Lendon Walling and Mrs. Seth Yost.

Recognition will be made of the family with the best record of attendance for the entire five-night course.

Baseball Game Feature Of R. A. Camp At Lueders

A baseball tournament with the district champion team qualifying to go to the state RA tournament in Dallas in August will be a part of the Junior Royal Ambassador camp at Lueders Baptist Encampment grounds.

The camp opens Monday, July 15, and will continue through noon of July 18.

Rev. Harvey Kimbler will be director of recreation. He is pastor of the First Baptist Church at Eastland and president of District 17.

"Every church that possibly can is urged to enter a team in this tournament," he said. "We will combine two or three churches for a team where we have to. We will qualify a champion from each association and then a district champion," he said.

Rev. R. A. Butler of Carbon is district RA leader. Rev. V. D. Walters, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Cross Plains, will be camp pastor, conducting morning devotions at 6:50 and morning worship at 10:50.

Rev. Lonnie Doyle, missionary to Brazil, will be camp missionary, speaking at 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Gayle Bowen, educational director of the First Baptist Church at Sweetwater, will conduct the Variety hour at 7 p.m. All afternoon, after rest period, will be devoted to recreation and swimming in the new $20,000 swimming pool.

DRIVING FORCE

"Today's farming is more highly capitalized, per man job, than is the rest of our economy." That statement comes from no less an authority than Secretary of Agriculture Benson, in his book "Farmers At The Crossroads." He adds that it takes an average of about $20,000 worth of investment per worker on commercial family operator farms.

This illustrates the extraordinary extent of the agricultural revolution in this country . . . a revolution that has made it possible for each farmer to produce enough for himself and 19 other people, where 50 years ago he could produce only enough for himself and 6 others. The driving force in that revolution has been mechanization.

Mr. Benson also said: "Had it been possible to transport, by magic, a farmer from Biblical times to an American farm of 100 years ago, he would have recognized almost every implement then in use . . . the flail, hoe and rake, for example. Today he would recognize hardly any . . . tractor, hay baler, milking machine or combine."

Moreover, that revolution has been a far more potent force in this country than elsewhere. Mr. Benson points out that the Russian farm delegation which visited this country a year ago was much impressed to find a father and his 12 year old son operating a 320-acre Iowa farm without hired help. One of the Russians said it would have taken 100 men to operate a farm of that type in his country.

Our farmers have their problems . . . but they have made amazing progress, thanks in large part to mechanization.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

HIGHLAND, ILL., NEWS LEADER: "Economic freedom is the freedom to risk everything on an idea and get into the thick of competition, in the hope of building a profitable enterprise. By contrast, socialism discourages risktaking, stops competition, and profits hardly anyone."

SAC CITY, IOWA, SUN: "An individual who gets into debt so far that he can never wiggle out, soon goes bankrupt. What happens to a nation that remains heads over heels in debt and makes no payments on that obligation? Certainly the credit of that nation will hang in the balance."

HUNTINGBURG, IND., INDEPENDENT: "Slow Down and Live can mean a longer life because you're driving safer."

DON'T FORGET THE BABY

The parents of a two-year-old Florida girl recently told a newspaper: "We intended to have our Jody vaccinated against polio from the time she was one. But whenever we made plans to see the doctor, Jody had a cold or something happened to postpone the visit. Last summer she contracted polio. Now she needs a crutch and a brace on one leg."

A Texas mother made this statement: "I saw two of my three tots lamed by polio after I had put off having them vaccinated. My advice to other parents is: Don't make the same mistake I did."

Two out of every five cases of paralytic polio recorded by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are children under age five. And nothing is more pitiful than a child disabled at the very beginning of life.

How soon should an infant get his vaccination? The man who knows best is Dr. Jonas Salk, who developed the polio vaccine. His answer is: "Give the first injection at three months. The second should follow two to six weeks later. Two shots are good, but for maximum effectiveness a third is needed seven months after the second."

So when you are vaccinating the family, don't forget the baby.

QUANTITY AND QUALITY

More than two hundred years ago Thomas Fuller remarked that to sell cheaper means that either quality or service must be cut — usually both. Of course, this principle was laid down before mass production and its partner, mass distribution, existed, and these two forces have changed matters enormously.

Another statement by the same man however is as completely true today as it was then: "A fair profit must be made or one does not last long."

The modern retailer, chain and independent, has brought prices down by trading in greater volume. By this means goods can be sold cheaper and still be of quality. By the same means the standard of service can remain excellent and a "fair profit" can be made. Thomas Fuller and the retailers of his day would have considered the percentage of profit earned under modern merchandising methods fantastically small.

Mass merchandising has out-moded the old theory that in order to sell cheaper, quality or service must be cut.

Jim and I are relaxed and tanned after two delightful weeks of "roughing it" in the north woods. It was our second vacation at beautiful Gull Lake, Minn., in twenty years.

Although we thoroughly enjoyed our first vacation visit at Ed Hansen's lodge, our habit of combining vacationing with Kiwanis conventions had kept us from returning to the "Land of Ten Thousand Lakes."

But one evening early this spring we took to reminiscing about the "shoe string" vacation trips of our early years of marriage. We both agreed that our north woods sojourn was the best of all. We remembered the fine bumper catches of northern, trout, bass, and even the spunky little blue gills that fought for a place on our hooks. We remembered the beautiful crystal clear days, and the cool quiet nights. We laughed as we recalled the struggle with the kerosene cook stove, heating water for our baths, and hauling wood for the fireplace to take the chill out of the night air.

Well, all things must change and generally the change is for the better. The fishing may be as good as ever at Gull Lake but Ed Hansen has taken the "roughing" out of roughing it. The old kerosene stove is gone and a fancy, modern automatic gas range has been installed in its place.

No need to heat water for bathing and shaving nowadays either. An automatic water heater does that for you. And to top it all off — the simulated logs in the fireplace are really part of a gas space heater.

I must confess that I felt a bit nostalgic when I first noticed that the old kerosene stove was gone. But the pleasure derived from cooking on that north woods soon drove all of my sadness away.

What made all of this change possible? The same fuel we use at home for heating, cooking, water heating, clothes drying, refrigeration, and incineration — liquefied petroleum gas. Ed Hansen had a large L.P. Gas bulk tank installed to provide fuel for comfortable living.

There's no escaping civilization today. We drove 600 miles to discover that "roughing it" has gone modern. And I don't think that I'm too sorry. We've already made our reservations for next year.

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Luscious fragrant cantaloupes open the melon season. Fitting into any part of a meal from appetizer through dessert, they are pretty as pictures, delicious in flavor and extremely healthful. An excellent source of vitamins A and C, they are also a good source of other lesser known but important nutrients. With all this, they are an ideal food for weight-watchers. An average size melon contains about 75 calories.

Select vine-ripened mature melons for finest flavor and texture. There are two guides to help you make your selection: the stem end of the melon and the webbing or netting. Look for a slightly sunken, smooth, well-collared scar at the stem end. This means the melon was mature and ready for harvest. It separated cleanly from the vine, leaving this "fingerprint."

The webbing or netting on a ripe cantaloupe is well-raised, course, dry and grayish in color.

The background between the webbing should be light in color.

To store a cantaloupe, wash and dry it well, wrap it well in waxed paper, aluminum foil or plastic film and store it in the refrigerator. Experts say a cantaloupe should never be chilled by filling the cavities of the cut melon with ice. This dilutes the special flavor.

For a frosty first course, place 1/2-inch cubes or balls of cantaloupe in serving dishes. Pour iced ginger ale over the melon and sprinkle with minced fresh mint.

Add cantaloupe wedges to a platter of sliced cucumbers, tomato wedges and fresh green onions. It goes just right as salad with fresh garden vegetables — squash and green beans or black-eyed peas, for instance.

A fresh fruit cup makes a cooling finish for summer meals. Combine thin slices of cantaloupes, sliced fresh peaches and

News From The U. S. Congress

The date of the adjournment of this session of Congress continues to be uncertain. It all hinges on what is finally done about the "civil rights" bill. This matter is now pending in the Senate, and it seems that the debate there on this measure may postpone adjournment indefinitely. Senator Richard Russell of Georgia fired the opening round in the battle yesterday when he suggested a National referendum on the civil rights question. While this would be a unique procedure, it would be an excellent way to acquaint the people with the provisions of this bill. There can be little doubt but if the people knew what it contained, that it would not be adopted.

The Committee on Agriculture has held more hearings on cotton prices. The cotton mills are becoming quite insistent that they be given some relief from the present high priced cotton at home and cheap cotton abroad. The Committee continues to direct its study in the direction of achieving a competitive position for American cotton in the world market. Last week the Committee favorably reported the humane slaughter bill and the bill which would allow farmers to use up to thirty acres of wheat for food and feed without penalty.

The President has directed that another study be made of the oil imports question. This matter has been under study for over three years now, and it seems that it is time to take some positive action to limit imports if the independent industry in this country is not to be driven out of business. Many people think that the oil import concern only oil producers. Nothing could be further from the truth. Each day that the oil wells in Texas are shut down, the State of Texas loses millions of dollars in tax revenue. If imports continue to be uncurbed and increases at the rate that they have in the last few months, it will be necessary for our State to seek new sources of revenue. In this way the imports question affects every man, woman, and child in Texas.

The appropriations bills approved to date by the Congress represent a cut of something over Four Billion Dollars in the request originally made by the President. Yet to be considered are several large appropriations.

Chances seem to be good that the total reductions will run around Five Billion Dollars.

Mr. Jack Teagarden, formerly of Vernon, and his wife were visitors in Washington this week. Mr. Max Thomas Peach of Wichita Falls, who has just graduated from George Washington University, also came by the office for a visit.

visit Europe that he worked his way across the ocean on a cattleboat. While attending the University of Texas, he waited on tables in a student boarding house and, in summers, worked as a tank-builder in the booming Borger oil field where one night as he was walking to the camp, he was pursued by a group of drunks in a car. He ran and dodged but it was unfenced prairie and the driver would swerve, too. At last, when he was about exhausted, young Yarborough came to a ditch, crouched, ran low and then concealed himself in the shadow. The drunks gave up the chase and soon their laughter died in the distance.

When he was a young lawyer in El Paso and an important case came up for trial, the firm member in charge had a heart attack in the courtroom. Yarborough was the only other attorney familiar with the case, so it was turned over to him.

The judge granted a continuance until next day. While Yarborough was studying decisions that night in the office, a fire broke out across the alley. He kept on studying although members of the firm came into the room to carry out the library and furniture. The youthful attorney won the case.

As assistant Attorney General, he was assigned to represent Texas in a controversy with New Mexico as to the division of the waters of the Rio Grande and, in his desire to learn all he could, he determined to go to the headwaters of the river, which he did, going the last mile on foot through a country too rugged for an automobile.

He was appointed district judge in Austin by Governor Allred. An attorney, who was a long-time resident of that city, immediately announced he would oppose the "young interloper" in the next election. This challenge crystallized Yarborough's determination to run for office.

He was said to have been the first candidate to campaign in every business house in the downtown business district in Austin since its small town days.

There was one merchant who had been outspoken against him. Being doubtful (or perhaps not even doubtful) of the reception he would receive, Yarborough entered this store at the back door, went through handing out his cards and, as he reached the front door where the owner was standing to greet customers, the judge handed the startled man a card, shook his limp hand briskly and departed.

He climbed a telephone pole in that campaign, it was said. A worker repairing a line called to the candidate, "If you'll come up here and gave me a card, I'll vote for you." Yarborough immediately looked in the man's service car, found another pair of "climbers" and was about to put them on when the worker said, "Just leave your card on the car seat — I'll vote for you." How did the election come out? Yarborough won, about 2 to 1.

Young Ralph made his first dollar by turning, by hand, the big press on which the Chandler newspaper was printed and ran all the way home to show his parents the silver dollar with which Editor R. T. Craig had rewarded him. He was so eager to

Tourists Advised Against Foreign Foods And Plants

Tourist returning to the United States from abroad this summer should resist spur of the moment urges to bring back unprocessed foods, plants and seeds.

Enticing and harmless as they may seem, these materials can be the method of transfer and introduction for insects that are harmful to our agriculture, according to C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

These insects may be transported inside fruits, vegetables, cuttings and seeds. They may be in the soil attached to plant roots and may be transported in certain meats, says the entomologist.

Past records indicate that precautionary measures are justified.

The Mediterranean Fruit fly was discovered in Florida in an area straddling the International Airport at Miami. Some entomologist believe it got into this country from infested fruit brought in air passenger's bags.

Meanwhile, this fly has continued to seek entry. A passenger arriving in New York from South America brought along a half-pound of fresh coffee berries to show his family. Five of the berries contained living larvae of the fruit fly. As many as 65 of these larvae have been found in oranges removed as garbage from a plane coming from Southern Europe.

Inspectors are also alert for free-flying insects, says Garner. Last year they found 48 live Japanese Beetles in aircraft arriving in Hawaii from Japan. About 50 live European Chafers were found on an overseas plane in Paris. Only prompt recognition and action prevented the escape of these pests from the plane.

Permits for bringing back items for special purposes, explains Garner, may be obtained from the Agricultural Research Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Burgess of St. Louis, Mo., visited her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Snider and Paula, the first of this week.

George Spann of Texas Tech in Lubbock spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Spann.

Daniel Names July 21-27 Farm Safety Week

The death toll from farm-work accidents last year in the nation was higher than in any other major industry. "Farm accidents," said Governor Price Daniel on June 13 when he issued his Farm Safety Week Proclamation, "have become a serious problem which not only causes untold suffering among our rural population, but which affects the economy of the entire Nation."

In proclaiming the week of July 21-27 as Farm Safety Week, Governor Daniel pointed out that the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service would be cooperating with the National Safety Council and the U. S. Department of Agriculture in carrying out a farm accident-prevention educational effort. This campaign is in keeping with a proclamation issued earlier by President Eisenhower on a national basis.

Governor Daniel said, "The effect of accident-prevention programs has indicated that our rural residents, through attention to safety education, can greatly reduce accidents and the resulting loss and suffering. Therefore, as Governor, I urge all farm families to join in a continuing campaign against needless accidents."

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council strongly believes that farm accident prevention efforts should be made a part of every family's plan for improving their farm and home. "Until farm families become conscious of the multitude of accident hazards which surround them, little progress can be made in removing the hazards," says the Council. "We would like to see the farmer and every member of his family become as safety conscious as are the people who work in industries where the accident rates have been reduced almost to the zero point. We think it can be done, if as Governor Daniel says, every one will participate in a continuing educational campaign to wipe out farm accidents."

"Appoint yourself a committee of one to start the ball rolling on your farm," urges the Council.

TEXAS EGG LAW SUMMARY

Next month the Texas Egg Law goes into effect, regulating handling and sale of eggs and providing for licensing of certain egg dealers and handlers.

Following is a summary of the law, its requirements, exceptions and the means of its enforcement:

1. All eggs offered for sale must be handled properly and in a sanitary manner. Inedible eggs, or those unfit for human consumption, must not be sold.

2. All eggs sold to consumers must be graded; or, if not graded, the word "ungraded" must appear on the carton.

3. An egg below Grade A quality cannot be sold or advertised as fresh, yard, selected, cage, or words of similar import.

4. Egg containers must: A. Be accurately labelled as to size and grade, each bearing the name of the one for whom the eggs were graded.

B. Not advertised price without also designating size and grade of eggs contained therein.

C. Be labelled "cold storage eggs" if the eggs have been under refrigeration for 30 or more days.

5. Where eggs are uncartoned, a sign must be displayed showing size and grade.

6. The Commissioner of Agriculture, administrator of the law, and his agents, may take samples of eggs for inspection and may enforce a "stop sale" order on eggs held in violation of the act.

7. Licensing: Retailers, dealers, wholesalers, processors and brokers must be licensed to buy and sell eggs. The retailer pays no fee. Dealers, wholesalers and processors pay fees according to their volume of business. A broker's fee is $5. Producers, hatcheries, restaurants, hotels and food manufacturers are exempt from licensing.

8. Licensees must keep on file for two years a record of all eggs purchased or sold, excluding retailers in purchases of less than case lots. Licensees also must deliver signed invoices with each transaction.

9. Violation constitutes a misdemeanor and carries penalties of from $50 to $1,000 in fines.

10. The act creates a nine-member Egg Marketing Advisory Board appointed by the Governor with the Commissioner of Agriculture as Chairman.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. H. M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Half of the men and a fourth of the women in the United States smoke cigarettes daily, according to a recent survey by the U. S. Bureau of Census. That adds up to something like 38 million cigarette addicts—25 million men and 13 million women.

These figures, besides revealing the extent to which the smoking habit has become ingrained among Americans, accentuated the grimness of the recently validated relationship between cigarette consumption and the general death rate, including dreaded lung cancer.

It took the American Cancer Society four years of concentrated study of the smoking habits of 188,000 men to reach these conclusions:

A 57 per cent greater death rate from diseases of the heart and circulatory system among smokers as compared to non-smokers; a 97 per cent greater cancer death rate; a 186 per cent greater death rate due to pulmonary diseases excluding cancer; and a 29 per cent greater rate of death from all other causes.

Among men over 50 with a history of regular cigarette smoking, the general death rate is 52 per cent above the death rate for men who have never smoked.

The same study revealed a slight relationship between pipe smoking and lung cancer, and practically no relationship between cigar smoking and lung cancer. Present studies indicate that the reason cigarettes are more important in the cause of lung cancer than either pipes or cigars is that the tars in cigarette smoke is drawn in at much higher temperatures.

In support of statistical evidence relating smoking to cancer death rates, it is possible to prove the connection by laboratory methods. By condensing the smoke of burning cigarettes and painting the gummy tars on the shaved backs of mice or rabbits, laboratory technicians have produced cancerous growths on the animals.

The question as to whether men who smoked but quit have a lower death rate than those who have not quit has also been answered statistically. Men who quit ten years before the study was made showed a death rate almost as low as those who had never smoked.

Should you stop smoking? You must answer that question alone. Ask yourself if the fleeting pleasures you get from cigarettes—described as "adult pacifiers" by the late Dr. William Mayo—outweigh the risks involved.

And keep in mind that the best scientific research talent in the world is convinced that steady cigarette smoking constitutes a health hazard of major proportions. The American Cancer Society has turned its results over to the National Institute of Health for further checking.

Feeder Cattle Higher Trade Displays Strength
FORT WORTH — Northern markets Monday reported a paucity of stocker and feeder cattle and calves, and a higher market for finished heaves. At Fort Worth more than half the cattle and calves were stocker and feeders and they sold on a strong to 50 cents higher market on the basis of the good news from the north.
 Numerous loads of fleshy feeder steers and yearlings sold in the $20 to $21.75 bracket, well above last week's values on such cattle. A few good calves sold from $20 to $23, and choice kind were lacking.

 In the slaughter department, practically no mature steers were shown and other cattle and calves returned steady prices. Some sales of bulls and canner and cutter cows were unevenly higher.
 Good and choice yearlings and heifers drew $19 to $22.50 with medium and lower grades at $12 to $19. Fat cows cashed at $12.50 to $14.50, while canners and cutters drew $9 to $16.50. Bulls cashed at $12. to $16.50.
 Good and choice fat calves sold from $19 to $22, and plain and medium sorts sold from $14 to $18.50. Culls sold around $10 to $13. Medium and good stocker steer calves sold from $19 to $23, and good to choice feeder steers and yearlings cashed at $18.50 to $21.75, some 800-pounders at the higher figure. A few stocker cows were reported from $10 to $14.

Sheep And Lambs Moved At Stronger Prices
 Price quotations on Fort Worth

Monday on sheep and lambs were practically identical with those last week, however, quality considered the sales were fully steady to somewhat stronger.
 Good to choice slaughter Spring lambs cashed at $20 to $22 while cull to medium sorts sold from $13 to $19. Good slaughter yearlings sold from $16 to $17, and cull to medium yearlings drew $12 to $15. Stocker lambs sold from $17 downward.
 Slaughter ewes sold from $6.50 to $7.50. Old bucks cashed at $5 to $5.50. Aged wethers sold from $13 downward. A few stocker yearling ewes sold from $15 to $17.50, and some older stocker ewes drew $8 to $14 according to age and quality.

Hogs Top At $21.00 Closer Sorting Noted

Choice butcher hogs opened 25 to mostly 50 cents higher at Fort Worth Monday, despite the fact that prices on hogs at most northern points were lower for the day. The top hogs are being more closely sorted here and at other major markets these days, indicating that some of the top echelon in packing circles are putting pressure on the purchasing department to buy the meat-types a little better.
 At Fort Worth Monday, major packers were meeting the bids of shippers and small packers on the closely sorted "meat" hogs as all interests paid $12. Medium to good hogs sold from $16.50 to $20.50. Sows cashed at $15 to $17.50 and stags at $12 down.

Hereford Judging Staff Completed For July 19th

Four widely known cattlemen have been selected for judges of the stocker and feeder sale of commercial Herefords and whitefaces at Fort Worth July 19. The Texas Hereford Association office announced this week that Bilby Wallace of Clairmont, Texas and the B-Bar-O Ranch would join the previously announced three.
 Last week the association named George Glascock, Crosson, Texas rancher to the staff. Glascock is also nationally famous as the trainer and rider of world's champion cutting horse on more than one occasion when his little black horse topped all others in contests under the approval of the National Cutting Horse Association.
 Earlier selections were two outstanding cowmen from the Albany, Texas section. Bill Green and Gene Pickard, who both

The Press Battles for its Freedom

JOHN PETER ZENGER was arrested "for printing and publishing several seditious libels dispersed throughout his journals or newspapers."
 Zenger was a New York printer in the days when Governor Cosby ruled the colony. Governor Cosby ruled in such an autocratic, overbearing manner that several indignant citizens started a newspaper to arouse the public against his tyranny. Zenger undertook to publish the newspaper.
 Zenger was thrown into prison, and his bail was fixed at 800 pounds, a large sum for those days and quite beyond his ability to furnish. He stayed in jail for months, and his situation appeared hopeless.
 The case finally was called to the attention of Andrew Hamilton, a distinguished Pennsylvania lawyer, who took up Zenger's cause as a public service. Hamilton forced the case to trial, and his speech to the jury, which led to Zenger's acquittal, is a ringing statement of what the press in America must still vigilantly fight for.

 "All men have the right, Hamilton maintained, "publicly to reprobate the abuses of power... and to assert with courage the sense they have of the blessing of liberty... and their resolution at all hazards to preserve it."
 Today in our country encroachments by governments and private interests alike upon freedom of the press are counter to law. Nevertheless, even today the press must battle constantly to keep that freedom intact.

Declaration of Independence 181 Years Old

What do we mean when we say that in the United States we have a "government of law" and not a "government of men"? Basically we mean that we have certain individual rights, guaranteed by our federal and state constitutions and laws, which may not be denied by any governing body.

The early American colonists had their fill of government by men, and the Declaration of Independence, signed 181 years ago, set out their complaints against that type of government and revealed their belief in a principle which we now accept as basic to our American way of life.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that principle. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judiciary powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his consent to their acts of pretended legislation; . . . For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences; . . . For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; . . . For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of checks and balances in government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of that earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; . . ."

Some five years later, the first ten amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the underlying theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Ignores The Farm Problem For Change; Takes Up The Problem Of Truth In Russia

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is ranging far from his farm this week, his letter reveals.

J. A.

Dear editor:
While it may sound a little odd for a country that can't figure out how to ban a crop surplus of its own to be attending a meeting of world leaders on how to ban world-wide testing of the Hydrogen Bomb, none the less I was reading about the conference they held over in London recently on banning these H-bomb tests and I went to the trouble of skipping working in the field two hole days just to think about it.

As I understand it, the United States is willing to ban these tests, provided Russia will agree, and Russia will agree, provided we'll take her word for it.

Now I'll tell you. Outside of trying to buy a money order on the installment plan. I don't know anything harder to do than trying to get Russia to live up to an agreement.

If Russia agrees to ban further testing, it means one of two things: Either she already knows all she needs to know about the things, or she'll go right on testing them. If some inspector heard one go off, the Russians would smile and first say there wasn't a thing to it, it was just some kid exploding a firecracker back in the Ukraine. If the inspectors swore their detecting devices showed it was a hydrogen bomb, the Russians would promise a full investigation, and after six months of talk would admit a bomb did go off, but it was an accident, some scientist was leaving a laboratory in a hurry to get home to supper and thought he was turning off the lights when he flipped the wrong switch.

I'll tell you, the Russians have a Russian answer for everything. If I had one of em living next to me on an adjoining farm and his cows got over into my pasture and I complained, he'd come out with an indignant statement that my pasture was attacking his cows and I owed him money for the outrage.

All I've got to say is I'd like to meet some of these people who will accept a signed agreement from Russia on anything. I've got some Confederate bonds I'd like to sell them for cash.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

POLIO VICTIM HAS CORRECTIVE SURGERY

Ronnie Vaughn, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Vaughn of Anson, underwent extensive corrective surgery Monday in a Dallas hospital. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brazell, received word that he withstood the operation successfully and is in a full body cast. This was Ronnie's 5th operation since he was stricken with polio four days before his 5th birthday. Ronnie has a never ending determination to walk without crutches. If this operation is successful it is believed that he will discard his left brace. He will be in the hospital two weeks after which time he will return to his home in Anson. Ronnie will be a little late getting off to school this fall on account of being in a cast. He is an 8th grade student in Anson Junior High. His address now is c/o Scottish Rite Hospital, 2201 Welborn, Dallas, Texas.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Billy Bob Brazell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brazell of Sunny, has been awarded a Texas A&M scholarship. This climaxed a successful high school career for Billy Bob. Last year he was one of two Texas boys chosen as outstanding in F.F.A. and was awarded a two weeks trip to Chicago. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Brazell.

Any person interested in concrete pipe for irrigation or in problems relating to the installation of such systems are invited to attend. Meeting time is 9 a.m.

Weeds on ranges use from 6 to 8 times more water than do good native grasses, says G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist, and he advises either mechanical or chemical control methods to keep weeds down. Ask your local county agent for publications on range management and weed control.
