COST OF DRUGS

Many have been led to believe that the cost of prescription drugs is outrageously high, and accounts for a burdensome share of the average family's income. But the figures don't bear that out.

Drug prices have risen the last 20 years, as have the price of almost everything. But, in 1959, prescription expenditures amounted to just over one-half per cent of income. That was a little more than in 1939 — but in those days we bought fewer prescriptions, one big reason being that numbers of the most valuable drugs simply didn't exist.

As one authority puts it, "What the dollar bought in 1939 in a prescription and what it buys today are as different as the Wright brothers' biplane and a modern jet airliner." Chemotherapy — the treatment and cure of specific diseases through the use of synthetic chemical compounds — was in its infancy. Pneumonia was the number one killer, with one out of four sufferers succumbing, and the survivors spending a month or so in the hospital, followed by a lengthy convalescence. Long-term complications often resulted. Today a few injections of an antibiotic and a week at home in bed are all that are needed in most cases to produce a complete cure.

The same thing is true of many other dread diseases, Meningitis, epilepsy, toxemia of pregnancy, tuberculosis, rheumatic fever and congestive heart failure, to name just a few, are successfully treated today with prescriptions including "miracle drugs" which were unknown a generation back.

Finally, it's a matter of record that the pharmaceutical industry is a highly progressive one, with many companies not only seeking business but carrying on the extensive and costly research which is vital if new and improved healers are to be found. Modern medicine and modern drugs are among the best buys on the market today.

COMING ELECTRICAL WONDERS

Electrical conveniences that almost all of us use would have seemed inconceivable to our grandfathers. But electric living is still in its infancy.

The chief officer of one of our leading utility companies recently looked into the future. Here are some of the developments he foresaw:

Food will be prepared, cooked and served at the direction of an electric computer programmed days ahead of time. An appliance will take the food from the freezer to the range, then cook and serve it. A small electric machine will manufacture disposable dishes, thus eliminating the dishwashing chore.

The light bulb will be a thing of the past. People will use area sources of light where whole walls will glow with electroluminescence.

When dirt collects on a carpet, a closet will open and a vacuum cleaner will emerge. It will automatically do the needed cleaning, then put itself away and close the closet door.

One wall will probably consist of a giant TV screen. Programs will come to you live from every corner of the world, with the signals bounced to your living room by earth-circling satellites.

There'll be no fussing with heating and cooling systems. Once the control is set, your house will be kept in perfect comfort, automatically, the year round.

Driveways and paths around the house will be heated too, and the snow shovel will become a curiosity.

Fantastic? Yes — but these are only a few of the wonders that will become commonplace in the era of electric living that lies ahead.

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J. BEACON: "Some smooth-tongued politicians are giving us the full treatment these days. After all, this is an election year."

"We are told that the government will take care of us at the cradle, help us with our marriage, take care of our money, give us homes to live in through FHA, care for us in our old age through Social Security and then see that we are buried."

"All this sounds wonderful, but we often wonder who takes care of government while all this is going on?"

FERNDALEA, CLIF. ENTERPRISE: "Norman Thomas, Socialist leader on a California trip — 'One of the great challenges of our times is to see how we can diminish bureaucracy rather than increase it.'"

JASPER, TENN. JOURNAL: "Capital punishment is when the government taxes you to get capital in order to go into business in competition with you, and then taxes the profits on your business in order to pay its losses."

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

Few would deny that religious division exists in the world today. However, far too few people are aware of the danger that such division presents. Some have gone so far as to voice the opinion that God is pleased with this division and that it is actually a blessing. Consider what the Bible says in regard to this subject.

Our Lord and Saviour prayed, "Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given me, (the apostles) that THEY MAY BE ONE AS WE ARE." (John 17:11). In continuing His prayer, Jesus prayed fervently for all disciples of all ages. "Neither pray I for these alone (referring to the apostles once again) but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; THAT THEY ALL MAY BE ONE; as thou Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us: that the world may believe that thou hast sent me" (John 17:20-21). Jesus prayed for unity, therefore it is desirable and can be attained.

The apostle Paul rebuked the Corinthian church for the contention that had arisen. "Now I beseech you brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgement. For it hath been declared unto me of you, my brethren, by them which are of the house of Chloe, that there are contentions among you." (1 Cor. 1:10-11).

"Wherefore be ye not unwise, but understanding what the will of the Lord is." (Eph. 5:17). May this be our heart-felt desire!

Average Beef Production Cost

Exact average costs per mother cow to produce beef in Texas in these days of high expenses have now been figured out by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in East Texas.

The experiment station came up with an average cost of $99 per mother cow per year to produce an annual average of 378 pounds of beef, taking into account all such items as interest on investment, operator's labor, depreciation and all other annual expenses.

With the average production of 378 pounds of beef per year, it figures that the operator must receive slightly more than 26 cents per pound for the beef produced if he does nothing more than to break even. It goes without saying that many Texas operators, particularly those in the smaller brackets, seldom take into account all of the essential bookkeeping entries when estimating profits and losses.

If no charge is made for the operator's labor, the average cost per mother cow per year comes to $82. In such case, the operator could cover all cost if he obtained 21.5 cents per pound for his beef, but he would be throwing his labor into the deal with no actual return.

Then, cutting the bookkeeping still further, if interest on investment should be excluded the cost of production would come down to $65 per cow. With a return of slightly more than 17 cents per pound the operator would be receiving a fair wage, for his labor, but would not be getting enough to cover any return whatever for interest on his monetary investment.

If labor and interest costs both should be excluded, the annual cost for producing 378 pounds of beef each year would come to $47 per mother cow. This means that over a short period of time the operator could receive 12.5 cents per pound for the beef produced and still manage to stay in business. However, what he would be receiving would be the bare costs of replacement for the beef he was marketing.

Many Texas cowmen, who have watched the losses pile up in time of drought and in days when the markets were glutted, could show the bookkeepers where they have managed to remain in business with considerably less return than the average indicated requirements. At the same time, however, they would be the first to admit that they were not actually making any money and knew it all the time even without any expert bookkeeping or accounting systems.

"There is no substitute for experience."

It is true that someone can tell us something or we can read it — but that's not the same as actually experiencing the thing ourselves.

Before a man can be a speaker really worth listening to or before he can actually have something to express as a writer, he must have lived.

There are great pipelines that run from the oil fields of Texas to the great seaports of the East, hundreds of miles away; and one of those lines has to be completely full — with I don't know how

In those days there were "book agents." To get past the secretary, a book agent carried no visible paraphernalia and not until he had gained admittance and reached into an inner pocket and pulled out a device which unfolded to show the appearance of the 14-volume, Morocco-bound set of Bulwer Lytton's complete works did the prospect realize the mission of his caller. By that time, it was too late. He succumbed to the eloquence of the visitor, who now produced an order blank and drew forth a fountain pen which he thrust into the weak grasp of his victim who signed on the dotted line, binding himself to pay the trifling sum of $2.11 a month for a mere 50 months. And culture had gained another triumph.

Ed Jetton and Jerry and Melvin Cybert took Debbie Geddie to her home in Dallas last Saturday and remained over Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Geddie. Debbie spent a week and half with her cousin, Sheryll Jetton, and other relatives.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

There's a one to five chance your youngster needs a major teeth straightening job, since an estimated one-fifth of the nation's children suffer from "malocclusion," or improper alignment of teeth.

A generation ago parents of young children with teeth which did not meet properly were usually advised to "let them alone and nature will correct the situation."

Today we know better. Malocclusion is a condition to be corrected by a dental specialist known as an "orthodontist." Nature by herself is a very poor straightener of crooked teeth.

Although the public is just now becoming aware of the health significance of malocclusion, experience has taught dentists that crooked teeth contribute to decay, faulty speech and malnutrition. One of the worst results of malocclusion is the psychological stress born by a child singled out for ridicule by his friends because of "buck teeth."

A child with facial deformities such as those caused by misshapen teeth may develop traits of indecision and begin to doubt his ability to cope with problems in his environment psychologists say.

What causes teeth to erupt irregularly? Dentists agree that heredity is probably one important cause. Another is persistent thumbsucking and abnormal pressures against the jaw. Living bone, contrary to popular thought, is not always hard and unyielding. The entire jaw structure can be molded by gentle, persistent pressure.

In the case of thumbsucking, dentists believe that if the habit can be broken before age 5, there is a good chance the teeth may return to normal position without harmful effects.

Another cause of malocclusion is prolonged retention of baby teeth. Permanent teeth which follow are then prevented from arranging themselves properly.

On the other hand, when primary teeth are lost too early adjoining teeth may tend to tip and "migrate," crowding into spaces where permanent teeth should erupt.

There are different methods of bringing teeth into proper alignment. Sometimes it may be necessary to extract teeth to make room. In some cases a plastic or wire appliance may be fitted to the teeth to guide them into position by pressure.

Whatever the method, it is calculated to help the youngster avoid the fate of a "buck tooth."

Gin Yard Grouping Of Cotton Advised

The practice of ginning cotton in the order of arrival at the gin needs revision. The reason, says B. G. Reeves, extension cotton ginning and mechanical specialist, is the ever-increasing number of machines used to harvest the fleecy staple.

Machine harvested cotton, he says, usually has a higher moisture and trash content than hand-picked cotton and different settings of gin machinery and drying equipment are required for each type. A modern gin can turn out a bale of cotton every 6 to 10 minutes and there isn't time to make needed adjustments on an individual bale basis. The result, points out Reeves, somebody loses and it is usually both the grower and ginner.

The answer to the problem is the grouping of seed cotton on the gin yard according to the method of harvesting or moisture content. Reeves says that a number of gins in Texas have been using this plan and both the ginner and grower have profited. The grower has received a better selling price for his cotton and the ginner has been able to do a better ginning job.

Reeves suggests that farmers and gidders get together and agree on a procedure for solving the problem locally. In some instances, hand-picked cotton has been ginned during the day and machine harvested cotton during the night. If machine harvested bales are in the majority, then ginning hours can be adjusted to take care of the local situation. Experience has shown, says the specialist, that trucks and trailers are usually back in the field, under the grouping plan, as soon as they were under the old system of ginning on a first come basis. The best ginning job is done when the lint moisture is 5 to 7 per cent. Drying to this level, says Reeves, gives a smooth sample and allows proper cleaning. He advises farmers and gidders to get together on the problem before the heavy harvest begins.

Sample Soil Now For Fall Crops

Fall planting time is not too far away, and plans should be made now. Fertilizers and lime cost money, and guesswork on how much to apply is not very efficient farming. Dr. W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, says the only way to eliminate this guessing is to have the soil tested.

The farmer must remember that soil samples are of very little value unless they truly represent the actual soil conditions of the field. Soil samples may be taken in several different ways, but Dr. Bennett says that anyone taking a sample must remember a few basic requirements. These include:

Take one sample from each uniform area in the field.

A representative sample may be obtained by taking a slice of soil 4 to 5 inches deep, and repeating this at 15 or 20 different places over the field.

Spade, soil augur, soil probe or garden trowel may be used to take a sample.

All of the small portions from a single field should be mixed and a composite sample taken and placed in a soil carton.

All blanks on the soil carton and information sheet should be filled out completely.

Samples should be taken early enough to insure plenty of time for testing. Soil cartons, information sheets, mailing instructions and additional information may be obtained from the local county agent, Dr. Bennett concludes.

HAS SAME BIRTHDAY

No little girl cousin can out smart me because I made my arrival on my great grandfather's birthday too. I am Thomas Carroll West and my great grandfather is Dr. A. A. Smith and my little girl cousin is Milinda Moore. Our birthdays are all August 21st. I made my arrival in the Haskell Hospital at 8:04 a. m. and I weighed 7 1/4 pounds. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Tommy West and are they excited over me. My grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. T. West of Goree and Mrs. Mauryse Blacklock of Munday and they are a little bit on the excited side too, in fact I wouldn't be a bit surprised if my grandmother Blacklock didn't pass out cigars. Isn't it a coincidence that both of Dr. Smith's great grandchildren were born on his birthday?

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Baker received word this week that their son, M/Sgt. Doyle R. Baker, had arrived at Dover Air Force Base in Dover, Maryland. M/Sgt. Baker has been stationed at Dyess Air Base in Abilene the past two years.

Baptist Girls To Hold Presentation
Service Wednesday

A presentation service will be held Wednesday, August 31 at 8 p. m. in the First Baptist Church. This service is to share with the girls and audience the many things they have learned and done and by this help, other girls may want to do the work and show parents and friends how worth while the forward steps are.

These girls do home mission work, participate in foreign mission, scripture verses, mission study in class, missionary reading, plays and social activities.

After finishing the requirements each girl will go before a reviewing counselor if she has learned her work she is passed and will be recognized in the presentation service. She is then ready to start on another step. Thirteen or fourteen girls will be making three different steps.

This work is a junior part of the W. M. S. and is under the direction of Mrs. T. V. Yost, director of girls auxiliary. The counselors are Mmes. Cecil Guley, Billy Jo Clower, Jessie Yost, Leo Howland, Bobby Hutchinson, Marie Greenwood and Mrs. Homer Edrington, Jr. The counselors work is a big one but full of opportunities, challenges and blessings.

Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Jr. greeted the guests and presented them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Frank Trammell and Mrs. Lincoln Bolin, mother of the groom.

The table was covered in a pink damask cloth centered with an arrangement of pink and white carnations and fern and surrounded with clusters of pink grapes. Miss Martha Kay Elliott presided at the serving and Mrs. Kenneth Hendrix registered the guests. Soft music was furnished by Miss Susan Rayburn.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Charlie Hyrie, Jr., Paul Pruitt, Kenneth Hendrix, T. H. Clark, Frank Nance, Jeff Mitchell, Chancey Hobert, Sargent Lowe, Jack Smith and Misses Susan Rayburn and Martha Kay Elliott.

Gems Of Thought

"CHILDREN AND PARENTS"

Who of us is mature enough for offspring before the offspring themselves arrive? The value of marriage is not that adults produce children but that children produce adults.

—Peter de Vries

Children have more need of models than of critics.

—Joseph Jobert

Children are more tractable than adults, and learn more readily to love the simple virtues that will make them happy and good.

—Mary Baker Eddy

The training of children is a profession, where we must know how to lose time in order to gain it.

—Jean Jacques Rousseau

The words that a father speaks to his children in the privacy of home are not heard by the world, but but, as in whispering galleries, they are clearly heard at the end, and by posterity.

—Franz Paul Richter

All persons who bear the blessed title of "parent" have the personal responsibility to see that their children are growing up fully appreciative of the rights of God and their fellowman.

—J. Edgar Hoover

He who has a thing to sell
And goes and whispers in a well,
Is not so apt to get the dollars
As he who climbs a tree and hollers.

REASONABLE TIME

Before a contract arises one must make an offer and another must accept it. Without an offer, no acceptance; with no acceptance, no agreement.

But there is often a time within which you can accept the offer. And if not, the offer ends anyhow within a "reasonable time" which is determined by circumstances and the parties' intentions.

Smith had a set of books which Brown wanted. Brown wrote and offered him $200 for the set.

Smith didn't answer for six months, and meantime Brown bought a similar set. One day Brown got a letter from Smith saying "I accept your offer of $200 for the set of books."

Brown told Smith he'd bought the books elsewhere, but Smith still claimed that his belated "acceptance" had nevertheless sealed the contract with Brown.

Was there a contract? No, the offer had lapsed because it had not been accepted in the circumstances within a reasonable time.

There are many ways to end an offer. You may withdraw it, you may say that the offer expires at a given time or you may die, or the other party may turn it down directly or by making a counter offer.

Here Smith had failed to accept Brown's offer within a reasonable time, which ended it just as though it had been withdrawn.

What is a reasonable time? It varies. The offer could expire in a few minutes in the stock market or last for quite a while, depending upon what a court would think is a reasonable time.

But in Smith's case six months was unreasonable.

Exams Scheduled For Positions On Highway Patrol

Competitive examinations will be given state-wide on October 4, 5, and 6 to fill 118 vacancies as patrolmen in the Texas Department of Public Safety. Applications may be obtained from any DPS Patrolmen or field office, according to Major Harry Hutchinson, Regional Commander of Region No. 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Interested young men who are between the ages of 21 and 35 must have their applications filed with the Department in Austin on or before September 23, 1960.

Major Hutchinson advised that applicants who successfully complete the examination will be trained with pay, at the Department's Police Academy in Austin, which has been rated as one of the top police training academies in the nation. Upon graduation from the academy the new patrolman will be assigned to one of the six regions in the State and will receive an additional six months on-the-job training under the supervision of experienced officers.

The vacancies that exist within the DPS as patrolmen offer many personal benefits including good pay, job security, retirement, annual vacation, sick leave, and uniforms and all equipment furnished.

Pre-punched galvanized steel sheet clamps are spurring a shift in residential home construction, from conventional roof framing to the use of prefabricated trusses. J. Calvin Jurett, president of Gang-Nail Sales Co., Inc., Miami, Fla., reports that a complete roof truss connection can be completed every 20 seconds with these clamps, using a single production press. He cites the high strength-to-weight ratio, durability, and corrosion resistance of galvanized steel as key factors in the rapidly increased use of these connectors. The Committee on Galvanized Steel Sheet Research predicts that well over 12,000 tons of galvanized steel will be required during 1960 for the fabrication of these connectors.

Drownings Always Accident Problem

Drownings have always been an accident problem.

But with the demise of fireworks as a death-dealer, drownings have clearly emerged as the No. 2 killer (No. 1: traffic accidents) over the Fourth of July holiday, the Texas Safety Association said today.

Education of the public according to TSA is one of the main reasons for the decline in numbers of fireworks deaths.

We need to do the very same job of educating the public about drownings so everyone will learn to swim.

Texans loaded down with leisure time, head for the water for virtually every major adult sport—swimming, boating, water skiing, fishing, skin diving, surf boarding.

The Texas Safety Association, which is a nongovernmental agency concerned with preventing all kinds of accidents, cites these facts on drownings:

1. June and July are the leading months for drownings, August is close behind.

2. Drowning victims usually are nonswimmers or poor swimmers—and usually alone.
3. Most victims of drownings aren't even swimming or playing in the water.
4. 231 Texans were drowned in 1959.

TSA gave these tips on how to prevent drownings:

1. Learn to swim, and make sure you're in proper physical condition to swim.
2. Never swim alone. Don't swim at night or in unfamiliar waters.
3. Remember, it's not only swimmers who drown. Be cautious any time you're around water.
4. Keep an eye on youngsters near water.
5. Don't swim when overly heated or tired, or right after eating.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Whitworth visited their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Joe Combs and children in Dallas from Wednesday until Friday and attended the Lingleville Homecoming on Saturday and Sunday.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Finds The Service Station Boys Are In About The Same Shape As The Farmers

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm or Miller Creek thinks he sees a parallel between farmers and service station men, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:
Not that it eases the farm problem to know about this, but other lines of work are having their troubles too.

For example, I read in a newspaper last night that the entire service station industry is facing its most serious economic test in 15 years.

It went on to explain that the trouble is "profits have not increased at the same rate as expenses," and also that "oil companies build stations indiscriminately, and thereby increase the number of retail outlets to a point where the competition is so great that no one is making money."

Now I want to say that I sympathize with the service station boys. I know what it is to have expenses mount and profits drop, and I know what over-production can do to you.

But as for the solution, that's another thing I was talking with a neighbor of mine about this and he said, "Thunder, if they can't make a living where they are, let 'em move to town and get a job there," but I explained that most service stations are already in town.

Unfortunately attention has been called to the plight of the service station men too late to place identification tags on your animals. We ask your cooperation in this important matter.
J. W. Massey, Chief of Police. 52tc

FOR SALE—136 acres irrigated sandy land farm, has been watered for 2 years, sprinkler system. A good set up, 29 per cent down, will carry the rest. For further information see or write J. R. Graham, 1 1/4 miles northwest of Seymour, Texas. 63tp

FOR SALE—One Harley-Davidson "Hummer" motorcycle. Elmo Hooser, Seymour, Texas. 62tc

FOR SALE OR TRADE—25 unit motel, cafe and Humble Service Station on two highways near Corpus Christi, doing good business. Would like to trade for good farm around Munday to Rule area, or would sell for $125,000. Very easy terms. Write box 27, Gregory, Texas. 63tp

FOR SALE—80 acres of good level farm land with irrigation, about 6 miles north of Goree; also 5 room modern house with 7 lots in Goree; also small upright piano. M. E. Beatty, Goree, Texas. 53tp get it in the platform of either party this year, although both sides sure missed an opportunity to draw up a ringing plank about this matter. After all, if you count up the number of stations in your town, and multiply it by all the towns in the United States, plus those along the highways out in the country, you can see it's possible the service station vote may amount to a balance of power in the coming election. Somebody sure slipped up.

I know some expert is going to blame the situation on defiance of the law of supply and demand and announce that the only thing to do is to sit back and let nature take its course, let the marginal service stations go under and leave the field to the most efficient, but as I understand it, even the efficient ones are having trouble, even the ones that clean your windshield and all the windows sweep out the floors, walk your dog, heat your baby's bottle, wipe your glasses for you, give trading stamps and come to attention and salute as you pull out.

I think this problem ought to be solved, but first we got to solve the farm problem. Ought to get around to the service station boys maybe by the year 2000.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Harper Leaves Next Monday For Dallas Meeting

Tommie Harper of Munday will go to Dallas on Monday, August 29, to take part in the largest sales meeting of its type ever held.

Harper, who operates the Quality Implement Co., will be associated with other John Deere retail dealers from over the state. At the sales meeting, they will see for the first time the new line of John Deere tractors which will be put on the market in late September.

In all some 4,500 independent business men in the United States and Canada who sell John Deere products will attend the meeting. It will be the first time any manufacturer will utilize as many airplanes, reserve as many accommodations, and arrange for as many meals for a single group at one time.

Because the distance does not justify flying, Mr. Harper will go by auto, although 16 U. S. and Canadian airlines will airlift the dealers, plus 1,500 other persons, into Dallas for next Tuesday's meeting. Due to the size of the group, facilities such as the Dallas Memorial Auditorium, the Texas State Fairgrounds, and the Cotton Bowl will be needed to accommodate everyone.

Speaking of PUBLIC SAFETY
"Where there is no vision the people perish".

Vacationing Motorists Risk Death In Darkness

CLEVELAND, O., AUG. — According to the National Safety Council, August racks up the largest number of motor vehicle accidents of any summer vacation month. Statistics also show that 21,250 of the 37,600 men, women and children killed in automobile crashes in 1959, met death in the dark. So if you are planning a family motor trip, your best safety bet is to travel during the daylight hours.

Last year, there were nearly 60,000 more highway casualties than in 1958, and there were 900 more deaths. The total of the auto accident injured, maimed and disfigured in 1959 was 2,370,000. An appalling figure.

Of all of the suggestions that have been made to solve this national terror, the only practical one is the use of lighting. According to a Northwestern University eye specialist, Dr. James E. Levensohn, "the prime reason for the excess of night accidents is inadequate vision. Automobile accidents are brought about by a combination of circumstances, and the removal of one, often results in avoiding the accident. The more terrain seeing provided by good lighting reduces the accident spots previously attributed to inattention, carelessness, fatigue, speeding or drunkenness."

Classes In Kindergarten

Registration for classes will be from 9 to 11 a. m. August 30 and 31. Classes will begin September 1.

American Boy Prefers Tractor To Prince

Prince Philip of England, in New York to open the British Exhibition, greets an all-American boy who is getting a bigger thrill from pretending to drive a big Fordson tractor than from meeting the husband of the Queen of England. Nick Burne, rather than the Prince, was the center of the crowd's attention.

400 Pay Fines For No Fishing License

There were many lucky fishermen in Texas during August, but 400 of them definitely were not. Of the 501 arrests made by game wardens last month, 400 of them were for fishing without the $2.15 license required.

Unlucky hunters also were arrested for hunting from automobiles, killing deer, ducks, quail and curlew out of season.

Two more fishermen also paid fines for "telephoning," which is the use of electrical device for taking fish.

The 501 arrested paid fines and costs totaling $8,514.80 according to the director of law enforcement Game and Fish Commission.
