'Education Adds Up' --- Education Week Theme

Muleshoe schools - all four of them were scurrying and hurrying last week in preparation for the welcome invasion of parents and the Muleshoe area citizens expected to visit them during this coming week. It is American Education Week in Muleshoe.

Supt. of Schools Neal Dillman announced a full schedule of activities beginning tomorrow. Each school principal has coordinated a special observance for the public and parents to visit with teachers, administrators and officials.

In addition to education week observances, it is National Distributive Education Week. Students and their employers are to be honored this week, especially for their cooperative service work and on-the-job training-educational pursuits. Fred Mardis is DE coordinator for Muleshoe High School. Open houses will be held in the DE room 25 Monday night from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Muleshoe High School announces a full evening of visitation and program plans for Monday - tomorrow night - according to Principal Tom Jinks. Hours are 6:30 p.m. until 9 p.m.

The program at Muleshoe High School will begin with a special style show to be presented by the Rose Chapter of FHA in MHS auditorium prior to visitation hours. From seven until 7:20 p.m. the Muleshoe Choir, under the direction of Leasel Richardson, will present a special choral program in the auditorium.

Visitation in students classrooms with teachers will be held in the high school cafeteria from 7:20 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. with refreshments to be served immediately following visitation period.

The Blue Mules stage band will play a background musical program during the refreshment period Monday night for visitors from both junior high and high schools.

At Muleshoe Junior High School visitation open house will be also held Monday evening, according to Principal R. E. Everett. Parents are invited to visit all during the week for classroom visitation, but especially to visit during open house Monday night from seven until nine o'clock. Refreshments will be served in the high school cafeteria at 8:30 until 9 p.m.

At elementary schools, open house will be Tuesday evening from seven until nine with refreshments served from eight until 9 p.m., according to school principals Bill Taylor and Milton Oyer. Parents are invited to classrooms - anytime, but especially during Education Week and Monday night to see the special student room exhibits and visit with their children's teachers.

Dillman said that the committee of principals and Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, curriculum supervisor, had built its week-long program around the nationwide theme of "Education Adds Up" and its seven supporting daily topics. The week will illustrate through various open-house programs and visitation that education adds up to the following: to human dignity; to rational thinking; to a creative spirit; to self-reliance; to economic competence; to informed citizenship; and to lifelong opportunity.

American Education Week is sponsored annually by the National Education Association. See EDUCATION on Page 2

The City of Muleshoe took action in the fire protection and garbage cleanup departments this past week, Albert Field, City Manager, announced.

Approximately 42 green garbage containers have been placed at various business and school locations, to facilitate garbage pickup by the city. These huge green giant containers are strategically located to assist in keeping city alleys, public grounds and other "problem" garbage areas in proper clean-up by users.

"We hope to add to the appearance of Muleshoe, as well as make the utility garbage facilities convenient for all," Field said.

In addition to the completion of the garbage containers placement, the city also replaced one fire hydrant on the corner of 19th and Avenue H and installed a new hydrant at 7th and Ave. I, Field reported. The new facilities are both in Richland Hills Addition.

5. To provide the student with work and classroom experience that will carry over with value into adult life.

6. To provide a suggested teaching outline that is to be supplemented by the coordinator's experience, through business sources, and by further research.

7. To provide resource material for distributive education coordinators to aid them in making their own teaching outline.

Many of our business leaders are today, and have during the past five years, have been involved in the activities. First as an employer, these business firms provide laboratory environment in which the students test observe, apply concepts and skills learned in the DE class room.

Second, through supervised training, the student gains experience in the occupation which frequently is the first step toward his career goal.

Third, DE students learn right from the start the basics of business in our free enterprise system. This, in itself is high commendable because nowhere in our educational system is free enterprise demonstrated so adequately as in the Distributive Education curriculum.

This approach to education not only develops competent personnel for merchandising, marketing and management, but also prepares our youth for better citizenship.

Both school administrators and businessmen are being saluted during the observance of this week.

TEXAS IS ON THE MOVE!

In virtually every field of endeavor, our state has made dramatic progress the past four years under the strong leadership of Governor John Connally. His administrative programs, both sensible and bold, have helped provide new opportunity and a better way of life for all our people.

IMPROVED EDUCATION — Since 1963, state investment in higher education has doubled, and faculty salaries have increased 40%. State support of local public schools have increased 44% in four years, including a $100 million teacher pay raise enacted in 1965. Technical and vocational training programs have been vastly increased; junior college enrollment doubled during the current biennium. Special literacy programs for migrant workers and their children have been expanded. A college student loan fund of $85 million has been established. And a special Governor's Committee on Public Education currently is studying all facets of elementary and secondary education.

WATER RESOURCES DEVELOPMENT — Long range planning and development have been given top priority. $100 million in bonds have been issued for development of needed storage facilities; authorization has been granted to expand this program to $200 million for the next two years.

CARE FOR THE AGED AND NEEDY — Since 1963, assistance to our elderly has been increased 27%. The Governor's Committee on Aging is continually working for the benefit of our senior citizens.

OUTDOOR RECREATION — More than $2 million has been invested in improving ten of our most attractive state parks during the past two years to provide additional recreational facilities.

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION — A record 855 new industrial plants have been established the past three years, moving Texas into second place in the nation in industrial expansion. Last year, more than 23,000 new jobs were created in manufacturing alone — the best year ever for the Texas labor force.

INCREASED TOURISM — More than 12 million tourists visited Texas last year, adding more than $900 million to the state's economy, and creating 140,000 new jobs. The state's tourist advertising program has been sharply expanded.

MENTAL HEALTH AND MENTAL RETARDATION — New emphasis on prevention of mental illness and mental retardation has been achieved through establishment of new community centers, replacing the former practice of "warehousing" patients. Investment for research into causes of mental disorders has doubled the past four years.

BETTER HIGHWAY TRANSPORTATION — Texas has more farm-to-market roads than any other state — more than 35,134 miles. We lead the nation in construction of interstate highways, at a cost 40% below the nation's average.

COMBAT AIR AND WATER POLLUTION — New legislation for public health, "The Clear Air Act of Texas," provides state action to combat air pollution. Similar vigorous action has been initiated to control pollution of Texas streams, bays and estuaries.

NEW CULTURAL GROWTH — The Fine Arts Commission was established in 1965 to nurture the cultural enrichment of Texans. The state's cultural heritage will be preserved and portrayed in the state's pavilion at HemisFair '68 in San Antonio.

BUSINESSLIKE ADMINISTRATION — With unprecedented teamwork, our state government has operated responsibly and efficiently. The Legislature has finished its work on time in each session. Following a pay-as-you-go policy, we have maintained a healthy surplus in the general revenue fund without curtailing essential services.

HEALTHY, GROWING ECONOMY — Business activity rose 11% last year, as Texas continues one of the brightest growth areas. Employment and income are at an all-time high, unemployment at an all-time low. Despite increased responsibilities, our state government costs only $168.78 a year per citizen, fourth lowest in the nation. No broad-based tax has been enacted the past four years. Texas still has no personal income or payroll tax, no corporate income tax, and is one of few remaining states with a limited sales tax of 2%.

Voters to Decide Amendments' Fate For Candidates, Amendments

Editor's note: State Representative Bill Clayton has condensed the 16 amendments to face voters in the Nov. 8 election. Since his summary differs from others printed, the Journal herewith presents his version.

Amendment No. 1 -- H. J. R. No. 79
This proposed amendment adds a new Section 1-d to Article VIII of the Texas Constitution. The new section provides a method by which a natural person (but not a corporation) who uses or develops land for agricultural purposes may have the land assessed for ad valorem taxes on the basis of the land's value for those purposes alone. This would mean that a person who farms or raises livestock on a tract of land on the fringe of an expanding urban area would not be taxed on the basis of the inflated value of the land for residential, industrial, or commercial use.

Background - In 1876, when the present constitution was adopted, the state was largely rural and through the years one of the main forces behind constitutional change has been that of increasing urbanization. A farmer or rancher who continues to look upon his land as a home and a means of livelihood suffers from the high taxes imposed when the city expands toward his property line. This amendment is designed to give him some relief from the increasing tax burden which might eventually drive him off his land.

Amendment No. 2 -- S. J. R. No. 1

This proposed amendment adds a new Section 12 to Article IX of the Texas Constitution to authorize the legislature to provide for the creation, maintenance, and operation of airport authorities.

Background - In some parts of the state, it is difficult for a single county or city to finance and operate an airport. At present, Texas has no constitutional provision relating to airport construction, but the civil statutes authorize either a county or a city to construct and maintain an airport with the revenues from a tax levied upon residents. Money is available from the federal government to the state and its governmental subdivisions under the Federal Airport Act. Two areas in Texas already have been directed to choose a site for regional airport or trunk the loss of federal money to all airports in their area. These are the Dallas - Fort Worth complex and the lower Rio Grande Valley. The proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to create a regional government to operate these and similar regional airports.

Amendment No. 3 -- S. J. R. No. 39

This proposed amendment of Section 18, Article VII, of the Texas constitution excludes Arlington State College from participation in the Permanent University Fund. The amendment proposed is more or less a clean-up measure, in keeping with the legislative intent when placing Arlington State College under the University of Texas system.

Background - In 1949, the legislature changed the name of the North Texas Junior Agricultural, Mechanical and Industrial College at Arlington to Arlington State College. Arlington State College continued as a part of the Texas A&M University System, until 1965, when the statutes were amended by the 59th Legislature to transfer it to the University of Texas system.

Amendment No. 4 -- H. J. R. No. 21

This proposed amendment to Article XVI of the Texas Constitution adds a new Section 30c, clarifying the constitution limitations on terms of office of directors of conservation and reclamation district.

Background - Terms of office for state officials have varied little since Texas became a state. As new boards and directors have been created, the trend has been toward increasing the length of terms to six years, while safeguarding the advantages of the two-year term by providing for appointments at staggered two-year intervals. This amendment would allow better continuity for Boards of Water District.

Amendment No. 5 -- S. J. R. No. 4

The proposed Amendment No. 5 adds a new Section 62-c to Article XVI of the Texas Constitution. This new section authorizes the legislature to enact laws providing for a system of retirement, disability and death benefits for the officers and employees of a county, a political subdivision of a county or other political subdivision of the state.

Background - In 1946, Article XVI, Section 62 of the constitution was adopted. Subsection (a) of this section authorized the creation of a retirement program for state employees, and subsection (b) authorized the creation of a retirement program for county employees. In 1962, the voters defeated an amendment containing provisions similar to those found in the proposed Amendment No. 5.

Amendment No. 6 -- H. J. R. No. 37

This proposed amendment adds a Section 51-d to Article III of the Texas Constitution. The new section authorizes the legislature to provide, by general law, for the payment of assistance by the state to the surviving spouse and minor children of law enforcement officers, custodial personnel of the Texas Department of Corrections, or of full-paid firemen who suffer violent death in the course of the performance of their duties.

Background - Article III, Section 51, Section 51a, et seq., authorizes the granting of public money to individuals, thereby providing exceptions to the general prohibition against grants of this type, which is expressed in the first clause of Section 51. The proposed amendment would provide an exception in favor of the survivors of law enforcement officers, custodial personnel of the Texas Department of Corrections, and full-paid firemen.

Amendment No. 7 - H. J. R. No. 13

This is a proposed amendment to Sections 2 and 4, Article VI of the Texas Constitution. It deletes from Section 2 the provision requiring payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite for voting and substitutes the requirement of annual registration.

Background - Texas, which made the poll tax a prerequisite for voting in 1902, was one of only four states in the nation -- the others were Alabama, Mississippi, and Virginia -- which still levied the tax for this purpose in 1965. On February 9, 1966, a three-judge Federal District Court at Austin declared that the poll tax in Texas was unconstitutional as a prerequisite for voting. Two days later, Governor Connally issued the call for a special session to provide a registration measure (S. B. no. 1) was enacted. On May 2, 1966, the United States Supreme Court affirmed the Federal District Court's decision that the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting in Texas was unconstitutional. A vote for the amendment will help clean up our state constitution and provide for an annual registration of voters.

Amendment No. 8 -- H. J. R. No. 24

This proposed amendment adds a new Section 2a to Article VI of the Texas Constitution. The new section authorizes the legislature to enact laws permitting persons to vote for state officers and for president and vice-president of the United States without having fulfilled residence requirements to vote for other officers, as well as laws permitting former residents of the state, for a

About this talk of slashing prices to the bone, having to close up to remark merchandise that is over marked, shortening store hours, stopping give-away programs, closer check cashing control. I wonder who this is designed to help, the Housewife or the stockholder, but since this is an admission of overcharge for several months or years, a refund would be out of the question. Journal Recommends Conservative Candidates

Politics hit the high point here Tuesday with the general election looming as one of the most important voting days ever to occur in a so-called "off-year" when the presidential race is not on the ballot.

Statistics from last May's election prompt our concern for the light turnout of Bailey County voters. Only about 1,347 votes were cast, while at least 2200 to 2800 people were eligible to vote, if they had taken the trouble.

Interest in the Senatorial race is sparked; activity and discussion of issues and the men seeking the offices has increased. (And even then there are few among us who say they are tired of hearing political speeches, reading news stories and other campaigning ethics.)

Well, we believe that "We, the people" better not get too tired of it!

We believe that politics demand more, not less, active participation if this county - and others - are to remain free and truly represent the will of the people.

We believe that we should vote on Men and Issues - not just a straight political party line.

We believe that it is our responsibility to make a choice - where a choice is offered.

We believe in a two-party system.

A two-party system offers a choice, a choice between two men and two different political philosophies - liberal or conservative. We need to be able to make the choice in Texas between two.

We believe that we must study and work at government and politics as "We The People" are the ones who are being developed more and more by "government."

We believe Muleshoe and Bailey County must vote so that our votes will determine the future conduct of our county, state and nation.

There are four important reasons for this:

1. Tuesday, a spirited U. S. Senate race will end - a race in which your vote must last six years.

2. Tuesday our State Senator will be elected from this district.

3. Tuesday, the fate of the 16 constitutional amendments will be determined by our votes.

4. And, next Tuesday, voters will determine Bailey County's strength at both the Democratic and Republican 1968 political conventions. This fact is too often overlooked, as we have already pointed out.

In view of the recent inflationary trend of our economy, and encroachment of federal government on private enterprise the Journal endorses the following conservative candidates:

John Tower for United States Senator

Bob Price for US Congressman, 18th Congressional District.

We recommend a vote "for" each of the 16 constitutional amendments. Take time to vote Tuesday, November 8, --no matter which way you vote.

Vote to Watch Guest Editorial

Texas voters will have a bedsheet-size ballot to deal with on Nov. 8, a ballot given left by 16 proposed amendments and with so many state questions over which to puzzle, they may not be overly eager to ponder the decisions rendered on constitutional questions in neighboring states.

However, the voters of New Mexico will decide an issue which could well become a pressing question in this state. That question is the future of the present justice of the peace court system.

In New Mexico, voters will decide whether or not to do away with justice courts. Opponents of the courts have cited numerous fee abuses, even charging that one JP in New Mexico made more than the governor of the state last year.

In Texas, similar criticisms have been heard many times in the past. There have been attempts at change, but thus far no statewide support for such an effort has developed. The vote in New Mexico, while it may get lost in the Nov. 8 shuffle, will no doubt become the basis for much discussion on this side of the border in months to come, as well it might. Justice should be just that - and if the present system allows for abuses and inefficiency, then it could be corrected.

Lou Tower Says: Women's Vote May Determine Race

Mrs. John Tower, wife of the United States Senator for Texas, has traveled extensively in the state the past 10 weeks in behalf of her husband's re-election to the Senate.

The vivacious Lou Tower has been received in over 100 Texas cities by overflowing crowds and tributes from the press.

Her tour has become, in a sense, a crusade for the maintenance of dignity in politics and individuality in government.

She has participated in the color and excitement that goes with a campaign tour, but she had added to it the sincerity and dedication to moral principle that she feels so deeply.

Mrs. Tower has been honored at coffees, teas, luncheons, dinners, and evening receptions. She has greeted Texans on court house lawns, in city parks, at county fairs and at civic clubs. She has led parades, ridden in motorcades and shaken thousands of hands. Mayors have proclaimed "Lou Tower Day" and Chambers of Commerce across the state have made her an honorary member.

She has visited hospitals, homes for the elderly, agriculture research centers, libraries, schools and universities. She has toured national shrines and places of civic pride. Through it all, Mrs. Tower has remained poised, enthusiastic and sincerely interested.

"It has been a richly rewarding experience, she recently said. "I have drawn great strength from the warmth and sincerity of those who have received me across the state. It is of course, a tribute, not to me, but to the state. People are aware of John's record. They know what he has done for Texas. And they know that

John has been honest with them. Mrs. Tower's enthusiasm and sincerity have been contagious. It is easy to understand that she is equally at home in the drawing room of a Washington Embassy or in a community center of a small Texas town. Her sparkling wit and naturalness quickly make others feel at home, too. She readily admits that she was frightened when she made her first television appearance and her first talk to a large group of women. And that she cried when quietly talking with a mother whose

Gov. Endorses Miller

Congressional candidate Dee Miller predicted at Tuesday night's Democratic rally in Amarillo that the "people of the 18th Congressional District are going to choose constructive, progressive - Democratic - leadership on November 8.

Speaking at the rally, at which Gov. John Connally gave his endorsement to Miller, the former Amarillo district attorney said the people of the 18th District have worked too long and too hard to bring progress to the area to pick a representative who will "say no to the present and No to the realities of the future."

"During our lifetime the $83 million Canadian River Dam Project became a reality. Democratic leadership in Congress in cooperation with the sacrifice and dedication of hundreds of individuals in this area, made it possible."

"Just this year, the Albatross Flint Quarries were designated a National Monument. Democratic leadership in Congress made it possible."

"Our region has excellent air, rail and highway systems. Again this has been achieved under Democratic leadership," he said.

"With this in mind," Miller said, "let me point out that there are all kinds of political issues in this campaign, but fundamentally the question we have to go back to is: "What kind of place is this district going to be for our children? "What kind of future is there here for them?"

"My answer to this question is that the people are going to elect a Democratic Congressman who thinks about and is concerned with the place where we live. "As a native son of this district, I know the people. I worked in the industrial plants of this area to finance my education. "I attended the public schools of Borger and attended college and law school in the State of Texas.

"As District Attorney of Potter and Armstrong counties, I know what it is to be responsible to the people of this area.

"My loyalty is not to Kansas. My loyalty is not to a Dallas brain trust. My loyalty is not to outside monied interests.

"My loyalty is to this district and its heritage and to the people of this district. I will give you positive representation in Congress. As a Democrat my voice will be heard for or against legislation that affects this district," Miller said.

Freedom-Handout?

"It is time the people in this country decide whether we want our freedom or a handout from the government," Congressional candidate Bob Price said Tuesday.

Speaking at a Hereford rally in his honor, Price added, "In recent years our philosophy in this country has been give-me, give-me, give-me -- I want mine now. Because of the greater taxing powers of the Federal government it has begun to dominate our lives," Price stated.

He continued, "Now every time a city wants a new water line or a school district needs a new library they go to Washington. The federal government is taking 37 cents from every dollar we make. We wouldn't allow that on a local level."

"If we would halt some of this non-essential spending by the Federal government we would be ripe for dictatorship," Price stated.

"The issue in this race is whether the people of the Panhandle want a man in Congress who will be obligated to vote for more Federal programs or whether they want to elect me on a platform of reducing Federal spending in order that local governments can do things that are needed here at home," Price concluded.

would have the funds needed to do the things here at home," the 18th district candidate stated.

"There are two things I dislike about Federal aid. First, for every $6 in taxes we send to Washington we only get back $3 in services. If we do things on the local level, it takes only $3.40 in taxes to get $3 worth of service."

"Secondly, a bureaucrat in Washington could never know local needs as well as local citizens do."

Price said it has reached the point where many people are afraid to do anything which might displease the Johnson Administration for fear it will mean an end to Federal aid in their area.

"When we reach the point where a majority of the people fear LBJ's reprisals if they don't think the right way or vote the right way -- we will be ripe for dictatorship," Price stated.

"The issue in this race is whether the people of the Panhandle want a man in Congress who will be obligated to vote for more Federal programs or whether they want to elect me on a platform of reducing Federal spending in order that local governments can do things that are needed here at home," Price concluded.

Who Gets the Food Money?

COMPLAINTS ARE again bobbing up about the costs of food. Note this statement from the Economic Research Service of USDA:

"Consumer expenditures on farm foods between 1955 and 1965 have increased 46 percent, going from about $53 billion a year to about $78 billion. Marketing agencies received 72 percent of the total increase, or about $18 billion; the increase in returns to farmers amounted to about $7 billion."

In this case, it is obvious that reducing farm prices would have little, if any, effect on what the housewife pays for her food. What the consuming public frequently overlooks is that the bulk of their food dollar goes into urban channels of trade, for transportation, for processing, for packing, for wholesaling and warehousing, for distribution and retailing. When city people complain about high food prices, they are in fact pointing at themselves for the evidence shows that urban people make more money out of agriculture than farmers do.

---Farmer Stockman

Inflation Scapegoats

AUSTIN, November -- Some people are trying to make farmers, ranchers and dairymen "the scapegoats of inflation," Attorney General Waggoner Carr has declared in calling for more detailed information on the composite factors of food prices.

As a United States Senator, Carr said, he would take steps to determine what share of food costs actually goes to the farmer-producer.

"I, and Mrs. Carr in particular, certainly share the concern of housewives over rising food costs," Carr said. "But I am convinced that the farmers and ranchers of Texas are not to blame for high super-market prices." The Democratic candidate pointed out that in a time of prosperity, farmers are receiving less for many of their commodities than they did 18 years ago.

"In fact," Carr said, "they have almost become the forgotten people of our economy." Carr applauded Governor

Janca said, "Some in outlying communities feel that this did not include children from their locales - however, we consider every small town in the county as a part of Muleshoe in one sense, and certainly a part in this Christmas parade."

"We want children, Bula children, Three Way children, Needmore children, children between towns, just children, wherever you might live."

Demonstrations Given Home Ec

By Darla Kendall

The Home Economics I Class has had demonstrations throughout the year. One of the earliest demonstrations was given by Barbara Ewins. She talked to the girls about hair and skin care. Her program was very informative and enjoyable. Lauranette Mason of the Merle Norman Studio in Muleshoe, brought a program on skin care and make-up. She gave one girl in each class a facial. She also gave each girl several booklets on skin care and cosmetics. A sample of cleansing cream was also distributed. The girls thoroughly enjoyed her visit.

Mrs. Wanda Newsom, the Home Economics I teacher, gave a demonstration on cookie making to the girls. She made delicious "quicky brownies", Mrs. Laura Hickey from Southwestern Public Service office of Clovis has made several visits to Muleshoe. On her first visit, she gave a demonstration on the use of a small electric grooming appliance. She showed various uses of hair dryers, shoe polishers, manicure sets and other things.

On her second trip, she demonstrated the use of the electric oven. She made Praline toast, garlic breadsticks, and chocolate cherry clusters. On her latest trip she demonstrated the use of the electric washer and dryer.

By Bob Janca, Manager

November 8 is election day in Muleshoe as it will be across the nation. This is the time for all American citizens to exercise their most precious right . . . their vote. Will you voice your opinion by casting an intelligent vote, or, will you leave the polls with a ballot in the box that was marked without consideration, thought and investigation?

You hear on TV and Radio statements from various organizations urging everyone to get out and vote, but never one urging the citizens to study the candidates or amendments to be voted on at election time. Your vote is not something to be taken lightly. Hundreds of thousands of young Americans over the past 150 years have died to keep this precious freedom alive for each of us and we owe it to these Americans, as well as to our children and our children's children to use this powerful tool correctly and wisely.

The Chamber nor I can or will tell you how to vote. We do, however, ask you to study each candidate, each amendment and each party. Do this open mindedly and with genuine interest, and you will cast an intelligent vote on November 8. This is all anyone can ask, and this is all any American citizen can do if he truly wants a better country with better laws and with much better political officials. Remember, it is too late to speak your piece after the ballots are counted until the next time around, and a lot can happen between these periods of time. I would like to add at this point that this interest should not stop at the State National and County levels. It should be carried through to City, school P-TA, civic and yes, even chamber elections. This however does not terminate your responsibility. The vote is not the end of the line, by no means. As a matter of fact, the secondary portion of this right and privilege, is what you do after the ballots are counted and the victors named.

Do you keep in touch with your elected officials, or, do you leave him out on a limb without support or encouragement? A five cent stamp now and then to our U. S. Representatives is a small price to pay for freedom. . . a cup of coffee in a local cafe with your local officials takes a little more time, but then isn't it worth it to express your desires to these people? When was the last time you sat in on a city, school, or county commissioners meeting? Unimportant you say. . . or those guys won't listen to what I have to say, you think. This is far from the truth. You would be surprised at the interest these people will show in your ideas. In fact, most of them would welcome your sug-

Son was recently killed in Viet Nam.

"Perhaps you know," she said, "my husband as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has been to Viet Nam twice and is going back after his re-election. He goes, wearing khakis, into the field to visit the American troops. Some of the time, he is in the combat zone. Of course I worried during these times, and while John is studying the problems that exist there, I am enduring the same anxieties of other women whose husbands or sons are there. Of all his work in Washington, John's gravest concern is for those boys in Viet Nam. I often hear him talk about them, and they are always remembered in our prayers."

During her tour through the state, Mrs. Tower has found that next to the war in Viet Nam, women are most concerned about the high cost of living. "It is not hard to understand why," she said. "Even during all this traveling I am still at home to do the weekly shopping. I know only too well what a sack of groceries costs."

Lou Tower believes that in the coming election women will voice their concern about these issues.

"The women's vote will determine the outcome of the election," says Mrs. Tower. "In voicing their concern, women will vote for the man they feel is most qualified to handle issues as urgent and complex as those today. I believe that man is my husband."

Senator and Mrs. Tower are the parents of three daughters; Penelope, 12, Marian, 11, and Jeanne, 10. "We face the same problems as any other family. We worry about the cost of keeping a home and raising a family and the unchecked rise in crime and juvenile delinquency. As former teachers we're deeply interested in the future education of our children and the growing problems of crowded schools and insufficient teachers. We know that other parents are equally worried."

Mrs. Tower says she has maintained her heavy campaign schedule because she believes so deeply in what her husband is doing in Washington.

"John is working to safeguard the basic principles on which our country was founded. Too many people are forsaking these principles. He is working and fighting with all his heart to maintain the right of the individual and to keep alive the spirit of personal dignity and freedom."

Lou Tower feels that more than ever before it is vital for women to be aware of the destiny of our country and to help maintain the moral fibre of its people.

Where's The Fire?

The Bailey County Fire Department was called out about 1:30 Saturday morning to go to the Progress Gin for a burr pile and mote house fire.

Although firemen were hampered by the unavailability of water, and had to haul all their water from town, relaying the trucks, the smoldering fires were out in about 3 1/2 hours.

Three teams (about 20 men) were called to fight the blaze.

Amendments...

Background - Every state in the Union requires some permission for voting, and as a consequence, the mobile American voter is subjected to periods of disfranchisement. A number of states have also adopted provisions permitting former residents who have not qualified to vote in other states because of residence requirements to cast an absentee ballot.

Amendment No. 9 -- S. J. R. No. 24

This proposed amendment would amend Sections 4 and 5 Article V of the Texas Constitution. These sections presently prescribe the membership of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, and the court's jurisdiction and term, respectively. The amendment would increase the present court from three to five members.

Background --

The present appellate court structure was established by the 1876 Constitution now in effect. A 1925 statute created the Commission in Aid of the Court of Criminal Appeals, the two commissioners operate under this statute today. The commissioners sit with the court, hear oral arguments, and write opinions, but they may not vote on decisions. Therefore, an opinion written by a commissioner must be approved by a majority of the judges before it becomes an opinion of the court. The commission arrangement apparently was intended only to provide temporary relief for the judges.

Amendment No. 10 -- H. J. R. No. 65

This is a proposed amendment to Section 3-b, Article VII of the Texas Constitution. The amendment provides that no taxes voted in any independent school district or junior college district, whether for maintenance or payment of principal and interest on all bonded indebtedness outstanding against a district or annexed territory, not any bonds, voted but unissued, shall be abrogated or invalidated by any change in boundaries.

Background --

Ad valorem taxes levied by independent school districts and junior college districts consist of maintenance taxes to support the operation of schools and bond taxes to cover payment of interest on outstanding bonds and allow establishment of sinking fund for their retirement. Qualified property taxpayers of a district must approve a maximum rate of combined maintenance and bond taxation proposed by the governing board before taxes may be levied. Under judicial interpretation of Article VII, Section 3 of the property in a newly annexed portion of a district cannot be subjected to taxation without a new election in the district as changed. This restriction is a substantial barrier to the expansion of independent school districts and junior college districts. The amendment would eliminate the necessity of holding a tax rate election after annexation or consolidation in the district as changed. In short, it would allow effective annexation or consolidation without the necessity of calling an election in the new district to approve the tax rate.

Amendment No. 11 -- S. J. R. No. 19

This proposed amendment to Section 49-d, Article III of the Texas Constitution permits the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $200 million in general revenue bonds when authorized by a two-thirds vote of the elected members of each house of the legislature. In addition, the proposed amendment expands the uses to which money in the water development fund may be put.

Background --

The long drought which ended in 1957 spurred legislation to provide adequate water for the needs of the rapidly growing population and industry of the state. The Texas Water Development fund is a revolving fund. The 59th Legislature responding to the pressure of a growing shortage of fresh water, reorganized water administration, principally by giving the water development board the duty of preparing a comprehensive state water development plan, and by creating the Texas Water Rights Commission to succeed the Texas Water Commission in issuing water-use permits and adjudicating water-rights disputes. The additional bond authorization proposed by S. J. R. 19 is a part of this re-organization.

Amendment No. 12 -- H. J. R. No. 48

This proposed amendment to Section 9, Article IX of the Texas Constitution, authorizes the legislature to provide for the dissolution of hospital districts if a process is provided by statute for satisfying the prerequisites to dissolution. First, there must be a statutory process for determining the desire of a majority of the voters to dissolve. Second, the statute must provide a means for disposing of or transferring the assets of the district. Third, there must be statutory authority for satisfying the debts and bond obligations of the district in order to protect the collective rights of the citizens of the district rights and assets. In order to regulate the frequency of dissolution elections, no elections may be held more than once a year. In addition, the amendment states that the legislature shall be statute, prior to disposal or transfer of the assets, provide for due compensation unless the assets are transferred to another governmental agency.

Background --

In 1962, the voters approved a statewide hospital district amendment. As a result of this amendment, the specific constitutional authorization need no longer be secured for the creation of a hospital district. The history since 1949 has been one of change from the traditional county hospital system, in which finance are limited due to other demands placed upon counties, to the hospital district with its authorization to raise the rate of 7 1/2% on the tax at the rate of 7 1/2% on $100 valuation. During this period, however, little consideration was given to the question of how to dissolve a hospital district. No election to abolish a hospital district can be called. To remedy this type of situation, the amendment to Section 9, Article IX has been proposed. It would provide constitutional authorization to dissolve a hospital district.

Amendment No. 13 -- H. J. R. No. 62

This proposed amendment to Article III of the Texas Constitution adds a new Section 63, which authorizes the legislature to provide for consolidating the functions of government within a county having 1.2 million or more inhabitants and to provide for intergovernmental contracts between political subdivisions of the county.

Background --

Population growth and industrial development in Texas following World War I brought ever-increasing demands upon local governments for services. It soon became evident that counties and municipalities would no longer be able to supply these needs. However, constitutional limitations, particularly where taxation, often barred existing political subdivisions from giving assistance, and thus the special district was created. As the name implies, a "special district" is established and operated to provide a special service, such as soil conservation, water conservation and supply, hospital care, and education. In view of the increasing use of special districts, some with overlapping jurisdiction and assessments, the legislature sought to provide densely populated areas with means of consolidating many of the services and functions. The proposed amendment seeks to facilitate consolidation of governmental functions in providing services to densely populated areas.

Amendment No. 14 -- H. J. R. No. 38

This proposed amendment would delete the last sentence of Section 2, Article VI of the Texas Constitution which would allow members of the armed forces to vote in Texas upon satisfying the residence requirements applicable to Texas in general.

Background --

With respect to suffrage, Texas law has discriminated against the serviceman since the earliest days of the Republic. The proposed amendment would merely delete a provision which the federal courts have, since 1965, prohibited the state from enforcing.

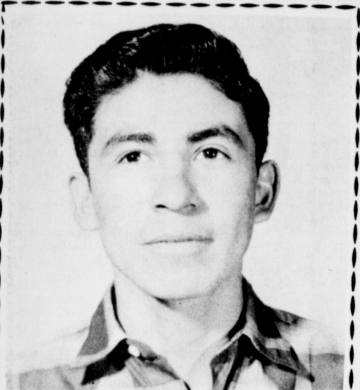

Amendment No. 15 -- S. J. R. No. 33

This proposed amendment of Section 6, Article XVI, of the Texas Constitution permits the channeling of funds from private and federal sources through the state for use by privately owned or local agencies in establishing and equipping facilities to assist the blind, crippled, or otherwise physically or mentally handicapped in becoming gainfully employed. Need for the amendment results from an apparent conflict between the state constitution and regulations promulgated under the federal Vocational Rehabilitation Act, as last amended in 1964.

Background --

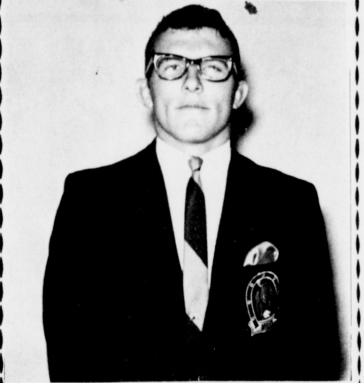

Recent statistics show that Texas ranks 50th among all states in expenditures for vocational rehabilitation on a per capita basis. Because of this, work of private, non-sectarian groups and associations in this field is extremely important. With amendment of the federal Vocational Rehabilitation Act in 1964, federal funds are now available also to match private contributions in the rehabilitation area. However, guidelines promulgated by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare make it impossible for any private group or organization to receive matching federal funds without the cooperation of the state vocational agency concerned. And because all funds deposited with a state agency become state money,

Amendment No. 16 -- H. J. R. No. 1

This proposed amendment to Sections 3 and 4, Article III of the Texas Constitution establishes the date on which newly elected members of the legislature qualify and take office.

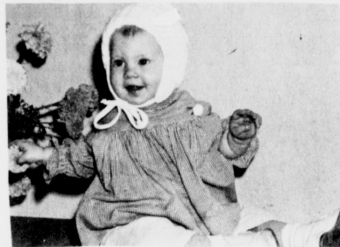

Background - Prior Texas Constitutions, like the present one, have specified that a representative's term of office begins on the date of election. On the other hand, no Texas Constitution, including the present, has provided with certainty the time at which a senator's term of office begins. Proposed Amendment No. 16 apparently is designed to cure this anomaly by specifying when both senators and representatives take office and in the interest of uniformity, by providing that both take office at the same time--on the day set by law for convening the regular session of the legislature following the general election.

Does anybody know what to do in Vietnam?

How do you answer that, if you're a Senator? If you've been there, it's a little easier. John Tower didn't have to go to Vietnam. He had every reason, but membership on the Armed Services Committee doesn't demand it. He could have settled for one tour, but he went back. His hunch was right, there was more to learn. Insight, gained the hard way.

But, Defense is a hard job, whether you're in uniform... or watching over the needs of those who are. John Tower went to Vietnam to look and listen. Long sessions with our boys, and the men who lead them, have given this Senator a better understanding of why we're there. He now understands more of what needs to be done. And, to do it, what we need more of... and when.

John Tower is in a position to do something with what he's learned. In committee, and on the Senate floor, he has worked to see that funds are being made available to win the war... urged support of the opinions of those in the field who know how to win it. And, though talks with our people, Texans now know why it's necessary to win. Junior Senator?

Re-elect Senator John Tower - he's doing a good job for Texas

Cotton Harvest Gains Momentum

The South Plains cotton harvest continued to gain momentum during the past week and the volume of samples received at the three USDA Classing Offices was highest for any week this season, according to W. K. Palmer, in charge of the USDA Classing Office in Lubbock.

The classing offices at Lubbock, Brownfield and Lamars received approximately 15,000 samples daily during the week ending Thursday, November 3rd, and classed 27,000 samples during the week. This brought the season's total for the three offices to 39,000. This year's harvest continued to lag behind the 1965 harvest. Through November 3rd last year, 91,000 samples had been classed.

Trading increased in the new crop cotton on the Lubbock market but prices remained steady. Demand was strongest for cotton with micronaire of 3.5 and better and cotton in this micronaire category was selling at a greater premium.

Cotton prices paid South Plains farmers, as reported by the Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA, ranged from the low to $3.00 per bale over the low for the White grades. Light Spotted grades were bringing from $1.00 to $5.00 per bale over the low.

Average prices paid for the most predominant qualities in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire range were: Middling 29/32 - 19.55, Middling 15/16 - 20.00, Middling 31/32 - 20.60, Strict Low Middling 29/32 - 18.00, Strict Low Middling 15/16 - 18.50, Strict Low Middling 31/32 - 18.90, Middling Light Spotted 29/32 - 18.20, Middling Light Spotted 15/16 - 18.65, and Middling Light Spotted 31/32 - 19.15.

Prices paid farmers for cottonseed ranged from $65 to $70 per ton.

Cut flowers, pot plants and artificial flowers for weddings, homes, hospitals, funerals and churches are here in abundance. The artificial arrangements look so real you can hardly tell the difference between them and the live plants.

Artificial flowers and pot plants have become very popular in recent years, and they are preferred by many people. They can be made to order by Mrs. Spencer (Phyllis) Beavers whose artistic talent has created some of the loveliest floral arrangements ever seen.

A large stock of cut flowers, roses, mums, gladioli, carnations and many others can be found here at all times. Flowers ning this business full time, Rheata White, Lou Hailand, Jewel Pool, and also has Faye Mullins D. E. Studmt, and customers are assured of prompt service at all times. When you "Say It With Flowers" from Beaver's Flowerland, it is beautifully and promptly said. Why not beautify your home or office with some lovely blossoms from this shop. They will give your spirit a "lift" and make the day seem more cheerful.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Beavers started this business in 1958 and have enjoyed a large volume of business since that time. The business has shown a steady growth and handles as much business as many floral shops in larger towns.

Mr. Beavers is the local Post Master and well known throughout this area.

Urges Study Farm Bureau Stresses Amendment One

Proposed Constitutional Amendment Number One which will appear on the November 8 ballot pertains to equitable taxation of farm and ranch land near metropolitan areas and is of vital importance to the farmers and ranchers of Texas. Naturally, any issue pertaining to the financial future of farm and ranch land bears directly on future costs of food and fiber, so all consumers have a vested interest in the proposed amendment.

The obvious objective of this proposed amendment is to provide some measure of tax relief to bona fide farmers and ranchers who are caught in the path of urban sprawl with its sky-high speculative land values and accompanying sky-high taxes.

Amendment Number One will appear on the ballot as follows: "For the Constitutional Amendment to provide that all land owned by natural persons designated for agricultural use shall be assessed for all tax purposes on the consideration of only those factors relative to such agricultural use."

"Against the Constitutional Amendment to provide that all land owned by natural persons designated for agricultural use shall be assessed for all tax purposes on the consideration of only those factors relative to such agricultural use."

Farmers and ranchers have nothing to gain from high speculative land values if they want to continue farming or ranching. Already caught in a cost-price squeeze with profits reduced to a paper-thin margin, farmers and ranchers near urban areas see increasing taxes as the final blow to force them off their land. Higher prices received for the land when sold under such conditions are small compensation for loss of a home and livelihood - and little profit remains from the sale after taxes.

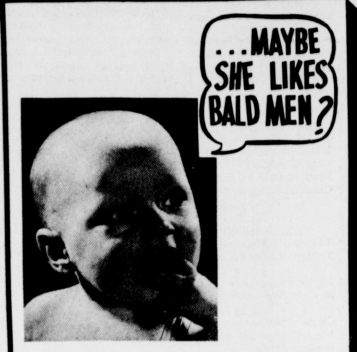

The proposed amendment defines "agricultural use" in a standard fashion, with the qualification that farming or ranching must be a person's "primary occupation and source of income" if he is to obtain the special valuation.

No land would qualify for the special valuation unless it had been devoted exclusively to agricultural use, or had been developed continuously for such use during the preceding three years. The tax assessor could inspect the land and require satisfactory evidence that the qualifications had been met.

In deciding how to vote on this vital issue, consumers must consider the developing agricultural situation in which shortages of food, rather than surpluses, will prevail in the foreseeable future. Can we afford to tax land out of production under the circumstances? Are we not also in danger of taxing out of existence many of our scenic and recreation areas which exist on farms and ranches near metropolitan areas?

For years we have recognized the important role of agriculture in our economy. Some 40% of our Texas population is employed in agriculture and related occupations. Agriculture is the largest single source of income in most of our towns and many of the metropolitan areas of Texas. These facts are also worthy of consideration as we decide how to vote on Amendment Number One on November 8.

EVERYONE LOVES A PARADE

To hear the band, to see the uniformed soldiers, to see the might of our tanks, to see the strength of our country, these things stir the heart and make us proud to be an American. Our God has made us strong and blessed us greatly, however our greatest strength is in the Lord, "GOD is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." In these unsettled times we need to show our faith in the Lord, and speak with the courage of one whose father can do all things. Renew your strength each week by attending services in the Lord's house.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
