The Institute of Life Insurance makes some telling observations about inflation.

First, it points out, inflated prices are taking a bite out of every dollar you earn.

Second, on top of that, taxes are taking at least one day's pay out of your weekly salary.

Third, rising prices can make a mockery out of any raise in pay you get.

This is all self-evident. It is equally self-evident that continued overspending by the government, along with excessive wage demands and settlements, can make inflation far more destructive still. No domestic problem is as pressing as the need to preserve what is left of the dollars value.

INSTRUMENT OF TYRANNY

The world has changed immeasurably since Calvin Coolidge was president. But something he said—and restated in different words on occasion after occasion—has a far greater significance now than it had then.

Mr. Coolidge said: "A government which lays taxes on the people not required by urgent public necessity and sound public policy is not a protector of liberty, but an instrument of tyranny . . . One of the first signs of the breaking down of free government is a disregard by the taxing power of the right of the people to their own property."

The taxes which "urgent public necessity" plainly require and will continue to require are enormous. That can't be helped. What can be helped is the imposition of taxes for purposes which are not urgent, are not necessary, or which can be accomplished by agencies other than the federal government.

PALATKA, FLA., DAILY NEWS: "Certainly electric power is a needed public service and one which the people of this nation can provide for themselves through free enterprise and does not need to be exploited under the authority of the United States government or by the use of the taxpayer's dollars. This notion that the federal government should build and operate generating plants to provide public power, whether it be produced by nuclear energy or any other fuel is repugnant to any concept of free enterprise."

—SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE TIMES—

SKIN DIVING IN 1850

Skin diving, with the aid of aqualungs and other special equipment, has become a popular sport in this country in the postwar era. It even has its magazines and literature. But it isn't nearly as new an art as most of us think.

More than a century ago some 200 skin diving miners worked coal seams in the bed of an Alabama river. In 1850, an observer wrote: "At the mouth of Village Creek . . . I witnessed here the novel process in the art of mining, namely, diving for coal. A flatboat is moored parallel with the joints, and near the edge of the coal long wedge-shaped crowbars are driven into the seams by means of mauls maneuvered by the men in the boat. When a ledge of about two feet is loosened in this way across the seam, the men take to the water and dive two or three together . . . and lift the coal bodily to the surface and place it in the boat." An improved method consisted of slipping chains around the loosened blocks of coal and hoisting them with cranes. Some lumps weighed as much as 1,000 pounds.

The miners in Alabama and the other coal producing states still work below the surface—but not underwater. And their predecessors of a century ago would hardly be able to believe their eyes if they saw the complex mechanical tools and processes that have given each miner far greater productive power with far less effort—and so have made possible his high wages and other benefits.

SIMPLE TRUTH

Writing in the Oregon Voter, Ralph T. Moore says: "A simple truth yet to be learned by the great American public is that there is not now, and never has been or can be, such a thing as protecting the low-bracket incomes from tax impact. For no matter how one contrives to superficially and apparently ease such burdens for the little man, he always pays the bill."

There is no mystery why this should be so. The sad fact is that there just aren't enough earners in the top brackets to meet tax costs. Various factual surveys show that if the earnings of these people were actually expropriated—that is, taxed 100 per cent, the revenue would meet Federal spending for only a few weeks, to say nothing of state and local governmental spending. The burden of wasteful government falls principally on the many, not just the few.

An Airlift for Santa Claus

Santa Claus, the world's foremost authority on air rides, recently tested the efficiency of Chevrolet's new Level Air suspension. Perched on a fender with heavy pack, he appreciably depressed the spring. Seconds later, the automatic recovery mechanism had restored pressure to the system to again bring the car level.

TRUST ARRANGEMENTS EXPLAINED

When property is placed in trust it is turned over to a trustee who will see to it that it is properly managed for the benefit of a person or persons you name as beneficiaries. It is a method of disposing of your property and may be used in conjunction with a will.

Trusts have many advantages. A trust may be used to provide income for persons unable to support themselves, to provide funds for a child's education, as a means of establishing an annuity, or to provide a gift for a charitable institution.

In these days of high taxes, a trust may be utilized to minimize the tax burden. If carefully planned, a trust may decrease income and inheritance taxes.

A trust arrangement works roughly in this manner. A person who desires to create a trust is called a grantor. The grantor chooses a trustee. The trustee may be a bank, an individual, or a trust company. The grantor through a trust instrument tells the trustee how to distribute the trust property or income. The trustee will then manage and distribute the trust proceeds or property in whatever manner the grantor desires.

A very common arrangement is to place the property in trust with directions to pay the income from the property to a wife for her life, and on her death the trust is to be distributed to the grantor's children.

An interesting type of trust is that which is sometimes called a spendthrift trust. This is an arrangement whereby one sets up a certain sum of money to be given out to another at a definite rate per month or per year, or under definite restrictions.

This type of trust is generally used in wills where a person desires to leave money to an individual, but feels that the individual is not capable of properly caring for the money and that if left to them in full that the party receiving the money will spend and waste the money and not receive the maximum benefit from it.

Trust property quite often consists of securities. The law regulates the type of property in which trust funds may be invested. However, the grantor may designate the type of investments the trustee may make.

The effectiveness of a trust is dependent largely on its proper creation. To avoid the pitfalls and dangers of lawsuits and ineffective trust operations, a trust instrument should be properly prepared. A poorly planned or carelessly drawn trust instrument can not only defeat the objectives of its creator, but may prove costly as well.

Your lawyer can advise you whether a trust arrangement will be advantageous in your particular situation, and is qualified

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

When friends and family get together, custom has almost made coffee a must. It does indeed, express hospitality. Many a cup will be served an enjoyed during the holiday season.

The secret of good coffee is in the making. For fresh full flavor, coffee makers must be kept spotlessly clean. A thorough washing in warm sudsy water, a rinse in very hot water and airing will make for such cleanliness. This easy daily care will prevent stains in the coffee maker and stains mean a stale bitter flavor.

For consistently good coffee, it is wise to measure the water and the coffee. Directions on instant coffee packages usually call for 4 measuring cups boiling water and 6 teaspoons coffee to make 6 servings of coffee. It is recommended that the mixture be stirred or swirled to assure a brew of even strength and that it be kept covered a few minutes before serving.

When making percolator, drip or vacuum coffee, use 1 coffee measure of coffee to 1 cup water. To measure by tablespoon, use 2 level standard measuring tablespoons.

Always start coffee making with freshly drawn cold water and use a standard measuring cup for measuring the water. Never boil coffee, it likes gentle temperature.

Viennese Coffee gives festive flavor as well as holiday dress to this favorite beverage. Served from a punch bowl, a special pot or by the cup it brings forth oh's and ah's.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Viennese Coffee: Tie 5 one-inch pieces of stick cinnamon and 15 whole cloves loosely in thin white cloth to make a spice bag. Add the bag to 7 measuring cups freshly made coffee. Cover and bring to simmering over a low gas flame. Turn off flame and let stand 5 minutes. Remove spice bag. Add 1-2 cup sugar and stir until sugar is dissolved. Serve at once topping each serving with whipped cream and a sprinkle of allspice. Makes 10 servings.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Hooper, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

The very things which delight the hearts of children and make parental eyes glow—the lights and candles and artificial snow—are most often the agents of Christmas tragedies.

But most tragedy is avoidable. Follow these simple rules this year as you plan your Christmas decorations, and the occasion can be as festive and warm as any you have ever experienced.

Use only flameproof crepe paper for streamers. If the package doesn't say "flameproof," don't buy it. The same injunction applies to other decorations, including the cotton bunting under the tree. Don't use it unless it has been treated with an inflammable solution by the manufacturer or unless you yourself have treated it under directions supplied by the fire department.

If you think Christmas will not be complete without candles glowing in the windows, use them with extreme care. But never use them on the tree itself. Take special pains to keep them away from curtains, and put them in a sturdy candle holder to guard against their tipping over.

Make certain you use only decorative lighting which carries the tag of Underwriters Laboratory approval.

Even after buying only UL products, pull the power cord from the wall outlet when the lights are turned off. This is important because insulation failures and overheated circuits could develop while you are absent from home.

Saw your Christmas tree off at an angle at least one inch above the original cut and keep it standing in a pan of water throughout the holiday period. The tree will thus absorb a great deal of water, especially during the first few days, and thereby be less vulnerable to fire. Be sure to add to the water from time to time so the entire stem cut will always be submerged.

As an added precaution, take the tree down as soon as practical after the holidays. If you have had a real tree, dispose of it in the manner and place prescribed by your community. In most Texas towns, the junior chamber of commerce or a similar organization routinely supervises the burning of discarded trees. Check to see if this service is handled by an organization in your town.

Keep these few simple suggestions in mind this year as you prepare for the holidays. They require no extra time or inconvenience, but they will pay you big returns in that they will add to your chances of being around to celebrate Christmas, 1958.

MAID ADVISES "COFFEE BREAK" FOR DRIVERS

John J. Quinn, national secretary of the Fraternal Order of Police, helps Maid of Cotton Patricia Ann Cowden place a bumper strip bearing the safety message, "For Safety's Sake, Stop for a Coffee Break" on her Ford car in cooperation with the F.O.P.'s safety drive to help reduce highway accidents this summer. The F.O.P., which has 40 chapters with 40,000 members representing the police officers and policemen in 27 states, will also distribute posters and window streamers bearing the safety message. The F.O.P.'s major effort on the campaign is being concentrated on Memorial Day, July 4th, and the Labor Day weekend.

Lincoln was a master at simplicity of statement.

When he was debating with Judge Stephen A. Douglas in the race for the U. S. Senate, Abe made a remark about the length of a man's legs. Douglas broke in. "How long should a man's legs be?" Lincoln was long and lanky; Douglas was short and stout. With a twinkle in his eye, Abe replied:

"Judge, a man's legs should be exactly long enough to reach from his body to the ground."

A company was planning to build a bridge across the Mississippi. Steamboat interest opposed this on the ground that the bridge would interfere with the passage of boats up and down the river. Lincoln, representing the bridge company, said, "The question is simply this, does a man who wants to go north or south have a right that is superior to that of the man who wants to go east or west?" The court decided that the bridge could be built.

I grew up thinking that Benjamin Franklin was the author of a whole flock of sayings, such: "Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise"; "Three moves equal a fire"; "Flow deep while sluggards sleep and you shall have corn to sell and to keep".

But an authority says that Franklin only collected these sayings and put them in his "Poor Richard's Almanac". All right—but, as far as the world is concerned the effect is the same. Until Franklin rounded them up, these bits of wisdom circulated only by word of mouth. He made them available to everyone.

When I was a reporter for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, I was on the "luncheon club circuit"—attending the noon meetings of five organizations each week. One day, the speaker at a club was a public accountant, Grady Mayhew, who made an excellent address. We did not meet and so he had no way of knowing who I was. When I saw him on the street a week or so later, I greeted him by name. He spoke but looked puzzled. After that, we passed, I always greeted him by name; in fact, finally began to call him "Grady". Half a dozen years later, when I was made a member of the Fort Worth Downtown Lions Club, the first member to grasp my hand was Mayhew.

He said, "I'm certainly glad you have joined our club; now at last I know who in the thunder the galoot is that is always hailing me by name!"

Mogul Quintet Playing With Only One Letterman Of Last Year's Team

With only one returning letterman on the team, the Munday Moguls, champions in west zone District 11-A basketball last season, will likely have a tough time repeating this year. The Moguls tied Crowell at 5-1 for the west zone title last year, the beat Crowell in the playoff by a score of 69-66. Munday then lost two of three games with east zone winner, Holliday for the 11-A district title. George Offutt, six-foot forward is the only letterman in Coach Troy Stewart's lineup. Last year, Stewart had the services of five lettermen as he ran up a 21-9 season record. Biggest loss to the local team was Glenn Amerson, honorable mention all-stater who had a 20 point average per game last season. Amerson, hook-shot artist, is being missed at the center position.

Most promising newcomer on the Mogul team is another hook-shooter, Phil McAfee, who also stands at six feet. He is being joined in the starting lineup by Charles Partridge, James Goodwin and Gaylon Allred. Munday got off to a slow start this season, losing three straight games before breaking into the win column with a 55-38 victory over Rochester. The Moguls lost to Benjamin, 36 to 33 and 49 to 41, and to O'Brien, 39 to 28.

Oldest Knox Citizen Has 94th Birthday

Sunday, December 15, marked the 94th birthday for one of the county's oldest citizens and earliest settlers. He is John W. (Uncle John) Smith of Knox City. He was born in Bowling Green, Ky., and came to Texas with his parents when he was 7. The Smith family came to Texas with a caravan of families and settled in Grayson Co. near the present town of Whitewright. Smith went to Wichita Falls and worked for a time, later going to the plains of West Texas where he worked for the late Col. Charles Goodnight. He came to Knox County in 1890 soon after the county was organized and ran a country store for two years. When Knox City became a town he opened a meat-market, the first in the town.

UNUSUAL DEATH FOR HUNTER REPORTED

An unusual hunting death in the Big Bend country of West Texas has been reported by Warden Sanford DeVoll of Alpine, according to the Director of Law Enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. Clifford E. Polozek of George West, hunting in the Christmas mountains, came onto an abandoned mine shaft. While peering into the shaft he became over-balanced and fell 40 feet to the bottom. He was removed from the shaft while still alive, but died enroute to the hospital.

FIRST TEXAS ENTRY

From a cotton export port comes the first Texas entry in the 1958 Maid of Cotton contest. She is Rikki Clark, 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Clark of Galveston. The hazel-eyed, black-haired beauty is a sophomore at the University of Houston, where she is majoring in clothing and textiles. She is a member of Delta Phi Epsilon Sorority and was chosen third in a campus contest to find the "Best Dressed Coed." A graduate of Ball High School in Galveston, she also has attended the University of Texas and the University of Miami. Rikki, who stands five feet, six inches tall, has modeled in charity and civic fashion shows at Galveston. She has been Shrimp Bowl Queen and a finalist in the Blue Bonnet Bell contest and in the Miss Splash Day contest. Deadline for entries in the 1958 Maid of Cotton contest is December 1. To be eligible, a girl must have been born in a cotton-producing state, must be between 19 and 25, must be at least five feet, five inches tall, and must never have been married. The girl chosen Maid of Cotton will travel 50,000 miles on an international tour and will be presented an all-cotton wardrobe created by leading American designers and a new Ford car. Applications may be obtained from the National Cotton Council, P.O. Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tenn.

Smith remembers much of the early history of this area and likes to tell about the coming of the railroads and the vanishing buffalo herds.

He was one of Knox County's first commissioners and one of the duties was to survey roads to near-by counties. These roads were marked by piling a few rocks or marking a mesquite tree to indicate the route selected.

Smith was an active member of church and civic affairs as long as his health permitted. He is a charter member of the Knox City member of the Masonic Lodge, Methodist Church, a charter and The Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford. Smith has lived in or near Knox City for the past 67 years and has watched the town grow from a few houses to a population of more than 2,000. He is the father of 11 children. Ten of them are living.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nance were Mrs. Nance's brothers Dale Howard and wife, Lester Howard, C. B. Howard and Lew Neal Howard, all of Denair, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Nance's daughters, Mrs. K. L. Smith, Mr. Smith and Kenny, and Miss Bobbie Nance, all of Sweetwater. They came at this time to attend the burial services of their grandmother, Mrs. E. L. Howard, at Knox City Saturday afternoon.

Pfc. Jerry Lemley of Fort Knox, Ky., came in last Saturday to spend his 15-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lemley. Mr. and Mrs. Lemley met him in Wichita Falls.

SCIENCE AND THE HOUSE FLY

When is a house fly not a house fly? It is when he becomes a guinea pig! And that is just what scientists are making of the household pest in an attempt to discover a new treatment for tumors.

The fly is becoming an important test organism for the rapid screening of tumor-inhibiting compounds. This new testing method quickly eliminates non-effective compounds and narrows the search for effective "cancer killing" elements.

An interesting sidelite in the research is that several of the tested compounds act as inhibitors of ovarian growth in female houseflies. This may mean the eventual discovery of an inexpensive chemical that would cause sterility in certain insects. The end result would be an effective insect control.

A federal entomologist, Norman Mitlin, recently reported his findings in this project at a meeting in Memphis, Tennessee. He said that results of tests with tumor inhibiting compounds can be obtained in as little as three days.

House flies complete a life cycle in slightly more than 2 weeks. They are physiologically similar in many ways to higher animals, as well as to other insects. With minimum space and effort, thousands of flies can be reared daily by non-professional workers, at low cost, for laboratory use. Only 30 to 40 flies are needed for a single test. Mice and rats, normally used in screening tumor inhibiting materials, require months of effort in breeding new strains and in rearing the animals to maturity.

Using flies as the medium, Mr. Mitlin has tested 26 compounds of which 15 gave positive results. Among them were several compounds provided by the Cancer Chemotherapy National Service Center of the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland.

In actual use, the house flies are separated according to sex upon emergence from the pupal stage. The segregated females are fed milk containing the material to be tested. After 3 days the flies are dissected and their ovaries are removed. Underdevelopment of the ovaries indicates that the test material provides inhibiting action on tumors.

HUNTERS PAY FOR NOT HAVING LICENSE

Three Illinois hunters have found that it doesn't pay to slip into Texas for their hunting, without buying a license. The three hunters from the Corn Belt of Illinois, were arrested last week in possession of four deer. They had one eight point buck, two spike bucks, and one doe.

They had been hunting on the backside of the Fort Hood area. One of the arrested men had soldiered there at one time and was acquainted with the territory. Complaints were filed in Killeen where they were fined $110 each.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

CATTLE HIGHER, REFLECT IMPROVED PASTURE

FORT WORTH — Current pasture condition in Texas as reported by USDA indicates 84 per cent, and just one year ago it was 50 per cent, and this vast improvement was reflected in the continued light movement to market here and at other points in the Southwest Monday. Present range feed conditions are 13 per cent higher than the ten year average, so the restocking program following the drought years continues at full throttle.

The bounty of range feed was reflected in cattle and calf prices at Fort Worth as strong to 50 cents higher levels opened the trade Monday. Some classes were at new high points for the season.

Fat calves reached $25, best for the class since January 1953. Bulls were at a seasonal high of $17.50, and cows were at the best levels for a year or longer. Stocker classes were equally higher, with good steer calves up to $25.50, and some of the $25 and $25.25 markers included bull calves, leaving strictly choice steer calves of lightweights untested in the trade.

Comparative prices: Good and choice steer and yearlings $22 to $25, and medium and low grades $15 to $21. Fat cows $14.50 to $17.50 and canners and cutters $10 to $14. Bulls $13 to $17.50. Good and choice fat calves drew $22 to $25, with medium and lower grades $13 to $21. Feeder yearlings sold from $23 down, and a few stocker cows sold from $13 to $16.50.

FAT LAMBS WEAK, SHEEP AND GOATS STEADY

Fat lambs opened weak to 50 cents lower at Fort Worth Monday as good to choice slaughter lambs drew $20 to $21.50. Woolled feeder lambs also topped at $21.50. Slaughter yearlings and two's sold around $16 to $18, and old wethers sold from $12 to $15. A few slaughter ewes drew $8 to $9. Aged bucks drew $5.50 to $7. A few goats cashed at $8.

HOGS OPEN STEADY DESPITE LARGER RUNS IN NORTH

Choice butcher hogs cashed at $19 to $19.25 at Fort Worth Monday, steady with last week's close. Medium and good hogs sold from $17 to $18.50. Sows cashed at $6.50 to $7.50.

Good sales of pork in the wholesale meat trade apparently offset the larger offering reported in the Corn Belt.

First Change In Potato Grades In 25 Years Proposed

First important changes in United States standards for potatoes in 25 years have been proposed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Primarily, the changes would "tighten" the standards of four wholesale grades, while dropping the U. S. Fancy designation which is little used.

Revised U. S. Extra No. 1 grade would provide the basis for wholesale trading of premium pack potatoes.

Tolerances for defects would be reduced also in the U. S. No. 1 and 2 grades.

Together, the changes would reflect modern marketing practices, and help provide the higher quality and better looking potatoes that consumers now expect.

In a recent survey to measure the adequacy of the existing U. S. grades, the Agricultural Marketing Service found out that nearly all segments of the potato industry customarily packed, sold or bought potatoes of a higher quality than the U. S. No. 1 grade — the primary trading grade used to merchandise potatoes.

Copies of the proposed changes may be obtained from the Fruit and Vegetable Division, AMS, USDA, Washington 25, D. C.

Field Trip Held By 6-B Students

The 6-A class of Munday Junior High School went on a field trip to a nearby shelter belt on Tuesday, December 17. We looked for different kinds of homes of wild life and found crows' nests, dove nests, hollow trees, snake and mice burrows, rabbit and coyote dens and other signs of wild life.

The purpose of this trip was to prove that science is everywhere.

Observations were made by teams, and each team tried to best the others in observing more of nature's secrets. Austin Tomlinson and Paul Reed were the winners, each recording over 60 observations. — Exa Lee Peyson, reporter.

Mogul Band News

The Munday Mogul Band marched in the Christmas parade last Saturday afternoon. Majorettes were wearing their new Christmas uniforms. They were red with white trim—kinda like Santa Claus' suit.

We were happy to learn that the Band Boosters float won first place in the parade. We wish to thank everyone who helped with this float.

The band will play Thursday, December 19, for the annual P. T. A. Christmas program. Everyone is invited to come out and hear them, as well as other numbers on this enjoyable program.

We Will Close For Christmas

After the noon-day run on Tuesday, December 24, we will close at 2 p. m. and remain closed until 5 a. m. Friday, December 27.
