

Kracker Krumbs

Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Will you be one of the 29 persons who will be traffic fatalities next week end?
k-k

That's the number which Gov. Price Daniel said last Tuesday would meet death on the highways during the 72-hour Labor Day holiday. His statement came as a clear warning that death or serious injury may be waiting the traffic law violator and the careless driver, but even worse, this type of driver may inflict undesired trouble or tragedy on the vast majority of Texas drivers who otherwise would have little trouble on our streets and highways.
k-k

It's not enough to know what you are doing—you must try to figure out what the other fellow is going to do. Reminds us of one of those Burma Shave signs we see along the highways: "He who drives when he's been drinking depends on you to do his thinking!"
k-k

If we do as is kinda planned at this time, we won't be on the highways very much during the holidays. Ours is a kinda stay at home program—with possibly a saunter up to the lake with our holiday company, if they arrive.
k-k

Another safety precaution has been issued by J. O. Musick general manager of the Texas Safety Association: "Give a brake to our youngsters when nearing a school."
k-k

As of this week, more than 2,250,000 children are attending school in Texas, and motorists were urged to adjust their driving habits accordingly.
k-k

"It is very appropriate for us to pause at this time of year, when children begin their training to prepare themselves for life, that we prepare ourselves through better driving habits to make it possible for them to live," Musick said.
k-k

So if you've been in the habit of whizzing through the school zones during the summer vacation months, don't do it anymore, especially during school hours. Children sometimes forget safety in their enthusiastic play — we grownups should not forget.
k-k

Another caution from Musick: "Don't turn your youngster loose behind a ton of steel and bolts unless you can depend on him (or her) to obey the traffic laws, exercise reasonable judgment, and has in possession a valid driver's license."
k-k

We are glad to hear that the "Hot Rod Club" has been formed by youngsters in Munday. This club was sponsored by the Methodist Men's Club and its purpose is to promote safer driving on the highways and in the community. It's a worthy club whose membership should grow, and grow.
k-k

Promoting safer driving is far better than that "hide and seek" game the youngsters of Munday were playing with their autos a few years ago. The Hot Rod Club could be a great influence in this area, and our hope is that it will make every youngster conscious of the death weapon an automobile can be when used incorrectly.
k-k

We got ourselves in a tight Wednesday with the old Linotype machine acting up on us, and we are indebted to Jim Hill of the Knox County Herald for quitting work on his paper and coming over to help us out. It was a heck of a time to have to call for help; and, we guess, Jim should never have let us know he was a machinist.
k-k

Reminds us of what Roy Craig of the Stamford American said one time: "I'm a sucker for help—a fellow publisher when he's in trouble." Jim may be "a sucker," too—but we shall be eternally grateful to him.

RECORD MAIZE YIELD

What is supposed to be a record maize yield thus far was reported Wednesday by Clyde Yost, who farms northwest of town. He harvested 5,900 pounds per acre. The maize was grown on irrigated land, but was not fertilized. It was harvested by Clifford Cluck and sold to Farmers Elevator Co.

New Safety Stickers Are Ready For Autos

The new 1961 Motor Vehicle Inspection stickers became available to Texas motorists at approved stations beginning September 1.

Captain Alan Johnson of the Texas Department of Public Safety, recommended that Texans have their vehicles inspected early in the new inspection period which extends from September 1 to April 15, 1961. Vehicles not displaying the new sticker after April 15 will be operating in violation of the law.

"In the vast majority of cases," Johnson said, "this program has become a very minor inconvenience and expense to the motor vehicle owner — provided he moves early to comply with the law."

"The more than 4,500 authorized inspection stations over the State are capable of handling the inspection of Texas vehicles without delay if owners will not wait until just a few days before the deadline."

"With hard summer driving coming to an end, fall is an excellent time to have vehicles safely checked in preparation for the winter months."

Johnson called attention to the fact that since the beginning of the inspection program, vehicles having a defect that was a causative factor in fatal accidents decreased from 11 per to 5 per cent last year.

DEMOCRATIC TEAM—Senator John F. Kennedy, left, the Democratic Presidential nominee, and his running-mate, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, are getting set for a hard-hitting campaign to win the Presidential election. The Democratic team plans to carry the 1960 campaign to most of the states in the Nation. Senator Kennedy will visit Texas Sept. 12-13 for a swing through the state.

C. C. Office Moves Into City Hall

The building vacated by the Chamber of Commerce is being divided into two office spaces and these will be occupied by Paul B. Pendleton Insurance and Pete Beecher, tax assessor and collector for the North-Central Texas Municipal Water Authority.

Band Boosters Will Organize

On Thursday, September 1st, an organizational meeting of the Band Boosters for the 1960-1961 school year will be held at the band hall at 8:15 p. m. It has been advanced to the Thursday before the regular Monday as the regular meeting date is on a holiday, Labor Day.

All parents are urged by Bobby Brooks, the new Munday band director to attend so that this may be one of the most successful years for the band to enjoy.

This first meeting will be held so Mr. Brooks can become acquainted with all parents who are present and so there can be a question and answer session. It will be a very short meeting and should be over by 9 p. m.

If it is at all possible all interested band boosters should make plans to attend and meet the new band director.

Moguls To Play Rochester on Sat.

The Munday Moguls will officially open the 1960 football season on Saturday night of this week, when they play the Rochester Steers at Rochester. This game has been the season's opener for both teams for several years.

According to Coach Arledge, the game is liable to be "a little rough," with fear of the starting backfield men injured or sick and unable to play in the game. Tommy Dickerson, George Reed, Douglas McGrady and Bruce Pruitt will all be out of the game.

"Most of my boys are either sophomores or juniors," the coach said. "They are a fighting bunch and will play their best in every game—but they need experience."

By next year, this team will let you know they are the team to beat.

Pete Alcalá, a newcomer in the backfield, is really looking good. Bruce Pruitt and Douglas McGrady, both sophoms; Tommy Dickerson, a junior; Jerry Meers and George Reed are all looking good in the backfield. Tony Hobert, a junior; Roy Perez, a soph., and Jackie Booe, a freshman, are showing great prospects in this line.

"Our boys looked good in the scrimmage game with Haskell recently," some of the fans remarked. "Of course, neither team crossed the goal line but the Moguls held Haskell pretty well."

Coach Arledge hadn't decided Wednesday on the starting lineup for this opening game. He urges fans to support the Moguls this season, as the boys need your support more than ever before. "By next year," he said, "the team will have you saying: 'The Moguls are the team to beat.'"

Claude Burton, who is in his first year in the Munday schools, is serving as assistant coach.

Puller Shortage Seen At Peak Of Cotton Harvest

Leo Fetsch, a member of the county farm labor committee met with Billy Lynch, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office last Thursday morning to review the total seasonal employment needs developed by the TEC.

The Committee was presented with the figures of the TEC that Knox County will be short 3,790 cotton pullers during the peak period of the cotton harvest. This shortage will be met by the importation of Mexican National Bracero workers.

The Committee will function under Public Law 78, obtaining facts relevant to the supply of domestic farm workers existing in Knox County and the shortage of workers, if any, which must be met by importing Mexican Nationals to harvest the cotton crop. Under Public Law 78, the TEC must supply this information to the Secretary of Labor who must limit the number of Mexican Nationals to be used in this county by granting a "ceiling." The Committee consults with the Local Office Manager to assist him in estimating the number of workers who will be needed, based on current local conditions affecting the cotton crop.

"Ceilings" granted by the Secretary of Labor limiting the importation of Mexican Nationals into this area will be posted in Post Offices in Munday, Goree, Knox City, Vera, Benjamin, in the County Agent's Office, and in the County Courthouse.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Quite a few Pops still worry every summer about how much money Junior makes during vacation.

At one time Pop lost his income tax exemption for Junior if Junior earned over $600 during the year. However, since 1954 this is no longer the case. Pop doesn't have to worry about how much money Junior makes.

A father who furnishes principle support for his child can claim an exemption for a child under 19 years of age, or for a bona fide student, over 18 years of age who was a full-time student for 5 months of the year, even though the child files his (or he) own income tax return and takes his (or her) own personal exemption on his (or her) return. This is the one case where you can take a double deduction for the same exemption.

"A part of every American's savings should be invested in Savings Bonds, to provide for his future and to add strength to the National economy," stated Mr. Braly.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Figures Out A way To Prove Nobody Knows Just What's Going On In The Congo

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek tries to prove a point about foreign affairs this week and he may have succeeded.

Dear editor:
More and more it's getting clear that an ignorant man hasn't got a chance to keep up with what's going on in the world, and sometimes I have my doubts about the educated ones.

For example, day after day lately there's been a lot of news out of the Congo, but my opinion is that the news is being received in newspaper offices by men who don't know what it is, dressed up with headlines by other men who don't know what it is, and printed and passed on to readers who don't know what it is.

Take this headline I read in a newspaper last night: "UN Entry Okayed By Tschombe, Lumumba Move Is Opposed By Kantanga Chief." The article underneath went on to talk about Premier Moise Tschombe, Premier Patrice Lumumba, Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens, the mid-African Ruanda Urundi trusteeship, Kamina military base, the fighting in Kasai and on the western shore of Lake Tanganyika.

It also mentioned dissatisfaction among the Kynacke tribes, an appeal to the U. N. by Premier Jynkasi in the Congolese province of Leontius, etc.

All right, you get the idea. Now I'd like to make a test. I'll bet a subscription to The Munday Times against a subscription to the New York Times, a fairly even bet, that if you take this letter to any high school or college teacher you can find, he can't correctly identify all these names and places listed above in connection with the Congo.

If he can't, how's an ordinary newspaper reader like me going to get to first base with it? What base did you get to?

of the many possible combinations of surviving relatives. Each situation must be carefully studied to determine the correct distribution of the property.
For example, here is a general idea of how the community property which you and your spouse have accumulated will be divided if you do not make a will prior to your death.

If your husband or wife survives and there are no children, the surviving spouse receives all of the property.

If, in addition, there are surviving children or descendants of deceased children, they would divide one-half of the property, while the surviving spouse would receive the other one-half.

Of course, grandchildren do not share in the estate unless their parent who would inherit is deceased. And when descendants of previously deceased children do inherit, they receive only the portion that the child would have received, regardless of the number of such descendants.

An odd note, perhaps, is that the surviving spouse already owns one-half of the community estate prior to your death, and the law adds nothing to this share where there are children surviving.

When there are only children and their descendants surviving, they divide the entire community estate between them.

Dollars And Sense

By Mrs. S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

Start now to save on taxes. Plan your financial affairs carefully all year long. Don't expect to save much if you wait until the tax return is already before you. Keep spending records.

You might start a savings account for your child's future. The interest earned would be charged to his earnings if it is in his name, and you would not be taxed on this interest. Check with your lawyer to be sure you open the account in the right way.

Give some of your stock to your children. The idea is to shift income from dividends or profits from sale of stock to your children who would pay taxes at a lower rate if at all. If you give your son stock that pays $100 a year in dividends, you reduce your income by that amount and cut your taxes accordingly. Don't forget, though, the stock legally belongs to your son. Consult your broker for advice.

Mrs. Lola Cartwright visited on the plains last week end. She went at this time to attend the 40th wedding anniversary of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Stark, in Tulia on August 21st. Her two sisters, Mrs. Fay Stark and Mrs. Vallie Stark, of Kress brought her home on Tuesday of last week and remained over Wednesday for a visit.

What was Austin and its life like when O. Henry, the future master of the short story, lived there?

In the issues of the Austin Statesman during January 1887 (O. Henry was then working in the Land Office), there were such news items as an account of four runaway teams on East Pecan street in one day with no injury; a fire in the room of a man after "a night around", had gone to bed at 6 a. m., cause of the fire, which caused $450 damage being surmised as an overturned lamp or a lighted cigar; and the acquittal of a man for killing a dog.

In one issue, the reader was told of the escape of a prisoner from the chain-gang, the breaking out of the "calaboose" by another and announcement of a meeting of the Austin Grays — (a drill unit of which O. Henry was a member).

Another item was, "The usual weekly dances at the insane asylum last night was attended by a number of legislators."

Also the public was advised that Fritz Hartkopf of the Opera House Club "will serve his customers with bear meat at lunch today."

The editor indignantly commented, "So far as the Statesman is aware, the Austin post-office is the only one which keeps the doors of its main entrance locked more than two-thirds of the time. It is an inconvenience to the people which should be remedied."

Incidentally, the business enterprise of the daily is indicated by the fact that the issue of January 2 carried an advertisement of Christmas presents! And the ad was on the front page.

O. Henry himself gives us a glimpse of Austin's appearance in his magazine, "Rolling Stone," August 25, 1894 — (the governor at that time being James Stephen Hogg). The capitol grounds, O. Henry wrote "are scarcely more than Hogg's wallow prairie, and a wilderness of weeds, rubbish, holes and sunflower forests."

He refers also to a "wild waste of ugly, poulderous, dangerous, lep-sided, creaking and groaning signs that hang over the sidewalks of Austin. . . . Oh, wicked and perverse generation, ye seek a sign and it shall be given you — on your own heads be the consequences!

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mrs. Jack Tidwell returned home last Thursday from Lubbock and was very put out because Grandpa Jack had not reported their new grand daughter, whom she has been helping take care of, so she reports it. Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Harris of 2009 13th St. in Lubbock are announcing the arrival of a daughter on August 6, 1960. She weighed 8 pounds and 5 ounces and has been named Sherry Lynn. Her other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Harris of Haskell.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bowen and daughters, Teresa Lynn and Janna Kay, of Haskell and Mrs. P. V. Williams, over the week end. Their children, Cindy and Johnny, who spent last week with their grandmother, returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mitchell visited Mr. and Mrs. Mark Russell in Baylor County last Sunday.

FACING UP TO FACTS

Ever since the federal wage-hour law was passed, in the depression days, certain service industries, retailing among them, have been exempt. Senator Holland led the fight for the retail exemption when it was threatened in 1949 and was successful. And he is leading that fight again, in opposing proposals which would bring retailing within the scope of the law.

Senator Holland, needless to say, is not against higher wages. Neither are legions of other people who favor keeping the exemption intact. But they face up to an inescapable set of facts.

One is that retailing is a local business, which must adapt itself to widely differing local needs, customs and standards. An outlet of the biggest national chain must still compete at the local level.

Another is that retailing has room for marginal and part-time workers, including teenagers and housewives, whose value is limited. If wages are artificially forced up to where they pass that value, retailers will have no choice save to reduce employment of this nature to the maximum degree.

Another is that elimination of the retail exemption, like an increase in the minimum wage, would be inflationary.

Senator Holland deserves public as well as legislative support in his fight.

A BIPARTISAN PROBLEM

The platforms of both the parties contain transportation planks that of the Democrats' pledges a national policy which would permit the "coordination and modernization" of all forms of transportation, and also says, that, "The nation's railroads are in particular need of freedom from burdensome regulation to enable them to compete effectively with other forms of transportation."

That of the Republicans' urges "competitive and integrated" service by the different modes of transportation, and also calls for "minimal regulation" and for tax reforms providing "incentive depreciation" to stimulate modernization investments.

These planks are specific in principal if not in detail. They certainly indicate that both the political parties are pretty much in agreement as to what is wrong with transportation law and policy and what needs to be done. And they point to problems that urgently require adequate solutions without avoidable delay.

We are still following horse and buggy concepts of transportation regulation in this electronic age—concepts which, in large measure, came into being when railroads had a virtual monopoly of commercial haulage. Obsolete and destructive tax and depreciation policies are barriers to the kind of transportation progress this country not only wants but needs.

Both parties have gone on record with words. Those words must be reflected in deeds.

TOP VALUE

It's generally believed that all prices have risen by big percentages in the last 10 years. But that is not true of a number of commodities—including some of the commodities which are most important to our lives.

A recent column by Sylvia Porter, the nationally known business analyst, touches on this. A short time ago, she writes, she went to a grocery store and bought eight typical food items. The cost was $5.69. Two years ago the identical items would have cost a penny more — $5.70. And even years ago the cost would not have been a great deal less than now — $4.90.

Miss Porter also emphasizes the intensity of the competition that exists in the business of retailing. And this, of course, is one of the big reasons why the cost of typical foods has remained relatively stable over a lengthy period of years — years in which the cost of living as a whole has risen substantially.

The same thing is true of many other items sold at retail, clothing included. American retailing has taken much more of the sting out of inflation than is generally understood, by steady progress in cutting costs and increasing volume. The savings have been passed on to the consumer. And there's one thing this consumer can be sure of — he gets top value for his shopping dollar.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

What constitutes baptism? For the answer to this question we appeal to the wisdom of the world's scholarship.

Martin Luther: "Baptism is called in the Greek language BAPTISMOS, on Latin MER-SIO, which means to plunge something entirely into the water, so that the water closes over it."

John Calvin: "The word baptise signifies to immerse, and it is certain that immersion was the practice of the ancient church."

Thayer: "Baptize: to dip repeatedly, to immerse, submerge."

John Wesley: "We are buried with him — alluding to the ancient manner of baptizing by immersion."

"Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death; that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." (Re. 6:4-5).

"Buried with him in baptism wherein also ye are risen with him . . . ." (Col. 2:12). Baptism depicts a death, burial and resurrection. Immersion harmonizes with this figure. Webster lists the meaning for the original Greek word for "baptize" as "to dip in water."

Here are passages showing the action in baptism: Matt 3:16, Mark 1:5, John 3:23, Acts 8:36-39, Acts 22:16 and Hebrews 10:22.

What is baptism? Is it immersion? Is it limited to immersion, or can other "modes" be substituted? Judge for yourself! Weigh the evidence.

Cotton Outlook Cloudy

Texas cotton production for 1960 has been figured at 4,375,000 bales in the first estimate released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, but this was before heavy August rains covered nearly all areas of South Texas.

The 4,375,000 bale estimate would be some 125,000 bales below the 4,500,000 bale yield of 1959 in Texas, and it may be lower than that after the results of continued rainfall in the harvest season are counted up. About 10 percent of the 1960 crop has now been gathered, mainly in the Rio Grande Valley and in the lower reaches of South Texas. The average yield in all of Texas this year is estimated at 321 pounds per acre.

Nationally, total cotton production for 1960 is estimated at about 14,471,000 bales, a little below the 14,558,000 bale crop gathered last year. This compares with a ten-year average of 13,710,000 bales per year.

Cotton harvesting will be late this year in nearly all areas of Texas because of the lateness in getting the growing season started. Growers in some sections were unable to get stands even with one or more replantings, and some acreage was diverted to other crops.

But whatever the outlook in the rest of the state, the 23 counties in the High Plains covered by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. were full of optimism as neared its end. First official estimates put out by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange and the Plains Cotton Growers indicate a production of 1,899,000 bales for 1960, which would be 29,647 bales more than the 1959 production in the same 23-county area. It is figured that the 1960 crop will be worth from $267 million to 286 million. The all-time record for cotton production on the High Plains stands at 2,025,433 bales ginned in 1958.

In common with many other sections of the state, High Plains cotton early in the season was plagued by adverse weather, plant diseases and insects. But the condition of the crop, bolstered by exceptionally heavy rains when most needed in July, was described in August as being "good to excellent." No large volume of High Plains cotton is expected to be harvested before October.

Under the Federal farm program, cotton is grown on a plan which seeks broader markets and lowered price supports. Growers are allowed to overplant allotted acreages provided they are willing to accept lower price guarantees. Cotton acreage allotments this year amounted to 15,531,000 acres, compared with an average of 19,969,000 acres for the past ten years.

Miss Jo Ann Myers And William Henry Artusy Marry In Lake Charles, Louisiana

Miss Jo Ann Myers of Lake Charles, La., and Willard Henry Artusy of Houston were united in marriage August 20, 1960 at 7:30 p. m. at the First Methodist Church in Lake Charles. Dr. Carl F. Lueg pastor, officiating in the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilbert Myers, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Myers of Munday. The groom is the son of Mrs. George Daniel Artusy, Sr. and the late Mr. Artusy of Houston.

Mrs. Clark Carver of Lake Charles, organist, played the traditional wedding march and accompanied Mrs. M. L. Hutcheson of Denton, Texas who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The choir loft was banked with green standards and spiral candelabra. Standards of white gladioli and fujii mums decorated the altar before which the wedding vows were taken.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a traditional wedding gown of white silk peau de soie. The bodice featured a lace motif and had short sleeves. The waist line was accented with lace medallions and formed a deep point in back. The bouffant skirt was paneled in front with re-embroidered alien con lace and the back cascaded into a full chapel train. Her veil of imported silk illusion extended from a lace caplet circled with pearls and enhanced with a single tear-drop pearl. A pair of pearl drop earrings was the bride's only jewelry. She carried an old fashion bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis with white streamers and centered with a removable white orchid.

Miss Joan Morrison of Lake Charles was maid of honor. She wore a stretch length gown of bell pink embossed nylon over tulle. The bodice featured a bateau neckline softly draped with small folds of nylon and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt was accented with a cummerbund of matching taffeta forming a large bustle bow in back with flowing streamers. The small matching wreath type hat had a circular veil sprinkled with pearls. She wore tiny pearl earrings and white gloves, gifts of the bride, and white pumps and carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Vicki Walker of Corpus Christi (former classmate of the bride) and Miss Floela Myers of Lake Charles, sister of the bride. Their gowns and accessories were identical to those of the maid of honor.

Danny Artusy, nephew of the groom, and Johnny Fore, both of Houston, were candlelighters.

The bride's mother wore a brown lace dress over taffeta with matching accessories. Her corsage was pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore blue lace with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Raymond Fore of Houston was

best man. Groomsmen were R. J. D. Elder of Pilot Point, Texas, C. Fore and Elly Fore, both of Houston. Ushers were Travis Madole, Mike Melms, Bobby Patton and Arthur Pettit, all of Houston.

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception at Wesley Foundation, Methodist Student Center at McNeese State College in Lake Charles. Miss Betty Jean Hammond, niece of the groom, presided at the bride's book. A white bud vase with pink carnations decorated the register table.

The bride's table was covered with white net over taffeta. Two silver candelabra held white tapers and the centerpiece was a silver ewer of white fujii and pink mums. Miss Denise Thibodeaux presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Olin Hardy and Miss Linda Kay Watkins presided at the four tiered wedding cake. As sisting also were Mrs. Malcolm Parton of Tyler, Texas and Mrs. J. D. Elder of Pilot Point, Texas. For traveling the bride wore a candlelight eyelash cotton sheath and fitted short bolero with collar and three quarter length sleeves. Her accessories were black patent, a black Wimberly veil hat and a white orchid corsage.

The bride was a junior at McNeese State College, member of Phi Mu social sorority, and Wesley Foundation. The groom was graduated from the University of Houston and is employed by the Boy Scouts of America as District Executive, Sem Houston Area Council, Houston, Texas. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Houston.

The bride's parents were hosts for a rehearsal luncheon at their home on Saturday for the wedding party.

Special thanks to the life insurance company for their help.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

The major killers — cancer, heart diseases and accidents — do most of the statistic rattling in Texas just as elsewhere throughout the United States.

But there are lesser killers, no less potent once they strike — and in many cases the disease is preventable.

For instance, during 1959 there were 52 deaths attributed to tetanus, often called lockjaw. Most could probably have been prevented.

Twenty-four deaths were among infants less than one-year-old, but 17 fatal cases of tetanus were among persons 15 years of age or older.

Tetanus can be guarded against with appropriate toxoid injections. In fact, a standard recommendation of the American Academy of Pediatricians is for children to be immunized against tetanus in combination with pertussis and diphtheria, commonly referred to as DTP shots.

Parents are familiar with the DTP shots administered to their infants by pediatricians or a family doctor while the child is still less than a year old.

Such early protection is also recommended by State health authorities.

However, the protection afforded by tetanus toxoid loses strength over the years and should be maintained with a periodic booster or in the event of injury subject to tetanus infection if recommended by your family doctor.

Especially vulnerable are playing children and workers who may be injured on the job.

Males fall victim to the disease nearly twice as often as females. In 1959, there were 34 tetanus deaths among males and only 18 among females.

The tetanus germ is a stable spore which can lie dormant for long periods of time — blowing around in the dust waiting for an opportunity to spring to death-dealing life under the proper conditions of warmth and moisture found in a deep cut or puncture wound, or even an abrasion.

Tetanus appears to be a stable item in the death columns of Texas. In 1958 there were 57 deaths — 1957 — 48, 1956 — 52, and 1955 —

It is a small figure in the total death picture of Texas — but even one death is too much when it can probably be prevented with tetanus toxoid.

Best Investment

Efficient farming methods are prerequisites to maximum profits, and failure to determine the soil's need for lime and fertilizer is not efficiency. Dr. W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, says that the best place to determine the amount of lime or fertilizer a pasture or field needs is in the laboratory.

"A farmer or rancher gets more return on the money spent for testing and then applying recommended treatment to his soil than he does on any other money spent for crop production," Dr. Bennett points out.

Improper nutrient balance, coupled with a lack of weed, insect and disease control, greatly reduces the potential effectiveness of fertilizer. If the soil is high in acid or low in lime content, the phosphorus, potassium and some of the nitrogen is lost to growing plants, Bennett continues. Addition of agricultural limestone to such soils will result in greater use of plant nutrients, resulting in increased crop yields.

Application of limestone produces such beneficial results as providing calcium for plant food and making phosphorus more available for plant use. Also, soil bacteria are stimulated, the soil is easier to work, forage plants are more nutritious for livestock and toxic materials in the soil are neutralized, Dr. Bennett continues.

ues. All of the above benefits are made available to landowners whose soil is tested to determine what is needed. Soil samples are easy to collect, and any county agent can give you information on taking and mailing them. Dr. Bennett concludes.
