Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

It was time for lamenting in the Oscar Spann household.

k-k

Something had to be done about Old Stubby.

k-k

Stubby was the family dog and constant companion of some of the Spann children while they were growing up, especially George.

k-k

"You remember that black and white dog, Old Stubby, that used to follow George around town everywhere he went?" Oscar and Bera asked us the other day.

k-k

Everywhere George went, Stubby was with him. If he wasn't allowed to go first, he'd wait a while then follow along. He seemed to know just where his little master was going and would find him.

k-k

And so it happened that Stubby began attending Vacation Bible School at the First Methodist Church with George one summer. If George was in class, Stubby would come in and lie down at the end of the bench near him; if he was in lab work in the basement, Stubby would find a comfortable place under the table. If it was decided he should remain at home, Stubby would sneak off later and come in tardy at V. B. S.

k-k

At the end of school, when time came for issuing certificates to the children, Stubby was issued a perfect attendance certificate thus becoming the only dog in memory of those connected with the school to have such a record. The certificate is still around the Spann home.

k-k

Stub couldn't follow the children everywhere they went—off to college, or when they got married and moved away. Then, too, he became less active in his declining years.

k-k

He had lived and romped around through many summers. He had lived a total of 17 years—and that's a long time in a dog's life!

k-k

He became very ill some time ago, and it was thought the end was surely near. Oscar and Bera talked about having him "put to sleep" at the time, then decided to wait until Bera Fays came home.

k-k

When she arrived, Stubby was much improved. Her ultimatum to her parents was that Stubby was not about to be put to sleep at this time.

k-k

The days passed into weeks and months. Stubby became more aged and more feeble. Finally he could barely get down when up, nor up when down. His appetite remained good, but his running gears appeared almost completely worn out. Yet, the family attachment that had increased through the 17 years caused the family to delay the inevitable.

k-k

One day, George came home, and the family went into consultation again about putting Stubby to sleep. George went outside and took what was possibly his final compassionate look at his boyhood friend and companion—now a very pitiful sight to see, even in a canine's life.

k-k

"Well, I guess it's the thing to do," he told his parents. "I'm not going to tell you to do it, and I'm not going to tell you not to. But I'll tell you one thing—I'm certainly not going to do it."

k-k

"I'd had his grave dug for a long time," Oscar said, "knowing that the time was coming sooner or later."

k-k

And so Old Stubby was put to sleep, never again to awaken in this old world. His 17 years had been spent in faithful companionship with those who loved him as one of the family.

k-k

The Spann family can change just one word in the song about "Old Shep" and sing with a firmness of belief: "If dogs have a Heaven, this thing I know—Old Stubby has a wonderful home."

k-k

We learned about Old Stubby in a noonday conversation at a local cafe. Oscar and Bera had no idea we would devote our column to the faithful dog—but we hope they don't mind.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Dean were her mother, Mrs. Pearl Bruca and brother, Joe Bruce, of Dimmitt.

Goree Youth Shows Champion Gilt At Annual Swine Show Held On Saturday

Bobby Jackson of Goree showed the first place gilt in the annual Knox County 4-H Club Swine Show which was held at the Rhineland gin last Saturday morning.

Eight gilts were entered in the annual competition. They were entered by Lawrence New and Dwight Reeves of Gilliland; Jackson and Jerry Decker of Goree; Moore and Richie Herring of Rhineland; Rodney Wright of Knox City and John B. Melton of Munday.

Only boar in the show was entered by Richard Jungman of Rhineland.

David Bardin, vocational agriculture teacher in Munday schools was judge for Saturday's event.

Moguls Drop Second Game To Rule On Friday

Halfback Bob Clark scored two touchdowns for the Rule Bobcats last Friday night to lead his team the 14-0 victory over the Munday Moguls on the Rule field.

Clark, a sophomore, made 127 yards rushing on 15 carries. The District 10-B Bobcats gained a total of 188 yards rushing.

Some rain fell during the game, which was the first of the season for the Moguls, who have been without the services of some of their first string men.

Clark got his first TD on a 42 yard run in the second quarter and recovered a Mogul fumble in the end zone for the second quarter. Quarterback Keith Whitaker passed to end Ernest Briles for the two extra points.

The Moguls will go to Knox City on Friday night for their third game of the season.

Some of the committees include: vegetable, Herb Partridge, chairman; grain, Ted Russell, chairman; cotton, L. B. Patterson; livestock and range, J. C. Moorhouse; foods clothing, home improvement, and others.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

The Internal Revenue Service still has several thousand checks that belong to North Texans.

Every year a lot of taxpayers fail to write plain enough for the tax folks to read. Then the electronic machines fail to spell some taxpayer's name right on their refund check. Due to several causes the Internal Revenue Service ends up with quit a few thousand returned refund checks.

They work had at trying to find the taxpayer's correct name and address, but a lot of folks also add to the confusion by moving and not telling Internal Revenue of their new address.

If you were due a refund check this year, if you have not received your refund check yet, if you have not been notified that your return is being given a pre-refund audit, you should write to Internal Revenue. You may be one of the several thousand who may be pleasantly surprised by having a refund check forwarded to you.

Methodist W. S. C. S. Has Luncheon Meet

County Is Cited For Sale Of Bonds

Knox County residents were congratulated recently for their part in swelling U. S. Savings Bond ownership to a new all-time high.

W. E. Braly volunteer Knox county chairman for the bond program in Texas, said the nationwide holdings of Series E and H Savings Bonds stood at $42.8 billion as of August 31, according to official word sent to him from the Treasury Department in Washington. Of this total, Texans own about $1,570 million.

The report to Mr. Braly came in the form of a congratulatory letter from William H. Neal, assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury and national director of the Savings Bond program. In it, Mr. Neal said that the new $42.8 billion total tops the World War II peak of E Bond holdings by some $12 billion, pointing out the steady growth which has characterized the bond program throughout the peacetime years since 1945.

"These statistical facts, however are a comparatively minor part of the story," Mr. Neal told Mr. Braly. "Of vastly greater importance are the accomplishments of millions of families in making dreams come true through systematic savings; and the patriotic contribution of Savings Bond volunteers like you in making our program not alone successful, but even possible."

"I know I speak for Secretary Anderson and Undersecretary Baird in expressing the Treasury's congratulations and thanks for your part in this newest Savings Bonds achievement."

Mr. Braly said that one of every four Knox county residents is a bond-owner—the national average.

Acreege Survey Gets Under Way

Postmaster Etta L. Chamberlain of Goree announced today that Rural Mail Carriers will begin distributing 1960 Acreege Survey Cards to patrons on their routes about September 14.

The Post Office and U. S. Agriculture Departments cooperatively make this survey each year. These reports, directly from farmers, are the basis for official estimates for Texas acreage of all crops harvested in 1960.

To be sure this community is well represented in the survey, Postmaster Chamberlain urges each patron receiving a card to fill it out and return it to his mail box.

Rural mail carriers working on this project include G. Hampton, Route One, Goree.

Funeral For R. C. Partridge, Killed In Illinois Accident, Held Tuesday

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday from the Gillespie Baptist Church for R. C. Partridge, 68, prominent land owner and retired farmer of this area, who was killed in an automobile accident last Thursday near Elgin, Ill.

Rev. Ronnie Skaggs, pastor, officiated, and was assisted by Rev. Claude Stovall of Abernathy. Burial was in Gillespie Cemetery under direction of McCauley Funeral Home. Grandsons served as pallbearers.

Knox Lodge No. 851, AF&AM, had charge of Masonic services at the graveside. E. T. Goss of Seymour conducted the services.

Mrs. Partridge, who suffered a broken rib and shock in the two-vehicle accident which killed her husband, was released from an Elgin hospital early this week, and arrived in Munday on Tuesday morning.

Mr. Partridge was dead on arrival at an Elgin hospital, after a truck hit the Munday couple's car on the left side, striking the door. Mr. Partridge suffered head injuries. At the time of the accident, the Partridges were enroute home after visiting a sister of Mrs. Partridge, Mrs. T. A. Miller, in Chicago.

Mr. Partridge, who would have been 69 on November 2, was born in the Sunset community and lived all of his life on the same two sections of land. His parents were well-known pioneers of this area.

He married Willie May Myers on November 10, 1912.

Mr. Partridge was a leader in the Gillespie Baptist Church for many years, and was a member of the Masonic Lodge at Munday, having served at master of the lodge a number of years ago.

Survivors include his wife; five daughters, Mrs. Olive Mae Krause and Mrs. Faye Marie Erickson, both of Fort Worth, Mrs. Mary Helen Shirley of Port Neches, Mrs. Wanda Sue Meeks of Abilene, and Mrs. Ruth Jennelle Owen of Casper, Wyo.; a son Harold Partridge of Munday; a sister, Mrs. W. W. McCarty, also of Munday, and 13 grandchildren.

Citation Awarded To Munday Man

An official State Health Department citation was awarded this week to E. Y. Johnson, water superintendent of the Munday municipal water department, for proficiency in water plant management.

The impressively designed certificates of competency, signed by the state commissioner of health and authorities of the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association, credit recipients with having demonstrated "skill and knowledge" of water treatment plant management and an understanding of the public health importance of the work.

Under the State Health Department's operator certification program, operators are carefully examined on their technical ability and on their knowledge of their work's influence on community health. Each must pass a stiff written test to qualify for certification.

The Texas general sanitation law requires that at least one plant operator per shift be certified by the state health agency, but other plant personnel and persons in related fields frequently seek certification on their own time and at their own expense to advance themselves professionally and to increase their efficiency as vital public servants.

"The recipients of these certificates are a credit to their profession and to their communities," sponsors of the certification program said.

Points toward certification are earned through actual work experience and by attendance at annual district and state short schools sponsored and conducted by the Texas State Department of Health, the engineering extension service of Texas A & M College, and the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association.

TAX-INCREASING BEAR TRAPS SET

The announcement that there was a budget surplus of $1,100,000,000 during the last fiscal year a much larger figure than had been forecast, deserved and got headlines all around the country. This was a happy event. But the cheering could be premature.

A general election year is believed to offer a marvelous opportunity for those who follow the "tax and tax, and spend and spend" philosophy to corral votes. In the efforts of candidates to woo votes, proposals are now made whose cost to taxpayers would make the current surplus look like peanuts stand economics. Unless the voters have the fortitude and the intelligence to resist these tax-raising bear traps, we can look forward to inflation-creating deficits of almost limitless size.

ALTOONA, PA., MIRROR: "Former President Herbert Hoover, at the age of 83, still can thrill his listeners and his clear voice and cheery smile can hold attention. The elder statesman of the Republican Party proved himself to be the 'hit' of the opening session of the Republican convention in Chicago . . . . .

"He attacked the Communists the eggheads and the beatniks who would place America second and who fail to stand up to their heritage. He sought a rebirth of a great spiritual force which has been impaired by cynicism and weakened by foreign infections."

The campaign train, making whistle stop after whistle stop, is coming back. Senator Kennedy says: "Aside from its historical value, the tradition of the campaign train is bound to regain its role in presidential campaigns because it brings the candidate face to face with the voters to a greater degree than any other method." Vice President Nixon says: "The campaign train affords an ideal way to reach small cities in heavily populated states. All of us who have been in national campaigns have a nostalgic feeling for the campaign train which long has been an integral part of presidential races."

HAGERSTOWN, MD., HERALD: "As news came that the federal budget for the year just ended showed a welcome billion dollar surplus, it was ruefully admitted that the Social Security fund had shrunk by the same amount. It wasn't forecast by the experts, who had thought the fund would be in the black after two straight years in the red. Even the new higher Social Security taxes weren't enough. It's a simple matter of more people taking more money out. And, if it goes on it is certain that taxes will have to be raised quickly just to cover present benefits.

According to Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, spending programs of a strictly non-defense nature now proposed in Congress would add $2 billion to the federal budget for this fiscal year. These programs include federal aid to education, public housing, benefits for peacetime servicemen, federal aid for depressed areas, and a depression type make-work project called the Youth Conservation Corps.

TAXPAYERS' NIGHTMARE

A billion dollars is a lot of money, but our national debt is a fantastic $285 billion. The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey, New York, a state-wide tax research organization, calculated that even if the government should end each year with a surplus of 1.1 billion and apply all of it to paying off the debt, it would still take about 260 years—until the year 2220—for the entire debt to be paid.

In the meantime, just the interest on the debt makes it the second most costly item on your federal tax bill. Only national defense costs more. We must continue to tell our legislators—on the local and state as well as the federal level—to keep government spending within revenues and step up the battle to reduce the debt.

SUPERMART GOVERNMENT

About the best remark made at a recent conference of state governors came from a federal official — Budget Bureau Director Maurice H. Stans. He said: "Government at all levels must cease trying to be supermarkets for every imaginable public service, and instead concentrate on essentials."

A government, like a family, can only afford so much. And if a government continues a spending orgy long enough it like a family, can go broke.

"The history of liberty is the history of limitations of governmental power, not the increase of it."—Woodrow Wilson.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

It is my conviction that some of the religious terms applied to men today are contrary to what the scripture teach. I feel that my objection is based on solid ground. All that I ask is that you consider carefully my reasons for rejecting the terms "reverend" and "father" as commonly used in the religious world today.

The term "reverend" is used only once in all of God's word, and then it is used in reference to God! "Holy and reverend is his (God's) name." (Psm. 111:9). The New Century Dictionary defines the term "reverend" as: "Worthy to be revered, or entitled to reverence." No man, myself included, is "worthy to be revered," or is "entitled to reverence." It is my conviction that the use of the term "reverend" exhibits the "minister" to a position not authorized in God's word. No inspired writer used the term, hence we cannot appeal to the scriptures for authority for its use. Peter referred to the apostle Paul simply as "our beloved brother." (II Peter 3:15).

In the first few verses of the twenty-third chapter of the gospel of Matthew, Jesus describes the hypocritical action of the scribes and the Pharisees in delighting in the praise of men. Men today can be guilty of accepting religious titles which would take men's eyes off the living God. "And call no man your father upon the earth; for one is your Father, which is in heaven." We are to call no man "father" in a religious sense for in so doing we regard him as an authoritative teacher.

"But he that is greatest among you shall be your servant. And whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted." (Matt. 23:11-12).

SOMEONE IN THIS AREA WILL WIN NEXT WINTER'S HEATING FUEL

Just tell us why you prefer to heat with—

GULF GULFTANE in 25 words or less!

Easy to enter— Nothing to buy!

Easy to enter— Nothing to buy!

"Dependable, clean, and efficient." This is a brief but accurate description of Gulftane LP-Gas. But you can describe Gulftane fuel even better—and you have up to 25 words to do it! And a chance to win a winter's supply of Gulftane fuel!

No cost to enter—no obligation. Here's how—and good luck!

Tips to help you win

- There just isn't any fuel cleaner, more modern than Gulftane LP-Gas. It's healthful, even heat—no fumes, soot or oily film to cling to walls, woodwork and curtains.
- To heat with Gulftane LP-Gas for a whole winter, simply light your automatic heater, turn one knob, set one dial—and forget it.
- Also, Gulftane gives you oceans of hot water because modern gas water heaters deliver three times as much 160° F. hot water as the larger electric water heaters.
- All these advantages can be yours with Gulftane LP-Gas wherever you live. You have your own fuel supply to keep you snug and happy, even in "lines down" weather.
- It costs only pennies a day to heat with Gulftane fuel. There's no better way to enjoy clean, healthful, automatic heating without fuss or muss.
- If you think Gulftane is LP-Gas, bottled gas, propane or butane, you're almost right. The difference is the guaranteed quality, purity and dependability of Gulftane fuel.
- No other kind of fuel will heat your home, cook your meals, heat your water, dry your clothes, burn your garbage, warm baby chicks, and power your tractor. Why should anyone use anything but Gulftane LP-Gas?

It's the Law in TEXAS

State Sometimes
"Inherits" Property

Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estates of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat", to the State.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British crown. The theory of the process is that the sovereign (or State), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parceled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate, rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

Now, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain. Therefore if you had no will, your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible to provide for such an eventuality.

In this hypothetical case, you would probably want to designate some friend as executor, to take care of all necessary arrangements and then distribute the estate according to your wishes.

On the other hand, if you have plenty of possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And even if you wish your property to be distributed entirely in accordance with our statutes of descent and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

What happens to property which escheats to the State? Following certain required legal formalities and court proceedings all escheated lands are set apart to the Permanent Free School Fund of the State, and may be leased and sold by the Land Commissioner under certain regulations. Escheated personal property is sold by the local sheriff under a court writ and the money received therefrom paid into the State Treasury.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

School for most Texas children started last week. Back-to-school means more than pencils, paper and new-smelling blue jeans.

The September issue of the Texas Health Bulletin, a monthly publication of the Texas State Department of Health, is devoted to matters of school health.

All articles in the Bulletin were written by persons with wide experience in their respective fields including school nurses, environmental engineers, teachers and a physician.

There are many hints that will come in handy for parents as well as school personnel.

A common problem is estimating the ideal weight for a child. The solution suggested in the September Bulletin says multiply the child's age in years by seven, and add one-half pound for each month past that year.

This will hold true from ages six through 12. For example, boys and girls who are eight years and eight months old will average close to 60 pounds. Eight times seven is 56 — add a half pound for each of eight months and it totals 60 pounds.

Of course there is no set rule that a child has to weigh 60 pounds at that age because build and current rate-of-growth must be considered.

All information which pertains to the health or growth of a student should be kept in a permanent record all through school.

Items such as immunizations, sickness, sight or hearing handicaps, as well as teacher observation reports should be included.

The importance of teacher observation of children for physical disorders and handicaps should be a routine procedure, because in addition to catching a physical disorder before it becomes serious, the teacher is often able to uncover emotional difficulties at home.

How school environment affects the learning activity of school children as well as their health is discussed in a key article.

Lighting, campus grounds, toilet facilities, heating, cafeteria cleanliness — all are carefully scrutinized by highly trained inspectors.

Indeed, school health is more than a few shots in elementary school — it is the consideration of the whole child all the way through school.

Bailey Jones, who has lived in Austin for a long time, was the star slugger of the Brady baseball team back in 1921, when I used to see him in action.

He always has a good story — for instance there was the time that Brady was playing Rock-

"My hat is in the ring!" That's a phrase that has thrilled the American public for fifty years! It means a politician has declared himself a candidate.

In this election year, candidates are doing their Stetsons... ready to battle for the highest and lowest elective offices in the nation.

Teddy Roosevelt popularized the expression in 1912 when he ran for president on the Progressive Party ticket. He was heading for Columbus, Ohio... to address the convention... when news-hungry reporters stopped him in Cleveland.

"Your friends want to know if you're going to be a candidate," they asked eagerly. He replied, "My hat is in the ring! The fight is on, I'm stripped to the buff."

The old Rough Rider was familiar with cowboy slang. In the Wild West, a man volunteered to participate in a boxing match by literally throwing his hat into the ring. "Ready to fight at the drop of a hat" alludes to the same custom.

The cowboy hat that flew into the ring was the familiar large-brimmed variety. In 1860, John B. Stetson had traveled west for his health. When he returned to Philadelphia, he designed headgear especially to suit the needs of the American cowboy. He called it a "ten-gallon hat." It became known simply as a Stetson... though Stetson makes all kinds of headgear.

Today the political race is on. Ask anyone to predict the outcome and he'll tell you... at the drop of a hat!

wood. The visitors were at bat and a line drive hit with great power, bounced off the glove of the centerfielder — (call him Williams). Jones was playing right field and had raced over. The ball struck his glove but he knew he couldn't hold it, so he knocked it back to the centerfielder, who held it for the out.

As if that wasn't enough, in that game Jones figured in another remarkable play. He had started toward the diamond from right field to advise the pitcher what kind of pitch to throw to the batter, a veteran whose strength and weakness at the plate Jones was familiar with.

But the pitcher didn't see Jones coming in and went ahead and threw. Jones was of course away out of position. The serve was to the batter's liking and Bailey saw the ball hit with great force toward right field. He turned and raced in that direction but didn't see the ball. Meanwhile he glimpsed his teammates and, amazingly, they were going in.

He became aware of a weight in his glove, looked down and there was the ball. He must have instinctively thrown up his hand at the crack of the bat and had caught it without knowing it!

The catch had been made before he moved out of his tracks. Had he been in his proper place, it would have been a clean hit.

The batter, as they passed each other, growled, "You are sure lucky." Jones grinned and replied, "Shucks, anybody would know where to play for you."

Signs:
In Knoxville: "See Dean first, his tires last."
In Memphis: "You call; we haul — Duvall."

There was once a plagiarist who entitled his book, quite appropriately, "Under False Colors."

Drought Affects Whitewings In Area South Of Border

The white-winged dove nestling area of northeastern Mexico is very dry, although there appears to be a normal population of doves, according to a recent preliminary tour made by biologists who went from the border to Tampico.

Four men, including two Texas biologists, one from Mexico and one from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, spent considerable time in Mexico checking nesting conditions. They reported drought conditions over most of the area, with little rain having been received since last December.

Another spot check will be made shortly after the birds begin their laying. As soon as the hatch can be expected, the workers will go back into Mexico to band the nestling birds.

Birds will be banded in their nests on both sides of the Rio Grande. From such field work the biologists will secure information on the movement of white-wings across the Texas-Mexico border this fall.

If there are indications of an ample crop in Texas, a season will be recommended later in the summer by the Game and Fish Commission.

Whitewing shooting has been permitted in Texas under a modified plan for the past three years.

More tax saving tips: 1. Donate used property to charity. You can claim the fair market value as a charitable deduction if you choose to fill out the long form. Do you have any old toys, clothes, books, TV sets, etc? See whether your church, library or other charity can use them. Don't set your value too high.

2. If the doctor suggests that you air-condition your house for members of the family with allergies you can deduct the cost of a room air-conditioner, if the doctor prescribes it as a medical expense. A central unit you install in the house, on the other hand, would be considered a capital improvement and would not be deductible.

3. Own stock jointly with your wife. If you own stock in your name alone, you must pay tax on dividends in excess of $50. But if the stock is jointly owned the first $100 of dividends is tax free. Thus you could report $50 less in income and save $10 or more in taxes.

Soil Conservation Winners Announced

Texas' six individual grand award winners and the state's three outstanding districts in the 13th annual national soil conservation program have been announced by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, sponsor of the event, according to Jack Barton, soil and water conservation specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Districts named as winners were District 1, Hale County SCD; District 2, Southmost SCD; and District 3, Llano SCD.

Individual winners from each district were District 1, F. F. Calhoun, Plainview and Don P. Hegl, Petersburg; District 2, Dean Alexander, La Feria and Olney J. Dean, Jr., McAllen; District 3, James D. In addition to receiving plaques as permanent symbols of their conservation accomplishments, the six Texans will be guests of Goodyear at the Wigwam resort and Goodyear Farms at Litchfield Park, Arizona in December, Barton said.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Is Not Sure He Can Vote Right Enough To Keep This Old World From Collapsing

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek ponders a serious matter this week, his letter reveals. He'll probably get over it.

Dear Editor: There's one thing about history that I've never been able to understand. Well, that's just a manner of saying it, actually there are thousands of things about history I've never understood, and even more. I don't even know a-bout, but the thing that I'm referring to now is this:

How is it that a fateful crossroads in history always looms up simultaneously with a Presidential election?

As long as I can remember, I can't recall a time when, every fourth year along in September, the fate of the world wasn't considered to be hanging on the outcome of the election in November.

I don't understand how this comes about, but it does, and what is even more surprising is how the American people always seem to make the right choice. At least they always must have, as so far the world has never collapsed yet after an election in the United States. When I haven't had anything else to do, I've often sat and pondered what would have happened to the world if all the defeated candidates for President had been elected and the successful ones had been defeated. I figure the world would have collapsed fifteen or twenty elections ago, but how it could have continued to collapse every four years thereafter, is a puzzling thing to me.

Understand, I'm not belittling the importance of the Presidential race, but I sometimes think the candidates and their supporters get a little out of touch with reality. The world is not nearly as collapsible as some people think.

These are critical times all right, and something ought to be done about it, but so far I haven't been able to find anybody who knows exactly what.

For example, take Cuba and Castro. Up to now, the only thing I've read about the Cuban situation that any expert cares to go on record with is this: The United States takes a very serious view of the Cuban situation. The only trouble with this is that Castro doesn't seem to take a very serious view of our serious view. This makes the situation even more serious, but no nearer solution. Or take the Congo, or China, etc.

I will do my best in November to keep the world from collapsing when I go to vote, but it's an awful responsibility to put on my shoulders, and I may not have the materials to do it with.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Problem: Teenage Eating

The average teenager's diet is a crazy, mixed up thing and parental nagging will do little or nothing to improve it, according to some of the nation's leading nutritionists.

The youngster who skips breakfast, then lunches on soft drinks, sandwiches and potato chips is widely recognized as a national problem. The experts generally agree with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson who said recently that teenagers must be inspired to work out their own nutritional salvation.

Numerous studies show that teenage diets often are short on vitamins C and D, needed to promote healthy bone tissue, and thiamine, needed to fight fatigue. A sample result: A study of more than 2,500 Pennsylvania children showed that 18 per cent of the girls and 19 per cent of the boys were underweight for age and size.

So what's the answer for the teenager? Here are some suggestions from leading experts: Girls can be reached through their desire to improve personal appearance; boys through suggestions to improve physical fitness.

A partial solution, endorsed by many nutritionists, is to pass a bottle of multiple vitamins to everyone at breakfast, especially if the family includes teenagers. Vitamin supplements are not a substitute for adequate meals, but a preparation like Zymacap—more than the minimum daily requirement for 10 essential vitamins in a single capsule—can help to offset the youngster's nutritional shortcomings.

Teenagers want to look after themselves. Says one authority: "They don't want to be talked down to or preached at. Given an opportunity to make their own decisions, they welcome helpful, unemotional advice."
