Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

"Old Sarge" on the radio feature, "Sarge Reports" which comes on at 6:45 each morning, has henchmen stationed at various reporting stations who keep him informed on the soil temperature each morning.

k-k

Since we are awakened by radio alarm each morning, we usually get in on Sarge's messages. We become quite interested along about this time of year when he gives the soil temperature at the numerous places and remarks: "It's still too cold to plant."

k-k

With the fruit trees blooming, other trees leafing out, the lawn getting a little greener but not yet hiding the wild verbenas, one kinda feels like it's spring planting time. But Sarge kinda takes the urge out of us each morning.

k-k

When the weather starts to warming up, our neighbors start garden work, flowerbed working, etc., we begin to think about our annual pea patch. We recall, though, that we must have gotten in too much of a hurry last year and never did get a good stand, even with two plantings or more. Then's when we think we would probably be better off if the government would initiate a soil bank program covering as small a plot as our pea patch!

k-k

Another thing that lessens our urge to plant at this time of year is that thunderstorm we had one night in February. When we remember that, we get the feeling that the frosty mornings are not yet over.

k-k

They're really making a showing, now, on that new building which is under construction by the Church of Christ people. With a northwest breeze blowing last Monday, we could hear the sound of hammers going strong and with the sound coming back as an echo from the other direction. Such a sound of people busily engaged in erecting a new building makes us believe that the days of progress are not over, even in a small town.

k-k

We've often wondered, too, just why a steep roof idea is followed so much in the construction of church buildings. We suppose a structure looks more "churchified" with the high, steep roof, but we don't quite get the economy of putting as much space above the ceiling as below.

k-k

This isn't offered as a criticism of the structure mentioned above—it would have looked rather odd beside the old building with a flat roof—but we were just reminded of the fact that a tall steep roof is a part of church architecture. If we toy with the problem enough to satisfy our curiosity, we would probably make enough inquiries to find out the reason.

k-k

The die is all cast—and your voting pencil should be a good, sharp one. The 71 names in the U. S. Senate race were certified last week, and we received the ballots to print on Friday morning. The ballot is almost as big as one of our regular primary ballots.

k-k

After we had started the printing, we learned Saturday morning that one candidate, George Red of Harris County, had withdrawn from the race and county officials were notified "to take his name from the list, if the ballots have not already been printed." As the printer, we received no official notice except what we read in the daily papers, so Mr. Red will be on the Knox County ballots. Our guess is it would have been quite an accident if you vote for him anyway.

k-k

The voting will be more of a name hunt than a vote, anyhow. Someone has suggested that the best way to vote is to pick your candidate before going to the polls, then get your ballot, hunt out your man's name, then start scratching like all getout all the names that appear above and below him.

k-k

Quite by coincidence, we reckon, the first name on our ballots is the shortest name of the lot. He is Mr. Paul F. Eix of Dallas County, who is just as much unknown to us as all the other unknowns. We may find room to print all the names before election—and we may not!

"Any drivers operating vehicles registered in Texas on public roads after April 15 without the 1961 inspection sticker will be subject to arrest and a fine of up to $200.00, plus court cost," Johnson added.

The captain explained that trailers with a gross weight exceeding 4,000 pounds also must be inspected.

THE ROAD TO GROWTH

During his campaign, and after his election and inauguration, President Kennedy laid out and continues to lay heavy and constant stress on our national economic growth. It has been second, in his thinking, only to the most urgent international problems. And the President is explicit in saying that the current growth rate is inadequate.

Without debating the pros and cons of that, a statement made by the research director of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, is highly significant: "Unless the upward spending trend is halted, there is little likelihood of enactment of tax reforms that are needed for sound economic growth. If tax reform is not chosen as the fiscal road to economic growth, then the road will undoubtedly be bigger spending, deficits, and inflation, with the consequences being economic boom and bust."

The kind of reform we need is that which will encourage investment and the modernization of industrial plants, great numbers of which have become obsolete because of existing tax laws covering depreciation and replacement. This is the way to maximum employment—and to maintaining our position in a world that becomes ever more competitive. It is also the way that will produce greater tax revenues in the long run.

RETAILERS WEAR MANY HATS

The Daily Times Leader, of West Point, Mississippi, pays tribute to retailing in a long lead editorial. The retailer, the paper observes, is a lot of things to the community. In its words: "First, of course, he is purchasing agent. He brings the products of this country's fields and factories to where his neighbors can pick and choose according to their tastes, needs and pocket-book. Then he is an employer: One out of every eight people in the civilian labor force works in retailing. It is the second largest industry in the nation, exceeded only by manufacturing. Third, he is the major tax payer. And, as if paying them isn't enough, he also has to collect taxes from his customers as well. The state has thrust him into the unpaid role of sales tax collector.

"This businessman has to be more expert in the complicated field of modern merchandising. He has to be an accountant, an advertising expert, a tax specialist and very nearly a corporation lawyer to make a success of his business."

We all take modern retailing, with its extremely high standards of efficiency and service, for granted. But we wouldn't if we ever had to try to do without it for a week or two. The Times Leader has simply given credit where it is abundantly due.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING MOVES GOODS

Editor and Publisher quotes the head of a large retailing organization, which has 36 stores around the country, as saying that it "couldn't do business today without the 84 pages in which we advertise."

The magazine adds: "Other retailing establishments are paying the same tribute to newspapers every day in the year through their advertising dollars. They know which advertising medium sells goods with speed and economy. . . . Newspaper advertising moves goods off the retailers' shelves into the hands of consumers regardless of whether the sales effort is made by the manufacturer or the retailer."

Nothing replaces the printed word — and most particularly, from an advertiser's standpoint, the printed word which the thousands of daily and weekly newspapers of this country bring to their tens of millions of readers.

CHESTER, S. C., REPORTER: "... Senator Thurmond would set up the requirement that anyone considered for appointment as Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court have a minimum of five years judicial experience.

"Such a bill, if passed by Congress, would eliminate many brilliant lawyers from consideration for appointment to the Supreme Court. But there is a wealth of talent sitting on the Federal and state benches with both judicial experience and temperament.

"We feel the Thurmond bill should be supported if we are to continue as a nation of laws, interpreted by experienced jurists."

ROSEBURG, ORE., NEWS REVIEW: "Men constantly are seeking to show superiority over women. But they have a mighty hard time when it comes to actual proof of male superiority. The National Wildlife Federation finally has come up with a situation where the male can thumb his vest with pride. Women fishermen, statistics show, are 50 per cent more likely to be arrested for fishing without a license."

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES HALLMARK

Does the Bible authorize infant baptism? To properly understand this question we must first arrive at a correct understanding of the scripturally qualified subject for baptism. The Bible presents several prerequisites to baptism. The infant's ability to comply with these conditions will determine his qualification as a candidate for baptism.

The candidate must have the ability to learn and understand God's will. "Go ye therefore, and TEACH all nations, baptizing THEM in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." (Matt. 28: 19.) Note carefully the order. TEACH and then baptize those that have been taught. Can you teach an infant such things as pertain to the kingdom?

The gospel is God's power to save to them that believe (Ro. 1:16). Jesus said, "Go ye into the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." (Mark 16:15-16). Once again note the order. BELIEVE and then those who have believed are to be baptized. Is an infant capable of believing the gospel? Are we not reversing the order by baptizing them in their infancy and then encouraging them to believe at a later time.

"Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one in the name of Jesus sins . . ." (Acts 2:38). Since sin must be committed (I John 3:4) the infant is not capable of sin and consequently has nothing of which to repent. It is plain that those who are to be baptized must first repent. Can an infant repent?

The Bible teaches the baptism of the penitent believer.

MORE OPERATING CREDIT FOR FAMILY FARMS

A prompt attack on the essential short range credit problem for farmers operating on a family-size scale was predicted not long ago by Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White after a visit with U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in Washington.

This has now been confirmed by an announcement from Secretary Freeman that an additional $35 million, over and above the $197.1 million previously allocated, has now been made available for farm operating loans.

"To the extent that farm loan policies and available funds can prevent it," Secretary Freeman declared, "no qualified family farmer will be required to give up farming because of his inability to finance his 1961 operations."

The additional funds are being made available through the USDA's Farmers Home Administration, which has been instructed to review its regulations and to take every step within its authority to meet realistic farm credit needs.

The additional $35 million came from a contingency fund set up by Congress for the 1961 fiscal year. Previously, $197.1 million had been made available for this type of credit for the 1961 fiscal year. As of Feb. 10, approximately $150 million of the $197.1 million had been loaned and most of the remainder committed.

In announcing expanded meaasures being taken to meet credit needs, Secretary Freeman said that "we expect the extension of agricultural credit services can be carried out without additional personnel, and with no increase in administrative expenses. Additional loans will be made available to farmers, but this will not result in any actual increase in expenditures of the federal government since borrowers of the Farmers Home Administration have a superb record of repaying their loans.

"Over the past nine years the total real net income of farm families from farming has dropped approximately one-fourth; farm prices have dropped to around four-fifths of the parity level It is the intention to reverse the downward trend in farm income and enable efficient family farmers to earn and get a parity of income. When the new farm program becomes effective, these efficient family type farmers will again be good commercial credit risks. It would be unthinkable to allow many efficient farm families to give up the struggle now because they are unable to obtain credit needed to finance 1961 operations."

New Activity In Housing Loans

The farm housing loan program of the Farmers Home Administration is picking up new momentum, not only throughout the Nation, but here in Knox County.

That's the word from Wilburn A. Satterwhite, County Supervisor in charge of the agency's lending program here. He said this renewed farm housing loan activity follows the early February announcement that an additional $50 million is now available to the Farmers Home Administration for its 4 per cent loans to farm owners to build or repair farm houses and essential farm buildings. Such a loan may extend over a 33-year period.

The new loan money broke up a log-jam of applications that were being held because funds had been exhausted. Nationwide, loans are now being processed at the rate of about $5 million a month but indications point to a probable doubling of that pace.

In this area Mr. Satterwhite said he looks for the main demand to continue to be for loans for new construction, although farm owners may need the credit to repair or remodel dwellings, put in modern kitchens, install pressure water supply systems, central heating, bathrooms, and other conveniences. Other uses include building, repairing, or modernizing barns, dairy and poultry facilities, and other farm service buildings. Farm owners find much of this type of construction necessary to cope with changing agricultural conditions.

Mr. Satterwhite pointed out that byproducts of this loan program include employment of carpenters and other skilled and unskilled labor, and increased business for concerns that handle building materials and equipment items.

Eligible to borrow are owners of farms that annually will produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use based on 1944 prices, but who cannot be adequately financed through other sources.

Moffett Opposes Race Track Gambling

The following statement has been released by senator George Moffett who represents this District in the State Senate at Austin, Texas.

"A persistent effort is being made at this session of the State Legislature to bring race track gambling back to Texas. It has been ousted from this state twice. However, the large profits which track operators hope to make if it is brought back to Texas, stimulate efforts to restore race track gambling in this state at almost every session of the legislature.

"The proposal has been introduced this time by a member of the House of Representatives from San Antonio, who admits that he is a retired gambler. This proposal will very likely fail of passage, but it will probably be introduced again at future sessions.

"I have always voted against it and expect to continue to do so. It is obviously improper to pass a law to permit people at a race track to gamble from $2.00 to $2,000.00 on a horse race and at the same time make it illegal for people outside of the race track to gamble a few dollars in a dice game.

"However, the best reason for opposing legalized gambling at a race track, or anywhere else, is that it constitutes a step backward in the forward progress of civilization. It weakens the moral fiber of the people who participate and benefits no one. Texas is better off without it."

Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Bilbrey and Cathy of Hereford visited Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Barnard and with his father in Goree last Saturday and Sunday. They were enroute home from San Antonio where they attended the funeral of her father.

Wheatley Opposes Resolution No. 4

The Times recently received the following statement from Representative Carl Wheatley in regard to House Joint Resolution No. 4, on which he received quite a bit of correspondence:

"As the correspondence opposing House Joint Resolution 4 has grown to such magnitude it is virtually impossible for me to acknowledge individually the many letters received by me.

"I am opposed to this Resolution, as I feel in the main our economy can be made sound and strong without this legislation being enacted."

Deer Kill In Kermit County Heavy In '60

Dimmit County, along the Texas-Mexico border, produced some of the top deer hunting of the past season, according to the annual report of Herbert Ward, supervisor of game wardens and a resident of the county.

This was the fourth year of hunting under regulatory authority. There were 316,461 acres of land opened to hunters, who bagged 1794 bucks and 142 doe for a total kill of 1936 deer. They also got 67 turkeys.

There were 2425 hunters, representing a 17 per cent increase in hunting pressure. There was a 32 per cent increase in hunter success. This surpassed all other previous records for the county.

It is estimated the landowners received $68,735.50 in lease money from the deer crop.

Weight records on 690 buck deer coming from 21 ranches totaled 79,121 pounds or an average of slightly more than 114 pounds per buck.

There also was a heavy predator control program carried on in the county last year by the Commissioners Court, in cooperation with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. In this program, 2236 coyotes and 78 bobcats were destroyed.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

A comprehensive report on tuberculosis control resources in Texas was distributed this week as Gov. Price Daniel's coordinating committee on tuberculosis took another step toward meeting the governor's instructions to "launch a frontal attack against this disease."

Publication of the factual, no-frills report marks the first time in history that information on TB control activities of seven state-wide agencies has been compiled into a single volume.

"Despite advances made in recent years against tuberculosis as a killer of Texans, the disease must still be regarded as a major menace from the point of view of its disabling effect on the patient, its disrupting influence on the family, and its costly interval of treatment," the governor wrote in a foreword to the report.

State Health Commissioner J. E. Peavy said the report was "designed to meet an obvious need for information concerning tuberculosis control services available from the seven agencies most intimately involved." Dr. Peavy is chairman of the coordinating committee.

Contributors to the report were the Texas Tuberculosis Association, Texas Medical Association, State Department of Health, Board for Hospitals and Special Schools, Department of Public Welfare, Veterans Administration, and the Texas Education Agency.

Copies of the publication have gone to city and county health officers, county judges, county medical society components, TB hospitals, welfare workers, and others.

The report contains such diverse information as the location of 92 local tuberculosis associations, control functions performed by the State Health Department's sections on laboratories, preventive medicine and special health services, and the location of 35 public TB clinics.

It covers eligibility for admission to state and Veterans Administration TB hospitals, financial aid to dependent children, and rehabilitation of tuberculosis patients.

Besides Dr. Peavy, committee members are Dr. C. J. Ruillmann of the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools; Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education; John H. Winters, commissioner of public welfare; Dr. El-

Dollars And Sense

By Mrs. S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

What's in the picture for 1961? Outlook for housing is taking on a rosier hue with mortgage money easier to come by. Competition is forcing builders to incorporate more ideas to make homes more marketable.

New developments in furniture materials and finishes are making it possible to have economical, attractive and durable furniture.

A slump in the equipment market is forcing manufacturers to come by with new convenience features.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Misses His Area Newspapers For A Week But Finds Cold War About The Same

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses confusion this week, without clearing it up.

Dear editor: Every morning the first thing I want to do is get hold of a newspaper and find out what's going on, who won the cold war the day before, have they solved the farm problem, and things like that.

Well, something happened to my source of supply and I went for a solid week without seeing a paper or listening to a radio or looking at television.

Then I got hold of a newspaper and read it thoroughly and I have a confession to make: I can't tell any more about who's winning the cold war now than I could a week ago, and I know from personal experience they haven't solved the farm problem.

It's like accidentally tuning in to a televised baseball game somewhere along in the middle of play with the audio portion of the set not working. You'd don't know what the score is, what inning it is, or who's playing.

The Congo seems to have gotten along a whole week without me knowing a thing that was going on over there, and to save my life I can't tell you what the situation is now after I've caught up with the news.

We've shot some more satellites up, they're circling the globe on schedule, but I don't feel any different than I did before they went up and there's still as much undone work on this Johnson grass farm as there was before. Reading a newspaper is important.

FOR SALE—Double unit window, 24"x46"; three single windows, 24"x46"; three 2-panel doors, 26"x67"; complete set of bath fixtures; two gas heaters. Levi Bowden. 34-2tc

FOR SALE—Nice steel cabinet with double sink, O. H. Hutchens and Hutchens Cafe, Goree, Texas. 34-2tp

AGENT WANTED—Man or woman. Protected territory in this area for ambitious person with car to contact public. Sales experience necessary. Write information, giving telephone number to Vita Spike Ind., Box 577, Rt. 1, Azle, Texas. 35-2tp ant, but if you're reading it to eliminate your confusion, you're on the wrong track. I know a man who reads four papers every day and he's as confused as I am. I'm not suggesting I could get along without newspapers, but I have found that newspapers can get along without me, even if they don't know who's winning the cold war either.

For a while, I figured newspapers ought to carry box scores every day on the cold war, but now I know why they don't. Nobody knows what the score is. Yours Faithfully, J. A.

The personal side of the great leader, Robert E. Lee, is revealed in a letter which he wrote to his youngest daughter from Indianola, Texas, March 27, 1857. At this time, he was on military duty in the State. The letter says:

truction of the Long Bridge"—which spanned the Potomac between Arlington and Washington. "It will be an injury to the business of many and an inconvenience to you in taking your music lessons.

"You must be a great personage now—sixty pounds! I wish I had you here in all your ponderosity. I want to see you so much. Can you not pack up and come to the Comanche country? I would get you such a fine cat you would never look at 'Tom' again.

"Did I tell you Jim Nooks, Mrs. Waite's cat, was dead? He died of apoplexy. I foretold his end. Coffee and cream for breakfast, pound cake for lunch, turtle and oysters for dinner, buttered toast for tea, and Mexican rats, taken raw for supper. He grew enormously and ended in a spasm. His beauty could not save him.

"I saw in San Antonio a cat dressed up for company: He had two holes bored in each ear, and in each were two bows of pink and blue ribbon. His round face, set in pink and blue, looked like a big owl in a full blooming ivy bush. He was snow white, and wore the golden fetters of his inamorata around his neck in the form of a collar. His tail and feet were tipped with black, and his eyes of green were truly cat-like. But I 'saw cats as is cats' in Sarassa, while the stage was changing mules. I stepped around to see Mr. and Mrs. Monod, a French couple with whom I had passed the night when I landed in Texas in 1846, to join General Wool's army. Mr. Monod received me with all the shrugs of his nation and the entrance of madame was foreshadowed by the coming in of her stately cats, with visages grave and tails erect, who proceeded, surrounded, and followed her. Her present favorite, Sodoiska a large mottled gray, was a magnificent creature, and in her train she pointed out Aglai, her favorite eleven years ago when I first visited her. They are of French breed and education, and when the claret and water was poured out for my refreshment they jumped on the table for a sit-to."

FREE Soil Sample Bags FREE

We have available for your use a supply of "Soil Sample Bags" to be used in taking your soil samples for soil tests. These are small, wax lined, paper bags which you can put your soil samples in to take to the County Extension Office for testing.

Instructions for taking the soil sample are printed on the bags, and there is a place for you to write your name and other information on them.

The County Extension Office reports that it takes a minimum of 10 days for them to complete a soil test, and longer if they are rushed as they usually are just prior to planting time. Soil samples should be taken to them as soon as possible so that they will have time to make the tests before you are ready to apply the fertilizer.

There is no charge for these bags, and we would be happy for you to come in and get some of them for your needs.

Accidents Cause $3,275 In Damages

The Highway Patrol investigated two rural accidents in Knox County during the month of February, according to Sergeant Frank Jirick, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These wrecks have accounted for no persons killed, two injured, and a property damage of $1,050.00.

This brings the total for 1961 in this county to no persons killed, two injured, and a property damage of $3,275.00.

"Defensive driving is one of the keys to traffic safety," the sergeant added. "If all motorists were alert when driving and knew the tricks used by a professional driver, the number of monthly traffic accidents would drop sharply."

"For instance, if when passing other cars the motorist would watch closely the front wheels of the other car, he could see the other driver start a collision turn in time to take defensive action, possibly in time to prevent a tragedy," the sergeant explained.

The sergeant also pointed out that gusty March winds can cause accidents by making cars swerve unexpectedly at highway speeds. Motorists should be especially alert when making trips on windy days.
