Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

This is National Heart Week, and last Sunday was observed as Heart Sunday.

k-k
We discovered the little envelope in our church bulletin when we arrived at church, and as the pastor made announcement of this special observance, we saw a number of the congregation make their contributions by using the envelope.

k-k
We noticed, too, that many of these were our friends who have had experience with heart disease — those for whom heart trouble has stricken close to home and who want to help do something to help in combating the disease.

k-k
In 1956, the last year for which statistics are available at present, heart and circulatory diseases were responsible for 53.9 per cent of all deaths of all ages. These diseases affect more than 10,000,000 living Americans, including 500,000 children of school age.

k-k
Research — and it is for research that the funds are used — already has achieved many brilliant victories over heart diseases. Today some heart diseases can be prevented, a few can be cured, and almost all cases can be helped by proper treatment. That's what your contributions help do.

k-k
Sometimes we may seem to think we are plagued with too many requests for contributions; but, after careful study, would you eliminate any of them? Would you fail to contribute to the March of Dimes after considering the wonderful strides made in recent years in the fight against polio? Would you conscientiously turn down an opportunity to help in research against heart disease? Would you do away with the Salvation Army and the Red Cross and the relief and inspiration they bring to people in times of distress and disaster? Would you disband the Boy Scouts and their nation-wide and world-wide activities? Yes, these and other causes for which you are asked to contribute are worthy ones.

k-k
Some are already thinking of a water shortage — not tomorrow, or next week, but a likely one in mid-summer. "The increased usage for municipal purposes and further development of farm irrigation," they say, "will more than offset the normal replenishment from average rainfall."

k-k
We understand that the Miller Creek reservoir project will likely be ready for a vote of the people within a short while. As soon as reports from engineers are available, a comprehensive study of its feasibility and cost will likely be made in order that the facts can be submitted to the people.

k-k
From all reports, President Eisenhower got a little nervous in his Arizona golf game a few days ago because of the large gallery that formed to see the nation's No. 1 golf player in action. The gallery was asked to disperse so the President could play his last nine holes in comparative quiet. We'd recommend the president take a few lessons from Bob Hope, who seems to thrive on fanfare in his golf.

k-k
Plan to visit your school next week, which is Public School Week. You'll find a welcome to any building or any classroom of your school system and you'll become better acquainted with the "goings on" of this very integral part of our community.

k-k
This week we are printing a "statement of fund balances" for Knox County, giving the balances (or deficits) in the various county funds. This is the first time we've been privileged to place this information before the public. This and other information of the county's finances are things pertaining to our county government of which the public should be informed. We hope our officials will continue to inform the people just how their county government is being operated financially.

The Munday Junior Class will hold a bake sale in the Chamber of Commerce office Saturday afternoon, March 1. The office will be opened at 12:30 and you can get you a good cake or pie for your Sunday dinner.

Mrs. T. G. Benge, Active Worker In Clubs and Church, Dies Here Tuesday

A long span of activity and usefulness ended for a most gracious lady at 3 p. m. Tuesday when death came for Mrs. T. G. Benge of Munday. She suffered a heart attack at her home on Monday, which was followed by a fatal attack Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Benge had resided in Munday since 1922 and had been very active in church and club activities during more than 35 years. Her husband, the late T. G. Benge, manager of the Munday Cotton Oil Co. for many years, died in 1946.

She was born in Stanton, Va., of English ancestry.

Mrs. Benge was a charter member of the Thursday Luncheon Club, a longtime member of the Munday Study Club, and was a member of two other social clubs. She was active in both church and civic affairs for many years. She loved to travel and had visited many scenic and historic places in the United States and Canada.

She was of Episcopal faith and a member of the Episcopal Church of the Heavenly Rest in Abilene. Her pastor and very close friend for many years was Dr. Willis P. Gerhart, now retired.

Funeral services were held from the First Methodist Church in Munday at 10 a. m. Wednesday with Rev. E. P. Dentzer, pastor of her church in Abilene, officiating. Burial was beside her husband in Honey Grove cemetery under the direction of McCauley Funeral Home of Munday.

Pallbearers were C. P. Baker, R. D. Atkinson, W. R. Moore, Sr., Jess Burnison, O. S. Colehour, M. L. Wiggins, Tommy Harper and Tom Oustad.

Survivors include one niece Mrs. Lucille Fladger of Honey Grove, and a nephew, Stewart Rowin of Cleburne.

Littlefield Now Sole Owner Of Lumber Yard

A business transaction was completed some two weeks ago whereby E. B. Littlefield, manager of the Munday Lumber Co., purchased the interests of Carl Mahan of Abilene and became sole owner of the firm. Mr. Mahan retained ownership of the property, which Mr. Littlefield has under lease agreement.

A resident of Munday for 19 years, Mr. Littlefield came here in April, 1939, as manager of the Musser Lumber Co. In February, 1943, the partnership of Littlefield and Mahan was formed and they purchased the Musser property and have operated since that time as Munday Lumber Co.

The transaction, completed just recently, is retroactive to December 1, 1957, which was inventory time for the firm.

"We plan to operate the firm upon the same basis it has operated in the past," Mr. Littlefield said, "giving our customers the best service possible at all times. We invite your continued patronage and assure you that your business will be appreciated."

Little League Field Being Improved; Drive For Funds Started This Week

When the baseball season opens for the Little League teams of Munday and surrounding communities, the boys will have a playing field that meets all requirements of the National Little League rules.

This is being made possible by many local citizens who are interested in activities of the Little League for this area. A drive to improve the field got under way several days ago and is meeting with good response.

With a cost of around $1,500, those in charge expect to get a project completed that was bid in at around $4,500, it was stated. This is being made possible by donations of material, such as pipe, lights, etc.

Through the courtesy and cooperation of George Nix, commissioner of this precinct, fill dirt is being hauled in for the field. H. T. Cunningham, local resident engineer of the Texas Highway Department, has agreed to "shoot a grade" on the field and it will be graded for proper drainage. Materials are being donated by other interested persons.

Vern Frost and Dwight Key are heading the committee for raising the necessary funds, and they plan a drive the latter part of this week. Anyone wishing to contribute to this cause may contact them or some Little League official.

Four full teams, with at least 60 players participating, are planned for the coming season. The area embraced by the Little League will be mapped in the near future and the map sent to national headquarters.

After last year's activities, it is expected that the Munday Little Leaguers will be eligible for the national league competition this year.

Gillespie Pastor Attends Conference For Rural Churches

Rev. Marvin E. Burgess, Pastor of Gillespie Baptist church, is in Memphis, Tennessee, this week, attending the Southwest Baptist Rural Church Conference. Held once every five years, the Rural Church Conference draws about 5,000 rural and village workers to discuss common problems and plan for a more effective rural ministry. Sessions this year are held Monday through Friday, February 24 to 28, in Bellevue Baptist Church, of which R. G. Lee is pastor.

In recognition of the work done by the Gillespie Baptist church in the Texas Baptist Achievement Program last year the Haskell-Knox Baptist Association voted to pay one-half of pastor Burgess' expenses to the Rural Church Conference. The local church then voted the other half of the expense. In addition to Pastor Burgess, the pastors from Girard and Rotan are representing District 17 at the Conference in Memphis.

Mrs. Burgess is supplying the pulpit in the pastor's absence.

Mogul Madkats Win Trophy In Contest

The Mogul Madkats, special orchestra group of the Munday Mogul Band, won first place in the talent show contest at Knox City last Friday night. A loving cup which they received as a prize will be engraved and placed in the trophy case in the band hall, among other trophies which have been won by the Mogul Band.

Members of the group are: Sara Offutt, Joe Lynn McMahon, Kathleen Michels, Linda Garrett, Jackie Matthews and Melissa Lee. The Madkats are directed by Bill Hulse, director of the Mogul Band.

Cotton Classing Office Proposed; Farmers To Vote

Sometime next week a letter will be sent from the county agents office to each cotton producer in Knox County, making a survey to determine the wishes of the cotton producers in regards to the establishment of a cotton classing office in Knox County.

An application has already been filed requesting that an office be established. The Agricultural Marketing Service desires to comply with the wishes of the cotton producers, so each producer is being given the opportunity to express his wishes.

Certain facts relative to the establishment of an office here should be considered. The financing for the construction or rent, equipping, and maintenance of an office will be the responsibility of those served.

There is no charge, by the Department for classing. They will take care of classing, clerical, and labor personnel during the operation of the office.

The establishment of an office will not necessarily mean quicker return of the green cards. The situation this past season at Abilene was not that of adequate space but the lack of trained personnel. This same problem could arise in a local office if we were confronted with the same harvest condition we had this past fall.

Probably the greatest single factor in favor of a local office is the fact that a cotton classer can do a more accurate job of classing cotton from a local area where variety and grade differences are not as great as from a large area.

With these facts in mind, cotton farmers are urged to indicate their preference as soon as they receive a voting card.

School Week To Be Observed By Vera School

The Vera Consolidated Schools will observe Public School Week, March 3-6. School will be dismissed on Friday, March 7, so teachers may attend the Oil Belt District Teachers meeting in Abilene. Program for next week will be as follows:

Everyone is invited to visit the school during the week at any time they can. The theme of this year's program is for the public to observe the school as it is, without any special programs.

Parents who have children in the first through eighth grades will be contacted to help teach sometime during the week, thus giving the public a better understanding of classroom procedure and school routine.

A special display of old public school pictures will be on display in the hall during the week. If anyone has an old picture of students or buildings, please contact Supt. M. J. Kirby, as the school would like to use them for that week.

AMERICAN MEDICINE AROUND THE WORLD

In the latter part of January a special, hour-long report on the services American doctors perform in the far corners of the world was nationally televised. It was sponsored by a pharmaceutical manufacturer in cooperation with the American Medical Association, and was inspired by President Eisenhower's appeal for "People-to-People" activities in all professions and walks of life as a key way to further international understanding.

To make the film, the crew traveled 34,000 miles—to Korea, Hong Kong, Burma, Lebanon, Nepal, Ethiopia and India. Months of research preceded this travel. The result was heart-warming reports on American doctors who serve the sick on alien shores. In one case an island for lepers has been established, after a battle against native superstition and fear. In another a medical missionary works to stamp out malaria and TB. In still another a woman doctor with only a pocket set of instruments established a child and maternal care center. In another a doctor travels from primitive village to primitive village to perform cataract operations, sometimes as many as 100 a day.

So it goes, in remote corners of the world which are only exotic names to most of us. American doctors teach and practice, fighting disease and, equally important, lifting veils of ignorance. Their contributions to human happiness and well-being are literally immeasurable. Their work casts a bright light across this dark and troubled planet.

HUNTINGBURG, IND., INDEPENDENT: "Pessimists might take a little trip to Jamestown, Yorktown and Williamsburg to view and relive some of the early history of this nation. There they would be reminded of the courage and faith of Captain John Smith and his first colony who built a nation out of a wilderness and who died for the freedoms they sought. . . . What is needed is a resurgence of faith in American ideals and respect for the human individual. These will inspire us to work out the means by which this country and the rest of the free world can be saved from destruction."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "Pure science covers research for knowledge that many not be used immediately. Without it, none of the great advances since the dawn of the atom age would have been possible. It is essential to any future progress."

PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

The need for the public school never changes, but times and conditions may change or require to be changed methods and practices of public education. This is inherent with anything that grows, for growth is the result of change.

Our Texas public schools were created 104 years ago. In 1854 the first law passed establishing the public school.

It is a healthy thing in our democratic way of life to have intelligent understanding of the important functions of our basic institutions. This is especially true of the schools. The initiative and resourcefulness and the wisdom and leadership that our schools are inculcating in the youth of today are the answer of the problems of citizenship in the years ahead.

Yes, "bring me men to match my mountains." That is the need of our times and must come from the public schools—schools that are strong in virtues required for building strong men and women.

We can be assured of this and do our part in understanding and helping the public schools to fulfill their great obligation to our times by being a participant in the annual Public Schools Week, March 3 through 7. Schools will hold open house; accept their hospitality, and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school—if but for a day.

CLEVELAND, O., NEWS-ENTERPRISE: "The worst mistake that the American people could make would be to let the government take over the public schools. What we need is for the teachers to go back to the system of teaching rather than the present system of 'developing the personality' of the student. A free mind will develop far greater than one that is controlled by radicals."

LONDON, O., PRESS: "More and more is being heard about the field of 'public relation'. Put simply, public relations is just good-will on a business basis. Most everyone knows that good-will is perhaps the most important asset in any business."

CAMPBELLSVILLE, KY., NEWS-JOURNAL: ". . . We are still hoping the wisdom man has gained over the ages will rule, that man will find a star as the wise men did, rather than be guided by a beeping, man-made satellite and all the other ingenious instruments he has devised."

called the State Health Department's bedding division about a mattress she had purchased from an itinerant peddler. She had reason to suspect she had been defrauded.

When a bedding inspector checked the mattress, he found it unlabeled and filled with unacceptable material in violation of the State Bedding Law. The peddler was located in Houston, and given the choice of facing court action or refunding the woman's money. He chose to surrender the money.

The next time you buy an item of bedding—a pillow, mattress, or comfort—notice the attached label. It's a window, through which you can see what is in the product and how it has been handled. Once attached, no tag may be removed.

If the product is made of all new materials, the label will tell you so. If it is made entirely or partly from second hand goods, the label will be printed in red ink and will clearly state its second hand status. If it has been used by someone else, traded in, and offered for resale, it will carry a "germicide treatment" tag, certifying that it has been sanitized. Even when you send a mattress out to be renovated, it will be returned with a label certifying that it has been repaired.

The State Bedding Law was written into the statute book in 1939 for two prime purposes: to prohibit the sale of soiled or contaminated bedding materials, and to safeguard purchasers against fraud or misrepresentation. District inspectors cover every bedding manufacturing plant in the state to see that the law is complied with.

All manufacturers must be licensed before their products can be sold in this state. Some 1200 factories in Texas, and 400 outside the state, are currently licensed.

Well over four million items of bedding are sold in Texas every year. Every one carries a stamp on the label, which in effect says to the buyer: "As far as the law is concerned, you are getting what you paid for." Stamps are sold by the bedding division for one cent apiece, which goes toward supporting the division.

Second hand items of bedding may not be sold in this state until they have undergone germicidal treatment, and sterilization permits must be obtained from the bedding division, after plants have been checked for conformity with the law.

Most germicidal plants use the "dry heat" method. Bedding is placed in a large oven and literally baked for one hour at 230 degrees. Ovens must be checked every 90 days by a representative of the bedding division to insure proper operation.

Other health safeguards are requirements that factories meet high standards of sanitation, and that filling materials in new bedding be of an acceptable quality.

IDLE ACRES AT HOME AND COTTON PROFITS ABROAD
Texas and other American cotton farmers face another in a series of hard knocks this year in the form of "home made" competition — foreign competition brought about by short-sighted planning at the top level in Washington.

It is now apparent that, due to relentless insistence on holding down cotton allotments in our country, not enough top quality cotton will be produced to meet our own domestic needs this year. As a result, we will likely find ourselves in the ridiculous position of bringing cotton into this country from Mexico, Brazil, and possibly even such countries friendly to communism as Egypt. Current cotton acreage allotments are based on an estimated production of 11 1/2 million bales. At what some of our government planners have failed to recognize is the fact that much of this land went into the soil bank and will not produce any cotton. Last year, our upland cotton was lower in grade than at any time in the past twelve years. Grading and higher grade production was the smallest since 1949. And now our textile industries are facing a serious shortage of better quality cotton. But this shortage could be overcome if our farmers were allowed to take advantage of promising soil and weather conditions so they could have the crop when it is needed.

We need an immediate 25 percent increase in cotton allotments in order to meet our domestic demand. We can produce the desired grades this year if our farmers are given the opportunity.

The 1957 cotton story was a sad one in Texas — and practically everywhere else in the nation. Ginning of top grades was off drastically, and our farmers had to fight continued bad weather to produce what they did.

A sad epitaph to that story would be for "sidelined" farmers at home to stand idly by while cherished cotton profits wing their way abroad.

NEW PROGRAM — W. C. Nance, manager of the Wm. Cameron & Co. lumber yard in Munday has returned from a meeting held at the Cameron General Offices in Waco, Texas. Company executives and yard managers from all over the Southwest, pictured above, met to discuss the launching of a new home-building program which is due to arouse tremendous interest on the part of prospective homeowners in this section of the country.

The program will enable families with limited budgets to become homeowners with little or no cash downpayment, if they own an acceptable lot. Cameron "Easy-to-Own" Homes can be bought in various stages of completion, allowing the buyer to save a large part of the total cost of the home by doing part of the work himself.

The program features sixteen house plans, ranging from a 520 square-foot one-bedroom home to a 1,608 square-foot, three-bedroom home.

The Cameron organization will handle financing as well as construction of "Easy-to-Own" Homes. Buyers who purchase a home in an unfinished stage may arrange for all the materials necessary to complete the home and the cost of the materials may be included in the home loan.

An "Easy-to-Own" Home will be on display at most Wm. Cameron & Co. yards throughout the Southwest. A central display of three homes is located on Highway 81, midway between Temple and Belton. The Temple-Belton display is open weekdays from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. and Sundays from 2 to 5 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Brown of Route 2, Munday, received word last week that their son, Airman Second Class Daniel J. Brown, Mitchell Air Force Base, New York, had been selected as the 28th communications Squadron Base Airman of the month. This is the letter they received:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Brown: The enclosed letter will give you a pretty good idea of how we feel about your son and his duty performances. I am proud to be his commander.

I heartily concur with the selection by our unit board, of Airman Brown as the 28th Communications selection in Base Airmen of the month competition. His noncommissioned and Warrant Officer supervisors state that he is beyond doubt the most outstanding of the twenty-eight (28) airmen assigned for duty in the Communication Center. His Proficiency in his specialty is far above that normally possessed by a man of his experience.

Additionally he has shown a capability of clearly conveying his knowledge to trainees and other associates. In so doing, his manner is such as to promote harmony. For these reasons, and because of his qualities of stability and dependability, he has on occasions, been utilized in the capacity of a noncommissioned officer, as shift supervisor. A side from his performance in his specialty, Airman Brown is a model soldier.

He is consistently well-groomed, courteous and of high moral character. His conduct on and off duty reflects credit upon himself, his unit and Air Force. He is definitely a high caliber airman, and will be well qualified when he becomes eligible for

"Mrs. Texas" Will Be Crowned On April 15th

April 15 is to be a momentous day for a Texas housewife, identity now unknown. On that date in Galveston she will be crowned Mrs. Texas, to represent the Lone Star State in the national finals of the Mrs. America contest at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, in May.

The setting was much the same at this time last year for Mrs. Jeanne Hale of Kilgore who is now the reigning Mrs. Texas, a woman chosen to exemplify the best traits of a homemaker. She had no idea of entering the Mrs. America contest and had never dreamed she would win the Mrs. Texas title.

Then fate took hold. A committee from Kilgore came to her house to ask her to enter the homemaking competition. Mrs. Hale, the mother of four, described the visit by the committee.

"It was 9 a. m. on Saturday before Easter," she said, "and the twins, age 4 years, had been practicing hiding and finding their candy eggs. The floor was littered with grass from their baskets. Though the beds were made and the bedrooms neat, the committee didn't see that; they had to discuss my qualifications amid the clutter of the living room."

From the Kilgore preliminaries, Mrs. Hale went on to win the state finals and then she entered the national finals of the Mrs. America contest. She didn't win the Mrs. America title but the children and her husband, Louis Hale, were "just as happy with the other honors I brought home." In the national finals, she won two daily awards for her ham dinner and sewing and the grand weekly award for the ham preparation.

"Winning the 'Mrs. Texas' title," said Mrs. Hale, "was one of the richest experiences of my life and I wish every woman could receive such an honor. It has given me an opportunity to tell the world how much I love my job of homemaker, wife and mother. Learning the arts of homemaking is the way for wives and mothers to escape boredom."

Mrs. Hale said the Mrs. America contest is worthy of the time and effort a homemaker might put into it and she urges women who are qualified to enroll in the competition. Official entry forms are available at Lone Star Gas Company and participating appliance dealers. Midnight of March 15 is deadline for entering the contest.

Lone Star is conducting one-day regional eliminations in Dallas, Fort Worth, Greenville, Waco and Abilene, starting March 31. Winners in these contests will participate in the Texas state finals to be held April 14-15 at Galveston. The new Mrs. Texas will compete in the national finals of the Mrs. America contest to be held at Fort Lauderdale, May 1-13. The contest is open to married women, at least 21 years of age.

HORSEPOWER
by DUDLEY WILLKENS

The annual leaf-raking chores are with us again and if you haven't done so already, you'll soon be putting up the storm windows.

In some parts of the country signs of winter are already in the air.

While you're preparing for winter, given any thought to your car's winter needs? I don't mean just putting anti-freeze in the radiator. There are other common-sense preparations for cold weather driving.

My guide in such matters, the Carter Consumer Service, recently pointed out some simple but important maintenance procedures for cold-weather driving.

1. The battery is a frequent source of winter trouble and should be checked more often during this period.

2. Change the oil to a lighter weight and if your driving is confined to short trips and the engine seldom is thoroughly warmed, it may be necessary to change the oil every 500 miles.

3. Have a complete check of the car's spark plugs.

4. Before the cold weather hits have the carburetor, gasoline filters, windshield wiper blades, ventilators and tire tread checked.

Adequate Records Needed On Claims On Income Deductions

Importance of adequate records to back up claimed deductions was stressed here today by C. B. Dixon, Administrative Officer of the Wichita Falls Office of Internal Revenue Service.

"A taxpayer's statement that he gave about $100 to the Blank Charity won't satisfy Uncle Sam," Mr. Dixon said.

"The keeping of a few casual notes or records which only enable a taxpayer to approximate his income is not adequate. All taxpayers, including farmers and ranchers, must keep records that will accomplish two purposes: First, help the taxpayer file an accurate tax return for 1957. Second, records that, if examined closely by Revenue, will help us determine if the law has been fulfilled."

Mr. Dixon added that records should include sales slips, invoices, receipts, canceled checks, and any other document which may be needed as legal evidence.

Vehicle Inspection Deadline April 15

With less than two months left in which to have motor vehicles inspected, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, urged motorists to obtain their 1958 inspection stickers immediately. In doing so, he said that 64 per cent of the registered vehicles in Texas have not been inspected for the current year.

"At the present rate of inspection it looks as though the usual ten per cent who wait until the deadline for inspections will be waiting in line on April 15. With crowded inspection stations on this deadline date immediate service cannot be rendered and car owners will suffer an unnecessary loss of time and inconvenience."

Nearly half of the vehicles already inspected have required some adjustments or repairs which require more time for both the owner and the inspection station and can be handled better when not rushed.

The state police director said much time can be saved if car owners obtain their 1958 inspection stickers early.

Help Quail Spread, Landowners Asked

A committee of members of the Game and Fish Commission will begin an early campaign to get more landowners to join in the state's quail rehabilitation program, according to the Assistant Secretary.

The committee is composed of Frank Wood, Wichita Falls, Robert Carr, San Angelo; Howard Carney, Atlanta; and J. W. Elliott, Mexico.

As a quail development committee, they will institute a program of interesting more landowners in providing cover and feed for quail. Nearly 35,000 bobwhites and some 10,000 cottontail quail were produced at the State Quail Hatchery at Tyler during 1957. They were sold to landowners at 50 cents each, about half the cost of production.

Landowners desiring bird should make their application early to the Commission. Their land will be inspected and helpful information given as to cover condition requirements. No birds will be authorized for land that does not contain suitable cover and sufficient feed possibilities.

The solution of the quail problem depends more upon the landowner than anything else, the Assistant Secretary said. "These birds require proper cover conditions, and assurance of a good food supply."

"Through efforts of Game Commission workers, thousands of Multiflora roses have been planted, along with such foods as partridge pea, dove weed, Kobe lespedeza and many other well-known varieties that produce seeds."

The development committee expects to make direct contact with landowners in an effort to get additional acreage made ready for his year's birds.

Pig losses, due to crushing and chilling, can be greatly reduced by the use of pig brooders, suggests E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine husbandman. The most critical time in a pig's life is the first few hours after birth when chilling and crushing take about 25 percent of all losses. County agents can supply detailed information on pig brooders and how they should be used, says the specialist.

Pasture fertilization will pay. The real expense is the omission of fertilizer from the pasture, E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin C. Zeckser proudly announce the birth of Mark Beaty Zeckser on February 21, 1958, at Stormont Vail Hospital in Topeka, Kans. He weighed six pounds and 12 ounces. The Zeckers have another son, Michael Charles. Grandparents are Mrs. R. W. Hodge of Alta Vista, Kans., and the late Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Beaty of Munday.

Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Sr., and her daughter, Mrs. Butch McCannell, of Benjamin were business visitors in Wichita Falls last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorse Collins were in Dallas this week for further medical treatment for Mrs. Collins. Mr. Collins returned home Tuesday, and Mrs. Collins remained in the Baylor Hospital for more tests.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Boggs visited relatives in Abilene last Monday.

Stored grain should be checked frequently to make sure that proper temperature and moisture levels are being maintained to prevent spoilage and insect infestations, advises C. F. Garner, extension entomologist.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

As is always the case during the first couple of months of a session of Congress, there has been little action on the floor. The real work in the early days of a session comes in Committee hearings which, of course, must precede any action on the floor. A round-up of current Committee action would give some indication of what really has been happening during the last few weeks. The Post Office and Civil Service Committee is holding hearings on salary increases for postal and classified employees. The House Armed Service Committee is in Executive Session hearing testimony on National defense measures with the Air Force currently furnishing the witnesses. The Foreign Affairs Committee is hearing testimony from the Comptroller General on the General Accounting Office's investigation of the spending of foreign aid funds. The Public Works Committee is digging into the status and progress of the National Highway Program. The Committee on Judiciary is working on the troublesome Presidential disability bill. The Committee on Ways and Means has completed tax hearings and at the present time is holding hearings on the extension of the Trade Agreements Act. The Education Committee is investigating all the different proposals that have been made for scholarships, loans, school construction, work study programs, and aid to areas affected by Federal activities. This, of course, is not by any means all of the Committees that are working, but it does give an idea of what is going on here.

As has been the custom for many, many years, the Congress adjourned on Washington's Birthday, but before adjourning, listened to the reading of his famous Farewell Address.

Nine days of production for Texas oil wells during the month of March as was ordered by the Texas Railroad Commission points up the desperate need for effective control of the flow of foreign oil into this country. If the imports are not controlled effectively, our domestic industry faces complete ruin.

Rev. T. Herbert Minga, Rev. W. B. Slack, and Mr. Alex Dickie, Jr., of Denton; Rev. Earl Hoggard of Wichita Falls; and Mr. George Coats of Knox City were Washington visitors this week.

Goree School To Issue Report Cards

The Goree Independent School will complete the first six weeks of the first semester and the students will receive their report cards on Tuesday of next week.

J. B. Lawson, superintendent, requests that parents inspect their child's report card to check their progress in school. If parents are not satisfied with the report card they should contact the student's teacher if progress is unsatisfactory. This will help both the student and the teacher to make any change that needs to be made.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Tallant were here for the week end to visit her father, Calvin Stone, who was seriously burned on his legs recently. They also visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tallant. The Tallants moved to Mt. Interprise, Texas, on January 1 and he is manager of the Golden Green Stock Farms for Charles Schwartz of Tyler.

Reduce Delinquency CORRECTION PUNISHMENT III.

(A distinguished Texas judge offers pointers on combating our rapidly increasing juvenile delinquency problem.)

By JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES

JUDGE HUGHES

Juvenile delinquency is by no means a new problem. But our attitude toward children who commit offenses has changed materially in the last 50 years.

Formerly a child of 7 was considered responsible for his offenses and was punished as an adult. The object of society was to punish the offender, regardless of his age if he was over 6, and revenge the crime as well as to protect society.

Today we no longer try to revenge ourselves, as was done as late as 1828—when a 13-year-old New Jersey boy was hanged for stealing a pair of shoes. We try now to rescue the child as well as to protect society.

We try to find out the causes of the individual child's delinquency so that we can remove them. We are not so concerned with handing out punishment as we are with trying to save the offender for good citizenship.

The sentence may be probation or an institution, both involving a positive program to prepare the boy or girl for wholesome community life, including vocational training.

Whatever the punishment, the object is the same—to protect society, remove the causes of delinquency, and make the youngster a good citizen. My article next week will continue this discussion.

A bridal shower honoring Mrs. Norris Lee (Mac) McNeely of Abilene, the former Glenda Yeager of Munday, was given Saturday evening, February 22, at the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Earl McNeill greeted the guests and in the receiving line were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. E. F. Yeager and Mrs. Van Green, sister of the bride.

Registering the guests was Miss Alice McNeill. The serving table was decorated in Mrs. McNeely's chosen colors of pink and white. FAMILY LAWYER

It costs much less to avoid legal trouble than to get out of it once you are in. Hence the family lawyer.

But since you can't go running to him all the time, how do you spot legal trouble in time?

1. When you come of age, marry, have children, get a divorce, buy or sell property, move to another state, or when someone in your family dies, you may take on new legal rights and duties.

Then you may need to update your will, your insurance program, or the way you figure your taxes.

2. When you buy or sell property always have the legal papers checked with care by an expert before you sign them or put up any money.

Double check your contracts. Important letters or leases before (not after) you sign them.

3. The law defends your rights, but sometimes only if you yourself act within certain time limits. Make sure you do. Otherwise your claim may be outlawed, or it may be too late to file an action to protect your rights.

If you have been in a car accident, for example, get all the facts at once and check with your lawyer and your insurance company.

4. A few other questions may put you in good shape to avoid legal trouble:

In case something happens to you, who knows where you keep your papers — your deeds, will, insurance policies, or contracts?

Has everybody in your family a birth certificate?

Where is your marriage certificate? Your social security card?

Have you checked your life, hospital, health, home and accident insurance policies? Do they protect you the way you want? Does your life insurance plan, for example, fit in with your will?

Are your tax records in good shape?

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

CALF CROP OFF 2% IN 1957, TEN PERCENT ABOVE AVERAGE

FORT WORTH — Figures made available by the USDA Crop Reporting Board in Fort Worth this week indicate that the nation's calf crop was off 2% in 1957, yet was 10% above the 1946-1955 average. The decline was credited to the drop-off in numbers of grown cows and heifers over two-year-olds.

The only area in the nation which reflected an increase in the calf crop last year was the South Atlantic States, which showed a three percent climb.

RAINS CLOBBER LIVESTOCK MOVEMENT IN SOUTHWEST

Wet grounds held livestock movement to a minimum at Southwestern and Southern points at the start of this week. The limited offerings reported in these areas was offset by considerable expansion in the Northern areas as clearing weather following recent storms put farmers back in the livestock selling business.

At Fort Worth cattle and calves were generally fully steady, except cows, which class wound up a slow trade with 25 to 50 cents or more lower prices.

Good and choice steers and yearlings cashed at $24 to $28, and medium and lower grades cashed at $16 to $23. Fat cows sold from $16 to $18, and canners and cutters cashed at $10 to $16.50. Bulls drew $14 to $20. Good and choice slaughter calves cleared at $24 to $27, and medium and lower grades cashed at $15

Let me tell you about the most unusual educational institution Texas has ever known.

You probably never heard of it; it was known as the Thurber Training School.

For that matter, you may not even have heard of Thurber. Thurber around 1900 and for nearly 20 years thereafter was a coal mining town, some 16 miles east of Ranger. At one time, it was said to have been the largest town between Fort Worth and El Paso. You can see the remnants as you glide along Highway 80 — a smoke-stack and a few empty brick buildings, a filling station and two or three houses which are occupied.

The Thurber Training School — as you have probably figured out — was at Thurber. And it came about this way:

A number of young men employed in the office of Texas Pacific Coal Company wanted to play football.

"But," somebody objected, "you can't just form a team. The only opponents you can find are the elevens of high schools and colleges and they wouldn't play anybody except another high school or college."

"All right," said another of the ambitious athletes, "we'll start a school."

So they organized Thurber

Training School — an institution without buildings, classes, campus, teachers, books, courses of study or alumni.

In fact, the only tangible evidence that there was such an institution was the stationery, "Thurber Training School, on which letters inviting games were written.

A schedule was lined up readily. (The coach played fullback.) All the contests were played away from home. The Thurber town band performed and a pep squad was organized, the members being the young ladies who worked in the company offices. They even had a school song.

If some educator remarked, "I don't believe I ever heard of your institution," a "student" would say, "Oh, it emphasizes practical rather than academic training" — and change the subject in a hurry.

Half the gate receipts went to each school — and Thurber Training School's half was divided among the players.

By the end of the season, the athletes were pretty well battered and the project was not revived next fall. Such is the brief history of the Thurber Training School, Texas' most unusual educational institution, which was not exactly a scrap of paper but was just pieces of stationery — and a football club.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Guinn and Jan and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Allred were visitors in Abilene last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Boyles visited with relatives in Clinton, Okla., last Saturday and Sunday.

FREEDOM IS A MIGHTY SWORD

We Americans can rightly be proud of the fact that we are a peace-loving people. That our aim as a nation is to strive to improve human welfare with freedom and justice for all. * Such a people is always slow to anger, tolerant and patient. But when patience is exhausted, a peace-loving people can turn its peace-time skills into weapons of fierce and righteous wrath. There is only one way such a nation could be enslaved. That would be through propaganda that misleads; through lack of knowledge, and of truth. America's greatest strength is... freedom of the printed word... to give the people truth, truth that builds freedom of thought, of word, and of vision. * This great Freedom tempers the steel out of which a nation and a people can forge mighty swords.

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Spicy, fragrant molasses desserts have been a delight since colonial days. Modern methods make them easier to prepare, but all of the goodness is still there.

Most youngsters of today have missed the fun of a taffy pull. Such a party is good entertainment for youngsters and oldsters and would make for something different. Make molasses taffy. Combine 4 cups molasses, 1 cup brown sugar, firmly-packed, and 1/2 cup water in a saucepan. Cook over low gas flame, stirring frequently, until a small amount of the mixture cracks when dropped in cold water (272 deg. F.). Remove from flame, add 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon soda and 1/8 teaspoon salt, stirring just enough to blend. Pour into a large shallow greased pan and allow to stand until cool enough to handle. Grease fingers lightly and gather taffy into a ball. Pull candy, using tips of fingers, until it is firm and light yellow in color. (The harder it's pulled the lighter it gets.) Stretch out into a long rope, twisting slightly. Cut with scissors into 1-inch lengths. If not eaten at once, wrap individual pieces in waxed paper, aluminum foil or plastic film. Makes approximately 50 pieces.

beat 1 cup sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 3 eggs. Pour into an unbaked 9-inch pastry shell. Bake in hot gas oven (450 deg. F.) 10 minutes, reduce temperature to 350 deg. F. and continue baking 30 minutes.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

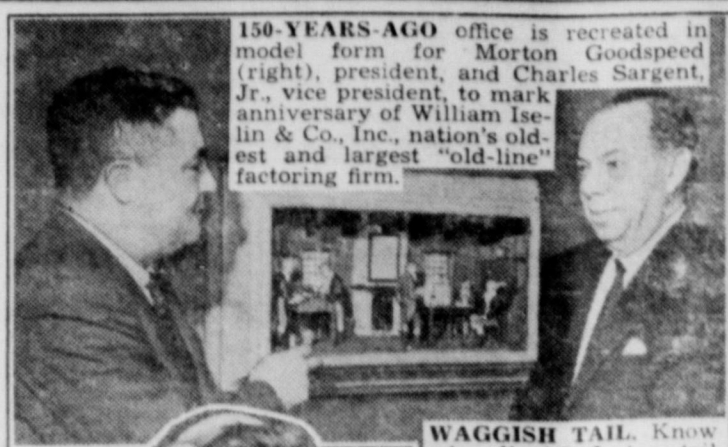

Soft Molasses Cookies: Combine in mixing bowl, 1/2 cup shortening, melted, and 1 cup molasses. Add 2 tablespoons milk. Combine in sifter and sift into mixture, 3 cups sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon ginger and 1 teaspoon soda. Mix well. Chill dough thoroughly. Roll on lightly floured board to 1/2-inch thickness. Cut with 2-inch cutter. Place on greased baking sheet and bake in moderate gas oven (350 deg. F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes approximately 60 cookies. If necessary, sift more flour into mixture to make dough stiff enough to roll.

Farmers To Get First Call For Classing Services

First call for 1958 applications for the free cotton classing and market news services of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has gone out to all Texas cotton producers.

Now is the time for farmers not already in a Smith-Doxey cotton improvement group to join or organize one, says Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist.

AMS marketing services are free only to farmers who organize to promote the improvement of cotton and agree to produce a variety adopted to their area.

Even groups that have been active for years must submit a new application for every cotton crop, Elliott emphasized.

Applications may be obtained from ginners, county agents, county CSS offices or AMS cotton offices at Abilene, Austin, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Harlingen, Lamesa and Lubbock.

Farmers served by the Harlingen and Corpus Christi cotton offices must have their applications on file with AMS by June 1. Farmers served by other offices have until July 1, 1958.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patterson visited relatives in Rotan last Sunday and are spending this week with their daughter, Mrs. Jimmy Rhames, and family in Fort Worth.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims Even The Russians With All Their Science Still Have A Farm Problem

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek claims he's found Russia has a farm problem. Anything to get the spotlight off his own farm problem.

Dear editor:
I know it's customary these days to believe the Russians can do anything, they just press a button and order up a satellite, they can pause between two sips of vodka and send off a guided missile so accurate it could knock the braces off the corner post in any corner of my pasture out here, if they hadn't already fallen off on their own before it got here, etc., but while I never like to discount the power of the other fellow, still I've always had my doubts about some things in Russia.

For instance, doesn't Russia have a farm problem? I don't care how smart his own newspapers say he is, there never was a dictator so smart he could farm out in the open and never get wet, for example. Or run out of gas, or blow a gasket, or have a flat.

Well, yesterday I was reading an article in a newspaper I found caught on a fence in my pasture — I don't suppose the publisher aimed it there that accurately, but it was lodged there, none the less — that bears out my suspicions about Russian farming.

According to it the Russian government was having a little trouble with its grain farmers. As I understand the system, all the land belongs to the government over there, and a farmer has to work as many acres and as many hours as he's told to, and can keep only a small amount of the grain for his own use, the rest going to the government.

Well, that's the way the farmers have been farming, but it turns out most of them don't have room for much grain storage, so naturally they put their own grain in what barns or sheds they have, and carefully pile the government's share out in the open. And just when it came time for the government trucks to pick up the grain, it started raining and roads over there got muddy, since any dictator knows it's more important to conquer space than build roads, and the grain got rained on, and if you don't know what that does to grain, turn the faucet on a loaf of bread and see for yourself.

You don't have to go to Russia to know it has a farm problem, so long as farming is done out in the open.

What this proves to me is that while the farm problem may not be bigger than any political system, it'll last longer.

Yours faithfully,
