Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

One couldn't hope for a better wheat rain than we had over the week end.

k-k
Reports we got after returning home from our annual jaunt to Amarillo and Borger were that it started raining about noon Saturday and gave us that good, slow, soaking rain that reached down to the bottom roots of the grain and just fixed things up grand.

k-k
It had rained in Amarillo both Friday and Saturday. We traveled most every foot of the way from Borger in the rain Sunday, and learned that other local people had done the same thing from down San Angelo way and from the east as far as Gainesville. There appeared to be moisture over much of the great southwest.

k-k
Most of the snow was to the west of Amarillo, with portions of New Mexico getting the worst of it. Some flakes fell in Amarillo, but if one didn't see them falling the snow would have gone unnoticed. It melted as it fell.

k-k
The car is a second home for millions of Americans! So says a feature syndicate article coming to our desk.

k-k
And from it we learned that a leading automobile manufacturer has devised a television set for back seat viewing. Using a 9-inch picture tube, the TV set had a transistor power supply that converts the car's 12 volt direct current into 110 volt alternate current. The receiver is portable so it can be removed and used in the home if desired. This accessory has been produced in order to keep back seat driver's minds off their work. Shucks, we knew some enterprising husband would come up with something sometime to tactfully whip that back seat driving!

k-k
We are reaching the "levelling off" period of the recession, if we are to believe the Washington big-wigs. If we're going to have a recession — and it looks like it is here — we'd sure like it to be on a level keel. A mountain top recession would just about be more than we could take.

k-k
Another idea to whip the thing, too, has been expounded — that of every body spending more, thus providing more jobs, thus providing more money for more people to spend, and the thing would just snowball us into prosperous times again.

k-k
Trouble is that the jobless don't have it to spend. The employed are afraid to spend more — if they have anything left after necessities — for fear they will be jobless, too. And this kinda hampers management and industry.

k-k
If you want to try this spending spree, start spending with us. Then we can spend with the other fellow and get the snowball to rolling. About the only way we can do any more about it than we're doing is to be one of the fortunate firsts in the cycle.

k-k
Wheat is looking good, potatoes, cabbage and onions are doing fine, and farmers have started planting cucumbers and cotton and other crops in a big way this week. Looks like prospects for this time of year were never better.

k-k
Looks like the French government is as unsteady as a drunk man walking sideways to a stiff norther. If we heard right Wednesday morning the fall of Premier Gaillard's regime marked the 26th fall of the French government since World War II.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By Roy England, Knox County Agent

Forty-nine 4-H fat lambs were marketed in Ft. Worth Monday, April 14, completing the projects of 15 county 4-H members who fed a total of 176 lambs.

Greenbugs have been found at various spots over the county, infesting the small grains, with heaviest infestations in the barley fields. These insects, small, green-colored plant lice, cause a browning of the lower leaves of the plant. Heavy infestations can cause a general wilting of the plant and decrease the yield. Parathion is the recommended treatment where infestations are heavy.

MAKE PARCEL POST PAY

Freight Forwarders Institute has made a proposal to the Senate Post Office Committee, which has been considering increases in charges for various postal services. The Institute suggests that Congress obtain added revenues from parcel post, which is the fourth class mail category.

One reason given by the Institute in substantiation of its view is interesting. Parcel post, it said in effect, is a commercial service, which is competitive with private industry. Thus, it differs from the regular mail services.

The Institute is on sound grounds here. Parcel post was a late comer to the roster of jobs done by the postoffice. And when it was authorized, some thirty-odd years ago, Congress laid down certain stipulations. One was that the service was to supplement, not replace, the private parcel carriers. Another was that it was not to be unduly competitive with the private carriers. Still another was that it was to be self-sustaining—that is, to charge rates sufficient to meet all the costs of providing the service.

These stipulations have been constantly violated ever since. Parcel post is a direct and unfair competitor of private carriers operating on both a national and regional basis. It has been a producer of deficits, and over the years these have run into very large sums of money. And those deficits, of course, have been made up by all the taxpayers, whether or not they ever use the service.

There is talk now of increasing parcel post rates by about 12 percent. Whatever the correct figure is, it should be sufficient to cover all costs—the indirect as well as the direct.

And this brainpower can be used for peaceful objectives too, for development of many great things to make life better, for science has not yet reached all its potentialities."

IRVINGTON, WYO., RANGER: "Government has grown so large that it is beyond comprehension, incapable of self-regulation and bent on perpetuation of its various components."

"People fear the thought of the unwieldy monster attaching even one of its tentacles onto the public schools, no matter how innocent and trivial the initial attachment seems to be."

THREE YEARS OF SALK VACCINE

Just three years ago this April the Salk vaccine was officially pronounced safe and effective and licensed for use by the U. S. Government.

Since then, the polio picture in this country has undergone radical change. Before the Salk vaccine we struggled with an erratic but mounting series of polio epidemics that reached their peak in 1952 with 57,879 cases. Last year, owing to widespread vaccination, the number dropped to 5,894. By this time it is clear that the Salk vaccine, developed on grants from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, is one of the triumphant milestones in the history of modern medical science.

What, in the meantime, has happened to vaccination?

The first year it was given mainly to grade school children — some 10 million of them. The second year it was made available to young persons up to 20 and expectant mothers, and some 85 million were injected. Last year a crash vaccination program directed at all persons under 60 added 20 million more, making a total of 65 million.

A big job done in a remarkably short time. But not good enough. For Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, warns us that, with 46 million Americans still unvaccinated, we may still have polio epidemics next summer.

The answer? There is enough vaccine for everybody now, regardless of age. It's painless. It's inexpensive. It's effective protection against a lifetime of paralysis.

National Sunday School Week is again being sponsored by the all-faiths group, the Laymen's National Committee, Inc. The dates chosen are April 14th through 20th, and the Committee asks everyone to join in furthering their theme: "OUR SUNDAY SCHOOLS — FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE."

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

For hundreds of years mushrooms have been considered a delicacy. Time was when they were a rare delicacy. A perishable product, difficult to raise and to ship in the summer season, distribution was limited. While they are still a delicacy, no longer are they rare, for canned mushrooms are available the year around. Reasonable in price, they are ready for the using in many dishes.

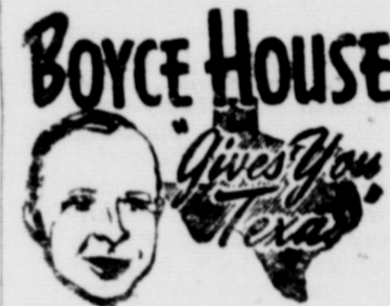

Dress up broiled chops, steaks or hamburgers by heating a can of mushrooms in its own liquid to serve with them. Add a can of chopped mushrooms to the left-over gravy when reheating a roast.

Macaroni and cheese becomes a specialty when mushrooms are added. A three or four-ounce can of the chopped style is about right for macaroni and cheese to make four servings. Give a party touch to a favorite spaghetti and meat sauce or chicken spaghetti with the addition of mushrooms.

Make a real impression at the next "covered dish" affair by taking mushroom stuffed eggs. Combine the yolks of 8 hard-cooked eggs with a three or four-ounce can of chopped mushrooms, drained and chopped finer. Add mayonnaise, a little lemon juice, salt and pepper.

Mushrooms add interest to any creamed dish whether a meat or a vegetable. Drain and add them to the creamed mixture just before serving — just long enough for the mushrooms to heat.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
 Cheese Mushroom Pie: Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine in a small skillet over a medium gas flame. Add 1 four-ounce can chopped mushrooms, drained, and 3 tablespoons minced onion. Cook

Some of the most successful "confidence games" are based upon the saying that the hand is quicker than the eye.

One of the first news stories I ever covered had to do with a native of Austria who had accumulated considerable means in the bakery business in Memphis, Tenn.

He met a man who was also a native of Austria and, after they became friends, this man introduced two others. He had already told the baker of a wonderful business idea which these two had.

"It will take $14,000 to start the business," he was told. "You put up half and we will put up half."

The baker was interested — but cautious.

The spokesman explained that they had $5,000 which they would put with the baker's $7,000 and the baker was to hold the money until they put up $2,000 more.

"If we don't return by two weeks from today, the money is all yours."

Now if he held the money, how could he lose?

So the baker agreed. They met again; he counted out his $7,000; one of them counted out their $5,000. The money was then placed in a box and after considerable conversation, they shook hands all around and left.

He locked the box in his safe in the office. At the end of two weeks, they had not returned and so he rejoiced at being $5,000 richer. But when he opened the box, there were only two stacks of cut-up newspaper.

During the conversation, they had switched boxes on him.

Yes, it was true that the hand is quicker than the eye although it had cost him $7,000 to find this out.

The coach who consistently fields a team without an offense is going to find that the alumni will consider him very offensive.

The decorations for the luncheon were carried out in the school colors, purple and gold, with plates favors of miniature graduates in the traditional cap and gown holding a diploma. Spring flowers were arranged attractively around the fellowship hall.

The menu consisted of ham, cream green beans, new potatoes, Helen's salad or lettuce leaf, pecan pie and iced tea.

Entertainers for the occasion were Misses Gwendolyn Owens and Lanette Tankersley, seniors from Knox City High School bringing relaxation and enjoyment to the group.

Thirty-five guests were served, inclusive of honor guest class, sponsors and entertainers.

Social Security Benefits Based On Average Earnings

What is the basis for figuring the amount of my social security benefits? This is a significant and important question on the minds of millions of American workers approaching retirement age. The terms of the Social Security Act provide that all benefits are based on the amount of an individual's average earnings. Whether you work as an employee for someone else, are self-employed as the operator of a business or profession, or whether you are the operator of a farm, your benefits are based on your average earnings.

Benefits for dependent members of your family are likewise based on your average earnings. The higher your average, the higher your benefits and your dependent's benefits. An individual worker's benefits range from a minimum of $30.00 per month ($24 for women at 62) to a maximum of $108.50. It is important that you understand how your social security benefits are figured in planning your retirement program.

If you are interested in more detail, your local social security office will be happy to supply you with a publication entitled "How to Estimate Your Social Security Payments."

EVERYBODY'S PROUD OF THIS REYNOLDS BOY

Even aunts and uncles are proud of this new arrival as we were informed by Aunt Lillie, Mrs. Don Wardlaw, when she told us she had front page news for us and that if grandparents or parents were any prouder she didn't know how they stood it. Seems the front page news has been named Randy Joe and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Reynolds. He made his arrival in the Knox County Hospital at 1:05 p. m. Monday, April 14 and weighed 6 pounds and 14 ounces. Mother and baby are doing fine and as papas are hard to lose chances are that Lynn will survive though there is evidence that he will never be the same. Grandparents of Randy Joe are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeSantis of Syracuse, N. Y., Ernie Reynolds of Yoakum and Mrs. Dell Riddle of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Good of Funston visited with Mrs. Tennie Suggs and Mrs. Addie Harper on Wednesday night of last week.

FIRE ANT QUARANTINE HITS TEXAS

The vicious little imported fire ant, infamous for its painful bite and destructive habits, is the target of a new federal quarantine imposed in eight states, including Texas.

Six Texas counties will be "blocked off" due to the federal order, in an effort to prevent the further spread of the pest into farm and ranch country. Beginning May 6th, movement of plants, soil and other carrying agents of the ant will be closely supervised in the infested areas.

Many East Texas farmers already are acquainted with the fire ant, a native of South America who has also recently become an "unwanted alien" in parts of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina. Texas counties under quarantine will include Hardin, Jasper, Jefferson, Newton, Orange and Tyler.

In these counties, the fire ant has made a name for itself as a pest harmful to crops, livestock and humans. It often attacks small animals, ground-nesting birds, poultry and newborn calves and pigs. Its fiery sting can bring death to these young farm animals and make the farmer's field work painful, and often impossible. The hard mounds of dirt, sometimes as high as 18 inches and two feet across, cause damage to machinery.

The quarantine order will cause some unavoidable difficulty, especially to nurserymen whose property is infested. Any business whose main activity involves transportation of growing plants, is affected by the order.

Nurserymen are urged to inspect their property carefully before the quarantine becomes effective. Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors are available to help eradicate the pest. If a nursery is found to be free of the insect before the federal quarantine is imposed, then some of the regulatory problems will be simplified. An infested property will have to treat its plants to kill the ant before shipment is permitted.

Details of the federal quarantine order are available from: John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Bowden and Jerry visited Mr. and Mrs. John Vardeman in Megargel over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hobert and daughters visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alf McWilliams, in Menard over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hodges of Lubbock were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Williams.

CATTLE PRICES BREAK AT CORNBELT POINTS
FORT WORTH — Increased offerings of livestock were reported around the major market circle Monday, despite sharply curtailed offerings at Fort Worth due to rain over the weekend. Fed cattle prices dropped sharply at Cornbelt points as most points reported steers and heifers 50 cents to $1 lower, and Chicago reports indicated spots on steers $2 off. However, at Fort Worth prices on most cattle and calves were fully steady. Fed steers were scarce, and weak to 50 cents lower. Some strength on canners and cutters, as well as slaughter and stocker calves was noted here compared with late last week.

Good to choice steers and yearlings drew $26 to $28.50, and medium and lower grades sold from $17 to $25. Fat cows bulked at $17 to $19, with canners and cutters at $11 to $17. Bulls were reported from $16 to $20.50, odd head higher. Good and choice fat calves drew $25 to $28, and good stocker calves sold at $28 to $30, with good grade yearlings $28.50 down.

SPRING LAMBS SHARPLY LOWER; SHORN LAMBS HOLD

The heavy pressure on Spring lamb prices at Fort Worth was blamed on a poor dressed meat trade, wet fleeces and large percentages of medium to good lambs of soft, washy fleshing. Choice Spring lambs were 50 cents to $1 per hundred lower at Fort Worth Monday. Cull, medium and good Spring lambs were $1 to $2 under prices of last mid-week.

Old crop shorn lambs, sheep and goats were steady. About 600 slaughter goats sold at $7 to mostly $7.50. Good and choice old crop lambs drew $20 to $21.50, recently shorn kinds at $20 to $20.50. Cull to medium old crop lambs drew $15 to $19.

HOGS HOLD STEADY, TOP MONDAY $21.50 - $21.75

Choice meat type hogs scored $21.75 at Fort Worth Monday, and the run of the mine choice hogs sold from $21.50 to $21.75. Mixed grade and mixed weights cashed at $18 to $21.25. Sows drew $18 to $20.50. Stocker pigs sold for $18 to $19.50. Stags drew $12 to $15.

CORVELL COUNTY LAMBS BRINGS YOUTHS PROFIT

County Agent Leroy Hoerman of Coryell County reported the commercial lamb feeding project sponsored by the Gatesville Chamber of Commerce was a successful one for the boys and girls this year. The group visited the Fort Worth Stockyards Monday and other points of interest in the area, and saw their lambs sold on the market.

The lambs ranged from $17 to mostly $21 per hundred. The group was accompanied by Mrs. Doyle Duncan of Copperas Cove and by Vocational Agricultural Instructor Sam Adams, and J. B. Martin. The young people who made the trip included: Margaret

SHEEP AND GOAT RAISERS ASK BUYING INVESTIGATION

Ernest Williams, secretary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association reported by telephone Monday that the complaint of the association on buying by packers of heavy lambs at sharp discounts would be carried to the Packers & Stockyards Division of the Department of Agriculture. Williams reported an earlier complaint to the Federal Trade Commission brought the information that the complaint would come under the USDA supervision.

The sheepmen complained about the habit of the buyers discounting heavy lambs in country trading.

The complaint is one of several which have been voiced by farmers and stockmen relative to direct buying operations and livestock feeding programs of meat packers.

Recently the National Farm Organization, a midwest farm group, picketed packing plants at Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., carrying placards protesting packer livestock feeding operations and direct livestock buying. The farmers claimed these practices were hurting farmer livestock prices.

LESS WORKING TIME TO BUY MEAT!

Latest figures from the U. S. Labor Department show that in 1957 it required 19 minutes of working time for American working men to buy a pound of meat. In 1948, it took 30 minutes working time to do it.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holla, M. D., State Health Officer

New brucellosis control regulations become effective September 1. Texas dairymen who market Grade A milk products have until then to adopt one of two plans designed to eradicate brucellosis infection from their herds.

The need for regulations is evident in a 1956 survey by livestock sanitation officials. Of 2,500 dairy herds checked, more than 71 per cent showed evidence of infection.

Cases of brucellosis — sometimes called undulant fever — are increasing among livestock handlers and people who drink unpasteurized milk. Enforcing known control measures will help to prevent human infection. The new regulations will also mean increased profits for producers, once brucellosis has been eliminated from herds. A and M College veterinarians report that infected cattle produce up to 20 per cent less milk. They calve less frequently, and the calves they do bear are weak and affected.

Beginning September 1, every dairyman producing milk under Grade A label must have adopted one or the other of the following two plans. Since 95 per cent of all milk sold in Texas is Grade A, only a fraction of total production will be unaffected. Both plans have been approved by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and are contained in the milk ordinance and code recommended by the U. S. Public Health Service.

Plan A: All breeding cattle over six months of age must be blood tested. Vaccinated cattle under 30 months of age are exempt. Animals reacting positively must be removed for slaughter within 15 days, and non-reactors must be retested between 30 and 60 days to insure they are free of disease.

Under Plan A, only cattle vaccinated in calfhood may be added to the herd. It recommends, but does not require, that female calves from the original herd be vaccinated between four and eight months of age.

Plan B: All breeding stock over six months old, exclusive of those which have been previously vaccinated must be blood tested. Reactors must be branded and segregated from non-reactors. To prevent economic hardship to producers, this plan allows branded animals to be kept for milk production for three years. All female calves must be vaccinated between four and eight months of age, without exception.

Records — including blood test certificates on each animal — must be kept by all dairymen. Copies must be filed with city or county health officers for periodic inspection by the State Department of Health.

Two successive violations of the brucellosis control requirements will bring immediate revocation of the Grade A milk permit. No extension of time beyond the September 1 date is being considered by the Department.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Icard

For the first time in history the high wind speeds within the cone of an actual tornado have been measured by a new type of radar. This new development in tornado detection occurred on April 2nd when a severe tornado struck through Wichita Falls. Only six weeks before, the Weather Bureau tornado research experts had located their experimental radar equipment at the Wichita Falls airport acting on the belief that tornadoes likely would occur somewhere within a seventy mile range of the special storm detection instruments. This equipment is "one of a kind" experimental radar and operates on the same principle as that which is commonly used for speed monitoring work by the highway patrol. By the use of this new equipment the Weather Bureau detected the tornado in time to warn the entire Wichita Falls area, and even though the storm moved rapidly through a large metropolitan area and caused extensive damage to hundreds of buildings, there can be little doubt but what the relatively low number of casualties in this damaging tornado can be credited to the early warning and quick cooperative action by the police, broadcasters, and many others in relaying the storm warning to the public. From a purely scientific standpoint, it is interesting to know that the Wichita Falls tornado is the first one in which a direct recording of the wind speed within the tornado has been measured. The radar record shows that the wind speeds within this tornado were in the vicinity of 250 miles an hour. Previous to this time, there is no direct measurements of tornado wind speeds much higher than 100 miles an hour which had ever been recorded. However, indirect measurements based on damage and other factors, estimates of wind speeds have run as high in other storms as 600 miles an hour. Indications are that this first test of the new equipment such as is located in the Wichita Falls Weather Station will mean that we will be able to have much more effective tornado warnings, and as the type of the equipment is improved, it may be possible within the not too distant future to accurately detect tornadoes embedded in the clouds which cannot be discovered by observers on the ground. This, of course, will mean savings of many lives and much property damage.

HOMESTEAD SUBJECT TO SALE FOR TAXES

Many Texans have the mistaken impression that their homestead cannot be seized and sold for delinquent taxes. In many cases, this idea has led to considerable grief and monetary loss which could have been avoided. A homestead should be rendered to tax assessors like any other property, and taxes assessed against it should be paid as faithfully as those on any other taxable property.

The deadline for rendering property for taxation is April 1, so far as most city taxing agencies are concerned. The last date for rendering real and personal property for state and county taxes is April 30. State taxes are collected by the County Tax Collector.

Under the Texas Constitution, each family is entitled to claim one piece of real property as their homestead. This claim must be established by an affidavit filed with the county tax assessor on or before April 30, each and every year. This affidavit must be filed by the owner himself. A lending agency cannot do so, even though it may actually pay the annual taxes thereon from a fund created by the owner's monthly installments.

When the homestead affidavit is properly filed, the owner becomes entitled to an exemption of State taxes up to the value of $3,000 or 200-acres in the case of farm lands. This is an exemption from payment, not a complete exemption from rendition and assessment. There is no similar exemption with reference to city taxes, or to county taxes, except in certain counties levying a special 30 cent farm-to-market and lateral road tax.

The homestead claimed for tax purposes need not be the property which is actually occupied by the owner as his residence.

When the homestead affidavit is not filed by April 30, the taxpayer loses his right to the $3,000 or 200-acre exemption, and consequently becomes liable for more taxes than he would otherwise be required to pay.

Property taxes are assessed against the person who is the record owner of each piece of real and personal property on the first day of January of each year. Individuals purchasing property during the year should make sure that the taxes for all previous years have been paid. Otherwise, the purchaser may be forced to pay hundreds of dollars in delinquent taxes to protect his property. Unpaid taxes create a lien

Women's Hats Influence Car Styling

Cars should be designed with sufficient head room so women may wear high fashion hats when they go for a spin, say these world-famous milliners, Laddie Northridge (left) and Mr. John (center). In Detroit recently, they presented a special fashion award to Lincoln cars because they provide enough head room for the designers' new Spring creations. Receiving the plaque is George W. Walker, Ford Motor Company's styling vice president.

Abilene Woman Is Named District 17 Baptist Woman Of Year; Enters State

DALLAS — A globe-trotting 79-year-old Abilene widow and mother of two children has been named District 17 Texas Baptist Mother of the Year, leaders said here Saturday.

Mrs. J. L. (Mom) Anthony is one of 17 district winners who will compete for statewide Baptist Mother of the Year honors. The award is made each year to honor Texas Baptist mothers who have made outstanding contributions to Christianity. Statewide winner will be announced around May 1.

Mrs. Anthony recently completed a 9,000-mile journey to Nigeria, where she averaged speaking against the property which can be enforced regardless of change of ownership.

One should also keep in mind to make some arrangement for the previous owner to pay his pro-rata share of taxes for the current year. Otherwise, the buyer may find it necessary to pay the entire taxes for that year.

When taxes are not paid by the deadline prescribed for the particular taxing unit (city, county, State or district), monetary penalties and interest are added from month to month. In addition, the property becomes subject to seizure and sale to satisfy the tax lien. This lien applies to all property, whether homestead or not.

five times a day for five months. "I went over to get a glimpse of our mission work," she said.

A self-supporting widow, Mrs. Anthony is a professional seamstress and frequently contributes to the missionary offering. She is a regular tither of her meager income.

Partially paralyzed seven years ago, she soon recovered but can no longer play the piano and "pound a typewriter" as she could when she was only 72.

A member of University Baptist Church in Abilene, Mrs. Anthony has been a Sunday school teacher for over 50 years and reads her Bible every day. She has been training union director, president of Woman's Missionary Union, church clerk, and has done missionary work in Hawaii, Wyoming, Montana, Canada, and Africa.

Her pastor, the Rev. Sterling Price, says of her, "Mrs. Anthony is a legend among Baptists of this area. Her consecration and complete surrender to the will of God is an inspiration to all who know her. She is tireless when it comes to doing the Lord's work."

Sponsors of the Mother of the Year project are the "Baptist Standard" and the Baptist General Convention of Texas. District 17 is an 11 county area from Knox City on the north to Tuscola on the south, Roscoe on the west, and Ranger on the east.

There are 177 Baptist churches and missions in the area.

Mrs. Howard Thompson and children spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Guffey of Megargel. Mr. and Mrs. Don Collins and son of Memphis also visited in the Guffey home.

Chemical Treating Of Planting Seed Is Good Insurance

Planting high quality seed which have been treated to protect them from soil-borne diseases is one of the best steps a farmer can take for getting his crop off to a good start, advises Lee Coffey, extension agronomist.

Farmers do not have to wait until the last minute to treat the seed, he points out. Storage is no problem as long as the seed is stored under dry conditions and recommended dosages are used. In fact, early treating is sometimes advisable because it helps avoid the last minute rush and gives the chemical extra time to work, he adds.

Farmers will have several approved chemicals to choose from when treating seed this year, says Coffey. The effectiveness of these chemicals is essentially the same and each will do the job if they are used according to instructions.

Special care must be taken when treating legume seed so the chemical will not kill the inoculant, cautions Coffey. Chemical treatment should be done at least two weeks before planting and then the seed should be planted as soon as possible after inoculation.

It is especially important to treat seed which is to be planted early, he says. Treating helps protect the seed and seedling from seed — and soil-borne diseases that may attack when soil conditions are not favorable for immediate germination.

In general, points out Coffey, planting seed purchased through seed stores has already been treated. But to make sure, he advises checking the tag on the bag.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Russian Propaganda Can't Sweep Him Off His Feet; He's Off Now

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek turns his thoughts to a world problem, his letter this week indicates. Anything to avoid farming.

Dear editor:
I was reading in a newspaper I borrowed out of my neighbor's mail box the other day and returned before he got there — there's one thing you can say for reading a neighbor's newspaper, it's like looking at a sunset, your looking at it doesn't lessen the fun he can have from looking at the same thing, although I'll admit you don't have to subscribe to the sun, however on the other hand you'll miss a lot of information by confining your reading to it — at any rate, to get on with this, I was reading how Russia has scored a great propaganda victory by announcing it is suspending all atom and hydrogen bomb tests, which I suspect is sort of like a man's saying he's suspending plowing on this year's crop, along in the fall of the year when it's already in his barn.

This news has upset a lot of people, who are afraid it will sweep everybody Russia is a dove of peace and the United States an ogre out to poison the atmosphere.

Well now I'll tell you, I don't believe it, in the first place, anybody who believes Russia, on anything she's unwilling to let free men check up on, is a mighty poor prospect for basing the foundations of world freedom on. If Russia can sweep you off your feet with hoaxes, you were tottering already and probably don't know the difference between up and down. There's a difference between conquering space and the hearts of men. And in the second place, a propaganda victory is one of the most temporary things there is.

I've seen politicians who rode into office on propaganda, and some of them stay there a long time on that, but in the final analysis the people catch on. And as for people who are swayed by propaganda, like the people who invariably vote for the last man they heard speak just before the election, you haven't won much when you win a propaganda victory over them. You'll lose em the next time somebody else speaks.

Understand, I don't know anything about testing hydrogen bombs. I don't even know how to test for a stuck valve on my tractor or guess what a teenager will do next, but I learned long ago the only satisfactory way to won much when you get it. There's nothing under the sun or in the newspapers Russia can say that'll sweep me off my feet. I'm the one that decides when I'll get off my feet and I decide it frequently.

The most precious gift you can give a son

From that first wonderful day when he drops your guiding hand to walk alone—unsteady, unsure, but on his own—his goal is independence.

And this is yours to give—even as he falters and clings, then manfully struggles on. You want so much to help him. And your heart nearly bursts with pride one day when you know he's now "his own man." How fervently you pray that no one—ever—will take away this hard-won freedom to be himself.

There's one way you may not have thought of to help him continue to enjoy the independence he's achieved.

Be on the watch for ideas that could deprive him of it—the idea, for example, that "government should run such and such—a business, a service, an institution." You have only to remember the people in socialist nations to know that when government controls more and more things, there is less and less freedom and independence for the individual!

You can use your woman-power to discourage this idea that "the government should run it." When you hear people talk that way, point out that the loss of anybody's independence is a threat to everybody's freedom.

Very much aware of this danger are the independent electric light and power companies, because government already runs part of the electric business, and powerful people are pressing it to take over more.

"Freedom is a woman!"

West Texas Farmers Urged To Plant Every Allotted Acre In '58 Cotton

ABILENE — Texas cotton farmers, faced with the best prospects in both moisture and prices in a decade, are being urged to plant every allotted acre in cotton this year, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce said recently.

A group of cotton industry leaders — including ginners, growers, shippers, buyers, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, representatives of the WTCC, and others — met Dallas on March 15 to appraise the outlook in view of a large soil bank participation.

They came up with a 2-point recommendation:

Plant every available acre in cotton.

Withdraw cotton acres from the soil bank while there is time.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, indicating belief that the soil bank sign up is greater than desirable, has extended the withdrawal date to March 28, in order to give more cotton producers more time to withdraw from the program.

Loyan H. Walker, WTCC agriculture and livestock department manager who attended the meeting, said the group is urging cotton farmers to reconsider their soil bank participation and place soil bank acres into production.

"Because of the excellent moisture we've received thus far, and, due to the present shortage of quality cotton, the promise of cotton prices that will be considerably above government supports, it is highly likely that the farmer can make a larger net profit by putting his acres in production than he can by placing his land in the soil bank," Walker said.

"In addition, because the production will create jobs in harvesting, ginning and such, the farmer will be helping to insure Texas and particularly West Texas from feeling the serious effects from the recession that is creating such hardships in other sections of the nation.

"Perhaps equally important in the long run" Walker stated, "is the fact that unless we produce quality cotton in the largest possible quantities we will be losing more of our market to synthetics and foreign produced cotton."

Walker stated that presently there is a scarcity of high quality cotton, a condition brought about by last year's bad weather which lowered the cotton grade. Both domestic mills and foreign customers are bidding for cotton of high quality, he said.

"Increased world consumption, combined with the shortage of high grade lint, should cause the better grades of cotton to sell above the support price of $190 per bale (for middling inch)," the WTCC agriculturist said.

Walker's views were supported in the Dallas meeting by Burriss C. Jackson of Hillsboro, chairman of the Statewide Cotton Committee of the Texas, at the Dallas meeting of the group, Jackson said the heavy participation in the soil bank is a threat to the state's economy.

The tragedy, he said, is that a great industry is about to be wrecked, and millions of people will be financially hurt.

It has been estimated, according to Walker, that the 1,868,913 acres in the soil bank in Texas would represent a production drop of $180,000,000 worth of cotton. And, since a bale of cotton generates business worth five times its original value, this will mean an economic loss of nearly a billion dollars.

Walker said roughly 50 per cent of the economic loss will be in West Texas.

Walker said it was learned that the reduction in cotton ginning would amount to labor loss totaling 2,167 employees with a salary loss of $4,352,000. The loss in gin work from the acres in the soil bank would be equal to the shutting down of 544 cotton gins in Texas.

J. D. Prewitt, assistant director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the soil bank acres would result in the following business loss in Texas:

Seed, $3,513,556; fertilizer, $2,466,965; hired labor (except harvesting), $3,513,556; insecticides, $6,541,195; tractor fuels, oils, repairs and other machinery costs, $5,606,739; harvesting and hauling, $25,230,325; ginning, $5,887,075; bagging and ties, $1,962,359. This loss totals $54,721,770.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker New and Philip of San Angelo spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, and with his parents in Gilliland.

Mrs. C. F. Suggs spent last week with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Clark and son, in Vernon.

Mrs. Ida Mae Douglas of Abilene was a week end guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Darter and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cooke and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Little visited with Mrs. Cooke's relatives in Gainesville over the week end.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Royce Hanna and son were Mrs. Raymond Hoffman and Mrs. Roy Aiken of Morton.
