Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

The pioneers of this area are passing, one by one.

k-k

Munday lost a beloved pioneer in the passing of Mrs. S. A. Bowden early Sunday morning. Her life and influence had been devoted to a better town and community for about 50 years. Early in married life, she and her husband selected the fertile Knox Prairie as a place to establish their home, and here they lived and reared their family.

k-k

As a charter member of the Munday Methodist Church, Mrs. Bowden had played an important part in the church activities of the community. Until her health failed several months ago, she was in her place at practically all services of her church, and the influence of her christian character will continue to have a part in shaping the lives of others in the community. Few laymen and laywomen have been more faithful than she.

k-k

The death of Mrs. Coody at Benjamin last week also marked the close of another life of activity in Knox County. The long eventful years she spent in Knox County — 74 of them in all — saw many changes in our activities and mode of living, and we imagine this pioneer mother lived them all with interest. We comparatively newcomers are indebted to these pioneers for their contributions to their respective communities.

The rattlesnakes are coming out, we hear, which is another indication of spring. And we're told there hasn't been such a big crop of the dangerous reptiles in a number of years. Those who like to take to the lakes, tanks and streams — or just to the great big outdoors for picnics, etc. — are warned to be ever watchful for rattlers, which may be almost anywhere soaking up the warm spring sunshine.

k-k

The turnout of voters in our two recent elections, the city election and the school trustee election, shows that people of Munday are still interested in affairs of local government. We remember but a short while back that a vote of around 25 in the city election was not uncommon; yet, a total of 166 votes in the city election last week. That figure was topped in the school trustee election.

k-k

This evidence of revival of interest was shown pretty well over the county in the elections. We can't pin-point the reason, but in our opinion this increased interest is a good omen. Why should a mere handful elect those who carry on the affairs of government for all of us?

k-k

An interesting letter to the "Outdoor Editor" came to our desk Wednesday from the Possum Kingdom Association. Its contents: "C. L. McAfee, Buck Myers, Joe Gray and T. J. Partridge, all of Munday, fished two days out of Auther's Camp and caught 200 crappie."

k-k

That pop-shower Tuesday afternoon also brought a peppering of hail to portions of the county, although the hailstones were too small to cause much damage. Munday received only a shower, but Sunset, Rhineland and Vera reported amounts ranging from a 1/2-inch to an inch.

k-k

George Steinbach was in Wednesday morning and accused Munday people of not paying their preachers. He reported a half-inch in a hard dashing shower. "Just what I wanted," he said. After the dusts Friday and Saturday, a lot of farmers were ready for a shower to give their wheat a boost.

That little taste of politics which Bill Blakely of Dallas got as an interim senator for four months must have appealed to the appetite, since he's announced as an elective candidate for the job.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Frost over the week end were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cockrell, of Hereford and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Russell and daughter, Betty Kay, of Leveland. Guests on Sunday were Mr. Frost's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Frost and daughters of Abilene.

LANDMARK DESTROYED — Flames are shown shooting from the roof of the Lansford Apartments in Munday as this landmark was gutted by fire early Saturday afternoon. Quick and efficient work of the Munday Volunteer Fire Department saved nearby buildings from destruction as the high winds whipped the flames.

Native Of Area Is Pilot Point Mayor

A native son of this area, Clifton Irick, was recently elected mayor of Pilot Point, according to word received here. He defeated J. Winston Peel, mayor for 23 years, by a vote of 220 to 147.

Mr. Irick is a nephew of M. T. Chamberlain of Munday and the late A. D. Irick, also of Munday. Although they have been away from this area some 34 years, his parents were well known among old timers of Knox and Haskell Counties.

Sandra Claburn is recuperating at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Moore of Goree after an illness of diphtheria. She is a senior in Wichita Falls High School but has been home for the past seven weeks due to illness. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Claburn, of Wichita Falls.

Three Hospitalized For Burns As Fire Destroys Apartment House Here Sat.

Fire which was whipped by high winds, and believed caused by defective wiring, gutted one of Munday's landmarks, the Lansford Apartments, early Saturday afternoon. Three women received burns in the fire and were hospitalized.

Most occupants rushed from the building, but its owner, 90-year-old Mrs. Cassie Lansford and her daughter, Miss Nettie Lansford, 63, suffered burns on the face and arms.

The third person, Mrs. Caz (Ma Shuggart) Lansford also received slight burns and was hospitalized for the burns and shock. She was confined to a wheelchair as a result of an injury received last August in an auto accident, and was unable to get herself out of the kitchen of the apartment. Another resident, Johnny Sharum, rushed into the apartment and pulled her chair to safety; however, she received a fall from the wheelchair just outside the building.

The fire alarm was sounded at 1:15 p. m., and firemen were on the scene in a matter of minutes. Quick work of the department prevented the flames from spreading to nearby buildings. A. T. Holcomb and Alvin Roberts arrived from Knox City with another fire truck to assist in combatting the blaze, which was brought under control in about two hours.

Walls of the building were left standing, but the interior of the house was gutted except for one room. Mrs. Lansford, owner of the building and resident of Munday since 1911, said the building was not insured. The occupants also lost most of their belongings.

Members of the Munday Jaycees immediately started a move to secure food and clothing for the victims. Families listed as living in the apartments included Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Graves and two children of Berger, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. J. S. Wardlaw, both long-time residents of Munday; Claude Hooks and son, Claude, Jr., of Berger, Sharum of Berger, Mrs. Lansford and daughter, Nettie Lansford and Mr. and Mrs. Caz Lansford. The Berger people were working on construction of the Brazos River bridge near Rhineland.

Mrs. Caz Lansford operated a photo studio just west of the building until her auto accident disabled her. The studio was charred on the outside wall next to the apartment house, but was not damaged on the inside.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

By this time we hope you have already filed your 1957 income tax return without any errors and sent along your check if you owed any tax. In case you haven't, it's almost certain that you wish you had filed on January 1 instead of April 15. Your tax problems for 1958 are not over, however, if you make over $100 income on which tax has not been withheld.

April 15 is also the deadline for filing an estimated tax on how much money you are going to make this year. Payments on this estimate are due on April 15, June 15, September 15 and January 15, 1959. If you have income outside of a salary on which tax has been withheld, you ought to read the instructions on preparing an estimated tax return.

Contracts For Mexican Laborers Being Restricted

The Wichita Falls office of the Texas Employment Commission has received instructions from the District Office in Fort Worth and the State TEC Office in Austin restricting the issuing of authorizations to contract Mexican National Farm Workers. A directive received reads in part "Increasing unemployment and growing labor surpluses in many areas make it imperative that an intensive effort be made by all offices to utilize citizen workers. In no instances should an authorization to contract Mexican National Workers be issued until it has been determined that qualified citizen workers are not available in Texas who are willing to accept the job or jobs available."

"The directive indicates further that recruitment of workers at local, district, and state levels must be fully utilized under present conditions.

"The Wichita Falls TEC office serves an eight-county area including Knox, Haskell, Throckmorton, and Baylor Counties.

WHERE PROGRESS BEGINS AS A DREAM

Writing in Parade magazine, Robert P. Goldman tells what American medicine is doing to prolong our lives. It's a story of tremendous achievement and potential.

This year, for instance, the girls who are born will live an average of 73 years and the boys 67 years — all-time highs in the history of civilization. And that expectancy is due to steadily increase as time wears on.

Mr. Goldman lists a number of areas in which great gains are being chalked up. As he puts it: "Medicine is closing in on our No. 1 killer, diseases of the heart and blood vessels, which cost the U. S. about 1,000,000 lives a year." The menace of blood pressure has been vastly alleviated, through new drugs and regulated diets. We are making headway against the most stubborn of all killers, cancer — present-day therapy saves one in three cancer patients and high hopes are held for a new discovery which may be the key to prevention of some types of the disease. Notable strides are being made in surgery. According to Mr. Goldman: "Today, surgeons operate with confidence on persons at any age, and postoperative death rates are extremely low, even among the old."

As recently as 30 years ago it was generally believed that the major chronic diseases such as heart trouble were hopeless. Now the picture has changed utterly.

Thus does medicine push back the frontiers, and give us longer, healthier, happier lives. Today there are 39,000 Americans aged 95 or older, and 6,000 who have passed the century mark. To quote Mr. Goldman once again: "It may be a dream to think that those numbers will increase significantly in the next generation or two. But experience has shown that medical progress often begins as a mere dream."

BEAVER FALLS, PA., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "Government financing is puzzling to the average citizen under any circumstances. It is especially difficult trying to figure out how taxes could be cut, more billions spent and the budget balanced all at one time."

According to the Tax Foundation, for every billion dollars cut from the federal budget the average family of four could keep $19 which otherwise would go to Washington.

WHEN COTTON GOES TO MARKET

Cotton must face a tough and comparatively new competitor when it goes to market. That competitor is the synthetic fabrics, such as rayon.

Last year total U. S. consumption and exports of cotton were in the neighborhood of 14 million bales. A healthy cotton economy, in the view of experts, requires a 20 million bale market. The big question is, how can it be developed?

President R. S. Stevenson of the Farm Equipment Institute has an answer, and it can be summarized in one word — mechanization. A new rayon plant, he points out, can turn out synthetic fiber at 27 cents a pound — well under cotton prices. Yet it has been demonstrated that, with modern tractors and other equipment, cotton can be produced at less than the synthetic fiber price. This has been done on certain farms and at experiment stations.

The catch, as Mr. Stevenson fully realizes, lies in the cost of the equipment. And here he quotes something a man said to a tractor dealer: "Not owning a new tractor keeps me so poor I can't afford to buy one." Actually, today it takes fewer bales of cotton to buy the latest three-plow tractor and its mounted plow than it took in 1939 to buy a two-plow tractor and plow. In terms of labor, it now takes about 300 fewer wage days to equal the price of a tractor in the 25-horsepower class than it did in 1940. And the new machines are far more efficient and productive than their predecessors, which in itself is a form of economy.

Mr. Stevenson deals with the economics of the matter in detail. Then he says: ". . . my final suggestion regarding the cotton industry's 20 million bale goal is simply that of using old-fashioned efficiency — in a far greater measure than ever before — to get more from every man-hour, and more from every acre, with a constantly better product."

"To that end, we of the farm equipment industry pledge our continuing full support."

Time says that "Britain's womb-to-tomb National Health Service is in the red again." Individual contributions are due for big increases. It was originally estimated that the plan would cost $490 million a year. Actual cost, in the next fiscal year, will be in the neighborhood of $2 billion.

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Bananas, ever popular for out of hand eating, are equally good for topping cereal, for salads, for desserts and for meat accompaniments. Buy them at the stage of ripeness you find them in the store and use them accordingly. To further ripen, keep them at comfortable room temperature. Bananas should not be kept in a refrigerator except to retard over-ripening when they are already fully ripened (flecked with brown). Only fully ripe bananas should be kept in the refrigerator. The pulp will remain flavorful and suitable for cooking even though the peel darkens. All yellow bananas are firm enough to cook, yet ripe enough to eat or to dice or mash and use in baking. Slightly green-tipped bananas are excellent for cooking. Cooking those only partially ripe makes them readily digestible and bring out a delicious flavor.

To mash bananas for baked goods and beverages, slice them into a bowl. Beat the banana slices with a fork, a rotary egg beater or a mixer until they are smooth and creamy. One average-sized banana makes about 1/3 cup mashed.

For serving raw, prepare bananas as close to serving time as possible. If they are prepared several hours in advance of serving, dip pieces into or sprinkle them with lemon juice, grapefruit juice, orange juice or pineapple juice to prevent darkening.

Baked bananas are a delicious food too seldom served. They make an especially good accompaniment for baked ham or pork chops. For 4 servings, place 4 peeled firm bananas in a well-greased baking dish. Brush them with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle them lightly with salt. Bake in a moderate gas oven (375 deg. F.) 15 to 18 minutes. Serve hot.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Banana Oatmeal Cookies: Sift together 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg and 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon. With a fork or pastry blender, cut in 3/4 cup shortening until mixture resembles very coarse corn meal. Add 1 well beaten egg, 1 cup mashed ripe bananas, 1 1/4 cups rolled oats and 1/2 cup chopped nuts. Mix thoroughly. Drop from teaspoons on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot gas oven (400 deg. F.) 15 minutes. Remove from pan immediately and cool on racks. Makes approximately 3 1/2 dozen.

If a writer means himself, what's wrong with saying "I"? His explanation is that "I" sounds egotistical — so he refers to himself as "we" — and that doesn't sound egotistical; it is egotistical.

Someone has said that the only individual entitled to refer to himself as "we" is a king or a man with a tape-worm.

When I was a reporter on the Fort Worth Morning Star-Telegram, I came in late in the afternoon with a pocket full of notes on news stories to be written but instead of lighting into the typewriter, I "visited" with Bob Randol, a reporter for the afternoon paper.

Whereupon my city editor sauntered back and, in a tone of make-believe nonchalance, he inquired of me, "Boyce, is Robert annoying you?"

Randol, who had only been listening and actually was anxious to finish up his work so he could leave, turned red.

Some months later, the city editor was made state editor — so therefore I was no longer under his authority. One afternoon, he had wandered over to the sports department and was talking to a member of that department who was politely listening but was desirous of getting back to his work. I strolled up and said to the ex-city editor, "Harold, is Mc annoying you?"

The former city editor's face turned fiery red and he walked away. I had achieved my long-cherished revenge.

But wait! Mc, ordinarily, a mild kind of chap, angrily said to me, "Was I annoying him? I hadn't said a word."

So I hastened to explain — and Mc was all right again. In fact, "Is so-and-so annoying you?" became a byword between Mc and me.

Mrs. Ralph Watkins, Renee and Paul, of Wichita Falls and Don Reynolds of NTSC in Denton visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reynolds, over the holidays. Renee and Paul remained for a week's visit with their grandparents.

Mrs. M. D. Sherill of Seymour spent Easter with her daughter, Mrs. Clayton Wren, and family.

Eleventh Century the princes and merchants called in lawyers to improve local rule and set up rules for trade. For this they turned again to the Roman law—the Justinian Code—which thus became the foundation for the legal systems of Europe. With it again came the notion of professional responsibility.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Only those legal systems have survived which have respected people by seeing that they had well-trained men to speak up for them in court. Otherwise law becomes arbitrarily forced upon people in distress who may not know their rights or how to assert them.

Athens had little use for experts of any kind. Aristophanes, for instance, poked fun at people trying to defend their rights in courts. So people in trouble would go to "rhetoricians" or "sophists" to get under-the-table advice on how to win lawsuits. Such "lawyers" had few standards and no way to enforce them.

But in Rome, where the law grew out of religion, the earliest lawyers were priests who, as time went on, found themselves upholding the law, both profane and sacred.

Later, law passed into the hands of wealthy, influential, educated non-priests who, out of duty to the Republic, helped others before the Roman courts. Their motto: "High above all virtues stands the law."

Later, as the Caesars took over, the Greek notions crept back. High-minded men had to take action against shady characters under a code for lawyers covering their preparation for, and admission to the bar, their competency, pay and conduct.

Under the barbarians Roman law gave way to the tribal folkways of the Goths. Everyone (with the help of kinfolk) had to fight his own battles. For example, no one saw crime as a public offense punishable by the state; murder, theft, etc., were personal affronts, and private affairs.

Some of the Roman law lived on in Church courts and in Italy. With growing commerce in the

LIVESTOCK MARKETS SHOW STRENGTH, RUNS LIGHT

FORT WORTH — Farmers took to the fields in large numbers in the Southwest over the weekend, and the livestock numbers were sharply lower at Fort Worth Monday. Apparently similar conditions prevailed in many other parts of the country, since livestock reported around the 12 major markets of the country were down sharply in all species. Twelve markets had some 20-000 fewer cattle and calves than a week earlier, and the offerings were about 14,000 under a year ago. Hogs reported were only 52,700, against 77,200 a week earlier and 64,400 a year ago. The decline in sheep receipts was a little smaller as 12 markets reported 29,100, against 36,600 last week and 34,400 one year ago. All of those figures added up to a strong position for the sellers of livestock, and prices were fully steady to unevenly higher on all kinds.

CATTLE AND CALVES OPEN STRONG, SPOTS HIGHER

Fed beefs were again in very small supply at Fort Worth, and prices were strong to 50 cents higher on grainfeds. Cows were also strong, spots 25 to 50 cents above the low close last week. Bulls were steady. Slaughter calves were strong to 50 cents higher. Stockers were very active at stronger prices, some stocker yearlings scaling 548 pounds getting to $30. Good to low choice fed steers and yearlings drew $25 to $29.50, lower grades sold from $17 to $25. Fat cows drew $17 to $20.50, some cows from the Robertson Ranch in Stephens County at $20.50 for the day's top of the class. Canners and cutters sold from $13 to $17. Bulls were reported at $15 to $20.50.

Good and choice fat calves drew $26 to $28.50, while plain and medium grades sold from $17.50 to $25. Rannies sold from $14 to $17. Stocker steer calves of good grades sold from $25 to $30, and choice kinds were scarce. Good and choice stocker yearlings sold from $25 to $30.

SOVS RISE SHARPLY, HOGS ALSO IN GAINS

The sausage makers scrambled for supplies of sows at Fort Worth Monday, and that section of the market was 50 cents to $1 higher. Sows sold from $18 to $20, except some that sold along with butcher hogs in mixed lots of butchers, which sold exceptionally well because of the short swine supplies. Many lots of extremely mixed weights, quality and finish sold in the $21 to $21.50 bracket, and undoubtedly were sharply higher than last week's close. A few choice hogs sold from $21.75 to $22.

LAMBS FIND STRONG MARKET, SPRINGERS SCARCE

Old crop yearling lambs made up more than three-quarters of the receipts at Fort Worth Monday and Spring lambs were a scant 20% of the run. Trade was active and prices strong from the start. The run again contained sizeable numbers of medium and lower grades, which continued to sell exceptionally well.

Good and choice Spring lambs sold at $23.50 to $24.50 and some cull to medium kinds sold from $18 to $23. Good and choice old crop shorn lambs with No. 1 or Fall shorn pelts cashed at $21 to $21.50, and more recently shorn kinds sold from $20 to $21. A few lots of medium to fair stocker old crops sold from $18 to $19.

Slaughter ewes ranged from $10 to $11. Aged wethers were listed at $15 to $16, and two-year-old muttons at $17 to $18. Aged bucks sold from $9 to $9.50. A few slaughter goats sold from $7 to $7.50.

MEAT PRODUCTION FIGURES REASON FOR STRONG PRICES

Livestock producers are currently getting highly satisfactory prices for their animals due to the sharp curtailment of slaughter and red meat production. The USDA February livestock slaughter report shows commercial meat output for Texas in February was 22% under January, and 19% under a year ago. For the whole United States February red meat production dipped 20% under January and was 11% under a year ago.

TEXAS FARM PRODUCT PRICES ROSE 2 PERCENT

USDA reports for the month ending March 15th Texas' farmers prices were 2% higher. Wheat, cotton, peanuts and grain sorghums got credit for 3% of the rise.

NOTICE

On March 28th, the annual massed piano festival was again sponsored in Vernon by the Musicians Club. We furnished the pianos for this wonderful concert in which 300 pupils, musicians and teachers participated. These pianos used are all quality instruments. There are no "seconds" in the bunch and are recommended by the teachers and musicians here in Vernon.

These pianos are all new but in the process of moving them to the auditorium, some have small marks in the finish. Because of this, and the fact that we do not normally carry this large stock of pianos, they can be purchased at a big saving. In 33 years of continuous service, the Norsworthy Music Center has never offered pianos at such bargain prices and substantial saving to our customers.

These pianos will be old at 25 per cent discount and straight sales only (that is, no trade-ins will be taken). If you have an old piano, we suggest that you dispose of it for whatever you can get, because this discount is far more than you can receive on trade-in value. Act now — when these pianos are gone, this sale closes.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

It has become more and more evident during the past several years that there is a drastic need for a complete reorganization of the Department of Defense. When our country was founded, there was no real problem about the organization of the military. At first we had only a War Department and then shortly thereafter a Department of the Navy. The Navy conducted war at sea, and the Army's mission was land war. This simple arrangement worked fine for 150 years until the advent of the airplane which brought a third dimension to warfare. At first the Air Arm was simply integrated into the two conventional service departments; however, shortly after Pearl Harbor, we realized that the Air Force should be placed on equal footing with the Army and Navy, and World War II taught us that no longer are wars fought by a single branch of the service but can only be effectively carried on through close coordination of the forces on the sea, land, and air. The necessary integration or coordination of the armed services was recognized in 1947 when the Department of Defense was given the task of bringing all the service forces together and unifying them. Again in 1949 and 1953 Congress made efforts to bring about greater unification. The lack of proper coordination was highlighted immediately following the launching of the First Russian sputnik last Fall, and there has been wide discussion of the substantial sums of money that could be saved if certain phases of our procurement were handled on a consolidated or unified basis.

Last Thursday the President sent his plan of further reorganization of the Defense Department to the Congress. There are many good features about it, and its main purpose would be to increase the authority of the Secretary of Defense and the Joint Chiefs of Staff by clothing them with the power to bring about real unification of our Armed Services. Of course, the plan is too involved to discuss in detail here. One phase of it that is apt to draw considerable opposition is that under the President's proposal, all of the funds that were appropriated to the military, which is roughly about two-thirds of what our National Government spends each year, would be appropriated to the Secretary of Defense. This would give to the Secretary unprecedented power over our economy, and many feel that this is entirely too much authority to be vested in one man.

This week we were very pleased to have a group of high school seniors, parents and sponsors from Lewisville visit us in the Capitol. Other visitors from home were Mr. Henry Anderson and Mr. W. Coleman Williams of Wichita Falls.

SUNSET JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL LUNCH MENU

Parents are becoming increasingly aware of the importance of the school lunch program in the development of the growing child. The lunch room operates under the school lunch program as set up by the government's program of assistance which supplies the school with surplus food commodities, thereby enabling them to serve a type-A lunch for only 25 cents.

Second servings are given on all commodity food dishes, and extra milk may be purchased for 2 cents per half-pint carton. A type-A lunch is a complete lunch, sufficient to provide one-third to one-half of the child's daily diet requirements.

A type-A meal includes: 1/2 pint whole milk, 2 ounces of meat or meat substitute which may be one of the following: lean meat, poultry, cheese or fish or one egg or 1/2-cup dried beans or peas or soybeans, or 4 tablespoons of peanut butter; 3-4 cups vegetables or fruit, 1 or more slices of bread or muffins made from whole grain cereal or enriched flour, 2 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine. Below is a copy of the lunch menu for Sunset Junior High School for April 14-18.

Monday: Cheese and macaroni, cabbage and apple slaw, creamed English peas, cornbread, peach cobbler, butter, milk.

Tuesday: Meat loaf, creamed potatoes, lettuce, pineapple and

Warmer Water Necessary For Bass Spawning

Austin — A heavy black bass spawn is expected to begin as soon as the water temperatures reach a temperature of 59 deg. F. and remain there for four or five days, according to the Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission.

Many bass now being snagged by fishermen show ample evidence of their readiness to spawn, he said. Proper water temperature is necessary, however, he pointed out.

"We had a big spawn last year and these yearling bass are now ready to spawn themselves," he said. "In addition we have many large bass in every lake and stream in Texas. Most of them are now 'ripe.'"

Success of the spawn will depend upon water conditions for the next few weeks, he said. If there are no heavy draw-downs on the water level of the lakes, there'll be another terrific bass crop. Because of continued rains and ample moisture, these draw-downs are unlikely, which will leave ideal spawning conditions.

The water at the present time has considerable food for baby fish of all kinds. This has been washed in by recent rains.

White bass runs continue on all the major streams. Crappie fishing also has been picking up in the major impoundments, with the limit reported by many fish-cheese salad, green beans, hot rolls, sugar cookies, butter milk.

Wednesday: Chili beans, spinach, potato salad, fruit jello, frosted chocolate cake, cornbread, butter, milk.

Thursday: Steak and gravy, creamed English peas, cabbage and apple slaw, hot rolls, apricot preserves, butter, milk.

Friday: Tuna fish salad buttered whole potatoes, green beans, hot rolls, pumpkin pie, butter, milk.

ermen throughout the state. Minnows now are getting fairly plentiful for those who prefer minnows over artificial lures.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Tackles The Farm Price Situation Without Reaching A Satisfactory Conclusion

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek takes up the farm price situation this week, but he never does make clear what his ideas are.

Dear editor:

Like a bunch of Congressmen, me and my neighbors have been arguing the pros and cons of the farm price situation lately, which was brought on by President Eisenhower's vetoing a bill Congress passed to keep price supports on farm and dairy products at the same level this year they were last year.

Personally, the problem is too

a while, but my wife and kids don't see it that way. There never was a woman satisfied with being in style five years from now, and very few kids who postponed their education and ever went back to it." He also added that you've got to remember Ike is a farmer who has a job in town.

Personally, the problem is too big for me, and I hereby turn it over to you. Give it some thought and I hope you'll solve it before the month is out.

Yours faithfully,

EXPLAINING AWAY SOME EGG LAW FEARS

Anything new is eyed with suspicion, and often we tend to place blame for our disappointments on something foreign to us either because we don't understand it or because of convenience.

So it is with the new Texas Egg Law. Some misunderstandings and fears have come up on occasion which, although without real basis, are genuine fears and therefore need to be explained.

Reports have reached the Texas Department of Agriculture that certain retailers and buyers have refused to handle eggs from small producers with limited flocks, falsely blaming the Texas Egg Law as their reason for not doing business with the farmer who wants to sell only two or three dozen eggs at a time.

There is no such trade-restricting provision anywhere in the law, nothing whatsoever that interferes with or prohibits this long-standing business relationship between producers and buyers. A retailer, dealer, or other egg handler can purchase any amount of eggs from a producer at any time. A small producer can market his eggs in the same manner as he has always done—either graded or ungraded. If he claims a grade he must comply with the simple provisions of the law.

In other words, eggs do not have to be graded at any level of trade. Ungraded eggs may be sold in the channels of trade but they must be represented as ungraded eggs.

However, it is better for all concerned if producers and handlers do participate in the egg grading program so that high quality eggs will not be sold without the quality being represented by the advertised grade which attests to the value and quality of the eggs.

When a grading system is used, cartons or containers have to be labeled according to actual size and grade of eggs.

Anyone having a question on the egg law and its effect is urged to contact the Texas Department of Agriculture in Austin.

and death on the cross. Isn't that most unreasonable? If Christ is not constantly guiding His Church, preserving it from error, then what did He mean by saying, "I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world."? If there is not an authority on this earth representative of Christ, what did St. Peter mean, writing about the epistles of St. Paul: "In these epistles there are certain things difficult to understand, which the unlearned and the unstable distort, just as they do the rest of the Scriptures, to their own destruction."? Peter 2, 16.

St. Paul wrote, "One Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all..." Ephesians 4:5-6. But that will never be, unless all christendom will admit and submit to the authority of Christ's Church.

Careful Driver Watches Out For Careless Driver

AUSTIN — "The careful driver is always on the lookout for the careless driver." This statement was made, today, by J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, as he urged motorists to cooperate with the defensive driving program of TSA.

This program is part of the Back the Attack on Traffic Accidents campaign designed to cut down the 1958 traffic toll. The spring phase of Back the Attack places emphasis on the responsibility of the driver for his own and others safety.

"Many accidents need never have happened," Musick said, "if the innocent party had foreseen the danger in time and would have known what to do." Musick pointed out that the driver's responsibility goes further than driving safely himself, knowing and obeying traffic laws, keeping his car in good mechanical condition and driving only when he is in good physical condition.

"A driver might do all these things and still be involved in an accident through the unsafe behavior of a pedestrian or another motorist.

"But the defensive driver goes a step further. He is always on the alert to the accident potential of other drivers, stray pedestrians, heavy traffic and weather conditions," Musick said. "And is always expecting the unexpected."
