Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Walking through the six-inch snow was somewhat of a hazardous undertaking on Wednesday of last week, especially if one decided to amble across the city hall lawn.

k-k

Prior to the snow a man with tractor and plow had gone over the lawn and torn it up to resemble a fresh-plowed garden spot. One peculiar thing about a snow is that it covers ground and walks alike, so Wednesday one had to just guess as to where the walks were on that lawn. After the snow had melted some, one mis-step, and you were ankle deep in snow and slushy mud.

Some people allow as how there's no part of a snow that they like, but it's nature's way of presenting us with moisture in cold weather — and winter moisture is something we rarely ever get too much of in West Texas.

The Navy has finally succeeded in getting a satellite into orbit. The Vanguard got up there Monday and is said to be the world's smallest but highest flying satellite, and will likely stay there from five to ten years. It weighed only 3 1/2 pounds, but it is equipped to gather "much of the information needed before manned vehicles could venture into space."

k-k

To the scientists, to the nation, and to other nations this successful launching may mean a heap of things, but to us it means one thing: The Army, the Navy and the Russians can do the same thing — launch a satellite!

k-k

On the city hall lawn is parked a late-model automobile with its left side caved in almost all the way from front to rear bumper. This car, police reported, side-swiped another vehicle some place in Oklahoma. We heard Lawton, and again Altus. According to reports, the driver continued woefully on his way, but was picked up in Munday on DWI charges after narrowly missing a number of cars in a funeral procession. We heard, too, that the driver was given plenty of time to mull over his predicament in the county jail at Benjamin.

k-k

As we reported once before, the office of Mayor of the City of Munday went begging when the deadline passed for filing of candidates, so the tickets were printed with that space left blank, so the voters can choose their own mayor.

k-k

This is a rare, though not unheard-of, instance. It presents this situation: If most of us decide to stay away from the polls and don't vote, or if we just don't want to write in anybody's name, then it's possible for just one person to elect a mayor for our town. We cite this only as a possibility; we don't think it will happen, and we believe that when the votes are counted on election day, Tuesday, April 1, we will have elected a mayor — and a good one.

The death of Dr. Harold G. Cooke, president of McMurry College, in Abilene last Monday brought to a close a life that had touched many lives in the Northwest Texas area. Dr. Cooke devoted the latter years of his life to building McMurry, and this great institution will stand through the years as a memorial to this devoted educator, preacher and lawyer. His was a life of service to his fellowman.

Local Plans For C-C Banquet Are Being Completed

Plans are being completed this week for the annual Munday Chamber of Commerce banquet which will be held on Friday night, March 28, at the school gymnasium.

Tickets to the banquet are now being sold by CC directors and may be purchased from any director or at the Chamber of Commerce office. Between 250 and 300 persons are expected to attend the banquet, including a number of visitors from area towns.

Joe A. Clarke, principal speaker for the banquet, is a native of Albany, where his parents settled in 1877. His father was a pioneer West Texas lawyer.

In 1919, soon after army service during World War I, Clarke entered the banking fraternity in his home town as a junior officer in the Albany National Bank. When that bank consolidated with the First National Bank of Albany, he became cashier, and later vice-president and cashier. He remained in that position until January, 1946, when he moved to Fort Worth to accept a vice-presidency of the Fort Worth National Bank, in which capacity he now serves.

Shackelford County was one of the first in West Texas to be favored by oil exploration, in 1910. It was natural that Clarke, as a country banker, should form an acquaintance with many oil men and be active in organizing the West Central Texas Oil and Gas Association, serving as president in 1940. He also maintains membership affiliations with the Independent Petroleum Association of America and with the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Clarke's love for oil and oil activities has not alienated his affection for the cattle industry. He grew up to know cattlemen intimately and continues to cherish these associations. Currently, he is treasurer of the Texas Beef Council, a group that has for its objective the promotion of greater use of beef.

In May, 1957, Clarke completed a one-year term as president of the Texas Bankers Association. At present he is serving as a member of the executive council of the American Bankers Association.

Federal Land Bank Reduces Interest Rate

At the recent stockholders meeting of The Federal Land Bank of Houston held in Houston, Sterling C. Evans, President of the bank, announced a reduction of 1/2 of 1% in the interest rate charged on new loans.

In addition to lowering the interest rate on new loans to 5% the bank voluntarily reduced the interest charges to Land Bank borrowers whose loans carry an interest rate in excess of 5%. This action of reducing the interest rate on loans already made is virtually unprecedented outside the Land Bank System. It is the second time the Houston bank has been able to reduce the interest on loans in force.

Of special interest to borrowers who already have Land Bank loans was Mr. Evans' further announcement that the bank will now close additional loans. This is a new practice and enables a borrower with a 4% Land Bank loan of $1,000 or more to get an additional loan at 5% on the new money and leave his old 4% loan undisturbed.

The Federal Land Bank makes its loans through national farm loan associations. It has over 200 million dollars of loans in force and obtains funds to make loans through the sale of bonds to the investing public. This reduction in interest rates will mean substantial savings each year to thousands of farm and ranch owners in Texas.

Sue Garrett, 12-year-old eighth grader in the Munday Public Schools, proved the best speller in Knox County last Saturday by defeating three other representatives in the annual spelling bee held here Saturday morning.

Sue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garrett of Munday, will represent the county in the district spelling bee sponsored by the Wichita Falls Times and Record News at Midwestern University April 19.

After 24 rounds, judges declared a false start and began the contest over due to a misunderstanding.

Then, in the seventh round of the new contest, Lynette Fuller, Vera seventh grader, missed "forgotten." Fifteen rounds later, the Benjamin speller, Alvin Alexander, seventh grader, went out on "funeral" and "gavel."

He had been given one free miss by the judges.

That left only Miss Garrett and the Knox City entrant, Sue Shelton, eighth grade daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shelton of Knox City.

After spelling 21 words each correctly, Miss Shelton missed "assault" and "assessed," both of which Miss Garrett spelled correctly. She then spelled "assigned" as an additional word and was declared the champion.

Merick McCaughey, Knox County superintendent, was in charge of the bee. C. C. Brown, principal of Munday Junior High, where the contest was held, assisted.

Rev. Gene Louder, Methodist minister at Vera, was pronouncer, and judges were Mrs. K. E. Wooley, Benjamin; Mrs. Anna Lee Benham, Benjamin; and Mrs. Thena Bowdoin, of Vera.

The winner received a plaque and the second and third place winners received trophies.

Charles Barron of Seymour, president, called the meeting to order and minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, W. B. Owen of Throckmorton. Mr. Barron introduced C. E. Edwards of the Texas Education Agency, then turned the meeting over to E. R. Ponder, vocational ag teacher at Munday.

V. G. Boykin of Jacksboro opened the meeting with prayer, after which Mr. Ponder introduced the guests. First was Supt. W. C. Cox of Munday, who welcomed the teachers and guests. Other guests introduced included:

Joe Canfax, Munday High School principal; T. L. Leach, Texas Tech., Lubbock; J. B. Payne, Area IV supervisor, Stephenville; Kenneth Roberts, Benjamin; Raymond Duvall, Bryson; Lloyd Simpson, Goree; Raymond Puryear, Jacksboro; V. G. Boykin, Jacksboro; L. E. Groves, Knox City; Don Owen, Megargel; Lester Burk, Seymour; Howard Wiley, Woodson. Farmers present were B. E. Smith, Leroy Leflar, Lonnie Offutt and Doris Dickerson. L. H. Shropshire of Agricultural Chemicals, Inc., was also present.

Mr. Ponder led the discussion on irrigation and farming problems of irrigation. He had gathered information from several farmers in the Munday vicinity and compiled the results in summary form. Each part of the report was discussed, and questions asked the farmers and others to round out information on each part of the program.

Everyone reported a very valuable meeting, and Mr. Ponder thanked the farmer for their cooperation and all others who helped with the program.

C. B. Edwards of the Texas Education Agency explained the new plan of the agency to help farmers and teachers with their work. The meeting was adjourned at 6 p. m.

Local Jaycees Installed At Banquet Here

A group of younger businessmen signified their willingness to work on community projects last Thursday night, when members of the Munday Junior Chamber of Commerce held their installation banquet.

Buster Carpenter, Munday Jaycee president, received the charter from Mel Price of Dallas, a national director of the Jaycees.

Some 125 persons attending the banquet at Munday Elementary School heard W. E. Snelson of Midland, state Jaycee president, gave the principal address.

The Munday chapter was organized Jan. 2, and has 20 charter members. It is now one of some 200 chapters in Texas, and 3,500 chapters in the United States.

Carpenter, the new president, is a salesman for West Texas Utilities Co. He came to Munday a year ago from Vernon, where he was in Jaycee work. Mr. and Mrs. Charpenter have two children, Sherry Lynn, 7, and Kathy Deanne, 5.

Other officers installed were Ray D. Ford, vice president; Kenneth Stubblefield, second vice president; Troy B. McKnight, secretary; and L. C. Seacrey, treasurer.

Directors are Don Guffey and Charles Roberts. Ernest Perkins is a state director.

McKnight, who was master of ceremonies, lived in Winters before moving to Munday.

The local Jaycees meet each Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the American Legion Hall.

Snelson, an active Jaycee for over 10 years, told the Munday members they are becoming "a part of a wonderful organization." The state president told the Jaycees "you are accepting a role in the future."

Among out-of-town Jaycees present were Bill Fiveash, president of the Abilene Jaycees, and Bob Deegan, a state vice president of the organization. Eight members of the recently formed Anson Jaycee chapter were present, including Gene Scott, Anson Jaycee president, Lewis Timberlake, president of the Stamford Jaycees, also attended. Other Jaycee delegations came from Haskell, Vernon, Gainesville, Wichita Falls and Seymour.

Musical numbers were given by the Mogul Madkats, six Munday High School students.

A. B. Ruff, Jr., of Wichita Falls, a state Jaycee vice president, introduced guests and installed the Munday officers.

MORE MOUTHS AND FEWER ACRES

The Portland Oregonian points out that "encroachment of nonfarm uses on cropland in recent years is rapidly becoming more serious. In 15 years, 17 million acres, or about 5 per cent of the nation's total farmland, have been converted to other uses."

This is going on, it should be noted, at a time when the population is soaring—last year, for instance, births exceeded deaths by more than 2,680,000. So we have many more mouths to feed—and fewer acres to feed them from.

Several points of significance can be gathered from this development. For one thing, it seems certain that the farm surplus problem will ultimately disappear, entirely aside from what government and other elements do or do not do about it. In time, the productive power of U. S. agriculture may be strained to meet the demand. Luckily for us all, modern mechanized farming has just about limitless productive possibilities.

And production isn't all. The need for conserving our croplands will grow constantly more urgent. We just can't afford to let the topsoil blow away or wash away. Our children and their children's children will need every acre. Here, again, mechanized farming equipment and the other modern aids to scientific agriculture make this big job possible.

The machines brought on the agricultural revolution. That revolution is still in full swing.

PREP SCHOOL FOR COMMUNISM

Spruille Braden, formerly U. S. Ambassador to several Latin American countries and later Assistant Secretary of State, observes: "Let us face it, socialism is nothing more than a prep school for communism." This was said in a speech in which he vigorously opposed giving U. S. aid to such countries as India and Yugoslavia.

It would seem that the cost of helping our friends is heavy enough, without spending huge sums on nations which have close ties with Moscow, our ideological enemies, and whose sole interest in this country is signified by the dollar sign.

A Trendex News Poll asked what age a U. S. President should be when first inaugurated. Three out of four people queried said 50 or under. Only two per cent said over 55.

WHERE RESOLUTION IS NEEDED

New York City, like many another American community, has been bedeviled with juvenile delinquency in the schools. In New York's case, major crimes of violence, directed against both students and teachers, have occurred in and out of the school buildings.

New York's school board was forebearing as long as possible. But finally the crisis became acute and 644 of the worst delinquents were summarily suspended. This move, to most minds, would seem inevitable and proper—if there is any place where a criminal element must be weeded out, it is in the schools. Yet, National Review reports, a number of well-known organizations connected with education protested in extremely strong terms.

National Review offers the hope that the suspended students "will be rehabilitated, and reintegrated in their classrooms." It then adds, "And let us meanwhile hope that the ideologues will not succeed in undermining the resolution of the board to banish razor blades, obscenities, rape and thuggery from the curriculum of the New York school system." Such resolution is needed in every community where the delinquency problem exists. We have tried pampering and excusing delinquents, and all that has done is to make matters worse. A youthful criminal is still a criminal—and action must be taken in the light of that fact.

PLAIN HORSE SENSE

"All in all, this year will likely be one of continuing world tensions. A quarreling Congress with charges and countercharges for political strategy will probably create an area of imbalance and uncertainty"

"There is ample capital in America and ample know-how to meet whatever confronts us, provided people get over their 'jitters.' They always have in the past even when confronted by world wars big and little, and it is the writer's considered opinion such will be the case again in 1958."—E. C. Sammons, President U. S. National Bank of Portland, Oregon

Taxpayer's Dollar anticipates that the 1959 federal budget will come to $72.5 billion, with defense spending accounting for $39.40 billion of that. Other forecasters look for a budget of as much as $74 billion.

MODERN HOMEMAKING

Recipes . . . Household Helps

By Julia Hunter

HOME ECONOMICS DIRECTOR, LONE STAR GAS CO.

Cook them first or eat them right from the package, either way prunes are a valuable food. Allowed to ripen completely when they fall to softly cushioned ground specially prepared to prevent bruising, this time-honored member of the dried fruit family, is rich in important nutrients. Sun sweetened, prunes are high in natural fruit sugars which makes them a good quick energy food. Evenso, they provide relatively few calories. Four dried prunes, about 100 calories.

Dried prunes are graded according to size and packages are so labeled. This grading indicates the number of prunes per pound: 20/30's; 30/40's; 40/50's; 50/60's; 60/70's; — various sizes for various uses. While the largest size may make the most attractive salads, the smallest size will serve just as well for cooked dishes and may be at lower price.

There are five basic methods of preparing dried prunes. For the "just cook" method, place prunes in a saucepan, cover with cold water, bring to boil over full gas flame, reduce flame to simmer and continue cooking 25 to 30 minutes.

For the "soak and cook" method, for prunes with a thicker skin, soak the prunes 3 to 4 hours in water to cover. Bring them to a boil, in the water in which they soaked, over a full gas flame, reduce the flame to simmer and continue cooking 3 to 5 minutes.

To plump prunes to be used in baking or cooking, use the "cold water" method. Cover with twice as much water as prunes, cover the container and let them soak for 24 hours.

If juice from the prunes is needed or for prunes to serve in their own juice, use the "boiling water" method. Cover with twice as much boiling water as prunes, cover the container and let them soak for 24 hours.

Prunes may be plumped by the "steaming" method. Place prunes in a colander set over a pan of boiling water for 30 minutes or more.

For added flavor, in any of the above methods, add lemon or orange slices, whole cloves or stick cinnamon to the water.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Spiced Prune Drops: Cream together ½ cup butter or margarine and 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed. Add 1 egg, mix well. Add to creamed mixture with 1 cup chopped pitted uncooked prunes and ½ cup chopped nuts. Mix well. Add ¾ cup milk and mix well. Chill in gas refrigerator 1 hour. Drop by teaspoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot gas oven (400 deg. F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from baking sheet and cool on racks. Makes approximately 4 dozen.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry M. D., State Health Officer

In an East Texas jail male prisoners are segregated from females by a filmy screen of canvass. A South Texas jail's sanitation facilities consist of a wash tub and a garden hose.

Do counties have a moral responsibility toward prisoners confined in county jails? Texas law says they do.

A majority of county jails in this state have 19th Century plumbing, and an always-acute danger of raw sewage syphoning into water lines. In at least one notable instance running water was introduced for the first time last year.

A major county operates a jail built in 1875. Cell areas in many jails have never seen daylight. In one jail do not confine a prisoner calls for padlock and chain.

A heated jail is a rarity in Texas. Those that are, usually use unvented space heaters, with the real risk of carbon monoxide. Vermin and rats are natural tenants in jails, and one county sheriff frankly admits he would prefer a beating to the prospect of spending a night in his own jail.

These conditions and others have come to light since last year — after the State Legislature passed a law requiring commissioners courts to provide basic health and sanitation facilities in county jails. Supervision was placed within the State Health Department, although the Department didn't ask for the assignment.

Enforcing the law will be difficult. Most people have an understandable aversion to anything that smacks of prisoner-coddling. But this point is often overlooked: Whatever is good or whatever is bad about jails will be reflected in the attitude of prisoners toward society.

Professional penologists have long known this to be true, but the public still must be convinced.

After several months of inspecting and cataloguing jail conditions, the Department has found that sheriffs generally think the intent of the law is sound, although they differ on some of its terms. Some sheriffs and county judges question the need for drinking fountains. Others can't see the need for proper lighting and ventilation. Still others are frankly relieved that persons suspected of insanity may no longer be housed in county jails. The law gives counties four years to comply with its terms, although there is no penalty for non-compliance. Obviously the State Health Department faces a massive selling job in getting counties to buy the saw with all its ramifications.

A man who was promoting a project in the name of building up a town persuaded friends to invest. Several years went by and there were no dividends. He went around to the friends and told them that he felt an obligation because they had put in their money in response to his urging and he offered to buy their stock for half price. After doing so, he immediately resold at the full price to a big corporation which was taking over the enterprise.

He was a wealthy man — in money, but not in friends.

That was along time ago. The sharper and his victims are dead. But I came across the story in an envelop of clippings in the city's library.

"The evil that men do lives after them" — or at least the memory of the evil lives.

Ty Cobb, whom many consider the greatest baseball player of all time, was playing his first pro game and, with a man on base, the manager told him to sacrifice. The pitch was so to his liking that he took a full swing and knocked the ball over the fence. When he triumphantly returned to the bench expecting to be praised for making a home run, he was fined $5 for disobeying instructions.

Many great writers have had pen names.

Samuel Clemens used "Mark Twain"; Mary Evans wrote as "George Eliot"; William Sidney Porter as "O. Henry"; and when I wrote sports in the West Texas Oil Belt, I used "Whoofus Whiffletree."

Yes, the "column" was headed "Whoofus Whiffletree's Wozy Wanderings."

Magazines come and magazines go — but that old-time standby of the barbershops, the Police Gazette, goes on forever.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McAfee, Phillip McAfee and Miss Wanda Guinn attended the wedding of Miss Mary Ellen Lain and Walter K. Warren in Fort Worth last Saturday night.

Texas Day Observed By Munday Study Club

Texas Day was observed on Thursday, March 13, by members of the Munday Study Club and their guests in a meeting held in the First Methodist Church parlor.

Mrs. J. S. Shannon, director of the program, read the quotation, "Be proud of your heritage, but don't be afraid to take from others what might be useful."

The new Texas flag and the United States flag, recently purchased by the club, were on display. Mrs. R. M. Almanrode led the club in the salute to the Texas flag. The entire group sang "Texas, Our Texas," led by Mrs. W. G. Rathiff, with Mrs. Grady Allison at the piano.

Mrs. Shannon introduced the speaker, Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe, who brought an interesting and informative talk on how a bill becomes a law in the Texas Legislature. At the close of his talk, the audience was given an opportunity to ask questions on bills that are now being discussed before the legislature.

Mrs. J. H. Bardwell presented the Melody Trio in several numbers. The trio is composed of Joan Cude, Karen Johnson and Shirley Booe.

Coffee and cookies were served to approximately 40 guests. Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Don Combs, Helen McClure and O. O. Putnam.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cude were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon King and daughter Patricia, of Abilene and Bob Cude of Tarleton State College in Stephenville.

CLEARING UP A FEW POINTS IN THE EGG LAW

The Texas Egg Law has been in effect since February 17th, and already the Texas Department of Agriculture is being flooded with questions concerning its various points.

Greatest concern seems to be whether ungraded eggs can now be sold in the state. Yes! Ungraded eggs can still be sold, but they must be clearly marked "Ungraded" on the package or carton.

Just because eggs have not been graded, it does not mean that the eggs are of poor quality. On the contrary, a display of ungraded eggs may contain a mixture of all egg grades. However, the eggs must be of edible quality or they cannot be offered for sale.

Another point causing some confusion is the fact that certain descriptive terms cannot be printed on egg cartons or used in advertising.

Any eggs below the quality of Grade A must not be labeled as "fresh", "selected", "henery", "newlaid", "infertile", "cage", or other words of similar import. These terms are confusing and sometimes mislead the consumer on eggs of lower quality. Unless some bans were placed on descriptive phrases for eggs under Grade A, then "fancy phrases" might be used to camouflage the true condition or quality of the product.

And finally, retail egg sellers do not have to renew their license from the Texas Department of Agriculture each year. The retailer's license is good indefinitely until it is recalled, canceled or revoked.

For other segments of the industry however, licenses run only from Sept. 1 through Aug. 31 of the following year. Those required to have a license include: dealers, wholesalers, processors and brokers.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Tuggle were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ovebery in Aspermont last Thursday night where they attended a surprise dinner given by the National Tool Supply men and their wives honoring Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Bradford, who have been employed with them, and are leaving to make their home in Austin.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

LAWYER CAN'T REPRESENT 'CONFLICTING INTERESTS'

Marvin Bishop had been in an automobile accident and felt that he should be able to recover damages from the driver of the other car. He went to see Lawyer Smith, and, in the course of telling Smith his story, it developed that the driver of the other car was insured by a company represented by Smith.

As soon as Smith learned this fact, he stopped Marvin from telling him any more about the case and explained that he could not represent him. Smith pointed out that the "conflicting interest" resulting from his representation of the insurance company prevented him from representing Marvin. He said he owed it to Marvin not to hear anything from him which he might use against him if the matter were taken to court.

THE SITUATION outlined above illustrates one of the basic principles in the ethics of a lawyer, namely, that he cannot represent "conflicting interests." Basically, this is but the lawyer's way of phrasing the old axiom that a man cannot serve two masters. A lawyer's duty is to give his full and complete efforts to his client and he cannot do that if there is a conflict between the interests of two of them. The reasoning behind this rule is that a lawyer should not appear in court representing both sides of a controversy.

If both Marvin and the insurance company are regular clients of Smith, then it is Smith's duty to refuse to represent either one of them in case of altercation between the two.

If attorney Smith is one of a group of lawyers practicing together as a partnership, then he must be careful not only of avoiding a conflict of interest between the clients he is personally serving, but between his clients and other clients of the partnership as well.

As far as Smith is concerned in determining whether there is a conflict of interest, any client of his partners is his client and vice versa.

There are, of course, cases where a lawyer may represent more than one of the parties to the same transaction without violating the rule of professional conduct against serving interests which conflict. Such a situation might develop where two old clients of the same lawyer were purchasing and selling a piece of property. If both clients so desired and understood, the lawyer might, with complete propriety, look after the interests of both in such a transaction.

Generally, however, the lawyer will be very careful to scrutinize such situations. Therefore, if a lawyer should tell you that he cannot represent you because he already represents "conflicting interests," remember that he is only seeking to protect you interests.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. King, Mr. and Mrs. Bill King and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. King and daughters attended the wedding of their niece Miss Mary Ellen Lain, and Walter K. Warren in Fort Worth last Saturday night.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

The program which provides for the small upstream flood control projects which have worked so well in our area in controlling erosion and in trapping flood waters as near as possible where they fall will receive impetus on account of the release of additional funds for use in this program. One of our really basic needs is the continual improvement of our water and soil conservation methods and programs. These upstream flood control projects have demonstrated that they are one of the most desirable types of program.

Most people are coming around to the belief that there is a real need for tax revision during this session of Congress. As we have pointed out heretofore, our present tax rates are excessive, and in many areas are working a real hardship on both individuals and business. In addition to income tax rates, there are also a number of wartime excise taxes which are still on the books and should be either abolished or substantially revised downward. The repeal or reduction of many of these taxes would not necessarily mean any great reduction in tax revenues. It has been demonstrated on numerous occasions in the past that when taxes are reduced, the increased consumer purchases and business activity that is stimulated actually results in increased tax revenues.

This week the House passed a bill which would require the Federal Government to convey surplus lands that it owns around several reservoirs of Texas to the original owners. This is good legislation in that it gets back into private hands real estate for which the Federal Government has no use and is of particular interest to residents of Denton County because it will eventually mean that several thousand acres of land around Garza-Little Elm Reservoir will be returned to private owners.

The Committee on Ways and Means continues to hold its public hearings on the extension of the Trade Agreements Act which includes the highly important oil imports question. These hearings will probably end around March 26th. Shortly after that, the Committee will go into Executive Session to write a bill. In the meantime, there continue to be rumors that the Administration will possibly act under its present authority to regulate imports. If the oil and gas industry is to survive in the way that we have known it, there must be some effective regulation of imports.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Willing To Test New Theory On Ending The Recession By Spending More Money

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek won't get anywhere with his idea this week, but he's been farming for years and hasn't gotten anywhere with that either.

Dear editor:
Generally I'm so busy worrying over whether my own finances are in good or bad shape I don't have time to find out whether the rest of the country is prosperous or depressed. I learned long ago a man could be over-drawn at the bank even at the very peak of the biggest prosperity boom in the history of the nation, but when everybody keeps hammering away at the idea that a recession has indeed turned up, at least in lots of places over the country, I'm not one to argue about it. Recessions don't scare me, I've had 'em for years.

However what interests me is the solutions being offered to cure the thing, all the way from raising the price of postage stamps and lowering the price of farm products to cutting the income tax rate, although the best one I've read so far came from a top expert in Washington.

According to him, "What the economy needs at this time is primarily more spending by individuals and business."

That's more to my taste. This old idea that you whip hard times by pulling in your belt never did appeal to me, it's like arguing you ought to walk until you can pay cash for a car, it's an attack on the down-payment credit system, and without borrowed money most people would never drive a car and most nations would never launch a satellite.

lite. This may not make sense to some people, but you've got to remember some people don't make sense to me.

But back to the idea that the way to whip the recession is for you and me to spend more. I was discussing this with a neighbor and he said it won't work, the reason we're in the shape we're in now, if we are in such a shape, which I'm not sure of, is because people have been spending more than they make.

I'm not saying he's right or wrong, I'm as capable of a politician's viewpoint as the next man, but the world never makes any progress without experimenting, and I'd like for you to get in touch with Washington and inform the experts I'm willing to give this new idea a trial. I'm not afraid of the pioneering instinct.

If Washington will send me the money, I'll roll up my sleeves and test this theory out. I'll do my part, I'll guarantee to spend every nickel they send me, but I want it understood that an economic experiment of this magnitude takes time and Washington needn't be expecting to get complete results in a few short weeks. You don't wipe out a recession a thousand miles from my farm with one spending spree, you've got to chip away at it steadily, month after month. If Washington will start the checks, I'll prop up my mail box out here and get ready to go into action. I won't guarantee it'll work, but here's one job I won't loaf on.

OCEAN TO OCEAN ACROSS SOUTH AMERICA—AND BACK—IN 41 HOURS!
CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world — the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began — across the blazing Argentine pampas, into the ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2½ miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of grades up to 30 percent. Then a plunge to the Pacific at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes — and the engine was never turned off!

INCREASED LIVESTOCK SUPPLY FINDS VERY STRONG DEMAND

FORT WORTH — Stocker demand remained very broad and prices were stronger again, despite a 20% increase in the cattle and calf offering at Fort Worth Monday. Slaughter interests were again faced by a very tight supply situation, and were forced to yield stronger prices on their portion of the supply. Anything suitable to go back to pasture was priced beyond the reach of slaughter interests. The somewhat more open weather of the past weekend enabled stockmen to expand shipments to market.

Comparative prices: Mature steers were virtually lacking in the run. Good and choice slaughter yearlings cashed at $25 to $28, and medium and lower grades cashed at $16 to $24.

Fat cows cashed at $18 to $20.50, and canners and cutters sold from $12 to $18. Bulls brought $15 to $21.75.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $24 to $28, and common and medium offerings cleared at $17.50 to $24. Culls sold at $14 to $17. Good stocker steer calves and lightweight stocker yearlings sold from $23 to $28.25, some around 550-pound yearlings at $28.25. Heifer calves of good grades sold around $24 to $26. Some good to choice 350-pound calves sold at $29.

HOGS HIGHER DESPITE BIGGER NUMBERS IN NORTHERN POINTS

The trade on hogs at Fort Worth Monday saw some of the most determined sorting for meat type hogs that has so far developed here. Both major and the smaller packers were bearing down on lard types and willing to pay premiums for the meat type hogs, and a wide spread developed in prices. The 12 major markets had 10,000 more hogs Monday than a week earlier.

The day's extreme top was paid for only a dozen head of fancy No. 1 meat hogs, and the bulk of the better meat types falling in No. 1 or No. 2 classifications sold at $22 to $22.25. Other good butchers of mixed grades and weights sold from $20 to $21.50. Stags sold from $19 down. Packing sows sold from $18 to $20.

LARGEST OFFERING OF YEAR ARRIVED IN SHEEP DIVISION

There were about 7,000 sheep and lambs in the run at Fort Worth Monday as clearing weather last week permitted some expanded movement to market. A larger portion of the run was new crop milk fat lambs, and prices were firm on them. Old crop lambs and yearlings encountered some weakness and were much less active in clearing than were the new crop lambs. Old sheep were scarce and fully steady. Feeder outlets followed the slaughter interests in putting some pressure on old crop feeders.

Good and choice slaughter Spring lambs cashed at $23.50 to $24.50 and cull to medium softs sold from $17 to $23. Good and choice shorn old crop lambs ranged from $20 to $23, with most sales from $21.50 down. Lambs at $21.50 and $23 carried No. 1 or better pelts, while recently shorn lambs stopped around $20 or $20.50 at best. Medium and good feeder lambs sold around $20 to $21.

Some excessively heavy yearlings and two's sold around $15 to $16, and lighter weight yearlings drew $18 to $19. Old wethers cashed at $16 down. Slaughter ewes sold from $9 to $11. Some aged broken mouthed ewes sold for stocker purposes up to $12.

SOUTH DAKOTAN NAMED ASSISTANT MANAGER

The engineer who played a key role in rebuilding the Sioux City Stockyards after it was flattened by flood, and who played a major role in rebuilding the St. Paul Stockyards following the disastrous fire there, will be a new assistant manager at Fort Worth starting May 1.

John M. Lewis, currently president and general manager at the Sioux Falls Stockyards has been assigned to Fort Worth, according to General Manager W. L. Pier.

The third annual Cage Clinic for egg producers will be held on March 26 in the Memorial Student Center at Texas A & M College. The program will begin at 8:50 a. m. and will adjourn by 5 p. m. All persons interested in cage egg production have a special invitation to attend. Last year's attendance exceeded 600 persons, says Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman.
