WEAK ALIBI

No one in his right mind would minimize the importance and the awesome implications of the "cold war." Its long shadow is cast across the entire world. But, it is clear that the "cold war" has been used as a handy alibi by the big spenders in and out of the government.

As Taxpayer's Dollar puts it, "It has been customary, though not accurate, for supporters of increased federal spending to lay the chief blame at the door of the 'cold war.' It has even been said that the size of this country's budget is dictated from Moscow." The figures, however, tell a very different sort of story. In the period since the Korean conflict, military and other national security spending has held to relatively constant levels. In other words, percentage variations in these appropriations from year to year have been comparatively small.

On the other hand, in the same period, appropriations for non-defense spending have increased nearly 50 per cent — from $22.5 billion in 1955 to an estimated $32.4 billion for 1959. Thus, the increases in non-defense spending are largely responsible for an anticipated deficit of more than $12 billion during this fiscal year.

Frills and extravagances, not defense, have brought on the appalling present budget situation, for which our own lawmakers have no good alibi.

SLAVES HAD "SECURITY"

The following editorial is reprinted from the New Plymouth, Idaho, Valley Sentinel:

"We used to put a pretty high price on freedom in this country. As the settlers headed west for the privations and hardships of months of arduous, dusty travel, all they asked of government was to keep foreigners out of their hair while they fought off the Indians, starvation and any other obstacle to their freedom to make and build a life in a new land.

"Today we seem to be willing to piddle away this freedom for 'security', security from hunger, want and hardship guaranteed by government.

"We forget that the plantation slaves of the south had all these things we prize so highly today as long as they had kind, benevolent masters. The only price they paid for it was their freedom.

"We, too, can have complete security at the same price but who can guarantee that our masters will always be kind and benevolent?"

A WORTHWHILE RESOLUTION

This resolution was passed at the recent national convention of The American Legion:

WHEREAS, The American Legion has long been vociferous and militant foe of international communism, and has fought continuously to alert the American people to the dangers inherent in this godless and atheistic philosophy, and

WHEREAS, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, under the leadership of its Director, J. Edgar Hoover, has been in the forefront of the fight to prevent this foreign ideology from taking root in the American way of life, and Mr. Hoover has continuously warned the American people as to the dangers of apathy in this fight; now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, that The American Legion . . . commend J. Edgar Hoover for his great service to the American people in writing "Masters of Deceit" which simply and succinctly exposed the fallacies of communism and will go far toward alerting the American people to its inherent dangers, dubious manipulations and lulling tactics; be it further

RESOLVED, that all Legionnaires and all American Legion Posts, Districts and Departments are urged to encourage the widest possible distribution of "Masters of Deceit" and to see that copies are available in all school and public libraries; be it further RESOLVED, that we also commend J. Edgar Hoover for his forthright stand against the spread of juvenile delinquency.

POCOMOKE CITY, MD. WORCESTER DEMOCRAT: "Pay for the government's 2.3 million civilian employees last year was $11 billion . . . That's a lot of employees, and a lot of government, and an awful lot of taxes. Maybe we should tell our vote-hunting congressmen it is too much of all three."

GREAT FALLS, MONTANA, LEADER: "The fuel used to hurl the biggest of these new-fangled satellites up there in space is kerosene. Of course it's mixed up with liquid oxygen to make it burn faster, but that kerosene is an old friend for a lot of fellows . . .

"A lot of them will never forget the funny taste when they got dosed with old-fashioned 'cold remedies' like kerosene and sugar and kerosene mixed with goose grease. Wow! That stuff was powerful. Science is just finding out?"

CRISIS IN THE TEXAS POULTRY INDUSTRY

In these days of high production costs, you don't need a crystal ball to know that a grower who has to sell his poultry at 15c a pound isn't making any profit.

Neither is the buyer or processor who buys these birds and then must compete with lower priced poultry from other states on the dressed market. So the Texas poultry industry is faced with that old agricultural bug-a-boo — overproduction in the South, coupled with a decreased demand for poultry.

Just a few years ago, Texas growers were receiving as much as 34 to 36c a pound for live poultry. Our production capacity was not equal to our state and competition from other broiler growing areas was not a serious market factor.

More recently — and particularly in the past year — Georgia, Arkansas and Mississippi have increased their production by leaps and bounds. Our own has also increased but not to the same extent. The competition for out-of-state markets is now a deadly serious matter.

At one time, Texas poultry men could expect to receive 1 to 2 cents more for their birds on the market than farmers in Georgia and Arkansas. Our local markets were nearby and convenient. We could also ship dressed birds to California because we were closer, giving us the advantage of cheaper transportation costs.

But today, if our market price for poultry is even 1 cent higher for three or four days, we find that other broiler states will ship their birds to western markets at a lower competitive price —

Beverly Lena James And Palmer Brooks Campsey Marry In Knox City Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony in the Knox City Baptist Church, Beverly Lena James and Palmer Brooks Campsey exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. James. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Campsey of Munday.

The Rev. R. L. Dodson, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony. White tapers, white gladioli, gold mums and white and gold pompon mums created a white and gold setting.

Traditional music was presented by Mrs. J. M. Bradberry, organist, and Mrs. Kenneth Myers, pianist. They were accompanists for Milton Redeker, soloist, Abilene.

Attendants to the bride were Mrs. Tommy Abe Watson, matron of honor; Kay Dean Hester, maid of honor, and Pat Compton and Glenda Givens, bridesmaids.

Roma Sue Egenbacher was flower girl. Billy Ray Henson of Texas Tech and Munday served as best man.

The bridegroom's attendants were Claud Hill of Texas Tech in Lubbock, Leon Johnson of Munday, Lonnie Traylor of Stephen F. Austin, Nacadoches, cousin of the bride and Jack Reese, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, from Abilene.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace fashioned with sabrina neckline and long sleeves.

The bouffant skirt fell from a slightly elongated waistline. Bands of satin ribbon were stitched in tiers across the front and back ruffles cascaded into a chapel train.

A lace cap studded with seed pearls and iridescents held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis and lilies of the valley atop a white Bible.

Bridal attendants' dresses were of bronze nylon chiffon and velvet. Velvet bodices of the bouffant gowns were made with scooped necklines and wide pleated cummerbunds of chiffon. Seed pearls outlined the brown velvet leaves of which their hats were fashioned. Their bouquets were of white pompon mums and carnations.

At a reception in the Woman's Club, Mrs. Kelton Tidwell, sister of the bridegroom, registered guests. Music was by Mrs. Wyman Tidwell. Others who assisted in the houseparty included Mrs. Don Poe of Aspermont, Mrs. Jack Reese of Abilene, and Mrs. Robert Traylor, the bride's aunt, from Selman City.

For travel to Ruidoso, N. M., the bride changed to a mink-trimmed suit of sky blue wool. Her accessories were black.

A May graduate of the Knox City High School, Mrs. Campsey is employed in the Citizens State Bank of Knox City.

Campsey, a graduate of Munday High School, attended Texas Technological College two years. The couple will live in Knox City.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at Roddy's Cafe.

Munday Woman Celebrates 90th Birthday Sunday

Mrs. W. W. Wilson celebrated her 90th birthday Sunday, November 2, in her home with children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren meeting there to help her celebrate.

Mrs. Wilson was born November 1, 1868, in Jamestown, Tenn., and came to Texas in 1888 and settled in Wise county near Rome. She was married to the late W. W. Wilson in 1890 in Rome. They moved to Knox County in 1920 and has lived in this vicinity since that time. The Reverend W. W. Wilson died in 1943 and Mrs. Wilson has lived here alone from that time.

Her children present for the occasion were L. A. Wilson and wife of Denton, O. V. Wilson and wife of Denver, Colo., C. T. Wilson and wife of Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Wilson of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Runnels of Lubbock, a son-in-law, J. J. West of Lubbock.

Grandchildren present were Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Wilson of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Wilson of Portales, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. Troy Moore of Munday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pruitt of Goree, Leon West, Monita Plasinge, Jerry Runnels, Mrs. Peggy Crane and husband all of Lubbock and eight great grandchildren. Also present was a nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ab Wilson, and a niece, Katie Kagle, all of Newark.

EDWARD MELTONS ARE PARENTS OF A SON

November 3rd can now be placed on the calendar as one of the most important dates in history, according to Edward and Penny, especially Edward, as that is the date of the arrival of their son. They are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Melton and they are proudly announcing the arrival of Edward Wayne Melton. He made his appearance at 11:25 p. m. at the Knox County Hospital Monday, November 3, 1958, and he weighed 5 pounds and 13 ounces. This is the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Melton, and they are beaming with pride, along with the parents. The other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Parks and of course they are proud of the little one, too.

DENNIS MORGAN ARE PARENTS OF A BOY

Did you get your cigar? The occasion — a boy, the date — Wednesday, November 5, 1958 — the time — 1 a. m. The very happy parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Morgan and to date they cannot decide on a name for a boy. Dana Denise, the name they had picked out for a girl, would be very out of place for that 7 pound 1 ounce boy who made his arrival at the Knox County Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Boggs and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morgan. This is the first grandchild for the Morgans and rumors have it that Grandpa has a few cigars on hand to give away. This is also the first grandson for the A. C. Boggs and they are just recuperating from their little granddaughter who made her arrival four weeks ago to the day.

Social Security Benefit Checks Will Be Higher

The new amendments to the social security law will bring higher benefit checks, beginning in February 1959, to the 12 million men, women, and children now receiving monthly old-age, survivors', and disability benefits.

The average increase for retired workers now receiving social security old-age insurance benefits will be about 7 percent.

Payments to retired workers aged 65 or over now range from $30 to $108.50. Under the new amendments, the minimum retirement payment for those now on the benefit rolls will be $33, and the maximum $116. The maximum for a retired worker and his wife would be increased from $162.80 to $174.

Payments to those receiving benefits as dependents and survivors will also be increased by amounts up to 7 percent, effective with the checks delivered in February. However, where several members of one family are receiving payments, each person may not get a full 7 percent increase. The maximum payment to a family, formerly $200, will now be $254.

No License Rated As Big Offense Of Texas Fishermen

Fishing without a license dominates game and fish violations even in the middle of the hunting season, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. September arrest report showed 104 tagless fishermen, compared with only 19 arrests for hunting without a license.

Hunting violations continue to rise, however, the director said. There were 182 counts of illegal hunting methods and other game law violations during the month. This figure includes 21 arrests for hunting in closed season, 20 for killing quail out of season, 19 for trespassing, 17 for hunting at night, 17 for exceeding dove bag limits, and 15 for using unplugged gun.

Of a total of 357 arrests, 3 cases were appealed to a higher court, while 10 served time in jail. Convictions cost violators $1.35 in fines.

"The director reminds hunters who are not sure of the laws that they may get copies of game and fish regulations from game wardens, license dealers, or by writing to the Game and Fish Commission in Austin.

Small grain producers lost an estimated $15,471,000 due to plant diseases in 1958. Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, said rusts accounted for most of the losses but that blights and smuts also were of considerable importance. A combination of seed treatment and crop rotation can reduce these losses and small grain varieties with resistance to the diseases should be planted in areas where adaptable.

LIGHT SUPPLIES BRING FIRM LIVESTOCK PRICES

Fort Worth — Movement of all classes of livestock around the major marketing circle was light on the opening session this week and generally firm prices resulted. At Fort Worth there was a reduction in salable cattle and calves and a small increase in sheep. Swine numbers followed the national pattern.

Cattle and calves ruled mostly steady at Fort Worth Monday. Fat cows were again rather slow and bulls were steady to weak, but price changes were so narrow that the tone of the trade was about the only concrete evidence of any change. Stockers were active at firm prices with numerous farmer and rancher buyers in the alleys setting a fast pace. Packer calves and fed cattle moved at firm rates.

Good to choice yearlings and heifers sold from $24 to $27 and some good grade steers sold from $25 downward. Common to medium steers and yearlings cashed at $17 to $23. Fat cows drew $18 to $20 and canners and cutters sold from $12 to $18. Bulls returned $18 to $23.

Good to choice slaughter calves bulked at $24 to $26.50, a few odd head to $27. Medium and plain butchers sold from $18 to $23 and cull sorts sold from $15 to $18. Stocker steer calves of good and choice grades cashed at $27 to $33, some Angus calves weighing 455 pounds at $33 and numerous sales of steer calves were reported from $30 to $31.50. Heifer calves sold mainly from $28 downward. Stocker steer yearlings ranged from $22 to $27 and a few stocker cows cashed at $18 to $20, and were medium or plain kinds.

HOGS RECOVER LAST WEEK'S LATE LOSSES

Hogs were unevenly 25 to 75 cents higher at Fort Worth Monday, mostly 50 cents higher. Sows were steady to 25 cents higher. Choice hogs ranged from $19 to $19.50 in most sales, with medium and good butchers from $17.50 to $18.50. Some heavies scaling over 280 pounds sold at the top of $19.50 and reflected the full advance. Sows were reported from $17 to $17.75.

WOOLED LAMBS TOP AT $22.50 IN FIRM TRADE

Sheep and lambs were steady at Fort Worth Monday. Good to choice slaughter lambs sold from $21 to $22.50, the higher figure on some 98-pound woolled lambs and some lambs with No. 2 pelts sold at $22. Stocker and feeder lambs in the wool sold from $20 to $21, and shorn feeders ranged from $20 downward.

Slaughter ewes sold from $7 to $8, and slaughter goats sold at $8. Slaughter aged bucks sold for $7. Yearlings and older wethers were scarce.

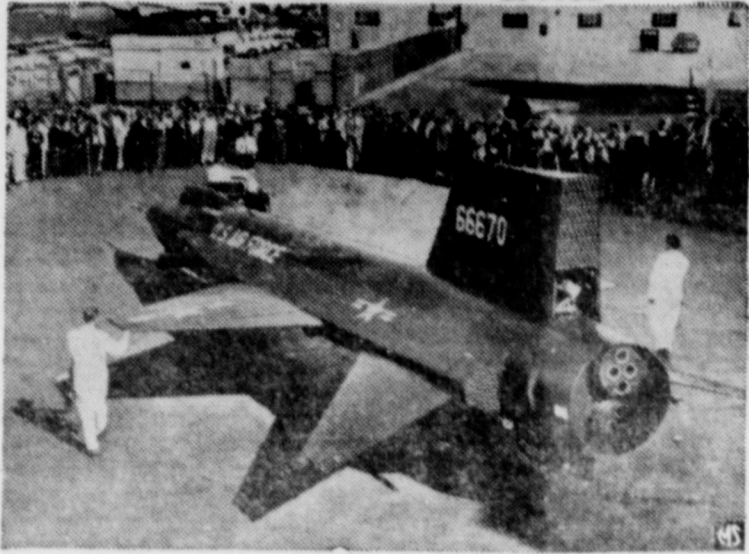

FEED SURVEY COMMITTEE REPORT GETS INTENSE STUDY

The annual survey of the livestock situation by the Feed Survey Committee of the American Feed Manufacturers' Association was getting the attention of all segments of the livestock trade at Fort Worth Monday.

Naturally, the high percentage of "hits" which this committee of college and extension service experts has scored in the past, makes this report timely and important. The committee has been less than 2 percent wrong in the past.

They estimate 14% more hogs in the next 12 months, 10% more broilers, 3% more beef cattle, 5% more turkeys, 4% more sheep, 3% more laying chickens, 2% fewer dairy cows, 4% fewer horses and mules, 6% fewer other chickens raised for flock replacements.

The 1958-1959 rate of feeding grains, oilseed meals and other concentrates will be 130 million tons. Supplies of 186 million tons of these feedstuffs will be available. This is an excess of 44 percent.

1958's fall pig crop should be 15% above last year. 1959 Spring pig production should be up 14%.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," goes an old truism. This is especially true in health matters.

In most medical diseases there are warning signals, often recognizable by the untrained eye, which give ample time to consult your physician for treatment. And thus avoid spending costly time in a hospital.

The same applies to mental illness, with the difference being the inability of the untrained person to recognize the signs of an approaching mental disorder.

We are all blessed with varying amounts of the wisdom of hindsight, but a recently published research project of the Division of Mental Health, Texas Department of Health suggests ways to put this hindsight to work.

How many mental patients were previously known to local community health and welfare agencies? Have certain types of agencies been in touch with certain kinds of patients before they are admitted to the State Hospital? How many of their families have had these previous contacts?

These and related questions about 148 residents of Travis County admitted to the Austin State Hospital during a single year, were answered by the study.

Dr. Wallace Mandell, research consultant directed the study, assisted by Isabel Cromack.

By checking the records of 11 agencies ranging from the City-County Hospital to the Salvation Army, they found that 46 percent of the newly hospitalized patients had direct or indirect contact (through their families) with one or more of the agencies.

In addition several other facts were discovered opening new vistas of study in mental illness prevention. For instance, it was found that half of the 148 first admissions to the State Hospital had eight years of schooling or less. However, only one-fifth of all Travis County residents had eight years or less of formal schooling.

What does all this and other new-found facts mean?

According to Charles Mitchell, director of the Division of Mental Health, "It points out a need for available trained personnel in key points where they can help health and welfare workers recognize persons with borderline nervous disorders in time to keep them out of hospitals."

At the State Capitol in Nashville there is a bronze statue of Edward Ward Carmack, one of the most brilliant men of the South in his day. He was a member of the United States Senate from 1901 to 1907. I did not move to Tennessee until 1910, which was two years after Carmack's assassination.

He had made a race for governor, a bitter contest which he lost. The Memphis Commercial Appeal, which he had formerly edited, opposed him in that campaign, and I recall that a schoolmate in Central High quoted the headline which "the C.A." had carried next morning after Carmack and his opponent had debated in Memphis. Carmack, who had red hair, was an eloquent and vigorous speaker — sometimes scathing, and had been given the nickname of "Red Wolf." One day when Sterling and I were in the Cossitt Library, we looked in the old newspaper files and, sure enough, clear across the top of the front page, were the words just as he had quoted them, "Red Wolf Goes to Bed Supperless."

When I was a reporter on the Commercial Appeal in 1916, as we sat around at 1:45 a. m. waiting for the first copies of the final edition, an oldtimer related that when Carmack was the editor, he was for Bryan and silver and the owner was for McKinley and gold. Rather than write editorials which did not represent his own convictions, Carmack resigned.

The foreman of our paper had held a similar position with Carmack's journal in Nashville in 1908. The editor had incurred the enmity of a political leader — probably because of the recent bitter campaign — and this man sent word that, if his name appeared in the columns again, he would kill Carmack. The latter immediately wrote an editorial using the man's name. The foreman, realizing that if the article appeared, it might prove to be Carmack's death warrant, threw the type away. But the editor discovered this, ordered the editorial re-set and it was published. (So our foreman related the story.)

Next day, Carmack met the political leader and his son on the street and was shot to death. The father was tried and convicted and, when the highest court denied his appeal, he was immediately pardoned by the governor, Carmack's former rival.

I was visiting in Memphis in 1909 when one of the last of the great Confederate reunions was held. The governor rode by in his carriage; there were no cheers — only mutterings. He was nominated for another term but so great was the antagonism that he did an almost unprecedented act: he gave up the nomination.

Senator Bob Taylor, the most beloved man in Tennessee, was persuaded to come down from Washington to make the race for governor but not even genial, story-telling, fiddling, eloquent Bob could bridge the chasm. The Republicans elected a governor and re-elected him to a second and a third term.

The brilliant career of Carmack's rival ended, utterly and abruptly. Some years later, he attempted a comeback but it was in vain. I heard him speak twice in that campaign and am convinced that he might have been an outstanding figure in the nation had he not granted that pardon.

But his name is in oblivion while the bronze figure of Carmack stands in triumph a few blocks from the scene which saw his death.

Sometimes, history does write just verdicts.

Professional Drivers List Safety Rules

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

SCOUND ADVISE for safety groups, motorists and police officials came out of a recent discussion by a select group of men who pilot buses, trucks, taxi cabs and other commercial vehicles.

These professional drivers were seated by the American Trucking Association to analyze the current traffic situation.

Miss Smith and then suggest ways to cut the accident rate. Here are their proposals:

1. Promote uniformity of traffic laws and traffic signs throughout the country.
2. Stress the importance of other traffic violations besides speeding (such as following too closely behind other vehicles, passing on hills or curves and disregarding stop signs).
3. Provide better markings for the shoulder, middle strip and passing zone on secondary roads.
4. Institute driver clinics for habitual traffic violators.

Falling Leaves Can Be Of Value

Leaves which are now falling and cluttering yards and gardens can give a boost to next year's flower or vegetable garden if properly handled, says Bill Bennett, extension soil chemist.

Burning the leaves may be easier but the extra time required to put them in a compost pile will return big dividends, explains Bennett. The compost can be used next year to increase soil organic matter or for mulching flowers, shrubs or vegetables.

Making a compost pile is a simple operation, points out the chemist. Scrap lumber or a few feet of net wire and four posts will take care of the enclosure. Then start with a six inch layer of leaves. For every four square feet of enclosure, dissolve a cup of commercial fertilizer, such as 8-8-8 or 6-2-6, in water and sprinkle the solution over the layer of leaves. In areas where soils are acid, Bennett suggests adding a cup of lime to the fertilizer.

Continue adding layers until the pile reaches the desired height. Leave the top layer somewhat saucer shaped as a water-holding aid and cover it with a shallow layer of soil. Decomposition of the leaves will be speeded up if the material is turned and water added at regular intervals.

Mrs. Lee Haynes and Mrs. Worth Gafford were visitors in Abilene last Saturday.

Head Smut Causes Trouble In Grain

Grain sorghum head smut is causing considerable damage in several areas of Texas, reports Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist.

The head smut problem is centered in the Coastal Bend area, parts of the Central Blackland area and in parts of the High Plains area, points out Smith. Damage in some fields in the Coastal Bend area is as high as 60 percent. Some fields in the southern part of the Central Blacklands report as much as 50 percent damage and Deaf Smith county suffered as much as 20 percent damage.

Smith attributes the build-up of head smut primarily to the widespread planting of susceptible varieties and hybrids. Among the most susceptible varieties are Martin, Texioca 54, Combine 7078 and RS 610.

In most varieties of hybrids, Smith points out that affected heads are sterile. Tiller heads on the side of the plant are smutted. This condition is sometimes hard to detect because the smut is concealed by leaves.

Where fields are free of the disease fungus, the pathologist says seed treatment with panogen or ceresan is effective in preventing the smut. Resistant varieties are required in fields which are infested. Avoid continuous crops of sorghum.

Resistant sorghums available commercially are RS 630, Caprock, Plainsman, Redbine 66, feterrita and hegari, though these are not too widely accepted. Texas 601, Texas 620 RS 650 and Redbine 58 have a certain degree of resistance and may be used of otherwise adapted to the area.

Work is already underway by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to incorporate resistance into acceptable hybrids.

Is A Killer In Your Garage?

Most people don't know that they may be harboring a killer right in their own garage.

That automobile in your garage is only as safe as its mechanical condition makes it. If its headlights are aimed too high — or too low — or in the wrong direction — or one is burned out, it can easily be the direct cause of a motorcade.

If the brakes are not adjusted properly or have a fluid leak that may cause them to grab or fall at a crucial moment, that car can be a killer.

If the taillights and stoplights aren't working properly, thus allowing somebody to approach too closely or quickly from the rear, the car can be the direct cause of death.

It may be raining and the windshield wipers aren't good enough to keep the windshield clear. It could be too late by the time the walking child is seen. The result can be negligent homicide. You will have been harboring a killer in your garage.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director, Texas Department of Public Safety, says, "Don't take chances. Make sure your car is safe to drive. Have it inspected now at one of the Texas Department of Public Safety's 4,300 official inspection stations."

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Jetton, Joe and Garon, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Cotton in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Scott of Wichita Falls spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Scott.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Advises The Experts On Just How To Lighten The Grueling Work Load On The Farm

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek tackles the problem of the small farm this week. Tackling a problem of course is not solving it.

J. A.

Dear editor: There has been a lot of discussion in the newspapers the past year over the plight of the small farmer, and lots of experts have been worrying about him. They're afraid he'll get discouraged and have to give up farming and move to town.

As a result, a lot of thinking has been going on about the problem, and I was reading in an article last night where some experts studying the matter have decided on the way to keep the farmer on the farm is to make his work lighter. For example, they said, farmers ought to use their brains and figure out short cuts for themselves, and they threw in a suggestion of their own as a starter. Why not they said, "put cows up on a platform so the dairyman can milk as he stands? This would save a lot of stooping."

The main trouble with this is that I doubt if it takes any more work to stoop to milk a cow than it does to reach to build a platform for them to stand on, not to mention getting the feed up there to them twice a day. Personally, if I was milking a bunch of cows, which I'm not, and was opposed to stooping, I'd come out in favor of longer-legged cows or shorter-legged men.

The trouble with using brains and science to lighten the load of farming is that this works up to a certain point, but it generally stops at the edge of the field, leaving nobody but the farmer to go up one row and down another, in between rains.

Science is wonderful, but I've noticed that in the most modern business, with every labor-saving device known to man, or on the most modern farm, with every scientific improvement available, still the man who gets the furthest ahead generally is the one who works the hardest, with the longest hours.

That's where science breaks down. However, it's where I take

After years of studying the problem, I know how to lighten the work on a farm. It's simple. Just skip about half of what you're supposed to do. Understanding, of course, that this is for the well-run farm. On mine, I skip about three-fourths.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

give you the right to take control of his property. Generally speaking, each spouse has the right to control and dispose of his or her own separate property. The separate property of a husband or wife includes property owned by either before marriage, and that which is acquired by gift or inheritance. Any other property acquired after marriage is presumed by law to be community property until the contrary is clearly proved.

Aside from the ordinary community estate, there is a class of property known as the wife's "special community," which includes all the income from her separate real property, and probably the interest on bonds or notes, and dividends on stocks owned in her separate right. While the husband may have similar assets, the law accords them no particular distinction from ordinary community property.

Although the history of the matter is somewhat confusing, it appears that under present day law the husband has control of ordinary community property; but control of the wife's special community property is reserved to her.

Certain restrictions are imposed upon both husband and wife in exercising such control. For instance, the husband cannot legally dispose of community property in such a way as to defraud the wife, nor can he sell the homestead without her signature and acknowledgment. And the wife's sale or mortgage of her separate real estate, stocks or bonds is not valid unless her husband joins with her in the transaction — he must sign and execute the necessary legal papers along with her. There are laws exempting the wife's separate and special community property from liability for debts incurred by the husband. Such liability is restricted to his separate property and the ordinary community property.

On the other hand, debts incurred by the wife in obtaining necessities for herself or the children bind all property belonging to either party, including the husband's separate property. For other debts which she has power to incur, only her separate and special community property are liable.

All of these distinctions emphasize the advisability of keeping proper records. By doing so the various classes of community and separate property owned by a married couple will always be easily distinguishable. Each category will then receive the special protection afforded to it by our laws.
