Odd Bits Salvaged

We reckon no firm has done more to improve service than the telephone company. This applies, in our experience, especially to long distance calls.

Time was, and not too long ago, when Munday people would dial long distance, hold the receiver to their ears until the blood almost quit circulating, and cuss. If patience didn't finally wear out, the call would finally get through.

But on the calls we've made recently, we've been talking to our party in nothing flat. Most of the time, our phone will set up a Sputnik sort of "beep beep" when we dialed and the operator answered right off. If we know the number we want to talk to, we usually get Fort Worth or Dallas as quickly as we can get any other place.

It's a sort of remote control deal, and that high tower thing they have set up east of town has something to do with it. In a talk to the Lions Club recently, District Manager Robinett said: "I don't understand the darned thing, either," but it all has a part to play in the scheme of things when you want to talk from here to yonder in a hurry.

Means of communication have changed a lot, even in our time. With this type of telephoning, television, radio, two-way radio units, short wave, etc., you can "get your message across" before you can shoo the cat out of the house.

Messages can't be commuted as quickly and accurately as Lake Kemp, however. We're reminded of the time we were tied up at one of those poles, getting nothing but hung up in the brush, when we later learned that Mr. Braly had been hollering at us but couldn't make us hear. "I wanted to tell you," he said later, "the fish were biting right there at my boat house." If we'd gotten his message in time, we might not have come away empty-handed!

Two things we can't escape, we've often heard, are death and taxes. So we might just as well let you know it's tax paying time again. And if you want to get it over with as quickly as possible — not escaping them until the last minute — John Smith and his crew of helpers will be visiting your community next week to accept your tax money for 1958. If you'll see them on the date they're coming to your area, it will save you a trip to Benjamin later on. His schedule appears in an ad in this week's paper.

You can save 2 per cent by paying them this month, one per cent next month, but none after January 1.

We saw lots of sweet 'taters Tuesday. Herb Partridge was completing his harvest this week, and has rented the Stodghill building for storage and curing. The south portion of the building was almost full, and he said he'd fill it by the time he was through.

Herb has 30 acres in sweet potatoes. He's harvesting 200 field baskets per acre, and hopes to get 100 bushels of No. 1's per acre, and these are bringing him from $3.25 to $3.50 per acre. The jumbo and No. 2 potatoes are cheaper.

"There's lots of work to be done yet," he said after putting in almost two weeks at harvesting. It takes some 10 days in the heat-controlled, humidity-controlled building to cure them, and then they have to be sorted as to grades. It seems there's work to everything you try to do to make a living, and raising sweet 'taters is no exception.

THROCKMORTON MAYOR IS LOOKING AHEAD

ABILENE — The mayor of Throckmorton, Texas, is a man who looks ahead. Jim McKnight, evidently taking to heart the warning of educators that a flood of students will soon be hitting American campuses, has already made a room reservation for his son Ross at Abilene Christian College.

Ross is a fifth grader in the Throckmorton schools, and he has reserved a room at Abilene Christian for the fall of 1966.

Munday Moguls Will Host Crowell's Wildcats Here On Thursday Night

The Munday Moguls will be host to the powerful Crowell Wildcats, who won the 1A-11 district title last Friday night, by defeating the Paducah Dragons, on Scruggs Field here on Thursday night of this week.

Supt. W. C. Cox announced last week that the game had been set up from Friday night to Thursday night, and was anxious that all fans learn of this change ahead of game time.

It will probably be a "token game" for the Moguls, who were weakened by injuries early in the season and have been unable to make a creditable showing.

The Wildcats coasted to an easy 40-0 victory over Paducah to clinch the district title.

Thursday night's game will be the final one for the Moguls this season, and loyal fans are expected to be on hand to see them in action for the last time. Although they have shown improvement in recent games, the Moguls have been unable to cope with the stronger contenders of their district.

Last Friday night, they lost to the Holliday Eagles on the local field by a score of 32 to 8.

Holliday gained the lead in the first period when three touchdowns and three conversions were made. Parrish drew first blood when he powered over from the four yard line. Parrish converted.

On the second tally quarterback Boyd passed to Erwin for 25 yards and Boyd carried it on for 45 more, to make the TD. On the third touchdown, Boyd blocked a punt, picked it up and ran 20 yards for the touchdown.

The second and third periods were scoreless.

In the fourth stanza Munday caught fire and Tommy Dickenson, quarterback, ran a keeper play from the three. The conversion was good and the score stood at 24 to 8.

Munday Firms Get Forged Checks

Several local firms were victims of a person, or persons, passing forged checks here Saturday. The checks bore signatures of two well known persons, Steve Kubena and W. E. McNeill, and the handwriting was very similar to the real signatures.

The check passer was thwarted at Kay's Dept. Store, when Sied Waheed, manager, checked with Mrs. Kubena, who is employed at the store, and the man disappeared while the investigation was being made.

Among those taking the forged checks are: Mac's Food Store, Munday Dept. Store, and Beaty's Grocery.

Christmas Mailing Is Expected To Reach All-Time High, Haymes Says

Postmaster Lee Haymes said today, "Christmas may seem quite a way off, but nevertheless, we're starting our annual 'Mail Early For Christmas' Campaign immediately, because there's every indication that the 1958 Christmas season will set an all time mailing record."

The Postmaster said further that right now is the time to plan your Christmas card and gift mailings. The first thing to do is to check your Christmas card list very carefully — make sure that each address particularly on mail to larger cities includes full name, street and number, city, zone and state.

He went on to say that by a little advance planning, a lot of headaches can be avoided when the Christmas rush is on. The Postmaster suggests that you stock up now on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape for use in securely packing and wrapping your Christmas gifts. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package if you'll just add the appropriate First Class mail stamps to the postage for the package itself.

Be sure to use only First Class four cent, or seven cent Air Mail postage on your Christmas cards. All cards sent by First Class mail may include a personal handwritten message, whereas a signature only is authorized on cards that are mailed at the three cent, Third Class rate.

The Postmaster says it's especially important to include your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Besides being socially correct, this is a big help to both you and your friends in keeping your mailing lists up-to-date.

Through the fine cooperation of the public during recent years, Mr. Haymes reports that great progress has been made in getting the Christmas mails through on time. He is making many advance preparations to handle the 1958 Christmas mail rush, with extra mail clerks, carriers, and expanded facilities all around.

Speaking further about his plans, the Postmaster said, "With over 170,000,000 people in the U.S.A. today, that means more Christmas mail than ever before, and that's why the Post Office needs your help in planning your Christmas mailings well in advance."

Christmas cards and gifts for most distant points should be mailed first, preferably well before December 10th, and those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15th, or at least a week before Christmas.

Munday Juniors Drop Title Game To Iowa Park

The district title slipped from the Munday junior high school football team on Tuesday night, as they lost a 6 to 16 game to Iowa Park. The game was played at Iowa Park.

Douglas Beavers got both cougars for Iowa Park. He sprinted 35 yards for the first career early in the second quarter. In the third Beavers raced 25 yards on a reverse for the second tally. Mike Caldwell ran for Iowa Park's first extra point try, and Beaver plunged for the second.

Munday's score came on a 40-yard dash by Lewis Alcalá.

Munday Invited To Have Special Day At Stock Show

Munday has been invited to have a "day" at the 1959 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, which will be held Jan. 30 through Feb. 8 in Fort Worth.

In a letter, W. R. Watt, president-manager of the show, suggested that Munday select a cowgirl sweetheart who can be introduced at the Stock Show rodeo. Watt also invited the city to send its high school band so that the students may give a concert on the exposition grounds. Band members will be guests of the Stock Show at the rodeo performance.

Watt expressed the hope that a delegation of citizens, wearing hat bands or badges proclaiming their hometown, would attend the exposition. A special section of seats at the rodeo also will be set aside if Munday residents would like to sit together.

FAMILY FARMS ARE LARGER

The agricultural revolution — with its replacement of human labor by mechanical power — has been going on for generations. But the really great strides in mechanization have been taken in the few years since World War II. We have learned, beyond the shadow of a doubt, that modern tractors and other implements are absolutely necessary to successful farming in these days of soaring labor costs.

As the president of the Farm Equipment Institute puts it: "Mechanization has finally become established, but it has just begun. . . ." By 1970, say the experts, 200 million people will be living in this country. Yet we will still have only 500 million acres to produce the foods, fibers and fats all those people will need and demand. On top of that it is anticipated there will be substantially fewer workers engaged in agriculture. So, says the Institute spokesman: "Output per farm worker will have to increase by about 70% over present figures—just to keep pace." That will require more and more mechanized farm equipment—and better equipment.

This brings up a question that has been in the minds of many people—what is the status and future of the family farm in this mechanized age? The Institute's president answers by saying that power equipment and the population shift "have made the family farm." As evidence, he cites the fact that family farms now account for 63 per cent of the nation's farm land as against 59 per cent ten years ago. A farm family can now handle a larger and more economic farming unit without high-priced hired help.

In the view of President William A. McDonnell of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, "The first order of business in the next session of Congress should be the passage of labor reform legislation with enough teeth in it to run the goons, gangsters and racketeers out of the labor movement." He described the defeated Kennedy-Ives bill as "merely a slap on the wrist for union labor racketeers and goons when it should have been a punch on the jaw . . ."

Most of the companies co-operating in a survey made by the National Industrial Conference Board say that their expenditures for research and development in 1958 will equal or exceed 1957 totals.

LIGHT FROM ADVERTISING

An American electric committee recently visited Russia. One of its members, Edwin Vennard, a top official of the Edison Electric Institute, has reported on what the committee found.

Russia's electric power plants and related installations are good, he says, and there has been notable expansion in late years. However, to quote the Butte, Montana, Standard, he also says: "The Soviets have one tremendous obstacle to surmount. They are running out of consumers." How can this be in a nation of more than 200 million people? The Standard explains: ". . . Russian homes which have electricity have only a single bulb hanging on a wire in the center of the room, much the same as was the case in the United States 30 or 35 years ago.

"This single bulb represents the extent electric energy is consumed by the average home-owner in Russia. . ."

Mr. Vennard was asked by a Russian how the problem of stimulating demand was solved in the United States. Mr. Vennard answered that it was largely a matter of advertising. To that the Russian said — "Oh, propaganda." And Mr. Vennard let it go at that.

This little true story pretty well demonstrates the differences in living standards under communism as compared to capitalism.

Senator Byrd points out that at the current spending level, the Federal government will pour out $400 billion in the next five years, and that the deficit will reach at least $350 billion. He adds: "Such Federal deficit financing can only stimulate terrible inflation . . ."

QUARRYVILLE, PA., SUN AND LEDGER:

"Throughout history farming has been an honorable occupation, and remains so today, even though this is an age of rocket missiles, jets and satellites.

"In spite of all the progress, the farmer's product is still vital, his annual toil mandatory for our survival. Suppose, for example, that all farmers decided to strike during one harvest season, such as some unions do. The population would soon begin to become destitute."

BREVAR, N. C., TRANSLYVANIA TIMES: "Worry is like a rocking chair — gives you something to do, but doesn't get you anywhere."

IMPORTANCE OF THE SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM IN TEXAS

Last year, a total of 87,376,816 meals were served to Texas school children at only a fraction of their normal cost — for many underprivileged children unable to pay — without cost whatsoever.

These meals, balanced and prepared with dietetic care, were served in the 2,844 school lunch rooms over the state which participate in the school lunch program sponsored jointly by individual schools, state and federal governments. Importance of the program can be partially determined by its wide acceptance in Texas and in other states.

With all except about 10 of Texas' 254 counties participating in the school lunch program, total program costs in Texas last year were $33,021,973.96, which included food, labor, donated services and equipment. The donated services and equipment were from the local school district, which is required to furnish these elements for participation. The money paid directly comes from government sources. Texas governments (county and state) spend about three dollars to the federal government's one dollar now toward operation of the program.

A major part of the federal government's aid in the school lunch operation comes in the form of food commodities purchased by the government to help relieve agricultural surpluses for specific application to the school lunch program. For many commodities at many times, school lunch foods purchases have helped relieve market pressures during seasonal supply gluts, helping strengthen our farm economy while furnishing wholesome food for our children.

In Texas alone, $9 million worth of agricultural surpluses are channeled through the school lunch program in one year. The school lunch program is a composite blessing to us. First and foremost, it provides our children with health-giving foods far better than we with our sack lunches ever provided; it gives us the opportunity to give meaningful help to many underprivileged children; and it provides one of the best possible means for useful distribution of surplus foods.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

TRAFFIC LAW KNOWLEDGE SAVES LIVES, MONEY

In the midst of the annual series of football weekends, the thoughts of many Texans are turning toward traffic safety. There can be no doubt but that a better acquaintance among drivers with the "rules of the road" and other traffic safety regulations could greatly reduce the death toll of our highways.

To obtain correct and authoritative information about driving is a simple matter. A letter or postcard to the Department of Public Safety, Driver's License Division, Austin, Texas, will bring an official publication, the "Texas Driving Handbook," to anyone who requests it.

Aside from considerations of personal safety, proper driving habits and observance of traffic laws will help prevent financial loss. This is true in spite of the fact that most people now carry liability insurance as a protection under the Texas "Drivers Responsibility Act." Jury verdicts in personal injury cases tend to go higher and higher, and the likelihood of suffering an adverse judgment for an amount in excess of the limit of your liability policy is ever present.

Fault, or liability, is determined by applying the law to the particular facts of an accident. In Texas the law is in several forms — the statutes as enacted by the Legislature, the ordinances of each city and town, and the court decisions in cases similar to the one to be decided.

A negligent or intentional act is necessary in order to impose legal liability for damages. Where both parties to an accident are negligent, the court will very likely say that both are at fault, and that each must pay for his own damages.

Two of the most important legal rules pertaining to accidents are those having to do with "proper look-out" and "proper control." Driving in a lawful manner and complying with all ordinary traffic rules is not always sufficient. In addition, the driver is expected by law to be alert to all that is happening around him.

If an accident should occur and the driver has not been alert — has failed to keep a proper look-out — he may be charged with "improper look-out" as a traffic violation and also held liable in damages to the other driver. The courts call a "proper look-out" such a look-out as a reasonably prudent driver would have kept under the same circumstances.

Of equal importance is the rule of "proper control." This rule means pretty much what those words imply — that the driver should have his car under such degree of control as to be ready for any emergencies as might arise. It may be breached even though no violation of ordinary traffic laws is involved.

For instance, a driver may be complying with the legal speed limit but still be driving at a rate of speed which is unsafe under the existing circumstances. Even though legal speed limits are expressed in terms of a certain number of miles per hour, conditions may arise which prevent the driver from maintaining "proper control" of his automobile at that speed. On a rainy day on a slick street or highway, or in heavy traffic, the reasonably prudent driver will know that he should reduce his speed considerably below the legal maximum.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

New York:

Most of the men (in spring and summer, anyway) go hatless.

There are no fat policemen — or else they are assigned to the suburbs.

The East and West do meet: two Chinese ladies wearing American blouses and skirts — the skirts slit.

Across the street from Madison Square Garden, a man sneezed and another (probably a Pole) looked around, thinking someone had called his name.

During four days in New York City, I had exactly one conversation. It was when the curtain fell at the end of the first act of "Li'l Abner." For the sake of future historians, the entire conversation is set down:

Man (seated next to House, rising): "Pardon me."

House, (rising): "Certainly."

The signs of Times Square are one of the chief wonders of the metropolis. There was a painting seven stories high showing Dracula and his bride. Across the way was the advertisement of another movie, "The Vikings" featuring a ship 270 feet long, which is nearly four times as long as an actual Viking vessel was, and the 50-foot sail was of actual canvas.

The electric signs are impressive, especially, of course, at night. A huge Johnny Walker strides along; a man blows a puff of cigaret smoke every 15 seconds; "Time" has a screen which shows silhouettes (in motion) of fashion models, a bull-fight and a cowboy riding a bucking horse; news items are spelled out in electric lights on an endless belt; and a waterfall cascades 50,000 gallons a minutes.

And there are many other signs with big letters and designs in every conceivable color — and changing colors — blinking on and off, advertising anything you can think of.

I recalled Gilbert Chesterton's remark when the brilliant English author visited New York for the first time and, beholding Times Square at night, exclaimed, "What a wonderful sight to a man who could not read!"

The subway is a rush and a roar through the dark walls of a tunnel. The aisles are crowded; the cars sway and they lunge to a stop. How anyone could read, converse, take a nap or think aboard the subway — (it is said that people do) — is beyond my understanding. It seemed to me to be transportation stripped of all accessories and trimmings.

The buses, however, were really a bargain. I boarded one on Fifth Avenue at 25th Street and traveled to 155th, which was even more than 140 blocks because of a jog; and there was a procession of scenery — shops, churches, apartment house, miles of Central Park — (a glimpse of pleasure-seekers boating); statues; a memorial to Arthur Brisbane, the editor; and the kaleidoscope of Harlem — all of this for 15 cents!

Who, having seen it, can ever forget the park pavilion, or whatever it is, in the heart of Radio City — a waterfall and a pool, brightly-colored parasols under which people gaily dine the spot enclosed by skyscrapers costing no-telling-how many millions and yet there is serenity — peace — beauty.

St. Patrick's Cathedral, close by, is an architectural wonder in its massiveness and its tall, graceful spires.

Then there is the huge Public Library with its stone lions on guard and above the portals, as one of the three founders, the name of Samuel J. Tilden, the man who was elected but was defrauded of the presidency.

And the Fifth Avenue stores with fabrics, gems, handicraft, pictures, raiment from the ends of the earth — and the Empire State Building and its companions of the incomparable skyline — and the crowds, hundreds of thousands with their dreams and desires!

New York City is a world's fair every day.

AMERICAN LEGION HISTORY

March 15, 1958, was the 39th birthday of the American Legion. It was born in Paris, France. It was woeened in the St. Louis, Missouri caucus and it was baptized at Centralia, Washington, on the first anniversary of Armistice Day, November 11, 1919.

The newly organized Grand Hodge Post No. 17 at Centralia, Washington, was marching in its first annual Armistice Day Parade when it was fired upon from ambush by members of a radical organization incited by the propaganda of class hatred. Four Legionnaires, including the Post Commander, Warren O. Grimm, who was leading the parade, fell dead before the hail of bullets.

The news of the tragedy reached Minneapolis as the American Legion was marching in a snow-storm in its first National Convention Parade. Word that their new organization had suddenly become a target, not for words, but for bullets, stunned the delegates. It brought home to the baby American Legion the full evil potential of subversive and un-American elements, then inspired by Bolshevism and later Fascism, Nazism and now Communism.

The impact of the Centralia tragedy provided the needed emphasis for the creation of the National Americanism Commission and the American Legion's continued fight against un-American influence. The American Legion has never faltered in its fight against those elements which would undermine our form of government, and for those things which tend to create good government. Its success has been due to the right thinking of its leaders and members.

Yet, today with all of the great success of the American Legion's fight against un-American influence and its fight for the Veteran's rightful benefits, its membership is lagging.

ACCIDENT VICTIM REPORTED IMPROVING

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Yost have recently received word from little Cathy Lynn McConnell, the little girl that was in the car accident with Phyllis, that she was getting along fine. Her face is completely healed now except for the bruise on her forehead and that has faded quite a bit. She suffered abrasions on the right cheek and bump on forehead.

Selective breeding can be effective in developing more muscular meat-type hogs, reports T. D. Tanksley, extension animal husbandman. The backfat thickness in three generations of Durocs was decreased 11 percent by USDA research workers.

HOG FUTURES MARKET IS PROPOSED IN CHICAGO

Fort Worth — As if the swine industry did not have enough on its mind what with propositions such as vertical integration and meat-type carcass arguments, the proposal of Charles Barquist of the Chicago Livestock Exchange that a "futures" trading in hogs be launched caught the industry by surprise.

Hog salesmen and buyers at Fort Worth received the news without excitement but with some interest.

Trading in any kind of livestock in a futures market, such as other farm commodities enjoy, would be very tricky. Livestock is a perishable product, not subject to storage for any length of time. A speculator who got caught with a batch of hogs would get a stern lesson in economics after a couple of days.

We knew a fellow once who was speculating in the Chicago egg futures market. He was wheeling and dealing so fast he forgot where his account stood and wound up with some carloads of eggs delivered to him. Any eggs over and above his two for breakfast were more eggs than he needed, so he had a bad time!

Getting back to hogs, Mr. Barquist's proposal is that the Chicago Board of Trade handle these futures, just as lard is now traded.

Proponents of the plan say it would stabilize prices and assure it would offer a supply and demand to set prices and would aid all parties in the industry from producer to consumer by leveling out the peaks and valleys in the price chart.

They say swine producers would find this futures trade rewarding since prices would tend to be established by the total supply and total demand, and that prices thus established would have a direct effect on daily swine prices at the markets.

This in turn might permit the hog feeder to transfer some of his risk by guaranteeing him a specific price on the date delivery was due. This is a long established practice in grain futures trade.

Current estimates are that such futures trade in hogs is at least two years away. It is not a new idea, since hog futures were established nearly three decades ago. However, the depression caused the plan to be dropped in 1930.

It did operate for two years, at which time producers liked it because of stable prices and packers liked the stable supply.

Success of the plan would call for close cooperation between producers, marketing agencies, meat packers, hog graders, pork retailers and others involved in the production-processing chain.

FIRM PRICES PREVAIL FOR ALL CLASSES CATTLE

Cattle and calf supplies were about normal at this market for the Monday trade. The trade responded with good activity and sales on all classes were generally steady to strong as compared with the previous week's close.

Most of the fed steers and heifers brought $24 to $25, a few short yearlings on the calf order on up to $27 and higher. Four loads of fed heifers in the 900-pound bracket cashed at $25. Fat cows brought $18 to $20.50 with canners and cutters ranging from $12 to $18, a few outside that spread. Bulls sold from $18 to $23 including two loads of range bulls at $22.

Good and choice fat calves sold at $25 to $27.25, medium kind around $21 to $24, culls down to $17 sparingly. Steer calves drew $23 to $32.50, stocker heifer calves $30 down. Stocker yearling steers sold at $22 to $27. Demand for stocker cows was broad and several loads sold at $18.50 to $21, one small lot at $22.

BUTCHER HOGS WEAK BUT SOWS STRONG

Sales on barrows and gilts were steady to 25 cents lower but sow prices were strong at Fort Worth Monday. Top grade butchers weighing 200 to 250 pounds brought $18.75 to $19.25 with most deals at $19. A few lighter and heavier weights ranged from $18 to $18.75 with sows from $17 to $18.25.

SLAUGHTER LAMBS LOWER FEEDERS NEAR STEADY

Fat lambs were 25 to 50 cents lower while feeder offerings held nearly steady. Other sheep were scarce. Good and choice shorn and wooled slaughter lambs sold at $20 to $22. Medium and good feeder lambs turned from $18 to $21. Slaughter goats cashed at $7.50 to $8.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Takes A Look At The Election Returns, Comes Only To Vague Conclusions

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has found out about the election a week ago, which is pretty fast work for him.

Dear editor:
Outside of reading what the political experts and analysts have to say before an election, I guess the next best reading comes from what they have to say after the election.

For example, last week as soon as the returns from the elections around the country came in, the experts rolled up their sleeves and started explaining what had happened and why, and I'll admit they've left me puzzled, although you understand I'm not crediting them with getting me puzzled, I've been that way for years on my own.

One expert said the election results clearly indicated the country is more liberal, another said this isn't true, that he knows of candidates who got elected on the most conservative platform he'd ever heard of.

The main trouble with this is that the pure strains in both parties have about disappeared, mostly cross-breeds left.

And you take all these crosses, like liberal Republicans and conservative Democrats, conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats, liberal conservatives and conservative liberals, conservative conservatives and liberal liberals, and several who don't know how they got elected, and put them all in the same feed lot in Washington and it's no wonder the Presidency of the United States is considered the most back-breaking job on earth.

If the cattlemen or the horse breeders or hog raisers or dog lovers of this country registered their stock like political parties do, you couldn't tell anymore about what the offspring would be like than you can about what the next Congress will do. You take two members from the same party, one with a mandate from the people in his pocket to vote conservative, and the other with a mandate to vote liberal, and turn them loose in Washington, and it's about like a football team with two coaches, one sending in word to pass, the other to punt. Personally, I prefer to run this farm out here on the creek. Nobody issues me any mandates. Yours faithfully, J. A.
