PUT THE MONEY WHERE IT BELONGS

A 40% tax on even an extreme luxury would seem excessive to most people. But such a tax is in effect on an absolute necessity—gasoline. Federal, state and local taxes on motor fuel now equal a national average of 9¢ a gallon. And that amounts to 40% of the service station price of regular grade gasoline, exclusive of the tax.

To make a bad matter worse, it is proposed that the gasoline user be socked still harder, by raising the federal tax from its present 3¢ rate to 4½ cents.

The excuse for this is that the money is needed to pay for the multi-billion dollar highway program, and that the burden should be imposed on highway users. But that is a highly misleading alibi. For, if all the money collected from these users were applied to the road program there'd be no financing problem.

Simple statistics tell the story. In the last fiscal year the federal government took in $3.6 billion from what is known as "highway-related" collections. These collections include the gasoline tax, along with other motor vehicle taxes. But only $2.1 billion of that money was earmarked for highway purposes. A whopping 42% of the total—$1.5 billion—went into the general fund, to be used for federal activities that have not relation to highways.

There is, therefore, no justification whatever for increased gas taxes. What is needed is to put current revenues from highway users where they belong—on the road.

TALLASSEE, ALABAMA, TRIBUNE: "There are legitimate magazine subscription solicitors but when they are on the up and up they do not mind going by city hall to pick up a license and by the Chamber of Commerce office to obtain a permit card for solicitation. And the best thing our readers can bear in mind is that they are probably being taken for a ride unless the solicitor can produce either one or both of those permits."

Between 1948 and 1957, the Department of Agriculture finds, expenditures for food per person rose 18 per cent. By way of comparison, per capita disposable income increased more than twice as much—38 per cent—in the same period.

CREEPING NIGHTMARE

Washington columnist William S. White writes: "Federal expenditures are becoming so vast and so diffuse in purpose as to raise a serious question whether any President or Congress will be able within a few years actually to control any budget. May not internal events, as for illustration sudden business recessions, or external events instantly requiring vast outlays in the cold war, become the real future masters of the budget?"

"This is the creeping nightmare of some fiscal conservatives. It is not so much the level of present spending that they fear. It is the possibility that men may lose to the robot power effectively to control spending at all."

Mr. White here highlights something that students of federal fiscal affairs have long been deeply concerned about. The budget has become less and less manageable, and there is a real and present danger that before long it will become totally so. The Hoover Commission dealt at length with this, and proposed basic administrative reforms which would make it possible for Congress and the Executive to deal with the budget as a whole, rather than as a hodge-podge of separate appropriations. But nothing has been done.

The size of the budget is a bad enough matter. But the ever-increasing difficulty of controlling it is infinitely worse. Whether we like it or not the time is approaching when we will not be able to throw out our political pipe dream and admit that government can't live beyond its means forever.

QUINCY, MASS., PATRIOT LEDGER: "If President Eisenhower wants to halt inflation, he will have to call for strong government action. He will have to ask for enough taxes to balance the budget. He will have to take issue directly with American business and union leaders even to the point of threatening wage and price controls . . . . To get the American people to discipline themselves in a fight on inflation calls for extraordinary leadership . . . ."

According to the American Medical Association News, there were 3,505,000 births in this country during the first 10 months of last year—1.3% fewer than in the same months of 1957. There were 1,203,000 marriages—also slightly less than in the corresponding 1957 period.

Miss Sandra Sue Blacklock, Thomas R. West, United In Home Ceremony

Miss Sandra Sue Blacklock of 3008 Ave. U, Snyder and Mr. Thomas R. West, U. S. Navy, Long Beach, Calif., were united in marriage at 7 p. m. at the home of her aunt, Mrs. E. Stevenson Alexander.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. Carroll Blacklock and the late Mr. Blacklock. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. West of Rt. 2, Goreau are parents of the groom.

Rev. G. N. Allison, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony before an improvised altar of white wrought iron twined with fern, and urns of white gladioli on each side.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Dr. A. A. Smith, the bride was attired in a white imported lace dress with bouffant floor length skirt. The over skirt was of lace and the under skirt of pleated tulle and lace. The bodice featured a cabriole neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of pearls. Her bouquet was centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Douglas Moore of Shallowater, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a blue embroidered organza sheath with matching headress. Her bouquet was pink carnations.

Milton Bass of Abilene served as best man. Douglas Moore of Shallowater was usher.

Debra Waddill of Abilene, niece of the groom, was candle lighter. Soft organ music was furnished by Mrs. Don Boyles who accompanied Miss Carla Booe as she sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held in the home of the aunt immediately after the wedding. Serving in the houseparty were Meses, Bob Moore, Otis Waddill, Billy Greene, Jack Welch, Fred Broach, Sr. M. H. Reeves and S. B. Campsey.

The reception table was covered in a linen and lace cloth. A three tiered wedding cake topped with wedding bells, candelabra with white tapers and floral arrangement graced the table. The punch bowl was concealed with fern and pink sweet peas.

For the wedding trip to Abilene, Mrs. West chose an emerald green silk shantung suit with beige accessories.

The bride attended Munday High School and is now a senior at Snyder High School.

Mr. West is a graduate of Munday High School and attended Tarleton State College in Stephenville.

TEXAS' COTTON PICTURE: A CHALLENGE FOR SURVIVAL

Since man first set plow to the fertile fallow ground of Texas a century and a half ago, cotton has reigned supreme as the state's top agricultural money-maker. Today, that position of cotton faces a challenge — not only for continued supremacy — but for actual survival as an agricultural mainstay.

This challenge to the cotton industry of Texas and the South boils down in final analysis to one critical point: economic survival of the crop under today's heavy production costs. Competition from synthetics, threats of pest infestation and weather uncertainty are of minor concern when faced with the possibility of voluntary elimination of cotton as an economically unfeasible crop.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means to express our heartfelt thanks to all those who remembered us in our recent sorrow in the death of Mrs. Betty Rodgers. For the flowers, food, visits and many other expressions of sympathy we are truly grateful. May God bless you all.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Burns and family
Mrs. Ida Floyd and family
Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Rodgers and family

The responsibility for meeting this challenge has been placed squarely on the shoulders of the cotton farmer, for he alone can decide whether he can produce a cotton crop under today's pent-up costs and come out with a profit. He is under no obligation to anyone to undertake the tedious task of raising cotton, and if there is no money in it for him, he will switch to something else.

Lower Production Costs a Must

A too-frequently overlooked economic fact is that cotton is initially produced by the farmer for the benefit of the farmer and, of course, to provide fibre for consumer goods. Growth and profit of other facets of the cotton industry which follow the farmer are important, to be sure, but their growth and their profit are a by-product of the farmer's work, and they can not exist for any other purpose.

The price of the farmer's cotton bale today is more or less stabilized. But his expense involved in producing and getting it into the bale is not stabilized. Nowhere in our country has inflation become more real than in agricultural production costs, and no crop has been harder hit by inflated production costs than has cotton. If costs continue to rise at the present rate of increase, a cotton crop won't put a dollar into the farmer's jeans, and then no one else in the industry can hope for a dollar either.

While the Texas farmer's chances for an equitable profit from cotton production have lessened, he has at least been given a provisional opportunity to try his luck at coming out on a larger production volume. The change in acreage allotment rules allowing for increased cotton acreage under a lowered support price could possibly give cotton farming a boost in some areas where production is most economical such as in South, Central and West Texas.

This alternative to a higher support accompanying acreage is hailed by many farmers who are more willing to work unhampered on a sizeable crop and to take their chances on getting a fair price. With the Soil Bank gone — and no one in Texas has expressed extreme regret at seeing it go — the prospect of increased or renewed production will likely bring to front the farmer's enterprising spirit to face even the challenge of production costs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McAfee and children, Vicki, Faith and Mark, of Azle spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McAfee.

Mrs. Chas. Moorhouse returned home last Sunday after several weeks visit with her daughter, Mrs. P. F. Hood and family, in Galveston.

Little Robbie Herring of Abilene is spending this week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coody.

More recollections of the winter of 1920-21, spent in Cotulla at the Travelers Hotel:

The hotel guests, "regulars" and those who spent only one night under the roof of the Travelers Hotel, were an interesting study and many of them I can recall 38 years afterward. There was an oil stock salesman named Snow from Chicago; a member of the legislature from Houston — his name was Hall; a big man with clipped mustache who was a spinach buyer; a lawyer who was a former member of the legislature — he was of German descent and spoke with a decided accent; his name was Burmester, or something similar, a widely-read and interesting conversationalist. He confided that he had never tried to get rid of the accent, implying that before a non-Teutonic jury, it created sympathy for his client because they felt the attorney was handicapped by an imperfect command of the language, which was far from the case.

Another guest was a wealthy, middle-aged widow whose husband, an Oklahoma oil man, had been shot to death and the slayer was serving a life sentence. Then there was a likeable young Irishman, with white teeth, dark mustache and ready smile, who spoke fluent Spanish and who attended every performance of a tent show in the Mexican quarter.

Still another was quite generous with information about himself. He had, he said, been a federal judge but had resigned and he was a friend of Senator Bailey and also of former Gov. James E. Ferguson and had contributed to their campaigns.

I did not realize how closely I was studying the guests until some months later, in a Brown-wood hotel lobby, I saw the former federal judge and spoke to him, mentioning that I had met him in Cotulla. When he said he did not remember me and could not even remember ever having been in Cotulla, I said, "Then you had better be careful; you have a double" and I proceeded to quote a half dozen things that the man in the Cotulla hotel lobby had said about himself and the "judge" had to acknowledge that the man had been himself.

The most interesting of all the many guests was a soldier of fortune. He related that he had been in Nicaragua and had knocked down the dictator, General Castro, the result being that the "gringo" was thrown in jail with an excellent prospect of facing a firing squad but bribed a guard and escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ballinger and daughter of Dallas visited his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Norvill and children of Lubbock spent last Saturday night and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Norvill.

Floyds Observe 50th Wedding Date On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Floyd of Knox County were honored on their Golden Anniversary Sunday, March 16, in the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. B. Stubblefield.

Mr. Floyd, who has been a patient in the Knox County Hospital the past three weeks, was allowed to be brought to Munday for the celebration. He is 71 and Mrs. Floyd is 70.

They were married March 14, 1909, in the home of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowen, in Munday by the late Rev. W. H. Richards of Rule.

Mr. Floyd moved from Johnson County to Knox County with his parents in 1889 when he was a year old, where his father was a farmer and he himself became a farmer and with his wife lived on a farm until his retirement in 1936.

In 1941 he ran for sheriff of Knox County and in 1942 took office and they lived in Benjamin until 1946. Moving to Knox City they ran a laundry for two years. He was elected City Marshal of Knox City and since that time has served on the law force as Constable until his illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd were the parents of five daughters, one deceased. The daughters are Mrs. Homer Hediger and Mrs. Douglas Hutchenson of San Antonio; Mrs. Doug Meinzer of Knox City and Mrs. H. B. Stubblefield of Munday. They have ten grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

One hundred and thirty friends, neighbors and relatives called during open house to congratulate and wish the couple a happy anniversary. Out of town guests were from Fort Worth, Azle, Vera, Denver City, Abilene, Weatherford, Dallas, Clyde, Crosbyton, San Antonio, Lubbock, La-

Wesleyan Service Guild Entertains Seniors Tuesday

The Wesleyan Service Guild entertained the senior class of Munday High School with a luncheon at the Methodist Church Tuesday noon.

The decorations carried out the theme of St. Patrick's Day. The plate favors were shamrocks tied with Irish pipes.

Mrs. Oscar Spann presented Danny Earle of Weiner who furnished the program. He played several piano selections, then entertained the crowd with a number of jokes.

Thirty-two seniors, their sponsors, Jas. H. Bardwell and Mrs. Travis Lee, and Rev. and Mrs. Rex Mauldin were present.

There are 300,000 plant species in the world, but U. S. farmers depend almost entirely on about 150.

One reason that fish have added cotton rats to their diet is because the rats are so plentiful.

Other items found in the stomachs of fish include grapes, red-winged blackbirds, chicken bones, ducklings and cliff swallows.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jarvis and Mrs. Virgil Williams and Mike visited with Virgil Williams in the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring last Sunday.

Glenn Phillips of A. C. C. in Abilene was a week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown and children attended the Grocer's Retail Association meeting in Wichtia Falls last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Embree and her son, Joey Davis, and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Fritz all of Abilene visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hobert over the week end and attended the funeral of Clyde Warren, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams and children of Ozona visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reeves, over the week end.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and heartfelt thank for all the food, flowers, cards and every other expression of kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our loved one, Clyde B. Warren. May God bestow his richest blessing on such wonderful friends.

Mrs. Clyde Warren and family

Bass And Catfish Sometimes Dine On Cotton Rats

AUSTIN — Certain fish have varied appetites, and will eat nearly anything at one time or another, according to the Director of Inland Fisheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

This conclusion is based on samples taken from the stomachs of several fish. Such samples have included everything from rat skulls to peanuts, sack and all.

A skull taken from the stomach of a channel cat caught in Little River in Leon County was recently sent in for identification. It turned out to be that of a Sigmodon hispidus, or bristle-haired cotton rat. This not only indicates that the rat spends some of his time swimming, but also that cats, even of the fish species, live up to tradition. The skull was compared with many others that had been found in other fish in the State. It proved to be the same as the others.

A Wichita Falls biologist stated that he also had found skulls in bass and cats in that area, indicating that rats must constitute a part of the diets of these two fish. Samples from fish taken at Belton Reservoir, which covered pecan flats in certain areas, revealed that some of the fish there were pecan-eaters.

In the case of the peanuts, one fish not only contained samples of nuts but a portion of the

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says A Farmer Can Move To Australia But He Won't Escape The Controls There

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses the weighty problem of controls this week, with what results it's hard to say.

Dear editor: Every once in a while some thinker, after wrestling with the farm problem generally from a desk in a city, comes out with the announcement that if a farmer can't make it on a farm, let him move to town.

I never have paid any attention to this, as I'm not planning on moving to town, as I don't know anything about a town that'd make me more efficient than I am out here on this Johnson grass farm, and the best I can judge, city people have about as many economic problems as country people.

But I'll admit I'm a little puzzled by a farmer in the state of Michigan who has announced government controls have finally gotten him down and he's selling out and moving to Australia.

Now if anybody wants to move to Australia, it's all right with me, but I'm afraid if that Michigan farmer thinks he's going to farm down there without any so-called controls, he'd better hold back enough money for a ticket to some place else. According to an article I read last night, an Australian farmer can plant what he wants to, but he can't sell to anybody except the government, at a price the government figures up after it buys all the stuff and sees what it can sell it for.

If this Michigan farmer doesn't like that system, he can move to England, where the government not only has controls, but even will put you off your land if you don't take care of it.

If that farmer doesn't like that system, he can move to Russia, where he could farm all right but couldn't own his land or what he grows.

Come to think of it, I don't know where that farmer can move to to escape controls, and the way I see it, he may find Michigan isn't such a bad place after all.

As a matter of fact, controls probably are about like taxes. Everybody complains about them, it's sort of a duty nowadays, but we might be in worse shape without them than with them.

Personally, I'm going to stick with the United States, I'm going to stick with Texas, and I'm going to stick with this Johnson grass farm here on the creek.

Texas Jersey Does Things Up In A Big Way

People from the "Lone Star State" make a practice of doing things in a big way. Apparently Signal Sable's Knight Doris, a 3-year-old registered Jersey cow owned by Victory Jersey Farm, Tulla, Tex., is also following the practice.

Doris just recently turned in a record breaking performance to The American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio. She produced 17,998 lbs. milk with 1.056 lbs. fat in 305 days at the age of 3 years and 9 months. This is not only a new state milk and fat record but also a new national record for both milk and fat for senior 3-year-olds in 305 days.

Time Of Year To Be Careful About Reptiles

This is the time of the year when poisonous reptiles, such as the very unpopular but well known rattlesnake, are coming out. According to H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary, Texas Game and Fish Commission, March is the month when the weather is just cool enough to keep the snakes in their dens and just warm enough to make it nice for an outing.

"This situation will not last long," declares the executive secretary. "Once the warm weather arrives in force, the rattlers will leave these dens and begin to slip through the brushlands or just lie behind rocks and drowse in the sun."

Dodgen described the large catches made recently at Sweetwater as proof enough that there will be plenty of snakes in Texas when hot weather comes. Some four thousand rattlesnakes were captured during the two day snake hunt held in that ranching area.

"Be extra careful when on an outing," he warned. "These killers usually hide in places where you'd least expect them to be. Don't reach behind a rock or a stump until you've checked for snakes. When lifting wood from a pile, jab it a few times to make sure there are not rattlers there. Know all the precautions and remember them when you're in the country or even in your own back yard."

He stressed the importance of at least one in a group knowing the first aid for snake bites. "If you're going into the woods, know how to doctor a snake bite. There are all kinds of pamphlets out on this subject. Knowing it may save a life."

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Phillips were Mr. and Mrs. Norris Smith and son of Stamford, Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Pistole of Merkel and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Leverett and children of Old Glory.

Week end guests in the home of Mrs. Vera Patterson were Mr. and Mrs. Buster Nance of Santa Anna, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Howell of Plainview and Buck Howell and son, Billy Lynn, of Brownfield.

Mrs. Cecil Gulley and Mrs. Coy Tuggle and her daughter, Mrs. Billy Bradford of Snyder, visited their sister, Mrs. Lillie Green, and niece, Mrs. Lloyd Routen, in Farwell several days last week.

"FERTILIZER USE AND SOIL TESTING ON ROLLING PLAINS"

By William F. Bennett, Extension Soil Chemist Texas Agricultural Extension Service

Summary

Crop yields are dependent on soil fertility, previous cropping history, previous fertilizer use, general moisture conditions, insect and disease control, type of season and other such factors. Since soil fertility level is only one factor affecting crop yields, profit from fertilizer use will vary from year to year, with good profits in some years and low profits, or even losses, in some years. But if the right kind and the right amount of fertilizer is used at the right time, fertilizer will pay in most years.

The big question on fertilizer use is to determine the right kind and right amount to use and the best time and method to apply the fertilizer.

To determine kind and amount of fertilizer, first get the soil tested by a reliable soil testing laboratory. Use this as a guide. Adjust the recommended rate up or down on the basis of previous results with fertilizer and on the basis of general moisture conditions at time of planting.

Under non-irrigated conditions, fertilizer generally will not pay in dry years. When it is time to apply fertilizer, check subsoil moisture. If moisture is in good supply, there is a better chance that fertilizer will pay than if little or no moisture is present.

Moisture reserves in the subsoil will help to carry the crop through dry periods. Under irrigated conditions, fertilizers should pay in most years if it is needed.

General needs of the area are primarily nitrogen and phosphorus. This is true for cotton, grain sorghum and small grain. Potassium is seldom needed on heavier soils. On sandy soils with irrigation, potassium may pay when higher rates of nitrogen and phosphorus are used. Responses to magnesium generally are not great enough to be profitable. Trace element need is not great. To determine the need for these secondary and trace elements, try some on a few acres to see if it pays.

Tony Gresham of Wichita Falls is spending this week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Henson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pitts and daughter, Cindy, of Lubbock were week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Williams.

Richard Whitworth of Ruidoso, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Combs and children of Dallas spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Whitworth.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Weldon Smith and children, Linda and Kenneth, visited with his mother and other relatives in Springtown over the week end.

Tom Bullington and George Nix of Goree were business visitors in Austin the first of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gilbert of El Paso were guests in the Tom Bullington home last Monday night.

Mrs. Ola Trice left last Wednesday morning for her home in Fresno, Calif., after a six weeks visit here with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McAfee. While in Texas she also visited with relatives in Fort Worth and Lubbock.
