Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

That little shower that came last Friday evening was a refreshing thing.

Following right on the heels of another one of those gravel-moving, eye-filling, house-dirtying dusts, it almost rained mud for a period. But as enough moisture fell that the dust kinda subsided, the shower was even more enjoyable than a bright, sunny day 'cause we need the moisture.

It started out like one of those early fall rains that could last for days. "If it rains like this all night and until noon tomorrow," we remarked, "we can plant our 1959 pea patch, come Good Friday" — and then it quit!

Anyway, the shower served to remind us that it still can rain — an event that we can continue to look forward to. It's been so long since a good, soaking rain came that some of us have forgotten how it is. "If we could just make another good crop this year, everybody would be in pretty good shape," we heard one person remark this week, "but it's not looking too good."

It's almost too dry for irrigation! Heard Monday night that Ken Whitmore is watering his potato crop, and that it takes nine days to water nine acres, the ground soaks up the water so fast.

And speaking of pea patches, our Mrs. is pretty much of a Good Friday gardener and usually gets us out on that date to plant our peas. Some of the neighbors have already planted gardens, but we've just been waiting for Good Friday in particular and for a good rain in general.

Come city election time — which is Tuesday, April 7, the voters will be handed two ballots. One is for the regular city councilmen to be elected — and all to be re-elected — and the other is to decide whether our city officers will be elected for two-year terms, as in the past, or for four-year terms.

Personally, we kinda lean toward the four-year term, but maybe it has its drawbacks. If we should get a bad one on the city governing board, we're stuck with him for four years. Generally in towns of our size the city jobs go begging and a lot of campaigning has to be done to get someone to run. Then when he gets on, we keep him as long as he will agree to serve.

We've started electing our county officials for four-year terms, so why not our city officials?

A busy place in Munday last Friday was the city hall, where John Smith and his helpers were issuing the new 1959 auto license plates. Those people became busy as soon as they got here, and continued so through most of the day.

When John was in our shop, placing the license plate ad, we remarked of how much comment we had on our 1958 license number, 3131, which we accidentally drew last year. He offered us the same number this year, when he got to it, or even our home telephone number, 2301, and we decided on the latter. Even as busy as they were Friday, they never did get down to our number — so we're still on the docket for 2301.

We have learned since writing the above that still a third ballot will be presented city voters on April 7. This is in regard to burr trash burning at the gins, which has been in controversy for some two years.

City officials are asking an "advisory vote" regarding this matter. If you want the burr burning stopped, you may say so by secret ballot; if you don't you can say so by the same method, and more than likely the matter will be dropped. Future action by the city council will depend upon your vote.

Marion Elliott, who underwent surgery in the Baylor Hospital in Dallas three weeks ago, was able to be brought home last Tuesday by McCauley ambulance. Marion is reported to be doing fine but will have to remain in bed for a few weeks.

Knox City Girl Wins In County Spelling Bee

Linda Swaner, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt L. Swaner of Knox City, was crowned champion of the Knox County spelling bee, which was held last Saturday at the Munday Elementary School.

By winning this event, Linda will represent this county and compete with other county champions at the district spelling bee in Wichita Falls on April 18.

Winning the Knox County spelling crown was no easy matter for Linda as three other contestants forced the bee to run 85 rounds and through 274 words before the final mistake came.

Bee finalist, Helen Bentley of Munday Junior High School crossed her E's with her I's to misspell "entirely" by starting the word with an "I."

Helen is the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bentley of Munday. Two other contestants displayed fine spelling knowledge but fell before nervousness in the 10th and 30 round.

Lynette Fuller of Vera was the unlucky first school champion to fall by spelling the wrong "bore." Lynette spelled the word as "boar," the animal. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fuller of Vera and an eighth grade student at Vera.

Alvin Alexander, the only young man in the spelling bee, held on for some time before he got crossed up on the word "dedicate" spelling it "delectate" to bow from the contest.

Alvin represented the Benjamin schools, where he is an eighth grade student and the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Alexander.

All of the Knox County spellers were eighth graders and each 14 years of age.

The spellers all gave a good account of themselves and were fine representatives of their schools, teachers and parents.

Pronouncer for the spelling bee was Rev. Grady W. Allison, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Munday. Judges were Mrs. C. A. Bullion of Benjamin, Mrs. Otis Cash of Knox City and Mrs. Alice Wynn of Munday.

C. C. Brown, Munday Elementary School principal served as chairman for the spelling bee.

Linda replaces Sue Garrett as Knox County champion to the district bee in Wichita Falls.

Raging flames which were whipped by strong winds destroyed three business buildings in the heart of Benjamin, county seat of Knox County, last Tuesday night causing damage which was estimated to be at least $100,000.

The fire, which broke out about 8:30 p. m., was brought under control around midnight as fire department from three cities aided the Benjamin firemen in fighting the flames, which at times shot 60 feet into the air. The fire raged out of control for about four hours.

Virtually destroyed were the J. L. Galloway hardware store and the town's two grocery

Farm Waterways Are Popular In Soil District

Farm waterways are becoming more popular with farmers and ranchers in the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District than ever before. The heavy rains in the past two years have caused serious washing and gullies on many of the farms with sloping land and where terrace outlets were not protected. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service are assisting in construction of several waterways at the present time. Waterways will be constructed in the next few weeks for the following: Jack Neathery, Lewis Nanny and Mrs. M. A. Bush. Later this year Sydney Alexander will construct a waterway under his Great Plains Contract. Application for waterway assistance has been requested by the following: Anton Brown, Bobby Burnett and Alvin Huskinson.

A good vegetated waterway should not be considered as idle land since it could be used for grass seed production and will produce an abundance of grazing. When grazing is practiced it should be limited to seasonal grazing.

King Ranch Bluestem, Side Oats Grama, Blue Grama, Buffalo, Little bluestem, Coastal and common bermuda are several of the principal grasses used in waterways. Cultivated grasses such as sorghum alnum and blue panicum are not generally recommended for waterways.

Several would like to use bermuda grass, but are afraid of its spreading into cultivated fields. This can be remedied by planting a strip of K.R. Bluestem or Buffalo on the field sides. This method has proven very successful and is used extensively farther east.

Farmers interested in establishing waterways should contact the SCS or the ASC office in Knox City and inquire about technical assistance and cost-share payment.

Guy Rannels, 57, former resident of this area, died suddenly last Friday at his home in Lubbock. He suffered a heart attack and was found dead, fully clothed lying across his bed.

Funeral services were held in Lubbock last Sunday, with burial in a Lubbock cemetery.

Mr. Rannels came to this area when about three years of age and was reared in the Brushy community. The family moved to Denver, Colo., in 1926, then lived in Phoenix, Ariz., several years before moving to Lubbock in 1945. Mr. Rannels suffered his first heart attack about ten years ago.

Survivors include his wife, the former Edith Wilson, and two sons, Melton of Clovis, N. M., and Jerry Rannels of Monahans.

OVERCHARGED AND GOUGED — Vestal Lemmon, general manager of the National Association of Independent Insurers, used this chart to show members of the House Insurance Committee at Austin that Texans were paying $34 million more than necessary for their car insurance. The chart shows that Texans, under a single-rate system, pay from $15 to $50 more each for their auto insurance than drivers in neighboring states, where flexible insurance prevails.

HOME AWAY FROM HOME

Burns, Kansas, has a population of only 310. But the Institute of International Education has presented the people of Burns with its coveted award for distinguished service.

The award was given for the achievement of the Burns people in creating a home away from home for foreign students from all parts of the world. Since 1954, young men and women of every race, creed and color have been welcomed into the homes of the Burns farmer, the cabinet-maker, the minister, the businessman, the teacher. A foreign student characterized the distinctive character of the little town in these words: "Burns is on the way to and from everywhere."

The first visitors were 10 foreign students from the University of Kansas. Not only did they return, but they brought with them friends from campuses across the country.

In five years, 77 students from 37 countries—Hindus, Christians and Buddhists—have come to Burns not once but many times. The magnitude of this can be seen in a simple statistic—if the city of Washington, with its 800,000 population, had opened its homes on a comparable scale, it would have had 192,000 guests from abroad during that time!

It has been said that "Burns is the smallest U. S. community with the biggest foreign diplomatic service in the world." Burns deserves a salute that can be heard around the world.

HOW LONG WILL IT WORK?

Some politicians seek to curry public favor by advocating reduced income taxes for the low brackets. In the next breath they advocate higher state and federal gasoline taxes which for the low income taxpayer would probably mean an increase in his total tax load, as a car and gasoline are a necessity for the average worker to reach his job.

That's what you might call playing politics on a "heads I win, tails you lose" basis.

SOMERSET, OHIO, PRESS: "It is about time that education includes the idea that an individual attains satisfaction, not by getting everything or the highest honors for himself, or herself, but by serving society in his or her place, with distinction."

—SAY YOU SAW IT IN THE TIMES—

MERCHANTS OF MENACE

Did you ever hear of "merchants of menace"? A pamphlet recently issued by the American Medical Association tells who they are. They're the lineal descendants of "the frontier medicine man whose potent snake oil and wolf milk elixirs were always 'smuggled out of the sacred tombs of ancient Egypt.'" Nowadays, the pamphlet goes on, "The top hat and torchlights are gone—but the medicine man is still with us, and now he's beating the drums for his potions and remedies at your doorstep, on lecture platforms, and through the mail. He's the sophisticated salesman who bleats warnings against 'that tired feeling', 'sub-clinical deficiencies', 'devitalized food', and 'aging before your time!'"

This modern medicine man offers—at handsome prices—pills, capsules, powders and other preparations which, he swears, will compensate for deficiencies in your diet that are causing your ills. Usually his products are harmless in themselves, but they won't cure anything. So tragedy may befall an ill person who is duped into believing in the efficacy of the concoctions—and doesn't call a qualified physician until it's too late.

The AMA pamphlet points out that a well-balanced daily diet should include milk and dairy products, vegetables and fruits, meat, fowl, fish or eggs, and bread and cereals. If we use these standard foods in reasonable balance and quantity, there's no need for supplements unless, of course, your doctor recommends them and tells you what kind to get. Don't patronize the medicine men.

ABILENE, KANSAS, DAILY REFLECTOR-CHRONICLE: "A New York grand jury looking into collapse of discipline in the schools made this stinging report:

"Our classrooms are turning out far too many delinquents and it can be expected that matters will be worse until teachers again are placed in command. Respect for teachers has been tossed out the window by starry-eyed educational leaders who encourage freedom while de-emphasizing responsibility for one's actions."

What's a young man's chance of being drafted today? According to U. S. News & World Report, currently 7 out of 10 put in some military service before they become 26. No one above 25 is now being called.

Mrs. Thomas J. Brogan's a homebody now.

After 17 years of having a career, she's enjoying full time housework and care of her nine-month-old son, Tommy.

"I didn't have too much of an adjustment to make," she says of the change from career to home. "I always had thought I would like housework."

Mrs. Brogan was working at a Denver Air Force base when she applied for an overseas Civil Service job in 1947.

"I sent in my application just for kicks," she says. "In less than a week it was accepted and I was in Europe in two months."

Traveled Through Europe

She woke in Frankfurt where she had a two and one-half year holiday. Vacation trips took her to Italy, France, England, Ireland and Scotland.

Mrs. Brogan met her husband in Germany. He's from New York and was stationed there with the occupation forces. They were married in March, 1949, in a civil ceremony performed by the mayor of Frankfurt, and in a religious ceremony.

The ship they returned to the United States on was the same one that both had gone over on at different times.

Now that she's not working, Mrs. Brogan is active in only one club — the Women's Overseas Service League, composed of women who were in the service, the Civil Service, Red Cross, USO or who were teachers overseas.

"I was never one for hobbies," Mrs. Brogan says. But she likes to cook so well she counts it as almost a hobby. She never had much chance to cook until she became a fulltime housewife.

The Brogans live at 5844 Straley, Fort Worth, where Mrs. Brogan has a lot of opportunity to try out the recipes she collects.

Mrs. Brogan is the former Katie Sweatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Sweatt.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Beard

This week the President recommended the expenditure of approximately 4 Billion Dollars for the foreign aid program. This request is undoubtedly in for rough shelling in the Congress, particularly in view of the recent report filed by a Subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee which points out in general terms incidents of shocking waste in our overseas military aid programs. Examples of this waste were a 185 year supply of ammunition at one installation, a foreign motor pool receiving U. S. aid sufficient to put 44 tires on every truck, and military construction materials being diverted for apartment houses for civilians. Before the recommended expenditure can be justified, there must be a showing that this whole program would have a much tougher administration. The best way to bring about the economic development in the undeveloped countries that are friendly to us would be to encourage American business to move into overseas operations. Private business would not tolerate the waste that exists in our Government foreign aid program. Nor would they start businesses or enterprises in a foreign country unless there appeared to be some good chance that they would be profitable and make a real contribution to the economy of a country. Secretary of Defense McElroy has announced his intention to resign within the next few months. While he has done a good job as Head of the Department of Defense, he has been at the job just long enough to gain the experience necessary to carry out the activities of this huge Department. It is regrettable that men of Secretary McElroy's caliber cannot be persuaded to stay in the Government. We need the best men available to serve responsible Government positions, but we don't always have them on account of the growing reluctance of many capable people to leave private life for Government service.

The present Congress, as well as representing every geographical section of the country, also is a representative cross section of its economic, religious, and political viewpoints. Besides a good many lawyers and doctors, membership includes 6 bankers, three accountants, 6 advertising men, 5 labor leaders, 2 gold miners, one chemist, 2 funeral directors, 3 clergymen, a landscape architect, an inventor, and even a fertilizer distributor. Twenty-eight different religious denominations have members in Congress. Thus, Congress is truly representative. What its Members do reflect either good or ill on the country as a whole. A member of Congress, therefore, owes it not only to himself, but to his country, to serve in such a way that he avoid not only evil but even the very appearance of evil.

Stamford Slates Revival Crusade

Revival Crusade, sponsored by the Jones County Baptist Associational Brotherhood, will be held at the First Baptist Church in Stamford Thursday and Friday, April 2 and 3. Lewis Timberlake, president, has announced.

Services will begin each evening at 8 p. m. and will feature a musical program of familiar hymns and choral interpretations with solos and instrumental presentations.

The evangelistic team of Bo and Dick Baker of Dallas will direct the spiritual mission. Timberlake said. This unique brother team presents the Bible in song and sermon, declaring the relevancy of Jesus Christ as the great answer for the dilemma of today's world.

World-famed evangelist Billy Graham said of them: "Bo and Dick Baker, both of whom I regard as close friends, will be a great credit to the field of evangelism. Both are talented, sincere men of God. My confident prayer is that God will wonderfully bless the efforts of these dedicated brothers."

Bo Baker brings to the pulpit a rich background of experience for an evangelistic ministry. As an original member of the Youth Revival Movement, he preached and sang his way across the Southland. For 15 years he served as pastor. Dick Baker delights in being introduced as a gospel singer. While in Baylor University he organized and directed the Baylor Religious Hour Choir.

Rev. Jack Southerland, host pastor, invites people from the entire area to be in Stamford for these Crusade services.

The Agricultural Outlook For 1959

By John G. McHaney, Extension Economist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Farmers and rancher of Texas have entered 1959 with renewed hope. Total cash receipts from agricultural marketings were much larger in 1958 than in 1957. Ranges and pastures are in good condition and Texas livestock are in better condition than they have been since 1942.

However, total net farm income in the United States during 1959 may be 5 to 10 percent below that of 1958. This expected decline will not be due to a drop in domestic demand; however, foreign demand will probably decline this year.

The main problem facing agriculture is that production is still over expanded in terms of available markets and with normal weather conditions we can expect another large output of agricultural products this year.

The index of prices received for agricultural products will average a little lower in 1959 and the index of prices paid for production items will be a little higher than in 1958. We can expect the price-cost squeeze to continue in agriculture.

It appears that narrow profit margins are due in 1959, and may be for several years to come until we find some way to reduce supplies or increase the demand for agricultural products.

The supply of feed grains and other feed concentrates for the present marketing year is about 242 million tons, a new record and 10 percent larger than last year. There will be an increase of about 25 percent in the carryover of feed grains and concentrates at the end of this marketing year.

The supply of sorghum grain is 43 percent above that of last year and it is expected that the carryover on October 1, 1959, will be 70 percent larger than that of October 1, 1958.

As a result of these large supplies, we expect average prices for feed grains in 1959 to be lower than in 1958, however, increased interest in livestock feeding will help to give some strength to feed grain prices.

The supply of cotton during the present marketing year is about 2 million bales less than that of last year and is about 7 million bales less than the record in 1956-57. The disappearance of cotton is expected to decline during the present marketing year for the second consecutive year, mainly because of reduced exports.

Exports of cotton during 1958-1959 are expected to total about 1 million bales compared with 5.7 million bales last year. This reduction in exports will be due to a smaller demand abroad, increased competition from foreign producers and the fact that fewer foreign countries have American dollars with which to buy cotton.

Cotton consumption has not kept pace with the rise in per capita income in the United States. Per capita consumption in 1957 was about 9 percent lower than that of 1956, whereas per capita consumption of manmade fibers showed an increase.

If weather conditions are good and if a large number of our farmers choose Choice B, chances are that our cotton supply will increase in the 1959-1960 marketing year.

There were 96.9 million head of cattle on farms and ranches in the United States on January 1, 1959, 4 percent more than on January 1, 1958 and about the

Students Win In Events At O'Brien

A group of speech contestants of the Munday schools participated in the invitational tournament at O'Brien on Tuesday, March 17.

Mrs. Lee Haymes, speech teacher at O'Brien and meet director, said an Inter-scholastic League speech events were included in the meet. About 100 students competed. Winners for Munday are as follows:

Don Partridge, first in ex-temporaneous speech; Jerrilyn Kane, first in poetry reading; Evelyn Tomlinson, second in poetry reading, and Sandra Harper, third in senior declamation.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Melton over the week end were Mrs. Oletha Pillans of Winkler, Mrs. W. M. Melton of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Phillips and children of Cross Plains, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wolf of Haskell and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Sparks and little son of Odessa.

same as the previous record on January 1, 1956. This buildup in cattle numbers is the prelude to larger calf crops and probably lower prices in those years following 1959 or 1960.

Assuming that we have normal weather conditions, cattle prices in 1959 should remain fairly good because we expect a good demand from farmers and ranchers for restocking purposes, a good demand from feeders who want to utilize large amounts of feed and a good demand from consumers who still have high incomes. However, there is a good possibility that the price of cattle in the fall of 1959 may be a little lower than in the fall of 1958.

The 1958 fall pig crop was 17 percent larger than that of 1957 and this means more hogs on the market in the spring of 1959. It has been estimated that the 1959 spring pig crop may be 13 percent above the 1958 spring crop and we can expect more hogs on the market in the fall of 1959 than in the fall of 1958 and lower prices. Because of the large supplies of feed, hog production may continue large for several years.

The total supply of wheat for the present marketing year July 1, 1958 to June 30, 1959, is a new record and about 24 percent larger than that of last year. It has been estimated that the carryover on June 30, 1959, will set a new record. The minimum national loan rate on wheat for the 1959 crop has been set at $1.81 per bushel.

There are several unknown factors that can affect the 1959 agricultural outlook. If weather is extremely good in 1959, our supplies will increase and this will have a tendency to pull prices down. If a wide area drought should develop in 1959 this would cause the supply of some agricultural products to be reduced and this would have a tendency to push prices up. If there is war in 1959 and the United States is involved, this would cause prices of agricultural commodities to rise. We know how these unknown factors will affect agricultural prices and income but we do not know when these will develop.

If farmers of Texas get the right kind of weather in 1959, they should have a better year, even with higher production costs and somewhat lower prices, than they had in the drought years prior to 1958.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

If you sold your house during 1958 you will have to account for any profit or loss on your income tax return. The cost of the house plus any addition to the house, such as, chain link fence, original cost of putting in the lawn and shrubs and a number of other deductions including real estate fees may be deducted from the sale price in determining whether you have a profit or a loss.

You will probably be entitled to a capital gain on a profit. However, if you have a loss, you don't get a tax deduction. The 1959 edition of "Your Federal Income Tax," Publication 17, which is on sale at all Internal Revenue Service offices for 35c will probably answer all of your questions on just how to figure out whether you owe Uncle Sam some tax or not on the sale of your residence.

QUICK ACTION EASES THREAT TO TEXAS GRAINMEN

Texas' important grain industry was recently faced with its worst insect threat in modern times when the dread grain-mangling Khapra beetle was sighted in the state for the first time in far West Texas.

First location of the beetle by agriculture inspectors in an El Paso grain and feed milling operation prompted an immediate investigation, and an emergency crew of inspectors was rushed to El Paso from other points in the state. Findings thus far indicate that the infestation is likely localized, and that spread of infestation is being curbed by government-supervised fumigation operations of all suspicious grain products moving out of the area.

A native of India, the Khapra beetle is the most feared pest known to grainmen, capable of destroying or seriously downgrading every form of grain and feedstuffs. The beetle is very difficult to eradicate, requiring that the entire infested storehouse be covered with impervious material (usually plastic), including the ground area surrounding the building for a radius of about 30 feet. Then the interior is fumigated with methyl bromide, allowing plenty of time for fumes to seep into every crack and crevice of the building where the Khapras may cling.

The Khapra beetle is primarily a stored grain pest and is not found in open grain fields. It can survive for as long as three years without any food at all, but in the larva stage the pest has an enormous appetite. Grain damage, depending on weather conditions, varies from 5 to 30 percent although up to 75 percent damage has been reported. The beetle is a "dirty" feeder, breaking or powdering more kernels than it consumes.

The adult Khapra — which belongs to the same family as the carpet beetle — is small, about 1/16 inch in length. It is pale red-brown to dark brown or black in color with wing covers that usually have distinct red-brown markings. The larvae, 1/8 inch long, are yellowish brown and clothed with long brown hairs. The area between the segments and the underside of the body is pale yellow in color, giving the worm a ringed appearance when viewed from above.

Presence of Khapra beetle infestation is usually first noticed by the presence of the fuzzy larvae or their cast skins in clusters around the corners of grain bins or in used sacks.

Any suspected infestation should be immediately reported to John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cartwright and children of Lubbock visited Mrs. Lola Cartwright and Mr. and Mrs. Al Cartwright and children last Saturday.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer

Let's say you're a member of a neighborhood ladies club. It's your turn to put on the program, and you fret for days trying to wheedle an idea from an unresponsive brain.

Over and over you say to yourself: "If I just had a film to show . . . but where could I get one to interest a group of housewives?"

There just happens to be a public agency that will be happy to help you off the horns of that dilemma you're hung on — you or anyone else in a similar position.

It's the Texas State Department of Health. Or more precisely, the film library of the Department's Division of Health Education, with well over 1300 films available for free loan to responsible groups such as yours.

The loan business is booming. During December, January and February health films from the library were seen by an audience of more than 300,000 persons. Subjects ranged from communicable diseases to good human relations.

Would the ladies be interested in an expert account of how foods should be preserved to avoid the possibility of food-borne diseases? Drop a card to the library and ask that "40 Billion Enemies" be booked to you.

On second thought, it might be simpler to call your local health department and tell them your plans. Chances are they will assume responsibility for getting the film and supplying a health specialist to make side comments and answer questions after the film is shown.

Perhaps you'd like to show club members an approved, step-by-step method of making baby's formula. There's a sequence in a film titled "Linda" to do exactly that.

One of the most powerful films in the library is called "The High Wall." It explores the development of prejudices and how it can be communicated to children through parental attitudes.

DUMB WAITER is no dumb idea. German farmer attracts good-luck stork by hoisting early-spring fish dinners.

NEW HAT for Otto Graham, former Cleveland Browns' quarterback, is Commander's cap. He'll coach Coast Guard Academy.

SPACE SUITS? Nope, a lineup of parts for gas forced-warm-air furnaces for home heating. Gas has double role here, in that new automatic industrial gas equipment helps produce the furnaces.

Most library films are purchased from commercial producers, but when one is needed with a strictly Texas application, division staff members will direct, produce and photograph it themselves.

There are some 20 "home-made" films, all in sound and color, on library shelves. Moreover, six new ones are in some stage of development right at the moment.

Film library management, as is other work of the division, is aimed at a single purpose: To teach good health practices.

So the next time you're program chairman, why not write for a catalog of films and an order blank?

Chemical brush control is dealt with extensively in three leaflets published by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. They are L-413, "Brush Control with Ammate," L-414, "Brush Control with 2,4,5-T," and L-415, "Chemical Brush Control, Broadcast Application." They are available from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

Fence Climber: Still Head List Of Game Arrests

Trespassing continues the bare of game wardens. There were 59 persons arrested during February for trespassing on private property for their hunting, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

The monthly report showed a total of $8,184.78 paid in fines for game violations. Court costs amounted to $483 on the total of 258 arrests made by the wardens.

Night hunting was next high on the list of violations. There were 36 arrests for headlighting.

Fishermen without licenses also came in for 34 arrests, while 27 paid fines for hunting without licenses.

The director warned again about fishing without licenses.

"With the advent of warmer weather and more fishing, everyone should be careful about having his license," he said. "A license is required of all fishermen between 16 and 65 who fish outside of their home county, or fish with any kind of winding device anywhere, either in their home county or on the coast.

"Licenses can be obtained from so many sources there should be no difficulty in getting them."

The price of the Texas fishing license is $2.15. This license is good either for coastal or fresh water fishing, or for non-residents who fish in Texas waters.

Shorty Hudson of Watersville, Calif., visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. King last Sunday night enroute home from a visit with relatives in Throckmorton.

BOYCE HOUSE

One of the most interesting men with whom I have ever been associated (and one of the finest) was the late R. K. Phillips. He was manager of the Eastland Daily Oil Belt News when I became editor in 1921.

Things were pretty rushed during the day but, after the evening meal, there was opportunity for talk. Mr. Phillips had many wise sayings. He summed up the story of the settlement of the West with a sentence that I had never heard before, "Cowards never started and the weak died on the way." He also was the first I ever heard use the expression depicting the story of a fortune, "From shirt-sleeves to shirt-sleeves in three generations."

My work as executive vice president of a state association calls for considerable travel so I made application for a hotel credit card. Pretty soon, here came a letter to the association from the credit organization, stating, "Your Mr. Boyce House has applied for a credit card. Please tell us whether you consider him reliable. Any information will be kept confidential."

The reply to this inquiry read, "I unqualifiedly recommend Boyce House in every way. (Signed) Boyce House."

You know, three months went by and I thought I wasn't going to get that card. At last it came. I guess that organization finally hired somebody with a sense of humor.

This is a political legend of Texas and if any reader knows of any actual facts on which the story might have been based, this chronicler would be happy to hear from him.

Many years ago, two friends were talking politics. One asked "Who is going to be the next governor?" (It might have been

Texas Cites 4-H Alumni For State Honors

Four Texans were named "outstanding former 4-H Club members" in the state's 4-H Alumni Recognition program for 1958 by the Extension Service.

They are Mrs. Melvin Joe Winkler, 752 North Cedar, Kermit; Mrs. Lee Alexander, Cedar Creek; Mr. Aubrey L. Carr, Sr., Clint; Mr. Dewey Compton, 210 Spell St., Houston.

Each was awarded a burnished copper 4-H Alumni plaque given by the Olin Mathliessen Chemical Corporation, Plant Food Division, which supports the program nationally.

Gold Star 4-H'er
A former 4-H Gold Star girl, Mrs. Winkler has been one of the greatest boosters of 4-H Club work in Winkler County.

Following her own nine-year 4-H career, Mrs. Winkler became an adult volunteer leader. She has been especially active in dress revue projects and judging at various shows.

Club Leader 45 Years
Forty-five years of 4-H Club work is the remarkable record of Mrs. Alexander, a teacher and housewife.

She has been leading Cedar Creek 4-H'ers and serving as secretary of the Home Demonstration Council in the community. Recently, Mrs. Alexander was selected home demonstrator of the year.

4-H Fair Organizer

One of the originators of the El Paso County 4-H Livestock show, Mr. Carr, a two-bale-plus cotton farmer and livestockman, has been a volunteer 4-H leader the past seven years. He was instrumental in establishing the annual 4-H feeders barbecue in El Paso County.

Radio-TV Director

A graduate of Texas A&M, Mr. Compton plays an important role in spreading 4-H goodwill over radio and TV station KTRH. As farm director since 1953, he has broadcast 4-H programs and news over the network encompassing 81 counties in Texas and southwest California. He also served as Dewitt County agricultural agent.

U. S. Senator.) The other replied, "Brown." The first snorted, "Brown! Why, he'll be last." The upshot was a wager of $1,000 as to whether Brown would finish last.

The man who was betting that Brown wouldn't be last found his candidate was not doing so well so he himself filed for the office (the filing fee was $100), made no campaign, finished last and won the bet. (Brown was next to last, by the way.)

Farm Income Up 79 Pct. In 1958

Net income realized by Texas farmers in 1958 averaged $3,254 per farm, 79 percent more than in 1957, according to preliminary estimates of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Realized net income is the amount available for spending after farm production expenses were paid. Realized gross income per farm in Texas averaged $8,499 in 1958. This is $2,187 more than in 1957.

Cotton was responsible for more than half the increase in total cash receipts. Sorghum grain, wheat and cattle also showed substantial gains. But production expenses, especially depreciation charges, feed, livestock and hired labor, also rose.

Texas farmers increased inventories of crop and livestock in 1958. Total net income, which includes an allowance for these changes in inventories, averaged $3,212. A year earlier it was $2,431.

For the United States, realized net income averaged $2,750 per farm in 1958. This was 23 percent more than in 1957 and the third highest amount on record. Because of larger inventories, the total net income per farm showed an even greater increase. The average of $2,985 per farm was 25 percent more than in 1957, and second only to the 1948 record of $3,056.

WHITE AUTO STORE

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Warren

The story of

WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE and The Church Bell

"I don't need to advertise," an established merchant in Kansas once told William Allen White, renowned publisher of The Emporia Gazette. "Everybody knows me and knows what I sell."

"In that event," replied the thoughtful publisher, "we can dispense with the oldest advertising medium for the oldest institution in the world. See that church down the street," continued Mr. White, pointing to one of Emporia's oldest and most beautiful structures, "That church has been established here for many years. Everyone knows what it is and what it does. In the tower of the church is a bell and every Sunday it rings out to remind folks to come to church."

"Shoppers go where they are invited and stay where they are well treated," concluded the publisher.

"Regardless of how well established a firm may be, newspaper advertising is a repeated invitation and a reminder to come and do business with that store."

THE MOST BEAUTIFULLY COIFFURED WOMEN IN AMERICA

CHICAGO—The Ten Best Coiffured Women in America, as selected by members of The Guild of Professional Beauticians, were announced today.

Representing ten different fields, the winners include Elizabeth Taylor, for stage and screen; Dinah Shore for music; Margaret Chase Smith, United States Senator from Maine, received the choice for a woman in public affairs. The society winner is Mrs. Joseph Kingsbury Smith of New York City. Cell Chapman, New York designer, won the award in the fashion category. Representing the press is Sylvia Porter, syndicated financial columnist, and writer, Jean Kerr, author of Please Don't Eat the Daisies. Carola Mandel, Chicago socialite and international skeet shooting champion, received the award for the sports field, and Geraldine Stutz, president of Henri Bendel in New York, represents business. The Guild, sponsored by Helene Curtis, chose these women because their hairstyles are most suitable for their looks and personality, most adaptable for their way of life, and most appropriate for their career.

the Russians have backed away from the May 27th deadline, and there is more hope that the issues may be resolved peaceably.

The recently announced program to control imports of oil is a meaningful program and one that should bring greater stability to the domestic industry, and as a result of long study and careful consideration by both the Congress and the Executive Branch of the Government, it is based on authority granted in the Trade Agreements Act which was passed by Congress last year.

To this point little major legislation has been enacted by the Congress. This, of course, is the usual procedure for up until about this time each year most of the work goes largely unnoticed in the various committees and subcommittees where hearings are being held, and legislative programs are being developed. Just now are the committees beginning to report bills, and after Easter, the legislative tempo should step up considerably. The committee work of Congress receives entirely too little attention from the press and the public. Much is said about what goes on on the Floor of the House and Senate, but little attention is paid to the more vital work of all, which is the committee hearings and legislative sessions.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Bard

The crisis over West Berlin continues to overshadow all other events here in Washington. The President's statement of the United States' position to the Nation earlier this week over TV and radio was generally applauded by everyone. Our position of refusing to give in to the Russians seems to be paying off in a slight degree in that it now appears certain that there will be a Foreign Minister's meeting with Khrushchev's blessing, and assuming that this meeting may agree on an agenda for a summit meeting, then the heads of the great Nations will meet in an effort to work out the differences that exist in Berlin and Western Europe. It now appears that

Knox Prairie Philosopher Finally Answers The Question About Whether Or Not He Considers Himself Lazy

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek gets asked a question this week, but it's hard to say just what his answer is.

Dear editor:
The other day a man asked me if I was lazy.

"Whatta you mean?" I asked. I know his question would make some people mad, but it didn't bother me in the least and I just wanted to know what he meant.

"Well, I mean, you're always writing these letters to The Munday Times telling how much you sit around and read newspapers or figure out excuses for not working, and I was just wondering if you were lazy," he said.

Well, now, this is no question you answer yes or no, if you're a thinking man.

Laziness is not something which if you can succeed in labeling a man with, you've automatically proved he's worthless, or maybe even a menace.

Some of the world's worst problems have been caused by some of the world's busiest people.

Have you ever stopped to think how much better off the world would be and how much less your taxes would come to if Hitler had been a lazy man? And I imagine one of the hardest things to find in Russia today would be a lazy man. Furthermore, I doubt if it was laziness which caused the Japs to turn up at Pearl Harbor.

Understand, I'm not saying being busy is bad in itself, far from it; all I'm saying is that a person shouldn't assume that looking lazy is bad either. I don't say that if all farmers were lazy, we wouldn't have a farm problem, but I guarantee you we wouldn't have a surplus.

You have no idea how much happiness is caused by laziness. Have you ever stopped to think how happy sports fans have been made because their opponents' team wasn't working hard?

Or take business. Say there are four service stations, one on each corner at an intersection, in a spot where there's business enough for only two. It's true the ones that hustle the most will get the most business and stay solvent, but have you ever stopped to think what would happen if they all four hustled at full blast, equally the same? The way I figure it is, you'd have four busted service stations.

I tell you laziness has got to be thought about a long while and turned over and examined on all sides before you put it down as useless. Of course, this doesn't always work out that way. I know some intersections in some towns where there's a service station on all four corners, not enough business for more than two, and all four are still there. Have been for years.

I don't understand this, any more than anybody understands the world situation either.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.
Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coody and daughter of Wichita Falls visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coody, over the week end. Mrs. Coody and baby remained for a few a few days visit.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

LEGAL HEALTH

Are you in sound legal "health"? It costs much less to avoid legal trouble than to get out of it once you are in. Hence the family lawyer.

But since you can't go running to him all the time, how do you spot legal trouble in time? The following pointers will help in diagnosing your situation.

1. When you come of age, marry, have children, get a divorce, buy or sell property, move to another state, or when someone in your family dies, you may take on new legal rights and duties.

Then you may need to update your will, your insurance program, or the way you figure your taxes.

2. When you buy or sell property always have the legal papers prepared or checked by your attorney before you sign them or put up any money.

Double check your contracts, important letters or leases before (not after) you sign them.

3. The law defends your rights, but sometimes only if you yourself act within certain time limits. Make sure you do. Otherwise your claim may be outlawed, or it may be too late to file an action to protect your rights.

If you have been in a car accident, for example, get all the facts at once and check with your lawyer and your insurance company.

4. A few other questions may put you in good shape to avoid legal trouble:

In case something happens to you, who knows where you keep your papers — your deeds, will, insurance policies, or contracts?

Has everybody in your family a birth certificate?

Where is your marriage certificate? Your social security card?

Have you checked your life, hospital, health, home and accident insurance policies? Do they protect you the way you want? Does your life insurance plan, for example, fit in with your will?

Are your tax records in good shape?

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Gilliland Club Meets March 18

The Gilliland Home Demonstration Club held its regular session March 18 in the club room. Mrs. O. R. Miller, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. J. R. Spivey gave the devotional, and Mrs. Chas. Groves was in charge of recreation.

Mrs. Emil Navratil and Mrs. Hewitt Simmons demonstrated "one hour oven meal" consisting of ham and orange slices and brown sugar, green beans and mushroom casserole and prune cake, all cooked at the same time.

Twenty members answered roll call with suggestion for a quick meal. The following visitors were present: Mmes. J. R. Brown, H. M. Black, J. G. Adcock and W. R. Corder, all of Truscott; L. D. Allen, Vera; M. G. Lewis, Fort Worth, and George Solomon, Gilliland.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge Coffman and Mrs. William Hertel and sons visited Mr. and Mrs. Everton B. Hosea and Brad in Sterling City over the week end. Mrs. Hosea and Brad returned home with them for a week's visit.

Mrs. Charles McCauley and daughters returned home last Sunday from a ten-day visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McCallum, in Mertens.

Mrs. Frank Fancher and children of Dallas visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Price, several days this week.

Vegetation Is Biggest Problem On Many Lakes

Surveys conducted on several inland lakes and reservoirs indicate that vegetation is probably one of the biggest problems existing on these lakes. Waters involved were the Highlands Reservoir, Sheldon Reservoir, Lake Houston, and Turtle Bayou at Lake Anahuac, according to the director of Inland Fisheries, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Netting and seining samples taken from the Highlands Reservoir revealed its poor condition since restocking in 1957. Water pumped in from Lake Houston reinfested the lake with many rough fish.

No actual survey work was conducted on Lake Houston; however, a major vegetation problem is present. A hyacinth concentration of approximately 40 acres was located in the upper end of the lake. The City of Houston was notified about the area and spraying will begin soon.

A hyacinth control program was initiated on Lake Anahuac upon discovery of a vegetation problem. However, inclement weather prevented completion of the job.

During last year's surveys, large numbers of white bass were found in Turtle Bayou. An attempt will be made to catch these fish for restocking Lake Houston.
