THE BEST OF ETHICS

At a recent meeting of the Wayne County Medical Society, which includes the city of Detroit, a doctor paid high tribute to one of this country's leading pharmaceutical companies. The company in question is Eli Lilly—but, as the doctor pointed out, what he said applies equally well to any of the leading drug concerns. All of them maintain research departments staffed with highly trained specialists.

The reason for the tribute is a new anti-rabies vaccine developed after seven years of work and research, conducted at great expense. The old Pasteur treatment, valuable as it was, would on occasion produce terrible side affects. Sometimes these resulted in death. Even though the patient survived, he might be a mental and physical wreck all his life.

The new vaccine is safe, and eliminates hazards to the brain and central nervous system. It thus is a milestone in medical progress. Yet, as the doctor observed, the company probably never will recover the expense of producing it, because of the rarity of rabies.

To quote him directly, "This is pharmaceutical ethics, business ethics, medical ethics at its highest."

IT CAN'T BE BLAMED ON DEFENSE

Senator Byrd of Virginia says: "Contrary to general understanding, recent great increases in federal spending have not been for defense and foreign aid. They have been for domestic-civilian programs . . . Since 1954, expenditures outside of defense, atomic energy, and foreign aid categories have grown from $19.1 billion a year to $33.4 billion. This is an increase of $14.3 billion, or 75 per cent."

In other words, basic needs aren't responsible for the swollen budgets. Non-essentials and luxuries are. To quote him once more, "Our people must remember that the very foundation of our system rests upon the fact that the people must support the government. It is not the purpose of government to support the people."

T. S. Burnett, president, California Taxpayer's Assn., warns that government hasn't the intention or the will to return to sound money and that the threat of a snowballing inflation presents the most serious economic problem in the United States today.

PERFORMANCE IN THE MARKET PLACE

Performance in the market place is the key to evaluating the kind and quality of competition in an industry. That view comes from the agricultural counsel of a food chain association. Then he proceeded to give this six-point summary of what consumers are getting when they go to a modern food market:

1. A system which is responsive to their wants and needs. 2. An amazing array of new products to meet their needs and their fancy. 3. Food at lower prices. 4. Operating efficiency through technological improvements. 5. Low profit margins. He added, "Today there is no more competitive industry in the United States than the retail food distribution business." This has not only reduced the cost of food to consumers, but has caused each member of the industry to seek new ways to do a better job than its competitors.

All these points apply in principle to the other branches of retailing—the department stores, the variety stores, and so on. We take mass distribution for granted. We tend to overlook the miracles it has accomplished. So it's worth restating that it has been one of the primary forces in raising and maintaining our living standards.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WEEK

What do public school officials think of Sunday Schools? Dr. John J. Theobald is Superintendent of Schools in New York City, controlling the teaching and preparation for life of one million boys and girls. Here is what he says about Sunday Schools:

"Man's two greatest adventures are exploring the world around him and the worth within him. Whether he probes with a missile or a prayer, he's on the high road to adventure, and his preparation must begin early in life. Sunday Schools of all faiths stress the principles that start young people in the right direction."

To help focus attention on the importance of our nation's Sunday Schools, the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., a non-sectarian, non-profit organization, has been sponsoring National Sunday School Week in April for the past fifteen years. The observance this year will be from April 13 to 19. The slogan is "Make Every Week Sunday School Week."

Let's start our children in the right direction by giving them a chance to learn the Word of God in our Sunday Schools.

An Old Hawaiian Custom

men of whatsoever state or persuasion, religious or political; freedom of religion; freedom of the press; freedom of person under the protection of the habeas corpus; and trial by juries impartially selected.

Impartially selected juries were a long time coming.

Before England adopted trial by jury, she had three ways of deciding a case.

1. Trial by ordeal: If you pleaded innocent, your hand might be thrust into boiling water, then wrapped up. If in three days it was "clean" or uninfected, it showed you were not lying. Otherwise you were guilty.

2. Trial by battle in civil cases: You or "your champion" could fight it out with your opponent. The winner won the lawsuit.

3. "Oath-helpers": A party's friends would recite an oath that he was in the right. An oath helper's mistake in the recital was taken as divinely inspired to show his party was in the wrong.

After the Norman conquest in 1066, the English kings sent out officers to get information. Subjects testified from personal knowledge about what took place in the locality.

Henry II in the Twelfth century used these same people to find facts in the law cases before them, which was the beginning of our jury system today.

The chief differences between our juries and the early ones:

1. The early juries told the judge what the local law or custom was. Today it is the judge who instructs the jury.

2. The early juries knew the facts before they met; today they should hear the facts for the first time in court.

3. The early juries had already taken sides before they served. Today's are supposed to be open-minded.

Wife Of Former Munday Man Receives Bid To University Medical School

(From The Daily Oklahoman)
By REBA COLLINS

Daily Oklahoman Correspondent
EDMOND, March 28 — It's not easy to get into medical school. Even when you're young, American, male and single. For a woman who is past 30, English, married, and the mother of five children it's almost impossible. But Mollie Burton did it.

The attractive redhead is one of nine Central State college students who have just been accepted to enter the University of Oklahoma medical school this autumn.

Proud of the cockney accent she brought from London, Mollie is the wife of Capt. Cecil Joe Burton, a native Texan, who is stationed at Fort Sill. Their children range from a 14-year-old down to the twins, age 1.

Wholly supporting his wife's life-long ambition to become a doctor, Capt. Burton already is making plans to find a housekeeper and babysitter who can care for the children in Lawton while his wife is attending medical school.

The doctor-project for mother has been a family affair from the beginning. After coming to the states, Mrs. Burton worked as a beauty operator for four years to finance her college work at Monterey, Calif., and for the science work at CSC. The well-gearred household is operated by assuming duties to the older children. Louise, 14, Brenda, 8, and Bonnie, 4, all handle their share of the work.

"Louise is my mainstay in keeping the Edmond household running smoothly and efficiently," the dynamic young mother said. "But they're all wonderful about helping." The whole family democratically decided that she should have her opportunity to become a doctor, she adds.

Mollie gives much credit for her acceptance to Marje Evans, head of CSC's science department, and her other science teachers. "Instead of frowning on the many problems my particular case presented, they encouraged and helped me all they could," she commented. "For this I am eternally grateful!"

Discussing the difference between British and American schools, Mrs. Burton says the strict discipline in English school is quite a contrast to ours. At age 11 they were separated ac-ording to ability some going to trade schools, others into higher learning. She was one of the fortunate ones.

"You here in America have more equality in education than we do in England," she points out. "Some of the lack of freedom there is due to lack of space. Any way you turn there are crowded conditions. Even one additional chair in a classroom is often impossible."

If her plans work out, and judging from her past feats they will, she hopes to eventually go into the psychiatric field.

Mrs. Howard Gross Is Honoree For Friday Shower

A bridal shower was held recently at the Legion Hall honoring Mrs. Howard Gross of Seymour, the former Miss Mary Lou Booe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Booe.

Greeting the guests were Mrs. J. F. Middlebrook who introduced the guests to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Dan Booe, Munday, and mother of the groom, Mrs. Norene Gross of Seymour.

The sewing table was laid with an ecrú lace table cloth over pink. On either side of the table were potted pink hydrangeas centered with a ribbon bouquet with streamers with the name of bride and groom on it. The appointments were in crystal.

The hostesses alternated at the register and serving table and showing gifts. Misses Lydia Caran, Ray and Kay Holcomb, Eloise Graham, Rebecca Bryan, Joanne Lowrance, Jimmie Del Peysen, Hattie Rutherford, Audrey Trammell, Joyce Richards, Shirley Yeager, Brenda Phillips and Mesdames J. F. Middlebrook, Kenneth Hendrix, Jim Welch, L. C. Guinn, Sr., and Otto Bragell.

How Bills Become Laws Of Texas In The Legislature

The Texas Legislature meets in a regular session for about four months once each two years. About 1500 bills are usually introduced at each regular session. The House of Representatives and the Senate are separate branches of the Legislature. Any member may introduce as many bills as he desires upon any subject, except that tax bills must be introduced in the House of Representatives. Only about one-third of the bills introduced ever reach the Governor's desk. He vetoes some which do.

In order to become a law, it is necessary that a bill receive a majority of the votes in each branch of the Legislature. The Constitution requires that a bill, immediately after being introduced, be referred to the proper committee. This committee may or may not recommend the passage of the bill. If the committee takes no action on a bill it is stopped and never proceeds further. Perhaps two-thirds of the bills receive a favorable committee report and are placed on the calendar of either the Senate or the House of Representatives, depending upon the branch in which the bill was introduced. Our calendars sometimes have as many as four or five hundred bills pending at the same time.

A bill can be, and often is, amended in either or both branches. If it receives a majority vote in the first branch, it is then sent by messenger to the other branch, where it travels the same course that it did in the first branch, and, if it is amended in the second branch, it is then returned to the first branch. The latter must approve the amendments or the bill does not go to the Governor's office.

I receive a heavy volume of mail daily about the hundreds of bills that are introduced. Time does not permit a member of the Senate to keep up with the bills over in the House of Representatives. Since a House bill may be amended several times after its introduction and while still in the House of Representatives, it is almost useless for a member of the Senate to waste time on it until it comes to the Senate. Many House bills never reach the Senate.

This information is intended to explain the conditions and difficulties under which we work in the brief 4-month session of the Legislature. We make a few mistakes — the wonder is that we do not make more — on account of the indescribable load of work involved, including the answering of hundreds of letters and telegrams each week.

I am always glad to have your advice and reasons as to why a bill should or should not be passed.

4-H Pair Serve Community Best

Pat Potts and Joyce Cargill, Top honors in the Texas 4-H program, conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, were won by two public-spirited teenagers, Pat Potts, 17, of Dike, and Joyce Cargill, 16, of Bryan.

State winners in the 1958 4-H Community Relations program, both received certificates of honor. Potts played an important part in repairing an abandoned community center in Dike so that his newly organized 4-H Club would have a good start. The well-kept building now affords a meeting place for community elections, parties and other local activities.

In 1956 Potts organized a 4-H Club in Paint Rock community, serving as its president. The following year he served as president of Pine Forest 4-H Club.

The newly organized club in Dike has formed a community soft ball league, sponsored the testing of water samples, and cleared hazardous corners.

Junior leader and assistant leader six years, he is president of the Dike Joint 4-H Club, and active in the county and district councils.

Miss Cargill, in her eight years of 4-H work, has played the piano at church services, helped with polo drives, 4-H Club Week, and achievement programs, and served as executive of ceremonies for a 4-H program given at Rotary Club.

Every week she and another 4-H'er clean up the community church. "We don't mind it," she says, "because we are proud of our church, and we want it always to look its Sunday best."

We won't say that we told you away back, the week after Christmas, to file your income tax in January. Time has passed and many of us are among those taxpayers who never mustered the courage to file that tax return before the last minute.

If the shoe fits, here's what you ought to do: (1) Read your tax instructions; (2) carefully figure your tax; (3) check your arithmetic; (4) don't forget to sign it (ma and pa); (5) be sure

Language Barrier No Halt To Safety

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

THERE'S NOTHING new about the idea of driver training schools, but Chicago's Driver Improvement School has one unique feature: classes are now offered in Spanish and Polish as well as English.

Miss Smith

Explains Dr. Arthur L. Conrad, director of traffic education and the safety division of Chicago's municipal court: "In the past several years Chicago has had a large influx of Puerto Ricans and displaced persons from Poland."

"While some of these people have language barriers, they still drive cars. . . . These classes were established to assist them to become safer drivers."

Chicago's Driver Improvement School itself was begun in October, 1956, and Spanish and Polish classes were later added when some of those attending could not understand the proceedings.

Currently, at least one foreign language class is scheduled every month. Some of the material was even shipped from Puerto Rico. Classes are open to anyone over 15 who understands Spanish or Polish, but does not speak English. Instruction is given for four weeks, once a week for two hours, for a total of eight hours.

At the last class, an official from the Secretary of State's office is present to administer written driver permit tests, translated into one of the two languages, so potential drivers can be tested under optimum conditions.

MARKETING ASSISTANCE FOR TEXAS WATERMELON GROWERS

The multi-million dollar Texas watermelon crop will be assisted in finding its way to markets throughout the nation this year under a new Texas Department of Agriculture-sponsored program.

Watermelon growers in the state's major melon-producing areas in East, North Central and South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley can take advantage of free marketing aid which will publicize facts about their individual crops to buyers in important national markets. Initially, the program involves getting full information from individual growers as to acreage and variety of melons planted this spring and approximate date of harvest. This information, when compiled, will be published by the TDA in bulletin form and distributed among anxious buyers.

Since Texas not only produces the most melons of any state but also the earliest melon crop, markets are generally most receptive to Texas melons — provided they know about them. In recent years, however, the increased commercial value of melons has brought about added competition, especially in mid-season, and the challenge is to keep buyers coming back to Texas for all their watermelon needs.

Texas melons ripen for harvest first in the Rio Grande Valley, followed in a few weeks by the South Texas crop and later by East and North Central Texas production. A survey is already underway among Valley growers to compile and distribute information about their crop well in advance of first harvest dates, and similar surveys will be conducted elsewhere prior to melon season.

Information needed from growers includes grower name, address (or location in county), number of acres by variety planted to watermelons, and estimated date of harvest.

For further information on watermelon marketing assistance, write to John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas.

This columnist requested Congressman Ralph J. Rivers of Alaska for an Alaskan anecdote and the following was kindly sent:

One day in 1932 when I was a young lawyer practicing in Fairbanks, Alaska, a mine worker from the crecs walked into my office and asked me to represent him as he was going to be sued. I soon found out that the two adversaries had purchased tickets for marking their guesses on the day, hour and minute of the breakup of the ice in the Tanana River at Nenana. Each ticket had cost one dollar. About 56,000 tickets had been sold, and the winner or winners were to get about $54,000.

The breakup was late and all early guesses were no longer any good. On the night of the 13th of May a group of the boys were sitting around in the mining company bunkhouse at Chatanika, and in talking about the pending breakup, Olson, my client, stated that he had a ticket for the 14th and Johnson, my client, stated that he had one for the 15th.

Johnson said to Olson, "I'll pool my chances with you." Olson said, "O.K." (Meaning that if either of their respective tickets won, they would split the proceeds 50-50). The next day the ice went out on the day, hour, and minute shown on the ticket held by Olson, which was one of three winning tickets and represented a windfall of $18,000.

When Olson came off the job that evening, Johnson met him, shook his hand, and said, "Ho-ray, you won!" Olson said, "What do you mean 'We won' — I won!" Johnson said, "We agreed to split." Olson replied, "I was only fooling."

The next day Johnson retained a leading Fairbanks attorney on a 50% contingent fee basis. This lawyer called on me in a few days, and we discussed the law of the case. I bravely told counsel that our clients were in pari delicto (equally out of line in the eyes of the law) and that the court would not enforce a gambling agreement.

He then forced me to admit that the Alaska statute prohibited anyone from establishing or conducting a lottery, but did not make it an offense to purchase or be the holder of a lottery ticket, from which it followed in certain court decisions in such cases that the persons who have pooled their chances were not in pari delicto and that the courts would entertain actions to enforce an agreement for the division of a contingent fund upon the occurrence of the contingency.

After admitting to a meeting of minds as to the law of the case, it was decided not to start any litigation lest such action "kill the ice pool" which was a time honored classic in the realms of northern sporting events. Johnson agreed to settle for $6,000, being convinced that his action had taught Olson a lesson, and Olson agreed to take the remaining $12,000.

Thus the two contending parties emerged in good standing in the eyes of the law as they were not in pari delicto, and the tickets produced four winners — the two contending parties and the two lawyers.

Deaton Moorhouse of Amarillo was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moorhouse several days last week. Guests in the home over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brewer of Brownfield.

FORT WORTH, April 6 — A large offering of lambs were on hand for the opening session of the week at Fort Worth Monday and the trade found local nation packers as well as shippers active and prices were generally steady on slaughter kinds. Nearly two-thirds of the run was milk lambs of the new crop, with about one-third old crop lambs. Sheep were in very small supply.

Good and choice slaughter Spring lambs cashed at $20 to $21.50, with one load of about 80-pound lambs from W. T. Howell of Caldwell that topped at $22. Cull to medium Springers sold from $14 to $19. Stocker and feeder Spring lambs sold from $16 to $18.50.

Good and choice old crop shorn lambs cashed at $17 to $19 and cull to medium old crops sold from $10 to $16.50. Stocker and feeder old crop lambs cashed at $15 to $17. A few slaughter ewes sold from $6.50 to $8, and old bucks sold from $7 to $8.50. Hogs were about steady with the close of last week and sows were weaker. Choice hogs sold from $16.50 to $17, a few selected No. 1 and No. 2 hogs of 200 to 230 pounds at $17.25 and $17.50. Some heavies of 260 pounds and up sold from $15 to $16.50. Sows cashed at $13 to $14, a few $14.50.

Fed steers, red yearlings and heifers and fat calves opened slow but were generally fully steady as a clearance was effected. Cows, bulls and stocker and feeder classes of cattle and calves cleared readily at firm prices from the start.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $26 to $29.50, some 1,019-pound steers from McClung Land and Cattle Company, Cleburne, at $29.50 and some club steers from the Motley County 4-H Club youths sold mainly at $29, a few on fat $27 to $29. Some three or four loads of cattle from the Spur Experiment Station sold mostly at $27.50 with a half load at $28.50. Medium and lower grade steers and yearlings cashed in the $18 to $25 bracket.

Fat cows cleared at $18 to $21, with some heiferish and mixed heifers and young cows to $22. Canners and cutters drew $12 to $19. Bulls sold from $18 to $23.50, a few stocker bulls above that range.

Good and choice slaughter calves ranged from $26 to $31 and common and medium sorts drew $23 to $26. Cull and common kinds drew $18 to $23.

Good and choice stocker steer calves ranged from $28 to $35, and good heifer calves sold from $31 downward. Stocker steer yearlings of lighter weights sold from $32 downward with fleshy feeder yearlings from $29.50 downward. An unusual sale in this category was a lot of mixed steer and heifer yearlings sold to feeders at $29.50 that scaled nearly 700 pounds and carried enough flesh to attract about equal bids from slaughter interests.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer

Since 1954, when there were 3,037 cases of polio, Texas has seen a gradual decline in the number of polio cases. Credit for the decline is generally attributed to the advent of the Salk vaccine.

Last year there were only 619 cases of paralytic and non-paralytic polio reported to the Communicable Disease Control Division of the Texas State Department of Health.

The sad fact of the matter is that 76 percent of the paralytic polio cases occurred in persons who had not received any of the Salk inoculations.

Equally shocking is the fact that almost nine out of ten of the paralytic polio cases had not completed the basic series of three prescribed shots of the anti-polio vaccine.

A large segment of the school age children and young adults have taken advantage of the protection afforded by three-shot series.

However, many older people have been lax. But worse still is the number of families who have neglected to have their pre-school age children inoculated.

Last year, 65 percent of the cases of paralytic polio struck at small children in the birth-to-four age group.

These victims couldn't do anything about receiving the Salk shots themselves.

The burden of responsibility falls on those parents with pre-

From out of the Earth BY JOHN MCINROE

THE CATASTROPHIC 1883 ERUPTION OF THE VOLCANO KRAKATOA IN THE EAST INDIES SENT SHOCK WAVES AROUND THE WORLD THREE TIMES, SHOT ROCK AND ASHES 17 MILES IN THE AIR AND CREATED THE LOUDEST NOISE EVER RECORDED, HEARD 3,000 MILES AWAY.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST LAKE OF ASPHALT, COVERING 100 ACRES, WAS DISCOVERED AT THE TURN OF THE CENTURY IN THE JUNGLES OF EASTERN VENEZUELA. IT STIMULATED THE FABULOUS SEARCH FOR OIL IN THAT COUNTRY WHERE TODAY THE LARGEST OIL PRODUCER IS A U.S. COMPANY, CREOLE PETROLEUM CORPORATION.

THE GEYSERS OF YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, NUMBERING MORE THAN 100 ARE UNEQUALLED IN SIZE AND POWER. THE LARGEST OF THEM ERECT STEAM AND SCALDING WATER MORE THAN 20 STORES INTO THE AIR.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE!

Properly maintained tractors cost "an average of $100 to $300 less per operating year," a recent university survey points out. So the tractor project also becomes a family affair because it affects the family pocketbook. In the course of their work club members pass along to neighbors the up-to-date practices learned about using farm machinery.

Particularly enthused over this 4-H project is last year's state and national champion, William Morton, 18, of Wichita Falls, whose reward was a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, and a $400 college scholarship.

The 1959 state 4-H tractor champion will be announced early next fall by the Extension Service, and the winner will be eligible for one of the 12 national $400 college scholarships offered by Humble.

Miss Taulie Horne of Gilliland spent the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Welch.

Mr. and Mrs. Dub Gresham of Wichita Falls were week end guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Henson.

Safety is keynote in 4-H tractor project

Safety is in the driver's seat as the 4-H Tractor program rides into its 15th year of activity, according to Humble Oil & Refining Company, sponsor of 4-H awards in Texas and New Mexico. The program is conducted by the Extension Service, Texas A. & M. College.

More than 5,500 Texas 4-H'ers are enrolled in the program. Together with their local leaders and county Extension agents they are striving to reduce fatal tractor accidents which last year across the nation numbered 1200. Another 48,000 accidents resulting from improper use of tractors were reported.

Besides safe operation, club members learn efficient operation and maintenance under the guidance of Extension training. As a matter of fact, success in the project means money in the bank to 4-H boys (and girls, too) who follow the advice of tractor ex-

The standard of the world in

Character

The moment a Cadillac comes into view it begins to say wonderful things about the man at the wheel. It tells of his fine taste... his good and practical judgment... his achievements in his chosen field. And the reasons for this are found in the character of the car itself. For longer than fifty years, goodness has been the watchword; craftsmanship the creed. In the lexicon of motordom — Cadillac is the world's best synonym for quality!

Woodpecker Taps Spring Calls On Trees And Posts

This is the time of year for the woodpecker with all its sound effects to appear, according to "Flamboyant Forester," an article in the March issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine. There is a beautiful color cover of a pileated woodpecker on the magazine, done by Anne Marie Pulich of Arlington.

The lead story was written by Edgar Kincaid, Austin ornithologist, and illustrated with a picture by Allan D. Cruikshank of the National Audubon Society.

"In the spring woodpeckers frequently do a lot of rapid pecking that produces a maximum sound and a minimum of chips," Mr. Kincaid writes. "This is called drumming. Their sounding boards are hollow trees, metal roofs and other 'loud' surfaces."

He says the male woodpecker's drumming serves the same purpose as a turkey gobbler or a songbird's song; it warns other males of his species to stay away and welcomes a female to come and share his territory. Among other interesting features of the March issue are a picture story on "Pointers for Quail"; an article about Texas roadside parks; an unusually interesting piece about freshwater eels; an educational feature for school children; a hiking story and maps showing the location of fishing markers along the Gulf Coast.
