Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Chester Smith, who farms on the river north of Sunset, was among farmers whose crops were wiped out by rain and hail last Sunday. Chet said his was mostly washed out by the heavy rain, but the crop was completely wiped out.

k-k

He took just about as pleasant an attitude toward the crop disaster as anyone could, however. Laughing, he said: "There's one thing about it, I've got some good clean land to do my replanting on!"

k-k

A number of other farmers suffered complete loss by hail. We've been feeling rather lucky in not getting too much damage around Munday, but there were a number who were not so lucky Sunday.

k-k

Doris Dickerson lost cotton, wheat, maize and potatoes in the hail which just about completely left him without any crop at all. He was wondering Monday if even some of his potatoes could be saved. Potato harvest was due to begin the latter part of this week, but Doris said his crop needed about ten more days before ready for harvest.

k-k

Others in the hail strip that we learned of Monday are: Don Combs, Howard Myers, Virgil Yost, Jack Tidwell, Philip Homer and Leo Fetsch. But there are still others. The cloud seemed to travel northeast from the Thorp community, while another hail cloud, we heard, took its toll of farmers in the Weinert area.

Here in Munday, we had a very little rain, no hail, and a high wind that downed one of the big paradise trees on the city hall lawn.

k-k

We rarely ever miss some hail when crops are young and wheat ready for harvest. Combines started rolling in a big way last week, and local grain dealers are at their posts of duty until far into the night.

k-k

But the late rains halted all operations in the wheat fields, and elevator workers got a rest, too. Arthur Smith, Jr., said the other day he got a chance to relax, went to the barber shop to get a haircut and fell asleep in the chair.

k-k

Wheat wouldn't have lasted long with the numbers of combines working in the area. Dry weather at growing time cut the wheat crop short, but some growers are getting better yields than expected.

k-k

The Baylor County Banner reported some 400 combines in the Seymour area for the harvest, and we wonder if all of them found fields to harvest. Saturday, we noticed some still idle at both Seymour and Bomarton. Some fields had already been harvested, and were being plowed under. Farmers seem to lose no time when the wheat is "ripe unto harvest."

k-k

We rarely ever run into Jim Frost since he moved over Seymour way, but we saw him Monday. He was in town looking for a T-joint for irrigation pipe, but was unable to locate one. Jim got him an irrigation well last year, and was fussing because he had fallen on several occasions to get his supplies here.

k-k

Some one in the store was commenting the other day about that "Lucky Dollar" name Glenn W. Barber gave the store when he bought out Mac's. Viola was standing by and said it meant you were lucky by being able to save dollars in the store. We put in our little piece with "Yeah, and it could mean you're lucky to have a dollar, you rascal, you!"

k-k

The driver of a grocery truck hailed us a few days later and asked "Where's the Lucky Dollar?" We had to study a while before telling him. We hadn't gotten used to the name, yet.

Mrs. Williams 54 Of Goree Passes; Rites Thursday

Mrs. Grady Williams, 54, lifelong resident of Baylor and Knox Counties, passed away at noon Tuesday in Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls. She was hospitalized Sunday night after suffering a heart attack at her home in Goree. She suffered another attack on Tuesday.

She was born Flora Lawless on December 9, 1904, near Bomarton and was married to Grady Williams on July 1, 1924, at Munday. Her husband is a farmer and former Goree businessman, and the couple lived near Goree all of their married life.

Mrs. Williams was a member of the Goree Methodist Church. Funeral services were held at 3:00 p.m. Thursday from the First Methodist Church in Goree with the pastor, Rev. H. Clayton Adair, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. C. R. Mathis, pastor of the Goree Baptist Church, and Rev. J. W. Baughman, retired Methodist minister.

Burial was in Goree Cemetery under the direction of Laningham Funeral Home.

Survivors include her husband of Goree; one son, Charles Williams, who recently moved to Abilene, and one sister, Mrs. C. F. Williams, also of Abilene.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Each year thousands of people end up owing Uncle Sam money after April 15, on their income taxes for the year before. Some of these simply forget to send in their check for the taxes. Others misfigure the tax. Still others take the option of having the government figure their tax and send them a bill.

If you owe Uncle Sam money you will do yourself a favor by promptly sending a check when you receive your bill. The provisions of the law are very strict and the Revenue Officers must, by law, take prompt and orderly steps to collect taxes due. It's a lot easier to go and borrow the money or make some other arrangement.

Unfortunately, quite a few taxpayers have their salary levied on or their property seized and sold when they try to delay paying. Internal Revenue makes a reasonable effort to collect before seizure and sale but it is up to you to make more than a reasonable effort. It can save you a lot of trouble and embarrassment.

Highway accidents are not confined to other people, they can happen to you if you fail to "Slow Down and Live" this summer.

HONORED FOR HIGHWAY SAFETY

T. B. Kimball, left, President, Sinclair Refining Company, smiles his pleasure as he accepts from Howard Pyle, President, National Safety Council, the Council's Public Interest Award, for "exceptional service to safety." Sinclair was cited for its "Drive With Care" program designed to promote safety on the nation's highways.

Rev. Rex Mauldin Begins New Year

The "Methodist parsonage family," Rev. L. Mauldin and family were returned to the Munday Methodist Church and the new church parsonage by the Northwest Texas Conference, which closed its sessions at Abilene last Friday.

Rev. Mauldin, who came here from Aspermont last year, began his second year with the Munday Methodist Church with services last Sunday, and the church membership and townspeople are welcoming the Mauldin family back for another year.

Dr. Marshall Rhew, who has served his sixth year as district superintendent of the Stamford district, went back into active pastorate, being assigned to First Church in Sweetwater.

New district superintendent is Rev. C. A. Holcomb, Jr., who for four years served the First Church in Sweetwater. Only a few changes were made in the Stamford District. Appointments for next year are as follows:

Albany, Clark Campbell; Aspermont, Albert Lindley; Avoca, Howard Quiet; Elbert, To Be Supplied; Goree, H. C. Adair; Hamlin, Faith, Gene A. Moore; Hamlin, First Edmund Robb; Haskell-Paint Creek, Oscar Bruce; Jayton, Carl Nunn; Knox City, Oran D. Smith; Longworth, Henry R. Pettit; Lueders, Leon Hale; McCaulley, Jerry Franz; Boran, Albert Mason.

Potato Harvest To Begin Soon

The potato harvest which at first was believed would begin this week, has possibly been delayed some by recent rains but is expected to get under way within the next few days.

Cleaning and processing machinery has been placed at both the processing sheds, and those in charge of both the spuds are ready for harvesting.

It was generally believed this year's crop would be better than usual, but the yield has possibly been cut down to some extent by the hail which hit some of the fields last Sunday.

New Bulletin On Insects Offered By Extension Service

A "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Corn, Sorghum, Small Grain and Grasses," is the title of a new publication released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The insecticides to use for control of these insects are given along with the amount of the insecticide to use. Also listed are the major pests of these crops and the way to identify each.

How to make infestation counts, when to spray and seed treatments to control certain soil insects are discussed. Included is a discussion on rice pests and their control.

A diagram of a homemade-type seed treaters to be used for better control of southern corn rootworms, wireworms and seed corn maggots is included.

Results of research indicate that sprays and dusts are equally effective in most areas when properly applied. Copies of the publication are available from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for MP-339.

Cowboy Reunion Judges Named

George Humphries of the 6666 Ranch at Guthrie will serve for the 30th consecutive year as judge in the Texas Cowboy Reunion, which opens at Stamford for three days on July 2.

The long-time Guthrie rancher has been a judge since the rodeo began in 1930, according to W. G. Swenson, president of the reunion. "One of the most difficult problems in a rodeo is the selection of judges," noted Swenson. "It takes a lot of know-how and riding skill to cover a rodeo arena and judge the contests."

Other judges selected are Edd Keller, well known rancher of Dundee, and John Stotts, former sheriff of Motley County, with the fourth official yet to be announced.

Farmers Survey Damage of Hail, Plan Crop Replanting

Masonic Lodge Names Officers

New officers of Knox Lodge No. 851, AF&AM, were elected at the regular meeting last Monday night. They are as follows:

Earl B. Little, worshipful master to succeed Joe B. Roberts; Buster Pape, senior warden; Fred Reddell, Jr., junior warden; Dorse Collins, secretary to succeed M. T. Chamberlain; Fletcher Gates, re-elected treasurer; Aaron Edgar, chaplain, and Henry D. Henson, tiler.

Appointive officers are: Jack Clewley, senior deacon, L. C. Searcy, junior deacon; Joe Choucar, senior steward, and Don Dotson, junior steward.

The new officers will be installed at the regular meeting on July 6.

Many farmers of the Munday area were surveying their crop losses from hail and rain last Monday and making their plans for replanting.

They were hit by a rain and hail storm Sunday afternoon, which wiped out many of their young crops. Some with unharvested wheat were also hailed out.

The cloud came around 5 p.m. Sunday. Hail damage began southeast of O'Brien and southwest of Weinert, and the damaging storm traveled north and northeasterly through the Thorp community, to the West of Munday, then hit a portion of farms in the Rhineland community, breaking up along the Brazos River.

One insurance firm in Munday reported a total of 14 claims turned in by noon Tuesday, while still other firms were receiving claims.

In addition to losses reported elsewhere in the paper, the Tankersley farms, Clyde Hackney, Tom Voss, J. E. Hunter, Lloyd Stevens, H. H. Partridge, and others reported hail damage.

Chester Smith, who farms on the river northwest of Munday, reported his crops completely wiped out but the loss was due to rain instead of hail. He reported 1.50 inches of rain which fell within a short time.

Two of the area's potato farmers, Doris Dickerson and Don Combs, were hailed out. They lost their other crops as well as the potatoes, which were in the final stages of maturity and would have been harvested within a few days.

Some estimated the hail strip at around three miles wide, while others reported damage as spotted, hitting one farm and skipping another.

Additional rain in the area Monday night has caused further delay in replanting, and time is growing short for this area.

The rain gauges of H. P. local U. S. weather observer, have shown a total of 1.19 inches of rain in Munday during the week. Rainfall of .15 of an inch came Wednesday morning and is not included in this weekly report.

Oil Activities

In the Faye (Tannehill D) Field, Tex-Star Oil and Gas Corp. has finished No. 1 Frank Fetsch for a 24-hour pumping potential of 121.18 barrels of 35.1 gravity oil, plus 5 per cent water. Pay was perforated at 2055-61 feet, with total depth of 2110. Gas-oil ratio was 325-1. The well is 2 1/2 miles north of Munday.

Fletcher Oil and Gas Drilling Corp. of Dallas plans to re-enter and deepen to 5000 feet a previously abandoned wildcat, the No. 152 R. C. Hamilton. It was originally drilled by A. R. Dillard, Jr., et al and plugged in April, 1958, at 2623 feet.

Jack Staley et al No. 2 Beda Patton is a 1999-foot wildcat, three miles southwest of Goree.

Speaker Praises Volunteer Firemen At Seymour Meet

Texas owe a debt of gratitude to state volunteer firemen, Marshall Formby, Plainview attorney and 1960 gubernatorial hopeful, said at Seymour last Sunday.

The former chairman of the state highway commission addressed nearly 300 persons attending a district meeting of the West Texas Fireman's and Fire Marshal's Assn., Seymour volunteer firemen and Seymour Chief Floyd Shaver were hosts. There are 33 towns in the West Texas district.

"Nobody has to be a fireman. It is strictly a volunteer proposition. Men who have that special sense of duty, who want to help protect their neighbor's property and his life, join this organization. Fires usually occur at inconvenient times and practically every time a man answers the fire alarm, he risks limb and life, and inconveniences himself. Smaller towns in the state do not have the revenues to support a paid fire department. You are the ones the people depend on to come to their aid in time of trouble. All Texas owes you a debt of gratitude," Formby said.

He also pointed out that alert fire departments have been responsible in saving Texas considerable money each year by keeping the fire insurance rates down.

The former commissioner said volunteer firemen have been neglected by the state government, but "Texans should extend and increase the benefits to its volunteer firemen. I believe the public recognizes its debt to these men and that the people are willing to see proper benefits provided."

A business session followed Formby's address.

In the afternoon's contest, Munday's firemen won second place in two-man hose hookup and fourth place in 6-man hookup. Attending from Munday were: Gene Brown, Robert Hosea, J. B. Scott, Robert Patterson, Chief George Beatty, Billy Paul Cypert, Ralph Cypert and Fletcher Gates.

SAVE OUR WILDLIFE

There are certain natural resources which, once destroyed, can never be replaced. They are gone for all time, to the impoverishment of everyone.

Wildlife is among those resources. The tragic and classic example is the passenger pigeon. They once abounded in enormous numbers — Audubon, the great naturalist and painter, wrote of seeing an estimated two billion in a single day. They blacked out the sky in their passing, and whitened the earth. But the last passenger pigeon died in a zoo many years ago, and the species is extinct.

Near extinction has come to other once-abundant species — the buffalo, the Florida Key deer, the whooping crane. And it will come to more unless there is an aroused public interest in wildlife conservation. The pressures of the time against wildlife are brutally heavy. Wild areas are turned into industrial sections, housing developments, roads and airports. Nesting and feeding grounds disappear.

This gives significance to a new public service program inaugurated by the Standard Oil Company of California. In the words of the announcement: "Each of us must exert a special effort to guarantee that wildlife areas are managed not only for the general present benefit, but for the enjoyment and use of generations to come." The company has mailed some 200,000 colorful posters bearing a conservation message to western schools and national parks. The conservation theme will be stressed on the regular weekly music appreciation programs it sponsors for school children.

Efforts such as this, on the broadest possible scale, are needed in every part of the nation.

The National Association of Manufacturers states that the most spectacular failure in the Russian planned economy has been in agriculture. Soviet agricultural labor productivity per worker is only one-sixth to one-twelfth that of the American farm worker.

Organized crime in America is more widespread and more serious than it was even in the days of Al Capone, and the situation will grow worse in the future. That's the view of Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, as expressed in an interview published in the May issue of Nation's Business.

ONE QUESTION REMAINS

A big irrigation project, known as the San Luis Project, is pending in Central California. Canals and pipes will transfer large quantities of irrigation water to a distant region.

A certain amount of electric power will be produced as part of the project. And—as is to be expected—one group of people, including some members of Congress, want the federal government to build a series of transmission lines to move the power to market.

As proposed, these lines, along with water necessary items, would cost $14 million. And about $10 million of that expenditure of the taxpayers' money would be totally unnecessary—because it would go for facilities which would duplicate the existing ones of a private utility company. The company has, therefore, offered to deliver the power on its system, and adds that this can be done at a lower cost than if government lines were built.

Here is a case where $10 million can be saved—and, at the same time, users of the power would be given the best of service at the lowest cost. All that remains to be seen is whether Congress amends the San Luis Project authorization bills so that this is done—or whether it will consent to throwing money away on a totally useless and needless duplicate system.

The Chairman of the Board of the Association of American Railroads says that this industry is giving special consideration to the utilization of atomic energy and nuclear physics on accomplishing research objectives. Known fields in which radioactive substances may be useful in railroading include power production, preservation of foodstuffs in lieu of refrigeration, and the changing of physical properties of materials to make them more suitable for desired purposes.

George F. Kennan, considered by many to be the foremost American authority on Soviet affairs, writes: "Kruschev has now offended and estranged from the central political process, one by one, the intelligentsia, the industrial managers and a portion of the officers corps of the armed services. He has now achieved the pinnacle of power which he apparently wanted, but I suspect that he is rather isolated up there, and that the winds around him are becoming increasingly chilly."

Without modern chemicals to combat cotton insects, the Texas farmer would pay an annual toll to these pests amounting to almost 1 pound of seed cotton for every 3 pounds produced.

That figure represents an "average" loss to insects over a 20-year period in some years, farmers would have given up half their crop to insect infestations, and in a few cases three-fourths of their production, according to research studies.

The U. S. Research Laboratory

at Waco has been studying the cotton pest problem since the late 1930's. It shows an average annual seed cotton yield of 1,049 pounds per acre from treated test plots. This is 50 per cent, or 42 percent, more cotton than the average annual production on untreated plots.

Insecticides are becoming more effective, too. The advent of modern organic insecticides have resulted in yield gains of 53 percent. Before 1945, when farmers depended upon inorganic insecticides such as arsenicals and sulphur yield increases amounted to about 34 percent annually.

Highest cotton production on treated plots and the greatest increase over untreated plots occurred in the 1955 test. Treated cotton produced 1,461 pounds of seed cotton per acre as compared with only 778 pounds on untreated plots. The greatest percent increase was in 1946 when 403 pounds per acre were harvested from untreated plots and 1,034 were gathered from treated land. The percentage gain attributed to Insect control was a whopping 156.6 percent.

The most troublesome pests during the years of research have been the boll weevil and boll worm. Until the mid-1940's, the cotton aphid was a big factor in yield losses but it has been losing its "punch" in recent years. The cotton fleahopper is erratic - causing heavy damage in some years and then practically disappearing in others.

The cotton leafworm and desert spider mite do not usually develop to proportions that can influence crop production.

In view of the proven importance of an insect control program Texas farmers are urged to contact their local agricultural agents for aid in developing an efficient schedule of yield treatment.

Where They Don't Get Away

The Lake trout come big in Canada. There are thousands of fishing haunts, such as this one at Lac la Ronge in Northern Saskatchewan, where many a prize-winning fish has been taken. For complete details on where to fish in Canada, write the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, Ottawa, Canada.

Make Your Vacation Safe, Slow Down And Live This Summer

We all wonder what contributes to the "speed mania" of the person behind the wheel on the open road. Yet it's not so surprising.

The vacation and holiday traveler wants to get to his destination in time for a last minute swim in the lake, or the baseball game, or just a few casts of the old fishing rod before dark.

This same traveler got a late afternoon start, he stopped enroute to visit friends or relatives and he must "make up that time" by crowding it a little . . . Just a little you understand, he's not going to take any chances.

What our "hurry driving" motorist friend fails to realize is that hundreds of thousands of other vacation and holiday travelers have added their vehicles to the normal highway traffic load.

We wonder if this friend of ours who is "making up time" on the highway knows that . . . Safety is everybody's job. Traffic safety is teamwork. Each individual driver must ask himself, "Can You Stop In Time?" He can if he will take time to Slow Down and Live.

"You can criticize a man about almost anything except his driving," is a statement we all must admit to be true.

Calmly you can reason with most men that they have picked the wrong profession, they have selected the wrong section of the city in which to buy or build a home, they should save more of their wages or they should wear Bermuda Shorts in summer.

But tell a man he operates an automobile carelessly . . . WOW . . . he's ready to not only argue, but to fight if necessary.

Without exception every motorist believes that an accident is something that might happen to some other fellow but "not to me."

When you ask the average motorist, "Can You Stop In Time?" And, according to the Texas Safety Association, he will reply, "Certainly, and under any conditions." If you ask him to "Slow Down and Live," he'll reply "That's for the other fellow."

Our job is to show every motorist that highway safety is EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS . . . Slow Down and Live.

To humans, April and June have 30 days each, but to a tomato plant or a stalk of corn, June may have three times as much "growing time" as April. We measure times in hours and days. A plant asks: "How much sunshine? How much moisture? How warm?"

The TIMES

June 10 Big Day At Texas 4-H Roundup

One of Texas' best known roundups will be held at Texas A&M College on June 9 and 10. It is the State 4-H Roundup and an estimated 2,000 4-H members, adult leaders, county extension agents and others interested in this great youth organization will attend.

The big day will be June 10 when state winners in 25 judging and team demonstration contests will be named. Those participating in the contests have won that opportunity by first being county winners and then by taking first or second place honors in their respective districts. Several of the state winners will have the opportunity of representing Texas in national contests later in the year.

The first general assembly, scheduled for the evening of June 9, will feature an address by Dr. Kenneth McFarland, educational consultant and lecturer for General Motors, Topeka, Kansas.

No roundup is complete without its chuckwagon and barbecue and the 4-H one is no exception. Everything is in readiness for the Texas 4-H Club Recognition Committee's Chuckwagon Barbecue scheduled as the opening feature of the second evening's program. A general assembly will follow the barbecue.

Members of the Recognition Committee will be presented by Chairman H. E. Burgess of College Station and President M. T. Harrington, Texas A&M College. System will address the statewide 4-H gathering. Entertainment for the evening will be provided by 4-H members when selected acts from the Share-the-Fun program will be presented. Members of the Texas 4-H Council will be in charge of both general assembly programs.

Don Reynolds of Decatur visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reynolds, over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds returned home with him and remained over Monday for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Followell and children of Midland visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Followell and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Matthews, Sr., over the week end.

Telephone Company Starts New Program

To gear General Telephone Company's marketing and sales program to the new concept of service through sales, a company wide telephone sales force which ultimately will be composed of over 50 persons is being organized, according to Mills Roberts, Division Manager at Memphis. Roberts explained that the first step in setting up the new sales program includes the naming of a unit sales manager for each of the Company's six divisions.

Carl Yancey, who has been Northern Division Traffic Superintendent since February, 1956, will assume the new sales position in the Northern Division effective July 1, Roberts said.

Yancey began his telephone career as a traffic trainee in the Company's headquarters at San Angelo in 1954. He later was named Assistant Traffic Engineer, a position he held until moving to Memphis. Yancey, a member of the Memphis Lions Club, is married and has one son and one daughter. They reside at 713 N. 10th in Memphis.

As Northern Division Unit Sales Manager, Yancey will direct and coordinate the sales program and activities of unit salesman, six of whom will be located in the Northern Division when the sales force is completed. The salesman will contact business subscribers to assist them with telephone communications problems, analyze their needs and recommend accordingly.

It is hoped, Roberts said, that the sales program will not only improve service but increase revenues to offset the rising cost of operations.

The sales program is expected to be in full operation within the next two years.

The five districts composing the Northern Division have headquarters in the town of Memphis, Guyton, Perryton, Ralls, and Seymour and serve over 37,000 telephones.

General Telephone Company operates over 283,000 telephones in the five states of Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hannam returned home last Friday from a weeks vacation in Arkansas and a visit with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Choate and children in Dallas.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT RULES SHOULD BE MEMORIZED

Vacation time is near. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile accident will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.
2. Render Aid. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.
3. Protect the Scene from Further Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.
4. Call an officer. Policemen, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

5. Gather Information . . . Write it Down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess—be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver—and he must do the same.
6. Be Careful What You Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.
7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.
8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.
9. Inform Your Insurance Company Promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.
10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.00. An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Dept. of Public Safety. (This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

BOYCE HOUSE

Everyone who knows anything about the life of O. Henry knows that the great short story-writer wandered about New York City in search of characters and ideas for his tales. Perhaps however not everyone knows that he earlier followed this practice when he was a young man in Austin. When he went there in 1881 (after two years on a ranch in La Salle County) Austin had a population not much greater than 11,000—and had 43 saloons. He worked in a drug store, a cigar stand, a real estate office, the Land Office and then, while a bank teller, he wrote at night the articles for "The Rolling Stone," the weekly magazine he had established. In the issue of August 25, 1884, "Vagrant Remarks" — signed "The Idler" — declared:

"Like the Califf Harmon al Raschid, but without his power of relieving distress or punishing wickedness, I often stroll about Austin studying human nature and reading many pages in the great book of Man. "Like the Califf, too, I am somewhat incognito, as the public as a general rule takes me for no more than an idle, somewhat lazy young man, and once or twice I have been frightened by having work offered me."

A little flash of drama which he beheld on one of his nocturnal ramblings is mentioned: A small beggar girl entered a saloon and the bartender, who had been drinking, flung a quarter on the floor.

O. Henry's partner, Dixie Daniels, (quoted by Edmunds Travis in an article, "O. Henry's Austin Years") said:

"Night after night, after we would shut up shop, he would call to me to come along and go 'bumming.' We would wander through streets and alleys, meeting with some of the worst specimens of down-and-outers it has ever been my privilege to see at close range. I've seen the most ragged specimen of bum hold up Porter, who would always do anything he could for the man. His one great failing was his inability to say 'hi' . . . to a man."

Years later, in New York City, when a friend asked O. Henry where he was bound, he replied, "I'm on my way to get a hundred dollars from a tramp." At the amazed look of his friend, O. Henry amplified, "I'm going to the park, sit down on a bench beside a down-and-outer get him to talk and he will tell me a story which I can write and sell for a hundred dollars."

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer

There is a brand new wrinkle in the mosquito killing business. Early reports suggest that the pesky household critters can be done in without the fuss and bother — or health hazard — of old — fashioned flit guns or mist bombs.

The new method has been described in the May issue of Public Health Reports, the monthly journal of the U. S. Public Service. It consists simply by putting a bag of insecticide in the room during the mosquito season. It was discovered like this:

Scientists at the Communicable Disease Center laboratory in Savannah, Georgia, left work one afternoon. Inside the large lab room when they left was an unopened bag of insecticide.

Also in the room were some adult mosquitoes on which the scientists had been conducting tests and experiments as part of the constant international struggle against malaria and other forms of mosquito-borne disease.

When the scientists reported for work next morning, most of the mosquitoes were dead. Immediately they suspected that the sealed bag of insecticide — or rather the fumes from it — were responsible for killing the mosquitoes.

In days following they confirmed their theory. They found that the fumes killed the mosquitoes even when the insecticide was enclosed in a paper bag with a polyethylene liner. Subsequent work showed the method worked even in well ventilated rooms.

The most effective chemicals tested were malathion and DDPV, used in combination or especially used in combination or separately. Both have been widely used against mosquitoes in recent years.

More study will be required and specific techniques will have to be worked out before the method can be generally used, investigators say.

But once the technique has been perfected and proved safe, it may greatly simplify control of mosquitoes. Meanwhile, you'll have to go along with old methods if you're interested in a summer relatively free of mosquito deprivations.

Despite being more costly and difficult, the old methods do work. They consist of spraying inside the house with aerosol bombs, and keeping your back yard free of tin cans, old tires, grass cuttings and anything else that can breed or harbor mosquitoes. HURRY! LAST WEEK! IN WIN $50 GROCERIES!
IN OUR LOCAL GULF GULFTANE LP-GAS BUTANE PROPANE
WATER HEATING CONTEST
Just write down one number—Nothing to buy!

An LP-Gas water heater will deliver much more hot water than an electric. How many gallons more in 30 days—that is the contest question.

SEND IN YOUR ESTIMATE YOU MAY WIN!

Wonder why we have a contest like this? To prove what some folks don't know—that Gulfthane beats electricity in providing plenty of hot water 24 hours a day at low, low cost.

It's a dramatic way of saying that if you aren't using Gulfthane for water heating, you're probably getting too little and paying too much!

What IS Gulfthane? It's a high quality LP-Gas, also known as bottled gas, propane or butane. It is gas compressed into concentrated liquid form, so that we can deliver Gulfthane to you easily and economically. Here's what it will give you:

- HOME HEATING—clean, automatic heating with Gulfthane for only pennies a day.
- COOKING—the modern way, with fast, clean, automatically controlled Gulfthane flames.
- TRACTOR FUEL—clean-burning Gulfthane cuts maintenance costs up to 50% . . . costs less too.
- MANY, MANY OTHER FARM AND HOME USES!

FACTS TO HELP YOU WIN!

An average 30-gallon LP-Gas water heater is able to deliver between 15,000 and 17,000 gallons of hot water per month . . . an average 52-gallon electric water heater between 3,950 and 5,250 gallons of hot water each produces in 30 days, operating 24 hours a day will use these totals, depending on operating conditions.

Your Gulfthane distributor has a FREE ENTRY BLANK which contains all the test details and gives you plenty of additional information to help you win. To get your Entry Blank, phone, write, or drop in at the address below, or mail your estimate by using the coupon below. By calculating how much each will deliver, you can estimate how many more gallons you can get from an LP-Gas water heater. Your calculation may win the contest and bring you the prize.

United States Testing Company, Inc. will test two new water heaters—one LP-Gas, one electric. These heaters will be average home-size water heaters picked at random from stock. The test will measure how much 160° hot water (normal clothes washing temperature) each will deliver over a 30-day period operating at full capacity, 24 hours a day. The certified results of the test will determine the winner.

USE FREE ENTRY BLANK available at address below OR MAIL THIS COUPON

- Here are the easy rules
1. Phone, write or visit your Gulfthane distributor and ask him for your entry blank—or use the coupon below.
  2. Fill in your estimate of how many more gallons of 160° water the LP-Gas heater will deliver over the 30-day period. Don't forget to add your name and address and that of your Gulfthane distributor. Type, or print in ink. Incomplete or illegible entries will not be considered. Mail to Water Heating Contest at the address below. Entries must be postmarked no later than June 12, 1959.
  3. The Contest is subject to all Federal, state and local laws and is open to any adult resident of the continental United States except those employed by, or who are members of the families of employees of Warren Petroleum Corporation, its branded distributors, or its advertising agencies. More than one entry from an individual or a family will not be considered.
  4. For each local contest area, the estimate determined by the judge to be closest to the actual, official test result and bearing the earliest postmark wins the prize. Judge's decisions are final.
  5. The prize is a certificate worth $50.00 in groceries at a food market selected by the local Gulfthane distributor.
  6. Your Gulfthane distributor will display the official test result June 27, 1959 at the address below. Keep a record of your estimate—compare it with the official result. Winners will be notified by July 15, 1959 and will receive their certificate shortly thereafter from their local Gulfthane distributor.

— An Editorial —

The Biggest WHY Of Them All!

A strange — and most unhappy — cult is arising in this country, and it is steadily gaining greater and greater power. It is the cult of "unionism at any price" — and it may well be the cause of the downfall of the small business man in this nation.

Why, we keep wondering, do union bosses feel it is absolutely necessary to get every business unionized, whether the employer and employees of that business want it or not?

Why has the cry become "Get 'em unionized!" . . . when we know all too good and well that there are so many businesses where unions are absolutely unnecessary?

Why have unions found it necessary to resort to such unpleasant, damaging and in fact ruinous practices as "organizational picketing"?

Everybody is wondering why!

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell wondered why recently when he discussed organizational picketing and called it "Blackmail Picketing".

President Eisenhower was enough disturbed about it to include it in his message to Congress recently. He questioned the why of union abuses such as organizational picketing by saying that he would do something about "protecting the public and innocent third parties from unfair and coercive practices such as boycotting and blackmail picketing".

Why has nothing been done about it until now?

Why have we waited for proper legislation on this point — and why have we allowed so many small business men to be forced out of business because they could not fight the picket lines arbitrarily placed around their shops by determined union bosses?

Surely we must all realize that organizational picketing is just something unions have created to force business to do its bidding!

It is a high-handed, dirty method of beating people into submission and forcing them to sign a contract with the union.

Why must small business men, who have given their employees every possible benefit — and whose employees do not want to have their incomes taxed unnecessarily by union dues — be forced to surrender to union demands?

Why, indeed, should a union be allowed to instigate and man a picket line around a man's place of business?

Why should the small business man have to watch his would-be customers walking the other way because they do not want to become part of the actual danger involved in crossing a picket line?

Why should loyal workers find themselves called names . . . jostled . . . pushed and . . . mysteriously . . . unable to find the space to get through the picket line so they can get to work?

Why, indeed!

Why must we read cases, day after day, of people forced out of business because they could not afford the legal fees and loss of time involved in trying to fight unions?

Why do we let this thing go on?

Why do we allow this deprivation of citizen's rights?

And the biggest why of all . . . why do we let unions, who can and have done so much good on so many other occasions, get away with this flagrant kind of abuse!

The answer, it would seem, is that the time has come for equal legislation under law . . . legislation that will protect the small business man and the employees and the unions with equal justice under law!

Why are we waiting? Why not have some action . . . today!

Safe Trailering Is a Breeze

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

WHILE breezing along the vacation highway this Summer with the family boat or house-trailer, would you be able to spell your husband with the driving?

If the very thought of pulling a trailer brings panic, my experiences prove it's a cinch.

On a recent trip from Detroit to Houston I discovered the established cautious, courteous traffic safety rules and a few special precautions are the main requirements.

I learned to: Drive at more moderate speeds. The added weight of a trailer requires more stopping distance.

Allow plenty of clearance when passing, changing lanes and turning.

When backing, steer left to make the trailer go to the right.

Make frequent safety checks of the trailer enroute.

Never allow anyone to ride in the trailer.

Before leaving home, make certain your husband has checked these points so your trip will be enjoyable and free from worry:

Check your state's motor vehicle laws and those of states through which you will travel.

Make certain the car is capable of pulling the extra weight.

Hitch should be bolted to the frame of the car, not just the bumper. Supplement the hitch with a safety chain.

Provide clearly visible reflectors, direction and warning lights on rear of trailer.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Beard

Recently the House acted upon the appropriation for the Department of Agriculture. While there can be no real question but what our present agricultural program needs to be changed in many respects — in fact, probably completely reworked — there is a great deal of misunderstanding about the program, and about the use for which the funds appropriated are used. Many implications recently in the press leave the impression that all of the money spent by the Department of Agriculture goes directly into a farm subsidy program. The truth of the matter is that a great number of activities are carried on by the Department of Agriculture for the benefit of the public generally and should not be charged to the farmer or to those engaged in farming exclusively. In the first place, the Department is the largest regulatory body in the Federal Government. It administers over fifty different laws, many of which protect the consumer, such as ensuring clean, healthy meat and poultry through Federal inspection, and the grading of meat products. Second, all of the farm commodity export program is handled through the Department. Third, millions of dollars in the form of loans are made annually through the Farmers Home Administration and the R.E.A. This money is all in the form of loans, and the rate of repayment has been very high. The Department also conducts an extensive market research program which has developed new handling methods of farm produce and has provided the technique for reducing food handling costs, all of which are of primary benefit to the consuming public, and about 22 Million Dollars a year is spent on the eradication of brucellosis which is primarily a program to protect the health of the public. The Department of Agriculture also disposes, through sales to friendly foreign countries, of a substantial part of our agricultural surpluses. Up to now they have sold over 7½ Billion Dollars worth. It also administers the School Lunch Program and the program which provides dairy products to Veterans in Armed Forces Hospitals. In addition, the Department also handles soil and water conservation work which is one of the most vital and important programs to those of us living in the Southwest. The simple point is that even though there is a need for substantial revision in our agricultural program, much of the expenditures that are allegedly charged up to the farmer never reach him but are spent on programs for public benefit.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Doubts If White-Collar Farming Would Be Less Tiring Than The Present Kind

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses the future of work this week. We guess that's what he's doing.

Dear Editor: When a man doesn't know any more about what's happened in the past than I do, he hasn't got much business predicting what's going to happen in the future, but I'm always interested in what somebody else has to say about it.

For example, I was reading an article last night in a newspaper a neighbor handed me earlier in the day because he said he didn't have time to read it, too busy working, that predicted that in 10 years "the manual and tedious work as something ancient and most workers will be wearing white-collars."

This does not leave me altogether satisfied. I mean, while the ancient image of work as something hard may fade in the next ten years, I figure work itself will stay around quite a while longer.

And as for wearing a white collar, this doesn't appeal to me at all. That is, I guess I could wear a white collar now, with a tie, but going up one row and down another on a tractor would still be the same. Even changing collars at noon, because the one you started out plowing in that morning is bound to be dusty by mid-day, still wouldn't fade any images of work, as far as I'm concerned. You can get just as tired from white-collar farming as you can from the opening neck kind.

I'll admit the machine has eliminated a lot of work, but what some people don't seem to realize is that it's caused a lot of other work, too. I long ago noticed that a man who graduates from a tractor with two-row equipment to one with four-row equipment doesn't work half as much as he did before, he just takes on twice as much land and still goes from sun-up to sun-down. I'm not equipped to figure it up myself, but it would be interesting to know how many hours of work scientists and inventors have put in perfecting labor-saving devices, how many hours workers have put in building them, and how many hours consumers have put in working to afford them. The way I see it, some sort of work is likely to occupy man for some time to come. Putting on a collar doesn't fool me. I've seen bankers, druggists, doctors, store keepers, school teachers, etc., come home just as tired from work as a farmer. I don't believe science can invent the type of collar that'll keep a person from getting tired.

Yours faithfully,

Chemicals Prove Worth In Control Of Cotton Insects

U. S. cotton growers would pay an annual toll to cotton insects amounting to almost 1 pound of seed-cotton for every 3 pounds they produce without modern insecticides to combat them, the U. S. Department of Agriculture says.

More than 20 years of research by entomologists of U. S. D. A.'s Agricultural Research Service, in cooperation with the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station, show that although the percentage of production increase varies somewhat with the use of insecticides, more cotton has always been produced on treated plots.

Field trials at the ARS Cotton Insects Research Laboratory, Waco, Texas, show an average annual seed-cotton yield of 1,049 pounds per acre from treated plots. This is 309 pounds, or 42 percent, more cotton than the average total produced on untreated plots.

The experiments show that, since the advent of modern organic insecticides to control cotton pests, yield gains have averaged 53 percent. Before 1945, when growers depended upon inorganic insecticides such as arsenicals and

MOTOR MAIDS

How To Avoid Skidding

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

MOST WINTER DRIVING accidents occur at turns and curves and when starting or stopping. To avoid skidding, many drivers virtually stop at every slippery curve or turn.

They use short, repeated brakings — rather than one hard plunge on the brake pedal — to slow the car. As the curve is reached, a little acceleration will keep the car moving around the danger.

With increased power going into the wheels from the motor, more control is gained over the automobile itself. Instead of negative action only, positive control is acquired.

BUT BE CAREFUL and use only a little gas to negotiate the curve. Too much gas and too fast a pickup can start the wheels spinning and cause the car to skid.

If the car does go into a skid, turn the front wheels in the direction the car is skidding. This permits the wheels to roll and stops the slide.

A common sense rule is to test the road surface in bad weather. If it is icy, try a practice stop and find out—before an emergency arises—just how much and what kind of braking is required to stop safely.

These same techniques apply to wet, muddy, or loose gravel roads.

sulphur, yield increases amounted to about 34 percent annually. Highest production on treated plots and the greatest increase over untreated plots occurred in 1955 when treated plots produced 1,461 pounds of seed-cotton per acre as compared with only 778 pounds on untreated plots.

Since 1939, when the Cotton Insects Laboratory was established at Waco, tests have been conducted to compare production on plots treated with new insecticides, with standard insecticides, and plots receiving no pest control treatment.

Only a few irrigated plots were in the study and those were analyzed during the last three years.
