Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

"The public has been amused recently by photographs of large numbers of college students wedged into telephone booths," writes Senator Ralph Yarborough, "but when we stop to think that college classrooms and dormitories may soon present an almost similar picture, the outlook is not so humorous. This is one reason why I feel the President's veto of the Housing Act of 1959 was extremely unwise.

k-k

"By 1965, only six years away, the number of college age young people in the United States will have doubled. Our institutions of higher learning are not growing fast enough to keep up with the demand."

k-k

Our local schools are facing a problem, too, but not of the telephone booth type at present.

According to Supt. W. C. Cox, our problem is necessary improvements and lack of money. An accreditation committee from the Texas Education Agency has inspected our schools and has recommended — which is equivalent to a demand — that several necessary improvements be made if the Munday Schools remain an accredited institution.

"These deficiencies are the direct result of lack of funds for maintaining the standards required by the state," he said. "Inflationary conditions have made it impossible for the schools to maintain the standards required on the money available. Inflation has kept our backs to the wall. Our economy has finally caught up with us. Our books and records are open to the public for examination."

k-k

The school board has called a meeting for 8 p.m. Thursday, July 23, at the grade school building for discussing the problems confronting our schools. It is hoped that every interested person will be present and help to iron out these problems and maintain a standardized school system.

k-k

We want to commend members of our Texas Legislature. In two special sessions of trying to work out the state's finances and take care of a deficit, we don't expect much commendation has come their way. But we appreciate the fact that the members remained too "bogged down" with pressing problems to push through a resolution inviting Louisiana's Gov. Long to speak to them. After the way he spoke to his own legislators and from his antics since that time we'd think an address from the governor of Louisiana would not be very welcomed.

k-k

It's done gone and happened again. This week is the last time you'll see "Vol. 54" appearing just above this column, and next week we'll start out with "Vol. 55, issue No. 1". Which means that we are this week completing another year of publication, and next week will start on the 55th year for this sheet.

k-k

Which means that time continues to go by. It doesn't seem very long since we donned our first pair of long trousers and it seemed pretty manly to be getting out of those knee breeches. And yet, within a few days ye of editor will be observing his 55th birthday and within a few months we'll be completing our 21st year with this paper.

k-k

Nothing out of the ordinary, it seems, has happened during the Times 54th year, and possibly its 55th will go on in the usual way. We will continue to print the good news and bad — the births, marriages, deaths and tragedies and those little "personal gems" about John and Mary coming home to visit you. We hope to keep the sheet interesting enough that you'll want to continue your subscription, and to merit the continued patronage of our advertising. And with that, we start in on another year.

Meeting Of School Patrons Called To Discuss Problems In Our Schools

W. C. Cox, superintendent of the Munday Public Schools, revealed Monday that a public hearing has been set for 8 p.m. Thursday, July 23, at the elementary school for the purpose of discussing problems confronting the school system.

After a visit to the local schools by an accreditation committee of the Texas Education Agency, it has been pointed out that certain improvements must be made in order to maintain the present standards in our schools.

"The schools have practiced economy in every possible instance," Mr. Cox said, "to keep the program going without raising taxes or evaluations. The time has come if we wish to continue our accreditation standard we must act."

Among the recommendations made by the state committee are the following:

1. Improving the school library, more books that will stimulate pupils' interest in reading in various subject fields. More time from teaching duties for librarian to devote to library. Crowded condition in library should be eliminated.

2. The Dunbar School should have a classroom library in each room instead of the inadequate central library now in use. It should also be provided more laboratory materials, and the home-making department is below minimum standards.

3. A program of health and physical education should be provided in both the Dunbar and white schools.

4. The Dunbar principal should be released from heavy teaching duties in order to do more supervision.

5. In most of the buildings, shades are in a bad state of repair, floors need repairing, especially in the hallways. The entire Dunbar School is in need of general repair. Much of the furniture in all buildings of the school system is obsolete.

6. Inadequate space available for shop and other activities necessary for a full unit in vocational agriculture. This department costs the community $1,282 per year in salary that would be paid by the state if we had adequate facilities.

"Unless something is done toward making corrections," Mr. Cox continued, "we are warned that our accreditation standard is dangerously jeopardized. We urge every patron to come out Thursday, July 23, and let's discuss these problems."

Randy Marak, 5½, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Marak of Bomarton, was killed at about 4 p.m. Wednesday, July 8, at the family home about a mile northeast of Bomarton.

It had been standing in the corner and was thought to be unloaded. The bullet pierced an artery leading to the boy's heart, and he was dead upon arrival at the hospital in Seymour.

Community "H" — Farmer's Co-Op Gin, Gilliland.

The polls shall be opened from 8:00 o'clock a.m. to 6:00 o'clock, p.m. Farmers who are eligible to vote in the wheat quotas referendum are all those who in 1960 will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain on a farm, except those who are participating in the 1959 feed wheat program. Under the feed wheat program, farmers may arrange with the county office to grow up to 30 acres of wheat for use only on the farm where grown without being subject to marketing quota penalties.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve the quotas, they will remain in effect for 1960-crop wheat and price support will be available to farmers who comply with their farm wheat allotments at least 75 per cent of parity. Farmers who exceed the larger of the farm allotment or 15 acres will be subject to a marketing penalty of 45 per cent of the wheat parity price on their "excess" wheat.

If the quotas are not approved by two-thirds of the growers voting, the quotas and penalties will not be in effect, and price support will be available to farmers who comply with their farm wheat allotments at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law. At current parity levels, that would be about 1.18 per bushel.

"1919 HITTING POST"

Three must be a breakthrough of three major barriers if the railroads of this country are to be able to give the public the maximum benefit of their ability "to move vast quantities at diminishing cost."

That statement comes from a top authority on the railroad's critical problems — President Daniel P. Loomis of the Association of American Railroads. And here are the three breakthrough needs:

1. Public policies, especially those governing the taxation of investment spending, must be changed to permit railroads to speed up the process of modernizing and streamlining plant and operations.

2. Regulatory policies must allow the industry to pass along the ensuing economics to the public in the form of the lowest practicable freight rates and passenger fares.

3. There must be an elimination of obsolete working rules, adopted 40 years and more ago, that roadblock progress and prevent the lines from getting the greatest use out of the operating changes modern technology makes possible. These rules are the source of "featherbedding" waste which costs the nation a totally needless $500 million a year. Under them, railroads must pay two, three and even four times for single-work time, or must use two or three men for one job.

To quote Mr. Loomis directly: ". . . today's iron horse, long since changed from a puffing streamer into a gleaming, streamlined diesel locomotive remains tied to a 1919 hitting post. It's high time he was turned loose."

PRICE OF LIBERTY HAS NOT CHANGED

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover observes that the nation faces a dual menace—"the communist conspiracy attacking from within and from abroad, and a criminal conspiracy made up of the lowest dregs of the lawless who are attacking our statutory and constitutional safeguards."

He adds this all-important observation: "Our forefathers fought to gain liberty; our struggle in this, the nuclear age, is to maintain and perpetuate it." Many Americans, perhaps even most, seem to think liberty is a fixed and eternal principle which can be taken for granted. All through history that attitude has made possible the destruction of liberty by its enemies. The price of liberty, now as ever, is eternal vigilance.

MATERIAL MIRACLES

We live in an age of material miracles, major and minor. And there's hardly an enterprise or a life which isn't touched by them.

Take, just for example, the oil industry. We might think, reasonably enough, that the techniques of finding, producing and transporting oil are pretty permanently established.

But that isn't the case.

Oil fields without derricks . . . nuclear-powered submarine tankers capable of carrying 200,000 barrels of oil . . . pipe line systems so automated they do everything but pay the monthly bills . . . the use of sound waves, bugs and atomic energy to double the recovery rate of crude oil from the ground — these are but a few of the forecasts which 10 experts have made in the American Petroleum Institute Quarterly. And they appear, fittingly, in the oil industry's centennial year.

These remarkable developments; when they move from the realm of theory into reality, will further advance the industry's high standards of efficiency, economy and service. And some will do more than that—they will, in effect, greatly increase our reserves of oil by greatly increasing the amount that can be recovered.

This is a fascinating age, for all of its troubles and problems.

In the view of the Committee for Economic Development, the European Common Market in which tariff and other adjustments are made to permit a far freer flow of goods between the participating countries, is a major step toward political unity and economic growth in Europe which can strengthen the entire free world.

Senator Wiley of Wisconsin proposes the creation of a Commission on Federal Taxation which would conduct a thorough going study of our present tax system and recommend reforms. The Senator says: "The basic principles governing tax reform are: (1) Taxes should be based on ability to pay; (2) taxes should allow reasonable incentive to earn, to grow, to expand; and (3) insofar as possible, taxes should be nondiscriminatory. In addition, the tax policy should promote efficiency, stability, equality and justice."

Construction expenditures by electric utilities in 1958 amounted to $3,764,000,000.

LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

takes the guesswork out of Home Buying

In 1948, residential customers of WTU used an average of only 110 kilowatt hours per month. TODAY, they use an average of 232 kilowatt hours per month. WTU customers in 1958 used more than twice as much electricity... and paid 18 1/2% less per kilowatt hour than in 1948.

Choose the home that displays this medallion seal! It's your assurance that it meets highest standards for better, more convenient, more economical living!

- MODERN ALL-ELECTRIC KITCHEN. Automatic electric range and oven are already installed.
- MAJOR ELECTRIC APPLIANCES — at least four of them, including the range — are part of the original house plan... located for convenience by the home's designer.
- LIGHT FOR LIVING is provided for in work, play and traffic areas, to illuminate them for beauty as well as for your family's safety and comfort.
- REDDY WIRING — a prime requirement in homes qualifying for the Medallion seal — is ample to accommodate today's appliances plus those you will want in the future.

Get your money's worth, electrically speaking! Make sure the home you buy or build meets Medallion Standards for better living — electrically — today and tomorrow. Ask your building contractor.

Farm Safety Week Begins July 19th

Farm work accidents claim about 3,500 lives each year, which is more than any other major industry. About 12,000 farm residents lose their lives each year in all types of accidents.

And a million or more farm people suffer accidental injuries and the accompanying disabilities, miseries and financial troubles each year.

Pretty grim statistics, aren't they? To make the picture more grim, the National Safety Council says many of the deaths are somebody's fault — and could be prevented.

This is the reason the President has proclaimed the week beginning July 19, as National Farm Week and requests all persons and organizations interested in the welfare of farm people to support and participate in its observance.

The National Safety Council says human failure — ignorance and carelessness — are the main causes of farm accidents each year.

As individuals, rural residents can help in the battle against farm accidents by making regular inspections of their homes, buildings, fields, machinery and equipment. A little repair and extra care is about all it takes to bring safety home to the farm.

As groups, farmers can work for safety, too. Rural organizations should make accidents prevention of their activity, a feature on their programs, a subject of their discussions.

Farm Safety Week is a good opportunity for rural residents to take a few lessons in safety, and then practice them all year long.

Many farm groups are planning special programs during Farm Safety Week and a number of rural ministers will mention the special week at church July 19.

The theme of this year's Farm Safety Week is "Safety Makes Sense."

Safety does make sense. It could save your life.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Is Not In Favor Of Hiring A New Public Relations Expert Just For Farmers

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek claims he's found a new angle to the farm problem this week.

Dear editor:
As a lifetime student of the farm problem, not of what I think it is but what other people think it is, I'll have to admit that this week I have run across in a newspaper day before yesterday—

According to an article I read in a newspaper day before yesterday—I think it was day before yesterday, when you don't do any more one day than the next, they all run together—the farmer "is suffering today because of bad relations."

According to this fellow, since 88 per cent of the people live in towns or cities, the public has a grossly mistaken picture of the farmer and the farmer, if he's smart, will do something to improve his public relations.

Right now, he continued, the people look on the farmer as (1) a hayseed, or (2) a profiteer responsible for the high cost of living, or (3) the biggest hog at the public trough, depending on the government to take care of him.

Now I don't know which one of these images you city people have when you think of me, but that Number 2 picture is the one I wish was right. For one farming year, just one, I'd like to be a profiteer. You could throw Number 1 in, it'd be all right. I wouldn't mind, I wouldn't care if you thought I was a hayseed, just so long as I was profiteering. And as far as the government taking care of me goes, it's a beautiful dream, but I've never been able to swing it.

This man went on to emphasize that us farmers ought to do something about our public relations, do something to change the public's image of us. Well, I guess we could hire some of those Madison Avenue boys, they do a pretty good job of making a politician's image over in the public's eye, but I can't think of anyway I'd rather look in the public's eye that'd make me feel any better in my own eye. Besides, by the time I get through paying for my equipment, my gas and oil and tires and repairs and clothes and taxes, I don't have

Appearing prosperous never did appeal to me. There's millions of those folks in the country now especially in the towns and cities. Nothing less than the genuine article will ever suit me.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

The Administration has requested that Congress remove the ceiling on the interest that can be paid on Government securities. The present ceiling on long term Government bonds is 4 1/2%. For any Government securities which are issued for less than five years there is at this time no ceiling on the interest that can be paid. It has been suggested that unless the ceiling is removed on the issues running for a period of more than five years, that a greater portion of the debt will be forced into short term securities. If this should occur, then the Government would be competing in its refinancing with the short term money that would normally go into the commercial channels for building and financing business and personal activities. This undoubtedly would be highly inflationary and would force individual interest rates up considerably. While it would seem that the situation that now exists has to a great degree been created by the so-called "tight" money policy that has been in vogue for the last few years, there seems to be no responsible alternative at the present time other than to provide some means whereby the interest ceiling on the long term Government issues can be removed. Doing this should not necessarily mean that the over-all interest paid by the Government should increase, and it certainly would be less inflationary than forcing the Government into short term financing.

A great furor has been caused by Paul Butler's recent statements concerning the activities of the Congress. It would seem that if Mr. Butler wanted to make Congressional policy, he should get himself elected to either the House or the Senate. If he were successful in this, he would better understand the responsibilities of the Congress and perhaps would learn that the first responsibility of a Member of Congress is to do what he feels is best for the country rather than serve his political party. Visitors from home this week were Mr. Dave Robinson of Denton, Mr. Ray Davenport formerly of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Davenport, and Mr. Henry Anderson and daughter, Terry of Wichita Falls.
