Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

We reckon it's hope that keeps us going when some of our efforts are not crowned with success. And it's no different when working, or fishing!

We'd been getting reports of how they were pulling in the crapple at Lake Kemp. At noon-time Saturday, it seemed to be a right likely day for teasing the fish, so we downed a hamburger and took off for the lake.

We boarded a boat with some pretty fair fishermen, in our opinion: W. E. Braly with his rig, H. F. Jungman and Tuggles Coffman. The first barrel we tied up to over on Cattle Island brought us "no fruits for our labors," so we headed for another spot.

We found another barrel at Goat Island that wasn't occupied, but other fishermen were anchored nearby. Occasionally some of them would pull in a small one, but the numerous lines dangling from our boat would remain undisturbed.

Directly W. R. Moore, Sr. and Jr. with "Little Bill" decided to hoist anchor and go in. As they passed by the senior member exhibited a wire basket of fish as a reward for their efforts. They weren't big ones, but keepers. "They quit biting about 40 minutes ago," W. R. Sr. said as they took off across the water.

Soon we were at another spot in Wichita Colony — and there we landed a little fellow that we pitched back to grow some more, and that's the only bite the four of us got. Back at one of the poles, Mr. Braly landed a keeper — and that's the only one that bothered our minnows. The sun was getting low and the air nippy by then, so we reeled in and headed homeward. But for a nice outing with some pretty swell fellows — and but for that hope we spoke of earlier — our afternoon seemed pretty well wasted. But we'll be trying it again sometime.

Leland Hannah jokingly remarked Monday that he needed to do something besides work, and he found out — although it took him several years — that he couldn't fish and run a pharmacy. But he needed to do something, like take a trip around the world. Which reminded us of something we saw in a column of one of our contemporaries. It was something like this:

One summer evening when Thomas A. Edison returned home from his work his wife said, "You've worked too long without a rest. You must take a vacation." "But where will I go?" he asked. "Decide where you'd rather be than anywhere else on earth and go there," she answered. "Very well," promised Mr. Edison. "I will go tomorrow." The next day he returned to his laboratory.

Those who sponsored the Farm and Ranch Day here last Friday said our crowd compared favorably with those at other places. It appeared to us that there were too many people there like an editor, a banker, an insurance man, implement dealers present, and too few actual farmers.

After a seige of wet weather, we suppose a number of farmers were turning their soil, and one of the speakers indicated that that's where they should be if they weren't. That portion of the program we heard was very good, and the feed was most enjoyable. It was worth while to sit through a speech of just one of those experts in their fields, and those who heard all six of them surely must have gotten something to take home and study about.

Rev. Clayburn was born January 15, 1871, in Tennessee and moved to Wise County, where he married Virginia Reagan on December 4, 1898. He joined the Baptist Church in 1902 and was ordained in 1915 at Hopewell Baptist Church in Wise County. He served as pastor of churches in Wise and Knox Counties until his retirement.

John A. Smith Is Candidate For Knox Tax Office

John A. Smith, Tax Assessor and Collector of Knox County, Texas has authorized the Munday Times to announce his candidacy for re-election to this office.

Mr. Smith stated to us that he had worked in this capacity for the past four years and feels that records and the audits of his office speak for his efficiency. That he has in the past, and intends to in the future, to provide for the Knox County Citizens the convenience of paying their taxes and auto registration at the town in which they live, on certain days announced in advance by the newspaper.

That his office is open at all times during the business hours and that he and his clerks will efficiently and courteously take care of your business in a businesslike way. That his only interest is in serving the public to the best of his ability in this capacity.

Mr. Smith stated that he would appreciate your consideration for this office and if elected will continue serving you in the manner that will meet with your approval.

County Short Of 1959 Bond Goals

Texas Savings Bonds sales in December were the greatest since March of last year according to W. E. Braly, chairman of Knox county's Bond Committee.

December Savings Bonds purchases in Texas were $13,482,290, an increase of $2 million over the previous month.

"Sales in this county totaled $195,586 during 1959. This represented 80.8% of our goal of $242,000. Sales in the state amounted to $152,937,812 or 83.8% of the state's 1959 bond goal," Mr. Braly reported. December sales in the county were $7,584.

"This sales record may be attributed to the recent increase in interest on Series E and H Savings Bonds and to the efforts of the hundreds of bond volunteers serving on the state and local bond committees," he pointed out.

Last fall the U. S. Treasury Department raised the interest rate on all E and H Savings Bonds. All Savings Bonds purchased since June 1, 1959 earn an attractive 3 3/4% and all old bonds earn at least 1/2% more when held to maturity.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Holub and family of Albuquerque, N. M. are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Herring of Rhinehart and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Holub of Bomarton.

Auto License Plates For 1960 Are Now On Sale

AUSTIN — New license plates for 1960 went on sale at all county courthouses Monday morning, February 1, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer announced today. The plates will have white letters and numerals on a black background.

Greer stated that 4.7 million motor vehicle registrations were bought by Texans in 1959, and predicted that 1960 registrations would approach the five million mark.

Greer urged Texas vehicle owners to register early. The registration deadline is midnight, April 1.

Greer stressed the importance of registering all automobiles and trucks in the home county of the vehicle owner.

"Take your certificate of title and your last year's registration receipt to the tax collector in your home county. Penalty for improper registration of a vehicle can be as much as $200. Don't risk an illegal registration. Remember, too, that a portion of all registration fees stays in your home county to benefit your local community," Greer said.

Leflar Home Is Damaged By Fire

Fire which broke out in the living room early Saturday morning did considerable damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Leflar before it was brought under control by members of the Munday Fire Department. The fire is believed to have started from a cigarette.

Fire damage was reported to the living room rug and several items of furniture. Although the fire was confined to the one room, there was some smoke and water damage to other portions of the home.

In attempting to combat the blaze before firemen arrived, Mr. Leflar stepped on a hoe in the yard and received a severe cut on his foot, which required medical attention. He is reported to be getting along nicely.

Munday Boys Beat O'Brien In Tennis

The Munday senior boys' tennis team defeated the O'Brien team 4 to 0 in a series of sets at Munday on Wednesday afternoon, January 27.

These were the first tune-up matches for either team in preparation for the series of four upcoming meets at Rule, O'Brien, Munday and Benjamin, which are scheduled throughout March.

Lee and Fitzgerald are seniors, and Pape a junior in the Munday school. The O'Brien team had Royce Cox, a junior; Bobby Cox and Hodges, freshmen.

The gin was listed on the program as one of the firms helping to foot the bill for the noon meal at Farm and Ranch Day last Friday; but, shucks, we done went and made a mistake and failed to get the gin listed in the paper. It was our boner, and nobody else's.

We're plumb sorry, and regretful — and the other fellows would like for you to slip your check on down, Cecil.

Vegetable Growers Attend Meeting At College Station

Three Knox County Vegetable producers, Gene Thompson, Lonnie Offut, and B. E. Smith and County Agent Troy Jones attended and participated in the first Statewide Vegetable Producer's Meeting held on January 26 at College Station. Approximately 30 key producers attended the meeting, coming from vegetable producing areas from the lower Rio Grande Valley to the High Plains of Texas. Mr. Thompson of Munday was included on an eight man panel at the meeting that discussed Vegetable Production and Marketing. After much deliberation, the group felt a State Association should be formed with major emphasis presently being on nation-wide publicity of Texas Vegetables.

After the association is functioning properly, emphasis could change to marketing agreements and other problems facing the vegetable industry. An eight man committee was set up with a producer coming from each of the major production areas in the state. The purpose of the committee was for each member to discuss the possibility of forming an association with producers in his area and meet again within 90 days at San Antonio to carry out the final plans.

Mr. Lonnie Offut, Pres. of the Munday Vegetable Coop, was appointed as Committeeman for the Wichita Valley Area. Producers wishing to voice an opinion or discuss the meeting or association plans, should contact him.

Plan To Step Up Savings Bonds Program in 1960

Increased activities will be carried on in this and the other counties of Texas for the 1960 stepped-up U. S. Savings Bonds program. W. E. Braly of Munday, County Chairman of the volunteer bond organization announced today.

Steps for the expanded program were detailed at a District Planning meeting in Wichita Falls. Mr. Braly said, at which the increased importance of Savings Bonds to the sound economy of every person, each community and the nation, was emphasized. County bond chairmen, civic and agricultural leaders, bank officers, newspaper editors, radio station officials and others from the counties in this district were called to the meeting.

Mr. J. C. Porter of Wichita Falls District Chairman, was the principal speaker at the District Savings Bond Meeting in Kemp Hotel, Wichita Falls on January 28.

More volunteers are being enlisted to push the program throughout the year in every community. Everything will be done to make the county goal of $200,000.00 and thus help achieve the 1960 Texas goal of $164.4 million. The national goal is $4.6 billion. The chairman urges that everyone in the county help put the 1960 Savings Bonds program over the top by buying more bonds throughout the year.

"CUSTOMER CONTROL" OF EDUCATION

Writing in Nation's Business, Felix Morley says that the decade we have just entered will probably show much-needed improvement in the quality of public education. Throughout the country school discipline is becoming more firm and instruction more exacting. Then he makes this significant observation: "The movement up from educational decadence, it should be emphasized, has not come as a result of federal aid. The effort to have public instruction increasingly financed, and therefore increasingly controlled, from Washington continues. But this year it seems more feeble. There are no longer any valid arguments for taking the financing of education away from the localities, where the knowledge of both school needs and school accomplishment is naturally most complete."

Taxpayers everywhere have shown, by their vote, that they are willing to put up whatever money is needed for first-class public education. But they are also demanding, in ever increasing numbers, that frills and extravagance be eliminated—whether they consist of ridiculously expensive physical plants or "life adjustment" courses that would bore any intelligent and ambitious student to death and that have no place in a meaningful educational system.

Mr. Morley also says, "If funds for the public schools were derived from federal taxation . . . there would be no need for county or municipal bond issues in this field and therefore no customer control over educational vagaries." The result would be waste of money on a gigantic scale—and, worse, declining educational standards as the Washington bureaucrats put their pet theories into practice. "Customer control" is essential both to good and fundamental education and to properly-priced education.

POTENTIALITIES UNLIMITED

J. Russell Duncan, president of the Minneapolis-Moline Company, a leading producer of mechanized farm equipment, has made some interesting proposals concerning the vexing farm surplus problem.

For one thing, he says, there should be an extensive research program designed to develop new uses for farm products in clothing, plastics, chemicals and so on and to put existing farm acreage to different crop uses. This field, he points out, is virtually untouched, and the potentialities are almost unlimited. For another thing, he goes on, we should be far more active, far more aggressive, in selling farm products to other nations. The American farmer is the lowest cost agricultural producer in the world, despite high American wages. So Mr. Duncan urges that the sale of farm products be promoted in times of surplus with the "same ingenuity of pricing and merchandising" as shown by the automobile industry when it is faced with overproduction.

There will be differences of opinion as to just how to go about such a program as this. But, administrative details to one side, something like it will have to be undertaken, and soon, if order is to take the place of an incredibly expensive chaos in American farm production and surpluses.

NOBODY WON

The settlement of the steel strike—which gave payroll increase of 39 cents an hour to the steel workers—is surrounded by a very big IF.

The IF has to do with whether the settlement will be followed by increases in steel prices that will set off a new round of inflation. That question, apparently, will be decided by the union attitude toward proposed changes in work rules designed to increase man-hour productivity and so offset the wage boost in whole or in part.

An observation made by the Portland, Oregon, Journal, is very much in point: "On the surfaces, labor can say that it won this strike, but really, nobody won. The steelworkers will never recover what they have lost in wages. The strike has lost markets for U. S. producers to foreign competitors which they may never regain. And if it proves to be the stimulus of a new inflationary spiral which runs throughout the economy, the cost to all segments of our people will be incalculable."

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "This is a land of free speech and free prophecy, too. Anybody can make guesses about what's going to happen. What's going to happen next to the shape of automobiles?"

"Will many more new yearly models come and go before the advertisements begin putting delicate emphasis on a person's not having to bend double to enter a car—and on his having plenty of headroom once he's seated?"

FEED LOTS GROWING

The day may not be far off when nearly all of the heavy beef eaten in Texas will have been fattened, finished and processed in Texas—which is a complete reversal of a condition that has prevailed generally in the past.

Until recent years practically all of the heavy beef consumed in Texas, the nation's No. 1 cattle producing state, has come from feed lots in the mid-western corn belt. Texas cattle were sold as feeders to be shipped to the fancy prices in the form of U. S. Good, U. S. Choice and U. S. prime beef.

But the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research now reports a tremendous growth in Texas feeding operations during the past four years. On Jan. 1, 1955, there were only 61 listed commercial operations in Texas with a feeding capacity of 1,000 head or more each, carrying an aggregate capacity of 160,000 head. On Jan. 1, 1959, there were 24 such feed lots on record, with an aggregate capacity of 240,000 head, developing an increase of 50 per cent in capacity in the four years.

This growth is still going on. An example is the Luck T. Cattle Co. which operates just west of San Antonio on the Edwards Plateau, now expanding its capacity from around 8,000 head to 13,000 head, including a completely automatic feed mill capable of turning out from 250 to 300 tons of feed a day. Another is provided by Lewter, Inc., of Lubbock, which has expanded its feed lots to take care of 25,000 cattle at a time, along with a million-dollar beef slaughtering and processing plant. Construction is scheduled in 1960 in Houston of a $2 million livestock feeding plant to supply the new Armour and Co. beef processing plant there with from 400 to 1,000 cattle weekly.

In addition to the larger feeding operations, there are now hundreds of smaller pens which handle between 100 to 999 head each, and many more such feed lots with capacities of less than 100 each.

"Free Silver," the national political issue in 1896, also was of course an issue in lesser races. For example, in Tennessee, the brilliant editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, according to the story which oldtimers on the staff told, years later, when this chronicler was cub reporter, Carmack was called in by the publisher, who directed him to quit writing editorials in favor of free silver and start writing editorials supporting the gold standard.

Carmack's reply, in effect, was, "I am the editor of this newspaper and I will write only that in which I believe." So he resigned, ran for Congress and defeated the incumbent, who campaigned as a "gold-bug." The loser contested the election. Since the Republicans were in control of Congress and since the loser's position on the money question was in accord with theirs, Carmack stood an excellent chance of being unseated.

"Private John" Allen, of Tupelo, Mississippi, was a member of Congress at that time and he addressed the committee on behalf of Carmack. Allen expressed considerable doubt as to whether the contesting candidate's stand in favor of gold was sincere and then told of a speech he had heard the man make in a previous campaign. On that occasion, the statesman had (Allen said) discussed the repeal by the Republicans of the silver purchase act; then, holding up a silver dollar, had exclaimed:

"Silver! Only twice disgraced! Once by Judas Iscariot and the other time by the Republican Party!" (The committee voted to seat Carmack).

Not only did "the money question" play a major part in the Congressional campaigns of 1896 and thereabouts but it was even brought up in county races where the winners could not have possibly, in the performance of their duties, done anything about it.

The beloved Robert L. Taylor of Tennessee, governor and United States Senator, was fond of relating in his lectures a story about a man who was running for county clerk in the mountains of East Tennessee. While this candidate was speaking, someone called out, "How do you stand on the money question?"

The speaker replied, "I am in favor of the gold standard; also I am for greenbacks—" and he paused, then concluded, "and I'm for a little more counterfeiting." (He was elected by a landslide).

The opinion is generally held that a center to serve far West Texas, one in the Panhandle, and one to serve South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley would complete the state-wide network.

Among the main items of equipment in a poison control center are a telephone with a well-publicized number, a reference library on toxic substances, and an index file of common, non-edible household products — including brand name, poison content aid antidote or prescribed method of treatment.

At the request of local health departments the Texas State Department of Health will aid in securing a comprehensive index file on poisons for any community desiring to establish a poison control center.

To see how poison control centers function, imagine this true-to-life situation:

A youngster accidentally swallows some insecticide he finds under the kitchen sink. The label is missing so his mother knows only the brand name.

She calls the family's physician, who may in turn call the nearest poison control center. A quick check of the card file reveals the poisonous ingredients in the insecticide, the antidote and suggested course of treatment.

Or, if the center has treatment facilities available — and many of them in Texas do have — it may be necessary to rush the youngster there for emergency care. In either case the center gives the child a vastly better chance of surviving the unfortunate incident.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

In the next 24 hours three Americans will die from accidental poisoning and 425 will get sick after eating or drinking something not intended for human use.

The toll is high, yes, but a brief decade ago it would have been twice as high.

Why have accidental poisonings declined, even in the face of rising populations and vastly increased availability of toxic substances? In large measure the reason lies with unique institutions known as "poison control centers."

More than 200 centers are operating throughout the nation today, supplying prompt information on treatment and toxicity of poisons in physicians on a 24-hour daily basis. Nine centers are currently functioning in Texas.

State health authorities, who cooperate with state and local medical societies in setting them up, would like to see at least three more put into service. Centers are now active in Aus-

Miss Betty Jean Brown And Charles H. Walker Marry In Fort Worth January 28

By Beth Morris
Editor, TCU Skiff

"If you can't beat them, join them," so she did.

In a short wedding ceremony Jan. 28, Miss Betty Jean Brown, of Breckenridge, was married to Charles Henry Walker of Munday, at 5:30 p.m. in TCU's Robert Carr Chapel by Dr. Granville T. Walker. Dr. Walker is pastor of the University Christian Church in Fort Worth.

The unusual thing about this wedding was the fact that every member of the event is in the School of Fine Arts, with the exception of the bride and one member of the party.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brown, 1014 W. Elliott in Breckenridge. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Walker of Munday.

Miss Marjorie Gill, of Houston, was her roommate's maid-of-honor. Best man was John Holdridge of DeLeon. Jon Kindred, of Anchorage, Alaska, and Bill Lawson, of Cleburne, ushered.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white taffeta overlaid with lace. The lace bolero had three-quarter sleeves. A bouquet of hyacinths and feather carnations was centered with a white orchid and carried on a white Bible by the bride.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kirkland, Jr. Members of the reception included Misses Julia Shaw, of Albuquerque, N. Mex.; Mary Alice Damman, of Sweetwater, and Teresa Golleher, of Mission.

After a short wedding trip to Austin, which will include attendance of the Texas Music Educators Association Convention, the couple will reside at 2531 S. Jennings in Fort Worth and continue their studies at TCU.

The bride is a sophomore at TCU and majoring in vocational home economics. She is a member of Chi Beta, national home economics club, and the Ivys, independent women's club at the University.

Walker is a junior music education major and will receive his BME degree in June, 1961. He has been a member of the Horned Frog band for three years and is a member of Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity.

Out-of-town guests included Mr.

and Mrs. Sam Fambro with sons Gary and Joey, Mrs. Onis Hittson, Mrs. Hugh Toland, Randy and John Brown and Miss Teddey Jane Brown, all of Breckenridge. Mrs. D. E. Brazell, of Haskell, and Miss Billie Sue Walker, of Munday also attended.

Dollars And Sense

By Miss S. C. Kinsey, County Home Demonstration Agent

Plan ahead now for 1960. Looking back over last year's record, how did the family make out?

1. Did income stretch as far as it might have?

2. Was there time to do the things your family considers really important?

3. Was energy and health of family members good throughout the year?

4. Income, time, and energy are important resources that every family uses.

You can improve family living simply by changing the way either of these three assets is used.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Tuggle visited their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bradford, in Snyder over the week end.

A dollar spent for lime will generally return a profit of 5 to 1 in increased grazing, storage or crop yields. Liming is the first step in building soil fertility, says John Box, assistant extension agronomist.

Help your teen-agers do better homework!

The pressure is on for better grades. How can you as a parent help your children do better homework, better schoolwork? Start them on the "look it up" habit that not only builds word power but teaches youngsters how to think for themselves. Buy them a copy of Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, a Merriam-Webster.

Look for the word Merriam. This is the dictionary required or recommended by almost every school and college. Insist on a genuine Merriam-Webster.

take a long look into the future and say what would "happen if?"

For in your contracts, leases, wills, insurance policies, escrows and the like, you had better say what would "happen if" some of your best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."

Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that loan and save interest? What happens if a partnership goes sour, or a partner gets sick or dies?

What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or if you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smashup?

The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions—but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assumes that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by a king "what if?"

Take your will now: Your first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.

Review your will every year or so to see if it meets the new things that have come up, or arrange with your lawyer to write in "contingent beneficiaries"—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries should die before you do.

You may long ago have had your son provided for in your will, but what about those lovely grandchildren he and his wife have presented to you since you wrote the will? What would happen to them if things go wrong and your son should die before you?

Or take your widowed sister and her children now. Suppose you and your immediate family should be wiped out: Would you want your property to go equally to her and to your well-heeled bachelor brother? Or would you prefer to leave your brother some token of your affection, and then really take care of your sister?

You may be impatient with the law's long memory. Such things never happen, you think, but the court records are full of plans which failed. And so the law has ways in which you can provide for "what happens—if." One way is the device of contingent beneficiaries in your will and insurance policies.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a change the application of the law.)

Knox Prairie Philosopher Still Trying To Get The Banks To Get On Up On The International Levels

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek views international banking this week, with a certain amount of envy.

Dear Editor:
The more I read the Newspapers, the more convinced I am that one of the main financial troubles of us private citizens is the fault of the banks. They don't operate on the international level.

For example, I was reading last night about the latest banking arguments between the United States and Russia. As I understand it, during the war, the U. S. gave Russia ten billion dollars in lend-lease materials. Eight and two-thirds billions of this was used up in the war, and the U. S.

said forget about it, we were allies, but a billion and a third dollars worth of stuff was left over and the Russians used it in their civilian economy. That part the U. S. has been contending ought to be paid back.

Well, last week representatives of the two countries met to talk

the situation over.
The Russians said, well, maybe you're right, we ought to pay you, and we will, under one or two conditions. First you have to lower tariff charges to Russia, and second you have to guarantee a new line of long-term credit to us.

On hearing this, the United States called the debt discussions off.

That's what I'm talking about. Say the bank loaned me a thousand dollars fifteen years ago and I used say $800 of it up in civilian defense during the war, which means I went in the hole that much trying to produce food for the nation. Well, the bank says, if you can imagine a bank waiting that long to say something, oh, all right, we'll forget about the $800, but how about the $200?

Then's when I get up on the international level and say, sure, I'll pay the $200, provided of course you in turn show the proper spirit and reduce the tariff, or interest rate, and open up a new line of long-term credit for me.

Right at this point, unfortunately, is where most banks would fail to meet the rigid requirements of international banking.

Instead of saying, if you're going to insist on that, we'll just break off discussions of the matter, the bank, I'm afraid, would take some other approach, known provincially as foreclosure.

That's the heart of the matter. The word Foreclosure has been abolished in international banking circles, but it's impossible to get individual banks here in the states to get that broad-gauged. Which is why most banks can give, if not bigger, at least better financial statements than the United States government.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Mrs. W. B. Neill is spending this week in Merkel with her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Sandusky, and family.

American Legion And Wives Enjoy Dinner January 26

On January 26th members of the American Legion and their wives met at the Legion hall for a covered dish dinner.

Special guests were Rev. Clayton Adair, pastor of the Gores Methodist Church, who addressed the group on "Real Living". Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Mann of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Leroy King of Petrolia. Mr. Mann is vice-commander of District 13 while Mrs. Mann is junior youth chairman in the auxiliary. Mrs. King is district president of the auxiliary District 13.

Following dinner a quartet composed of Jim Reeves, Bill Wright, Fred Reddell, Jr. and James Smith, brought several songs, followed by the address all of which was enjoyed.

The men and women met in separate meetings with Jim Reeves presiding for the men and Mrs. R. M. Almanrode in charge of the women's meeting. Mrs. King spoke on the work of the auxiliary, and new officers were elected and were installed by Mrs. King.

Elected to serve this year were Mrs. G. E. Rodgers, president; Mrs. Richard Moore, vice president; Mrs. W. H. Stewart, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Bill Wright, secretary; Mrs. Lynn Jackson treasurer; Mrs. Gill Wyatt, chaplain; Mrs. R. M. Almanrode, historian; Mrs. Jim Reeves, sergeant at arms.

The auxiliary will meet on the Legion meeting night, the fourth Tuesday, and membership of $3.00 is open to all women whose husbands have paid dues into the American Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Nelson and children and Miss Patti Patterson attended the fat stock show in Fort Worth over the week end.

459 Are Arrested For Violation Of State Game Laws

Many hunters and fishermen are still trying to get by without buying a license, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. During December 98 persons were arrested for failure to possess licenses. For the month there were 459 arrests.

He warned that all persons fishing outside their home counties, or anyone fishing with a rod and reel must have a license, unless they are under 16 or over 65 years of age. The license costs $2.15 for either resident or non-resident and includes saltwater as well as fresh water fishing.

Headlighters also figured heavily in the December arrests, according to the report. There were 67 convictions for headlighting at night. There were 26 charged with killing spike bucks. Exceeding the bag limit on quail brought fines to 22 persons. Ten hunters were fined for killing doves out of season.

Automobile hunters accounted for 19 fines. Fines were paid by 14 for killing turkey hens. The 459 arrested persons paid fines and court costs amounting to $19,446. There were 18 cases dismissed, three served time in jail, four appealed, there were two dismissed sentences, and one person found not guilty.

Diseases Cost Cotton Farmers $127 Millions

Diseases took a $147 million bite out of the 1959 Texas cotton crop, report 15 cotton specialists located throughout the state.

"Cotton diseases kept at least 879,000 bales of cotton from being marketed," said Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, who compiled the information for the Cotton Disease Council.

Besides the $147 million cash loss to producers, there were losses of business to farm labor, railroads, trucking companies, suppliers, compress companies, storage facilities and other phases of the industry. Diseases also were a major factor in grade reduction as well as a limiting factor in yield.

This loss occurred even though 1959 growing conditions were generally good as near record yields were harvested in many areas, Smith said.

Major diseases and estimated loss due to their effect on yield were bacterial blight, 5.91 percent; root rot, 4.43 percent; verticillium wilt, 1.85 percent; seedling disease, 1.75 percent; and root knot, .50 percent. Other diseases causing losses were boll rot, fusarium wilt and ascochyta blight.

These average figures don't give the true picture because in areas where diseases struck the hardest losses ran into ruinous figures, pointed out Smith. For example, root rot was estimated to have caused a 25 percent loss in the Central Blackland area. The amount of root rot increased in many areas compared to 1958 losses. Ascochyta blight, a minor disease in past years, was a problem in several areas for the first time. Root knot, caused by nematodes, appears to be on the increase.

DEAL NOW for your 1960 machinery needs

The Earlier You Trade
The More You Save?

How Many Months Can I Collect 6%?

Your interest - 6% per annum on your down payment, the value of your trade in, or both - starts when you make your down payment - in trade or cash. Your IH dealer figures this interest until the machine's next use season, then pays it in advance . . . in cash! The sooner you trade, the more you save!

What Machines Pay An Early Trader's Bonus?

Tractors, balers, windrowers, cotton strippers and cotton pickers, combines, field harvesters, hay conditioners, potato diggers - they all pay a bonus. And any other implements - like plows, disks, harrows, planters, mowers, wagons - become bonus machines when purchased with a tractor.

Can I Trade in a Combine on a Tractor?

You don't have to trade like for like. You might, for instance, trade an old combine, or a baler on a new IH tractor.

How Much Must I Pay Down?

You don't need cash. Your trade-in is usually enough to swing an Early Trader's deal. Park your old machinery on your IH dealer's lot where it will earn 6% interest for you.

What If I Pay Cash?

Your IH dealer will pay you interest at the rate of 6% on any pre-payment that's part of a cash or trade-in guarantee you against a price increase, too.

Do Time Sales Pay Me a Bonus?

You can still get 6% per annum on your trade-in or cash down payment even if you buy machinery under the IH Income Purchase Plan. Under certain conditions, finance charges can be waived till you take delivery.
