Odd Bits Salvaged

Next week, February 28-March 4, is Public Schools Week in Texas.

k-k

In the past years, no special observance of the week has been held in the local schools, but Supt. W. C. Cox has stated each year that the public is welcome to visit the school during the week, and at any time during the year, to observe the workings of the system. This year, however, some special observances are being planned and are announced elsewhere in the paper.

k-k

In setting aside the period at Public Schools Week, Gov. Price Daniel said in his official memorandum:

k-k

"For each of the past ten years Public Schools Week in Texas has been set aside as a special time to place increased emphasis on our educational system.

"During this period, parents are encouraged to visit the public schools, and all citizens are urged through special programs to recognize the tremendous importance of our system of education. Our goal is to make Texas public schools the finest in the nation, and to achieve this our citizens are urged to take an active interest in the school systems and to cooperate with their school boards, superintendents, principals and teachers.

"Never before in our history has there been a greater need for educated leadership. As we rush to train young people in science and technology to keep pace with world events, it is also important to remember that our public schools will furnish our leaders of tomorrow with the basic human, moral and spiritual foundations necessary for more advanced training and knowledge . . ."

k-k

So keep in mind this week, as always, that the public schools belong to we, the people, and not to those whom we have hired as administrators and teachers. To show an interest in our schools is as much an act of good citizenship as to show interest in politics or church activities.

k-k

This week, February 20-27, is being observed as Future Farmers of America Week in Texas, and many activities in observance of the week are being held over the area.

k-k

Begin now to make your plans to attend the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here on Friday night, March 18, for which tickets are now on sale. The speaker, Hon. Josh Lee of Oklahoma City, is said to be "the man who can hold an audience without a rope." He is a former U. S. Senator and now a member of a prominent Oklahoma City law firm.

k-k

From the Marion, Ohio, Chamber of Commerce, comes this little quip: "Everyone who heard Senator Lee on Tuesday night was most enthusiastic and delighted with his talk. In a most enticingly humorous manner he led his audience from imagined future calamity to the optimistic realization that human progress will build a better world."

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

A dependent is worth a lot to you on your tax returns.

Every year some taxpayers fail to take exemptions they should take. On the other hand, the Office Audit part of Internal Revenue checks thousands of returns and disallows many dependents. The instructions are clear. Internal Revenue wants you to take all your exemptions. Read and follow the instructions; those exemptions are worth $120 each, or more.

In 1899 she married Andrew M. Reeves, and for a few years they made their home in Munday, where Reeves operated the first cotton gin in this part of West Texas. In 1910 they moved to Rochester, where Reeves continued in the ginning business until his retirement six years ago.

Traffic Records Improved In Area

The Highway Patrol Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety investigated 3 rural traffic accidents in Knox County during the month of January according to Sergeant F. P. Jirek.

In making this announcement the Sergeant reported 3 property damage, 0 injury and 0 fatal accidents. These wrecks caused a total property damage of $1,125, with no persons injured and none killed.

The Highway Patrol Supervisor pointed out that the motoring public has begun the new year with an improved traffic record. "You can help keep it that way in this county by doing two things," he added. "Know and obey traffic laws yourself and insist that your neighbors do likewise."

"The knowledge and observance of traffic laws on the part of the highway users is the best antidote we know for preventing traffic accidents," he concluded.

Benjamin School Gets Accreditation

Ray Skidmore, superintendent of the Benjamin Schools, announced last week that the school placed on the "warned list" in 1955 by the state accreditation committee, received full accreditation in 1959.

Meeting requirements as outlined by the committee, Mr. Skidmore stated the school has added a vocational agriculture room, remodeled the home economics room, and added 500 books to the school library in 1958-59. A science department has also been added to the school.

Open House For Local Schools Set March 2nd

"Parents and the public in general are invited to visit the different schools of the Munday district during Public Schools Week, February 29 - March 4," Supt. W. C. Cox said Wednesday.

Since new furniture has been bought for some of the buildings, and the libraries have been improved this year, it was decided to have an "open house period" from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday, March 1, so many who are unable to visit the schools during the day may go through the different buildings. The high school building, junior high building at Sunset, and the Munday grade school building will be open during this period, and teachers will be on hand to meet all visitors.

On Wednesday, March 2, a general assembly will be held at 9 a.m. The Junior High School Band and the Grade School Band will render some musical numbers, and an address will be given by one of the ministers of Munday. The public is invited to this program.

"We hope each and every patron will find time to visit us during Public Schools Week" Mr. Cox said, "and will attend the special events listed above, if at all possible."

Sams Announces For Representative Of 83rd District

The Munday Times was authorized this week to announce Bill Sams as a Candidate for State Representative of the 83rd District of Texas, comprised of Haskell, Throckmorton, Baylor and Knox Counties.

Sams was reared on farms and ranches near Benjamin, County seat of Knox County. Bill received his formal education, after graduating from the Benjamin High School, in Texas Tech. He was a government and law major, and was enrolled in Tech from 1940 until 1946, except while being in the Army.

Bill is 36 years of age, a member and deacon of the Christian Church, a member and Director of the Lions Club, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Jaycees, Eastern Star, and the Masonic Lodge. At present Sams is the Official Reported for Judge L. M. Williams, of the 50th Judicial District Court.

Sams Statement I seek the Democratic nomination, and will assure every voter that in their support for me, they are supporting a life-long true Democrat. As your Representative I promise that I will not only vote for or against various types of legislation, but I will fight with all sincerity to see that a program suiting the needs of our District is passed.

I firmly believe that every candidate should let his position on probable legislation be known prior to election date, so I will give my opinion on some of the known issues, and I will be happy, at any time in the future, to take a stand on any issue which arises.

The following issues I will either support and vote for, introduce, or both.

Higher pay for our school teachers and better facilities for Texas school children.

A badly needed subsistence increase in pensions for the aged, the disabled veteran, the handicapped, and the lower bracket beneficiary of Social Security. Their dollar is being deflated by inflation until they are experiencing an actual "inflation depression". Such assistance to the above mentioned citizens must be governed by a cost of living index, and surplus commodities might offset the cost of such program.

Many more, better, and cleaner facilities are needed for our mentally ill.

I am against the sales tax and

Local Teachers, With Combined 70 Years Of Service, Honored At P. T. A. Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bardwell, who have taught in Knox County schools 35 years, were honored in a surprise program at the Munday Parent-Teacher Association meeting last Thursday night.

Harold Paden, former president of the Munday P. T. A., gave a "This Is Your Life" tribute, prepared for the Bardwells by Mrs. Delbert Montgomery, vice president.

Mrs. Bardwell, the former Irene Carson, moved to Goree in the fall of 1925 as a seventh grade teacher. She later served as principal several years. Mrs. Bardwell also taught Weimert and in Throckmorton County.

Mr. Bardwell moved to Goree in 1922 as science teacher and basketball coach. He also served a principal there for 20 years. Before moving to Goree, he taught in the Masonic Home School in Fort Worth and in the public school at Whitney.

In the first year as coach at Goree, Bardwell organized an athletic club. He designated Goree athletic teams "Wildcats" and chose black and gold school colors. Team name and colors are still used today at Goree.

Mr. and Mrs. Bardwell were married in 1927 and came to Munday schools in 1944. The science room here was then meagerly equipped. It had one work table, one cabinet and one sink. Exposed water and gas pipes were sprawled across the floor.

Refusing to be daunted by wartime shortages, money, workmen and supplies, Mr. and Mrs. Bardwell set to work cutting and threading pipes, welding, plumbing the laboratory, installing sinks and building cabinets still in existence today.

There are 34 students currently enrolled in chemistry and 58 in general science. He also teaches physics alternating with chemistry every other year. Up until this year Bardwell taught biology. He couldn't teach it this year because of an already crowded schedule.

Largely because of efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Bardwell, Munday boasts one of the best equipped science laboratories in this area. Besides his regular duties, Bardwell has been longtime sponsor for senior classes and has sponsored the yearbook staff the past two years.

Mrs. Bardwell, who teaches seventh and eighth grade mathematics, is well known for her girls junior high chorus. She organized the Munday Junior High Citizenship Club in 1946. Mrs. Bardwell still sponsors the group and serves as junior high librarian.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Mauldin sang their favorite song "Moonlight and Roses" during the program. Billy Frank Fitzgerald gave the devotional. Mrs. Montgomery presented the Bardwells, in behalf of the P. T. A., a beautiful electric clock. Mr. Paden presented them the book of "This Is Your Life" after the program.

The sixth grades served and the seniors won the room court.

the State income tax. I will support more assistance to our educational system for the advancement of college training in medical research. As citizens, we are honor bound, to assist in finding the cure and prevention of cancer and heart disease.

I am for water conservation that can make our area of Texas a 'garden spot.' This can be done, and irrigation furnished by harvesting the water that wastefully flows down the Brazos River.

Careful political maneuvering must be incorporated to maintain our Representative's District. The census and re-districting will cause our District to be abolished in favor of the big cities, unless a capable representative is working for us. We must not send 'just a vote' to the Legislature, but a Representative that is capable in government and procedure.

I ask for your support, vote and influence. It has been more than a decade since Knox County has furnished a Representative for this District, but I sincerely ask that each voter evaluate the program and the ability to carry out the program, before voting. Your support will be appreciated.

WHY FARMERS BUY MACHINERY

A trade magazine recently predicted that the farm equipment industry will not share in the 1960 business upswing—on the grounds that there was a drop in farm income in 1959 and a further drop is expected for 1960.

This brought an answer from C. L. Dickinson, Director of Research of the Farm Equipment Institute. He pointed out that the apparent cause and effect relationship between farm income and farm equipment sales "has not been established by the records of farm machinery factory shipments during the past ten years. Commercial farmers, like other business executives, buy or plan to buy equipment to improve productive efficiency—that is, to reduce costs. Purchases are not determined by net income for any particular year. Purchases of farm equipment are paid for out of gross income and hopes for future income."

He added that in 1959, gross receipts to farmers from all sources were higher than in any year except for 1958 and 1952. Total assets owned by commercial farmers increased. And, of the utmost significance, costs increased too—creating the need for more efficient machinery.

Present day labor costs make mechanized farming essential—because of the vast saving in human time and effort the machines accomplish. The newer equipment is substantially more efficient and economical than the old. In the light of these facts, there's a good reason to expect high levels of equipment sales.

HOW MUCH HIGHER?

"How much higher can the gasoline tax burden go before it becomes a handicap to the furtherance of the nation's economy?" That king-sized question is asked by J. H. Carmical in a lengthy article in the New York Times.

Last October, Congress raised the federal gas tax a cent. Now it is proposed that another half-cent be added. This may not seem like much—but it would increase the American motorists' fuel bill by a handsome $250 million a year.

Gasoline already carries excise taxes which are outrageous for a basic necessity. The average tax, state and federal combined, has passed 10 cents. Collections run to some $5 billion a year. Then, Mr. Carmical points out, the motorist must pay all manner of other special levies—registration fees, excise taxes on the cars themselves and on tires and parts, etc. All in all, he estimates, tax collections from highway users probably amount to more than $10 billion a year.

What this all adds up to is that the gas tax can reach a point of diminishing return, as motorists reduce their consumption in one way or another. As an example, Mr. Carmical points to the growing trend toward small economy cars—which certainly indicates that the driving public is growing increasingly cost conscious. Higher gas taxes, state or federal, will defeat their own purpose.

THE RIGHT TO KNOW

In a recent speech, President Eisenhower said that an informed public is this country's greatest strength. In his precise words, "Understanding in the United States of the issues we face is absolutely essential to our well being."

Few will oppose that view. Only a well-informed public, with free access to all relevant opinions, can reach an intelligent decision on any issue. But it is interesting to read the President's remarks in view of rulings made some time ago by the Internal Revenue Service and the Federal Power Commission.

These rulings held that certain advertising placed by electric utility companies is not a legitimate business expense, and hence is not deductible for income tax purposes. The advertising in question presented the industry's side of the public-vs-private power issue—which is, and long has been, a major national issue.

What is at stake in this is not only an industry's right to present its views on a life-and-death matter without penalty—but the right of the public to be informed. If the advocates of private power development are to be muzzled, the advocates of socialization will find the going infinitely easier.

Those who have the power of decision in the IRS and the FPC would do well to read, ponder and follow the words of this nation's chief executive.

"Scattered surveys show that America's 196,000 practicing physicians contribute millions of dollars annually in 'free' medical care.

"In addition, most doctors give strong financial support to charity and devote many hours to civic activities in their communities. Others teach medicine to students in medical schools 'without fee'."—AMA News.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By HAROLD C. PADEN

Gladstone, the great Englishman said: "It is a dangerous thing for any young man to start out in life without the thought of God." I might add—it is dangerous for anyone to start anything without God. "In the beginning God" are the first four words in the Bible. "I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last" (Rev. 22:13) are almost the last words of the Bible. In beginning a series of weekly meditations to appear in the Munday Times, it is therefore proper to begin with GOD.

What Golden Calf Do You Worship?

The book of Exodus is replete with examples of Israel's willingness of spirit contrasted with the weakness of flesh. As Moses was receiving the Ten Commandments on stone on Mt. Sinai, the people clamored to Aaron for an idol to carry before them. From jewelry of gold, Aaron fashioned a golden calf and before it "the people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play."

When Moses returned to camp he made short order of the idol, forcing Israel to consume her own folly—"He took the calf and burnt it in the fire, and ground it to powder, and stewed it upon the water, and made the children of Israel drink of it."

Can we truthfully feel indignant at Israel's idolatry when we so carelessly shape our own "golden calves"? What idol stands between you and service to God? Can it be that we Americans, whose standard of living is 27 times the world's average, worship at the altar of Mammon? Can it be that we feel so independent that we can fashion a god of our own concoction and worship him as it pleases us? Can the idol be the cares of daily living, the desire to get ahead, or the loss of the vision of service to our fellowman? May we learn the lesson of the golden calf from Israel lest we eat the bread of folly in the time of sifting wheat from chaff.

VALLEY'S BIG CITRUS SEASON

The Rio Grande Valley is about half-way through its first 3,000,000 to 10,000,000 box citrus season since the disastrous freezes of 1949-51, and improved quality of the fruit is a key point in the recovery program.

The 1959-60 citrus season is figured to yield at least 3,000,000 boxes more than the 1958-59 season, and the Valley is well on its way toward getting back to the peak production years of the late 1940's.

Hard freezes in 1949-51 cut Valley citrus production to 3,000,000 boxes and less, but rapid progress has been made since 1952 in the rehabilitation of the industry.

A few orange trees planted in the 18th century on a Spanish grant north of Edinburg in Hidalgo County are believed to have been the first citrus grove in Texas. Scattered citrus plantings were growing along the Texas Gulf Coast from Victoria to Brownsville by the 1850's. By the turn of the century in 1900, however, it had been proven that with the exception of some production in the Winter Garden area, citrus crops could not be grown successfully outside of the Lower Rio Grande Valley counties of Cameron, Hidalgo, Willacy and Starr.

It was not until 1904 that the first commercial grapefruit grove in the Valley was planted. By 1925, about 80 per cent of the Texas citrus crop consisted of grapefruit. Oranges accounted for about 15 per cent, and lemons, tangerines and kumquats for five per cent. The Valley was shipping some 500 boxes of citrus in 1925.

Most of the older grapefruit trees in the Valley were of the Marsh Seedless variety, but nearly all of these were wiped out in the 1949-51 freezes. Since then, the quality improvement program has brought the red-blush types, notably the Ruby Red, to the front and nearly all Valley production is now based on these improved types.

The large canning industry that had developed in the peak years of Valley citrus production turned to processing vegetables and other products while the citrus groves were being established, and this remains a vital and dependable part of the Valley's economy.

Clothes Renewed By Sanitone Cleaning

Unfortunately, a good suit is only new the first time it's worn, but when properly dry-cleaned, it can be renewed so that the original shape, texture and freshness can be preserved.

"In fact," points out Joe Bailey King of the King's Drive-In Cleaners, "top quality dry-cleaning will actually renew a garment and increase its durability and length of service."

This fact was dramatically demonstrated at a recent showing for fashion editors in New York City when several pairs of identical suits were shown on models. One of each pair of suits had been dry-cleaned and renewed 20 times by the Sanitone process. The other suit in each pair was brand new. Not one person at the showing could be sure which suits were brand-new and which had been renewed by the Sanitone process.

A precedent was established in the textile and garment industries when Handmacher-Vogel, Inc., manufacturers of women's fine garments, joined hands with Sanitone in a joint campaign to encourage the use of the Sanitone process in the dry-cleaning of Handmacher-made garments.

To bring this recommendation to the attention of buyers of Handmacher garments a string tag was attached to each of 200,000 Weatherlane suits in the Handmacher 1960 spring and summer lines, recommending that

March 5-12 Is Proclaimed 4-H Club Week In Tex.

Legal Notice
NOTICE OF ELECTION
Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of Benjamin Independent School District ordered an election for Saturday, April 2, 1960, for the purpose of electing two trustees to fill the terms of Mrs. O. D. Propps and Albert Alexander, whose terms expire. Mrs. Propps and Mr. Alexander have filed for re-election. Claude Jennings and P. H. Pierce, Sr. have filed their names for election.

All candidates must file their names by Wednesday, March 2, 1960.
Board of Trustees
Benjamin Independent School District, etc

Governor Price Daniel has by official proclamation designated the week of March 5-12 as 4-H Club Week in Texas and has asked all citizens to participate in the observance being planned by 4-H members in the communities and counties of Texas.

The Governor in his proclamation said, "Learn, live and serve through 4-H is the 1960 challenge to Texas 4-H Club members. Since the 4-H program was inaugurated by the United States Government in 1914, more than a million young Texans have received its benefits. "An expanding 4-H program not only teaches the latest practices in agriculture and home economics, but emphasizes character, development and good citizenship. Club members learn by conducting result demonstrations and participating in 4-H activities. By putting into practice in their homes and communities what they learn, club members live and serve through 4-H.

"County extension agents work with voluntary 4-H adult leaders, 4-H members, their parents, and friends of 4-H in developing a program which provides education and leadership opportunities for the youth of Texas. The 4-H program is under the direction of the Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A & M College System.

"Any boy or girl from the ages of 9 to 21 can take part in 4-H Club work. The opportunities offered to 4-H Club members to grow in citizenship and in practical skills are especially valuable to them, the State of Texas and the Nation."

In a letter to all Texas 4-H Club members the Governor said, "Please accept my best wishes for 1960 and the years ahead. May you continue to build yourselves, your homes and communities, and thus help build our State and Nation. The future holds bright promise for our land, and you as 4-H Club members have a vital share of this future. I join the people of Texas in saluting you and the parents, adult leaders and friends of 4-H who make this program possible."

New Bulletin On Grain Released

Grain production and utilization are important aspects of the Texas farm economy. The farm value of grain grown in Texas after 1950 has varied from 275 to 550 million dollars annually. Cash sales of grain have amounted to about 15 percent of total receipts from crops and livestock in the State. Considerable amounts of grain also are fed to livestock on the farm where it is produced.

Clarence Moore and Howard Whitney, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, point out in their new bulletin, "Changing Supply of Grain in Texas," that wheat production was about three-fourths of total food grain production in Texas in the 1940's. It declined in relative importance, while rice increased, in the food grain group in the 1950's.

Wheat production in Texas increased from an average of 27 million bushels annually in the late 1930's to 75 million bushels in the late 1940's. Acreage controls and drought conditions caused a cutback in production in the 1950's. Production averaged 36 million bushels annually from 1954-58.

Grain sorghum underwent the biggest change, increasing from 21 percent of total feed grain production in 1935-39 to 72 percent in 1955-58, while corn decreased from 52 to 14 percent.

Average annual grain sorghum production was only 30 million bushels in the late 1930's, compared with 184 million in the 1954-58 period, with an estimated 273 million bushel crop grown in 1958. Yields doubled in the 24-year period, increasing from an average of 14.2 bushels per acre in the late 1930's to 28.8 bushels in 1954-58. Acreage increased from two million in the late 1930's to over six million in 1954-58. However, a large portion of the increased production was a result of increased yields rather than increased acreage.

This new bulletin also discusses oats, rice, corn, rye and barley in detail. Copies can be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, College Station. Ask for B-939.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fore of Tullia came in last Thursday and spent Thursday night with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Braly. They all went to San Antonio on Friday and visited with Bill and Sue Fore, then on to Houston on Saturday and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mapes, the former Joan Fore. They returned to Fort Worth on Sunday and attended the 7th district bankers convention on Monday.

The Marks Of Christian Fellowship

By Billy Frank Fitzgerald

"A new commandment I give unto you, that ye shall love one another as I have loved you; that ye also love another."—John 13:34.

It is quite popular to talk about Christian Fellowship around the church, but it should also be a part of our school. But just what is it that binds our hearts and minds together? It is our love for Christ and our acceptance of his love for us.

Looking at the life of Jesus, there seem to be three specific marks which give real meaning to the words Christian Fellowship.

The first mark of Christian Fellowship is the mark of concern. Nothing can be done effectively unless there is a real desire to do so, and so it is in our relationship towards others. There is nothing quite so real as our own feelings, so when we look upon the lives of others let us picture ourselves in that same position. Concern is more than toleration of others, it is learning to care and love when others don't.

The next mark of Christian Fellowship is the mark of understanding. Understanding is almost impossible. Maybe this is why Jesus admonishes us, "Judge

Increase In Gate Charge For Gas Is Granted Lone Star

Mr. L. T. Potter, President of Lone Star Gas Company, today said that the Texas Railroad Commission's reported order of February 15 authorized Lone Star Company to raise its intra-company city gate charge for gas for Residential and Commercial customers by 5.4 cents per one thousand cubic feet. "This order has the effect of increasing the cost to Lone Star's Distribution Division, but the level reached is still 4.6 cents below the cost in effect prior to 1942.

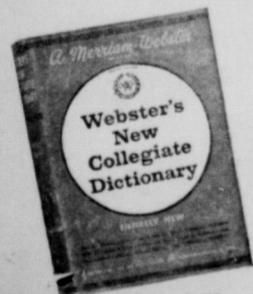

"Lone Star's Transmission Division will begin charging the Company's Distribution Division this additional 5.4 cents on the effective date of the Commission order. Although the increase is not as large as requested, the Company is accepting the Commission order because of our Transmission Division's immediate need for additional funds with which to continue to obtain adequate gas supplies in today's highly competitive market.

"On December 10, 1958, I wrote the mayors of the cities served by Lone Star and informed them that we were asking the Railroad Commission to authorize the Company to increase its city gate charge. In this letter I stated that 'Lone Star, in carrying out its public service obligation, may be required in the future to file an application for an increase in residential and commercial rates.'

"It now appears that our Distribution Division will probably be required to seek authority from each council to increase the charge to our residential and commercial customers in an amount sufficient to offset this increased cost of gas. This will average slightly more than 1 cent per day per residential customer.

not lest you be judged." Actually, we were never required by God to judge, only to love. The secret to Christian understanding is to constantly work towards a closer relationship with the individual, instead of condemning and judging him.

The third element of Christian Fellowship is the mark of forgiveness. This is most important of all, for concern and understanding are of no avail if past attitudes and actions are held over a person's head. To forgive simply means to forget the past and accept them equal to yourself. It took a cross for God to bring men to the realization of the need for repentance. The cross shows His desire and willingness to forgive men their sins.

Selection Of Adapted Varieties Of Cotton Can Boost Yields, Profit

Selection of adapted varieties of cotton can boost cotton yields, grade and profit. Cotton variety recommendations for Texas vary with soil types, climatic conditions and farming practices, points out Glenn Black, associate extension cotton specialist.

The increase in mechanical harvesting should cause producers to give consideration to varieties best suited to the type of machine they plan to use. The picker varieties have open-type bolls and the stripper types have storm-resistant or storm-proof bolls. In line with mechanization practices, Black says cotton should be planted in 40 inch rows with three to four plants to the row foot. Grass and weeds should be controlled for efficient machine operation and for the production of good quality cotton.

Black suggests that Rio Grande Valley and Coastal Bend farmers use Deltapine, Empire or Stoneville types for picker varieties. Storm-resistant varieties such as Northern Star, Lankart, Storming and others are adapted for stripper use. He says farmers interested in cotton yield performance should ask the local county agent for a copy of Bulletin 811, "Performance of Cotton Varieties in Texas, 1954-56."

Upper Gulf Coast and East Texas farmers will find Deltapine, Stoneville, Empire or similar types adapted to their areas. These include Deltapine 15, D&PL Fox, Stoneville 7, Empire WR and others. All are suitable for mechanical picking.

North Central and Central Texas growers will find that bottomlands or irrigated fields should produce best when planted to Deltapine, Empire, Stoneville and similar types. Upland farmers in these areas should consider D&PL Fox 4, Austin, Lankart, Blightmaster, Lockett 88, Storming and others.

Rolling Plains and High Plains producers will find storm-resistant and stormproof types such as Western Stormproof, Storming, Blightmaster, Lankart, Paymaster 101, Northern Star and Lockett 88 suitable for stripper use while Deltapine types, Paymaster 54B and others are adapted open-boll varieties. High Plains growers might also consider Empire and Acala types if spindle is desired. For stripper harvesting the storm-resistant or stormproof types are popular.

Upper Rio Grande and Trans-Pecos growers will probably prefer the Upland varieties such as Acala 1517C, Acala 1517 BR-1 and other Acala types as they are developed. In this area American-Egyptian cotton of the Pima strains could be planted under special allotment.

Black urges cotton producers to plant only seed of varieties known to be adaptable to their area and that have tested for germination and purity. He also recommends that the seed be treated for seedling disease control.

Biologists Kept Busy Last Year

Last year was a very busy year for the Texas Game and Fish Commission, according to the director of wildlife restoration. Biologists worked with everything from bighorn sheep in the Trans-Pecos Mountains to white-winged doves in the Rio Grande Valley and Mexico, and turkey in East Texas. Some 38 restoration and wildlife research projects were in operation.

There included trapping bighorn sheep on the Kofa Desert Game Range in southwestern Arizona, developing brood stocks of deer and turkey in many Texas counties, trapping deer, turkey, and javelina on the Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge, surveying coastal waterfowl, and determining the status of the white-winged dove in Texas.

In 103 Texas counties technicians recorded game population trends. They made covey counts and studied wings sent in by hunters for quail estimates. Deer populations were estimated through herd counts and check stations.

A program of trapping in areas where surplus exists and transplanting to suitable locations where brood stock is needed, was carried out in nearly every part of the State. Some 287 deer, 46 turkeys and 13 javelinas were trapped on the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge and transplanted on the King Ranch. About 140 turkeys were trapped on other private ranches, and used for restocking purposes.

Electric data processing machines are now being used to process DHIA records. A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman, says use of the machines will relieve DHIA supervisors of much tedious and time-consuming book work and at the same time provide dairymen greater accuracy and more complete and up-to-date production and feed information. It represents a major change in DHIA record keeping, he said.

Can you remember when, to keep his straw hat from sailing away — (they were called "sailors", by the way) — a man had a little black cord, one end of which was attached to the hat and the other end was hitched in the button-hole of the coat lapel? That's one fashion that should never have been abandoned — as far as West Texas is concerned.

An interesting sidelight on the Bryan-McKinley campaign of 1896 is provided by Oscar Ameringer in his "If You Don't Weaken" (Henry Holt and Company). Ameringer lived in Canton, Ohio, which was the home of the Republican presidential nominee, McKinley, it will be recalled, conducted a "front porch" campaign while Bryan made the most extensive speaking tour the nation had ever seen.

Ameringer, as a member of the Grand Army Band, was on hand when the delegations arrived by train and the band would then lead the parade to McKinley's home. The young musician heard all but one of McKinley's speeches.

When Bryan was to speak in Canton, Ameringer went to hear him — but did not. The speech was made from the rear of the train. The crowd was so vast that Ameringer was unable to get close and, when Bryan began to speak, it seemed that "every switch engine in the state was slamming and bumping more cars around than I ever dreamed could be assembled in Canton's modest switchyard. Odd, how they happened to be busy just then."

Mark Hanna, McKinley's campaign manager, had assessed banks, insurance companies and big industries in general to raise an unprecedentedly huge campaign fund, a circumstance which might shed light on the reason for the noise during the speech.

After hearing all but one of McKinley's speeches and not hearing Bryan at all, whom did Ameringer vote for? He voted for Bryan.

Why do people wait until the first norther hits before they take armloads of winter clothing to the cleaner's?

When I was editing a small West Texas daily, I wrote three true crime articles which magazines bought for a total of close to $1,000. And yet you hear it said that "crime doesn't pay."

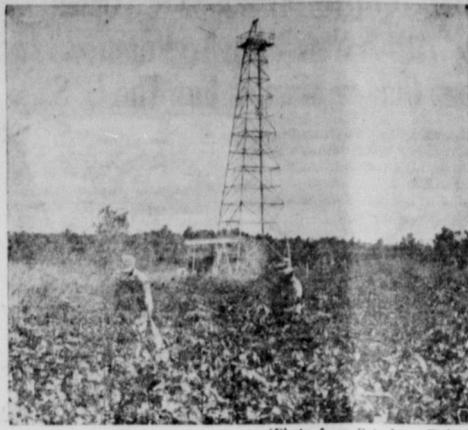

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service lesson of the State Bar of Texas

EVERYONE NEEDS RECORDS
Back in pioneer times our forefathers found they could keep track of the family history pretty well with a few notations on the flyleaf of the family Bible. But life's not quite that simple any more. Great-grandpa wasn't covered by social security or workmen's compensation. He didn't have a bank account or safe deposit box, a car and a dozen home appliances being bought on time payment, or a half-dozen insurance policies. We have taxes great-grandpa never heard of and wouldn't have believed if he had. And had you asked him for a certificate to prove his birth, he'd have thought you'd taken leave of your senses.

The point of this is that the average American today has a good many important papers to keep track of. There are birth certificates, receipts, copies of

Two Mississippi field hands labor among rows of cotton plants in the shadow of an oil rig. Petroleum—discovered in Mississippi only 20 years ago—is threatening "King Cotton's" once undisputed dominance of the state's Deep South economy. According to Petroleum Today, American Petroleum Institute publication, oil and gas production in Mississippi last year was valued at $131 million. Cotton sales average about $306 million a year. Mississippi is now tenth ranked among oil-producing states. The oil industry in the state will pay about $15 million this year for its leases, $17.5 in royalties and more than $50 million in payrolls.

tax returns, sales contracts, and a host of other papers. With a little tidy record-keeping, you can make life easier for yourself and your family when you are gone.

- Here are some suggestions:
1. Get a heavily bound notebook folder or file folder as a central collecting point for all the records of your affairs.
 2. Put your especially important papers in your safe deposit box, but make a list of those papers and a brief summary of their contents to put in your home file.
 3. Get for your files copies of birth certificates for all members of the family, and add them to the file. Add your marriage license or at least a statement as to when and where you were married and by whom.
 4. Insert your will or a copy of it. If your will is kept elsewhere include a note telling where it may be found.
 5. During the year, put into the file your income tax withholding statements and receipts for expenditures which may be deductible. Then keep a copy of each year's tax return in the file.
 6. Make a list of all the stocks and bonds you own and where they are.
 7. List all the places you have lived and worked and the names of persons there who you know. Include the schools you have attended and the dates you left or were graduated.
 8. If you may have benefits coming under a profit-sharing plan where you work, make a note of that too.

9. If you're in doubt about whether an item should be included, put it in.

This takes time initially, but it will save you both time and worry in the long run.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Beard

We have previously mentioned here the Federal budget that has been recommended to the Congress by the President for the fiscal year, 1961, which begins July 1, of this year and ends June 30, 1961. The Federal budget is an awesome document containing so many facts and figures that at many times it is extremely difficult to understand. Normally it takes over a year for the Bureau of the Budget to prepare it. Any effort to condense it is difficult; however, it should be of interest to know what net expenditures the President recommended in his budget message. These recommended expenditures are:

Executive Office of the President $ 79 million
Funds appropriated to the President:

Mutual security—economic 1,700 million
Other 114 million
Legislative branch 162 million
The Judiciary 52 million
Independent Offices:

Atomic Energy Commission 2,689 million
Export-Import Bank 7 million
Federal Aviation Agency 681 million
National Aeronautics and Space Administration 600 million
National Science Foundation 160 million
Small Business Administration 120 million
Tennessee Valley Authority 73 million
United States Information Agency 124 million
Veterans Administration

Other 5,446 million
General Services Administration 458 million
Housing and Home Finance Agency 500 million
Department of Agriculture 6,201 million
Department of Commerce 473 million
Department of Defense—Military: Military Functions 40,995 million
Mutual Security—military assistance 1,750 million
Department of Defense—Civil 972 million
Department of Health, Education and Welfare 3,517 million
Department of the Interior 809 million
Department of Justice 271 million

Department of Labor 540 million
Post Office Department 49 million
Department of State 292 million
Treasury Department 10,452 million
District of Columbia 48 million

Allowance for contingencies 200 million
TOTAL $ 79,816 million

As against these expenditures, it is estimated that the following income will be received:

Individual income taxes $ 43,700 million
Corporation income taxes 23,500 million
Excise taxes 9,500 million
All other sources 7,300 million

As is frequently the case, the estimates of income in this budget are probably high one reason being that the imposition of new taxes which was recommended probably will not take place. The surplus will in all probability, be not as great as that estimated even though the budget will be balanced.

Mr. A. M. Turner of Haskell; Mr. J. N. Sherrill, Jr., and Mr. Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls, have been Washington visitors. Mr. Earl Elam of Wichita Falls has also been in Washington this week with a group representing the Christian Citizenship Seminar, a Methodist Student Movement.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

Knox Prairie Philosopher Comes Up With A New Plan To Finance More Guided Missles For The U. S.

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek claims he has solved the problem of financing an adequate defense program. It's doubtful.

Dear Editor: "Where're we gonna get the money?" seems to be the main problem confronting the experts who contend the United States ought to spend more for defense.

Some of the top missile and space scientists have testified they could do a lot more and close the missile gap if they had more money to work with, but on the other hand expert economists have testified that balancing the budget is important to survival too, there is such a thing as getting a nation too far in debt.

Since everybody is in favor of an adequate defense system, and everybody is in favor of a balanced budget, everybody in Washington seems stumped, they don't know where to turn to get more money for guided missiles, so I took off from work out here on my Johnson grass farm the past week and thought,

I now have a solution to the problem. Don't know why nobody has thought of it before.

The way to finance the guided missile program is to do it on the installment plan.

Here's the situation: most Americans seem to be on the installment plan; two-thirds of the cars sold are sold that way, three-fourths of the refrigerators, nine-tenths of the television sets, etc. nearly everybody has weekly and monthly installment payments to meet, and how they do it nobody knows.

But they do it. Take television. A few short years ago, before television came in, everybody was loaded to the gills with installment payments, yet here came television and everybody bought a television set. They just added it to the load and kept grinding.

So, all Washington has to do to finance the missile program is pass a law adding say five dollars a month to everybody's installments. I figure that'd bring in about four billion dollars extra a year, and everybody knows survival is worth five dollars a month.

If not, have them look at it this way: if Russia, figuring we're unprepared, sends over its batch of intercontinental ballistic missiles and blasts this country, some of them are bound to hit most of the electrical power plants, and did you ever stop to think what life would be like every night with the electricity off and no television?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Laboratory confirmed cases of rabies in Texas were still above the usual incidence last month. A State Health Department rabies control specialist warned that some sections of the state "are in position to expect further increased incidence of this disease unless preventive measures are instigated."

A total of 66 positive cases were confirmed from 36 counties between January 3 - 30. The five-year January medium is 50 cases, Dr. A. B. Rich said.

Rich, director of the department's division of veterinary public health, blamed abundant susceptible wildlife as the main source of rabies trouble.

"I think Texas has more wildlife now than I have ever seen before," Rich said. "But through the years it has been difficult to stimulate interest in wildlife rabies."

Eight counties sustained livestock losses to rabies during January. Dr. Rich said such losses are usually due to rabid wildlife.

"It is quite evident that dogs are a relatively minor factor to date," said Rich. "Let's hope for the sake of humans they remain so."

Of the total 66 diagnosed cases last month, only 13 were dogs. The obvious danger of wildlife rabies — aside from the possibility of direct exposure of hunters, campers and other sportsmen — is that foxes and skunks can easily expose dogs, and dogs thus become a source of human exposure.

Last month Rich said that Central Texas counties along the Brazos River appeared to be most seriously affected. But he said after studying the January rabies picture "there begins to be a doubt in my mind whether or not the Brazos Basin is any worse off than other parts of the state." Rabies was diagnosed in these counties last month: Anderson, Austin, Blanco, Brown, Burleson, Cameron, Dallas, DeWitt, Falls, El Paso, Fayette, Fort Bend, Gillespie, Harris, Henderson, Hidalgo, Howard, Jasper, McLennan, Lampasas, Milam, Mitchell, Pecos, Robertson, Reeves, Smith, Stephens, Sutton, Tom Green, Travis, Upton, Uvalde, Washington, Williamson, Wood, and Young.

In response to Rich's urging last month, commissioner courts in Falls, Milam, and Washington Counties have started emergency control programs under authority granted to them by law.

The emergency measures consist of compulsory vaccination of owned dogs, stray dog impoundment and reduction of wildlife populations, chiefly foxes and skunks, which are said by Rich to be the principal species involved in infection among Texas wildlife.

Cotton Producers Are Urged To Study Legislation Chances Made By Congress

Agricultural legislation passed by Congress last year has real significance for cotton producers in 1960, and future seasons. The law establishes new provisions which cotton producers must follow if they are to maintain their allotments.

First, according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, if a farm allotment is under a Soil Bank contract or the Great Plains Conservation Program the allotment will be preserved. A limited number of producers are involved.

The next provision is likely to affect many cotton growers. Operators of farms not under Soil Bank contract or the Great Plains Program have two choices. They must plant at least 75 percent of the allotted cotton acreage or release sufficient acreage to meet this 75 percent requirement to the county ASC committee for reapportionment to other growers in the county. For example, a farmer with a 50-acre allotment may decide to plant only 38 acres since this is over 75 percent, or he may plant 30 acres and release as few as 8 acres to be distributed to others.

Bates explained the release is made for one season only and will not reduce the future allotment of the producer releasing the acres. Also, it will not help the producer planting the acres to get a larger allotment next year and finally, the released acreage cannot be used to set up allotments for new growers.

The third stipulation of the new law requires that cotton must be planted on the farm holding an allotment one year in three. This means that a producer could release his cotton allotment for two successive years, but the next year must plant at least 75 percent of his allotment in order to preserve the full acreage.

Cotton production is a good "multiplier" in the local economy, said Bates. By this he means the more cotton that is produced, the greater will be the amounts of fertilizer, petroleum products, labor and other items needed to service this production. After it is grown, the ginning, hauling and processing of lint and seed provide employment and require other services in the county, district and state. It benefits a large number of citizens.

Cotton producers should do their part to hold county allotments. They can be lost to other areas. Cotton growers who plant to plant only a part or more of their allotment should release the acreage not to be planted before the deadline dates. This is done by notifying the county ASC office in the county holding the allotment records.

There are five zones or areas in Texas with different deadline dates, beginning February 19 for Coastal and South Central Texas counties and extending to April 22 for the High Plains counties.

Bates added that growers wanting additional cotton acreage from the released allotments must file written requests at the county ASC office by these same dates. Detailed information on the law changes can be obtained from county ASC offices and county
