Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Reckon we'll have to change our way of doing!

For several years, now, when we happen to meet Lee Haymes, our words of greeting have been something like this: "Hello, A. and 'Hello, P. M." Wherever we meet, the greeting is always the same.

But soon Mr. Haymes will no longer be postmaster, and that "Hello, P. M." won't apply to him, technically, without adding an "ex" to it.

Lee has reached the retirement age, and soon will turn the reins of this little phase of the U. S. government over to another. He has put in almost 25 years in the capacity of postmaster in Munday; has seen postal receipts climb to about four times what they were when he went into the position in 1935, and possibly has many memories of the people he's served and of incidents occurring during his tenure of office.

An incident in particular which Lee recalls is the time he received a letter from a Munday resident who had gone to visit at Lamesa. "I got off in a hurry this morning," he said in the letter, "and forgot my dad-gummed false teeth." The letter directed Lee to go to the writer's farm home, pick up said teeth and mail them to him, which the postmaster did. When he told us of the incident, we replied: "We consider that service beyond the call of duty."

Haymes puts in his last day at the post office on Thursday, March 31. He's indicated to us that he's going to team up with his neighbor, Gill Wyatt, for some regular and fancy fishing, and then will spend some of his retirement time in gardening and yard work.

When we told "Mrs. A." about what Lee said to us, she replied: "Well, Frances said he was going to get broke in on some house work, too." We hope he gets to spend lots of leisure time at the tanks, lakes, and on the creek banks doing some tall and fancy fishing and that his gardening, yard work and house work do not become so strenuous that he will long for a steady and relaxing job.

We met the new school superintendent while he was in town last Thursday. He appeared to be meeting people, and had come to be with the school board in its meeting on Thursday night.

You know, there are people whom you instinctively like, and Willis Apple sorta made that kind of impression on us. We liked him because, like us, he seemed to be getting plenty to eat and, like us, was sorta on the robust side. He appeared to us the type who will maintain high standards in our schools and will become a part of the town and community. His forehead hasn't receded nearly as far as ours—but we imagine that's as far as he'd want us to go in comparing him with the editor!

We were somewhat surprised last Friday when we picked up the newspaper from a neighboring town which came to our exchange desk and noted how light the advertising was on its back page. For years, a number of our advertisers seem to think the back page is a choice spot—and if we could have more pages we would also have more advertising. We've always thought that no certain page in a weekly newspaper held precedence over another, but our opinion is not shared by quite a few people. We try to have news of interest on all our pages scattering the readers interest about rather than confining it to a certain spot, but frequently we have the request to "give us the best spot possible in your paper."

Personally, we don't like the "sitdowns" staged in eating places and at bus and railroad stations in order to hurry up integration, not the mob-violence demonstrations. We've been of the opinion that integration is coming whether we like it or not, but it would be better for everyone, including the N. A. A. C. P., if people are not rushed into the deal. No satisfactory settlement can be made by demonstrations of mob violence.

Famed "Harlem Stars" To Play Here

The world famous "Harlem Stars" basketball team will play the "Knox County All-Stars" under the sponsorship of the Munday Jaycees next Monday, March 21st, at 8:00 p.m. in the Munday school gymnasium.

The hilarious Negro team, composed of some former members of the famed "Harlem Globe Trotters," are advertised as one of the greatest and funniest basketball teams in the country today. Fans will see a fancy exhibition of razzle-dazzle ball handling, intricate routines, both planned and impromptu comedy, and all sorts of shenanigans. The team features the famed "One Armed Wonder" Boid Buie, and "Showboat" Buckner, and has appeared before record crowds in Japan, Hong Kong, South America, Berlin, Russia, and Australia, as well as the United States.

The team is unique in the fact they never try to run up a large score against opponents. It is their policy to keep the game close, devoting much time to comedy stuff. The "Knox County All-Stars" are local talent from the Knox County area, and this will be a return match for them with this team.

Funds raised from the game will be used for Jaycee projects in the community.

Local Postmaster To Retire; Snyder Gets Appointment

Having reached the age of retirement, Postmaster Lee Haymes has started gathering up his personal belongings at the U. S. Post Office in Munday, and on Friday, April 1, 1960, he will turn his desk and duties over to another—Ray L. Snyder, well known Munday teacher and coach, who has been appointed acting postmaster.

Mr. Snyder's appointment as acting postmaster will remain in effect until someone is appointed, which will probably be sometime next year and after an examination has been held for the applicants.

Mr. Haymes became postmaster at Munday in 1935, and lacks only a few days having served 25 years in this capacity. He pointed out the remarkable increase in postal receipts during this period. When he took over, he said, receipts ran around $7,000 annually, and in 1959, they were over $29,000.

Born in Webster County, Mo. on March 4, 1890, Mr. Haymes reached retirement age on March 4 of this year.

He came to Texas with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. C.

LEE HAYMES
Retires March 31

R. Haymes, in 1899, travelling in a covered wagon, and settling in Clay County. The family came to Knox County in 1901.

Mr. Haymes graduated from Munday high school and attended Stamford College, a forerunner of McMurry College, for two years. He taught school two years, one in Baylor County and one at Knox City, then entered the service September 17, 1917. He trained with the 111th Engineers at Camp Bowie and was transferred to Camp Pike, Ark., where he received his discharge December 31, 1918.

Then came two years of employment with an oil supply house in Burkburnett during the oil boom days, after which he returned to Munday and was employed as bookkeeper at Baker-McCart Dry Goods from July, 1920, until 1928. Then came a plunge in politics, and he was elected public weigher for Munday, serving in that capacity for six years, which brought him up to the time of his appointment as postmaster.

In retiring, Lee said he was going to "catch up on his fishing," do gardening and yard work. Doubtless, he'll find enough odd jobs to do to keep his mind and body occupied.

The new acting postmaster—Raymond L. Snyder, for your information—meets with the post office inspectors on Thursday, March 31, to sign all papers necessary to taking over his duties. He's no stranger to Munday people, having resided here for the past four years, serving as instructor in commercial arts and as assistant coach in the local schools.

Born at Walters, Okla., the 38-year-old Snyder moved to Texas with his parents at an early age and graduated from Carlisle High School at Price, Texas. He is also a graduate of Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, holding B. B. A. and M. E. degrees from that institution.

Snyder served five years as a pilot in the U. S. Air Force before beginning his teaching career. He has taught school for 11 years, as principal at Vornon Springs and four years at Roaring before coming to Munday four years ago. He and his wife, Pauline, have a daughter, Paula Rae, 11, who is a student in the Munday schools.

Mr. Snyder has been putting in some spare time at the post office, dispatching mail, shoving it into patrons' boxes, and generally getting acquainted with some of the duties he will perform as acting postmaster. The more he learns ahead of time, the more he will be able to give service, and that's his chief aim—to give the best possible service to patrons of the Munday post office.

Miller Creek Reservoir Is Eligible For Loan Up To One-Third Of Costs

The proposed Miller Creek reservoir, which would be located some 15 miles southeast of Munday, has been declared eligible to receive a state loan for construction, according to a news story from the Abilene Reporter-News Austin Bureau. The story, which appeared in Saturday's issue of the Reporter-News, continued:

"The Texas Water Development Board voted to declare that the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority is eligible to apply for a loan to finance up to one third of the cost of the $3,800,000 project.

"Haskell, Munday, Rule and Goree are the members of the authority set up to build the Miller's Creek reservoir, a treatment plant, and pipelines to carry treated water to the four cities. "Efforts to sell the bonds to private investors have failed, so the authority has turned to federal and state agencies for its money. It plans to ask the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Fort Worth to buy $2,600,000 worth of its bonds, and the Water Development Board to buy the other $1,200,000 worth.

"Marvin Nichols of Fort Worth, chairman of the Water Development Board, left the chair and took no part in discussion of the project, since his engineering firm is designing the dam and system for the authority.

"Under a vote of the people in 1957, the Water Development Board has $100,000,000 to use in making second - lien loans up to $5,000,000 each for water supply projects for local units of government, where they cannot finance them by private means. So far, it has made only one loan, to Corpus Christi, to help it complete Wesley Seale Dam on the Nueces."

THE COST OF MEDICAL CARE

The American people want the best in medical care, at a cost they can afford. Some good news now comes from the American Medical Association. A "Commission on the Cost of Medical Care" will delve into every phase of medicine where cost or spending is involved, and an initial grant of $100,000 has been appropriated to launch the study.

The Association is taking the cost problem seriously, as a statement by its president, Dr. Louis M. Orr, shows: "This study-project is being undertaken because the American public is spending increasing amounts of money for all types of medical care. These expenditures involve the people's lives, health, and pocketbooks. We would like to find where economies may be achieved in the best interests of the patient. The commission will analyze the cost picture from every angle and try to come up with some sound advice and suggestions."

In effect, it will be a "little Hoover Commission," studying all medical care costs including doctors' fees, hospital charges, nursing costs, drug expenditures, and health insurance premiums. It will consult economists, health insurers, prepayment plans, hospital representatives, a cross section of patients, and others whose knowledge and opinions will be helpful. And this, it is hoped, will result not only in economies wherever possible, but in a better general understanding of the financial aspects of medical care.

HOW TO PENALIZE EFFICIENCY

The so-called "fair trade" laws—which make it legally obligatory for retailers everywhere to sell branded articles at an identical price—established by the manufacturers—have been a subject of controversy for years. Some states have passed them, and in a number of cases they have subsequently been repealed or been thrown out by courts.

Now it is proposed that a federal "fair trade" law go on the books. And this has brought an important editorial observation from the Denver Post:

"The manufacturer would fix the retail price high enough to give even the inefficient retailer a pleasing margin of profit . . .

"The inefficient retailer would be insulated against the natural consequences of his inefficiency, with the public paying the bill.

"The efficient retailer would be prevented by law from cashing in on his merchandising skills."

Going on, the Post listed a number of things that will happen if a federal "fair trade" law is passed. There will be another spurt in the cost of living. The free, competitive enterprise system will take a serious setback. And "demands for government price-fixing for all industries will become increasingly insistent and appealing."

Here is one of the roads leading to a "managed" economy, based solidly on the all-powerful state principle.

PROOF IS IN THE PUDDING

From Editor and Publisher:
 "We were glad to see someone at the Newspaper Advertising Executive Association meeting mention what has seemed to us the most obvious and important selling argument for national advertising."

"Monroe Green, advertising director of the New York Times, told the admen: 'The storekeepers of our country, the people who market the manufacturer's product, know that the one way, the infallible way to sell goods is through newspaper advertising . . . They have but one interest in advertising—to sell the product. And they know from experience how to get the job done best.'"

"The old cliché is still true—the proof is in the pudding. Retailers—the men on the front line of selling—know that newspaper advertising works, otherwise they wouldn't use so much of it year in and year out to the virtual exclusion of all other media."

During the current session of Congress, the American Farm Bureau Federation recommends that we should seek, among other things, a balanced budget; a realistic wheat program; expansion of the conservation reserve; no expansion of social security; defeat of federal aid to education bills; passage of a water rights bill; enactment of a states' rights bill; no weakening of the 1959 labor reform act.

In the last decade, Economic Intelligence reports, the total national income has virtually doubled, and so has compensation of employees. Corporate profits, on the other hand, have increased by only about 20 per cent.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By HAROLD C. PADEN

We glorify God in our worship to Him. Worship is an avenue of communion with our Creator. The Christians of the first century, motivated by the love of God, gave expression to their gratitude to God by singing to him their praises "in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs" (Col. 3:16); by offering their thanksgiving through the Lord's Supper (1 Cor. 11:23ff); by their prayers (1 Timothy 2:1); by their study of the Bible; and by their gifts and offerings (1 Cor. 16:2). These things they did each time they met for worship (Acts 20:7; Acts 2:42) which was every Sunday.

In this meditation, the last mentioned aspect of their worship is considered. "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase" (Proverbs 3:9). We must honor the Lord, not only with our material possessions, but also with our bodies and our spirits which are his as well.

Above all, we should glorify God in our lives, or else our teaching goes for nothing. "Let your lights so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father . . . in heaven," said Jesus. We are living in an age of examples. Christians are living epistles known and read of men.

"We are the only Bible this careless world will read; We are the sinner's gospel, we are the scoffer's creed; We are the Lord's last message, written in deed or word;

What if the type is crooked, what if the print is blurred?"

Just as Jesus glorified the Father, so Christ was glorified. In the shadow of the cross experience Jesus prayed these words: "And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was" (John 17:5). And again, "Now is the Son of man glorified, and God is glorified in him." Jesus was crowned with glory and honor when he was received up into heaven. When Christ glorified God; then, He too, was glorified. The same is true of an acceptable worshiper today.

Need For Rural Zoning Noted

Would rural zoning serve as an aid for more orderly plans for land use in Texas? Reagan Brown, extension rural sociologist, believes it would.

He says that forward-thinking citizens are coming more and more to believe that the town or county which leaves its future to chance and fails to conserve the basic things so vital to well-being is in for trouble. A community, town or county which fails to plan for the future is permitting its resources and particular advantages for living, work and play to be wasted, exploited and even destroyed.

Brown, in his work with the leaders of organized rural communities in all sections of Texas, says that many communities are caught in a haphazard growth pattern. Once peaceful agricultural areas have become a hodge-podge of industrial activity. Valuable farm land is being, in many areas, used where less productive soil would have served the same purpose.

Rural residents, he adds, are finding they have no control over what use is made of land purchased in their community. City residents who have moved to the country to find peace and quiet may find a noisy mill moving in across the road.

Brown believes that no town or county need grow like "Topsy," and become a hodge-podge of conflicting land uses. Rural zoning, he believes, can be a real aid for keeping development in rural areas orderly and on a high plain. Zoning, is well known in most cities but is relatively new in rural areas. In 1929 Wisconsin became the first state to enact rural zoning legislation. Today about 90 percent of all the states have passed rural zoning laws.

At present, Texas has no rural zoning law and before local towns or counties can pass their own zoning ordinances, the Texas Legislature must pass enabling legislation. But, concludes Brown, it's time to give consideration to this very important aspect of rural living.

Bracero Named Winner Of Texas Rural Heroism Award; Local Man Runner-up

J. Manuel Corral, a Mexican farm laborer who went head first into an abandoned West Texas irrigation well to save a three-year-old boy, today was named winner of the Texas Rural Heroism Award.

The award was established this year by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council to recognize individual bravery at a time of crisis in a rural Texas Community.

Runners-up for the award were Elmer Hendrix, Rt. 1, Munday, who saved the life of a gasoline-inflamed Munday resident, and Mrs. James Ach, Rt. 1, Temple, who rescued her husband from an enraged bull on their Bell County farm.

Corral, the bracero, speaks little English and is working in this country under a labor contract for F. W. O'Bannon, who farms near Dell City in Hudspeth County.

The heroic incident centered around O'Bannon's grandson, Randy Gene McKinley, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McKinley of Conroe Randy, visiting his grandparents over the Christmas holidays, tipped over the barrel protecting the abandoned 70 foot irrigation well and toppled in.

Corral was working nearby when the youngster fell into the 16-inch casing. Using ropes, two other men lowered the slender bracero head first into the well. It took 15 minutes for Corral to wiggle his way down the casing, reaching the child who had managed a foothold to stay above water. Corral pulled the boy to safety after some 150 Dell City residents had gathered at the well opening.

"Corral is not without other honors for this feat, but his actions were true bravery and the council is happy to present this first award to him," said Paul Waiser of Temple, president of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, in announcing the award winners.

Corral was presented an engraved plaque Thursday, March 17, in Dallas at the same time the Baptist Foundation of Texas honored him with a luncheon in Hotel Adolphus. The lad's father is a forester for the Foundation at Conroe.

Corral also was made an honorary citizen of Texas in ceremonies Monday in Dell City.

 The sale of cattle is subject to income tax, no matter what use the proceeds are put to, according to Ellis Campbell, Jr., Dallas District Director of Internal Revenue Service.
 Numerous questions at farm tax schools have pointed up misunderstanding on the part of some farmers. The sale of cattle, land, and other farm capital assets are taxable no matter whether the proceeds are reinvested in similar property or not.
 There is one exception in the case of condemnation proceedings or other involuntary conversion. Farmers having a problem in this area were advised to get a free copy of the "Farmer's Tax Guide" from their County Agent or the Internal Revenue Service.
 Walter Medley and Mrs. Inez Jackson and children of Santa Rosa, N. M. visited their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Warren, over the week end.

State Farm Mutual Gains In Insurance

State Farm Mutual ended 1959 with an 11.9 percent share of the nation's private passenger car insurance market and with earned premiums for the year in excess of $400 million, the first time a single casualty insurance company has passed that dollar level.

Local agent for State Farm is Leo Fetsch.

Of the company's $432,061,041 of earned premiums, auto business accounted for $419,740,013. Other year-end figures announced today by Adlai H. Rust, chairman of the boards of the three State Farm companies, show assets of $567,899,140, a 17 percent gain for the period. Policyholders' surplus increased 17.8 percent to $156,119,624.

Claim costs mounted to a new high for the tenth straight year, Rust reported. Claims incurred totaled $257,084,976, a 15.1 percent increase and claims and underwriting expenses incurred climbed 7.9 percent to $159,059,724. The company settled 2,118,360 claims during the year.

Investment gain improved to $16,164,447 over 1958's $13,444,795. The underwriting gain of $15,916,341 compares with $8,814,689 for the previous year. Federal income taxes totaled $4,495,775.

State Farm's 7.15 percent gain in auto policies in force was more than double the three percent growth rate of the nation's auto population in 1959 (U. S. Department of Commerce estimate). State Farm has been the nation's largest auto insurer for the past 18 of its 38 years in business.

The company's wholly-owned affiliates, State Farm Fire and Casualty and State Farm Life, also showed solid gains for the year.

State Farm Fire and Casualty Company paced the State Farm group growth-wise with a 31.9 percent increase in gross direct premiums written — $33,858,356 as against $25,671,512 for 1958.

After reinsurance, net earned premiums amounted to $17,280,032, a 29.5 percent improvement over 1958. Underwriting profit totaled $782,264 and net investment gain was $979,887. Assets were $41,391,987 and policyholders' surplus $14,502,073 at the year's close.

State Farm Life Insurance Company was near the $1 1/2 billion mark at year-end, reporting a 12 percent gain over 1958 to $1,477,564,666 of ordinary life insurance in force. The company passed the $1 1/2 billion figure in January, for more than a $1 billion gain of ordinary in force since 1952. Life insurance sales for the year increased 10.9 percent to $306,591,924. Assets at year-end were $186,957,160, a 13.8 percent over 1958. Policyholders was up 13.2 percent to $23,029,195.

Dollar And Sense

By Miss S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

When you want to make your money do the best job for you, watch prices and use variations in price to your advantage. It will pay off in increased buying power.

High quality merchandise may be the best buy if. The article is staple in nature, expected to last a long time, and simple styles; fine details in construction, workmanship and styling are exceptionally important to you personally even though the product doesn't necessarily meet the first requirements. Consider your values.

Medium quality may be the best buy if: You want reasonable though not unusual service; you are willing to forgo some of the fine features you should expect in high quality items; your main requirement is durable, well-made construction.

Low quality may be the best buy if: The item is bought for limited or short-term use; the very best appearance is relatively unimportant as long as the item serves its particular purpose.

The Munday F. F. A. chapter has designated the week of March 15-22 as Fire Safety Week, and have been studying of the many fire hazards located in the homes, shops and places of work.

person dies every 30 minutes due to burns.

The F. F. A. boys would like to stress the need of removing the dangers of fire by checking for overloaded wall plugs, inflammable liquids in poorly-ventilated areas, removing of trash, etc.

TEXAS EGG LAW WORKS

March is National Egg Month, and is as good a time as any to make note of the outstanding success achieved in the operation and enforcement of the Texas Egg Law.

Within the short span of a little more than two years since it became effective, the Texas Egg Law has come to be accepted as one of the bulwarks of their business by producers, wholesalers, dealers and Department of Agriculture was able to develop a program of education and explanation which was credited largely with bringing about this acceptance.

As enacted by the 55th Legislature in 1957, the Texas Egg Law was aimed at preventing eggs of poor quality or unfit for human consumption from reaching our consumers. For many years Texas had been a dumping ground for poor quality eggs which failed to meet prescribed standards and could not be sold in the states where they were produced. This not only brought poor quality eggs from other states into the homes of Texas consumers but also acted to depress the price of premium eggs produced in Texas.

Rules and regulations promulgated by the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture under authority of the Texas Egg Law prescribe the standards of weight and grade, long with methods for determining the quality of eggs offered for sale, and these various grades must be plainly marked on each package of eggs offered for sale.

Widespread physical inspection is accomplished through field inspectors who work out of the six District field offices of the Texas Department of Agriculture. Weekly reports are filed by each inspector as to the number of lots of eggs inspected, along with the results of the inspection.

The general acceptance of the new law is reflected in the reports covering the last fiscal year of its operation. In that year, 19-44 lots of eggs were inspected, amounting to 1,346,311 dozen eggs. Out of this huge quantity, only 610 were found to be in violation of the Texas Egg Law, 89 by retailers offering the eggs for sale and 521 by the wholesaler or dealer who had graded and car-

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

State Health Department radiation engineers this week began a survey of dental x-ray equipment in use by Rio Grande Valley dentists. The study is part of a pilot project designed to identify radiation hazards to dentists and their office personnel.

The project calls for a team of radiation specialists from the department's division of occupational health to make a systematic examination of x-ray machines in the offices of the 44 dentists who practice in the Rio Grande Valley District of the Texas Dental Association. Each dentist concerned asked that his equipment be studied.

Dr. Kenneth Thurmond, chairman of the TDA council on dental health, said the survey is "a service we feel will be encouraging to dentists and their patients."

Certificates of radiation safety will be given for office display when x-ray machines are found to be safe and under proper operation, survey sponsors said.

Other TDA areas scheduled for immediate study are the Guadalupe Valley, San Angelo, and Northeast Texas Districts.

Diseases in nature transmissible to humans will come under two days of intense technical scrutiny March 17-18 in the auditorium of the State Department of Health.

The unique affair will bring to Austin a battalion of scientific intelligence from around the nation to try to unravel some of the knotty problems associated with animal-to-man diseases, said to be among the most challenging fields of modern public health investigation.

This is the tenth consecutive year the highly regarded scientific event has been held. It is sponsored by the department, the Texas Animal Disease Commission, the University of Texas, Texas A and M College, and Baylor University School of Medicine.

Diet is one of the most important aspects of maintaining good health among aged persons, in the opinion of Dr. H. E. Smith, chief of preventive medicine at the State Department of Health. In general older persons require more protein in their diets and many need to increase their vitamin intake — especially vitamin C, abundant in citrus fruits.

Dr. Smith observed that getting oldsters to eat enough at night is a major dietary problem. He said anyone caring for elderly persons should make sure their charges get a substantial evening meal.

Dr. Smith's comments were made amid growing State Health Department interest in the problem of elderly citizens.

A placard in a store window had this intriguing bit of information: "Jones Is Delightfully Air-Conditioned." The Jones referred to is a store, not a man.

The first cafeteria I entered, the piped-in music being heard at the moment was "San Antonio Rose" and, during my meal at another cafeteria, I was regaled with "That Good Old Baylor Line." (However, the Kansas Citians probably thought they were hearing "The Good Old Summer Time.")

In one cafeteria, the cashier doesn't use an adding machine; she just looks at the contents of the tray, adds the items in her head and hands you a ticket with the total.

Incidentally, one of these eating establishments has a sign on the stairs, "Use the Hand Rail." As it requires two hands to carry the tray, only an octopus could obey the admonition.

Four strangers (myself among the number) were waiting for a special ball-park bus to see the Kansas City Athletics play but found that the service was not provided that day so we shared a taxi. One of the three turned out to be from Texas, so we told Texas stories all the way out to the park, which no doubt made a big hit with the two Missourians.

The Texan was an Amarillo banker and I was tempted (but resisted) to ask if he was the Amarillo banker who, so an Amarilloan told me, was responsible in Texas

A public service bureau of the State Bar of Texas

PROPERTY RENDERING DEADLINES NEAR

April 1 will be the deadline for most Texans to render their property to certain taxing agencies. State laws require all real and personal property to be rendered for taxes on or before prescribed dates. Those who fail to comply can blame only themselves for the money loss they may consequently suffer.

Some Texas cities set their own tax deadlines. These are the cities of more than 5,000 population which have incorporated under the "Home Rule" provisions of our statutes. All other cities are governed by the general laws of Texas.

In towns operating under the general laws property must be rendered for taxes between January 1 and April 1 each year. A number of home rule cities set up the same requirements in their ordinances, while others prescribe different periods.

For state and county tax purposes, property must be rendered to the County Tax Assessor by April 30, and homestead exemptions must be claimed by the same time.

In some localities a third taxing unit is involved — the independent school district. In other places school taxes are collected by the city or county. In addition, some localities have water, irrigation, or levee districts which assess and collect taxes. Make inquiry as to where these various taxes are assessed, and as to applicable deadlines for rendition.

What property must be rendered for taxes? If Texas laws were strictly enforced, we would be required to render to all taxing units nearly every piece of real and personal property which we own, down to the very clothing on our backs. An exception is the constitutional exemption of $250 worth of household furniture. However, no taxing unit carries their requirements this far, and it will be necessary to inquire of each tax assessor when rendering your property whether specific types of property are ordinarily rendered in that locality. Some cities and counties collect ad valorem taxes on automobiles, television sets and other personal items, while others ignore practically all personal property. Business and professional men are generally required to render all merchandise, furnishings, fixtures, business automobiles and equipment.

If property is not rendered by the tax payer, it may then be placed upon the unrendered tax roll, and the taxing agency places such valuation thereon as it considers fair. One advantage of rendering your property is that you can set your own valuation. Then, if the county or city decides a higher valuation is in order, you will be given an opportunity to appear before a board to explain why the higher figure should not be used in computing your taxes.

Thereafter, an appeal to the NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN by the City of Goree that property owners will no longer be contacted to render their real and personal property for taxation.

The law requires each real or personal property owner to go to the office of the Assessor and Collector of taxes for each taxing unit in which they own property for taxation.

The office of J. B. Justice, Assessor and Collector of taxes for the above units will be open from 8:00 o'clock A.M. to 5:00 o'clock P.M. each week day, and from 8:00 o'clock A.M. to 12:00 o'clock noon on Saturdays to assist in this rendition.

It will be the duty of the Equalization Board to render the taxes for any taxpayer who fails to render his taxes as required by law.

courts is possible in some instances. Generally speaking, however, the courts are unable to strike out a valuation unless the agency or board has acted arbitrarily and placed on the property a valuation higher than that placed on comparable property owned by others. If you do not render, the valuation set by the taxing agency is final.

Remember these facts: You may need to render your property at three or more different tax offices. Ask each tax assessor if in doubt concerning the deadline or the rendering of specific personal items.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Game Is Valued As A Rich Crop, Not As By-Product

"It is difficult to assess an over-all value to fish and game," writes T. D. Carroll in his interesting article, "Assay on Texas Game," in the March issue of TEXAS GAME AND FISH. "The aesthetic, recreational, and biological values are often neglected or considered intangible when the economist views this natural resource."

Carroll, acting director of information and education, Texas Game and Fish Commission, points out that according to the Crossley Survey, 1,625,000 Texans spent over $165 million for hunting and fishing in the State in 1955. This is over $27 million more than the value of 3,882,574 tons of sulphur, 3,583,242 tons of common salt, 584,855 tons of lime, 1,349,433 tons of crude gypsum, 3,103,359 tons of clay, 139,396,188 cubic feet of helium, and $115,000 worth of gem stones produced in the State that same year.

By using the Llano County Deer Count as an example, the author shows that landowners through leases possibly took in some $346,740 through deer harvests in that county alone. Local businesses in the county took in a possible $866,850.

"This coupled with the value of the deer to the landowners, would give a total of $1,213,590 realized from the deer harvest in 1959 during the 45-day hunting season in that county," writes the director.

"To consider wildlife as a by-product of the land instead of a valuable crop is a wasteful indulgence enjoyed by those who have no conception of true values of our wildlife resources."

Knox Prairie Philosopher Discovers A Compelling New Reason Why He And Other Farmers Should Make A Profit

Editor's note The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek may be putting an odd twist on a set of figures, his letter this week indicates. We never attempt to correct him.

Dear Editor: When I run out of something to do out here on this Johnson grass farm, and I can do it any time I don't feel like working. I like to amuse myself by receiving the latest situations on the farm problem.

Last night I got an entirely new slant on the farm problem and its importance. According to an article I read in a newspaper which must have fallen out of an airplane, I don't know how else it could have gotten wedged between the forks of a tree ten feet above the ground, that farmers' incomes have dropped twenty per cent in the last two years while their expenses have gone up five per cent.

"The farmers are going bankrupt," the governor of Nebraska said on reading these figures. Well, lots of farmers have been heading toward bankruptcy for years, but as long as they don't actually get there, or they get there but nobody knows it, they seem to keep plugging away.

But what interested me in this report was the reaction of another group of leaders to it.

"Our concern goes deeper than concern for farmers, for merely maintaining the family-size farm," they said. "Many small towns in this nation are dependent on the farmers. If the farmers go broke, what'll happen to these towns?"

But they needn't have stopped there. Look at it this way. Not only are many small towns dependent on the farmers, but many big towns are sort of dependents on small towns, and big cities are dependent on little cities, and Washington is dependent on outdoors each day. Most people throw enough scraps into the garbage each day to feed dozens of small undernourished song birds. "Set these scraps aside for our feathered friends," suggests the assistant director. "This would be a wonderful project for the young people."

At first, only a few birds may come for the food; however, once they learn that food will be waiting for them in your backyard, they'll return daily in flocks.

Ratings Of Presidential Candidates Given By Saturday Evening Post Article

The Saturday Evening Post today published the following ratings on the five leading Democratic presidential candidates:

John Kennedy: "As the front runner and first serious Roman Catholic candidate since Al Smith, he cannot afford to stumble."

Hubert Humphrey: "He is aware that it will take a series of near miracles to win the presidential nomination."

Lyndon Johnson: "The acceptance of the vice-presidential nomination by Kennedy is a vital part of the Johnson strategy."

Stuart Symington: "The Missouri Compromise — a man who can hold the party together and alienate no important faction."

Adlai Stevenson: "The presidential virus, which did seem to be dead in Stevenson a year ago, has inevitably revived."

Veteran Washington pundit Stewart Alsop, an associate editor of the Post, says that the key question of this whole political year may well be whether or not Kennedy would turn down the vice-presidential nomination.

Alsop believes that if either Stevenson or Johnson is nominated for the presidency, and if either is to have a reasonably good chance of winning in November, he MUST have Kennedy as a running mate.

The Post article, "They're Off — and the World Is Watching," says the best guess is that if the convention has nominated someone other than Kennedy, the Massachusetts senator would make a coldly objective analysis of the chances of winning in November.

"If he thought the ticket would win, he would accept and become the heir apparent," Alsop writes. "If he thought the ticket would lose, he would adamantly refuse. For in that case many people would blame the presence of a Catholic on the ticket's defeat, and in all probability no Catholic would be nominated for the presidency for a generation or more."

COUNTY AGENT MEETS WITH BOYS 4-H CLUB

Troy Jones, county agent, met with the grade school boys' 4-H club last Thursday showing them and telling them the damage a cattle grub could do to the hide of cattle. He said it is estimated that $155,000 is lost annually to U. S. livestock due to these worms.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Smith were Mrs. Pete Smith and son of San Angelo and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Smith of Abilene. Miss Jo Ella Lovern of Plainview visited on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Edgar visited relatives in Quanah and Wellington over the week end.

Mrs. Curtis Gollehon and sons of Olney visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Norvill, over the week end.

Mogul Band News

Friday night, March 11, the Munday Mogul band presented their 1960 "Mogul Musicade." Billy Fitzgerald, son of Cecil Fitzgerald, was emcee for the program and introduced the band with its special and featured numbers.

The music of modern jazz, swing, popular numbers, and medleys of old time favorites proved very entertaining for the audience. Featured acts were the Musicadettes in a dance routine; the stage band with featured vocalist Jimmie Del Peysen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Peysen; the Midwestern "Jug Band"; and featured twirler Cheryl Matthews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Matthews, Sr. Other featured attractions were Jerry Bowden's corner "ride," instrumental solos by Jackie Matthews, Joe McMahon and Mr. Jack Geyman, local band director accompanied by the Mogul Band; a modern jazz number by Shirley McCarty and Lynda Smith; and a trumpet trio composed of Joe McMahon, Jerry Bowden, and Rudy Latham.

The hit of this year's show appeared to be SATAN'S ANGELS, composed of Joe McMahon, Howard Canafax, Ricky Smith, Dicky Patterson, Rudy Latham, and Allen Eiland. This dance group represented the "six most gorgeous dolls in the Mogul band." If any of the audience happened to be dozing, surely this dance routine awoke them.

The band extends its deepest appreciation to those who attended and to Mr. Geyman for his hard work in planning this year's MUSICADE. Others who helped with the preparation of the program were the Band Boosters, several business concerns who furnished equipment for the lighting and the building of the stage, Archer City and Abilene bands for the loan of their herald trumpets, Jim Lee, Willie Weaver, Roger Bell, and Eddie Martinez for operating the effective lighting arrangements and the many others who helped to make the 1960 Mogul Musicade possible.
