Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Willard Jones—now retired—editor of the Hamlin Herald until this week, had something to say in his "Popvalve" column last week that possibly could be re-echoed by all small town editors. Think we'll quote him here, then maybe repeat it if and when we retire, as you possibly will have forgotten it by then.

k-k

"As one parting gesture to people generally of my home town of Hamlin—an idea that is almost as much a part of our life as our religion—oh, that people would support their home town that educates their children, protects their homes with police and fire facilities and provides a livelihood for most of them! Why, Hamlin would be a city of 10,000 people within five years if people traded at home—it couldn't help it.

k-k

"We challenge our friends to stop and consider what proportion of their income they spend to help other towns grow. It just doesn't make sense to us. At any rate, we prophesy that until people resolve to boost one another, trade at home and work together more, our town has a bleak future, when it has the greatest possibilities of any little city in the country!"

k-k

"We've heard people say: I work and earn my money. I have a right to spend it where I please. If I can save a little by trading in another town, that's my business." We'll grant that this is true, but it don't build home towns.

k-k

Others have said: "I'm not connected with the businesses of my home town any more, so I'm pretty well free to shop where I want to." That may be true, too, but it's not supposed to be just the people in business who should feel obligated to support their home town. It's the individual obligation of all who live in the town.

Tragedy struck the office of Merkel's newspaper, The Merkel Mail, a few days ago. The press is rolling as usual this week, although one of the principal news items will concern the death of the paper's owner and publisher, Robert E. (Bob) Gardner, who was killed in a one-car accident.

Farmers gather to plow the land, plant the crops, and otherwise be helpful when a neighbor is sick or in distress. And newspaper people gathered in Merkel to help with editorial and mechanical work in getting out the Mail. The group included several from Abilene and one from Merkel.

k-k

"I'm a sucker for helping out fellow newspapermen," said one publisher to us several years ago. We doubt if he really meant "sucker" but that he just had a neighborly way of wanting to help another in distress. Most of us find times when another of the same trade can get us out of a pinch. We have both given and received aid—and we reckon when the ledger is closed out it will all be just about on a fifty-fifty basis.

k-k

This is the final week of this year's political campaign, although there may be some battling it out in the runoff for another four weeks. We heard recently that some voters lamented the early election date, saying "they didn't have time to think it over and decide who they wanted to vote for," but for the fellow beating the bushes after votes is rather appreciative of the fact that his work will be done before those hot summer months roll around.

k-k

Most of the candidates announced earlier than in years past, due to the election date being set up to May 7th, instead of the fourth Saturday in July. We reckon a period of four or five months should be long enough for us to decide on the one of our choice.

"Day Of Triumph" Showing Friday

Brought to Munday under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, an outstanding Biblical film, "Day of Triumph" will have four showings at the Roxy Theatre on Friday of this week. It is all too seldom that the local public is afforded the opportunity to view such a magnificent work.

A special preview was given the county clergymen and educators a few days ago, and all were unanimous in their praise. Munday schools are coming to the 9:15 a.m. showing, and other county schools at 1:30 p.m. Knox City's Jaycees are assisting in the sale of tickets.

The Pony League of Munday is to benefit from this project of the local club. Tickets may be purchased from the Jaycees or at the theatre door.

Indicating the excellence of the film are the following comments: "Beautiful, powerful." — United Church Women.

"A production rich in artistic and dramatic values!" — Protestant Motion Picture Council.

"Tremendously moving and inspiring." — National Council of Women of the U. S.

"It has rare beauty, great value . . . magnificently directed and presented . . . don't miss this!" — General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Inspiring Motion picture!" — American Weekly.

"Handsomely produced, reverent depiction of Our Lord's last two years on earth . . . visually appealing . . . technically fine!" — The Sign.

"Robert Wilson combines an extraordinary likeness to Christ with an uncanny blend of simplicity and sincerity which makes his characterization altogether imposing . . . Joanne Dru is seen to great effect as Mary Magdalene. "Day of Triumph" strikes exactly the proper note of respect and reverence!" — The Catholic World.

Eradication Of Brucellosis Gets Started In County

The Knox County Extension Livestock and Range Subcommittee, cooperating with the Knox County Farm Bureau are making steps toward Brucellosis eradication in Knox County. Representatives from each of these groups met April 26 at Benamin to formulate their plan of action. Final decision at the meeting was to circulate a petition for a type II control area.

This type program requires blood test of all dairy cattle, purebred beef cattle and 20% of all other cattle in each herd over 3 years of age. Steers, sprayed heifers and official vaccinated heifers under 30 months of age are exempt. The duties and expense of the caretakers and owners are limited to gathering and presenting cattle for test, furnish labor and facilities to properly restrain cattle and permit the identification of reactor animals.

The first requirement for testing is for at least 75% of the county cattle owners, with 51% of the cattle to sign a petition for the program. As was stated earlier, the petition is now being circulated. For more information contact H. H. Partridge, Togo Moorhouse, Jack Idol, L. B. Patterson, George Lebus, J. T. Cook, Ted Russell, Shorty Keuhler, Sam Clonks, Lee Smith or Bruce Campbell.

Bond Sales For Knox County At Higher Figure

March E and H Savings Bonds sales in Knox County totaled $38,139 according to W. E. Braly, Chairman of the county Savings Bonds committee.

Sales for the first three months of 1960 were $91,364 which represents 45.7% of the county 1960 goal. First quarter sales in Texas were $45,480,326 or 27.5% of its 1960 goal of $165,500,000.

"Savings Bonds are an investment in the future. For years the Treasury Department sold bonds as a doorway to opportunity—a new home, college education, retirement, or some other dream of the future. But today the future itself is threatened. With the dawn of the missile age, the world is suddenly aware that one more war could be the last. The hope of the age is for peace — for some guarantee that there will be a future to look forward to. We must have PEACE POWER—the strength to keep the peace; the knowledge to make it lasting. Savings Bonds, in building economic stability, help strengthen America's peace power," James F. Stiles, Jr., National Director, said.

HELPLESS HOSTAGES

The "sit-in" demonstrations of Negroes in eating places in the South, as a protest against segregation, have been given national news coverage. These "sit-ins" have largely occurred at lunch counters operated by chain variety stores. And some people seem to have developed the idea that the stores concerned are favoring segregation as a matter of policy.

This simply isn't true. Entirely aside from any segregation or integration argument, the stores are victims of circumstances over which they have no control. Any store, whether it be a small independent or part of a huge chain, serves a relatively small local community. It must, so far as it is able, conform to local needs, local customs, local demands.

Such stores are "local citizens." They have no choice save to follow local ordinances and customs. If trouble arises, as at the lunch counters, the managers must close the area of trouble.

As a matter of record, variety store managers have been doing all in their power to remove themselves from the conflict between the pro and anti-segregationists. The food service problem, like other racial problems ultimately will be thrashed out in the courts. Meanwhile, as an editorial in Chain Store Age observes, "Until a higher judgment is reached, variety chain stores may continue to be helpless hostages of a conflict they did not create and are powerless to avert."

KEEP FLAG FLYING ON SEAS

Russia's merchant fleet and its protective underwater escort of 500 submarine "Is out to capture an ever larger portion of the trade between free as well as satellite nations."

That substantiated view comes from George Kilham of the Committee of American Steamship Lines. He describes its significance in these words: "Our ability to participate in the commerce of the world depends, to a very great extent, this nation's future as the warm fortress of freedom in a world chilled by the winds of a calculatingly cruel war."

"Our ability to keep a favorable balance between foreign aid and our own economy . . . between our Merchant Marine and the ships flying foreign flags . . . between the controlled economy of the iron curtain East and the free economy of the West, depends our very survival." Russia, obviously, is embarked on an all-out campaign to strengthen her trade position in the world, to build her power, influence and prestige and, if possible, to outdo the United States. As part of the cold war program, Russia is building a mighty merchant fleet of the most modern design. This is one of the many places where we can't afford to lag behind—most modern design. This is one of the many places we can't afford to lag behind and that's why America's maritime industry is undertaking a $4,600,000,000 shipbuilding program to replace a largely war-built fleet with nearly 300 of the world's finest and fastest merchant vessels.

SOFTENING ???

We have heard comment recently about the "softness" of American youth. If such a condition exists, what is the cause?

Could it be the result of the state (government) assuming greater and greater control over the individual—his schooling, his work, his income, his savings, his death and his estate—in other words, cradle to the grave supervision?

We now read that the New York City Board of Education sanctions a short course for junior and senior high schools next year, the purpose of which is to teach how to have a happy home. The course will include "group dating, double dating, single dating, steady dating" and the development of "qualities that make one popular."

The assumption that normal young people need such instruction is virtually an insult to their intelligence, but it is a good example of state direction of the individual.

If such public instruction doesn't produce "softness" and lack of self-reliance in young people, it will be because of their native intelligence.

OBERLIN, KANSAS, HERALD: "It seems at times as if 'government by the people' is something of a joke. In spite of the fact that officials are elected, measures frequently pass Congress which are in opposition to the public's will."

"But action during 1959 has done much to bolster the democratic theory . . . Now John Q. Public is fighting mad about labor disgraces and his ire is making itself felt in Congressional halls."

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By HAROLD C. PADEN

Deliberately stirring people into psychological and emotional guilt complexes, making them feel miserable sinners, is far from the methods Jesus used to give people a sense of sin. He did not go around making people feel guilty, in fact, not only did He put an end to the harsh judgments of "religious" people who wanted to stone Mary Magdalene with "he that has not sinned cast the first stone," but He did not "condemn" her either. Maybe we should write this in real small print, but the only people He ever accused of being sinners were the most religious people of His day! Don't misunderstand me, I am for a "real" sense of sin, but I oppose making people, especially small children in early adolescence or before, feel like a sorry and wretched rebel, simply because they feel like they to! Read the Gospels and see how Jesus did it.

As long as a room is dark one does not see its nastiness, dirt and filth, but as the light shines in they are evident. Jesus is the "light of the world" and when we allow Him to shine into our lives by a study of His life in the Gospels, then and only then, will we see the dirt and sin of my life. His life on earth is what God would like to help each of us to be, and that is one reason He sent Christ. I see the mercy of Jesus to forgive Mary, then see how unforgiving I am; I see Him walk over 70 miles to be obedient to God in baptism, then see how little I go out of the way to obey God; I see Him saving a wedding host, who ran out of wine a lot of embarrassment, then see how unthoughtful I am; I see Him taking time to spend with little children not his own, to make them feel they belong, then see how little time I spend with my own; I see Him sailing the Lake in a boat not His own, even being buried in a grave not His, then see how materialistic I am; when I see Him through reading the Gospels, I develop a "real" sense of not being like God intended me to be, a "real" sense of sin. God didn't send Christ into the world to make men feel inferior to Him or sinful, but rather to show man what he can be, with His help.

TEXAS LAND VALUES—UP, UP, UP

The decade of the 1950's saw a boom in Texas farm land prices which prompted frequent and free predictions from many an old-timer that a bust could not be far behind.

There was nothing approaching a bust, of course, even in the drought-ridden middle '50's. And as the new decade of the 1960's gets under way there are no real signs to indicate that the boom actually has even reached its peak.

Farmers may and probably will continue to complain of lower farm prices and increasing costs—which is well justified by current facts and figures. Some farm families probably will continue to forsake the land its discouragements, although the number driven away from the farms to the cities is not nearly as high as during the drought years.

But the value of the land itself appears to be holding a remarkably steady upward trend, and this is observed in nearly all areas of Texas. Prevailing prices of farm and ranch land generally is higher than can actually be justified by its value for crop or livestock production.

The factors combining to produce this situation also have developed another over-all condition which is often observed and pointed out in many sections of Texas. The condition is this: More and more land over the State is becoming tightly held and to all practical purposes taken off the market altogether, automati-

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

COURTHOUSE IS SYMBOL OF FREE NATION

LAW DAY U. S. A. on May 1st is a day of dedication to government under law. The three basic rights guaranteed us under a rule of law are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. How can we enjoy these rights?

First, men and women must want these rights. There are many who are willing to go without some of their rights rather than bear the responsibilities that go with them. Furthermore, a lot of us are all for our own rights but don't much care about those of the other fellow. But our own rights are safe only for as long as we are willing to go to the defense of the rights of others.

Second, we must have a government genuinely concerned about the rights of the people and willing not only to state what these are but to enforce them. Millions of people are living under governments that have no such policy. We in America do have such policy.

Third, there must be the necessary facilities for doing the job under a rule of law.

These we have in our courts of law - the representatives of vast judicial system of our state and nation. Our courthouses are the cornerstones of the structure of government under law. Everyone in the courtroom of the nation - the judge as presiding officer, the attorneys as officers of the court, and other citizens as litigants and jurors - share the responsibility of preserving, strengthening and passing on to future generations this judicial system which unconditionally guarantees equal justice under law.

For those living under the yoke of communism, the sight of a courthouse stirs fear and hopelessness. It evokes dread visions for people who are condemned to live out their lives by the edicts of whims of dictators. But in America, the courthouse is the symbol of a free nation. Inside its doors the dignity of man as an individual will be respected and his equality of rights protected.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law).

New Breech Business School At Drury College.

A new method of teaching business administration—with business courses considered part of a liberal arts education rather than a substitute for it—characterizes the new Breech School of Business Administration at Drury College, Springfield, Missouri. The building, pictured above, was built with funds donated by Ernest R. Breech (inset), chairman of the board of Ford Motor Company, and his wife. The modern two-story structure houses ten classrooms, three seminar rooms, ten faculty offices, an auditorium, a reading lounge and a conference room. It will be dedicated April 28.

The USDA's Market News Service observed its 45th birthday on March 27. The first market report was issued from Hammond, Louisiana, in 1915 on strawberries. Today market news information is carried in more than 1,200 daily newspapers, by about 1,500 radio stations and 165 television stations. Every major farm produced commodity is now covered by market news information.

Mrs. Freddie Morrow of Abilene visited with relatives and friends here over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Snyder and Paula visited relatives in Wichita Falls last Sunday.

Fallout Shelters Can Save Millions of Americans

Many Americans near the points of bomb impact could be killed in a nuclear attack by blast, heat and initial radiation. But millions could survive by the simple expedient of protecting themselves against radioactive fallout.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has called fallout shelters "the best single defense measure for the protection of the greatest number of our people."

For about $25 to $150 per person, families can construct shelters, on a do-it-yourself basis, into which they can go after any nuclear attack to stay alive until radiation intensity outside lessens to safe levels, civil defense authorities point out.

Any shelter must be equipped with the necessities of life, including food, water, first aid and sanitary supplies and lights. There must be enough for all shelter occupants for at least 14 days. Two pamphlets are available to help you construct a suitable basement or underground shelter. One is MP-15, "The Family Fallout Shelter," which details five basic designs of concrete block, reinforced concrete and reshaped metal. The other, MP-18, "Clay Masonry Fallout Shelters," shows five other plans for basic shelters, calling for use of clay products (brick or tile).

THESE PAMPHLETS can be obtained from your local or State civil defense office, or by writing to Box Home Shelter, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, Battle Creek, Mich.

Many persons building shelters are setting them up as recreation rooms, dens, or extra bedroom space, thus gaining multiple use of the facilities, civil defense officials report.

OCDM encourages multi-purpose use of shelter space. Its prime concern is that such radiation-proof shelter be provided now, officials say. On the day of any attack, such efforts would be too little and too late.

More Profit From Fewer Farm Acres

Texans take pride in the size of their farming operations. Sometimes they overlook the fact that large operations also may be inefficient—that more profit often can be obtained by more intensive farming methods practiced on fewer acres.

This is particularly true with vegetable crops, says D. H. C. Mohr, associate professor of horticulture, Texas A & M College System. For example, cabbage, when grown in twin rows on the bed, gives yields about double those of single rows on the bed. Very little additional fertilizer and irrigation are required. Cultivation is the same and labor for thinning and harvesting is much more efficient than on the single row. Thus the yields is doubled at much less than double the production cost. The difference, Mohr points out, is additional profit.

Failure of more efficient methods (or of improved hybrids or varieties) to make more money for growers has been related to failure to adjust acreage. Vegetables are very responsive to the supply-demand situation. If more efficient practices are used, without proportionate adjustment of acreage, excessive supplies usually result in severe price declines, and the grower may make less than he did before he used the new practices for varieties.

When a new practice is undertaken, the grower should try to produce the same quantity of the crop as before, but on fewer acres, Mohr emphasizes. In this way the market will not be glutted, and the grower can realize additional profit from his improved efficiency. Of course he will then have to decide how to use the acres he no longer needs for a particular crop.

Charlie Partridge and Larry Odom of Topeka, Kans., both students at Texas A & M spent the week end with Charlie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Partridge.

Mrs. Pat Elliott of McMurtry College in Abilene spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Putnam.

The FAIR Store

Every family has expressions which all the members understand but which puzzle outsiders. Uncle Albert, who lived in Coldwater, Miss., came up to Memphis, when I was a boy, to visit us. As he opened the front door, he saw (or thought he did) a lady in the dimly-lighted vestibule so he said, "Good evening, ma'am." A closer look revealed that the "lady" was a halftree with a lady's hat on top and various hanging garments. He commented to us, "I thought that was a person." So with us ever since, a halftree has been "a person."

Seen from a Southern Railway car window: In Echeffeld, Alabama, a lumber-yard sign, "Gentlest terms in town;" In another small town, a big pile of coal in the side-yard of a cottage—no doubt the winter's fuel supply; (an odd sight to a visitor from gas-fueled Texas); And in another small town a tablet on the depot platform, informing the traveler that this had been the home of Annie Wheeler (1869-1955), the daughter of Gen. Joe Wheeler (of the Civil War and the Spanish War) who had been a nurse in Cuba, the Philippines and, during World War I, in France. The train stopped in Iuka and Corinth, names recalled from the study of American history. There was nothing new about the appearance of either place to indicate to the passenger that they had been scenes of two battles. A supply of box lunches was brought aboard at Corinth—four pieces of chicken, French fries, pickle and pie for only 75 cents. At Iuka, autos, halted because the train blocked the street, had to use brakes to remain motionless on the steep hill. Between the two towns, the woods still grow right down to the railroad right-of-way on both sides—woods that once echoed with the rebel yell and with rifle fire, where clouds of smoke hung and where blood reddened the ground.

Friendship Day Is Observed By Matrons Club

The Weibert Matrons Club held open house for their friends last Thursday at the Weibert Methodist Church. The social committee welcomed and served guests Mrs. H. W. Liles presided at the refreshment table.

Refreshments of punch, canapes, cookies and mints were served from a lace covered table with crystal appointments. Red roses and yucca blossoms were the flower decorations. Mrs. J. A. Mayfield registered guests.

Mrs. Ramon Liles, Club president, greeted the guests and introduced the program director, Mrs. C. T. Jones, who presented Miss Shirley Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sanders, who played two piano solos. Miss Sanders is an eighth grade student in Weibert schools and pianist for the Weibert Baptist Church. She is a talented musician and admirable teenager.

Mrs. Bess C. Porter of Rochester reviewed the book, "The Loving Moulder," by Rosamond Marshall. Mrs. Porter captivated her audience with her genial personality in relating the story.

Mrs. J. C. Mayfield closed the meeting with prayer.

Guests and members present included Mrs. Frances Bowman, A. J. Sanders, Eddie Sanders, Marvin Phenister, Frank Oman, Bailey Guess, Clovis Winchester, H. W. Liles, C. G. Hammer, P. F. Why Higher Taxes?

We need to practice more ECONOMY from Washington to the Precinct level. We need to use and spend our tax dollars as carefully as we do our own money. Without Curtailing Reasonable Service, we can save money in our Precinct.

LET'S SPEND OUR TAX MONEY AT HOME!

All things being equal, we must buy from our own Knox County Merchants.

Dollars And Sense

By Miss S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

How do you manage your food dollar?

Individuals and families differ in the amount of their incomes allow them to spend and in the amount they are willing to spend for food.

Different kinds and types of food of equal nutritional value are available at various prices, making it possible to serve well-balanced meals at several levels of cost.

One way of keeping your spending within the amount you decide to allow for food is to keep this allowance in a separate purse. Each time purchases are made, use only this money.

Another way is to keep track of the amount you actually spend and to compare this with what you planned to spend each week. The easiest way to accomplish this is to save all grocery receipts and total them at the end of each week or other budget period.

Put non-food items in one basket when shopping and food items in another. If the checker makes two lists you will know exactly what you have spent for food.

If you are inexperienced in managing food money, keeping an accurate account of all money spent for food can be helpful along with other good buying methods.

Clean Up Clutter and Car Now

By Martha Johnson
Dodge Safety Consultant

THE FAMILY CAR needs a "housecleaning" this time of the year.

Get rid of the debris under the seat, in the trunk and on the rear window ledge.

Clean out that small library stuffed under the sun visor—receipts, bills, trading stamps...

And have you looked in the glove compartment lately? Discard those old emery boards, crumpled letters and torn, out-of-date road maps. Replace these "treasures" with necessary and useful articles—cleaning fluid and a clean rag or paper towel for the windows, a windshield scraper, flashlight, sunglasses and your automobile registration.

In the trunk, throw out emergency gasoline containers unless they are an approved metal type, painted red with a tight-fitting cap, the youngsters' torn boots, broken sled and sweep out the pine needles from last Winter's Christmas tree.

Put in gloves and a piece of carpet for changing tires and making small repairs, tire jack, a bag of salt or sand for traction on slick surfaces, tools for changing tires. Borrow an idea from experienced truck drivers, and include one of those reflectors he sets out when he is stopped by the side of the road.

You will be surprised, in most cases there is lots of room for all the important items—plus six passengers.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

The indication on the part of the President that he might call Congress into special session this Fall if his program is not enacted into law has brought into a little clearer focus what the possible issues might be this Fall if a special session were called. One of the primary issues no doubt will be the President's displeasure over what now appears to be almost certain reduction in the foreign aid program. This program has been authorized for one more year; however, the real controversy will develop over the appropriations to provide the funds for the program. It now appears reasonably certain that these funds will be reduced substantially below the President's request. Another point at issue will be the request of the President to reinstate the war-time 10% excise tax on telephones and to restore the 5% reduction in the transportation excise tax. Other issues, no doubt, will be the Presidential request for increases in first class and air mail postage and the recommendation of the President for the passage of H. R. 9070 which has to do with picketing in the construction industry. Even though these would be some of the issues that would provoke the calling of a special session, the consensus is that little could be accomplished by reasonable Congress during the Presidential campaign, and if a special session should be called, since it would be preoccupied with the Presidential election, little would be accomplished.

Last week saw several distinguished visitors in Washington. The President of France, Charles De Gaulle received one of the most enthusiastic receptions ever accorded a foreign visitor. President De Gaulle has become a symbol of stability and determination in dealing with the Soviet. He has also done a great deal to restore to the French nation its historic position of leadership to Western Europe. Another guest from a country not as well known to us as France was the King of Nepal. Nepal is next is through the proper amount and use of land, labor, capital and management. Some farmers have the resources to be efficient and others do not, the economist emphasizes. Every farmer should study and evaluate his own resource situation and determine what he should do as a farm manager to stay competitive in a business that is getting more competitive every day.

G. A. Council Meets At O'Brien Church

The Haskell-Knox Associational G. A. Council met with the O'Brien Zion (Latin-American Mission at 10 a. m. Saturday, April 30.

More than 150 junior and intermediate girls and their counselors, directors and W. M. U. sponsors registered at First Church, O'Brien, for a morning program and group conferences. Miss Joy Phillips of Dallas, state G. A. director, was featured speaker for the afternoon meeting in the Mexican Mission Church. "Star Trails" was the theme of the program emphasizing forward steps. Blohm Studio of Haskell sent a photographer to make pictures of the various groups present.

The following churches were represented: Goree, Knox City, Haskell South, Rule, Haskell Calvary, Munday First, O'Brien First, Rochester, Munday Temple, O'Brien Zion, Paint Creek and Weinert.

Farm or ranch buildings or structures to be used as production facilities should be planned carefully before construction begins, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer. Careful planning, he adds, will insure the best possible return on the investment and the maximum in labor saving, both important factors in the ever-increasing cost-price situation faced by agricultural producers.

Farming Becomes More Competitive

The financial position of farmers at the beginning of 1959 was favorable. But now the prospects are less encouraging, reports John McHaney, extension economist. Farm income has dropped substantially from 1958 levels and a further decline is likely in 1960.

Farm assets and equities continued to increase in 1959, but by the lowest percentage since 1955. The rise in farm assets and equities may stop for a time in 1960 or 1961. Also, farm debts rose during 1959 and are likely to increase further in 1960, the economist says.

Even though the farm financial outlook is less favorable, it varies considerably by types of farming and by areas of production. The outlook for operators of the larger and more productive farms and of those operators who have been able to expand their volume of business is much better than for the operators of smaller and less productive farms.

The production and marketing of agricultural products is becoming more and more competitive between farmers and areas of production. Agriculture is becoming more commercialized and specialized with larger investments. This is not only true in agriculture, but also in most businesses outside agriculture, McHaney points out.

One way the individual farmer may solve the price-cost squeeze

Calvert Is Only Candidate With Court Experience

One of the important races to be decided in Saturday's election will be for Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

Associate Justice Robert W. Calvert of Hill County is one of the two candidates for this position.

Judge Calvert has been on the Supreme Court since 1950, and is the only member of the court who is a candidate to succeed the present chief justice, who is retiring, and is the only candidate for chief justice with Supreme Court experience.

"Judge Calvert has served with great distinction as associate justice for almost ten years," Gaynor Kendall of Austin, state campaign manager, said. "He therefore knows from actual experience the additional administrative duties which he must assume as chief justice, and he has demonstrated by his service with the other judges his ability to furnish the leadership the court requires."

Liming Is First Step In Building Fertility Of Soil

A dollar spent for lime will generally return a profit of 5 to 1 in increased grazing, forage or crop yields.

Liming is the first step in building soil fertility, says John Box, assistant extension agronomist. It supplies essential plant foods, such as calcium and magnesium. Liming makes both manure and commercial fertilizers more effective and, therefore, improves plant yields. Most legumes will not grow in soils that are low or deficient in calcium.

Liming granulates the soil, improves tilth and drainage, and speeds the decay of organic matter and formation of humus. There is no substitute for limestone or acid soils, Box emphasizes. Lime used at recommended rates and according to soil test recommendations will increase your yields and profits per acre.

Today's farmer has to be efficient to meet competition and remain in business. If he plans to be in business tomorrow, he must use every known efficient production practice. He must not fail to have his soils tested and use the lime needed to maintain the right PH for the best crop production.

Proper liming can also help slow erosion by wind and water.

How? Liming the soil supplies essential plant nutrients, the agronomist points out. It also makes nutrients already in the soil more available to plants, thus supporting better plant growth. Residues from the increased growth offer protection to the soil from wind and water.

Heavier crop growth breaks up raindrops before they hit the soil. This helps to bind soil particles together so that less soil is carried away by run-off water or blown away by the wind. Box adds that now is the time to lime.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Poisonings, while not a top killer in Texas, claim over 80 lives each year in Texas.

In addition, the dozen poison control centers scattered around the State answer hundreds of urgent pleas for information each month.

Generally, pre-schoolers are the victims. Records indicate that 65 to 70 percent of all poisoning cases reported to poison control centers involve children who are one or two years of age.

The improper usage (not following directions) of medicines cause the greatest percentage of accidental ingestion of poisons, with aspirin overdose heading the list. Sedatives and tranquilizers are close behind.

Petroleum products also claim a high percentage of victims. A

Which wedding gift grows more valuable each year?

Somebody thoughtful remembered them with a Savings Bond—a wonderfully welcome gift for any bride and groom. For security is just as important as the china and furniture and silver they need to start their life together.

And Savings Bonds represent security that grows with safe, sure earnings compounded semiannually. Why not drop into your bank today and order a Bond for the Bridal couple closest to you. For their future—and for your own—there's no finer investment you can make.

Suggestion for June bridegrooms:

One of the easiest and surest ways to provide financial security for your new family is through the convenient Payroll Savings Plan. This Plan does your saving for you—and invests that saving in interest-earning E Bonds. Sign up for it now at your company's pay office. Just tell the people there how much you want to save, and they'll put that amount aside for you each payday. When enough accumulates, they'll buy and turn over to you a Series E Bond. As the Bonds pile up and add their interest to the total, just watch that nest egg grow for the security of your family and your nation.

common cause is children drinking kerosene or gasoline from a soda water bottle.

Deathwise the poisoning picture takes on a slightly different look. According to State Health Department statistics, there were 87 deaths from solid and liquid poisons during 1959.

Aspirins and salicylates led the causes, followed by noxious foodstuffs (toadstools and other poisonous plants).

Barbituates and petroleum product deaths are not as high as some other because prompt medical action is usually successful in saving the victim.

A breakdown of ages in poison deaths shows 17 deaths for children in one-to-four year olds, the age of inquisitive toddlers.

Thirty-one persons between the age of 45 and 64 died from poisoning, most resulting from an overdose of medicines. Least number deaths was in the five to 14 age group, with only one death during 1959.

Additional poisonings during 1959 were attributed to deadly gases. Forty-two deaths were reported during the year.

Death from carbon monoxide was the leading cause, claiming 35 lives.

In nearly all cases of accidental poisoning, negligence or error is the cause. Care should be exercised in the handling of all potential poisonings.

The best rule is to read and follow instructions on the label.

A new water-repellency treatment for cotton developed by USDA chemists, produces an unusual finish that keeps water out but lets air through. Instead of coating the fabric and thus sealing off the tiny open spaces in the weave, as some waterproof finishes do, the chemicals in the new finish penetrate the fibers and make them so highly water-repellent that the fabrics sheds rain. Although the treatment is not yet being used commercially, it looks promising because it is not costly and can be applied with the same equipment used in applying other textile finishes. It can also be applied along with flame-resistant and crease-resistant treatments.

Watershed Projects Show Big Increase

Progress is being made in Texas as well as other states in working to control the loss from floods which affect the economy of the individual landowner as well as the entire watershed. Lynn Pittard, extension specialist in soil and water conservation, said 92 applications by small watershed groups in the State have been approved by the State Soil Conservation Board. This will provide Federal funds for constructing flood control structures.

Of the 92, 20 have been approved and authorized for operations and 6 are presently in the process of planning. Acreage in the watersheds range from 20,000 to 240,000 and the number of structures required per watershed vary from 2 to 40. Pittard said the average cost per structure has been estimated at $50,000.

Assistance is provided for under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act passed by the Federal Congress in 1954. Pittard pointed out that under terms of the Act, local landowners pay for operation and maintenance of the projects while the Federal government provides funds for the structures. The projects are initiated and administered by local organizations with the USDA providing technical assistance, cost sharing and credit in accordance with mutually agreed upon plans.

Leadership and group action on the local level is a must even before assistance is asked for under this program. Local soil conservation district supervisors can supply all details on procedures for obtaining this assistance. Pittard added that local county agents also have information on the program and information on other ways and means of financing small watershed projects.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Coody visited their children, Mr. and Mrs. Weidon Herring and son and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paul Coody, in Abilene last Sunday.

The all-expense Chicago trip she was awarded by the Simplicity Pattern Co. for rating tops in the Texas 4-H dress revue seemed a part of Annie Lou Williams' birthday celebration. The brown-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy N. Williams, of Raymondville, turned 18 Nov. 28.

The 38th National 4-H Club Congress she attended was held Nov. 29-Dec. 3. Here she also modeled her prize winning dress of blue wool. It featured a bateau neckline and belted tabs that criss-cross slightly above the waist in front.

The nine-year 4-H'er has held almost every office in the Community 4-H Club as well as several county, district and state posts, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

Miss Williams is a senior honor student at Raymondville High school, where she is president of the student council.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Loses Interest Fast In New Drug Making A Man Run A Mile In Three Minutes

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek seems disturbed this week over a new drug he has read about.

Dear Editor:
Of all the things scientists could be doing for man in a beneficial sort of way, I am constantly amazed at the number of side roads they're always running down.

For example, last night I read in a newspaper that science is working on a new drug to get more physical energy out of a man. As I understand it, some scientists believe man is capable of a lot more work than he's putting out now, and this new drug aims at "helping him tap this great inner reserve of physical power."

Why, one scientist said, "the new drug now being perfected should allow a man to run the mile in three minutes." Around four is the record now.

This is the sort of thing I'm talking about. Of all the goals science could point toward, I

Fishermen Don't Harvest Enough Fish From Lakes

Research has shown fisheries biologists that to maintain desirable fish populations, each year's crop of fish must be harvested either by fishermen or by some other means. Billy D. Cooper, aquatic biologist for the Game and Fish Commission, makes this statement in his very educational article, "Fish or Fishermen," in the April issue of the Game and Fish.

Sheldon Reservoir was the site for much of this research. It is the first lake of its size to be owned by the Commission. Since the Commission has complete authority over the lake, it decided to use these waters for experimental game management practices. Regulations on the lake were changed each year to give fishermen a chance to harvest more fish.

The size limit of large-mouth bass was removed, then the possession limit was raised and fishing hours were increased, and finally outboard motors were permitted on the lake. Biologists tried just about everything to help fishermen catch more fish. They worked with the water levels, removed undesirable species by nets and chemicals, controlled noxious vegetation, and even baited the piers.

"The only apparent conclusion which can be drawn from the work thus far at Sheldon," writes Cooper, "is that the average fisherman with a pole and line, in most cases, cannot adequately harvest the fish that are produced in our lakes each year, whether additional fish are stocked or not."

Little Miss Valerie Kay Scott of Wichita Falls is here for an extended visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips.

Texas Fifth In Trained Teachers

Austin — In five years Texas has dropped from second to fifth place in the percentage of college trained teachers in its elementary schools, latest national rankings show.

Oklahoma now leads the nation with 99.6 of its elementary teachers having four or more years of college. Arizona, Florida, and New Mexico also lead Texas, which is fifth with 95.6 per cent.

Both the border states of Oklahoma and New Mexico, as well as nearby Arizona, have higher average teacher salaries than Texas.

In 1953-54 Texas was in second place. At that time, Arizona was first and Oklahoma was down in seventh position.

By 1958-59, the latest figures available, Oklahoma had vaulted to first place on the strength of higher requirements and better salaries. Only 80 of Oklahoma's 21,400 teachers do not have at least a bachelor's degree.

In Texas, records of the Texas Education Agency reveal that 1,772 out of the $2,088 total public school personnel did not have a college diploma in 1958-59. The majority of those were in the grades one through eight, where 1,599 teachers out of 40,828 failed to have degrees.

National rankings deal only with elementary teachers and with those having four or more years of college preparation, irrespective of degrees.

Mrs. R. M. Almanrode accompanied her sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Partridge of Bowie and Mrs. Grace Humphries of Oklahoma City last Friday for Redlands, Calif., where they attended the funeral of their brother, A. S. Horton, on Monday.

Miss Dicky Ann Jungman of Seymour is spending a few days this week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jungman, while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Jungman, are attending a Knights of Columbus convention in Austin.

Johnny Phillips visited his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Scott and Valerie Kay, in Wichita Falls last Monday and Tuesday.

Dairymen who select good breeding stock and use better feeding methods to promote rapid growth can expect more profitable returns through earlier maturity and heavier milk production, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman.

But dairymen who buy replacements for their herds generally cannot expect to increase their herds production level much higher than the level of the herds from which the replacements were bought, he adds.
