THE SEA AND THE FARMER

"The sea has never been more important to the American farmer than it is today. Over it, ships are transporting a record volume of his production and providing the means whereby foreign suppliers are able to exchange goods with us."

That statement was made by Clarence Miller, Assistant Secretary for Marketing and Foreign Agriculture, U. S. Department of Agriculture. And the facts back him up. In a recent year, for instance, our farm exports were worth nearly $4 billion, and equaled one-twelfth of the value of all farm products sold.

Moreover, farmers far from any ocean share to the full in this trade. A recent survey covered the six states of the Rocky Mountain Empire. The farmers of the Empire averaged annual per capita earnings of $3,200. And about 500 of this—one-sixth of the whole—could be credited to exports.

Imports are the other side of the coin. Every housewife uses a lengthy list of them—bananas, coffee, tea, silk, and so on. And our nation's dependence on imports is growing steadily. The reason: We have less than 10 per cent of the Free World's population, yet we are consuming raw materials faster than all the Free World's nations combined.

Here are some of the reasons, finally, why official U. S. policy has long called for the maintenance of a first-class U. S. flag merchant marine.

WHEN YOU SAY "FILL 'ER UP"

When you drive your car into a service station and say "fill 'er up" various people and organizations get a slice of the money you spend. The oil producer is one, as is the refiner, the wholesaler, and the dealer.

But, believe it or not, none of these gets the biggest slice. That slice goes to government.

The statistical story is a simple one. The average gasoline tax in this country is now 10.12 cents a gallon. That amounts to 48 per cent of the retail price of the gasoline itself. In 20 states the figure exceeds 50 per cent. The most extreme luxuries don't carry that heavy a tax. And gasoline is an absolute, basic necessity.

But, if some have their way, matters will get still worse. For instance, there's a move afoot in Washington to further increase the federal gas tax. And there are strong indications of an attempt to wench on the promise that last year's allegedly "temporary gas tax boost will expire in 1961.

The moral is plain. Motorists had better start protesting now and keep on protesting if they want to keep from being gouged even more and forced to reduce the use of their cars because of high gasoline taxes.

AFTER THOUSANDS OF YEARS

The newspapers of the country have plenty of competition from newer media of communication, notably TV. And they're meeting it by doing a better job.

The Rayville, Louisiana, Beacon-News reports on some facts produced by the Newsprint Information Committee. It says: "American newspapers gave their readers more news and features—about 260,000 tons more measured in newsprint—in 1959 than ever before.

"Among the nation's biggest newspapers in 39 cities increases in advertising and editorials averaged three pages . . . Over a wider area, including smaller cities, dailies increased by two pages during the year for a total of 37 pages per issue. And, certainly among the nation's weeklies, semi-weeklies and tri-weeklies, the story is one of similar expansion."

Beginning with stone tablets, reading has been around a good many thousand years. And it's here to stay!

GOOSE PLUCKERS

"There are many ways to kill the goose that lays the golden egg. Plucking him alive to make featherbeds for unproductive workers is a favorite method of those politicians who confuse 'liberalism' with reckless spending of other peoples' money."

"That's the sort of political philosophy which is torturing and relentlessly weakening our once sturdy American economic goose." — Tallahassee, Fla., Democrat.

"We have staked the whole future of American civilization, not upon the power of government, far from it. We have staked the future of all of our political institutions upon the capacity of each and all of us to govern ourselves, to control ourselves, to sustain ourselves according to the Ten Commandments of God." — James Madison.

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By HAROLD C. PADEN

The Greek word, "evangelion" (gospel in English) means "good news." One may wonder what is good about the tragic crucifixion of a Young Man who was brutally flogged and nailed to a wooden cross to die in the blazing sun? It is easy to see the injustice of it, but Christians see more than the cruel death of an innocent young man at the hands of the wicked and unscrupulous—after all, that has happened a number of times in this sorry world. Christians see a deliberate Act of God, a part of a Divine Plan, in it. You see "God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself" (II Cor. 5). In order to appreciate the real heroism and the real tragedy of it one must understand the "bitter" necessity of it.

To do this, we must stop skirting round the edges of the Christian Faith by thinking of God as some vague distant Benevolence, or a Tyrant, a Killjoy, but One with a real love for us humans, (I Jno. 3:1-3). Once we have grown-up ideas about God we see a moral gulf separating us from God. The difference between us and God is not merely an intellectual one—it is not that God is infinitely wise and we, by comparison, blundering sapheads, ('tho this is true) — it is rather a moral difference. You and I, with our failures and sins, as well as by the infection of the sins of other people, recognize a chasm between the Beauty, and Perfection of the Holiness of God.

All serious faiths recognize this and attempt some bridgehead, but just as it is impossible to build a bridge across a chasm without starting from both sides, so it is impossible in this matter of a moral gulf to do more than erect a painful and desperate bridgehead, unless Someone is building from the other side. That is precisely what we believe Christ did for us men. He built the Bridge to open the gulf between God and man. "God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself." It is not difficult to hurl defiance at a high and mighty pure God who, secure in His majesty, makes us mortals feel guilty and afraid. But it is impossible to be unmoved when we see our very Creator down in the sweat and dust of this world, willing to "become sin, who knew no sin" and gave His life to show us Himself to be Love.

MIXED-QUALITY COTTON LOSSES

Well in advance of the beginning of another ginning season, it might be well for Texas cotton growers to consider and remember the results of a recent study on money losses resulting from mixed-quality cotton bales. The study was made by the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and showed that in a single season cotton farmers lost an estimated $2,400,000 because of mixed quality bales. The AMS found the situation basically to be this: When cotton is sampled for grading, a small amount of lint is taken from each side of the bale, and both parts are classified. If the quality is different on the two sides, the farmer is paid on the basis of the lower quality — even though most of the bale may be higher. Cotton shippers also lost money in payments to warehousemen for special handling of the mixed bales. Some warehouses reopened the bales, resampled, and rebaled them with the low-quality lint removed. Usually, the benefits were not enough to defray the costs.

AMS reported most frequently it is the ginners who get the blame for mixed bales because they often combine cotton from two different growers, but the study showed actually that it is the farmer who is most often responsible. It was found that 61 per cent of the mixed-quality bales was brought to the gins as mixed seed cotton, with only 39 per cent being mixed by the gins.

The problem of mixed-quality cotton, of course, can never be entirely eliminated because it is impossible for farmers always to bring in loads with the same quality of cotton throughout. Weather causes certain differences, and cotton from two different fields may have to be combined to make up a load.

However, the AMS made two principal suggestions: First, farmers can be more careful to reduce mixing cotton of different qualities, and, second, ginners in starting a new bale should see to it that their presses are not turned before all of the cotton from one farmer's load has been baled.

During one recent season, it was estimated that nearly half a million bales of cotton were of mixed quality. About 70 per cent of these came from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, where only 37 per cent of the year's production was ginned. All other states showed considerably less than the national average of mixed quality bales, which amounted to only 3.4 per cent of total ginners.

The engine is Chevy's famous Thriftmaster 6!

Chevy hums through Chicago traffic to the tune of 21 miles to the gallon!

Working for Bumper and Auto of Illinois, Inc., ten 1960 Chevrolet pickups battle Chicago traffic day after day. Each truck averages about 2,000 miles a month in this wearing stop-and-start delivery service. Mr. Harry Haller, General Manager of S & H Truck Leasing, who leases the trucks to the bumper firm, reports: "We provide full maintenance on the trucks—gas, oil and everything else—so it pays us to know just where we stand on costs. And our records show that the '60 Chevies are giving us as much as 21 miles per gallon . . . with an average of better than 17 miles per gallon. Mister, these are our kind of trucks!"

Truck owners have good things to say about all Chevy engines. And when they're not talking about Chevrolet performance and economy, they're telling you how great that new Torsion-Spring Ride is. How it soaks up road shock and vibration. Protects fragile loads. Lets you run at faster, safe speeds to get more work done in a day. Drive a torsion-spring Chevy soon. We'll rest our case on that one ride.

Dollars And Sense

By Miss S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

What makes a good buy? Be sure that the article you are considering is the one that will best serve your needs.

Be alert to price: Compare prices of the same article at different places—it's one way of making sure that your money does the most for you.

Compare quality: Although the costs of raw materials, production, and distribution help to determine retail price, it is misleading to assume that a high price automatically insures high quality or that a low price means low quality.

Establish your limits: Consider the amount you have allowed for individual items in each of your budget groupings. Checking buy budget groupings, checking buying guides and watching ads can help you set your requirements as far as cost is concerned and keep you from being swayed by items outside your budget range.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Welch and daughters of Wichita Falls visited Mr. and Mrs. James Welch and James last Sunday afternoon.

Official Texas Highway Travel Map Available

AUSTIN—Texas' Official Highway Travel Map, 1960-style, is now available to the general public. Free copies of the big, colorful map may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, or at the highway district offices and travel bureaus. County tax offices have map cards on hand for requesting copies of the map.

The map reflects 1,933 miles of multilane-divided highway now completed, and includes the finished sections of the seven National System of Interstate and Defense Highways located in the state. More than 1,500 farm-to-market road miles have been added to this year's map. Approximately 30,000 miles of the state's 30,000-mile Farm-to-Market Road System are shown on the map. All of the 26,378 miles of State and U. S. highways are shown.

Three new lakes have been added to the 1960 Travel Map, bringing the total shown in the major-lakes-and-reservoirs category to 64. New water attractions recorded are Buffalo Lake in Lubbock County; Champion Creek Lake in Mitchell County; and Lake Tawakoni in Hunt, Rains, and Van Zandt Counties. Countless rivers, creeks, and streams are also charted on the Travel Map.

The 816 roadside parks pegged on the map are those having full picnic facilities. Their locations are marked by a green dot. State Parks are indicated by a green triangle.

"All of Texas Welcomes You" banners the pictorial side of the map—reflecting, in eleven full-color pictures, some of the outstanding recreational, scenic, and historical attractions in Texas. A section entitled "Facts About Texas" telescopes information on Texas' terrain, history, and industrial and recreational diversity.

Cities and towns shown on the map total 1,826. City route maps for the state's twelve largest cities are also included—Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Waco, and Wichita Falls.

More than half a million Official Highway Travel Maps of the 1959 edition have been distributed in-state, out-of-state, and to dozens of foreign countries.

The map is used by all state and governmental agencies in the state for determining official highway distances, mileages, zones, and like information.

Tax-Man Sam Sez:

Very few people will argue with you that the United States is a great country. Neither will most people argue with you that Americans are great people (except a few soreheads). The factor that proves the greatness of the American people, more than any other thing, is the voluntary self-assessment income tax system we have in the United States.

When nearly all of our taxpayers voluntarily pay a large part of their income to support the necessary activities of our government it proves that our people are law-abiding, worthy citizens. April 15 should be set aside not as a day to call IRS vile names but as National Taxpayers Day to honor Millions of taxpayers who voluntarily do their part to maintain our great country.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker and daughters, Mary Beth and Patricia, of Chicago, Ill., are visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mayes and Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Baker this week.

An Accident Can Take Farm Profits

There isn't any profit in farm accidents, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. The Council goes on to say that it is difficult to place a dollar value on the cost of a farm accident because there are many indirect as well as direct costs which must be taken into account.

The costs of farm work accidents—like an iceberg—are largely hidden. The small portion of the iceberg above the water line can represent the direct costs which in case of a farm accident will be largely medical.

The large portion of the iceberg below the water line represents the indirect or hidden costs. Some of these indirect costs are: time lost by the injured worker, cost of hired help to do the necessary farm work, possible loss of farm crops due to delay in harvesting, and damage to farm equipment.

In addition to these monetary costs, there is the physical suffering, discomfort and inconvenience associated with every major accident.

The Council hastens to remind farm families that farm and home accidents are preventable. Farm profits, they add, can be increased by reducing the number of accidents on the farm.

MRS. BAIRD'S ENRICHED BREAD

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

There were only three dissenting votes in last weeks passage by the House of Representatives of the Department of Defense Appropriation bill for fiscal year 1961. The bill provides appropriations totaling $38,337,867,000. This figure does not include military construction or assistance.

Budget estimate changes by the House included speedup programs for Polaris submarines, Minuteman missiles and space projects such as the Midas, Samos and Discoverer. It appropriated funds for high priority equipment for Army modernization and maintained the Army National Guard and Reserve strengths.

Reductions were made to curtail abuses in travel, consolidation of communication facilities that will promote more economic procurement practices in the Army as well as general procurement. It practically eliminated the financing for the Bomarc missile.

It is interesting to note that the bill as passed by the House appropriated for the Army, including the National Guard and Reserve, $88,440,000 more than the budget request; that the appropriations for the Navy is $84,675,000 more than the budget request; that the appropriation for the Air Force is $153,248,000 less than the budget request and is $17,000,000 below the budget request for the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

In the final analysis, the bill provides for $2,867,000 above the original budget request and $121,967,000 above the budget as unofficially amended. Primarily responsible for this increase was $307,688,000 for research, development, test and evaluation to provide an adequate deterrent against war.

This appropriation bill amounts to about 50% of the total budget estimates for the year 1961. The Congress cannot in good faith rush the consideration of such bills as recently requested by the president. Many hours were spent by the Committee on Appropriations before reporting this bill to the House of Representatives for a vote. Millions of dollars are saved annually by careful scrutiny of such bills.

Other appropriation bills, not nearly so large but equally subject to careful study, have been passed by the House and will soon be completed by the Senate. To date, twelve major appropriation bills have been passed by the House of Representatives and six have been passed by the Senate with five of these agreed to by the House and Senate Conferees.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. L. C. Slimp, Jr., of Decatur and Gainesville, Mr. L. C. Slimp, Sr., of Decatur; Mr. Netum A. Steed, Mr. George W. Anderson, Mrs. Peery Hancock and Mrs. W. Eland Omohundro of Wichita Falls.

M/Sgt. and Mrs. Glen Ray Morrow, who have been stationed in Abilene, left last Monday for Dover, Del. where he will be stationed, after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Stubblefield, and other relatives.

Press Magazine Wins 3 Awards

ABILENE — West Texas Publisher, the magazine of the West Texas Press Assn., has won three awards from the Texas Women's Press Assn. for Mrs. R. F. Mahood, editor of The Publisher.

TWPA presented Mrs. Mahood a first place scroll for editing a magazine of special interest (The Publisher), a second place award for a feature story in the same magazine, and a third place award for a news story in the publication. She also received a first place for a publicity and promotion brochure prepared for Hardin-Simmons University.

The former associate editor of the Stamford American, Mrs. Mahood now is assistant to the director of public relations at Hardin-Simmons and is director of promotional publications for H-SU.

Her prize winning feature story dealt with her feelings about leaving the newspaper field last summer to join the public relations staff at Hardin-Simmons. Although she had left newspaper work, she was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the West Texas Press Assn. at its annual meeting last August, and also was chosen to continue editorship of The Publisher, which is issued monthly.

The new awards lengthen a chain started by Mrs. Mahood when she was associated with the Stamford American. She won the top award for the best news story in a weekly paper in Texas for three years and on the national level one year. She also has won a first, second and third in the state in other fields such as news stories in daily papers, feature writing, and women's page editing.

In 1954 when she won the first place award in both state and national contests, Mrs. Mahood also was honored as Woman of the Year in Stamford. She was connected with The American for 25 years prior to joining the H-SU staff. She is a former president of the Texas Women's Press Assn.

In Fort Smith, Ark., in 1925, gathering material for an article, I visited the police station and an old-time officer, learning I was from Texas, asked if I'd ever been in Comanche. He remarked, "The last time I was there, five bodies were laying on the courthouse square."

Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth used to be sports editor in Abilene. While attending high school, he wrote a sports article which won second place in a Texas contest—and first in a national contest.

Big Spring used to be the location of a big spring. (I am told) but it disappeared. Tired of having so many visitors ask where the spring was, citizens, back in the 1930's built one.

Neon signs are all right but they can't compare with that new-vanished sign in San Antonio, showing a cowboy roping a steer.

Post was named for C. W. Post, the cereal king ("grape-nuts" was one of his products).

Iris Speaker, one of the all-time greats of baseball—was born (the old record book said) in Hubbard City—only don't call it that to an inhabitant; he'll tell you the name is Hubbard.

And people who lived in the general Brown—Eastland counties' area referred to a place as Maytown, which always seemed to displease the residents, who called it May. The late Mark Mc-Gee, Fort Worth attorney, who had one of the keenest senses of humor I've ever known, was from there and so was W. R. Chambers, one of the most esteemed members of the legislature in his day.

Strawn is said to have had—at one time—the largest number of fine homes of any city between Fort Worth and El Paso. This was early in the century when coal mining was in full swing and also several rich ranch families lived there.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own!

Vernice Lambeth, who underwent heart surgery two weeks ago in the Baylor Hospital in Dallas, was able to return to his home in Goree the latter part of last week. He is reported to be getting along fine.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank my many friends for their kindness during my stay in the Baylor Hospital in Dallas. Your prayers, flowers, cards, phone calls and field work meant so much to me. Special thanks to the blood donors. God bless each of you.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Brings Up Some Unanswerable Questions About Spies And Who Owns The Sky

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has heard about the spy trouble, but it's hard to see where he sheds any light on it.

Dear Editor: I have been thinking long and hard over the big spy question and so far I haven't come to any valuable conclusions, other than it might be better to spy with an atomic-powered submarine instead of an airplane, the kind of sub that just spent three months under water without coming up traveling around the earth. You may not see as much as you do from an airplane, but it's a whole lot safer.

On the other hand, the problem of who owns the sky has been engaging my thoughts, and while it's a hard problem, it's not as hard as farming.

You take my farm out here. My deed says I own the land and everything under it, and my neighbors own everything under theirs, but if you stop and think, you know that the deeper in the ground you go, the less you own, if the world is really round. The nearer you approach the center of the earth, the narrower your wedge of earth becomes, until finally, when everybody's property line reaches the center, everybody is squabbling over a pinpoint piece of ground. Wonder what Mr. Khrushchev has to say about this?

Now you take the sky above my farm, I don't know exactly where the sky begins, but I know

"Who owns the Electric Company?"

A lot of our own customers can't answer that one. But there's certainly no secret about it.

The electric company is owned by people. Thousands of people, like you, who invest their money and help the company to grow.

Your electric company is not owned or run by the city. Not by the state either. Not by any kind of government. It is an independent business.

That's an important reason why you get the best possible electric service at such a low price.

Retired Munday Doctor Just "Horses Around" With His Big Hobby-Horses

Editor's Note: The following article by Ray Gambill, staff writer for the Wichita Falls Times, is being reprinted for whatever interest it may have for our readers:

Riding horses, caring for them and "tearing around town" in his pickup truck are principal past-times of Arthur Augustus Smith, 75, retired Munday physician.

Dr. Smith, retired 10 years, prides himself in nine Quarter Horses he keeps on a 1,000-acre farm southeast of here.

The animals are kept on a portion of Dr. Smith's farm which he has named "Old Fort Smith." A dilapidated rent house containing old Indian relics, ancient furniture and a home-made "cannon" that sits in front of the structure gives the "fort" title significance, too.

Dr. Smith and his wife, Nannie Beatrice, live in what formerly was the Munday Sanatorium, constructed by the physician in 1913.

Son of Dr. John R. Smith, pioneer physician of this area, Dr. Smith is 76 years old.

although he retired in 1950 because of health and a hearing defect.

"I didn't want to worry my patients," he smiled.

Still Railroad Surgeon

Dr. Smith is "railroad surgeon," a position he's held since 1906. Railroad surgeons care for railroad employees during emergencies.

Smith, who'll be 77 August 21, was born in Mt. Pleasant, Tex. His twin sister, Mrs. Annie Augusta Stone, died several years ago.

The Smith family moved to Hall County in 1888 and to Seymour in 1891 when the railroad was established there. The family moved to Goree in the spring of 1892 and to Munday a few years later.

Dr. Smith and his sister's late husband, Dr. Frank Stone, were sent to Medical Department of old Fort Worth University by Smith's father.

Dr. Smith graduated from the Fort Worth school in 1905 and received an internship at South McAlester, Okla., for making the highest grade in surgery.

"In 1906, my father told me to come to Munday. The railroad had just got here and the town was booming. Father said there were already seven doctors practicing here," Dr. Smith recalled.

Smith and his father practiced together about 10 years, when the elder Dr. Smith retired. He died in 1930.

Swimming House Calls

Smith constructed the sanatorium shortly before his father retired and accepted Dr. Judd Hammond as a partner. The two practiced together until 1918, when Dr. Hammond became a U. S. Marine physician.

During his long career as a physician, Dr. Smith encountered several unusual experiences.

"I swam the Brazos River more than once trying to get to my patients," he smiled.

"A lot of times I'd just fasten my medical bag to the top of the saddle and let my horse swim across the river. I'd hang on to his tail," Dr. Smith chuckled.

Another unusual experience occurred when Dr. Smith was on his way to administer aid to an expectant mother.

"I was driving along by Johnson Cemetery in my Model A and saw a wheel jumping tombstones before I realized it was off my car. I managed to find all the lugs except one, put the wheel back on and made it to the patient okay," he smiled.

Among unusual cases he treated was a woman who some thought was afflicted with typhoid.

"She had a tapeworm 62 feet long," he laughed.

Eye Specialist

Dr. Smith credits his father with much of his success in the medical field.

"Father was the first early day physician in this area to remove an eye cataract. Patients used to come far and wide for cataract treatment. Mrs. A. Parr, a woman who had been virtually blind 25 years because of a cataract, was his first such patient," Dr. Smith remembered.

Both Dr. Smith and his father did post-graduate work at a New York university.

Smith estimated he delivered between 1,500 and 2,000 babies during his career.

In his younger years, Dr. Smith was known as "Racehorse" by friends.

"I used to be a pretty good sprinter. I also played baseball. A lot of guys wouldn't play unless they could be pitcher, but I played catcher and third base," he recalled.

"The only game I ever pitched, I didn't allow a batter to reach first," he added.

"I used to play golf, but now I spend most of my time with my horses," Dr. Smith said.

Smith just "horses around" with his horses.

"I don't raise them to show, only for my personal enjoyment. Probably his most famous horse was "Dan Waggoner," who died several years ago at the age of 30.

"At one time, Dan was listed in the Quarter Horse Journal as second in the world, according to number of registered Quarter Horses sired," Dr. Smith beamed.

Few Cattle

"I like high-quality animals. Several years ago, I gave away a herd of about 100 just to get better ones," he explained.

In addition to his horses, Dr. Smith has about 10 head of cattle.

Dr. and Mrs. Smith recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Smith and her sister, Mrs. Effie Alexander, operate a hat shop here.

Their home was given a "plantation" look several years ago when Dr. Smith installed tall pillars on the front. He purchased the pillars for $50 apiece from an Abilene family which razed a mansion.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have three children. They are Mrs. John Mace, Spokane, Wash.; Mrs. Maurysse Flanklock, Snyder, Tex., and Arthur A. Jr., Munday, manager of Graham Elevator.

A member of the First Baptist Church, Smith was county food administrator in 1918, past member of the Munday Chamber of Commerce and a member of the state and county medical societies.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

They're some great times ahead for Texas' swimming enthusiasts. They've got 13,000 pools to choose from, and the season is right at hand.

And things stand to break even better for the wet set in days to come. According to the National Swimming Pool Institute, Texas will have some 50,000 pools in 1970, almost quadruple the present number.

But play for plungers means work for someone else, namely State Health Department engineers and local health department sanitarians who sponsor training courses for pool managers and personnel from border to border.

The Department began its voluntary program of training operators in 1956. Day-long courses are held at various points throughout the State, and cover such divers subjects as chlorination, filtration and sanitation.

So far 1,216 pool operators have been certified by the Department through the medium of short schools. Others will be added to the certified list by summer's end.

It's all in the interest of healthful recreation.

Four Texas cities with suitable meat inspection ordinances and inspection programs meeting State specifications have qualified under the new joint municipal-State cooperative meat inspection program.

County Democrats Pledge Support To Johnson; Name Delegates To Convention

BENJAMIN — Pledging their support to Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Knox County Democrats also commended Mrs. Frankie Randolph of Houston, state DOT leader as a "true Democrat" Saturday.

However, the county convention refused to support Mrs. Randolph long at political odds with Johnson, for renomination as national committeewoman from Texas. The liberal Democrats of Texas followers have been avoiding endorsing Johnson as a presidential nominee, saying only they would support the party standard bearer.

In other convention action, the unit rule was adopted, along with several others and a Knox County platform was adopted, in addition to selecting delegates to the state convention in Austin June 14.

Bill Sams of Knox City was elected permanent chairman and Jack Barker permanent secretary County Chairman Collins Moorhouse said.

Sams, Sam Leaverton of Benjamin and C. E. Williams of Knox City were named delegates to the state convention. Alternates are Jack Arledge, Doyle Graham and B. B. Campbell Jr., all of Knox City.

Two other resolutions passed included abolishing district caucuses from electing officials to the state committee, and allowing each alternate an equal voice in deciding questions before the delegation. The group also pledged to support the Democratic party nominees in the November elections.

The adopted county platform calls for all control of public education to be vested in local and state government; segregation to be continued in public schools at

Fishermen Caught Without Licenses

Warnings failed and 141 fishermen paid fines in Texas during April for not having a fishing license. This is shown in the violations report of the law enforcement director of the Game and Fish Commission.

Night hunting in game areas also brought arrest of 24 persons. In all, game wardens made 274 arrests. The courts collected $6,243.75 in fines and costs.

The director warned again that all persons between 17 and 65 who fish outside their home counties, or who fish with a rod and reel, must have a license. Persons over 65 are entitled to exemption.

LITTLE SISTER ARRIVES

I am Kenny Searcey, 21 months old, and I want to tell you about my little sister. Me and my mother were here from Dallas visiting my grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Delmon Alexander a few days when my mommy had to go to the Knox County Hospital and get my little sister. She made her arrival at 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 10, 1960. She only weighed 4 pounds and 15 and three fourths ounces and had to be put in the incubator for a few days and she will have to stay in the hospital for a while longer. Her name is Tonja Suzette and mother and me can hardly wait for the doctor to let us bring her home. Our daddy is Kenneth Searcey and we all live in Dallas. Our other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Searcey, live in Dallas too.

HOME ON LEAVE

2nd Lt. Garry Offutt, who has been stationed at McClellan Air Force Base in California, came in last Sunday for a three weeks visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Offutt, and other relatives and friends. Gary is a nuclear chemist and will be sent to Japan when his leave is up to continue his work there.
