Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Last week members of the Munday Fire Department urged citizens to use caution in burning trash around their premises, as the alleys and vacant lots are just right for burning in a big way, and fires may easily get out of control.

Since then, firemen have made a number of calls to put out grass fires. One time in particular, all three fire trucks answered a call.

We thought we were using caution last Friday, in that we decided to burn our trash before dark, like the firemen suggested. We centered our trash barrel in a somewhat barren spot and set fire to the trash. We returned to the house after another wastebasket of trash, but delayed to get a smattering of what was on TV.

Soon the Mrs. hollered "You've got a fire out here!" We found the fire just about to get a good headway, and as we approached the scene, she had poked a garden hose through the fence, which we used effectively, saving the fire department at least one call!

Almost every alley and vacant lot in town is in the same shape as ours—where the least spark will set off a fire. And if it's a windy day—and most every one is—the fire can get out of control in seconds.

Yep, the town is just good and ripe for grass fires, with that wild rye, or rescue grass, or whatever it is, looking pretty much like wheat fields. The town's ripe for a good cleanup drive, too.

The cleanup drive sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, with the City of Munday and the fire department cooperating, gets under way next Monday—which is Memorial Day. We could make it a memorable day by starting one of the most comprehensive cleanup campaigns staged here in recent years.

Munday needs a big cleanup, plowup, burnup drive—but let's burn under the supervision of the fire department. Both the residential and business sections of the town are asked to cooperate and clean the town up. Make it a place that will receive the comments, rather than the criticism, of summer laborers and vacationers who happen to be with us for a little spell.

Someone asked us the other day if we thought it was going to rain. We replied: "I don't know whether I want a rain or not." Rain is something we need pretty badly, except for the fact that our wheat crop is just right for harvesting.

But in recent weeks, almost every rain that visits any portion of the state is accompanied by high winds, tornadoes and hail, which combination results in severe damage. That is something that we don't want, and that's why we made the statement. If we must have the storms and hail along with the moisture, maybe we'd be better off without the rain. But that's just the matter of one person's opinion.

Combines have been standing by for about two weeks, and wheat farmers scan the threatening clouds with apprehension right at this time. We've hardly ever harvested a wheat crop in this area without having some damage to the grain by wind, rain and hail before the harvest is over.

There was more than usual activity around the city hall the first of this week. Having forgotten the purpose of it, we noticed a number of cars parked facing the hall, and two or three groups of men conversing around. The newspaperman's curiosity finally got the best of us, so we inquired and were reminded the equalization board was in session.

So brisk was the business during Tuesday that the board failed to get it all transacted with their "customers" and had to carry on through Wednesday. As in everybody's business, money is needed to carry on the business of the city and school, and taxes are the means of raising most of this money.

We're told that there are two sure things in life—death and taxes—and some believe that taxes will be the death of us yet!

Joe Lynn McMahon Presented Annual C. C. Scholarship Award; 11th Boy To Win

Winner of the 14th annual Munday Chamber of Commerce $100 scholarship award is Joe Lynn McMahon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. McMahon of Munday.

Presented to him by Travis Lee on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Joe Lynn received the award at last Friday night's graduation exercises. The award came as a complete surprise to him, since no one except the judges are aware of the winner until graduation night.

Joe Lynn became the eleventh boy to receive this award. It was first presented to Miss Carolyn Hannah in 1947, and since that time two other girls have received the award. The award is based upon good citizenship, extra curricular activities, outstanding scholarship, and proposed college attendance.

In a letter to Joe Lynn informing him of the award, Goodson Sellers, president of the Munday C. C., said in part:

"The purpose of this scholarship is to encourage students to work for an academic record, and to assist them in the continuance of their education. We are proud of your scholastic record in Munday High School, and in view of your excellent grades, and also in your participation in extra-curricular activities, we feel you merit this award. You have been an inspiration to those in school, as well as in our community, and we trust this shall be of benefit to you in helping you attain the successful goal you so richly deserve."

Bill Wright To Preach At Local Church On Sunday

During the recent revival meeting at the First Methodist Church of Munday, William H. (Bill) Wright surrendered for the Methodist ministry. He has been considering the possibility of entering the ministry for some time.

Next Sunday, May 29, at the 10:55 a.m. worship service of the local church, Mr. Wright will preach his first sermon.

His plans as yet are incomplete as to when he will begin his schooling, but an early entrance in McMurry College in Abilene is contemplated.

Mr. Wright was born and reared in this area, having attended the O'Brien Public Schools through the tenth grade. He moved to Hale Center, where he graduated from high school, after which he spent seven years in the U. S. Air Force.

Upon receiving his discharge, he entered the field of electronics and is presently employed as service man with Strickland's Radio and T. V. Service in Munday, moving here in 1954.

Mr. Wright is an active member of the Methodist Church, was recently elected as charge lay leader for 1960-61, and has been serving as chairman of the "Fisherman's Club" for the past year. He is a tenor in the church choir and is active in the Methodist Men's Club and the Bateman Sunday School Class.

His wife, Mrs. Peggy Wright, is a native of Gonzales, where she graduated from high school. She, too, is quite active in the church and is presently serving as director of the Vacation Church School. She has served as nursery home visitor and was leader of the Monday afternoon friendship groups during the past year. She is active in the W. S. C. S. and church school.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend the 11:55 service next Sunday.

Things To Do For Cleanup Drive

Sponsors of the city-wide cleanup drive, which opens Monday, have listed ten items each individual might need to do to make the town a better looking place to live, in addition to removing fire hazards and control flies and mosquitoes. Here they are:

1. Repair screen windows and doors.
2. Provide refuse can, and dis-infect regularly.
3. Cover garbage and trash container.
4. Remove empty cans that provide breeding places for mosquitoes.
5. Clean surroundings near garbage cans.
6. Clean and rake weeds and grass around buildings.
7. Check attics, basements and storage rooms for fire hazards.
8. Check electric wiring and outlets.
9. Place cartons of trash near regular pickup stations.
10. For unusual amounts of trash, call city hall for removal.

Johnson Offers A Solution For Water Shortage

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson recently called for immediate action to answer the threat of a national water shortage.

In a weekly radio report recorded for broadcast in Texas, the Senator warned that the nation faces a severe and possibly disastrous shortage of this vital natural resource by 1975.

Johnson last week introduced in the Senate a bill aimed at helping the nation meet the approaching crisis.

The bill provides for a speed-up in the search for economical methods of converting saline water to everyday use. It would remove restrictions of both time and money on this work. It would also make available loans to cities and towns wishing to build their own developmental conversion plant.

Two major factors contribute to the drastic increase in demand for water — population and industrial growth, Johnson said.

Survey's, he said, show the nation is now using 60 per cent of the available fresh water supply. By 1975, it is estimated the nation will be using 90 per cent of the supply.

"We have shortages today when we are using only 60 per cent of the water supply. It is not difficult to imagine the severity of the shortages when we consume 90 per cent," he said.

Johnson said the problem demands more than just the conservation of water. The supply itself must be increased.

"To do this," he said, "we must turn to the inexhaustible sources of saline water. The water is there. It is up to us to find the ways and the means to tap it."

F. F. A. Boys Attend Area 4 Convention

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cammack of Lake Charles, La., are announcing the arrival of a son at 2:58 a.m. on Wednesday, May 11, 1960. He weighed 9 pounds and has been named Chris Lynn. He has a sister, Cindy, and brother, Kent, who are very proud of him.

Harvesting of Wheat Begins

Activity in the wheat fields of this area got under way during the week end, as farmers began harvesting their 1960 wheat and other grain crops. Most of the wheat remained too green early this week, but the combines are expected to be kept busy within a few days, with continued dry weather.

And there are many combines in the area. When the wheat is ready, the harvest is expected to last only a week or ten days.

The first truck load to new crop wheat at any terminal market arrived in Fort Worth last Monday, shipped from Munday by Allied Supply Co. and bought by Julian Scott, independent grain merchandiser.

Sold by Scott to Jack Greenman of Uhlmann Elevators for $2 a bushel, amounting to a premium of about 10 cents, the grain graded 1 hard, 60.4 test weight and moisture content of 13.8.

The first railway carload was shipped from Munday on Tuesday by the J. B. Graham Grain Co., and went to General Mills in Wichita Falls.

A. A. Smith, Jr., manager of the company, said that the firm had already shipped five carloads and six truck loads of barley. This grain was estimated as averaging 30 bushels per acre.

It's a little too early, grain dealers said Tuesday, to determine the wheat production, but they estimate dry land wheat will average from 15 to 18 bushels per acre.

The greatest yield reported by Tuesday was that of C. L. McAfee of the Sunset community. He harvested 12 acres of dry land wheat which averaged 33 bushels per acre.

Seven rural traffic accidents were investigated by the Highway Patrol service of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Knox County during the month of April, according to Sergeant F. P. Jirek.

In making this announcement, the sergeant reported 5 property damage, 1 injuries, and 0 fatal accidents. These wrecks caused a total property damage of $2,795.00 with 2 persons injured and none killed. This brings the total for the year in this county to one killed, 2 injured, and property damage of $8,620.00.

Every driver should remember that when he or she takes a chance and violates a traffic law, they are also taking a chance with injury or death in a traffic accident for themselves, as well as the ones riding with them.

"Our patrolmen are on the highways every day and every night, trying to apprehend the traffic law violator before an accident happens," the sergeant said, "but we can not do the job without the support of the traveling public." When more drivers start obeying the law, accidents will decrease and in turn your chances of being killed or injured in an accident will decrease.

INDUSTRY AND THE BOY SCOUTS

One of the most urgent problems this country must deal with is the growth of juvenile delinquency. And that means that the Boy Scout movement, more than ever before, deserves the active, down-to-earth support of everyone. The boy who is inculcated with Scout training and ideals isn't going to develop into a juvenile gangster.

A leaflet issued by the organization reports that thousands of business organizations are now making Scouting cooperation a part of their community relations programs. And what is needed is more—much more—of that kind of help.

The help can be provided in a number of ways. Industry can sponsor Scout units. Men can serve as Scoutmasters, advisors, and in other capacities. A business can adopt a Scout project, and help provide more and better facilities. Financial support is always required—Scouting exists entirely on volunteer funds. And many industries can offer valuable technical assistance.

The future of American business—like the future of all other institutions—will depend on the people who are youngsters today. An investment in that future is one of the best that any enterprise or individual can make.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

It was not so long ago that Mr. Bulganin, one of the Russian leaders, was quoted as saying that the United States would become a socialized state not as the result of outside forces, but that we would vote ourselves into that situation.

Anyone who has watched the methods of many state and federal law makers who favor putting government into tax exempt projects in competition with exorbitantly taxed private citizens and business can see Bulganin's prediction working out, not under the name of socialism, but under the more dangerous and false title of liberalism—free wheeling government spending and taxation.

It must make the Russians chuckle to see our own politicians playing their game and our people swallowing the bait.

If the people continue to sell their votes for political promises of something for nothing, promises that can only be financed by constantly more destructive taxation and inflation, they will have only themselves to blame for fulfilling Mr. Bulganin's prophecy that we will destroy our freedom from within.

THE GREAT POLITICAL ISSUE

Between now and November the candidates for the presidency and lesser offices will argue many an issue. Some of the arguments will be forthright, some will amount to fence-straddling.

But, as the Wall Street Journal points out in an editorial, there is one over-riding issue that, above all, should be dealt with squarely. In the paper's words, "It is nothing less than the question of the future direction of the government . . ."

"The argument, it seems to us, must be met head-on; the American people deserve at least that much. Are we to surrender to the Communists by in effect imitating them? Or are we to disprove their hideous philosophy by making this the freest possible of societies? That is the great political issue, and it would be a healthy thing if it became the focus of this campaign. The American people must face it sooner or later. The sooner it is got out in the open, stripped of subterfuge and double-talk, the better for the American future."

The American people are constantly told that a way to combat the Communist menace is to turn over more and more power, to say nothing of more and more of their wealth, to a super-state. If the people allow that to happen, there will be small need of combatting Communism—for we will simply adopt a Communism of our own, no matter what label is given it.

DULUTH, MINN., PUBLICITY: "Big budgets mean big tax demands, and yet, everyone knows that taxes already are too high. So, in Washington, they're talking about closing the 'loopholes.' But, it turns out that the biggest beneficiaries of the loopholes are the small taxpayers and that the middle bracket folks have fewest loopholes. There aren't enough big taxpayers around to matter much. So it looks like the only hope the citizens have is to tell their Congressmen that they want cheaper government."

BREESE, ILL., JOURNAL: "The Department of Labor has reiterated what many an employer has learned by itself—that office workers show no decline in either the quality or quantity of their work after passing the age of 45."

NOW LOOK WHAT CORVAIR'S GONE AND DONE!

The same Corvaire that tallied a thumping 27.03 miles per gallon* in the Mobilgas Economy Run . . . went right on to climb Pikes Peak earlier in the spring than any car has ever tried!

We wanted to show you what the fabulous traction of Corvaire's rear-engine design and the sure-footedness of four-wheel independent suspension really mean. So the identical Economy Run car went right on to 14,110-foot Pikes Peak—and right up to the top of that savage mountain, on April 15, still deep in winter's snow and ice. No other car—even specially equipped—had ever been able to conquer that nightmare alpine road so early in the spring. But Corvaire (with United States Auto Club officials aboard to certify that not one nut or bolt was changed) purred right to the summit without chains or even snow tires! That just underscores the fact that Corvaire is totally unique. But you'll find that out the first five minutes you're at the wheel!

MORE ACREAGE IN CONSERVATION RESERVE IN 1960

New acreage placed in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank in 1960 has surpassed the announced acreage goal for the program by more than one million acres.

The larger acreage accepted for contracts is chiefly the result of two factors: conservation practices are being established more economically than in the past, and per-acre annual payment rates under 1960 contracts are lower than anticipated.

Approximately 80 per cent of the farmers placing new land in the program for 1960 elected to come in on a "whole farm" basis, that is, to place all their eligible cropland under contract. This is of maximum effectiveness in checking surplus production, since the entire farm is withdrawn from crops and usually from livestock production as well.

Under a whole farm contract, the family may continue to live on the farm, and recent field studies indicate that most of them are doing so. In some instances, farmers who would have sold and moved off their farms are retiring and continuing to live on them. Some who have shifted to non-farm work and are continuing to live on their farms said they would have moved to towns or cities if they had not had the opportunity to obtain a reasonable return from their farm property.

Participation in the program will be particularly heavy in the wheat-producing areas. The five leading states in new acreage, accounting for more than a third of the total, are Texas, Kansas, North Dakota, Oklahoma, and South Dakota.

Under the Conservation Reserve Program farmers voluntarily sign contracts with the government to retire cropland from production and devote it to conservation uses, such as grass and tree cover and wildlife shelter. The contracts provide that the government will make an annual rental payment to the contract signer and will assist in establishing the conservation use on the land.

Contracts may be for three to 10 years, depending upon the conservation use to be established and the wishes of the farmer.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Summer and "sleeping sickness" go hand in hand.

Sleeping sickness is actually a type of encephalitis transmitted by infective mosquitoes. The popular name is derived from the stupor it sometimes causes among its victims.

Since mosquitoes abound in warm weather, summer is the danger season for mosquito-borne encephalitis. The State Department of Health last year received reports of 57 cases, all of which occurred during the months of summer and early fall.

Altogether there are some 75 species of mosquitoes which have been identified in Texas, but encephalitis is spread principally by just two. The experts call them "culex tarsalis" and "culex quinquefasciatus." The latter is sometimes called the household mosquito because it has adapted itself to backyard environments.

The time it takes a mosquito to develop from egg to the blood-hungry adult that plagues you on a summer night depends on the species, the temperature and the food supply, say State Health Department entomologists. In Texas it can vary from four days to two weeks.

Here are some suggestions on ways to minimize mosquito populations in and around your home this summer.

Eliminate all possibilities of water standing and stagnating. Clean gutters, pick up old buckets, cans, automobile tires and other objects likely to catch and hold rain water. Make sure septic tanks or cesspools are covered with earth. Evaporative coolers and water containers for pets and livestock should be drained and refilled weekly. Tree holes should be filled with cement or mortar. Empty and replace the water in flower vases regularly. Make sure window and door screens are doing the job. If you have a backyard goldfish pond, put a few easily found top-water minnows in it to control mosquito larva.

Proper spraying with a good residual spray should be used on out buildings and other likely points of mosquito landings.

Mrs. A. M. Searcy and Mrs. Ralph Weeks spent the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hargrove and Virginia and with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hargrove in Lubbock.

Gems Of Thought

"OPPORTUNITY" Opportunity rarely knocks until you are ready. And few people have ever been really ready without receiving opportunity's call.

— Channing Pollock
Most of us never recognize opportunity until it goes to work in our competitor's business.

— R. L. Andary
Tireless being, patient of man's procrastination, affords him fresh opportunities every hour.

— Mary Baker Eddy
Decision and determination are the engineer and fireman of our train to opportunity and success.

— Burt Lawlor
Too many people are thinking of security instead of opportunity. They seem more afraid of life than death.

— James F. Byrnes
Small opportunities are often the beginning of great enterprises.

Dollars And Sense

By Miss S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

What makes a good buy? Be adaptable: Watch for alternative choices which may serve your purpose as well as the planned item, but which may give you a quality, quantity, or price advantage.

Do what you can yourself: All of the services for which you pay add up to increasing the cost of living. Choose wisely those services for which you will pay as compared to those you could do for yourself.

Consider waste when comparing prices: when shopping, learn to estimate the amount of use an article can be expected to give in comparison to its cost. A boneless roast, which is more expensive per pound originally, may provide more servings and be cheaper in the long run than a roast with a considerable amount of bone.

Consider the "plus" costs: often there is more to the cost of an article than the purchase price. Cost of repairs, upkeep, servicing, replacement of parts should be considered before buying.

Mrs. Beatrice King of San Antonio visited her son, Weldon King and family, in Abilene and a few days last week in Munday, where she visited Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Cude, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cude and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill, Sr.

Mrs. E. O. Tuggle and daughter and Mrs. Ronnie Roberts and children all of Wayside visited with Mrs. Dee Mullican and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tuggle over the week end.

Newspaper reporters aren't like they used to be. (Who or what is?)

I remember, in my "cub" days as a member of the staff of a Southern newspaper where I specialized in writing obituaries and minor fires, one day there walked into the office a short, chunky individual, with a rolling gait. He wore glasses and had a serious way of speaking. He informed the city editor that he had just landed — and that was the correct word — in town as (he said) he and his wife had floated down the Mississippi on a raft.

He had (he said) visited the leper island and had talked with Father Dutton, who had succeeded Father Damien. Also (he said) in the Far East, or maybe it was the South Seas, he had been in a shipwreck, had washed ashore on an island and had been captured by natives who tortured him by pulling out his toe-nails. I do not recall how he escaped as the adventures by that time had my head whirling but I seem vaguely to remember (he said) he made a speech and became their chief.

Of course, a man with such an exotic career was hired on the spot. Soon he was star of the staff his name signed to more stories than all the rest of us combined. In fact, he became so well-established in our city that he married a prominent lady. What became of the wife who had floated down the Mississippi on a raft was never exactly clear. Come to think of it, none of us ever did actually see her.

It was not to be expected that our paper could hope to keep the services of so remarkable a journalist permanently. One day, he solemnly shook the hand of each of us and told us that the great open spaces were calling.

When next we heard of him, he was on a Pacific Coast newspaper — as financial editor. The next we heard after that, the financial editor was gone but, so as not to be forgotten, he had left not footprints on the sands of time, but a bevy of "hot" checks. Possibly he drifted on to the Mayan ruins of Yucatan or journeyed to Egypt to escape crocodiles.

My point is, reporters aren't what they used to be. I reckon it's the standardizing influence of schools of journalism — or maybe the more efficient exchange of information between credit bureaus.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Admits The Latest Summit Meeting Flopped, But Asks Just Which One Succeeded

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek sounds a little serious this week, but he'll get over it.

Dear Editor:
One of my neighbors was feeling gloomy last week after the failure of the celebrated summit conference in Paris, the one that Khrushchev walked out on and wouldn't even shake hands with President Eisenhower at, which if you ask me, I've known people who got mad at each other and wouldn't shake hands for years, sometimes they wouldn't even talk, although it's hard to imagine Khrushchev getting so mad he'd wind up in that condition.

But what I started out to talk about was the gloom feeling my neighbor had.

I wouldn't look at it that way. I mean, I've been reading about summit conferences for years, about how the fate of the world rested on the success of this one or that one, but what I'd like to ask is: has there ever been a successful one? Which one was it?

We've had lots of summit meetings that didn't bust up like this last one, where everybody shook hands three or four times a day, turned on their smiles, had their pictures taken together, signed some agreements on the dotted line, but what happened? As far as I can tell, everybody went home and took up where he left off.

What I mean is, I have never yet seen a signed piece of paper head off a war, and anybody who thinks the world is now closer to war than it would have been if Mr. Khrushchev had shaken hands with Mr. Eisenhower and they and Mr. Macmillan and Mr. De Gaulle had all sat down and had a jolly good time signing agreements right and left, just ain't thinking back very far. All he has to do is think back to that famous picture of Prime Minister Chamberlain stepping out of the plane on his return from Berlin and waving a piece of paper Hitler had signed guaranteeing peace in our time, just before the outbreak of World War II. The failure of the summit meeting didn't bring the world closer to war. As best I can tell, the world has been fairly close to war ever since man first learned to throw a spear.

My neighbor ought to take heart. A summit meeting is sort of like a P.T.A. meeting. It's important, but sometimes not as important as its participants imagine.

Your faithfully,
J. A.

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Ikard

On March 10, 1959, President Eisenhower issued a Mandatory Oil Import Program Proclamation, requiring the Department of the Interior to issue regulations setting up limitations on oil imports. This action was taken to arrest further deterioration of the domestic oil industry.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization is charged with the responsibility of constant surveillance of these imports in respect to our national security. The sole purpose of the Proclamation is to serve the national security. We have learned by experience that the petroleum industry must be a healthy and vigorous industry capable of immediate maximum production in the event of a national emergency. This obviously is not the case when rigs are stacked and there is a definite lack of exploratory activity. Consequently, the industry has been working with the Department of the Interior and the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization pointing up the deficiencies in the program.

It is an acknowledged fact that the oil producing industry is required to re-invest approximately two-thirds of its gross income in exploration for, and development of new reserves. This fact coupled with the further problems of increased cost of labor, materials, supplies, and equipment used by the oil industry, plus continually declining prices resulting in reduced production cannot long be the environment of a strong and healthy industry. Texas alone is capable of producing double its present allowable, but this is not permitted because of the current market demand. Needless to say, this is a severe burden on the industry's financial ability to conduct exploration and development to insure the Nation's security by guaranteeing adequate domestic reserves.

To point out the decline in the industry the following indicators are striking:

Exploratory activity, as measured by the number of geophysical and core drilling crews active, is down 13 percent below 1959.

Rotary rigs active, after an increase last year, are down 15 percent below 1959.

Well completions, which increased slightly in 1959, are down 14 percent below 1959.

Crude oil production, which registered a commendable 5 percent increase last year, is down about 70,000 barrels daily or 2 percent below 1959.

Crude oil prices, after dropping 7 cents per barrel during 1959, have continued the downward trend at what appears to be an accelerated rate.

Product prices, of the four principal petroleum products dropped 2 cents per barrel during 1959. So far this year, these prices are down about 23 cents below same period in 1959.

Employment, in the oil and gas producing industry decreased by 2,100 persons in 1959. Employment figures so far this year show further decline of almost 2 percent below 1959.

Immediately upon implementation of the Mandatory Program, the decline of the petroleum industry leveled off. Soon, however, because partially by exceptions made through the program, it became obvious that further restrictions should be forthcoming. Recent meetings with the Secretary of the Interior, representatives of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, representatives of the domestic producers, and other interested parties brings hope that the level of total imports will be brought into line in order to serve the Nation's security with adequate home reserves and at a realistic price.

This past Tuesday the United States Department of Agriculture presented a Superior Service Award to Mr. Basy T. Haws, Wichita County Agricultural Agent. "For remarkable success in developing a superior 4-H Club Program, organizing rural communities and assisting rural families to adopt better farming practices resulting in increased incomes and more enjoyable living in Wichita County, Texas." B. T. is a native Texan and is a graduate of Stephen F. Austin State College. He holds an M. A. Degree from Sam Houston State Teachers College. He has been County Agent in Wichita County since 1953. Anyone who knows B. T. knows him to be a dedicated civil servant capable and more than willing to be helpful to those he serves.

Other visitors from home this week were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Farrier of Wichita Falls.

Brownwood Woman Is Named State's Best Homemaker

Mrs. Seale T. (Betty) Cutbirth of Brownwood, an attractive and talented mother of four, on May 13 was named the new Mrs. Texas, the state's number one homemaker.

Mrs. Cutbirth received her crown and title at a banquet climaxed by a long competition in homemaking skills in the Lone Star Gas Company auditorium in Dallas.

Mrs. Cutbirth walked calmly to the front of the Statler Hilton Hotel's Embassy Ballroom while an audience of some 150 dinner guests applauded. Mrs. Texas 1959-60, Mrs. Herbert S. Beard of Austin, removed her crown and placed it on Mrs. Cutbirth's brown hair. The winner was announced by L. T. Potter, president of Lone Star, one of the contest sponsors.

Mrs. Cutbirth, native of Fort Worth, will represent Texas at the national Mrs. America competition June 2-4 in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. She is a graduate of Baylor University and her husband is a physician.

Competing for the Mrs. Texas title were five of the top homemakers from over the state, including Mrs. G. V. (Bette) Mayfield, Dallas; Mrs. Joe Charles (Mildred) McLure, Fort Worth; Mrs. W. M. (Christine) LeFevre, Wortham; and Mrs. James Elmo (Jean) Holmes Jr., Athens.

Each contestant baked a cake using her own recipe as part of the food preparation portion of the competition. She also prepared a simple refrigerator dessert which requires chilling as part of the recipe directions and a favorite casserole which constituted a one-dish meal. The contestants were judged on menu planning, took a laundry quiz and each arranged her hair in three different styles. Each participated in a public speaking activity.

The new Mrs. Texas is 28 years old, five feet, four inches tall, has brown eyes and dark brown hair. She and her husband have four children, Steven, 6, Brian, 5, Kathleen, 3, and Sam, 1.
