Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

Ever since we can remember, we know that potatoes produced in the soil—or underground, as some might say.

k-k

As a kid being fetched up on the farm, we had experience with spuds. We used to have a small patch in the garden each year. We'd help cut the seed potatoes up, help plant them, plow them and harvest them.

k-k

They were dug by means of the lister, and our job was to grabble in the soil to find the covered-up spuds and salvage them for future reference.

k-k

But we had 'new potatoes' before harvest time. When the spuds began to form, our mother would keep a watchful eye on the garden. When she thought they were about right—perhaps midway between marble and hen egg size—she would take a container and kitchen fork to the garden. She'd remove the soil carefully with the fork, so as not to disturb too many roots and small spuds, select the right-size potato for her cooking purposes, then replace the soil carefully. Then she'd return to the kitchen and prepare a meal fit for the hardest-working field hand.

k-k

With this vast background of experience with growing the lowly spud, it was entertaining to learn that a grown man was a business visitor to our community last Monday, and he was amazed to learn that the potato plant produced its "fruit" underground. This important information was imparted to him by Mrs. Callie Ann Combs at the Chamber of Commerce office.

k-k

She went to her car and brought in some freshly-dug spuds that he might see the particles of soil still clinging to them. She explained to him that "new potatoes" were not necessarily those little marble-sized ones which can be bought in cans at the local grocery, and that in most instances the little ones would become bigger if left unmolested in the soil a while longer. The visitor left town more highly educated as to how the spuds are produced.

k-k

Although our experience dated back over a period of many years, we had never seen the spud harvested on such a high scale until they were grown more extensively in this area. We were almost as amazed as this visitor when we saw the vine beater, the potato digger, and the pick-up crews in action for the first time.

k-k

Although much of it is mechanical, they haven't gotten away from that back-breaking activity of picking up the spuds and placing them in the field sacks. Reminds us of picking cotton in our youth, trying to salvage what we could of those fleecy locks that had been beaten to the ground by driving rain or hail. Our back hurts at the thought of it, just as we said once before, that our knees become sore just from looking at a pair of knee pads!

k-k

There's much activity going on around the processing sheds in Munday this week, as this year's potato harvest gets in full swing. And since the showers have let up for a spell, farmers couldn't ask for better weather for carrying on the harvest.

k-k

Sometimes we feel less important than others. This is the week that our importance has received a lethal blow!

k-k

We had planned for some time to take off Thursday, after the paper was in the mails, for Texas' largest city to attend the annual convention of the Texas Press Association. Some members of our force have just about convinced us that our presence is not so important on Thursday mornings—that they can get along without us—and that we should take an earlier start for Houston. Chances are we'll be wending our way to the big city by the time the first one of you reads this—if any of you do.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Welborn and Gaston, Mrs. Clayton Wren and Erwin and Mrs. Tom Morton returned home last Monday night from a ten day vacation to points in California and Old Mexico.

THROTTLING OPPOSITION

The following editorial is reproduced from Christian Economics:

"Two years ago the Bureau of Internal Revenue ruled that privately-owned power companies could not spend money before taxes advertising the benefits of free enterprise. At about the same time, the Tennessee Valley Authority must have spent at least $100,000 for the distribution of its 25,000 word pamphlet extolling the virtues of socialized power.

"Government departments and government-owned enterprises spend millions and millions of dollars brainwashing the American people into believing that socialized power and other socialized business are good.

"When a private enterprise spends pre-tax money for advertising the public, through loss in taxes, pays about half of the bill. When government departments or government-owned enterprises, such as the Tennessee Valley Authority, spend money advertising in defense of socialism the taxpayers pay 100 per cent of the bill.

"Apparently, what is sauce for the goose is double sauce for the gander.

"Late last year, the Supreme Court upheld the ruling of the Bureau of Internal Revenue Government is choking off the means by which those who believe in freedom would tell their story to the public."

WHY NOT?

From National Review: "Tongue-in-Cheek Dept. Bill submitted to Congress by New York publisher to authorize government to buy and store all overprintings and unsold copies of books from all publishers, at public expense."

Why not? And why not extend the law so that the government will buy all unsold automobiles, radios, newspapers, and everything else that is produced in excess of demand? It certainly makes as much sense as for the government to spend billions for farm surpluses for which there is no market.

A short time ago Senator Dirksen said his office had received ten thousand letters concerning the Forand bill, which would give government-paid medical, hospital and nursing home services to beneficiaries of the Social Security system. He added that sentiment ran three to one against the proposal.

A HANDBOOK FOR VOTERS

Each election year multitudes of "get out the vote" campaigns are conducted. This is all to the good, but one more thing is needed—namely, informed intelligent voting.

A new paperback by John A. Wells, entitled "The Voter's Presidential Handbook," (McDowell Obolensky, New York) does an excellent job of filling that need. Sponsored by the committee to inform the voters, it provides in concise and readable form a history of the office of the president along with description of his powers, duties and responsibilities; biographies of the 1960 presidential possibilities of both the parties; a discussion of how each individual can be active and effective in politics; the way the national party conventions operate in choosing their presidential and vice presidential candidates, and a wealth of other valuable matter.

Mr. Wells dedicates his book "to the independent voter who, even if a member of a political party, does not blindly follow party dogma of a party leader, but thinks for himself and votes for the candidate or proposition he believes best for the people." The country sorely needs more voters of that kind.

YOUR TAX FUTURE? ? ?

In the long light of history, 47 years is only an instant of time. But, from the point of view of the taxpayer, the last 47 years have been somberly outstanding in this country.

Back in 1913, reports the Tax Foundation, all federal tax collections amounted to a mere $662 million—now they are estimated at $76.3 billion. The states haven't lagged. In the same period, their collections have soared from $301 million to $17.4 billion. And local collections are no small item either. The 1913 figure was slightly over $1.3 billion—in 1959 it was about $16.8 billion.

So much for the past. What will the next 47 years bring.

A purchasing agent for Standard Oil of Indiana reveals that, in 1955 and 1956, a worldwide shortage of platinum was created by a new refining method to give motorists higher octane gasoline. The platinum was needed as a catalyst for the new process. The sudden demand skyrocketed the price 50 per cent—to $118 an ounce.

IT'S THE LAW
★ in Texas ★
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

"THE KING CAN DO NO WRONG"

How could anybody ever say: "The king can do no wrong?" (When we know of kings who did do wrong.)

The idea looks simple: As absolute law maker, the king could hold himself above his own law. He was under no law and could therefore do no legal wrong.

Anyway, when King George lost the thirteen colonies, the American states took over the doctrine of Sovereign Immunity. Nobody can sue a government agency without the state's permission, when the agency is doing government work. (Of course if the agency is doing "proprietary functions" like running street cars or making electricity, it may often be sued much like any other business.)

Thus suppose for lack of due care a private bakery truck should harm your child who had done nothing to bring on the accident. Well then most likely you could sue the bakery in the child's behalf and collect damages.

But not with government agencies unless the legislature gives you lawful permission.

Thus in the old days, if an army jeep harmed your child, you could collect only if Congress passed a special bill awarding damages.

Recently this doctrine has been attacked: Why shouldn't the government pay like any other organization?

So during the last war the federal government in response to public opinion passed a "tort liability" law. It gives the people much more power to sue than before the last war. And the courts much more often than Congress now set the damages in many kinds of cases.

In Texas, the Legislature by a proper action may permit certain general types of suits to be brought against the state, under various conditions and restrictions. Then, if a specific situation arises which is not covered by the general rules, the legislators are authorized to pass a special measure to permit suit to be brought.

Therefore, any person seeking to enforce a claim against the State of Texas through the courts must petition the Legislature for the necessary permission, unless his claim falls within some general category or type previously recognized by our lawmakers. During each session, the Legislature passes legislation allowing suits to be brought against suits to be brought against the state in a variety of cases.

Sometimes, however, suits may be brought against individuals holding office under the State of Texas and acting as agents of the state, but where the state itself is not the principal party to the suit, without first gaining consent to sue. There are numerous situations in which an individual officer may be sued with regard to the duties and functions of his office, and in which the state is not directly or substantially a part in interest.

Suppose you do obtain legislative permission to sue the state. What happens then?

If suit is brought against the State of Texas, and the action is successfully prosecuted, you will be awarded a judgment against the state. Then, it's back to the Legislature for more legislation to appropriate the necessary money with which the state may pay off the judgment.

Dramatic proof of the need for aid for Chilean earthquake victims is evidenced by this Puerto Montt orphan—his only belongings heaped in a string bag—shown waiting a mercy plane trip to a refugee reception center in Santiago.

Nations throughout the world are responding to appeals for help. President Eisenhower appointed American Red Cross President, General Alfred M. Gruenther, as coordinator of U. S. voluntary relief efforts. Numerous religious and welfare organizations are engaged in the massive relief project. The Red Cross, which is conducting a nationwide fund appeal, made an initial allocation of $175,000 and provided $250,000 worth of donated medical and other supplies.

Dollars And Sense

By Miss S. C. Kinsey, Knox County H. D. Agent

Are you paying too much for credit? Interest rates today are as high as they have been for 25 years. Are you spending more for the use of other people's money than it is really worth?

One rule of borrowing is to know the dollar cost and the annual simple interest rate on the unpaid balance.

Borrow where you are best known, preferably at your own bank or credit union.

Do not keep borrowing small amounts. They cost proportionately more.

Do not borrow for long periods. The interest costs mounts up.

Warden Warns To Keep Hands Off Of Wildlife's Young

Leave the babes of the woods in the woods. That's the advice of Captain E. M. Sproutt, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

During the spring season, when the young of wildlife come into the world, they are subject to many predators, not the least of them being persons who think the baby birds or animals are cute.

There is a tendency on the part of children to pick up baby rabbits or baby birds, but grown-ups have their weakness, too. It seems they just cannot pass a little fawn. They'll be driving down the road and spot a baby deer. Chances are that the mother is in hiding in nearby brush, but the fawn-napper doesn't realize this. He gathers up the small animal and takes it home with him.

Bottle fed, the little animal grows up and becomes the family pet, unless someone reports it to the warden beforehand. Then one day the family pet reverts to nature and injures someone. The game warden then is called to take the deer back to the wild. "If you have reason to believe a mother deer has been killed," then notify the game warden," says Captain Sproutt. "Don't try to raise these babies yourself. It is illegal and dangerous."

News From The U. S. Congress

By Congressman Frank Beard

Of general interest to everyone who is either himself over sixty-five years of age or has parents who have passed that age is a bill that was recently approved by the Congress. This new law provides that all medical expenses may be deducted without reference to the present 3% limitation when such expenses are incurred for the care of a dependent father or mother if they have reached the age of 65 before the close of the taxable year. This new provision is effective as of the first of this year.

There has been a great deal of discussion about the crowded conditions of the dockets in the Federal Courts. In an effort to relieve this situation, the Committee on the Judiciary this week reported to the House a bill which would provide for three new Federal District Judges from Texas. If this bill becomes law, there will be new judges in the Northern, Southern, and Western Districts of Texas which will mean that there will be four Federal Judges in our section of the State.

150 Million additional loan authority was given to the Small Business Administration this week. This Agency was created to make credit available to small business and has performed a very useful purpose. This new authorization will make possible the continuation of its service.

A significant step toward the further conservation of the water in the Rio Grande was taken this week when the House approved a bill authorizing the conclusion of an agreement for the joint construction between the United States and Mexico of another storage dam on the Rio Grande. This Dam, the Amistad Dam, will be above the present Falcon Reservoir and is being built to control the flood waters above that Reservoir. The cost to the United States will amount to just about what the flood damages were in the 1958 flood. Besides being an important step toward effective water conservation which is so desperately needed in the Southwest, the development of this Project is further evidence of the fine relations that exist between the United States and Mexico and demonstrates what two friendly countries can do toward developing their resources for the good of the peoples of both countries.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. Melvin Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Billingsley, Miss Sherrill Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cook, of Wichita Falls; Rev. Carl Schrader and Mr. Jimmie Grandey of Denton; and Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Vaughter and daughter, Beth, and son, Jim.

Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Cook of Plainview visited with friends here a while Saturday afternoon. They were enroute to Putnam to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Cook, and to attend a family reunion.

Bill Walker of Fort Worth and Randy Eiland of Lamesa are spending this week with their grandmother, Mrs. G. R. Eiland.

Mrs. M. L. Brunley of Vernon visited her mother, Mrs. J. A. Reid, the first of this week.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by the State Health Department

Cancer and heart diseases set a grim new record last year, accounting for almost half the 73,754 total deaths in Texas during 1959.

Final tabulation of State Department of Health death statistics shows 24,629 deaths from heart diseases and 11,086 from cancer.

The cancer death rate in Texas is still well below the rate for the United States as a whole. Texas registered 117 deaths from the disease for each 100,000 population, compared to the national cancer death rate of close to 150 per each 100,000 population. Texas has a younger population, which probably accounts for the disparity between the Texas and national cancer death rates. Cancer strikes most frequently at people past 45 years of age. Of the 11,000 cancer deaths last year, 9,788 were past 45. Heart diseases are demonstrating a significant increase. Three years ago there were 22,888 deaths from heart diseases—a rise of 1,741 for 1959 over the number registered for 1956.

Most of the increase is in the older age groups. Of the total heart disease deaths, 23,519 were past 45 years of age. The heart disease rate for all ages during 1959 was 261 per 100,000 population.

As life expectancy increases more and more people are going to fall victim to heart diseases and cancer by virtue of living into the ages when they are more vulnerable to the ravages of the twin menaces.

Here is a simple four-point regimen for general good health:

1. Eliminate excessive weight that taxes your heart. Do not overeat.
2. Ask your family physician about a plan of exercise suitable for you. A non-strenuous hobby is beneficial.
3. If you must smoke, do it in moderation. There is strong evidence linking excessive smoking to increases in lung cancer.
4. Above all, see your family physician at least once annually for a thorough physical examination.

Ava Mary Taylor And Randall Lee Harrill Are Married At Burkburnett

The chapel of the First Baptist Church in Burkburnett was the scene of a mid-afternoon wedding Saturday, June 4, to unite Miss Ava Mary Taylor of Burkburnett and Randall Lee Harrill of Marietta, Okla. in marriage.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor of Burkburnett and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Harrill of Marietta, Okla. The double ring ceremony was conducted by Rev. Temple Lewis of Lockney.

Vows were exchanged before an altar that featured the votive candles in a candelabra setting decorated with sprays of vicary blossoms and white satin streamers. Urns of pink roses and vicary blossoms completed the altar arrangements. Sprays of vicary tied with white satin streamers marked the family pews.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Leroy Meyer, pianist, and Miss Carolyn Clement, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length princess dress of white crystalline over taffeta. The dress was fashioned with a bow-trimmed bodice and long tapered sleeves of alencon lace. Her shoulder length veil of matching lace was attached to a halo designed of white crystalline bows. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and lilies of the valley atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bill Gibson, sister of the groom, attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of pink taffeta. The scooped neckline was accented with a deep pleated off the shoulder collar of pink silk organza. Her headdress, similar to the bride's, was fashioned of pink silk organza bows. She carried a nosegay of carnations.

With costumes identical to that of the matron of honor, the bridesmaids were Miss Betty Morak of Seymour and Mrs. Grady Wardrop of Munday.

The candle lighters, with costumes matching the other attendants of the bride, were Mickey Jo King of Munday and Donna Jane Josselot, cousin of the bride, of Haskell. They wore wristlets of dianthus.

The groom was attended by Floyd Browning of Wichita Falls as best man. Ushers were Bill Gipson of Marietta, Okla. and Rodney Taylor of Burkburnett.

The bride, a 1958 graduate of Munday High School, attended North Texas State College in Denton and is presently employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The groom, a 1957 graduate of Burneyville High School, attended Southwestern State College in Durant, Okla. and is presently employed by Nu-ray Electric Company.

A reception was held in the Mary Martha room of the church following the ceremony. Covered with an off-white lace cloth over pink, the refreshment table featured a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. White snapdragons formed a garland around the cake and it was accented with lighted tapers. Appointments were of crystal. An arrangement of roses and vicary blossoms decorated the reception room. Assisting with the reception were Miss Carol Fuller of Windthorst at the register, Miss Sarah Durrett of Hastings, Okla. and Mrs. R. E. Potter of Wichita Falls serving punch and cake. Mrs. C. W. Powell of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Frank Hodge of Burkburnett.

A short wedding trip was made to Oklahoma City and the couple is now at home at 1826 Elizabeth St., Wichita Falls.

He Wrote America's Song

You can hear it ringing shrill and sweet from classroom windows. Its music flies like a splendid scarf over ships at sea. You rise and stand quietly for it at the ball game, and at the old grandeur the old tingle goes straight up your spine.

Every school child knows the story of how the words were written down by a man named Francis Scott Key during the British bombardment of Fort M'Henry in the War of 1812. When the terrible night had ended, Key lifted his eyes to find the flag high over the ramparts in the morning mist. There was a gaping hole shot through one of its stars. But... the flag was still there.

Which meant America was still there.

The anthem, through all the years, transcends the man and the battle. It could have been

Deer Show Better Return Than Cattle

The net return per animal unit in deer in one area of the Kerr Wildlife Management Area last year amounted to $153.28, which was considerably higher than livestock on the same area yielded. This is included in a report of the management research area made through the director of wildlife restoration of the Game and Fish Commission.

"The return was much higher than from any class of livestock on the area," the report says. "The net return from 162 animal units in livestock was $4,669.60 compared to $3,747.61 from only 87 animal units in deer. These findings indicate that deer are a potentially important asset to ranches.

"Development should be directed toward improving the habitat for deer in order to increase the potential for this source of income. Proper management by harvest is indicated to be essential to sound economic returns from this enterprise."

Records on economic values, vegetation, livestock grazing, wildlife habits, deer harvest and forage utilization by deer were reviewed and used as a basis for appraisal of past development and planning new developments needs. This information will be used in planning future development and management of the area.

The Kerr Area is located approximately 30 miles west of Kerrville at the headwaters of the Guadalupe river.

Residential Modern Street Lighting Chases Crime

CLEVELAND, OHIO — Years ago, street attacks and assaults were pretty much confined to the bad neighborhoods, but now a mobile population brings danger to our very doorsteps.

Police officers agree that the possibility of being seen is the most powerful deterrent to crime. Modern street lighting provides this protection, for it leaves no shadowy places between spots of light. It gives the potential criminal no dark place to hide and spring on an unsuspecting victim. It leaves no dark landscaped areas to serve as cover for robbery, rape or murder.

Darkness attracts some very strange birds, but the penetrating power of modern street lighting sends them on their way.

Neighborhood street crimes are headlined all over the United States, but they don't occur in lighted situations. Muggings in the dark neighborhoods of Washington, D.C.; Rape in a dark Chicago apartment alleyway; Murder under the uncertain lighting conditions of Norfolk; Assault in the dark by-ways of Camden.

"We can't patrol every area of every city every moment," say police. Modern street lighting is a partner of the law.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Is Up In Arms Over Suggestion That Time Clocks Be Installed On All Tractors

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is alarmed over a new proposal, which somebody apparently was kidding him about.

According to an article I read in a newspaper which fell out of a teen-ager's car as he rounded a corner out here near my farm yesterday, Congress is working on a new minimum-wage law, but I couldn't find a word about a minimum wage for farmers.

I was talking about this with a neighbor this morning and he said he had been giving some thought to this problem too and had concluded the way to solve the farm problem is to pay a farmer a guaranteed wage.

"Yeah, but how you gonna figure out how many hours he works?" I asked him.

"Easy," he said. "I already figured it out. Just put a time clock on his tractor, one on his barn door, one on his pasture gate, etc., and at the end of the year he'll have an accurate record of how many hours he worked. Then the government could decide how much per hour he ought to have to hold his own with steel workers, T. V. repairmen, auto repairmen, etc., figure up how much he got for his crops, and send him a check for the difference."

Now I have no objections to getting checks from the government, they're handy, they're neat looking, you can cash them anywhere, but I would like to say right now I have absolutely no use for time-clocks. I just don't want any accurate record of how many hours I spend on a tractor. It's un-American. It's none of the government's business.

Farming is sort of like editing a newspaper. How would you like to have to punch a time-clock every time you sat down to your typewriter? With the clock running only while you were actually typing? Farming is the same way. If you're entitled to sit and stare at your typewriter, why don't I have the same right to sit and stare at my tractor? Or my grubbing hoe, or my ax, or anything else? You don't pay yourself by the number of sheets of paper you run through your typewriter, do you? No. And I don't want to be paid by the number of trips I make up one row and down another. Editing and farming both ought to be kept on a high intellectual level.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

RECOGNITION OF A VITAL INDUSTRY

This is dairy month, the time of year when we pay tribute to what is perhaps our most vital farm industry because of its essential health-giving products.

As the saying goes, milk is nature's most nearly perfect food. Here are some interesting facts about milk and milk products:

There are more than 200 nutrients in milk. Considering its cost per pound, milk offers more food for the money than any other food material available.

There is enough energy provided by one glass of milk to play 9 holes of golf, clean house for 2 hours, walk one mile, sew for two hours, or climb 186 stairs.

The record high of almost 60 billion quarts of milk produced in 1957 was enough to fill a river more than 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and 3 feet deep. The river would stretch from Boston to San Francisco. Square quart milk bottles filled with this amount of milk and placed side by side would form a band around the world 140 times, and these same bottles, stacked one on top of the other, would reach to the moon thirty times.

The fastest growing milk product in the U. S. today is cottage cheese. There are some 400 cheeses recognized by name today. In spite of its wide-spread use, cheese was not prepared commercially until about 100 years ago. It takes 10 quarts of milk to make one pound of cheese. The finished cheese contains a large proportion of the milk proteins, the minerals, the fat, and the fat-soluble vitamins found in the milk from which it was made.

Ice cream dates back to about the first century when Nero sent slaves to the mountain tops for the required snow and ice. Commercial production dates back to 1851 in Baltimore by the hand-cranked freezer invented in 1816 by a woman, Nancy Johnson.

Butter has been churned for thousands of years as a home-made product. The first butter creamery established in the United States began its operation in 1848 at Goshen, New York. From that beginning, the butter industry spread across the nation to become a vital part of dairying.

Today dairying is one of the greatest single sources of farm income in the nation. About 20 cents of each dollar of cash receipts from farm products comes from dairying. This means about one-fifth of the nation's agricultural income is from dairying.
