Odd Bits Salvaged
By The Editor

One of those solve-all-problems columnists recently carried a letter in one of the daily papers in which the writer was bemoaning the discourtesy of persons who dial the wrong numbers.

k-k

This and another experience we have frequently with our telephone are pet peeves of ours.

k-k

Perhaps the mainest one of the two is the person who dials a number, then doesn't wait long enough to get an answer. This has caused us numerous steps from the back shop to the front, and some months ago we had an extension phone installed at the shop to try to combat this inconvenience.

k-k

Even now, we fail to get to the telephone in time, and when we pick up the receiver to answer, we find the one dialing has hung up.

k-k

We've mentioned before that the person dialing the Times office should give us at least four complete rings before deciding there's no one at home. Frequently there's no one near the telephone when it rings. Maybe we have our hands full of something, and by the time we find a place to lay the stuff down and get to the phone, it has rung several times.

k-k

So be patient and give it a little more time—and you won't be trying our patience quite so much!

k-k

But the writer we mentioned above made the statement that the one answering the phone was the one inconvenienced most by number. So why should the one doing the dialing be discourteous to the one answering just because she fingered the dial wrong?

k-k

The writer answering the question stated that the one who dialed the wrong number was possibly more disgusted with himself, or herself, because of the error, but the one answering got the discourtesy.

k-k

A few weeks ago, we answered our telephone. When we said "Times Office," that party on the other end groaned like we'd struck her a blow at the base of the skull, and hung up without even so much as an apology. We didn't recognize the groan, so all we could do was hang up and resume whatever we were doing.

k-k

Before dials, we could blame it on the operator, but now there's no operator to blame! Even some time after the dial system was installed in Munday, we used to hear—and maybe we said it too—"Oh, she gave me the wrong number." We had become accustomed to saying that through the years!

k-k

The poor operator got blamed for lots of things in those days, but now the person who gets the wrong number seems to blame the one answering the phone! Wonder why?

k-k

There's one person who frequently gets our home by the "wrong number" route, but when she does she's the most courteous person you can think of.

k-k

Sometimes we answer the phone and receive her apology. More often, though, the wife answers and in most instances it's an opportunity for the two ladies to visit a spell. Sometimes they visit so long that we fail to recognize the fact that the wrong number was dialed in the first place.

k-k

Why can't more people be like that? It's much more pleasant to say, "Oh, I'm sorry. I dialed the wrong number" than to emit a groan and slam up the receiver as if to say, "You idiot, why did you have to answer?"

k-k

Telephone courtesy is one thing a lot of us don't have. We admit we don't have a pleasant telephone voice, but we hope we are not accused of being obnoxious when we have dialed the wrong number.

k-k

Remember, it's the one who lays down the work and rushes to answer the telephone who has been inconvenienced more than you!

National Farm Safety Week Set For July 23-29

The period from July 23-29 has been designated as National Farm Safety Week by a proclamation released by President Kennedy.

The President called attention to the fact that more than a million farm residents are injured and thousands are killed each year in accidents and that these accidents bring suffering and sorrow to our farm families and inflict heavy economic losses upon both the farm community and nation. The safety of these people, he continued, who produce our food is of vital concern to all our citizens.

President Kennedy is urging all persons and organizations interested in the safety of farm people to support and participate in this special endeavor to help reduce the number of farm accidents. He asked farm residents to remember that "Safety is a Family Affair."

In Texas, plans are going forward for the observance of the Week, reports the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. In many counties extensive programs will be carried out, emphasizing that safety is a family affair. County extension agents, 4-H Club members and their leaders, farm and community organization leaders and others with a deep interest in the promotion will contribute to the overall plans.

The Councilmen said that in many counties a different phase of farm and home safety would be emphasized each day during the week: Sunday, reverence for life; Monday, safety begins at home; Tuesday, agricultural chemicals; Wednesday, prevent falls; Thursday, highway safety; Friday, farm machinery and Saturday, recreation safety.

The failure of rural people to observe safety in their daily living is a chief contributor to their safety record. The Council said this record includes a disabling injury accident every 32 seconds and a death every 45 minutes to farm residents of the nation. The Council concludes it is time to stop this needless waste from accidents since most could be prevented.

Potato Harvest In Full Swing Here

With clearing skies and drying-out sunshine, harvesting of this area's 700-acre potato crop went into full swing the first of this week. Harvesting had started earlier but was delayed because of wet weather last week.

Farmers were anxious for the rains to stop, as the spuds were ready to harvest, and it was feared many of them would begin rotting in the fields.

Work of digging and gathering the potatoes started in the wet fields last Monday. It was reported that two tractors were hitched to the diggers in the B. E. Smith field, east of Munday, in order to make it through the mud. Tractors were also employed to pull the loaded trucks from the fields.

Workers at both potato sheds were working into the night the first of this week in order to process the day's diggings. Early Tuesday afternoon, some 10 or 12 large transport vans were waiting at the sheds to be loaded to carry the spuds to market. Workers were also loading railway cars.

A good yield is reported by most of the farmers. Prices for the potatoes were low at the beginning of harvest, but workers at the sheds reported farmers are "getting a pretty good price" for the spuds now.

The Story Of A Brave Little Girl

Editor's Note: It is not our custom to print unsigned letters, but this one is a little unusual:

"Dear Editor,

"Here is a story about a three-year-old girl whose name is Martha Sue Buchanan.

"On Sunday, she and her sister and two aunts were playing at her great-grandmother's, and while playing, she fell into a well. She fell a good 25 feet before she hit the water. The well is supposed to have 14 feet of water.

"She went under, and when she came back up she grabbed onto a pipe in the center of the well. She held her head above water while the kids told her parents.

"Her father, Roland Buchanan, jumped in and saved her. When he was half way up with her, Slim Loran got there and helped her out. Mrs. H. F. Buchanan went for help.

"Martha Sue never cried. She only wanted her shoe which she lost in the well. Later she told her sister, Mary Lou, that she knew her daddy would get her out.

"I believe this is about the bravest three-year-old I have ever seen or heard of."

Wayne Bingham Wins In Championship Flight Of Golf Tourney Here Sunday

The Lake Creek Golf Club was the scene of much activity last week, as the 48 players battled it out in six flights of the club's annual golf tournament. Membership in the club is from several towns in the immediate area.

Matched play started on Saturday, June 10, with finals being played off the latter part of last week. Sunday saw the finals in the championship flight.

Wayne Bingham battled it out with Jeff Graham for the championship honors, winning the close one over Graham.

The gallery of people watching the championship flight had a battle on for themselves, that with mosquitoes, as they followed the players, hole after hole. Some finally conceded their "match" to the mosquitoes, and departed before the flight was completed.

First flight: Chad Wilson defeated C. E. Williams, and Arnold Glover took consolation from L. V. Worley.

Fifth flight: Kenneth Smith won over H. M. Compton. Jackie Barger was consolation winner over Don Tankersley.

TALK AND TAXES

"Risk-taking and economic growth are not going to be stimulated by squeezing more money out of the pockets of millions of investors, already discriminated against by unfair double taxation."

These words come from Keith Funston of the New York Stock Exchange. The double taxation he speaks of is levied against anyone who receives a return on his invested savings in the form of dividends. First, the profit of a company is taxed at the corporation rate of 52 per cent; then any remainder paid in dividends is taxed again as individual income.

Some years ago Congress granted a modicum of relief, by excluding the first $50 of dividend income from the individual income tax, and allowing a 4 per cent tax credit on any beyond that. It is now proposed that even this be abolished. One strange argument in favor of abolishment is that the exclusion and credit do not grant adequate relief and are unimportant. Mr. Funston replies that to abolish it on such grounds . . . is like taking a thimbleful of water away from a thirsty man because it is not enough to quench his thirst.

And never think that dividend income is the concern only of the well-to-do. The last census of stockholder's found that they numbered 12.5 million people. Of these 3.5 million had incomes of less than $5,000 and another 6 million were in the $5,000-$10,000 range.

It is certainly true that the present law does not give adequate relief. But that is an argument for increasing the exclusion and the credit—not for reducing or doing away with them.

People with faith in the future and savings to invest deserve encouragement not the penalties of a short sighted government that talks growth, and taxes it to death in the same breath.

UNTIL A SALE IS MADE

An advertisement of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association carries this heading: "Nothing Happens Until A Sale Is Made." The text adds, "But when sales are made, things happen. America lives, breathes, creates. There is accomplishment, pride. There is progress.

"Where are most sales made? In ads, of course. Ads that tell you what you want to know, about what you want to buy. Ads that guide you in fulfilling needs and wants. Ads that stimulate competition, help keep prices down. Ads that keep America rolling ahead."

These statements come close to being truisms.

And they underline two facts of importance to everyone. In our kind of economy, advertising is a basic essential. Through their ads producers and sellers of a thousand and one kinds of goods and services compete for public favor—and, if they are to be successful, they must back up their statements by trying to give the best possible quality for the price.

Secondly, the Association's statement points up the role of retailing in this country. All the productive facilities on earth would be useless if there were no comparable mechanism for moving the products into the hands of the people who want and use them. Mass distribution, pioneered long ago by the chains and subsequently adopted by other kinds of retailers, is the full and equal partner of mass production.

Yes—nothing happens until a sale is made.

ESCAPE FROM BONDAGE

A bust of Thomas Alva Edison was recently installed in the Hall of Fame of Great Americans at New York University. He was a wise man, as well as one of the greatest of inventors. And something he said in 1926 is even more significant now than it was then: "It has been charged . . . that we of the United States have become a machine-ridden people, that we are developing upon lines too completely mechanical. The very reverse is the truth. We are not mechanical enough. The machine has been human being's most effective means of escape from bondage. Too many people, even now, remain bond-slaves to laborious hand-processes. Not through fever but through more machines, not through simpler but through more complex machines, will men find avenues that lead into lives of greater opportunity and happiness."

That should be pondered by those who are fearful of automation, which is just another long advance in mechanizing the tasks of life. If we oppose it, we are opposing the natural development of a force that can lead to higher living and working standards, and—for better or worse—to greater leisure, than any we have yet known.

TONASKET, WASH., TRIBUNE: "It is not yet too late to save the Republic if citizens heed the clear signs of disaster ahead and reverse their stampede into socialism and the welfare state. This means a return to self dependence and a realization of the truth that 'God helps those who help themselves.'"

"Government aid is a delusion and a snare."

Chips From The Carpenter's Workbench

By JAMES BALLMARK

Most of the confusion prevalent in the religious world today results from doctrines and practices not taught in the Bible. In other words, men are divided more over what the Bible does not teach, than what it does teach.

For example, the scriptures are silent on the practice of infant baptism. The Bible does not teach, nor infer, the immersion of infants. To adopt such a practice is to do so without the authority of God as revealed in his word. On the other hand, the Bible does teach believer's baptism (Mark 16:15-16). Much misunderstanding would be eliminated if we simply accepted what the word of God authorizes and rejected those things which are not taught.

The word of God is silent concerning some of the names worn by many churches today.

Any name that we wear should glorify the one who purchased the church with his own blood (Acts 20:28). The Bible does refer to the church as: "the church", "the church of the Lord", "churches of Christ", and other like descriptive terms. The religious world would be one step closer to scriptural unity if they would reject as unscriptural all names which honor men or practices, and accept the God-approved terms which are used to describe his church.

Other practices could be mentioned such as: instrumental music, voting on applicants for church membership, man-made creeds, priesthood, etc. All of these things are foreign to the Bible, and consequently must be voided as unscriptural. May we honestly desire to "Speak where the Bible speaks, and remain silent where the Bible is silent."

Milk Month In Texas

Just as June is the big month for marrying, so is it the big month for dairying. June Dairy Month is probably the most regularly recognized observance in our state and nation of any segment of agriculture.

Thanks to the fine promotional work done by the American Dairy Association and our own Texas Milk Producers Association, June Dairy Month is practically a household word. And this is good, because dairying really is special.

Milk products provide a larger part of our total food supply than does any other class of food products. Not only that, but milk and its products are likely more essential to us than any other food from a nutritional standpoint.

In support of the high importance of milk in our national diet, the record shows that milk and foods made from it supplied approximately 25 per cent of the total food supply in 1960. In other words, out of the average of 1,488 pounds of food each American consumed last year, 414 pounds were in forms of milk.

It is interesting to note also that Texas milk consumption was considerably above that national average. In 1960, Texas dairymen produced more than $50 million pounds of milk, a good yield, but millions of additional pounds were shipped in to help supply Texans' needs. Texans May Eat Beef Every Day, which is good, but they certainly drink milk or eat something made from milk—several times a day.

Government estimates of milk consumption indicate that each American ate 82 pounds of cheese last year. Ice cream was eaten at the rate of 18.4 pounds per person during the same period.

Fluid milk, of course, was the big item, with an estimated 342 pounds taken in by each American in 1960. Evaporated milk, of which less was consumed than in previous years, accounted for 15.1 pounds per person, and nonfat dry milk, which made up the loss, was up to 6.2 pounds per person.

Cottage cheese use has grown from slightly less than 2 pounds per person 20 years ago to over 5 pounds in 1960.

There is no finer food than milk and those things made from milk. It would be good for each of us to not only look for extra ways to enjoy milk during June, but also to take time out to be thankful that we have it to enjoy.

 and many other cotton insects!

Now is the time to act to keep those last set bolls on the plant. Endrin or Endrin combined with other insecticides will do it for you. Endrin combinations give you quick knock-down and fast kill of more of the hard-to-control cotton insects. You use less and can allow a longer time between treatments. The result is a lower cost per acre and more effective control.

Texas experts say you'll get an average $8 return on every dollar you spend now on insect control.

$1 gets you $6

Your Home
By Frances Alsworth

How many times have you looked sadly at your spotted, soiled carpeting and rugs and wondered what could be done about them without the budget-shattering expense of a commercial cleaning job? Lots of times? That's why I'm so enthused and excited about an answer I've found to this problem. It's a Shampoo-Polisher that is the first I've seen that actually takes the tiresome work out of shampooing rugs, washing and waxing floors. This new electric appliance is so beautifully designed that there's no tedious pushing or pulling. You simply guide this lightweight appliance across your carpeting, rugs or floors. The big dispensing tank holds two quarts of cleaning solution and releases it into the shampooers instantly converting it into suds at the slightest touch of the trigger. Extra soft Durastran bristles whirl the suds into your carpet so gently, so quickly, so effectively that there's just no danger of soaking your carpet. And the shampooers adjust automatically to varying carpet thicknesses.

As if the carpet cleaning talents of this new Shampoo-Polisher weren't enough, it is a floor scrubber and waxer as well. Here is evidence that the Hoover Company has done some sound, basic research into appliances we really need to make our cleaning tasks easier.

I'm convinced that with a Shampoo-Polisher you can have beautiful carpets and floors for the holidays without any back-breaking work. Don't you agree?

Miss Melissa Ann Lee And Robert E. Birk Married In Church Ceremony Here

The First Methodist Church of Munday was the setting for the Saturday evening ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Melissa Ann Lee of Munday and Robert Ernest Birk of Iowa Park.

Officiating for the 5 o'clock nuptials were Rev. Rex Mauldin, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Munday, and Rev. Boyd Schlenther, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Iowa Park.

The former Miss Lee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Travis Lee of Munday, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Birk of Iowa Park.

The sanctuary was decorated with pink and white June flowers arranged on either side of the altar on which burned massive twin candles.

Dr. Nita Akin of Wichita Falls, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mrs. Rex Mauldin as she sang.

Presented for marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of white silk organza fashioned with a bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace featuring scalloped neckline and three-quarter sleeves. The skirt front was of horizontal tucks and the unpressed pleats in the skirt back ended in chapel train. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a demi-cap of Alencon lace trimmed in tiny pearls, and she carried an oval hand bouquet of white roses and orchids.

Miss Ann Adams of Wellesley, Mass., was maid of honor. She wore a cap-sleeved gown of repeated pink silk organza featuring a scalloped neckline. She wore a small hat of pink net and velvet and carried a hand bouquet of pink roses.

Calvin Hansen of Wichita Falls, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man, and ushers were Jim Lee, brother of the bride, Dr. George Porter, Bill Davenport of Lawton, Okla., and Glen Miller of Iowa Park.

The bride is a graduate of Munday High School and is presently a senior organ major at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls.

The groom is a graduate of Austin College, Sherman, Texas. He served in the U. S. Army for two years following his graduation from college and was employed by Page Aircraft Maintenance, Inc., Lawton, Okla., for two years after completion of his military service. He is presently employed at State National Bank, Iowa Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee were hosts for the reception held at their residence in Munday. The bridal table was covered with a pink net cloth draped with flower garlands, repeating the floral decorations of the porch and garden where the reception was held. Hurricane lamps garlanded with flowers marked the approaches to the garden.

Cousins of the bride presiding at the table were Misses Jerrilyn Kane, Linda Fay Smith, Lia Lo Lee and Mary Beth Lee. Registering the guests was Miss Beverly Birk, sister of the groom.

Others assisting in the household were Mrs. Calvin Hansen, sister of the groom, and Misses Jan Pendleton and Claire Harpman.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home in Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith Jr., and Mrs. Bruce Burnett were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held in the Smith home. The bride's chosen colors of pink and white were featured in the flower arrangements.

Double ring vows were spoken in the chapel of Plainview First Baptist Church, with the pastor, Dr. Roy C. McClung, officiating. The ceremony was performed before an altar of candelabra holding yellow tapers and greenery, flanked by baskets of white chrysanthemums and cream yellow gladioli. White satin bows marked the family pews.

sister's honor attendant, attired in a yellow cotton dress with puffed sleeves, trimmed with daisy lace, featuring a matching cummerbund. Did Betsy Ross really make the first American flag? Historians are not quite sure.

The first public assertion that she did appeared in a paper read before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania in March of 1870 by her grandson, William J. Canby. But Mr. Canby later found no official documents of any action by Congress on the flag before June 14, 1777.

Betsy's own story, related by her daughter, was that George Washington, along with Congressional representatives Robert Morris and George Ross, visited Philadelphia in June of 1776, showing her a sketch of the flag and asking her to make one.

The only record of flags made by Betsy Ross is a voucher in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, for 14 pounds and several shillings for flags made for the Pennsylvania navy.

Regardless of the origin of the American flag, it is the symbol of our nation's glorious history and achievements. The American Legion Auxiliary urges all Americans to proudly display the flag on Flag Day, June 14th, and all other appropriate occasions. Many homeowners display flags on national holidays. Special dates during the summer months include: Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day (the first Monday in September).

Knox Prairie Philosopher Throws Cold Water On Attempt To Conquer The Moon In Order To Conquer Earth

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek explores space this week, strictly from his rocking chair.

Dear editor:
In this day and age, nobody wants to be called scientifically backwards, although I've been called backwards in a lot of other fields and it hasn't bothered me, at least not to the extent of doing anything about it, but a neighbor of mine said he read a letter of mine in The Munday Times a while back and got the idea I was opposed to exploring space, like sending a man to the moon.

He got it wrong. I'm not opposed to exploring space, so long as somebody else besides me is in the rocket, but I would like to point out that my guess that man may not find as much out in space as he thinks has now been agreed to by at least some scientists.

In a pool of space scientists the other day, it was found some scientists say it is essential that we get a man on the moon, and some day they doubt it would be worth the cost.

Here's the thing. The scientists for putting a man on the moon say it's necessary, because if Russia gets complete control of the moon, she can have a better chance at controlling the earth.

I got to thinking about this, and it suddenly dawned on me, that if you can control the earth from the moon, why can't you control the moon from Mars or Venus or some other planet?

You mean to say that in order to control the earth, we've got to control the moon, and in order to control the moon, we've got to control the next planet beyond that, and then the next after that, and so on and on out into the limitless areas of unexplored space?

This not only stretches the imagination, but it stretched and broke the national budget several planets back. This sure is going a long ways out in space to get peace on earth. It's like me saying I'll have to conquer all the land in North America before I can control this Johnson grass farm, whereas you and I both know what's standing in the way of improving this farm ain't the rest of North America, it's mostly me.

Conquering the moon and all the other planets in the universe in order to conquer the earth reminds me of a quotation: "The faults, dear Brutus, lies not in our stars but in ourselves." This is from Shakespeare, which I read on the back of a calendar

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

Galaxie styling is inspiring more admiration (and imitation) than any other car on the road!

This is Galaxie styling—inspired by the fabulous Thunderbird!
Many cars have tried to copy the incomparably beautiful 1961 Galaxie. No car has succeeded.
And styling is only part of Galaxie's distinction. This is the car that's beautifully built to take care of itself. The '61 Ford goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications . . . 4,000 miles between oil changes. Brakes adjust automatically.

Wouldn't it make sense to STOP spending money on an old car that can never do for you what a new Ford can do?
SWAP right now while your Ford Dealer's sales are booming—and the swapping is easier than it's ever been before.
SAVE with the car that makes saving a pleasure.
Today is the day to STOP...SWAP...SAVE
