Expanded Program For Rural Housing Permits Loans To Greater Numbers

Families living in small rural communities and in rural areas, even though not engaged in farming may now be eligible for the housing loans made by the Farmers Home Administration, according to Wilburn A. Satterwhite, the agency's county supervisor for Baylor, Knox and Throckmorton Counties.

The Housing Act of 1961 broadened the eligibility requirements for rural housing loans. As a result owners of non-farm tracts in rural areas and in small rural communities of not more than 2,500, as well as farmers, may be eligible for this type of credit.

"This program is an important tool in promoting the development of rural areas," Mr. Satterwhite said. "Rural Housing loans will not only help families obtain better homes but will put more carpenters, plumbers, and electricians to work, and will increase the sales in lumber yards and building supply firms."

Housing loans are made for the construction, repair, and remodeling of dwellings and essential farm buildings and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction, funds are available to modernize homes — add bathrooms, central heating, modern kitchens, and other home improvements, as well as to enlarge and remodel farm service buildings and put in related facilities such as paved feedlots, yard fences, and driveways.

Rural Housing loans may also be used for the construction of a fall-out and storm shelters.

The interest rate is 4 percent per year on the unpaid balance of the loan. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

The proposed housing must be

"WHAT YOU CAN DO FOR YOUR COUNTRY..."

At this time of year we observe and participate in a splendid voluntary effort. In your community and others across the land, millions of our friends and neighbors are supporting the United Fund and Community Chest campaigns. These United Way campaigns exemplify the American talent for teamwork. Every campaign challenges the community's civic pride, generosity and capacity for hard work. This annual Fall drive is also the means to an important end—the planning and financing of balanced programs, services and facilities that promote good health and good citizenship through the year. Voluntary health and welfare organizations in your community are thus enabled to guide youth, fight disease, mend broken homes, provide recreation, help the elderly, the lonely, the ailing. The United Way benefits the greatest number of people. I am certain that you want to help your community—and our country—grow stronger, safer and happier. I urge you, then, to give generously to your United Way campaign.

GIVE THE UNITED WAY

adequate to meet the family's needs yet modest in size and design.

To be eligible an applicant must own farm or housing site in a rural area; be without decent, safe and sanitary housing; be unable to obtain the needed credit from other sources; and be without sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing on his own account. He must also have or be able to obtain sufficient income to meet payments on existing debts, take care of his other expenses, and make the payments on the proposed loan.

The local county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will review building plans and inspect the housing construction as it progresses in order to make certain the borrower obtains sound and acceptable construction.

The local county committee of the Farmers Home Administration determines the eligibility of applicants.

Farmers who need to enlarge or develop their farming operations in order to obtain enough income to pay for housing loans may obtain from the Farmers Home Administration, farm enlargement and development loans and farm management help.

Rural families who need emergency housing repairs and do not have the ability to repay a loan may be able to obtain small grants for such purposes as repairing a roof, screening windows, and providing a sanitary supply of water.

All loans are secured to the extent necessary to protect the Government's interest. Small improvement loans made in amount less than $1500 with repayments scheduled over periods up to 10 years may be secured by a promissory note. Other loans are secured by mortgages.

More than $400 million has been authorized for rural housing loans over the next four years.

The Housing Act of 1961 also authorized the Farmers Home Administration to issue loans for housing and related facilities for domestic farm labor. These loans may be made to farm owners, associations of farmers, state and local government units and non-profit associations.

Funds for these insured loans are provided by private investors. The Farmers Home Administration will make and service the loans, and insure their repayment. The total volume of insured loans may not exceed $25 million in any one year.

Further information on rural housing loans may be obtained at the county office of the Farmers Administration located at 115 W. McLain Street, Seymour, Texas, or at the ASC office in Knox City, Texas, each Tuesday from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon or at the courthouse in Throckmorton, Texas, each Thursday between the hours of 11:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon on the second floor.

Most of Texas' 1961 grain crop is now in storage, and this represents a large investment of time and money. Carelessness could turn many of these investments into losses by allowing stored-grain insects to infest the granary. Extension entomologists advise checking the grain supplies regularly for infestations of these pests. If they are discovered in the grain, the storage structure should be fumigated immediately. For further information, get a copy of L-217, "Control of Insects in Farm Stored Grain."

... Give Until It Helps! ...

I can remember talking to old railroad men who knew Casey Jones, and to a man who, when a lad, sat on the knee of Mrs. Dickenson, the survivor of the Alamo—(she was his aunt by marriage). James Stephen Hogg lived in Tyler when he was elected governor and a group of his close friends referred to by his political foes as "the Tyler gang." The friends accepted the designation and wore it proudly. Probably the last survivor was Capt. T. N. Jones. I heard him make a talk in the courthouse in Tyler, endorsing a graduate of Tyler High School who was then running for attorney general. That was in 1933. The candidate: Raipin Yarborough.

was pointed out to me in 1921, as a former Populist who had held county office. Also along in the early 1930's, I met "Cyclone" Davis, (the original — the later picturesque name was his son). Old Cyclone was one of the greatest debaters of the Populist party in the nation.

I have talked to three men who said they saw Lincoln. One was in the theater the night of the assassination.

At Doan's Crossing on Red River a trail-drivers' monument was dedicated about 1931 and on that occasion I saw a dozen men who had driven herds of Longhorns up the trail in the 1870's and 1880's.

I once saw Dan Patch, perhaps the most famous horse of all time; and heard Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, hero of "the Spain" make a speech. I knew a Confederate veteran who captured a Yankee naval officer by the name of George Dewey; and as a boy I saw hundreds of Confederate veterans march, give the "rebel yell" and dance a jig as they paraded in Memphis 44 years after the war was over.

Then I talked to a banker in Clarendon who knew Temple Houston well when Old Sam's brilliant son practiced law there; and I interviewed an elderly man in Wellington who was a friend of Bob Ollinger, the last man that Billy the Kid slew. Also, I have talked to four men who knew a certain killer for hire very well—the man who is supposed to have assassinated Pat Garrett. (Garrett was, of course, the man who killed Billy the Kid)

In Eastland in the 1920's I knew Harry Johnson — and in World War II he was military governor of Rome. Others whom I've met were Frank Keil, who built probably more short-line railroads than any other man; Battling Nelson, Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey; Edwin Markham, who wrote "The Man with the Hoe"; Alfalfa Bill Murray, John N. Garner, Bob Burns, Will Rogers, and William Jennings Bryan.

You know—maybe I ought to write a book sometime.

Heating Equipment Check Recommended

Heating equipment should be checked now to help assure maximum comfort and safety during the coming winter months.

This reminder came today from Lone Star Gas Company Manager O. F. Gates, who urged that heating equipment be checked before cold weather sets in. Mr. Gates suggested these safety precautions:

1. Have heating equipment and vent pipes inspected for safe and economical operation. If adjustments are required, call a qualified serviceman.
2. Be sure that your heating equipment has a source of fresh air. See that the gas burns with a bright blue flame.
3. Use only metal connectors approved by the American Gas Association. Do not use rubber hose.
4. Keep clothing, furniture, curtains, and other combustible materials away from heating equipment.

"By taking these simple yet essential precautions," Mr. Gates said, "homeowners will eliminate possible accident hazards and will make their homes comfortable for the winter season."

In commemorating World War I veterans, a resolution which granted permission to erect a memorial upon the state capitol grounds at Austin has been signed into law, and a contract has been signed with a Llano firm to erect the memorial.

Knox County Barracks No. 1029 is one of the sponsors of this project and has paid its portion in full. The commander is very anxious that all World War I veterans of Knox County get their names in as soon as possible so they may be placed in the vault.

Texas Agriculture: A Long List of Farming Firsts

Traditionally, Texans probably lay claim to more and better of most any and everything than any of the rivalling 49 states. Often as not, these Texas boasts are tongue-in-cheek accommodations for folks who just expect us to brag. In agriculture, however, the Lone Star State has a long list of firsts of which we ought to be reminded, just in case we ever need some "real" verbal ammunition.

Difficult as it is, it's necessary to start out tirade on pride with an admission: Texas is not first in the nation in total value of agricultural products. We rank fourth with a total annual farm income that exceeds two billion dollars, which is no small shakes. This is about a fifth of total income for the state each year.

Of major farm products, however, we can claim more production firsts than any other state. Some of these are:

COTTON: This is our most valuable crop, and far more cotton grows in Texas than in any state. Our farmers produce about four million bales a year, worth some 700 million dollars.

BEEF CATTLE: Here again we lead the nation, production-wise, and beef cattle provide Texas' second largest source of agricultural income, earning about 400 million dollars a year. We might add that the long-range cattle industry originated in Texas, and we're still far ahead of the rest in cattle raising.

SORGHUMS: Texas out front again. Next to cotton, this is the state's most valuable field crop and the third most valuable source of farm income.

RICE: We are at or near the top in rice production, rivalled nearest by California. Our rice farmers along the Gulf Coast have done a magnificent job in producing a superior product. Although we lead in rice production, we are pretty far behind in rice consumption. A lot of Texans haven't discovered just how good and good for you rice is.

OTHER FIRSTS include production of sheep and goats in which Texas leads, and accompanying firsts in production of wool and mohair, which a lot of folks don't know about.

There are other farm products, certainly, which we can brag about, being near the top in production and certainly at the top in quality. These include, in part, poultry (the commercial broiler industry started in Texas) and eggs (we rang first in the South, seventh in the nation in egg production, and our eggs are the best); corn, which ranks second only to cotton in the amount marketed; vegetables, citrus, semi-tropical fruits, melons, dissiduous fruits (peaches, pears, plums), pecans this is where pecans were first found in greatest abundance), peanuts, and on and on.

So the next time somebody asks you to talk about Texas, tell them about Lone Star agriculture.

Loaded Guns In Automobiles Cause Many Accidents

Hunters today were warned against carrying loaded guns in their automobiles. J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator of the Game and Fish Commission, points out it's very dangerous.

"Many accidents happen to persons who carry loaded guns in their cars," the director said. "During the hunting season we hear of many reports where persons have carelessly handled these guns, resulting in accidental discharge."

"Guns should not be loaded until the hunter is in the field, and then they should be checked to be sure the safety is on. There are other precautions, too, such as not climbing fences with loaded guns."
