C. of C. To Seek Paving Munday-Knox City

MOVE STARTED FOR PAVING OF MUNDAY-KNOX CITY HIGHWAY BY THE MUNDAY CHAMBER COMMERCE

A move was started at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Munday Chamber of Commerce on Thursday noon for the paving of the Munday-Knox City highway, and a committee was named to work on the project by J. B. Davy, president of the organization. The committee named is composed of W. R. Moore, E. H. Bauman and J. A. Caughran, and this committee will work in conjunction with the Knox City Chamber of Commerce with a view of getting the State Highway Commission to build the highway, which would serve as a connection link between Highway 30 and Highway 54. The road is already a designated highway.

Attention was called to the fact that many of the children attending the Munday schools go the entire day without food and Tom Haney, R. G. Campbell and J. A. Kennedy were appointed on a committee to confer with officials of the Parent-Teacher Association with a view of providing a noonday lunch for every child who is not provided with food.

The matter of the agitation now going on throughout this section between the Burlington lines and the compresses was discussed to some length by Mr. Boone, manager of the local compress, and after some discussion of the matter the president designated E. W. McGlothlin, W. R. Moore and J. A. Kennedy a committee to investigate the merits of the two contentions and report to the board of directors.

RHINELAND

The schools have dismissed for several weeks, and the children are now all busy helping their parents gather crops.

Last Sunday morning Miss Frances Diering, who graduated with high honors from Rhineland High School last spring, left for Lubbock where she will enter Texas Technological College.

Miss Mary de Aguirre, teacher of the Rhineland High School and former resident of Munday, and her father are making their home in Rhineland. Messrs. William Peyson and Edward Luck, and Miss Josephine Peyson, visited with relatives and friends last week.

Wynell Albus, the little six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Albus, is ill, but is reported to be improving.

Miss Mary Buddy left Sunday for her home in Wichita Falls, where she will spend her time until school resumes.

Misses Clara Albus and Myra Lee McMahon returned to Waco after having spent an enjoyable vacation. They were accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Albus and daughter, Leona, who will spend a few days in Waco. —Reporter.

Munday Outclassed In Game With Red & White Aggregation

Skipper Lee Haney hubbed a tough aggregation here Sunday when he pitched his Munday aggregation against the Red & White team, city champions of Wichita Falls. In fact after the first few innings it was evident to the local fans that they were waging a hopeless battle and the game reverted into a comedy affair, and resulted in a score for the visitors that at a mere glance might be taken for the national debt. The offerings of Chick Smith, Abbott and August Loran, all outstanding stars of the Brazos Valley League, were hit high, wide and handsome, and McGraw fared no better than the rest when he was sent to the mound to stop the onslaught.

Included in the Wichita Falls aggregation were several professionals, including Jimmy Parker, late with the Fort Worth cats and Johnny McMahon, recently with the Southern association, and they had no difficulty in taking charge of the situation.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Rev. C. A. Tucker, pastor of the Presbyterian church, will preach on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at Sunset, and will fill his appointment here at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and 7:30 Sunday evening.

Days We'll Never Forget

RATTLER KILLED IN CITY LIMITS OF MUNDAY.

Some forty years ago a rattlesnake was not an unusual reptile over the Knox Prairie, but in recent years they have become few and far between. And hence the killing of a seven-rattler within the city limits of Munday might be termed an unusual occurrence.

The rattler was killed Sunday as it made its way across the street near the Farmers Union bins. After being run over by two automobiles the reptile was guarded out of the weeds until E. N. Thomas could procure a shotgun and the career of the town snake was brought to an abrupt end.

Hundreds Coming Into Territory To Harvest Cotton

Hundreds of cotton pickers have come into the Munday country during the past two weeks and they have found places just about as fast as they have arrived and it is believed that there will be no shortage of pickers in this section. Farmers have been very busy arranging living quarters and many of those who have come in early have helped in harvesting the maize crop while waiting for cotton picking to open up.

Cotton is slower in opening in this section than in most parts of the country, but it is believed that the pickers will be grinding away steadily within the next week, and it will be only a few days until they are operating twenty-four hours each day.

Farmers report cotton as doing fine and opening rapidly. Many of the fields are still white with blooms and with a late frost the crop will be materially increased.

New Paint and Other Improvements Made At Ray's Lunchroom

Ray Early has recently made some decided improvements in the appearance of that popular place by giving the interior a new coat of paint and providing glass tops for the lunch counter and numerous other improvements. In fact, the entire place has been thoroughly renovated and Ray is ready to serve his patrons in a more satisfactory manner than ever.

Rain Puts Stop To Cotton Picking In This Part of State

Rain, which began falling early Thursday morning, has put an abrupt stop to cotton picking over the Munday country and it is likely that there will be no more picking this week, as it remains cloudy late Thursday and indications are good for more rain, however, the farmers and business men are anxious to see the rains subside.

Cotton is reported opening very rapidly despite the cool weather during the past two weeks and with another week of sunshine the gins here will be running day and night. Many pickers have come into the territory during the past few weeks and we have heard of no shortages, however, with another week of fair weather it is likely that many more can be placed over this territory.

Rev. John H. Crowe Undergoes Operation In Wichita Hospital

Rev. John H. Crowe, pastor of the Methodist church, underwent an operation for the removal of his tonsils in a Wichita Falls hospital on Tuesday and is reported to be getting along nicely.

The pulpit at the Methodist church will be filled on Sunday morning by Hon. T. R. O'Dell, lay leader, of Haskell, and at the evening hour the Rev. Jack Thompson, pastor of the Westminster church will preach at 7:30. The mid-week prayer meeting will be held at the church on Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Thinking Out Loud

By J. A. K.

Since Ross Sterling and Mrs. Jim Ferguson can't agree on who's the rightful nominee, why not leave it to The Literary Digest?

This publication has been naming our Presidents in advance for a number of years, and to determine in progress a straw vote to know who will win in November.

Walter Tiner, local pharmacist, and former citizen of Uvalde, an intimate friend to John Garner, states that Garner isn't much on talking, always contenting that those who talker much eventually said too much.

And in this respect our nominee is much like Calvin Coolidge, who has been referred to as the Sphinx.

It's an easy matter for one in politics to say too much, and most any seasoned politician will agree with us on that statement.

Our youngest son came home enthused the other day over the fact that he had made 100 in his lesson, and explained that he had made 100 in plussing. "You know—1 plus 2 equal three."

Which reminded us of another one of the boys who came home some years ago and exclaimed that he had made 100 in his grades—50 in arithmetic and 50 in spelling.

Again we have the Tom-Tom with us. This feature of The Times belongs to the school kids and if you don't enjoy reading it just turn over to our editorials, however, some of those kids can beat us at that.

The sales tax will not be downed. The more other taxes are tried, the more do distraught tax students turn to renewed consideration of the tax that is so easy to pay many people are afraid of it.

Many Texas newspapers believe that a sales tax may be the answer to Texas' tax problem.

The assumption is largely proved by the experience of our neighbor state, Mississippi. The sales tax was levied there over the protest of organized business. Surely, if not slowly, it has lifted that bankrupt state out of the slough of financial chaos. Mississippi business has changed its mind about the sales tax.

MANY KNOX CITIZENS JOIN SHERIFF AND DEPUTIES IN MANHUNT ON LARGE LEAGUE ESTATE WEDNESDAY MORNING

Singing Convention Meets Sunday Goree At Methodist Church

The Knox County singing convention will meet Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church at Goree. The program will begin promptly at 2:30 and everyone is extended a cordial invitation to attend and take part.

Bob Sadler is among those on the sick list this week, having been confined to his room all the week with fever, and at this time is getting along very well.

Mrs. Nellie Shine, mother of Messdames H. A. Pendleton and C. A. Barton, is somewhat improved over her condition last week, but is still critically ill.

A son of Frank Herring of the Rhineland community was painfully injured first of the week when he was run over by a horse. A severe wound in his right leg necessitated that he be carried to the Knox City hospital for treatment.

Mrs. R. L. Balenger and little son, of Vernon, are here this week visiting in the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith.

Messdames John Spann and Erna Mae Leo were visitors to Wichita Falls on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Bengie visited relatives and friends in Paris and Honey Grove the latter part of last week, and while there they made the acquaintance of a new niece, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Flaiger, who made her arrival on Tuesday last week. Mrs. Flaiger will be remembered by many friends here as Miss Lucille Moyer.

More recently, Pennsylvania launched an experiment in taxation upon sales. The Quaker state expects to realize some $15,000,000 annually from the new tax, and the people will pay the freight in a one per cent advance in the general level of commodity prices.

Everybody realizes that Texas will be looking for some new revenue sources next January—especially if, as appears extremely probable, the people approve exemption of homesteads from the ad valorem tax. There is some doubt, however, as to whether Texas should turn to a graduated income tax or a sales tax.

Business Concerns Warned To Be Very Cautious This Fall

Business men and citizens generally are cautioned to be on the watch for various types of grafters during the fall months, as many strangers are drifting into the community, and while the vast majority are honest necessarily come those whose purpose is to leech off society and graft in the various and sundry ways that their keen minds have conceived, and it will therefore be necessary to keep on the alert for the latter class.

Especially should business men be cautious in cashing checks, and farmers should be very cautious in writing them for strangers for it is indeed an easy matter to raise the ordinary check and in years gone by many forgeries have been penetrated by dishonest parties by copying signatures of farmers, which are usually written in a very careless manner and frequently under difficulties. No honest person can be offended by an investigation of a check tendered in lieu of money.

Also with the coming of fall there will be various grafters working from time to time, and every caution should be taken. Business men should especially be on the alert with reference to various advertising schemes offered them. Probably no more business is abused more than the advertising business, and everything offered as an advertising scheme is not judicious advertising.

U. R. Houser Makes Extension In Store Providing More Room

U. R. Houser is this week extending his store room space and building additional shelving for the enlargement of his grocery stock, and with the partition removed the space formerly used as a warehouse will be utilized for displaying his line of groceries, which will be materially increased with the additional space available.

Munday Ball Club Will Play Abilene Bear Kats Sunday

Skipper Lee Haney has matched his outfit to play the fast Bear Kat team of Abilene Sunday afternoon at Abilene, and is arranging a fast line-up to go against them.

The Bear Kats played Rochester, winners of the championship in the Brazos Valley League last Sunday afternoon at Goree, and won by a 3-1 score, and the Munday aggregation is going to Abilene expecting to put up a hard fight to win, and as many local fans as can go are urged to do so.

WELL KNOWN STARS SUFFERS PAINFUL INJURY IN STRENUOUS ROLE

William Farnum, Thomas Jefferson and Lionel Belmore in "Ten Nights In A Bar-Room."

During the filming of the great fight sequence in the all-talking picture "Ten Nights In A Bar-Room," the present feature attraction at the Roxy Theatre, William Farnum, the star, broke his left hand. The accident occurred during the last day's work on the picture, and following the code of the screen and the theatre, Farnum went on through with his part, those about him in ignorance of the agony he suffered although a drug was injected in the arm to alleviate the pain.

The extent of Mr. Farnum's prowess can well be imagined after seeing the terrific fight he stages with Tom Santschi in "Ten Nights In A Bar-Room." The smashing climax of this modern version of an old stage favorite surpasses the previous record breaking battle that Farnum and Santschi put on in the original version of the "Spoilers."

Laid in the days just before Prohibition, this all-talking drama tells a compelling story of a great father love. As the character, Joe Morgan, William Farnum's transaction from the happy, good-natured miller to the besotted drunkard and his regeneration through the love of a little child is a dramatic achievement which adds new laurels to Mr. Farnum's brilliant career as one of the really great artists of stage and screen.

Meat Curing Plant Meets With Popular Demand In Munday

Announcement of the Roberts Ice Company in last week's issue of The Times that a meat curing plant would be added to their activities had met with a popular demand and the refrigeration plant has already received several thousand pounds of pork and Mr. Roberts has been working this week under the direction of County Agent Jones in the curing of the meat, and Mr. Roberts is elated over the response that has come the announcement.

The curing, according to Mr. Roberts, will require some forty days, and meat cured in this manner is equal in flavor to that produced by packing houses, and he believes that when this meat is placed on the local market that it will be purchased in preference to the packing house product and will therefore give the farmer a more profitable market for his surplus hogs.

Another advantage pointed out by Mr. Roberts is the fact that there is absolutely no waste in curing meat in this manner, as there is no spoilage as the meat is kept at an even temperature, and there is no necessity for the farmer to kill more at any one time than is required to meet his requirements, and he may have fresh cured meats in July and August just as well as in November and December.

Mr. Roberts contends that there is no need for the citizenship of this community to produce hogs, sell them to the packing houses in Fort Worth at a low price and then buy them back in cured form at a high price, including freight and other necessary charges tacked on all along the line when we can produce, cure and consume the product here at home and enable the producer to get 100 per cent of the fruits of his labor, and the merchants of Munday have pledged their fullest cooperation in handling home cured products.

In either case, the people pay the income tax, an occupation tax, a gross receipts tax—eventually every one of them is paid by the people. So it isn't a question of who will pay; it is merely a question of whether it shall be indirect or an indirect tax.

The Mexico News recently explained the difference between the two forms of tax in these pertinent sentences: "The graduated income tax is a tax on gross sales. The income tax is paid by those most able to pay. The sales tax is paid by those who never know the difference."

Mmes. Geo. Salem and Sied Waheed Hostesses at Oriental Social

One of the most unique and pleasant social affairs of the season was the Oriental party given in the lovely home of Mrs. George Salem on Friday afternoon.

At the entrance of the home the guests were greeted by Mrs. Salem's small daughters, Alva and Nadene, in costume, one presiding over the register of names and the other a coin dish where each guest dropped a coin. They were then graciously received by the hostesses, Mesdames Salem and Waheed, who presented Mrs. Sillman of Knox City, a sister-in-law to Mrs. Salem. Comfortable cushions covered with bright colored Persian robes and pillows were arranged on the floor and the guests were seated in Oriental fashion. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with hangings of tapestry, pottery vases, rugs and many antique articles which gave a decided Oriental atmosphere.

Each room was centered by a coffee table, one of which was a family relic of beautiful design of inland ivory and pearl. Imported coffee flavored with extract of orange blossoms was served each guest and the dregs left were used to determine the individual fortunes as told by Mrs. Waheed, who was charming in her Gypsy costume.

Mrs. Salem, in the quaint dignity of the Orient, dressed as a representative of the Turkish government, gave a salute and sang a song in the Turkish language.

A contest invoking much merriment was the drinking from a pitcher of Damascus without spilling water, which appeared very easy but proved very difficult.

Mrs. Sillman was enthusiastically received as she entered in a striking embroidered robe typical of the native Damascus women, which enhanced her charm and personality. Mrs. Joe Davis, in her usual charming manner, rendered several musical numbers.

This happy occasion was an original idea of the hostesses in the combination of a social hour and the swelling of the funds of the W. M. S. local treasury, for which the society is truly thankful.

A salad plate consisting of wheat meat croquettes on lettuce, paprika crackers, ripe olives from the Holy Land, angel kisses and minted tea was served to the following members and guests: Mesdames, Joe Davis, T. E. Dickerson, W. P. Farrington, D. E. Holder, Dorse Rogers, J. C. Harpen, Jr., E. M. Roberts, Jr., C. R. Haynes, Lee Haynes, G. C. Jones, G. R. Elland, J. A. Caughan, J. T. Lee, S. A. Bowden, O. H. Mrs. Joe Davis Hostess Wednesday Club.

Mrs. Joe Davis was hostess to members of the Wednesday Bridge club and a number of guests at her home. Mrs. T. G. Bengel held high score among the club members with Mrs. Russell Matson winning guest honors.

An attractive salad plate with minted tea was served Mrs. T. G. Bengel, E. H. Bauman, Fred Broach, R. B. Davy, U. R. Houser, H. H. Langford and C. L. Mayes, members; Mmes. J. A. Kennedy, Mat Dillingham, Cecil Jennings, Russell Matson and Miss Winnie Langford, guests.

W. W. McCarty and son, Stanley were in Paducah on Friday of last week making arrangements for Stanley to locate there and engage in the jewelry repair business, and he will leave the latter part of this week for that place. W. W. McCarty will continue the jewelry repair business in Munday.

Mrs. U. S. Rogers and Mrs. Dorse Rogers were in Haskell first of the week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lavoy Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Johnson of Abilene are moving to Munday to make their home, where Mr. Johnson can look after his farming interests. They own a farm between Munday and Goree. Mr. Johnson is a radio engineer and will devote his time to this work in this territory and will be associated with The Rexall Store here and the Jamison-Cloths Hardware at Knox City. He is a graduate in radio engineering of Texas Technological College and was for some years associated with the radio department of Sanger Brothers at Dallas. Statisticians Using Music As American Prosperity Gauge

Tommy Christain, Finds Jazz Index to Wealth

New York City.—The statistician and economic expert, hunting for proofs of our nation's prosperity, might well turn from listing automobile owners to counting the dancing feet of America.

This is the suggestion of Tommy Christain, famous orchestra leader.

"The popularity of jazz is today the best barometer of the prosperity and well-being of America," Christain declares. "Son and daughter, throughout the land, dance to jazz at least five evenings a week. And are mother and father at home, worrying about who is going to pay the piper, or the landlord? Not so you can notice it, mother and father are dancing, too!"

"When a nation as a whole has time for recreation, you may be

Hints for the Household

Chewing gum fastened to your clothing or furniture can be easily removed without much trouble. Even on a "hairy" surface—there will be no trace left of the gum—if you wipe the spot with the white of an egg. Try it some time should you be in this predicament. It works splendidly.

Open Vegetable Sandwiches
Here are a few suggestions for some pretty and tasty vegetable sandwiches—ideal for serving at September parties.

Fresh Mushroom Sandwiches
Fresh mushrooms (chopped fine).
Salt.
Flour (little).
Butter.
Method: Fry altogether until brown. Cool and spread on bread. Do not spread butter on bread as this is a very rich sandwich filling in itself.

Asparagus Tip Sandwich with Mayonnaise.

String beans chopped with chili sauce makes a good sandwich.
Brown bread, buttered. Spread with minced sardines moistened with lemon juice. Decorate with pickle and pimento. Makes a very delightful sandwich.
Salmon Sandwich with Tartar Sauce is delicious.

COOKING HINTS.

Tomato and Summer Squash.
Tomatoes.
Squash.
Flour.
White Sauce.
Method: Sliced tomatoes quite thick. Slice squash same thickness as tomatoes. Dip in flour. Fry brown and cook until done. When done remove to hot platter. Make white sauce in pan vegetables were cooked in. Pour over vegetables and garnish with bacon.

Egg Beater
Egg Beaters are now made in various sizes. One very convenient size is made to fit a measuring cup. So when one egg is called for, it can be beaten in measuring cup thus saving an extra bowl. It is also handy when whipping a small quantity of cream.

Chili Sauce
30 red tomatoes.
6 onions.
3 red peppers (hot).
20 tablespoons of sugar.
5 tablespoons of salt.
5 cups of vinegar.
Method: Chop tomatoes, onions and peppers together. Add the remaining ingredients and cook slowly for at least an hour.

BAKING HINTS.
Stuffed Flank Steak
Slice of Flank Steak—about 1 lb.
Seasoning (including onions and carrots).
1 cup of boiling water.
Method: Spread dressing over meat. Roll it up and tie together. Place sliced carrots and onions in bottom of baking dish. Place meat on top of this and seal on top of meat. Pour boiling water over this. Cover and cook 20 minutes in hot oven. Then uncover and cook 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Make pan gravy.

Stuffing.
1 cup of bread crumbs.
2 tablespoons of melted butter.
Parsley.
Onion.
Celery.
Seasoning.

Baked Peaches
These are different, easy to prepare and delicious.
Method: Wash desired number of peaches. Put in baking pan with water. Sprinkle sugar liberally over top. Bake 1 hour. Serve with plain cream.

A WARNING TO FARMERS.

With the arrival of the fall season comes the necessity for farmers to be on the roads and highways at night with wagons and a reminder of the dangers attached thereto unless precaution is taken.
Every farmer should equip his wagon or trailer with tail light for the safety that such a precaution offers. The State laws require lights or reflectors, but like many other regulations, this law is too often ignored and too often results in tragedy.
The depression has materially added to the hazard, since many auto mobiles have faulty lights and a vast majority of cars have faulty brakes, and the dust floating in the air during the fall months make visibility more difficult, so at best traffic is dangerous, but it is far more dangerous for both motorist and other travelers unless the above precautions are taken.

MR. COOLIDGE AND THE RAILROADS.

Former President Coolidge has been asked to head a nonpartisan commission to study the problems of the railroads. There is no question that the railroads of the United States are in a bad way and we cannot think of anybody better than Mr. Coolidge to head up such a committee. Regardless of politics, there is probably nobody in whom so many Americans of all ranks have complete confidence as Mr. Coolidge. He is noted for his level-headed, common sense and any report on the railroad situation which he might put his name to would be taken very seriously by the railroad people themselves, as well as by the general public. In accepting such a commission for public service, Mr. Coolidge furnishes a good answer to the old question: "What shall we do with our ex-Presidents?"

It is time to get at the roots of the railroad situation. It seems to us that they are either too much under government control or not enough; the present situation, in which they are not allowed to accumulate a surplus in good times to carry them through hard times, is unfair not only to the railroads, but to the public which depends upon them for service. Moreover, the whole railroad situation is changing. The traveling public is relying less and less upon the railroads for passenger transportation for shortening their long distance passenger business. Package freight is moving more and more by trucks, and every new mile of hard paved highway cuts into railroad earnings. On the face of things, it looks as if there would seem to be little business left for the railroads except heavy hauling of bulk freight. We understand that the commission which Mr. Coolidge is to head will look into the whole transportation problem, and we have hope that out of it will come a more intelligent and veritable system of transportation control.

TEXAS TO VOTE ON NINE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

Texas voters will have nine proposed changes in the state's constitution to pass upon on general election day, November 8.
The amendments the people are asked to authorize this time are:
1. To allow the legislature to release delinquent taxes which have been due for 10 years.
2. To exempt from state taxation $3000 of the assessed taxable value of all resident homesteads.
3. To authorize the legislature to make an appropriation for the proposed Texas centennial celebration in 1936.
4. To lessen the vote required to vote bonds for seawalls, breakwaters and sanitation in counties bordering on the Gulf of Mexico.
5. Now two-thirds of all the property owners must vote for such improvements. If the constitution is changed as proposed, only two-thirds of those who participate in the election must vote for bonds.
6. To require that those voting in elections to fix an indebtedness on a political subdivision must have rendered property for taxation.
7. To have court costs in sale of property for delinquent taxes and to provide more liberal opportunity for redemption.
8. Now double the sale price must be paid to redeem the property. If the proposed constitutional change is made inside a year for 25 per cent and a dollar recording fee and for 50 per cent and the recording fee the second year.
9. To return the constitutional provisions as they formerly were regarding the use of the permanent fund of the University of Texas. A recent amendment permitted the regents to pledge the income to raise a building fund.
10. To extend voting and office-holding privileges to men in military service as reserves.—Alto Herald.

OUR SCHOOL.

School is here again! And we students, as well as the teachers, hope this term will be the most successful one in the history of the Munday School.

The students assembled in the high school building and the Rev. W. H. Albertson led in the opening prayer. We hope to hear from him often as he rendered several interesting and beneficial talks to the high school last year.

Mr. Handgrew introduced our new teachers: Mr. Jones, the superintendent, Miss Cook, the English teacher, and Miss Palmer, the typing and Spanish teacher. Mr. Jones made a short talk, saying "I've made a short talk, but I've made a long one." There are one hundred forty-one students enrolled with ten new pupils and forty-two freshmen.

There is one thing we students are particularly proud of; that is, our student government, or maybe I should say part student government. Each class elected one councillor except the seniors, and they elected two. These councillors are to meet with the teachers and put the problems of the class they represent before them. We are proud of this privilege, and we will try to make our classes better because of this.

RIGSBY'S ROUNDUP.

Hello football fans! Here we are again, ready to cheer the boys who play a great game. It looks as if Munday has a great season ahead.

Coach Palmer is back with us this year ready to give the boys all he has. And don't you worry, if anyone can make a team out of the boys, Coach Palmer can.

Fans of last year will probably know what kind of line-up we have this year.

From last year's squad the following men have reported: Earl Nichols, captain, Chancey Hobert, Chalmers Hobert, W. T. Henderson, Jack Williams, Marvin Myers, Shelton Phillips, Jerry Kethley, Doris Dickerson, J. C. Phillips and J. C. Rice. New recruits for this year are: Dick Rayburn, Albert Aycock, John West, Phillip Zeissel, Weldon Warren, Ralph Blanton, B. B. Bowden, Everett Pruitt, Wallace Ross and Junior Eiland.

How is that for a football team?

It looks as if the Freshmen boys were getting about as much workout as the team. They had to wash sweat shirts for the boys on the first team. The first year boys think they have a hard time.

Fans watch for the schedule and let's make this year one of the best Munday High School has ever had. We need that old spirit and enthusiasm about us before we can encourage the boys. Come on, let's go!

Here's to dear old Monday, shout 'til the rafters ring, shout for the dear old high school, shout for her football team!

FRESHMEN.

The Freshman class has started its organization by electing John Laney as president. The class will complete the election of class officers and the organization of activities in the near future.

CAUSES OF HEADACHES.

By Dr. William J. Scholes

One of the most common of human pains is headache. Like other pains it is one of nature's methods of calling attention to the fact that something is wrong. It is a symptom that may arise from any one or more of several causes.

Sometimes the conditions under which headache occurs give a hint as to the possible cause. For example, the attack may come on after using the eyes in close work. In that case there is probably some disorder of the eyes which is causing eyestrain. Properly fitted glasses, and care to avoid straining the eyes, would then be the remedy. Or, the headache may occur when one is fatigued, either in mind or body. Sufficient rest would then be the remedy. And prevention would consist in avoiding physical and mental activity to the extent of fatigue.

The presence of various poisons in the system may cause headache. These poisons may be introduced into the system from without. Alcohol, tobacco and lead are examples. Or, the poisoning may result from failure of the system to properly eliminate waste products. This type of poisoning is likely to occur in disease of the kidneys and in constipation.

The complete list of diseases which may cause headache is a long one. Bright's disease, arteriosclerosis, pelvic disorders, digestive disorders, anemia, functional and organic nervous disturbances, fevers and various infections, and diseases of the ear, nose and throat are among the possible causes.

To find the cause in any individual case is not always an easy matter. But this is the first step in seeking a permanent cure. A careful physical examination may reveal the underlying

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR GOVERNOR IS FORMER DEMOCRAT AND BEGAN HIS CAREER AS AN ATTORNEY IN MUNDAY

As Democrat He Served Knox County as County Attorney and First Case in Court Was Attorney for Former Mayor C. L. Mayes in Justice Court.

Orville Bullington, Republican nominee for Governor of Texas, began his political career in Knox county—and as a Democrat—having been elected County Attorney of Knox county shortly after locating in Munday in 1906, and is remembered by many of our pioneer citizens as an efficient and capable official.

C. L. Mayes, former mayor of Munday, now president of the First National Bank here believes that he gave Bullington his first case in court, having employed him in a case in the Justice Court at Knox City, and Mr. Mayes recalls that they made the trip to Knox City in a buggy and that Bullington won the case for him and was paid a fee of $10.00. It required an entire day to make the trip there and back including the time required for the trial of the case, according to Mr. Mayes.

But Bullington was not long in winning the esteem and respect of the citizens of Knox county, and had been in the county scarcely long enough to become a qualified voter when he was elected County Attorney, and while many of his old friends in Knox county may adhere to their life-long policy of voting the Democratic ticket straight, there will nevertheless be a certain degree of regret that they cannot cast their ballot for Orville Bullington. In fact, if Orville Bullington were the nominee of the Democratic party it is safe to say that he would receive a substantial majority of the votes in November—or would have received a substantial majority over either of the leading candidates in July.

The Times presents the following brief sketch of the life of the Republican nominee, believing that it will be of interest to our readers since he will be in the limelight in Texas during the next few weeks. The following article was written by Cullum E. Greene, and we are pleased to pass it on to our readers:

A Republican reared an Andrew Jackson Democrat today stands as the hope of those bent on preventing Jim Ferguson from again becoming governor of Texas in his wife's name.

Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, the quiet business-like Republican nominee for governor, was not only raised on Jacksonian democracy but voted the Democratic ticket until 1919.

Whether the Republicans can win with Bullington in a year when a native son, John Garner, occupies one of the places on the national Democratic ticket brings up a lot of "ifs" which leave the political wiseacres a bit puzzled as to the prospects.

Should Bullington defeat Mrs. Miriam Ferguson at the polls in November it will not be the first time Texas elected a Republican governor. History reveals that E. J. Davis with the aid of military rule, was elected governor in 1869 on a majority of less than 200 over his Democratic opponent.

It is presumed that Mrs. Ferguson will be declared the nominee at the state Democratic convention next week in Lubbock. That her nomination will be gained only after a stiff fight on the part of supporters of Gov. Ross Sterling is one thing, but for her not to be nominated would be unprecedented in political annals of Texas.

Who will take the lead in a "Mrs. Ferguson" movement certain to be started in full force after the convention? Tom Love? Alvin S. Moody? Cate Sells?

It is no secret that Alvin Moody has been in conference already with R. B. Croager, state Republican boss. And Moody, Sells and Love are as one, it is believed, in any movement to which one of the trio might give allegiance.

The present situation recalls the 1924 campaign.

However, in 1924 Mrs. Ferguson, who defeated Felix D. Robertson in the run-off primary on a straight Ku Klux Klan issue, had the support of many of those now opposed to her in the general election in which she defeated Dr. George C. Batta. One of those who not only supported her but who made speeches in her behalf, Dan Moody, is now one of her severest critics.

In defeating Batta, Mrs. Ferguson received 422,659 votes, just 8,000 more than she received in the run-off primary. Batta received 298,046 or 138,000 less than the total received by Robertson.

The Hoover Vote
Should this situation hold true this year, Mrs. Ferguson will again occupy the governor's chair in 1933.

But the 1928 election is used by others to prove their point in doping Bullington as the winner in 1932. Led by Moody, Sells and Love Texas Democrats, with the aid of about 120,000 Republicans, gave Hoover a majority in Texas.

To win this basis, however, Bullington would have to poll about 100,000 more than the total Hoover vote, provided Mrs. Ferguson maintained her run-off primary strength.

Both sides see possible victory through the belief that a vote comparable to that of the run-off primary will be cast in the general election due to this being a presidential year. Such a heavy vote would almost make the outcome as hard to determine as has been the recent primary.

Republican Points
Republican leaders see these points in their favor:

Hoovercrats are as opposed to Fergusonism as they were to Al Smith and Tammanyism in 1928.

A lack of normal interest in behalf of Mrs. Ferguson from regular Democrats.

Bullington having been a Democrat at one time will lead many, it is believed, to find it easier to vote the Republican state ticket.

Bullington, too, will be acceptable to Alvin Moody et al on the prohibition question. While he is committed to the national Republican platform on the liquor question, Moody, Sells and Love can easily reconcile themselves to him on this point since he is classed as a "dry" personally.

That Bullington has had nothing to say so far regarding his candidacy does not mean he intends to sit idly by and let the Democrats turmoil work in his favor. As soon as the Democrats lay their pow-wow in Lubbock Bullington intends to have a great deal to say regarding his candidacy. Right now he and other Republicans are doing a "watchful waiting" act.

A Quiet Campaign.

There's nothing spectacular about Bullington. Whatever campaign he makes will be of the quiet business-like type, leaving the dust kicking to Jim Ferguson.

What Bullington lacks in political "color" he makes up in personality. He is the personification of the successful business man, one who loves to dig into a problem not for the mere sake of making money out of it, but more to have satisfied himself that the job has been done and done right.

Had his father, a school teacher of the Tennessee mountain, not been forced to halt his trek to Texas in Missouri because of low funds, Bullington might have been born in Texas.

Starting out from their Tennessee home in a covered wagon, Mr. and Mrs. William Bullington, father and mother of the Republican nominee, made the best of their savings, but arriving in the Missouri Ozarks the elder Bullington saw that his funds would not guarantee him arrival in Texas, his goal. So he obtained a job of teaching in a small southwest Missouri community and it was here that Orville Bullington was born, Feb. 10, 1882.

Moved to Texas
When the youngest member of the family was two years old, however, conditions of the family improved and the trek toward Texas was resumed, the family arriving in Parker county in 1884.

Orville Bullington obtained his early education from his father who taught first in one community and then another, but always in Parker county. Orville was sent to a college in Nashville, Tenn., in 1896, but the climate failed to agree with him so his higher education was cut short for the time being.

His father being a teacher it was but natural that Orville should pick out a teachers' college when he did go away to school. He graduated from Sam Houston Normal at Huntsville in 1901 and the next Fall entered University of Texas, where he graduated with a law degree in 1905.

After three and a half years practice in Knox county, Bullington moved to Wichita Falls in 1909. The future oil metropolis of North Texas then was nothing more than a small town with only slight growing pains. He has served two terms as president of the University of Texas Ex-Students Association. He lost track of the number of terms he served as head of the Sam Houston alumni association.

He has served as president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Wichita County Water Improvement District Board.

Both of Bullington's grandfathers fought for the Confederacy. A great-grandfather lived in the same Tennessee district over which Andrew Jackson presided as judge. All of the Bullingtons who followed worshipped politically at the Jacksonian shrine.

Bullington, too, followed in the footsteps of his forebears until 1919 when the Underwood tariff chased him out from under the Democratic banner.

Allegiance to GOP
The Underwood tariff meant to him the flooding of the United States, just emerging from the great war, with foreign produced products, at a time when we needed protection most of all. Since giving allegiance to the Republican party, Bullington has met with state leaders of that party on the executive committee. Being a nominee for a high office is something new to him.

Bullington was over age when the U. S. entered the war but joined the army as a private and came out a lieutenant-colonel.

He is married, has one son, Billy, 9. What would he do if elected governor? Bullington prefers to remain silent for the present on this point. There's time enough to reveal his stand on governmental problems, he says.

The Texas Centennial Means The 100th Birthday of Texas

Sam Houston was inaugurated President of the Republic of Texas on October 22, 1846. As a symbol of his assumption of civil office, he presented his sword to the Speaker of the House.

Celebrated in Honor of the Immortal Heroes of Texas' Early History

"It now, sir, becomes my duty to make presentation of this sword... this emblem of my past office," said Houston at his inauguration. "I have worn it with some humble pretensions in defense of my country—and should the danger of my country again call for my services, I expect to resume it, and respond to that call, if needful, with my blood and with my life."

In this dramatic manner constitutional government began in Texas nearly a century ago. The centennial of that event, and of other events which marked the birth of Texan independence, will come in 1936. We should observe it with a Centennial Celebration worthy of Texas and the heroes who won and established Texan independence.

Such a Centennial Exposition can rival the foremost of such events ever held. Literally millions of people will throng the borders of Texas. They will not only see the glories of our illustrious past—but the golden opportunities of the present. Happily, such an Exposition will return revenue to the State far in excess of its cost... and individual Texans will see direct economic benefit.

this old world is full of things of interest, but after all human beings are the most interesting things of God's creation. When a study is made of man and why he does things as he does, we are really amazed. It has been said through the ages that a dog is one of man's best friends and now comes an unknown writer and tells us why man loves his dog so much.

The writer says, "If you love your dog it is because":
He doesn't talk back to you.
He thinks whatever you do is all right.
You don't have to make company for him.
He eats whatever you set before him and asks no questions.
He will follow you to the ends of the earth.

He never sulks when you mistreat him.
He tries to please you.
You have no rival in his affections, his love is all yours.
He respects your moods.
He never pries into your secrets.
He never tells you his troubles.

This Week's Opinion

An Interpretation of the Week's Opinion in Texas—By Gen. I. Seitz, Editor, Texas Opinion.

THAT CENTENNIAL APPROPRIATION

Without a legislative appropriation, it is certain that no fitting celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Texas' independence can be held. Moreover, there can be no legislative support of the celebration unless the people amend the constitution so that the legislature has authority to lend that support.

At its Fort Worth meeting, the statewide committee on reduction of public expenditures "commended the Centennial as a worthy and patriotic public project," but urged that no state support be given it.

The Texas Press Association, at its Mineral Wells meeting, endorsed the Centennial and advocated state support. At its Lubbock convention, the democratic party in Texas, endorsed the project and recommended state support. While it is quite probable that Texas will be just as free and just as independent without a celebration as with one, it is folly to look upon the Centennial through glasses etched with the dollar mark. But even if we do take the dollar viewpoint of the matter, it is doubtful that the public expenditures committee has viewed the matter rightly. The people the Centennial will bring a Texas will leave with us much more money than the celebration costs. The public expenditures committee evidences a tendency to be penny wise and pound foolish.

In any event, the Centennial is more than a dollars and cents proposition. The sentiment in it may not be overlooked, and once in a hundred years, surely, Texas can afford to spend a little money in proper commemoration of the men, the principles and the spirit that gave America its greatest commonwealth.

In the present instance, the people of Texas should give their ears to their press and their party. For the Centennial is a matter as much of the heart as of the head.

THE SCHOOLS

"Free schools" in Texas are a name and not a fact. In few words, that is the gist of some hundreds of editorials written in Texas within the past two or three weeks.

Tuition, generally, is free. So are some text books. But there are "extras" and "supplies" which must be furnished by the student, and they cost enough money to make hard-pressed parents doubt the meaning of the adjective with which our schools are described. The Waxahachie Light editorially recites that "extras and supplies" for two children in the low grammar grades last year cost $8.50. And that, declares the Light, "is way too high, even in days of prosperity."

The school superintendent who can conduct his schools efficiently within the confines of his reduced budget is a genius. But the superintendent who can do that, and reduce the demands made upon hard-pressed parents, is more than a genius. He is a public benefactor.

And right now Texas is in a mood to give substantial recognition to genuine benefactors.

TWO HUNDRED TWENTY-FIVE MILLIONS That is a large sum of money in anybody's language. It represents the amount invested in Texas by life insurance companies doing business in the state under provisions of the Robertson law.

Those whose memories hark back to the time agitation for such a law as that sponsored by Judge Robertson was begun, will recall that the motivating reason was the fact that the eastern companies were not investing in Texas.

They had many good reasons for that discriminatory policy. The one most frequently cited, however, was the Texas homestead law.

When the Robertson law was passed the eastern companies had no substantial investment in Texas. Should that law be repealed would they make any substantial investments in Texas? Or, at the same time we repeal

How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT

by Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 14

While playing with some very good players the other evening, the writer looked over a hand and detected a contract by two tricks. It was a simple proposition but, much to the writer's surprise, one of the players said "How did you know when to double that bid? It may seem simple to you but I never seem to do the right thing at the right time. I always seem to double when they make their contract or I fail to double when I should. Can you tell me when to double and why, you will not only help me but many others who are in the same fix." The writer thought this over very carefully and wrote the following summary on the subject for his own use, which I am applying to Auction or Contract:

A double made for the purpose of defeating the bid in a business double. These business doubles are made, of course, after the bidding has reached such a point that it is evident they are made to defeat the contract. If your opponents bid one heart, for example, and you double, it is only common sense that you are doubling for a bid and not to defeat the contract. Such a double is called an extraordinary double, and to give information to partner and not to defeat the contract. Suppose, however, your partner deals and bids one no trump, second hand leads two hearts and you have the following hand:

Hearts—K, J, 10, 7
Clubs—10, 9
Diamonds—K, 10, 9, 6
Spades—A, 4, 2
Did you think that second hand can make two hearts? No, of course, you don't. What are the reasons for your opinion? First, your partner has bid one no trump and, if he is a sound bidder, he has indicated at least two and one-half quick tricks; that is, tricks that will take if his opponents play the hand. Second, your own hand is worth at least two and possibly three tricks in hearts, one trick in diamonds and one trick in spades, a total of four and possibly five tricks. Add these tricks to the two you know your partner has by his no trump bid and you obtain six, possibly seven tricks against the two-heart bid. If such is the case, shouldn't you double?

This example shows the process of thought that a player should follow in each instance before deciding to double. Another point to remember is this: Original bids always give exact information and, if sound, should always indicate at least two and one-half quick tricks, irrespective of the suit or no trump bid. On the other hand, the cards of the remaining players are not, as a rule, subject to such exact valuation. For that reason, as between partners, it should be the duty of the partner of the original bidder to double, rather than vice versa. He knows what the original bidder can only guess as to his partner's holding. The foregoing summary will give a fair basis for sound business doubles and, if properly applied, will produce many a big penalty.

ed the Robertson law, would be also required to repeal the homestead law?

Before we repeal a statute that is responsible for the investment in Texas of $225,000,000, should we not get some definite assurance that eastern companies thus favored (at the expense of Texas companies) were really ready and willing to invest their money here. Or should we repeal the Robertson law first, and then discover that the homestead law also must be thrown overboard?
