Old Fiddlers Will Fiddle For Honors On Monday Evening

Old fiddlers throughout this section are tuning up their fiddles, putting on new cat-guts getting ready for the big event to be held at the city hall auditorium on Monday evening, at which time they will pit their fiddling skill against each other for substantial prizes, in the fourth annual old fiddlers' contest to be held in Munday, and U. R. Houser, who has sponsored the contest for a number of years, states that many entries are being made and this promises to be even bigger and better than any held in previous years, which is saying a great deal, for they have staged some warm contests.

These events bring back fond memories to many of our older people who in their younger days have stepped lively to the tunes that are played, and it is only upon occasions of this kind that they are given a privilege of hearing these old-tunes, and even to many of the younger folks it is refreshing to hear something that is so far distant from our present-day jazz, and we know that every person who attends the contest on Monday evening will enjoy every minute of the entertainment.

Other interesting features are being arranged and the program will be such that it will not have a dull moment throughout.

Can He Get Them All In? By Albert T. Reid

Bill Moore Dines On Turkey; Olney Dealer Eats Beans

Bill Moore, representing the Bell-Moore Chevrolet Company of Munday, went to Wichita Falls the early part of last week to attend the annual Turkey-Bean contest by the Chevrolet Motor Company, and had the pleasure of sitting on that side of the table on which the turkey was served, while the Olney Chevrolet dealer, against whom he had been pitted in the sales of Chevrolts, had to content himself with just beans.

The banquet was held at the Kemp Hotel, where a table had been arranged in the form of the letter U, and the winners in the contest were seated on the outside, where they were served turkey and other choice things to eat, while the losers were forced to sit on the inside, where they were served with beans—just beans and nothing but beans, and the beans were eaten only with a knife, as forks and spoons were strictly forbidden on that side of the table.

One of the most amusing features of the evening was that in which the Bell-Moore Chevrolet Company of Haskell, who was compelled to dine on beans, attempted to present to the Vernon Chevrolet dealer, who won over them, a beautiful cut glass service set, but, according to pre-arranged plans, just as the negro waiter approached the Vernon dealers to present the beautiful service his feet became tangled and he fell, breaking the beautiful glass-ware into hundreds of pieces. However, further investigation into the loss revealed fact that it was purchased from Kress for 65c—and was worth it—to Bill Moore and others.

A special edition of the Wichita Record-News was placed at the tables, which contained much valuable information to the Chevrolet dealers, and the affair was declared one of the most enjoyable ever held.

A. C. C. Orchestra And Entertainers Get Glad Hand Here

A large and appreciative audience greeted the Abilene Christian College Orchestra and entertainers here on Tuesday evening of last week, and while the orchestra was the outstanding feature of the entertainment, the male quartette and readings and other numbers were of such pleasing nature as to give the highest praise and the entertainment throughout was one of the most pleasing that has ever been presented in Munday, and many are looking forward to having them play a return engagement here at some future date.

They brought with them Prof. George Scroggs, a member of the faculty, and for many years associated with the faculty of the Munday High school, who was kept shaking hands with his many friends here, and during the evening he made a brief talk, which of course was enjoyed by all.

They came here under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher association, and the officials of this organization wish to express their sincere thanks for the support given on this occasion.

"The Woman Pays"

FACTORY TO PRESENT PLAY CITY HALL DEC. 8TH

On Thursday, December 8th, the public will be given an opportunity to observe the dignified faculty of our school in the presentation of a three act farce comedy entitled, "Mail Order Brides." The action hinges on a situation developed when a group of lonesome cowboys send in a mail order for wives. When the "shipment" arrives there happens to be one too many brides. After that things happen fast and furious. The proceeds to the play will be used toward buying a piano for the Tabernacle and equipping the stage with furnishings. This is truly one of the great needs of the town as the community building fails miserably to serve its purpose under present conditions.

The teachers are making a great sacrifice of time and work in giving this play and it is earnestly hoped that a large crowd will turn out for the occasion. Remember the date, Thursday night, December 8, 7:30 at the City Hall. An admission charge of 25 and 35 cents will be made.

Mrs. J. R. Smith and daughter, Miss Helen, went to Wichita Falls last week to hear Marion Talley, Metropolitan Opera star, in a concert there, and were highly elated over the singing of the young Kansas City lady.

GINNING REPORT ALMOST DOUBLES THAT OF 1927

The ginning report of Knox county for the period up to November 1, 1927, as shown by W. H. Griffin, special agent of the Department of Commerce, indicates that the cotton ginned to that date this year almost doubled the amount ginned up to the same date last year, there being 31,347 bales ginned this year as compared to 16,720 bales ginned up to same date last year.

Mrs. Bernard Stodghill had Miss Bessie Isbell spent the week-end in Abilene visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lavoy Burton.

AT METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY, DEC. 4, 1927

Sunday School 9:45 a. m. Everyone not attending any other Sunday school is welcome with us.

Preaching by the pastor both morning and evening, 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

League meeting at 6:15 p. m. Our crowds are fine and interest good. Come and worship with us. You are never a stranger but once with us.

R. B. FREEMAN, Pastor.

A. J. Manuel has been transferred to Jayton, where he will still work for the W. V. Railway Company. He and his family have been living in Munday for fifteen years. He has been working for the company for twenty years. Miss Bertha Manuel who has been employed by the Haskell Telephone Company for the past three years, will continue her work here.

WYATT IS PLEASED WITH PLAINS COUNTRY

C. M. Wyatt of Levelland is here this week visiting relatives and friends, having come over to accompany Messrs. Wyatt and Hardin back home. Chas. states that he is highly pleased with his new home and can honestly commend the Levelland section to anyone desiring a home. He states that cotton throughout his section will make from a fourth to a half bale per acre and that there is more feed in the country than the farmers have any need for—and Chas. is farming and not in the real estate business too.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Haymes of O'Donnell, Texas, was here first of the week visiting in the home of his mother, Mrs. C. R. Haymes, and other relatives. Mrs. Haymes will remain here for some days while Mack has gone to Waco to attend the session of the Masonic Grand Lodge.

Quite a number of Mundayites drove to Roby on Thanksgiving day to witness the football game between the Roby and Munday High teams, and we have too much regard for the home boys to state how the score stood at the end of hostilities, however, it is said that the Roby team had much the advantage in regard to weight, and we believe that the boys did exceedingly well to hold them as well as they did.

We have received a letter from Mr. A. H. Smith requesting that his address be changed from Ukiah, Calif., to Redwood Valley, Calif. Uncle Amos writes that he is well pleased with the country. "A man would have to see this country to know what it is here, as no one could describe it. Fruit, flowers and vegetables in abundance and everything looks like the spring of the year," writes Mr. Smith.

Letters to Santa Claus

As has been the custom of The Times for many years, we will again publish letters of the little tots to Santa Claus this year, and we would like to receive them as early as possible, as we will publish them in our issue of December 15th.

Write your letter to Santa Claus, telling him what you wish him to bring you for Christmas and we will publish it, and as Santa Claus is a regular reader of The Times, he will read your letter and will know your wants.

Just address your letter to SANTA CLAUS, in care of The Munday Times, and we will get it and publish it along with the letters of other little boys and girls.

Discovers Explosive

Edwin Mulvaney—Chattanooga, Tenn. high school boy—in 'Lab' experiments discovered a new explosive—substitute for gasoline—which Federal chemists are now working on.

HESTER-RUSSELL

While it's somewhat late, we only heard it the other day, and we're passing the news on to our readers concerning the marriage on Armistice Day—November 11th, of Mr. Emmett Russell of this city and Miss Emma Faye Hester of Rochester, the young couple having been married here on that great day at the Baptist parsonage, with the Rev. P. D. O'Brien officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hester, one of the leading citizens of the Rochester community, while the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Russell of this city, and is employed as a salesman with the A. J. Birdsong Dry Goods store in this city, and we join their many friends in wishing for them a long and happy married life.

C. C. Hendrix of Cooper, Texas, was here last week visiting his brother, C. M. Hendrix and family. This was Mr. Hendrix's first visit to the Munday country and he expressed himself as being highly pleased with the country and stated that general conditions here were much better than in that portion of East Texas in which he resides.

Mrs. W. A. Wyche spent the Thanksgiving holidays at Denton visiting her daughter, Miss Lois, who is a student in C. I. A.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n Will Meet December 14 Instead of 21st

The Parent-Teacher association will meet on Wednesday, December 14th, instead of the regular meeting day on account of it coming during the Christmas holidays, and a most interesting program has been arranged for the meeting and all patrons of the school are urged to be present. The general topic for discussion will be "Child Development," and we are sure that everyone who attends this meeting will receive some real benefits. The program is as follows:

Special exercises—Miss Langford's room.
Reading—Fred Broach, Jr.
Physical Growth—Mrs. J. O. Bowden.
Child Hygiene—Mrs. E. J. Burns.
Recreation Program—Mrs. Standley.

SHANNON LAYNE, PIONEER OFFICER, VISITS MUNDAY

Shannon Layne, deputy sheriff at Big Spring, was here the latter part of last week for a short visit with his brother, E. O. Layne, and other relatives and friends. Shannon is almost a native of Munday, having been reared here, but has been away a number of years, and for almost twenty years he has served as a law enforcement officer, having served in a number of oil boom towns from the Burkhart boom on down, and he knows the crime record of the many undesirable that follow the boom towns, and hence is a valuable officer, and it is gratifying to The Times man to know that he has made a good record in his chosen work, for we helped to elect him to his first law enforcement office, that of city marshal in a little Oklahoma town almost twenty years ago, and he has been chasing criminals ever since.

Mrs. E. H. Bauman and children left some days ago for Omaha, Nebraska, where she will spend some months visiting relatives and friends, and where her little daughter will be under treatment of a specialist.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

"Over 32,000,000 Tuberculosis Christmas Seals have been distributed by the Texas Public Association throughout the State," said Dr. Z. T. Scott, Executive Secretary of the Texas Public Health Association, today.

The sale opened officially Thanksgiving Day and will close Christmas. The work of the State Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated Associations is entirely supported by the sale of these penny seals. This work includes child health education, school nursing work, clinics, educational literature and health work among all races and creeds.

Dr. Scott also stated that the Christmas Seal this year carries a design typical of the season represented. Santa Claus is shown driving his sleigh across snowy fields, while in the background the Double-Barred Cross is clearly outlined against a snow-covered Christmas tree. The Seal is unusually attractive. In the top center the year 1927 is displayed and below is the legend Christmas Greetings and Good Health.

FORD IN THE NEWS

Even a billionaire may have his troubles, as is illustrated by the case of Henry Ford, who seems to have encountered an unusual number of unpleasant incidents of late.

Having compromised the million-dollar libel suit filed by Aaron Sapiro some months ago by apologizing for his attacks upon the Jews, Mr. Ford is now faced by a suit for six million dollars in which Henry M. Leland and other former stockholders of the old Lincoln Motor Company are plaintiffs.

The suit is the outgrowth of Ford's purchase of the Lincoln interests at a receivership sale in 1922, when it is alleged that he verbally agreed to pay the sum named in addition to the sale price. Ford denies making such an agreement, and the case will probably come to trial in January.

That there has been friction in the Ford organization is assumed from the fact that three of his principal executives have resigned recently. They are W. A. Ryan, general sales manager; Fred H. Diehl, purchasing agent, and E. P. Hobart, service manager.

These happenings, coupled with the public interest in the forthcoming new model Ford car, will doubtless serve to keep the famous manufacturer in the news to an even greater extent than usual during the next few months.

A PRIZE BONE-HEAD

Some laws are difficult of interpretation because of the obscurity of their language, while others are so plain that he who runs, even though he be a fool, may read and understand.

The driver of a motor vehicle in Connecticut recently ran afoul of one of the latter kind. The law requires every person operating a motor vehicle in that state to have a windshield wiper on his machine. That is plain enough.

The luckless driver in question had no windshield wiper and was honest enough to admit it when arraigned in court. He explained however, that his motor vehicle was a truck, which was not equipped with even a windshield, much less a wiper.

But the magistrate, adhering to the plain letters of the law, fined him regardless. Doubtless the same fate awaits any unfortunate owner of a motorcycle or tractor who gets haled before that magistrate.

And, risking a citation for contempt of court, we venture to nominate the aforesaid magistrate as the champion bone-head of 1927.

A PEDDLER'S FORTUNE

There is a striking "success story in the career of Joseph Abraham who landed in New York in 1896, an immigrant from Syria with $10.50 in his pocket. He died in Bristow, Okla., recently multi-millionaire.

Abraham invested his original capital in merchandise which he peddled from house to house, first in the East and later in Oklahoma. Within three or four years he was able to open a store, which prospered greatly. He also acquired eleven cotton gins and a cotton seed oil mill. Through industry and thrift he built up a great fortune.

A few years ago he returned to Syria on a visit and endowed a school for boys and girls in his native city, Adoon. He was a friend of the press, and in 1924 he entertained the National Editorial Association at a dinner at which Syrian cooking was served exclusively, during the tour of the editors after their convention in Oklahoma City.

When he died, two daughters, who had been in school in Los Angeles, returned to Oklahoma for his funeral, covering most of the distance by airplane.

There is a valuable lesson for the shiftless and improvident in the story of this immigrant who began to climb the ladder of success with a peddler's pack on his back.

BANK'S BIRTHDAY CAKE

Banks are generally dignified and conservative institutions, not given to spectacular performances designed to secure publicity. But whether it was a publicity stunt or not, the baking of a monster cake in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Old National Bank of Spokane has attracted wide attention.

This birthday cake weighed 1,100 pounds, contained 2,500 eggs, 250 pounds of butter, 525 pounds of sugar and 260 pounds of flour, according to a press report. It was built in the shape of a bank building.

The production of this enormous cake, following closely upon the baking of an apple pie weighing a ton for Seattle's Apple Week celebration, illustrates once more that the state of Washington is not behind the procession when it comes to doing things in a big way.

FIRST STRAW VOTE

It is a little too early to make predictions concerning what the national conventions will do with the numerous presidential candidates who have been mentioned, but a straw vote recently taken by a Republican magazine may be of interest to those who like to indulge in political speculations.

Inquiries were addressed to many newspaper editors and political leaders, all Republicans, asking their opinion as to the strength of the proposed candidates.

The editors voted as follows: Hoover 577, Lowden 518, Hughes 218; Dawes 88; Curtis 39, Borah 28, Longworth 11, and the rest scattered. The political leaders gave Hoover 267, Lowden 248, Hughes 115, Dawes 60.

These Republican editors and leaders were also asked their opinion concerning the probable Democratic nominee, based upon sentiment in their respective localities.

The editors gave Smith 737, Reed 163, McAdoo 102, Meredith 110, while the politicians gave Smith 334, Reed 111, McAdoo 34 and Meredith 33.

It may be considered significant that the editors and political leaders agreed on the order in which the leading candidates stand with respect to their relative strength at the present time. Whether this judgment is sound is a fine subject for argument. And whether the candidates they have picked will hold their supposed strength until convention time is something else again.

BETTER MOVIE MOVE

Better trade practices, better pictures and better service to the public is expected to result from the recent conference held in New York at which all branches of the moving picture industry, as well as the general public, were represented.

This conference, called by the Federal Trade Commission, discussed the moving picture situation from practically every angle and came to agreements on several matters concerning which there had been friction and misunderstanding.

Additional rules were adopted looking to the production of better pictures, in the effort to provide wholesome screen entertainment, free from all matter which might be offensive to any race or creed, or objectionable for other reasons.

Speaking of the results of this conference, Will H. Hays, the "movie czar," said: "The good feeling and understanding among all branches of the industry and the public resulting from this meeting is of incalculable value in advancing the service of motion pictures."

Anything which tend to improve a form of entertainment so universally enjoyed and patronized as motion pictures is a matter of interest as well as gratification to the general public.

but he failed in his pouring. He's so awkward with his sand."

Two young thieves at Liberty, Mo., were literally "squealed on" recently. While carrying away some stolen pigs in an automobile, a squeal from one of the animals led to an investigation by a policeman and the culprits were arrested.

Roy Alexander of Warrenton, Ala., reports finding a live snake with two perfectly formed heads set symmetrically on the reptile's body, each head having a mouth and two eyes. Yes, the Volstead law is in effect in Alabama.

SIDELIGHTS

Converting horse into chicken is now practiced in the West, but the feat is accomplished by a perfectly natural process. Hundreds of cayuse ponies which run wild on the western ranges, and which are of no value as domestic animals, are being killed and ground up into chicken feed.

Dr. Elmer Davis of Stockton, Cal., is versatile. When he ordered Rev. Benjamin Smith to bed with a severe cold the minister protested that he must deliver his Sunday sermon. Dr. Davis said he would preach it for him, which he did, to the satisfaction of the congregation.

Roger W. Babson, the noted statistician, criticizes modern college education and says the colleges are turning out too many sluggards, snobs, athletic morons and amusement crazy youths. He predicts that our future bank presidents will come from the ranks of newsboys.

An astronomer illustrates the immensity of space by saying that if our sun were represented by a tennis ball in a New York street, our earth would have the relative size and position of a grain of sand half a block away, while the nearest fixed star would be another tennis ball in Omaha.

Speaking of her young son's progress in kindergarten, a New York mother is quoted as saying: "Yes, Donald goes to that new school. He is two now. He got A in climbing and sliding."

We Must Choose

We are not going to be here forever. The clock of time is only going to tick away about a million minutes. The Good Book says: "One generation passeth away and another generation cometh, but the earth abideth forever." How often we have to arouse ourselves and realize that we have been turning this around—we insuring our days as if we believed that all things were passing except our own lives.

There are so many good books to read, there are so many good dreams to be seen, there are so many inspirational sermons to be heard, there are so many fine folk with whom we some day expect to make delightful contact! And yet, we seldom plan our days with the thought that all cannot be realized. We must choose; we must put first things first if we expect to succeed. In the garden of life, we must not each day just simply grab a handful of myriad weeds and posies, but, if greatest joy and most enduring satisfaction is to be ours, we must select on the posies.

The high school was royally entertained last Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock by an address by the Rev. P. D. O'Brien and by a reading given by Vela Phillips. The subject of the Rev. O'Brien's talk was, "Gratitude and Ingratitude." In this he used many interesting and true illustrations. The selection Vela so ably read was, "Benefits For God." We all felt that the hour was most pleasantly and profitably spent.

Both teachers and pupils were glad of a rest last week. As most of you know in years past, it has been customary for two holidays to be given Thanksgiving week. We are still rejoicing that Mr. Rhodes did not see fit to change this school tradition.

If we live long enough we discover that other people are very much like ourselves. This week closes the second six-week semester. Time passes swiftly and it will soon be time for the school year to close. "Let us make hay while the sun shines."

When you pass the school campus you will notice workmen. Probably some of you will wonder what they are doing. They are working on the sidewalks. Rainy weather seems to be waiting for their completion.

Too Many Lions and Not Enough Turkey

The Moguls journeyed to Roby on Turkey Day and received the worst beating of the season by the Roby Lions. Although they were outwitted and outclassed the Moguls put up a valiant fight and they were the first to score. Roby kicked off and the ball went over the Moguls goal line. With the ball on the Moguls 20-yard line the hidden-ball play was put into execution and it worked like a charm. With all the Roby secondary defense pulled out of position Paul Pruitt slipped around left end into a clear field and raced 80 yards for a touchdown. Only the safety man had a chance to tackle him and he discovered this chance too late. The try for point was made. This of course, was the high-point of the game for the Moguls, although they threatened twice more during the game, were clearly outclassed in every department of the game and it soon became a matter of how large the score would be. The big line and husky backfield of the Lions was too much for the valiant Moguls. The Moguls out-passed and out-kicked the Lions during all stages of the game. The final score was 74-7.

After the game the boys enjoyed the turkey that was waiting for them in Stamford for so much per. After having eaten eggs for lunch we decided that turkey was better for us when a football game was in view.

Seniors

The seniors were indeed glad to have Elizabeth Gaither visit with us Monday. Elizabeth is attending Draughtons Business College at Abilene.

Nep Lee of Spur visited in the home of Arva Harris during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Lucille Collins journeyed on foot to Jungman Thursday morning to visit her sister. Nine. Lucille stopped on her way home to pick flowers and her mother, anxious about her daughter, went to look for her. Lucille says that it was the warmest reception she had had in many a day.

Since many of the seniors are going out for basketball, watch out for a good team.

Christmas must be just around the corner for three in our class have already written to Santa Clause. These letters will be published later.

Juniors

"Less Quantity but More Quality."

New students are still coming into the Junior class. Jean Stephenson has enrolled as a junior and she is going to make a good one too!

Though we are receiving new members in our class it seems that we are losing other members. Olin Frasure and Loy Wilson have withdrawn. We are sorry to lose these boys as they made real Juniors while they were with us.

Our boys who played in the Turkey Day game at Roby are nursing some skins and bruises. We are not discouraged with the record of our team this season but we are looking forward to next season. Our football boys are going to have a real team.

The Sophs finally woke up after hibernating for a lengthy time. They are putting up their '30's in every place conceivable. The Juniors and Seniors are letting this ride and are looking down from a plane above them to watch the Sophs. have a good time among themselves.

Football season is over and basket ball begins again. Several juniors are going to make a bid for the team and other candidates will have to watch or--!

Sebern said he couldn't go to Roby Thursday and we were able to learn later that he was afraid he would miss some turkey at home. When he went home to eat the turkey he found instead of turkey, beans and cornbread. He then had to tell of how much turkey and cranberry sauce he ate—but the laugh was on him when we found what his "turkey" was!

Sophs.

If you were to add up all the fun you ever had at parties and multiply it by three, it would not be as much as we had last week at the Soph party. Vela Phillips gave us. We were very glad to have five boys that are not in our class there also. Most of the girls beat the boys time by taking possession of all the beds, therefore we could not stay all night. But it may be better for us, because we hear that the girls did not get to stay there for nothing, for there were several brooms and a dish pan that they had to use the next morning.

Here's hoping that we can enjoy many more parties like Vela's.

The other classes can beat us in money raising, but we had the best attendance at the game Turkey Day. Outside of the players we had two, to go, from our class, Henrietta Isbell and Vivian Rogers, while the Seniors only had one, the Juniors and Fish, were without.

Ruth Womble spent Thanksgiving Day at De Leon, visiting relatives and friends, and while there she saw the "Haskell Indians" play "De Leon, Bear Cats."

Also Miss Mills was at De Leon the same day, for the same reason.

Mr. Standley promised us we could see the results of the A. C. C. game, on his face, when he returned, and so we did because he was all smiles Monday morning. His team beat, no doubt. From his looks we believe he also had plenty of turkey.

Clara Tillinghast reports a good time at the "country village," Knox City, where she visited friends last week-end.

We are very glad to have Jean Stephenson join our biology class, and hope she will like our class work.

We boys, that played Roby last Thursday have had some bad dreams since the game, they being mostly of seeing "Bull", Roby's fullback, coming at us. Boy, howdy, he surely was a "pile driver."

Christine Chapman is suffering with two wounded fingers. She lays the blame on a car door, and another cause, which we are unable to learn.

Roy Warren was absent last week, due to the fact that he should not have gone on that O'possum hunt, because it made him very sick, in a way!

That is all the news that has been in our reach, all except that "Runt Ledbetter" says he surely did enjoy the holidays, and I'm sure the rest of us did too.

Freshmen

On Friday morning the Freshmen went to the new bridge. Although we had to wait for Mr. Palmer to get his nap out, we had a very enjoyable time. There were only three cars but they were well packed, especially John R's, rattle trap. Everyone wanted to go with him so that they might be well "broken in" to fall down and get their heads bumped while playing on the picnic.

After strolling up and down the river, and over the wilderness, a few of the girls went to a car to rest. Mr. Palmer made us play a game which tired us more than if we had worked all day. If you want to know this game ask John R. He can tell you all about it.

When the gang returned to the cars, we ate all we could, and more too, and made a baseline for Munday. After arriving, all but those who had gone with John R. and were too sore, went to the program given by the Indians.

Grade 7 A

Our room had a very interesting agriculture lesson Wednesday morning. Mr. Palmer too! us to a near-by field where we experimented with red and blue litmus paper. We found that the soil contained very much alkali, but not very much acid. As we neared the field a black cat ran across our path, but we did not have bad luck, instead we had lots of fun.

Even if the boys did lose the last game of football at Roby on Thanksgiving, that's no sign they won't show up in basketball. In the game with Roby our classmate, Fayette Edwards, got knocked out. We are very glad that he was not injured seriously.

Grade 7 B

We are glad to report that we have two new pupils, Margaret Hulme from Ireland, Texas and Alice Stafford from Corpus Christi, Texas. We surely are glad to have them and we hope that they will like our school.

There were only five in this room who were out of town the week-end. Doloris Campbell visited in Baird, Texas; Norine Bowden went to Abilene, Texas; Vincent Lane and Dorothy Matlock went to Goree, while Pauline Mullican visited in one of our near-by towns, Haskell.

Athletic Notes

Speaking of the Roby game we would like to mention that the basket ball season is now here. Really the Moguls need no apologies made for them about the Thanksgiving game. They played as good football as they were capable of but they were simply up against a team that was far superior to them in every department of the game. Proof of this is found in the fact that Roby would now be playing for the sectional championship instead of Sweetwater if they had not been ruled ineligible. Anyway we scored on them the very first play and gave the crowd the scare of their lives for a few minutes at least.

The football season for 1927 is now history. The Moguls only won one game and tied one, but that isn't such a bad record when we consider that every man on the team but one was a beginner. We believe that the coaches have done well with the odds they had against them. Our consolation comes when we realize that we now have well trained material for the next two years. So look out for the Moguls in 1928.

Speaking of basket ball. The Moguls are going to have a real place to play this year. Workmen have just finished laying a maple floor in the Gymnasium and we are all quite anxious to try it out. This new arrangement will, no doubt, improve the speed and style of the game almost fifty percent.

Actual basket ball practice will probably begin early this week. The coaches expect to have the Moguls ready for public exhibition in a practice game the latter part of next week.

'N We Laughed

Henrietta: "What is an opera-etta?"

J. C.: "Don't be dumb—it's a girl who works for the telephone company."

Roy: "Daddy! A boy at school told me that I looked like you."

Proud Papa: "And what did you say, my son?"

Roy: "Nothing. He was lots bigger'n me."

Leona: "The jeweler told me today that this diamond you gave me isn't real."

Virgil: "Well, if it isn't real I've been gipped out of four dollars and ninety-eight cents."

Visitor: "And, does that little cow give milk?"

Thelma: "Well, not exactly, you gotta sorta take it away from her."

Madge: "How do you like my hat?"

Sebern: "Fine, but do you realize that you have a run in one of them?"

Theda: "Where's Arch?"

Delphine: "Over eating."

Theda: "Oh, and the doctor told him not to."

LIVESTOCK SITUATION

Los Angeles, Nov. 28.—In considering the value realized by the cattle producer for his product it seems reasonable to consider the purchasing power represented by the cattle or in other words, how much of different staple commodities will the sale of a given number of cattle permit the producer to purchase.

Taking the Chicago livestock market as a basis recent figures show that it has only been in the past few months that cattle values have gone above 100% of the pre-war purchasing power of cattle, this being the first time since the beginning of 1919. Prior to 1919 this purchasing power only once before reached this percentage since 1910 and that was during the period of 1912 to 1916. The purchasing power of cattle reached its lowest ebb (about 62% of the pre war value) when it struck bottom in the fall of 1921. Since that time a sustained rise in values has been recognized, if we eliminate the seasonal decline occurring toward the end of 1922, 1923 and 1924.

There appears to be no question but that cattle price levels travel in cycles in much the same manner a sother staple commodities. Opinions have differed to some extent as to the length of the swing in cattle cycles. Many authorities state that from six to eight is a fair period for the cycle to perform its revolution from the top to the bottom and others have placed the period as high as sixteen years from the time we have a supply of cattle below the demand with accompanying higher price levels to the time when production, through the stimulus created by these price levels, reaches its peak and the price level line on its downward movement crosses the cattle production line as it climbs.

There is no question but the quicker turnover in the cattle industry through the utilization of younger animals has direct effect in shortening these cycles.

We may be entering a period somewhat similar to that experienced in 1912 when an upward trend followed a period to that which we have just passed through. At that time prices reached their peak in 1915 but, of course, the war situation was to be reckoned with. However, the same situation is recorded in 1896 when a similar era was passed through and prices reached their peak in 1889.

If this movement is to be repeated the contention of market observers would seem to be well founded that steady and even stronger prices for cattle might be expected and the peak would be reached, if it worked according to Hoyle, around 1930 or 1921 with the beginning of a downward swing presenting itself at that time.

However, the quicker turnover resulting from the constantly increasing consumer demand for younger animals is very likely to upset these figures to some extent and if it does it is likely that the peak will be reached earlier than past cycles would indicate. When it is considered that in 1912 the bulk of the choice cattle for which there was the broadest outlet consisted of three year olds and during the present year a substantial percentage of the beef ranges in age from fifteen to eighteen months, thereby doubling the time required for a complete turnover from the range to the feed lot and ultimately to the consumer.

It is a fact that feeder cattle from the ranges have again come into their own and prices being paid many times bring them into competition with the demands of packers. This is a healthy condition, of course, for the range producing sections and one which should not seriously handicap the feeders if beef price levels may be maintained.

From an economical standpoint this situation in the feeder classes is healthful as from 1919 to 1925 feeder buyers were not an important factor on the market due to their inability to carry on operations to any extent during the liquidation and deflation period and accompanying inability to finance. However, present curtailed supplies and healthy demands due to general good conditions throughout the country resulting in highly satisfactory price levels have again created confidence in feed lot operations which has again put the feeder buyer on the market with a resultant valuable outlet to the range producer.

Passengers crossing the English Channel by airplane averaged more than 100 a day during the past summer.

WILD ANIMAL FILM OFFERS MANY THRILLS

"Perils of the Jungle" Opens at Peoples Theatre on Friday Night and Sat. Matinee

Notable among the interesting screen entertainments which have been shown at the Peoples Theatre so far this season will be Artclass wild animal serial, "Perils of the Jungle," opening there next Friday night. This is said to be something quite new in the way of adventure chapter plays.

Scores of elephants, lions, tigers, hippos and other strange and rare wild beasts having been used in producing it by Weiss Brothers, who sponsor the film, their object being to produce a jungle picture on a scale such as never before has been attempted.

To this end they have assembled big cast of screen favorites, of whom the principals are Eugenia Gilbert, Frank Merrill and the popular boy actor, little Bobby Nelson. Others whose names are well known, are Milburn Morante, Albert J. Smith and Falter Maly.

The picture, which has been made in ten episodes, each of which is complete in itself, has the heart of the African wilds as its locale and deals with the thrilling adventures of a curiosity met group who are trying to rescue the sister of one of them who is held prisoner by a tribe known as the "tiger men" in the interior.

Jack Nelson directed the picture, under the supervision of George Merrick, both of whom are well known makers of big film features, the former being especially notable for his remarkable success in handling all varieties of animals before the camera. It is said that in "Perils of the Jungle" he has produced one of the most thrilling and realistic pictures of his career.

Mrs. O. V. Brown and children, who have been visiting in the home of her father, A. J. Manuel for several weeks, have returned to their home in Rotan.

Mrs. M. O. Burnett and Mrs. D. B. Weaver attended the Baptist convention, which met at Wichita Falls recently.

Mr. H. D. Taylor from Girode will come to Munday as section foreman.

Specifications of The New Ford Car

Charts and Photographs Will Be Shown by Land Motor Co. Friday and Saturday

After six months of "saying nothing but sawing wood," Henry Ford today announced the specifications of the new Ford car which succeeds his famous Model T. A bare listing of those specifications presents a picture of an automobile that in performance, appearance and mechanical features has heretofore been associated with a considerably higher price class. Unusual speed and acceleration are among the outstanding features of the new car. It is announced as being able to make 55 to 60 miles an hour, with ease. In recent tests it has made even more without difficulty. What is more important, it is stated that when traveling at such speeds, it holds the road easily, and with comfort to driver and passengers. It is also stated with equal positiveness, however, that it performs in an equally spectacular manner on bad roads. In its design, Mr. Ford has held to his original idea of a car which can meet all conditions and types of roads.

Appreciating the constantly increasing importance of acceleration, the Ford Motor Company has given a great deal of study to this feature of the new car. In high gear tests with two passengers in a Tudor sedan it has shown an acceleration of from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 8 1/2 seconds.

The new Ford car also introduces a new type of four-wheel brakes. An exclusive Ford development, they are of the mechanical, shoe-expanding type, and are self-centering. The brake pedal and the hand brake each operates all four wheels. It is stated that this is the most reliable and simplest type of four-wheel brake, and also the easiest to adjust, all adjustments being made from the outside without removing any parts.

An engine that is practically vibrationless develops 40 horsepower at 2,200 revolutions per minute. This low revolution speed in ratio to the high horsepower is illustrative of the unusual efficiency of the engine. Also, it means longer life, the lower engine speed insuring less wear on engine parts. The low revolution speed is also a substantial factor in lessening vibration. The bore is 3 7/8 inches, stroke 4 1/4 inches. The unusually large crankshaft, which is both statically and dynamically balanced, weighs 28 pounds. This balancing, combined with the lightness of aluminum alloy pistons, further combine to reduce vibration and increase riding and driving comfort and safety.

In addition to freedom from vibration, it is announced that the car is unusually quiet, a great deal of attention having been paid to this feature by the Ford engineers. In the engine, the timing gears are made of bakelized fabric, which is much quieter than metal. The cams on the camshaft have been so designed as to prevent valve clicking.

The coachwork of the car is as distinctive as its performance. There is a noticeable European touch in line and contour. It is not only designed for exterior beauty, but has as well the interior roominess, convenience and luxurious appointments to be found in much higher priced automobiles. On an instrument board of satin-finished nickel are mounted the speedometer, gasoline gauge, ammeter and ignition lock, with a dashlight in the center. The new military-type sun visor, with crown roof and round corners, are features of the closed models. Unusually narrow pillars and very wide doors and windows give maximum vision. Nickeled radiator shell and headlamps further accentuate the exterior attractiveness, while choices of four colors in pyroxylin finish are offered.

Simplicity in design has also been carried to the ignition. There is only one coil, in a waterproof case. There are no vibrators to adjust, and no exposed cables to work loose or short circuit from water. The distributor is located in a readily accessible position on top of the engine.

Centrifugal water pump, large radiator and airplane propeller-type fan provide a cooling system which makes the car very difficult to overheat, except from abuse, such as running without enough oil, or dry radiator.

From 20 to 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline, depending upon driving speed, is the gasoline consumption announced. Feed to carburetor is by gravity.

The oiling system, also a distinctive Ford design, is a combination of pump, splash and gravity feed. The new transmission is of the selective sliding gear type, with standard shift, three speeds forward and one reverse. The main shaft runs on ball bearings, the counter-shaft on roller bearings and the reverse idler on bronze bearings, a power-saving design unusual on light cars. Shifting of gears is noiselessly and easily accomplished, at the pressure of a finger.

Multiple dry-disc clutch, rear axle for three-quarter floating type housed in electrically welded steel, and spiral bevel gear drive are interesting features. The axle shafts carry none of the weight of the car, the wheels running on roller bearings on the housing. Newly developed springs of the transverse semi-elliptic type and hydraulic shock-absorbers prevent excessive up and down movements and remove side sway.

Irreversible steering gear, which prevents shocks from being transmitted back to the hands of the driver, makes handling exceptionally easy. Maximum steering safety is further provided by a gear housing of welded steel forgings, and a steel tube steering column welded into the housing, making a sturdy and exceptionally safe one-piece unit.

Ford-designed steel spoke wheels, completely welded into a one-piece assembly, are provided.

There are six models of the new car. They are the phaeton, roadster, sport coupe, coupe, Tudor sedan and Fordor sedan. Also new truck.

Local dealers are preparing for a public reception Friday, when models of the new line will be shown in photographs and charts.

HAND PICKED CAST IN "SWIM, GIRL, SWIM"

Good news from Hollywood, starting next Monday and continuing for two days, the Peoples Theatre will present dashing Bebe Daniels in her latest Paramount comedy, "Swim, Girl, Swim."

Advance reports have it that this production is the best Miss Daniels has ever made and if facts mean anything, the reports cannot be exaggerated. "The Campus Flirt" was a knockout, but critics agree that "Swim, Girl, Swim" has it topped.

Here are the facts. In the first place the story was written by Lloyd Corrigan who knows everything about how a college story should be written with color, romance, thrills and laughs. It was directed by Clarence Badger and this man has never been known to miss.

It has a star particularly suited for just this sort of thing—fast moving comedy—and the cast is hand picked. James Hall, Gertrude Leder—yes, the famous Trudy of English channel fame, is in the cast—Josephine Dunn, William Austin and James Mack are only a few of the names.

The story is about a girl who swims the channel and yet who is unable to swim. And that is a situation. There are races and chases galore, just one event after another. And, just to be sure that the college atmosphere was really there, Miss Daniels selected the University of California in Los Angeles for the location of the campus scenes. More than 200 students participate in the production. "Swim, Girl, Swim" is the first picture Trudy has ever appeared in. Her role is a good one and she is seen as a player and also in her customary role of a swimmer.

Those who argue about whether animals can reason may null over this one: A baboon and a kitten in a New York animal store were inseparable companions. The baboon was kept in a strong cage which had always held him safely, but when the store caught fire one night he wrenched out the bars with super-baboon strength, and gathering the kitten in his arms escaped to safety.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

ARTICLE No. 5
You will be surprised to learn how often it brings good results.

Hand No. 1
Hearts—A, 10, 7, 2
Clubs—Q, 4
Diamonds—Q, 10, 3
Spades—A, K, Q, 4

No score, first game. If Z dealt and passed and A and Y also passed, should B open the bidding fourth hand? The test of a sound fourth hand bid is not necessarily the guarantee of a sure game, but rather the guarantee that the hand is strong enough to save game, no matter what the opponents may bid. It's hand is hardly strong enough to make game, unless A's hand is much stronger than can be expected, but it certainly seems strong enough to save game, if the opponents bid, and for that reason is a justifiable fourth hand bid. There is a choice between a no-trump and a spade bid, but the spade bid is the better.

Hand No. 2
Hearts—A, Q, 7, 6
Clubs—none
Diamonds—A, K, J, 8, 4
Spades—J, 10, 7, 3

No score, rubber game. If Z dealt and bid one club, what is A's proper bid? There is not much question about this hand. It is a perfect example of the type of hand that justifies an informative double. If partner can bid spades, hearts, or no-trump, there is a good chance for game. With any of these bids, the chance for game is better than at diamonds, the only other alternative to the informative double. With such hands, don't hesitate to double and invite your partner to bid his best suit.

Answer to Problem No. 5
Hearts—6, 5, 3
Clubs—10, 4, 3, 2
Diamonds—J, 9, 4
Spades—J, 8, 5

Hearts—9, 4
Clubs—9, 8, 7
Diamonds—A, K, Q, 10, 7
Spades—6, 4, 3

Score, 20 all, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade. A bid two diamonds, Y passed and B bid two hearts. Z had two spades, A and Y passed and B bid three diamonds. Z doubled and all passed. Y led the jack of spades and the first three tricks were: (1) Z won with the queen of nodes; (2) Z led the ten of diamonds and A (holding A, K, Q, 10, 7) won with the queen; (3) A led the nine of clubs and Z won the trick with the ace. The problem is: How should Z now play to defeat the contract? Z should figure that as a won trick No. 2 with the queen of diamonds, his partner Y still holds the jack of diamonds guarded. Of course, A may be false carding but Z must take that chance. At trick four, Z should lead the five of clubs, which B would lead his last spade.

science and the press have all racked their brains in their search for some new form of agricultural soothing syrup that would bring instant relief to the farmer and hold him on the farm.

And the CLUBS! The men's clubs and the women's clubs, the commercial and the social clubs, the Rotarians, the Kiwanians, the Y. W. C. A., the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Chambers of Commerce even into the United States Chamber of Commerce and the United States Congress are all anxious to bring relief to the farmer in THEIR way.

Also the Cotton Exchange of New York and Liverpool, and the Board of Trade of Chicago and Canada, and all the dealers in farm products of every kind, from milk and eggs to wheat and cotton are not only anxious but determined to bring relief to the farmers in THEIR WAY. They are not only anxious and determined to do it, but they have been doing it IN THEIR WAY for the past sixty years, with what results?

Why, with all this farm relief medicine that has been doped out to them by their commercial and industrial doctors, the farmers have been having the financial cramps worse and worse every year until they have about reached the cramp colicky stage where agricultural paregoric has lost its effect. And instead of staying on the farm any longer and trying to get relief by doing what their commercial doctors tell them to do, the farmers are leaving their farms by the millions and going to town to try to DO what their doctors are DOING.

It seems that thus far the farm doctors have been more successful financially and every other way than their patients. They have been enabled in some way to build better homes for their families, better schools for their children and better churches for their communities. Some how they have a way of wearing better clothes and riding in better cars and having shorter day's work. And not many of these expert farm physicians keep their children out of school to help make the living. Neither do their wives run a peanut stand or a beauty parlor on some side street to earn their pin-money and keep up the home so that all the profits at the bank, or the factory or the Pit will be saved to build more commercial skyscrapers, high-steeped churches and million-dollar public schools.

When the farmer hauls his wheat, cotton, corn, maize and milk to town and dumps them on the market at any price it happens to be that day and goes to the bank and finds his interest just the same every day of the year no matter whether it rains or not, no matter whether the frost comes early or late, no matter whether the bugs and worms and weevils get his crops or not, it is inclined to generate a queer feeling in his heart, a feeling of doubt as to the justice of things and the sincerity of his advisors.

And when he goes to market his cotton he discovers the weather, the worms, the weevils and the speculators all play their part in fixing the price of his cotton. They can run the price clear down to five cents a pound if they want to. But when he goes to the store to get a spool of thread and some cotton goods to make the children's school clothes the price is just the same as it was last year. The weather and the weevils and the speculators have not effected the price of what he must buy.

There seems to be something definite, something stable, something dependable about the price of everything he has to buy. But the farmer does not know any more about what the price of his products will be tomorrow, next week, or next year than he knows about the weather. And not as much, for the weather is controlled by certain physical conditions over which man has no control, but can forecast, while the markets are controlled by certain individual interests over which a few men have complete control but which the farmers can not forecast.

If the people who give the farmers so much free advice would get out on a farm for fifteen or twenty years and try to farm in this day they might be in position to give them some valuable suggestions. They might see and feel things then as the farmers see and feel them now. But instead most of our farm advisors sit in their comfortable offices and look over the country through their commercial field glasses and tell the farmers to GO DO—not what will help the farmer most but what will help build up the farmer's special business in the city most. The burden of their song is PRODUCTION, and more PRODUCTION. And the minute these same advisors can make the farmers believe he has produced a few bales or a few bushels too much they tell him that he took an overdose of their medicine and now they will be compelled to drop the price of his crop in order to cure him and eliminate the surplus.

If these same doctors would change their prescriptions and send word over the radio and through the press and via our educational institutions saying "Stop taking our advice. Stop doing as we tell you to do and DO as WE DO.—Organize. Get together and study out your own salvation. Take your own business in your own hands and attend to it your own selves.
