Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

Boyce House is credited with the following statement:

Some men try advertising as the Indian tried feathers. He took one feather and slept on it all night. Next morning he remarked, "White man says feather heap soft. White man heap fool."

Which doesn't apply to Munday merchants in the main. Most of our merchants advertise regularly, or don't advertise at all.

But we hadn't intended talking about that.

It's to some subscribers that we want to direct some attention.

Along about this time of year, we have quite a few subscriptions expiring—your time has run out.

Then, too, there are a few—and we hate to mention it—who are getting pretty far behind on paying for their reading.

Some subscriptions have been out for several weeks, or maybe months. You need to drop by with some "diner" and have your time extended for another period.

And we'd like for you to. Or maybe you'd like to write us a letter, like the one we received the other day, as follows, to-wit:

"I am enclosing a check for the Munday Times, which should have been paid last December—just neglect on my part.

"Sincerely hope you don't measure my appreciation of same by the length of time I have been in sending my renewal.

"I enjoy the Munday Times very much, as I was a long-time resident of Munday and vicinity several years ago. In fact, I am an ex-graduate of good old Munday High. (Class of 1923). Thanks so much for keeping the paper coming to me."

So if you want to write us a nice letter and enclose your check, we'll take it that way—and appreciate it.

If you want to come in (in person) and give us a check, or the pure dee cash without comment, we'll take it that way—and appreciate it.

If you want to send it in by a friend, we'll take it that way, and give you proper credit.

If you want to drop by to see us as you come in to vote Saturday; then before you leave, "decorate our palm" with the amount of another year's subscription, we'll take it that way.

Saturday is election day, you know.

All the candidates running for office will appreciate your vote.

In fact, several of them are running ads in the paper this week, telling you how much they will appreciate your vote next Saturday.

The county should poll a large vote—even though our interests appear to be more in the Korean situation than in a local election.

But we must have elections—it's our Democratic way of life that we have to go to the polls and select the ones who are to serve us another two years.

And we're sure all candidates will appreciate all votes that are extended in their direction. For this reason we should record a strong vote.

The candidate who is nominated in this primary will appreciate the fact that Knox County people thought enough of their heritage to cast their votes.

The candidate who is defeated would hate to receive his defeat by a half-hearted vote of a non-interested population.

St. Joseph's Church at Rhineland, construction of which began under the direction of Father Boniface Spanke, O. S. B., in 1927, will be completed in the near future. According to Rev. Fabian Diersing, O. S. B., pastor, work will begin as soon as contractor's equipment can be moved to the site.

K. and K. Construction Company of Wellington and Dimmitt, Texas, was the successful bidder, and all subcontracts will be let under their charge.

New floors will be finished in the best oak, Rev. Diersing said, and an added feature in the church will be a mothers' room for mothers and their small children.

The entire building will be wired for the best possible lighting. Leuders limestone will be supplied by West Texas Stone Company.

Uncle Sam Says

Many of you are sleeping soundly these nights, secure in the knowledge that your home is paid for, that there's an education fund ready to draw upon for that son or daughter ready for college. It doesn't take a financial wizard to figure out that the regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds is a safe, profitable and sure way of saving, one of the best ever invented. Today is the time to join the Payroll Savings Plan at your office or the Bond-A-Month Plan at your bank. That spells financial security.

Hijackers Don't Roam Long; Caught At Knox City

ed B. L. Taylor, about 32, oil driller from Borger, near Haskell didn't have long to enjoy their freedom.

The young couple reportedly relieved Taylor of his Chevrolet near Haskell last Monday at about 5 p. m. Less than five hours later they were apprehended in Knox City by Chief of Police George Hardburger.

Taylor told Haskell officers that he picked up the couple in Fort Worth Monday morning. They rode with him all day and about six miles west of Haskell he said, they drew a pistol and ordered him from the car.

Taylor, who was enroute to Big Spring, said the couple told him they were going to Snyder. He described the woman as about 19 years old and the man at 22 or 23.

Haskell officers returned the couple to Haskell late Monday night.

Democratic Primary Next Saturday Expected To Draw Large County Vote

Voters of Knox County are expected to trek to the polls in large numbers next Saturday and cast their ballots for candidates of their choice.

All voting boxes of the county will be open, and a near-record vote is expected even though there has been very little election talk and interest has seemed light.

Folks just don't "pull their hair" over elections like they used to. Generally speaking, a voter has made up his mind before going to the polls; he casts his ballot and then goes on about his business.

But just as it seemed time for politics to be warming up in Knox County, another thing happened across the world to attract the voters' interests and thoughts. That is the crisis in Korea, where American boys are losing their lives, and where another world conflict seems in prospect.

Nevertheless, people will be elected to fill the various offices in the precinct, county, district, state and nation, and Knox County people are ready to do their duty at home and elect people to these important offices.

A political rally at Knox City on Tuesday night of this week virtually wound up the campaign for most of Knox County's candidates, although they are continuing to work and solicit votes in the final days of the campaign.

OUR NEEDS FOR 1950

1. Completion of our portion of the Throckmorton road, giving the farmers of that area an all-weather outlet.
2. A farm-to-market road to the north and east of Munday, possibly connecting with the Herner road.
3. A U. S. Federal building. Munday needs a new post office home.
4. More homes in Munday. We did a good job in 1949, but there's still a housing shortage.
5. A new telephone system, giving the town adequate telephone service and tapping the rural area surrounding the town.
6. Greater cooperation of business man, farmer, and citizen toward long-range development for our community.

THE COUNTRY PRESS SAYS

MANHEIM, PA., SENTINEL: "At Pendleton, Oregon, on May 10, 1950, the President declared that the American family's annual income could be raised to at least $4,000 by 1960 if the whole country tried."

"But the $64 question is what will the dollar be worth in 1960? How much milk, potatoes or bread will the dollar buy when the minimum income is $4,000?"

"Lots of money has its appeal, yes, but it does not necessarily mean more actual wealth, happiness or prosperity. There is famine and poverty in China but it has more money than it ever had. Money is a medium of exchange and it is worth just what it will buy."

SALEM, N. J., STANDARD & JERSEYMAN: "Americans have always paid taxes, and they always will, to support their various levels of government. But when taxes take from 25 to 30 percent of his income, it behooves the American taxpayer to watch closely every dollar his government spends."

CLARISSA, MINN., INDEPENDENT: "The Weekly People, American Labor party official organ . . . last week . . . bemoaned the fact that American capitalism was on an expansion program that would 'cheapen goods by replacing workers with machines.'"

"It pointed out that when labor-saving machines produced goods faster, it took less workers and therefore was bad. We don't know what kind of thinking produces this conclusion, but history certainly disputes that theory."

"Mass production has been good for this country and for the world. And, odd as it may seem, every time a new machine is invented to cut down labor costs, the goods become cheaper, more plentiful and in the end create more jobs through subsidiary industries for the workers."

RETAILERS DON'T WANT HIGHER PRICES

In a New York Times news story, Greg MacGregor writes, "It becomes increasingly evident that merchants must reduce the cost of their operations. First quarter reports appearing recently were uniform in carrying the story of sales slightly below those of last year with profits down sharply."

"The most serious aspect of declining profits is the fact that under present operating procedures they will probably continue to decline." Mr. MacGregor then went on to say that wages, taxes, maintenance and other costs have all gone up, and added: "The most obvious answer to increased costs is increased retail prices, but store management has recognized that this method cost volume immediately to a degree that nullifies the act. Hence the only alternative is further economy of operation and better salesmanship."

This situation has presented retailers, all kinds and sizes, with a serious and difficult problem. From the point of view of the consumer, the principal interest lies in the reluctance of retailers to advance their prices if any other solution to the rising-cost problem is possible. A great many people have, honestly but mistakenly, placed much of the blame for inflation on the store operator. But no one has, more to fear from inflation, or has done more in an attempt to control it. When prices rise, the volume from inflation, or has done more in an attempt to control it. When prices rise, the volume of trade drops, and everyone—store owners, consumers, employees—suffer.

Retailing has done wonders over the years in reducing overhead costs and increasing efficiency and eliminating waste. That work, it is clear, will be continued aggressively.

"As we face our problems today and consider their nature, we measure the severity of those problems with the degree that we have drifted away from the simple principles with which we began. We can recognize the degree we have changed when the definition of a liberal is a man in Washington who wants to play the Almighty with our money."—Dwight D. Eisenhower, President, Columbia University.

EFFICIENCY IN THE COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE

No office in State Government maintains a closer communion with all of the people of Texas than the Comptroller's office now headed by Robert S. Calvert, a veteran of 20 years' service in its ranks. And no office in the State Government more imperatively calls for efficient operation at all times than the Comptroller's office which serves as the principal collector of State revenues, the keeper of public accounts and the paymaster for every department of State government.

The half billion dollars collected by the Comptroller annually for the operation of State government filters into the State through the purse strings of practically every adult citizen of Texas.

It comes from corporations and individuals, from big busi-of the children.

Until enactment by the last legislature of the Gilmer-Aikin school laws, only the larger richer school districts could afford the numerous services now being utilized throughout the state, Miss Waurine Walker, president of the Texas State Teachers Association, declared here today.

Increased state funds for districts, after they have met state requirements as to financing on the local level has made available teacher supervisors, student counselors, librarians, visiting teachers, nurses, physicians, itinerant teachers, more vocational teachers, home economics and trade and industries courses, distributive education, and more training of exceptional, or handicapped children, Miss Walker pointed out.

"The time is past when children in rural areas cannot have an education as good and in as many fields of endeavor as students in the centers of population," Miss Walker commented.

State aid to schools is offered on a variety of bases.

Schools are allowed funds for a supervisor or counselor on the basis of one to every forty classroom teachers. Supervisors work with the teachers to improve education. Counselors devote their time to guiding and advising children.

Librarians, health nurses, doctors and visiting and itinerant teachers are provided for on the basis of the school districts having their choice of one of those for each twenty classroom teachers.

Visiting teachers work with parents to overcome conditions which prevent children's regular attendance of school. Itinerant teachers are those specializing in such subjects as art, music or physical education who give instructions in several schools in the same district daily or several times a week.

School districts in the same county can combine teacher totals to be eligible for more of these specialists.

Vocational education departments increased during the last school year by more than 500, making a total of 2,087 in the 2,492 school districts in the state.

State aid has enabled high schools, when they have enrollments of sixty or more pupils, to hire instructors in vocational agriculture, trades and industries and home economics.

There has also been a big demand for more distributive education and it is being met. In these courses high school students devote half of their school time to classroom work and the other half to gaining actual experience in their chosen field, whether it is mechanics, printing, selling, farming, merchandizing or work as beauty operators.

Classes for handicapped children have increased 50 percent throughout the state for the last school year. Another such increase is anticipated during the 1950-51 school year as more teachers trained in this highly specialized work become available.

Smaller school districts can also combine to establish joint classes for these handicapped children. Miss Walker expects that practice to be expanded.

Handicapped children benefit greatly under specially trained teachers, but outside the larger centers of population there are so few in many school district it is not feasible from an economic standpoint to hire instructors. Two or more districts generally have a sufficient number of children to make possible this badly needed service," the state association president declared.

Geo. W. Cox calls an "offensive annoying skin infection."

Although children are unusually susceptible, impetigo can be found in any age group, Dr. Cox said. It is most prevalent during the summer months, but has been known to occur at any month.

Impetigo, according to Dr. Cox's explanation, is a purulent skin infection. It isn't serious, except in new born babies. An invasion of a hospital nursery ward calls for extreme attention to keep uninfected babies from getting it, for it spreads like fire in dry grass.

Impetigo is caused by a pus forming bacteria called staphylococcus—the sort of germ found in boils and sores where pus is present. Usually it forms an unsightly crust over wide areas of the body. The pus underneath the crust is highly infectious if allowed to get on any other skin surface.

The infection is easily transmitted when a non-infected person uses the towel of someone infected, since the towel moisture permits the germ to survive.

Children living in the most hygienic homes frequently get impetigo, although it is perhaps more common among children living in homes where personal sanitation isn't considered too important.

Dr. Cox says soldiers are often infected, because they have small chance for keeping consistently clean. It may involve a whole arm, or a side of the face and neck.

The only way to minimize the ill effects of impetigo is to keep the infection localized, that is, keeping it from spreading. This can be done only by preventing the pus or serum from exuding onto "clean" skin surfaces.

The family physician is the infected child's best friend. He'll advise the mother how best to combat the ailment, and how to keep it from spreading to other members of the family.

Texans Have Higher Income From Livestock

Twenty-five years ago only about one-fifth or 20 percent of the agricultural income in Texas came from the sale of livestock. Today more than 45 percent of the state's agricultural income comes from that source, says C. H. Bates, extension farm specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

This situation, coupled with the fact that more than one-third of all the farms in Texas are operated by tenants, is creating a great need for a practical long-term lease or rental agreement. Both landlord and tenant, says Bates, are interested in working out long-term rental agreements that will prove mutually beneficial to both. Involved are such items as the division of the initial cost of the breeding animals, the division of the income from livestock, how to divide the costs of improving pastures or sharing the supplementary pastures, soil building crops and the like. Then there is the question of providing the additional equipment in the form of fences, water facilities, barns and other equipment that is needed on most tenant operated farms before the livestock enterprises can really be set up to the best advantage.

First, Bates says both parties must realize that through necessity the livestock rental contract must be for several years. The pastures and equipment can be improved slowly and this will in turn spread the expenditures over a long period and will not necessitate the borrowing of excessive amounts of money to get the business going. It is usually wise to grow into a new enterprise, if other things are equal, for the experience and information gained during this growing period often means the difference between success and failure, says Bates.

Secondly, Bates points out that the kind of agreement will depend to a great extent upon the individuals making the contract but the important item is to keep the agreement and arrangements on a sound and practical basis. Both parties should profit from the rental contract not only financially but from more security and the greater satisfaction between the contracting parties that comes from the actual partner relationship that must exist if the arrangements are to be workable.

Bates says that several different types of rental agreements are now being tried in the field and that county agricultural agents are working with landlords and tenants trying to work out on the ground the best and most mutually beneficial contracts possible.

Bates believes that forward looking tenant as well as the landlord realizes that soil fertility must be improved, more soil and water conservation practices be used and better use must be made of the products raised on the farm. Greater production per man and per acre along with fair prices are the answer to a stable and prosperous Texas agriculture, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bridgewater and children of Wichita Falls visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Smith, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Butler of Lincoln, Neb., are here for a visit with Mr. Butler's parents, Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Butler.

First Traffic Lights Operated In 1914 Are Abolished As Unnecessary

Traffic signs and signals have become such a necessity in modern life that the National Safety Council is conducting a "Signs of Life" campaign in August to promote better public understanding of them.

But only 36 years ago an electric traffic signal was a curiosity, not a necessity. The first electric traffic lights were placed in operation in August, 1914, in Cleveland, Ohio. The red and green lights were operated by a policeman in a booth on the corner. After a short time, however, the signals were removed because they were unnecessary.

Towers Erected
The next step in traffic signals consisted of towers in the middle of Fifth Avenue, New York City, and in Detroit. The lights were not used to guide vehicles directly, but to relay instructions to other towers. The colored lights had different meanings, too. In New York, red stopped all traffic, green meant stop for north-south traffic, and amber meant go for north-south traffic.

The first electrically interlocked signal system was installed in Houston, Texas, in 1922. Nine intersections were controlled from a central point.

The red and green lights finally used in controlling street traffic were adopted from the signals already in use by the railroads.

Drive carefully—the life you save may be your own!

Tom C. Gooch, of the Dallas Times-Herald, wrote a stirring article about Texas several years ago and it is quoted in part:

Texas is not a melting pot for Americans, as some extremists might hope. Rather, Texas is a gathering place and a rallying ground for those Americans who believe in a free democracy that is really free. No commonwealth anywhere on the face of the earth has a higher respect for individual rights or is more determined that individual effort be protected in honest achievement.

The heroes who died in the sacred Alamo were not native Texans. They came from many of the older states to live in freedom or die for it. Under the leadership of Gen. Sam Houston, a native of Virginia, who came to us from Tennessee, the brave pioneers carried on to final victory at San Jacinto. The only cannon they had when the famous "Twin Sisters," a gift from the people of Ohio.

These early settlers, many of whom came to the colony established by Moses Austin, born in Connecticut, and his son, Stephen F. Austin, a native of Virginia—these early settlers began the building of a free commonwealth that has finally become one of the great, sovereign states of the nation.

A liberal translation of the Indian word Texas (Tejas) means friendliness. We hope our state is well named. At any rate, thousands upon thousands have been attracted within our borders and few have departed. Once a Texan, always a Texan.

Yes, we are proud to be Texans, whether we are of the third or fourth generation or the newest voter. We are still so young that any one who likes a fair fight, good living and comradeship can become a charter member of Texas, Inc.

Knowing When To Stop Is Key To Remodeling

"Remodel an old house, if you don't have to make too many structural changes." That's the advice of housing experts who point out that the commonest fault of remodelers is knowing when to stop.

Using a 50-year old house as an example, the experts recommend four basic changes. First, rewire the house completely for fire protection; second, install space heaters to avoid costly duct work; third, finish all the attic for needed living space; and fourth, cover old plaster walls rather than try to refinish them.

Rewiring the house and installing a heating system are jobs for the experts. With easy-to-use building materials available again, it is relatively simple for the home owner to add an extra attic room or to cover damaged ceilings.

One of the modern materials being used widely for these remodeling jobs is structural insulating board. Since this product is both a building material and an insulation, the home owner can use it to build walls and ceilings while insulating against summer heat and winter cold.

Another advantage of using insulating board is that it eliminates the expense of decorating because the product is obtainable in various factory finishes.

Insulating boards come in large 4-foot sheets as well as long, narrow planks and rectangular or square tiles.

The experts' final piece of advice is keep in mind that it costs relatively little to apply paint, change a partition or two, insulate, lay new floors or put in a picture window. But if you have to rebuild the interior, install a new heating plant, excavate a basement and put in a new foundation, the cost may be prohibitive.

Joline Hendrix

Sunday, July 16th

The Baptist Student Center, Lubbock, was the scene of the double ring marriage ceremony uniting Miss Joline Hendrix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hendrix of 2016 16th Street, and Billy Eugene Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Taylor of Munday, which was read at 6:00 in the evening, July 16th, by Dr. Vester Wolber.

Cut flowers were placed at points in the room and the marital was decorated with white gladioli and greenery.

Miss Frances Evans played a musical prelude of "Indian Love Call", "Because", and "Berceuse". She accompanied Mrs. S. J. Nabors who sang "Al-ways". Traditional marches were played.

Lloyd M. Hendrix gave his sister in marriage. She wore a white waffle pique frock made with a yoke of lace and full skirt. The bride carried a Bible topped with pink rosebuds and satin streamers tied in lover's knots. Her jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift from the bridegroom. She wore "something old, new, borrowed and blue" with a penny in her shoe.

Mrs. Kenneth Phillips of Munday served her cousin as matron of honor. She wore a pink dotted Swiss dress fashioned with a scalloped neckline and full skirt, and carried a bouquet of white cransations.

Mr. Kenneth Phillips served as best man.

A reception followed the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. Homes Rated
As Top Accident
Traps By Expert

DENTON—Your home is the top-rated accident trap. At least, so say safety experts. But you can make it a less dangerous place with a few simple precautions recommended by Texas State College for Women physics director, Albert Ford.

You may live longer if you pay attention to Professor Ford's advice and don't use a chair for a stepladder; permit marbles, skates, cars and other small toys on floors or steps, or have throw rugs on waxed floors.

You can also improve your chances for long life and good health by grounding such electrical appliances as mixers, washing machines, and refrigerators to a cold water pipe to prevent shock; by periodically examining wall plugs and extension cords and by keeping available on emergency supply of spare fuses of proper amperage.

"While you are at it," Ford says, "check those gas jets regularly. All this sounds very commonplace," Ford admits, "but a lot of people get hurt or killed for failure to take such simple precautions."

CHURCH OF CHRIST

J. B. Barnett, Evangelist Munday, Texas
UNITY ON DIVINE AUTHORITY

When we come to accept the New Testament as our ONLY source of authority in matters religious, then and only then can there be UNITY. Until man is willing to lay aside all other sources of authority, so far as religion teaching is concerned, the world will be divided religiously. Thus it behooves man to not rely upon nor point to something else from a religious standpoint for his authority.

Sometimes we hear people giving such things for their authority for what they believe and practice as; their feelings, consciences, creeds of men, the pope, and the church. If you have read the articles of the past it is believed that you are not willing to accept any of the above mentioned subjects for you authority. The reason is simple, that is, that God has not delegated authority to any of them. When one gives such as mentioned above or other things for his authority in religious matters, it proves that he has not read his Bible or he is not willing to take what God says about the matter. Furthermore, he is not walking by faith (II Cor. 5:7), rather he is walking by sight. For, "Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word of God." (Rom. 10:17). Thus since God has not delegated authority in man's feelings, consciences, creeds, the pope, nor the church, one cannot say he is walking by faith when he follows such for his authority.

We accept a common ground for authority when it comes to weights, measures, coining of money, spelling of words, setting boundaries for property, etc. The common ground for authority in any of the above is not questioned. Then why cannot man accept a common ground for authority in religious matters? Thus until man is willing to lay aside his creed books, doctrines and commandments of men, the world is still going to be divided religiously. Why? Simply because man is not accepting the common ground for authority—the Word of God, the Bible. On this UNITY can be had, and on nothing else from a religious standpoint. The Bible will judge us at the last great day, not the creeds of men. Accept the Bible, and no other book as YOUR authority.

From the County PMA Committee

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR CROP SEED

Winter cover crop seed prospects are so good that it now appears that farmers will have enough seed to make their desired conservation plantings in the coming planting season, says E. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas Production and Marketing Administration. A record of 751,500 acres of four important seeds is expected to be harvested this year, which is more than 2½ times the average acreage in the five year period, 1944-48. U. S. Department of Agriculture reports indicate that the greatest increase in acreage expected to be harvested is in Austrian winter peas. The 197,500 acres to be harvested this year are 428 percent of the average acreage. The condition of the growing crop was 91 percent of normal.

Hairy vetch acreage for seed is expected to be 335,000 or 63 percent more than was harvested in 1949. The average condition of the crop the country over was 77 percent.

The acreage of common and Willamete vetches for harvest this year is indicated to be 101,000 as compared with an average of 82,820. The condition of the crop is 83 percent.

Common ryegrass came through the winter well and 118,000 acres are expected to be harvested as compared with an average of 84,000. The condition of the crop is 92 percent.

There were vacuum cleaners as far back as 1872, but they worked by hand and looked like Rube Goldberg contraptions. At right is the "Leasure" cleaner, made shortly after 1900. You pushed it along like a baby carriage and revolving rear wheels operated bellows which created the vacuum. Fifteen of the ancient cleaners, in the collection of The Hoover Company, North Canton, O., were displayed at the recent National Antiques Show in New York.

Kingdom during the 1950-51 crop season has been announced. The fixed price for millable wheat has been set at an average of $2.10 per bushel for the season, an increase of 38 cents per bushel over the seasonal average for 1949-50. Maximum prices set for non-millable wheat, range from $1.69 per bushel at the beginning of the season to $1.95 at the season's end. A maximum deduction of 30 cents per bushel from the price of millable wheat may be made for potentially millable wheat. The increased wheat price makes wheat a more profitable crop in relation to coarse grains, especially since the price of coarse grains is to be reduced from this season's average. The wheat price was increased enough to make a more favorable price relationship with barley, and oats, despite the discontinuance of wheat acreage payments. Farmers have contended that barley was a more profitable crop under the old price relationship.

Barley for human consumption delivered after July 1, 1950 will be at a minimum price of $1.29 per bushel. For other than human consumption, a maximum price of $1.35 per bushel has been set. There will be no maximum price for barley sold for human consumption. The minimum price will apply to all barley that is sound, sweet and in fair marketable condition. A deduction not exceeding 12 cents per bushel may be made from the minimum price for treating barley to bring it up to the required standard.

The maximum price has been fixed for feeding oats ranging from 82 cents to 29 cents per bushel during the season. The minimum price on milling and feeding oats averages 77 cents per bushel for the season. A deduction up to 8 cents per bushel from the minimum price will be allowed for conditioning oats not in fair marketable condition but otherwise sound and commercially clean. There will be no maximum price for milling oats after June 30, 1950.

The minimum price for rye is $1.61 per bushel. In addition, acreage payments will be at the rate of $8.40 per acre on the first 10 acres.

Farm Accident Death Rate Said To Double Any Other Industry Rate

Farm workers had an accidental death rate more than twice as high as workers in non-agricultural industries in 1949, the National Safety Council reports.

The 1949 death rate for farm workers was 54 per 100,000 workers, while in non-agricultural industries the average death rate was 22.

The Council's announcement of the occupational death rates gave emphasis to plans for the seventh annual National Farm Safety Week, proclaimed by President Truman for July 23-29.

Farm Toll Hits 17,000
Highlights of the Council's annual report on accidents to farm residents were:

1. Total farm resident deaths from accidents were 17,000 in 1949, about the same as in 1948. Injuries totaled about 1,165,000.
2. Farm home deaths totaled 5,000, with approximately 750,000 nonfatal injuries.

3. Motor vehicles killed 6,500 farm residents in 1949 and injured 230,000 more.
4. The total of 4,300 farm work deaths was down slightly—2 percent—from 1948. Farm work deaths accounted for more than 25 percent of the nation's occupational death toll for 1949.
5. Public non-motor vehicle deaths, such as drownings, took the lives of about 2,000 farm residents.

On the basis of these figures the Council said that one of every 17 farm residents in the United States will suffer a disabling injury from an accident in 1950.

In the hope that more precaution will characterize farm life this year, farm and safety leaders throughout the nation are mobilizing for National Farm Safety Week to call attention to the heavy accident toll, and to educate farm residents in the measures that will prevent mishaps.

Rural Youth Day Slated For Fair At Dallas

One hundred thousand 4-H Club boys and girls, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers, the largest gathering of rural youth in the world, is the goal set for Rural Youth Day at the Mid-Century Exposition of the 1950 State Fair of Texas, Ray W. Wilson, manager of the Fair's Rural Youth activities program, has announced.

This group of young and enthusiastic future farmers, future homemakers and ranchers will swarm the grounds of the greatest state fair in the world on Opening Day, Oct. 7, as guests of the State Fair, Wilson said.

The farm youngsters are expected to converge on Dallas from every corner of Texas. They will be admitted free to the fair and will be furnished a free lunch, provided by Dallas business leaders and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

The State Fair regards its rural youth project as one of its most important educational undertakings. From a healthy start in 1946 when 30,000 boys and girls attended the Fair, the event mushroomed to a record attendance of 75,000 in 1949, Wilson said.

On Friday night, October 6, recognition will be given 50 outstanding Future Farmers, Future Homemakers, 4-H Club boys and girls in the Honor Award dinner in the Crystal Ballroom of the Baker Hotel. The dinner will be sponsored by Dallas business leaders and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Hotel accommodations have been arranged for this group of outstanding Future Farmers, Future Homemakers, 4-H Club boys and girls. Their parents, teachers and extension agents are also being invited to be

Even though last year's attendance of 75,000 rural youth broke all records, the 1950 goal of 100,000 will attract more attention than ever before. These young homemakers, farmers and ranchers from every section of the state will receive the recognition they deserve for their part in the development of Texas' agriculture and livestock industries, Wilson said.

D. E. WHITWORTH For Sheriff, Knox County

To the Citizens of Knox County:

It has been a pleasure to me to make this campaign. I have met many old friends and made new ones. I want to thank the good people of this county for the friendliness I have received all over the county.

I have tried to see all the voters personally, and if I should fail to meet or contact you, please bear with me and be assured that the oversight was not an intentional one. Please take this as a personal solicitation of your vote and influence.

Knox County has been very fortunate in the past in having popular sheriffs who were known all over West Texas as courageous and efficient law enforcement officers. If you, the voters of Knox County, see fit to put your trust in me and elect me your sheriff, I will do all in my power to fulfill the duties of office and meet your expectations as they should be.

I believe I have the qualifications to make you a good sheriff. I believe that I have the ability to counsel and advise boys and girls away from criminal tendencies. I pride myself in having a wide knowledge of youth and teenage problems, which is so essential in this age. Being the father of two boys and two girls, I know something of the problems that we parents are confronted with. I promise you that if elected, I will treat all men alike, show prejudice and partiality to none, and try to give you and your families the kind of protection I want my own family to have.

Sincerely yours,

"I will vote to meet our needs but not to waste our money.

"I served as an enlisted man in World War I, and as a member of the State Senate in World War II. I am familiar with the problems that will face us if another world struggle comes. Such men will be needed in the Texas Legislature, for there, as anywhere else, there is no substitute for experience.

Peach Crop Is Light This Year

Some peaches are now being harvested in Texas but the total crop will be smaller than usual due to the unfavorable weather during the past winter and spring. Ida Belle Allen, County Home Demonstration Agent, says homemakers should bear this fact in mind and make the best possible use of the small crop that will be harvested.

First, she says, don't let that "skin you love to touch appearance" mislead you when selecting peaches. The best tasting peaches ripen from the seed outward and it is the poor quality varieties that ripen from the outside into the seed.

Tree ripened peaches have a more desirable flavor because the fruit enzymes have an opportunity to do their job, adding the luscious flavor that is lost when the peaches are picked before they mature. She says fruit that is harvested before it is well matured never becomes soft, not even when canned.

The tree ripened peaches must be handled with care for they bruise easily and deteriorate rapidly. They should be, according to Miss Allen, eaten, canned or frozen as soon as possible after picking. If they must be held over for several days, keep them in cold storage at 36 to 40°F. She says the delicious flavor is reason enough for eating peaches but they also supply needed vitamins. At the peak of ripeness, they supply a fair amount of vitamin C, some vitamin B and yellow peaches contain vitamin A. They also contain needed minerals.

From a nutritional standpoint Miss Allen says each person should get a serving of at least two fruits per day and peaches can be used to fill at least a part of the bill.

For breakfast, she suggests a serving of prepared cereal with sliced peaches and cream; for dinner, a peach chiffon pie or an old fashioned peach cobbler will taste mighty good to the family and for supper, you might try fresh sliced peaches and cream, frozen peach salad or a cottage cheese and peach salad. Canned or frozen peaches may be substituted for the fresh fruit, she adds.

Other ways of serving peaches include, peach shortcake, peach ice cream, peach sherbet, peach upside down cake, boiled custard and peaches, peach torte, peach tarts and on fruit plates.

She says be sure there are some canned peaches, preserves, peach pickles and peach butter on the pantry shelves for use when the fresh peach season is over and don't forget to stock the home freezer or locker box.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says It's Not The "Red Tape" That Keeps City Man Off The Farm; It's Work

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek undertakes to answer a city writer this week, and his argument might be a good one if it came from somebody else.

Dear editor:
I got up the other morning determined to do some work, there are some folks who claim loafin loses its edge if you loaf all the time but I ain't never found it that way, the only thing I know that'll take the edge off loafin is workin, however I stuck to my resolution and was gonna do some plowin when I noticed a spider had built a web from my plow to the barn door and I didn't have the heart to tear it down, it was an intricate outfit and made a pretty picture with the mornin sun glistenin on it, and the way I figure is there'll be plenty of days to plow, more'n I'll ever use up. Live and let live is my policy.

Consequently I went down to my neighbor's mail box and borrowed a newspaper and got out of sight and read where a city writer who is opposed to the farm program claims he "would not dare buy a farm now and try to operate it, for fear he would be up to his neck in some sort of trouble with the Federal Government" over all the red tape the farmer has to put up with.

It's perfectly all right with me if a man wants to be against the farm program, that's his business, but if you ask me the reason that city writer ain't out operatin a farm is that very few tractors is air-conditioned.

It ain't red tape that drives a man off a farm or keeps a city man from tacklin one, it's grass and weeds and the fact there ain't nothin between you and the hot sun except your hat.

If I was a city man, I'd think up some other reason beside red tape for not farmin. It ain't Washington that makes farmin hard. From what I understand, farmin wasn't no snap even before Washington was established.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Seymour Rodeo And Reunion To Open July 27th

The 44th annual Seymour Rodeo and Reunion will get under way Thursday morning, July 27, when the old settlers of this area gather at the city park for a day of feasting and reminiscing. This affair attracts hundreds of pioneer citizens each year who had a hand in carving the community out of the old West.

The rodeo and reunion is sponsored by the Seymour Chamber of Commerce, and is headed by Henry Arledge and Dick Morris as general chairmen. The rodeo will open July 27 and run through July 29.

A group of Seymour boosters will be in Monday on Saturday, July 22, from 3:50 to 4:05 p. m. on a good will tour and boosting the rodeo and reunion.

A big street parade will precede each night's show, featuring a number of bands, floats and literally hundreds of horses and riders. The shows will be held at night only, in Seymour's famous two-ring arena where there is something happening every minute. Dances will follow each night's show.

Nat Fleming of Byers, Texas, well known rodeo announcer, has been secured to clown the performance. Both of these men appeared in the rodeo last year, and their popularity merited a return performance.

An added feature, the Lucas-Wood Indoor Circus, top tumbling and acrobatic troupe from Wichita Falls, will thrill the spectators with their daring tricks.

The rodeo, which is strictly amateur, promises to be the biggest and best of the forty-three that have gone before.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bullington of Munday, and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Lee and son, of Denison, returned home Saturday from a sightseeing trip in Colorado, where they spent their vaca-

Mr. and Mrs. A. Coyle and children visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith, in Knox City over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Toby Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lane and family, and Anna May Peek went to Seymour Park last Sunday to the annual Lane reunion. About 60 relatives attended.

important offices of our county, state and nation to merit a good vote from Knox County.

Of course, all candidates want to be elected, but they won't be. It just isn't within the power of us voters to elect them all.

We sure do hope we're elected, though! While in town, come on in and "cast your ballot" for another year's worth of the Munday Times!
