Champs Win Over Aspermont 6-2 In Game On Sunday

Munday Champs gained another decisive victory in their battle for supremacy in the Wichita Valley League at Aspermont Sunday afternoon, when, behind the superb pitching of Lefty Hambright, they turned in a 6-2 victory over the strong Aspermont outfit. The game was one of those air-tight affairs until the eighth inning, with the score 1-0 in favor of the Champs, they went on a slugging spree and five Munday lads crossed home plate.

Ruben Loftin In Race For Senator From 23 District

In announcing as a candidate for the office of State Senator for the 23rd Senatorial District, which is composed of Wichita, Clay, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Foard, Knox, Baylor, Young and Archer counties, I wish to say to the people of Knox county that I appreciate very much the support that they gave me four years ago in my race for this office. To those friends who so loyally supported me in that race, I want to express my sincere appreciation. I believe that any man who solicits the vote and support of intelligent people, for the high office of State Senator, should be able to tell the people what he stands for and what he expects to try to do when elected. On account of limited amount of space it will be necessary for me to present my platform very briefly, merely touching on the issues.

Taxation

I believe that our entire tax system should be reorganized so that those who are now escaping taxation to a great or lesser extent should be required to pay and carry their proportionate part of the burdens of government. I believe the land should be relieved as much as possible. In this connection, I believe that the poll tax law ought to be repealed. Many of our best citizens are disfranchised as a result of our present poll tax system.

Judicial Form

I shall favor the consolidation of a number of the departments of government. Many of our courts can be abolished, both district and appellate courts and a great saving to the taxpayers of the state can be made in this way. Our legal procedure should be amended so that the trial of cases could be expedited and the cost of litigation cut down. In this connection I shall favor the creation of a larger Ranger force in Texas. Although I regret to say it, our state has become a rendezvous for criminals. We should stop this, whatever the cost may be.

Schools

I shall favor maintaining the present apportionment of $16.00 per capita. I believe that every boy and girl in Texas is entitled to opportunity to secure a fair education. I wish to further state that I am in favor of making of the University of

Mr. F. E. Forgy of Quanah, Texas, has accepted a position with the Times and will serve as a combination advertising and printer. Mr. Forgy will be very glad to assist merchants in laying out their advertising and we hope that his services will be in demand by the business concerns of Munday. The Times has the circulation and the advertising service to give maximum results at a minimum cost, and we're hoping that the business concerns of Munday keep us all kidding. Newspaper folks are happy only when they're at work.

C. B. Jones Store Enlarged; To Hold Opening Saturday

Workmen have been busy for some time remodeling the building formerly occupied by the Hassen Co., which is to be occupied by the C. B. Jones Grocery, which will give this store a fifty-foot front, and enable them to greatly enlarge their stock and better serve their patrons. In announcing his formal opening Saturday, Mr. Jones stated that he planned to make it a real event for the citizens of this section, and refreshments, including coffee, cakes, etc., will be served, and music will be provided for the event during the day by a good string band.

In addition to the refreshments and music, Mr. Jones is offering as an inducement to the citizens to visit his store on opening day eight 48-lb. sacks of flour and a like number of bushel baskets of groceries, which will be given away, beginning at one o'clock and continuing until six o'clock Saturday evening, and everyone who visits his store will have an opportunity to take home one of these prizes.

Joe McGraw Home Destroyed By Fire On Tuesday Night

The fire alarm was sounded shortly after two o'clock Wednesday morning and the department was called to the home of Joe McGraw, in the southwest part of the city, where flames had reached such headway that they were unable to save any part of the home or contents, in fact, members of the McGraw family were forced to flee from the house in their night clothing when they awoke to find the house enveloped in flames, and practically none of the household effects were saved. Neighbors, awakened by the reflection of the flames, turned in the alarm.

The residence was owned by Mr. McGraw and both the house and contents were partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Craig-Brown Case Is Reversed By Supreme Court

The Supreme Court last week rendered a decision in the case of G. H. Craig and Frank Brown of Truscott reversing and remanding the case, due to errors in trial of the case. Craig and Brown were indicted in Knox County on a charge of cattle theft and given terms in the penitentiary in the District Court at Benjamin about a year ago, and the case has been on appeal in the Supreme Court since that time.

Miss Nellie Anderson left Sunday for her home near Tulsa, after a two weeks visit here in the home of her sister, Mrs. Grady Thornton.

Jos. W. Bailey, Jr. Heard by Voters of Knox Wednesday

Congressman Joseph W. Bailey, Jr., candidate for United States Senator, spoke to an audience of about 200 on the lawn of the city hall Wednesday afternoon, and his address was well received by those who heard him. Mr. Bailey arrived here about an hour before the time for his address and spent that time in mingling with citizens of the town. Mr. Bailey expressed pleasure at having had an opportunity to visit Munday, stating that in three previous state-wide campaigns he had not visited this city before, but expressed the hope that at some future time he might return for a more lengthy visit. He was highly pleased with the reception given him here, especially by the numerous words of commendation from those who had

The Rhineland Bridge will be completed within the next ten days, according to an announcement made early this week by Judge D. C. C. Osborne, county commissioner. Already the roadway on both sides of the river has been finished and all that remains other than the completion of the bridge is for the approach on the south side to be built, which will require only about a day, Judge Osborne said.

Funeral Services At Thorp Tuesday For "Jack" Moore

Funeral services were held at the Thorp Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon for James H. (Jack) Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, who was drowned Sunday morning near Fort Worth while on a picnic party with a number of friends. The services were conducted by the Rev. R. R. Gilbreath of Knox City, former pastor of the Thorp Church, assisted by Rev. Don Culbertson and Rev. C. B. Stovall.

Mr. Moore was notified of the tragedy Sunday and left immediately for Fort Worth and had the remains prepared for shipment to Munday, where it was taken in charge by R. G. Campbell, local undertaker, who had charge of arrangements. Deceased was reared in the Thorp community and while he had not resided here for a number of years, he had a large host of friends here who were shocked to learn of the tragedy. Active pallbearers, all of whom were boyhood friends of the deceased, were Dorse Rogers, Jim Nelson, Carl and Leslie Smith, Layne Tomble, Horace Stubblefield, Harold Burton and Jasper Bevers.

Details of the tragedy were carried Monday's Star-Telegram, which we reproduce below: A swim after a Sunday morning breakfast on the banks of the Clear Fork of the Trinity River yesterday cost the life of James Horace (Jack) Moore, 31, cleaner and presser. Moore's body was recovered from the stream at 10:15 a.m. about three hours after friends missed him.

Harry Davidson, 2829 College Avenue; Mrs. Myrtle McInturf, 30, 1305 Seventh Avenue; Miss Ruth Turner, 25, 1421 West Terrell Avenue, and A. L. Kirton, 31, 1305 Seventh Avenue, were members of the party.

They reported to Radio Policemen Walter Dews and W. C. Harman that all had breakfast on the bank just south of the T. & P. Railway trestle in Trinity Park. Moore, who had a bathing suit, doctored it and plunged into the river, they said. Moore was last noticed standing in water about waist deep.

A few minutes later the four on the bank noted his absence and when their calls brought no reply help was summoned.

Roy Tarwater and Hugh Roberts, ambulance drivers, dived for the body for some time, then asked aid from the Red Cross Life Saving Corps. Pat Swanson and Foster Howell of the Corps and others responded. Theron Brooks of Harveson & Cole also went to the scene.

Tarwater and Brooks obtained a rowboat and armed with grappling hooks searched the stream thoroughly. One of the searchers on the banks finally located the body and it was taken into the boat. Resuscitation efforts were futile.

The body was found in about ten feet of water, approximately 60 feet from where Moore was last seen alive.

It is believed Moore suffered a cramp resulting from his too hasty entry into the water after eating. He was the second drowning victim of the season.

Moore was an employee of the T. C. U. Cleaners and lived at 1220 West Hawthorne Avenue. He had been a resident here about two years.

TODAY and TOMORROW

BENEFACTOR . . . Willis Abbott

Willis Abbott has passed on. His loss means much to a vast number of humans. He was the Contributing Editor and one of the guiding spirits of that great international daily newspaper, the Christian Science Monitor. His daily column, "Watching the World Go By" was one of the most readable as well as one of the most uplifting features appearing in any newspaper. It reflected the wisdom, the kindness and the tolerance of a man who lived for 71 years and spent all of his lifetime in journalism.

Mr. Abbott had a varied and interesting career. He had worked on news papers in every part of the United States, knew everybody, so to speak, and was literally beloved by all who knew him. He was held in such high esteem in his profession that it is not oversteating it to term him the dean of American journalism. He probably did more useful service to his profession than any other man of recent times, and he was in a real sense, through his writing, a benefactor of humanity.

I have lost a personal friend, but the world has lost a great man. PANTHEON . . . gigantic picture

In ancient Greece there stood a "Temple of all the Gods," to which the name of "Pantheon" was given. The Romans had their Pantheon, in which the memories of their national heroes were preserved. Now the heroes of the Great War have a Pantheon of their own. It is the gigantic painting, said to be the largest ever put on canvas, in which the portraits of 6,000 soldiers and statesmen of the Allied and Associated powers are shown, life-size, against a background of the battlefields of France.

This great painting, the "Pantheon de la Guerre," is one of the most interesting features of the Century of Progress at Chicago. The artists who painted it from life in Paris are dead; most of the heroes whose forms and memories are thus perpetuated are dead; but the picture itself is a living reminder of the great men who did not hesitate to risk and give their lives for their nations and for the cause in which they believed.

Talk as one may against war, there is nobility of self-sacrifice for the common good which is never attained by docile non-resistance to oppression.

W. L. Moore Oil Test Now Drilling Past 1,500 Feet

At ten o'clock Thursday morning the Christie W. L. Moore No. 1, one half mile northwest of Goree was drilling at 1504 feet in a very hard gray lime. The drilling had been very slow the past two days.

Two showings of oil have been found and while in very small amount the indications are good and those in charge of the work are becoming more confident each day that a producing oil well will be made of this test.

THE LITERARY DIGEST POLL

The Literary Digest is conducting another nation-wide poll. This time the Digest is tabulating sentiment on the Democratic administration's "New Deal," including the NRA, and other movements designed to end the depression.

Personally, we see very little excuse for such a poll at this time insofar as the general welfare of the nation is concerned. Since the undertakings generally referred to by three or four letters of the alphabet are all designed to relieve a condition of chaos that existed when President Roosevelt assumed the reins of government, it seems unfair to the administration to determine the extent of opposition which might exist against the "New Deal" without also making an effort to determine how many American citizens would like to return to conditions as they existed when President Roosevelt assumed the task of overcoming the greatest economic depression this nation has ever witnessed.

Indeed it would be interesting to know just what steps those who oppose the policies of President Roosevelt would have adopted in accomplishing their purpose. Certainly they cannot point to the administration of Mr. Hoover as having accomplished anything, and since he was the standard-bearer of the opposing party in 1932, at which time the country had been in the clutches of the depression for three years, and nothing had been done by him that would lead one to believe that he had any idea as to how to go about the task of returning the country to normalcy, one cannot help but wonder just what course those who register opposition to the policies of President Roosevelt would have followed.

There seems to us to be about as much justification in the present poll of sentiment as there would be in such a poll while the nation was in the midst of a great war to determine whether a majority of the people favored the war or not. This nation is in the midst of a great war on an economic octopus that threatened to bankrupt the entire nation and wiped out the savings of a lifetime for countless thousands. Banks by the hundreds were closing their doors and blasting the hope of the people of the nation. The wheels of commerce were at a standstill, and unemployment had reached such proportions that even a ruthless and incompetent administration had made efforts to appease the unrest by making appropriations for feeding and clothing these unfortunate citizens.

Prizes Totaling $1500 Offered Customers of Local Gas Company

Customers of the local gas company are given an opportunity to win some handsome gas kitchen appliances in an easy essay contest launched throughout the territory served by companies in the Lone Star Gas System. Announcement of the contest was made today in advertisements appearing in many newspapers.

The subject of the letter writing contest is, "Why I Like A Modern Gas Kitchen." There will be 50 valuable prizes in all, totalling in value more than $1,500. The prizes have been donated for advertising purposes by the manufacturers of the appliances.

Leading the list is the grand prize consisting of three essentials of the modern kitchen—an Electrolux Gas Refrigerator, an automatic gas range, and an automatic gas water heater. The other prizes include automatic ranges of the latest design, automatic gas water heaters, and many room heaters.

The purpose of the contest is to acquaint the public with the convenience, economy, and all round advantages of the modern gas appliances.

All the contestant has to do is to write a letter giving his or her ideas of the advantages of the gas kitchen. The letter is to be mailed to Gas Contest Judges, 301 South Harwood Street, Dallas, Texas, or left at the local office of the gas company. Literature on the contest may be obtained at the gas company office or by writing the contest judges.

The contest opens June 1 and closes June 30 and is open to all customers of companies in the Lone Star Gas System, except employees and members of their families. There is no restriction on the length of the letters. They will be judged on the ideas submitted. Three representatives of three leading Texas Colleges will act as judges.

COUNTY DRESS CONTEST JUNE 9 AT BENJAMIN

With the completion of the wardrobe demonstration in Knox county, the Annual Dress Contest will be held in Benjamin June 9, with Mrs. Dora E. Barnes, Clothing Specialist, College Station, as judge.

4-H BEDROOM IMPROVEMENT

"I have enjoyed improving my bedroom more than anything I have ever done, said Mary Helen Partridge, bedroom demonstrator in the Sunset club and winner in the county-wide bedroom contest.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED IN 4-H BEDROOM CONTEST

The bedroom demonstrators in each of the 4-H clubs completed their work and the rooms were judged Saturday, May 26. These rooms were to be improved, equipped and arranged to meet the needs of each girl. They were to have five groups of furniture in them, namely: Sleeping, study, dressing, bathing (if there was not a bath room in the house) and storage space. Another big point in this contest was to make just as much improvement, set as pleasing a room and still to keep the cost of improvement as low as possible. With only one exception these rooms were improved at a cost of $5.00 to $10.00.

The winners were: Mary Helen Partridge, Sunset Club, first; Ina-leen Williams, Union Grove Club, second; Margaret Westbrook, Truscott Club, third; Frances McGuire, Gilliland Club, fourth.

Partridge, Sunset Club, first; Ina-leen Williams, Union Grove Club, second; Margaret Westbrook, Truscott Club, third; Frances McGuire, Gilliland Club, fourth.

Other bedroom demonstrators in the county were: Lucille Jackson Hefner Club; Addie Belle Jernigan, Vera Club; Mary Belle Mills, Rhinecland Club; Bonnie June Roberts, Goree Club; Bernice Crofford, Dixon Club.

All of these girls have improved their rooms in such a way that they are sure to enjoy them a great deal. Each of these have done most creditable work and have rooms that they will be glad to show at any time.

4-H BEDROOM IMPROVEMENT

"I have enjoyed improving my bedroom more than anything I have ever done, said Mary Helen Partridge, bedroom demonstrator in the Sunset club and winner in the county-wide bedroom contest.

"In fixing my bedroom, I removed all of the pictures from the walls and removed the nails upon which they were hanging. I then began to get a good grade so that it will not be necessary to canvas my room again soon. My room is larger, therefore it took a great deal of canvas as well as paper. The canvases and tacks were two dollars and twenty-five cents. While tacking, my baby sister and I made it interesting by trying to see which could tack or put tacks on the hammer faster. This kept it from being tiresome.

"The next thing that I did to ward improving my room was to remove all unnecessary articles. Then I began painting the door facings and windows. At the same time my brother was painting the ceiling. The paint that I used was left from the kitchen; therefore it cost me nothing. I got some light paint that was left from painting the inside of a cabinet and painted my closet. This makes it much lighter and easier to keep clean; in fact, much easier than paper would be. I added a shoe rack and two hat racks.

"I then took some floor oil, which we had already, and oiled the floor. I took the varnish that was left from varnishing the cabinet top and re-varnished all of the furniture in my room, including a dresser, table, rocker-end that I had fixed, and another chair. There was about one-half of a can of varnish so it was a cost of fifteen cents.

"As there were two beds in my room, and they were of different shades, it was necessary for me to paint them both the same shade. I bought the enamel for forty-five cents. The enamel was forty-five cents.

"It was necessary to hang the paper before the base boards were put down. Mother and I hung the paper, with some assistance from my father. The paper is light, and it has a very pretty light pastel design of flowers on it.

"When the paper was hung, I put down the base boards. As my room did not have base boards, it was necessary for me to get new ones. They were one dollar and fifty cents. "The other fixtures added consisted of a screen that my father made. It cost only fifty cents. I also have a new curtain rod which cost fifteen cents and new curtains made from material we had on hand. I made and painted a combination bedside table and bookstand from an apple crate. My room did not have any rugs, so I took the scraps from a small kitchen rug and cut them into small

"I have a large room which is cool and airy. It is now fresh, attractive, and easily kept clean. Below is a complete table of the expense of fixing my room: Tacks, 40c; bed enamel, 45c; picture glass, 19c; screen, 50c; canvas, $1.75; paper $2.95; baseboards, $1.50; varnish, 15c; mattress pad, $1.50; curtain rod, 15c. Total, $9.65.

There are seventeen active members in our 4-H club. Each of them is striving toward our goal. Several have made dressers and others have made closets. Some of the girls have re-arranged their furniture and lowered their pictures to the eye-level. Some have papered their rooms and made shoe racks or bookstands. All of the girls have been working.

The majority have a garden planted and some have fresh vegetables now. We must keep striving until we have accomplished our goals. This I hope that each girl shall try to do."

Firestone LEADERSHIP
The Ultimate Test of Leadership in Performance

FIRESTONE has maintained its leadership in tire development by producing a new tire for 1934 with a wider tread, better contour, deeper non-skid, greater thickness, and more and tougher rubber, which gives greater non-skid safety, more traction, greater blowout protection, and more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

These achievements are made practical by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, providing greater adhesion between the plies of the high stretch cords and between the Gum-Dipped body of the tire and the tough, massive non-skid tread. It also provides greater strength, longer flexing life, and greater protection against blowouts.

Gum-Dipping made it possible for Firestone to design, develop and put on the market the first successful balloon tire in 1923. This tire was the pattern used by all others and completely revolutionized the tire industry and set new standards for the automobile industry.

Firestone also developed the first all-rubber non-skid tire, and has always been first to give motorists the benefits of new discoveries in non-skid design, providing more traction and greater non-skid safety.

For fourteen years leading race drivers have driven to victory on Firestone tires, built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords. They have trusted their lives to Firestone Leadership—as they know that the patented Firestone construction features provide them with greater safety—longer mileage—and greater blowout protection.

Firestone Tires are Track Tested on the greatest proving ground in the world—they have won this classic for fourteen consecutive years.

Firestone Tires are ROAD TESTED on the large fleet of Firestone test cars, day and night every day in the year, over all kinds of roads and highways.

of to make a good road is to shovel some dirt on it. I look my ear the other day for a tour around the back roads of the country around my farm. The CWA had been getting in its work, and the result is that many rural drives which have always been passable and pleasant are now so difficult to drive over that one has no time to admire the scenery. Shoveling sand from one side of the road to the other side of the road for anywhere up to $24 a week seems to me to be a poor way to employ men. It has confirmed a good many chronic loafers in their philosophy of life, which is that if you don't do any work someone will see to it that you get enough to eat and a place to sleep.

As I have said before in this column, one effect of the lack of intelligence shown in the distribution of relief funds seems to me to be the creation of an army of men who never will work at anything that gives for real labor.

FUTURE still bright

I had a telegram the other day from President Sloan of the General Motors, inviting me to be a guest at a dinner he was giving in Chicago to hear eminent scientists discuss the future of industry. I couldn't go, but was greatly impressed with what Mr. Sloan said in his message.

"I have been concerned with the thinking of many who believe that our progress in this world is finished; that we must live merely by dividing up available jobs and that we must accept a lower standard of living."

That, of course, is not true. Mr. Sloan set out to prove it untrue by opening up the vista of the future possibilities and certainties in store for the advancement of humanity's economic condition.

Only half-labeled theorists who think the world began about the time they were born really believe that an end has come to human progress. Such theorists have said that in every age from time immemorial, yet we have been and still are steadily progressing toward the ultimate goal when no one shall want for any material benefit he requires.

known his distinguished father intimately.

Congressman Bailey discussed his platform in detail and declared his belief in government according to the constitution of the United States and the rights of the states which it guarantees.

Mr. Bailey emphasized the fact that unemployment was the greatest problem now confronting the country and outlined plans for returning millions of unemployed to work, through the breaking up of hundreds of huge monopolistic corporations. He favored the reorganization of silver and the expansion of the currency by paying off the soldiers' bonus. He urged the readjustment of the tariff to revive foreign trade in cotton, wheat and other raw materials.

He assailed vigorously the free oil control bill which he said would take from the people of Texas the right to control their own oil industry and place under Federal control the most valuable resource of the State. Those administering the industry would have to pay but little attention to Texans who might be dissatisfied with their acts.

Mr. Bailey said that his opponents were raising a fictitious issue by claiming that he had been disloyal to the Democratic administration, pointing out that Senator Connally had numerically voted against as many measures sponsored by the administration as he had done. He said that he would always follow the lead of the president, whom he recognized as the leader of the Democratic party, but would continue to vote for any measure which he conscientiously thought was for the welfare of the people of Texas whom he represents.

Mr. Bailey declared that he would favor legislation which would decentralize the vast holding companies, monopolistic corporations and subsidiaries, chain stores etc., who do business in Texas but send all their money out of the state. This he said would cause the formation of smaller companies which would give employment to some 3,000,000 people seeking work.

He declared himself for tariff readjustment to increase foreign trade and provide additional employment for two millions of enforcedly idle people. He favored the principle of old age pensions through state legislation.

proper regulations and restrictions.

Nepotism

I am in favor of a more strict Nepotism Law in Texas and as your state senator, I shall undertake to pass a law that will prohibit heads of departments of government from exchanging influence with other departments and from employing each other's relatives.

Highway Commission

I am in favor of an elective Highway Commission.

Oil, Gas and Utilities

I shall favor the creation of an oil, gas and utilities commission with the power to regulate rates and all other matters with reference to these industries. I would also give them the control of the conservation of the soil, timber, water and all other natural resources of our state.

Prohibition

I am in favor of the submission of a constitutional amendment for the repeal of statewide prohibition and if the people should decide to repeal it, I shall insist on strict laws regulating the dispensing and sale of intoxicating liquors. I am opposed to return of the old time saloon.

Conclusion

In conclusion I wish to say to my friends everywhere, that the depression has affected me like it has everyone else. I have not the means to do the advertising that those who may oppose me in this campaign have, therefore, I request my friends everywhere to assist me in carrying my candidacy to their friends and neighbors and help me win this race. I wish to say further that I am a candidate for State Senator and not for any other office or quasi public trust with serving as your State Senator. Again thanking you for your wonderful support you gave me four years ago, I earnestly solicit your support again.

Respectfully,
RUBEN LOFTIN.

Graduation exercises were held last Thursday, May 24, in the school auditorium. In spite of bad roads, due to a heavy rainfall during the day, the auditorium was filled to capacity by an appreciative audience. Five students received diplomas.

The stage was beautifully decorated with flowers and fern. The class colors, pink and white, predominated in the scheme. The class motto, "Climb though the rocks be rugged," in large pink letters on a white background captured the eyes of the audience as it hung suspended above the heads of the graduates, as they were seated on the stage.

The program was as follows: Salutatory, Marybelle Mills; class history, Robert Albus; violin solo, Roy Lee Mills, accompanied on the piano by John J. Hoffman; class prophecy, Jerome Koenig; class will, Leo Herring; class motto, Rev. Boniface Spanke, O. S. B.; piano solo, George Claus; presentation of diplomas and prizes, John J. Hoffman; valedictory, Hubert Homer; song, "La Paloma," high school chorus.
