Thinking Out Loud

By J. A. K.

The candidates who failed to receive majorities in the first primary are now off for the second lap, and will remain on the alert until the 25th.

The Texas Weekly in pointing out the defects of our primary system states that the leading candidate for governor received only about 34 per cent of the votes, and the second man received about 32 per cent.

Hence the man who will be governor for the next two years was not the first choice of but about a third of the voters of Texas, regardless of who wins.

About the best one that Tom Hunter has pulled on Jimmie Allred in the campaign was when he suggested that he take some of the money he has been spending for radio talks and buy him a sprinkler for the dusty street on which he lives in Austin.

And now Jimmy has Tom on the run on his mystifying tax plank, in which he advocates abolition of the ad valorem tax and a substituted blended tax, which nobody but Tom seems to understand.

Platforms and campaign promises don't seem to "click" with voters as in days of yore. Charley McDonald promised most everything in his platform from old-age pensions to bonded liquor, but even these did not attract a sufficient number of votes to get him in the running.

Anyway, we Africans get a lot of "kick" out of these campaigns, even if it does cost a man approximately $50,000 to be elected to a $4,000 job for a couple of years, and so long as we don't know who pays it, why shouldn't we be happy?

And those legal giants scrapping over the Attorney General's office. They remind us of a couple of kids. Bill McCraw says Walter Woodward is a utility lawyer because he took employment from a gas company whose proxy lives on Wood street in Dallas, while Walter says Bill represents the chain store octopus that is trying to stop the life blood out of independent merchants, and backs up his charge with the accusation that Bill is attorney for the Safe-Way Stores. Folks who have paid their $1.75 can take their choice!

Still about the most general topic of conversation is the weather, and we're still having lots of it. Hot and dry and no rain clouds in the sky day after day.

Some days ago radio communication was carried on with all parts of the world and it was stated that at that particular time there was not a cloud in the entire world.

Those who have visited Lake Kemp recently state that the water line is going down rapidly due to the great demand for irrigation purposes and the further fact that Lake Kemp water is now going into Wichita for consumption in Wichita Falls.

There is one field of cotton in the community that will make about a bale to the acre, and that is at the bigstone project shows what could city disposal plant. This small acre is done here if we only had facilities to irrigate the rich soil of the Famous Knox Prairie.

Methodist Revival Grows in Interest With Each Service

Under the able leadership of Rev. H. L. Cochran the revival meeting which began Sunday at the Methodist church, is gaining momentum, and attendance is increasing with each service, and the pastor, Rev. H. C. Hand, and others interested are expecting a great revival under the leadership of this noted Evangelist.

Evangelist Cochran has held successful meetings in many states of the Union and he holds the undivided attention of great crowds wherever he goes. He is unique in his preaching and pulpit manners, and his one aim is to reach the unsaved of the community in which he conducts a revival.

You will hear some plain preaching—no sugar-coating; just plain every day language by a man who hates sin, but loves sinners. Evangelist Cochran wishes it to be understood that this meeting is for everybody who is interested in seeing souls saved, and he covets the cooperation of everyone during the campaign here.

Services are being held daily, at 10:00 a. m. and 8:15 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Sied Waheed are rejoicing over the arrival of twin sons, who were born at the Knox County Hospital at Knox City Tuesday evening, and reports are that both boys and the mother are getting along nicely, but Sied, who was scheduled to have an ad in this issue of the paper, is too busy running over to Knox City every few hours to take another look at them, to get up copy, and those two kids will likely keep him busy a good part of the time hereafter.

W. R. Moore is in Wichita Falls for the week on business.

J. B. Golden, brother of our fellow townsman, Oates Golden, won the nomination for County Superintendent in Wichita county in the recent primary. Complete returns indicated Mr. Golden had fell short only a few votes of a majority over his two opponents, one of whom is the present incumbent, who was next high man, and who made a statement following the returns that he was withdrawing from the race on the face of returns which indicated to him that a change was desired.

Revival Meeting Church of Christ Attracting Many

The revival meeting in progress at the Church of Christ under the leadership of Evangelist Carl A. Collins of Breckenridge, is attracting large crowds twice daily and the plain gospel sermons of this well known and universally liked minister have provoked much favorable comment from those who have been attending the services, and members of the congregation feel that the church will be greatly revived as a result of Evangelist Collins' efforts here.

Services will continue throughout the remainder of the week and a cordial invitation is extended everyone to attend. The services are being held out-doors for the evening services and there are ample seats to care for the large crowds.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By Frank Parker Stockbridge

INSURANCE . . . . . for jobless

Three first experiment with compulsory unemployment insurance in the United States went into effect on the first of July this year, in Wisconsin. The movement for a Federal scheme of unemployment insurance is growing. I don't think there is much question that we are heading toward a social system under which men who are able and willing to work are thrown out of work through no fault of their own will receive unemployment benefits, either from funds established by employers, or out of their own wages while they are earning, or by state or federal government.

The English system, which is a combination of all three, looks to me the soundest. Every wage-earner, to be entitled to unemployment insurance, must consent to the deduction of a small percentage of his wages when he is working, which goes into a fund to which the employers contribute an equal percentage and the government contributes its share. That provides the much discussed British dole, which seems to have worked pretty well through the hard times—which are now about over in England.

PENSIONS . . . . . and politics

I think there is little doubt that we will soon have a national system of old-age pensions. That scheme is working out pretty well in the states that have put it into effect. In Massachusetts, my own state, every male voter pays $1 a year into the Old Age Assistance Fund. That makes a fund large enough to support all the aged needy, and poorhouses have been abolished.

The average old-age pension in Massachusetts is a little over $6 a week. Those receiving it have to prove that they have no other means of support—that they are unable to earn a living.

The trouble with any such scheme, like many other desirable social reforms, is that their administration has been left to political appointees. Before we can go wholesale into Socialism, we must first reform our entire political system of rewarding partisan efforts out of the public treasury.

COUNTIES . . . . . too small now

County government, generally speaking, is the least efficient and most corrupt phase of public service in the United States. Most of our counties are too small. They date from the horse-and-wagon days. There are few places now from which one who has business at the county seat couldn't make a fifty-mile trip easier than he could go ten miles a few years ago.

There is too much overlapping of city and county governments. Few cities are as fortunate as St. Louis, which is in no county. New York City is making a brave effort to rid itself of the five counties, which are all inside the city limits. They are for duplication of cost and effort, waste of public funds and general inefficiency. Those who are fighting to retain them are the politicians who hold county jobs and their followers.

I think we are coming pretty close to a general consolidation of counties in many parts of the United States.

FRATERNITIES . . . . . first 1750

Away back in 1750 a group of students at William and Mary College in Virginia organized themselves into the "Flat Hat Club," which was the parent of all American college fraternities. Thomas Jefferson was one of its members. Later it became the custom to give these fraternities Greek names and identify them to the outer world only by initials, and as colleges multiplied, one fraternity might have chapters in many colleges.

There is something about each of these Greek letter fraternities which constitutes a life-long tie between its members. Most of America's famous men have been members of some fraternity. I am reminded of that by the interesting innovation of Alpha Delta Phi, one of the oldest of them all, in holding its annual convention the other day on a cruise to Bermuda on the Furness liner, Queen of Bermuda. And I was especially interested to note that a great educator from my own section of the country was elected to the presidency of Alpha Delta Phi, of which, by the way, President Roosevelt and Justice Harlan Stone of the Supreme Court were members.

PROHIBITION IN TEXAS

The recent primary brought out many interesting features in Texas politics, and to our mind, one of these is that fact that Texas is not so all-fired wet as some of the politicians have believed for the past year or so. C. C. McDonald, the only dyed-in-the-wool, life-long dripping wet in the race for Governor, if we are correctly informed by the Ferguson Forum, his official organ during the campaign, did not receive enough votes to make the grade, despite the fact that he received what is generally known as Jim Ferguson's "vest pocket vote," among whom are some prohibitionists.

Since Texas voted for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment many politicians have been throwing themselves into reverse right along on the prohibition question, believing the repeal vote to mean that Texas people wanted liquor back. In this we have believed all along that they were mistaken, and Saturday's results have convinced us more than ever that Texas is not wet. Certainly there are many communities, counties and sub-divisions that would readily vote to legalize liquor, but as a state-wide proposition, our prediction is that it will take a strenuous campaign to legalize liquor in Texas, and some of these new converts to the liberal view will have to turn some more political conversants in the near future.

INFLUENCE OF NEWSPAPERS

Another thing the recent primary election has demonstrated very clearly, and that is that the large daily newspapers of the state do not wield the influence in the political sphere that they once did. Practically all of them, or at least a majority of them, openly supported Hon. Clint Small for Governor, and he trailed a poor fourth. Two years ago they were practically all supporting Ross Sterling, and that also is history.

However, he it said to the credit of these newspapers that they dealt fairly with all of the candidates in the handling of the news stories concerning their campaigns, and from these stories Mr. John Public feels that he is just as capable of forming his own conclusions as are the editorial writers who sponsor this or that candidate.

BLIND VOTING

The fact that many voters cast their ballot for many state officers without really knowing for whom they are voting was clearly demonstrated in the recent primary. The synthetic George B. Terrell of Dallas whose real name is George H. Baker, received almost 200,000 votes for State Treasurer, and came near receiving sufficient votes to go to the run-off with Charley Lockhart, present incumbent.

Had he received sufficient votes to have gone into the run-off a perplexing situation would have resulted for just prior to the primary George B. Terrell of Alto, Texas, the present Congressman at large from Texas, protested the action of the district court in Dallas in granting Baker the legal privilege of changing his name to that identical with his, and the court recinded its former action in granting him that privilege, hence the 200,000 Texas voters who cast their ballot for George B. Terrell of Dallas County, were in reality voting for someone who did not exist legally or otherwise, and the synthetic Terrell has been doinging process-servers in Dallas since that time who want him to appear before the proper authorities to face dis-barrment proceedings, but he is reported missing at his boarding house.

Two other high class and worthy gentlemen in the race did not receive a combined vote of anything like that accorded this synthetic Terrell.

FIVE MILLION JOBS.

The importance of home building and repairing in the fight for recovery was well summarized recently by Bernard L. Johnson, editor of the American Builder, when he said: "The tremendous decline in expenditures for home building from an average of $2,000,000,000 a year to less than $2,000,000,000 in 1931 and 1932 was a major cause of the depression and unemployment. Stimulation of home building and repairs will eventually give employment to 5,000,000 men directly or indirectly dependent on building for their livelihood. Home building is a local industry . . . it will put men to work in their own home towns at their own jobs, and will give business to local contractors, lumber dealers, hardware stores, electrical and supply shops and other local businesses."

Every type of business and worker is benefited when a wave of building and modernizing sweeps through a community. Every dollar spent starts a great financial circle—the money goes to workmen who pay their bills and are able to buy more products; it goes to stores which in turn are enabled to meet their obligations and restock; it goes to farmers and to doctors and, in the form of taxes, to government. Eventually it comes back, with interest in the coin of better business, to the original spender.

CLYDE NELSON THANKS VOTERS FOR SUPPORT

I wish to express my sincere thanks for the excellent vote given me in the July primary, and to say that I will continue to see as many voters in the precinct as possible between now and August 25, and respectfully solicit your support at that time.

Respectfully,
CLYDE NELSON.

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY:

I wish to express my appreciation for the fine support given me by the voters of Knox county. Regardless of my success in the runoff campaign, I wish to extend sincere thanks to all interested in the race. I am asking further support in the runoff on my pledge of faithful business administration of the office of the county to the best of my ability if the voters see fit to continue me in the office of County Judge.

Sincerely yours,
J. W. MELTON.

SAM B. SPENCE EXTENDS THANKS TO KNOX VOTERS

Pointing out that the voters of the 13th district had repudiated their present congressman by a majority of more than 10,000, Sam B. Spence of Wichita Falls issued a statement of appreciation Monday for the vote he received in the July primary.

"The results of the primary clearly indicate that a majority of 10,000 citizens want a change," Mr. Spence said. "I thank the voters for the more than 21,000 ballots they cast in my behalf. With the continued invaluable assistance of my many friends throughout the district and the additional help of new friends created, I expect to carry this fight through to a successful conclusion."

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX COUNTY:

I wish to thank the people of Knox county for the support given me in the recent primary and for all the courtesies that they have shown me in the past. I again renew my pledge to carry out the duties of the office of County Treasurer to the best of my ability.

Sincerely,
J. TRAV HOUSE.

JACK MCGRAW EXTENDS THANKS TO VOTERS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the voters of Munday and vicinity for the vote given me in the primary, and I shall strive to make you such an officer that you will have no regrets for having cast your vote for me.

Respectfully,
JACK MCGRAW.

Home Hints
By NANCY HART

Grease stains may be removed from leather most easily with either benzine or pure turpentine.

Line the baking pan with parchment paper when you are baking fish and you'll find the pan will be much easier to wash.

When you're scrambling eggs, add a few bread crumbs in the mixing

It changes the flavor a bit and makes the eggs go much further.

Separating eggs is a simple matter when you break them over a small funnel held over a cup or glass. The whites go through, of course, leaving the unbroken yolks at top.

Avoid chipping and nicking delicate china in the dishpan by covering the bottom of the pan with a thick Turkish towel folded to fit.

An excellent covering for the ironing board may be made of old white window shades that have been washed and ironed. They do not burn readily and they're strong and durable.

Dull cloths may be brightened up easily with equal parts of turpentine and milk.

Add a little vinegar to the water in cleaning linoleum and it will dry unusually bright and shiny.

To clean coral beads, dip them in a solution of one teaspoonful of borax to a pint of hot water. When they are clean rinse with tepid, clean water.

To clean ink-stains from linen without damaging the fabric, dip the linen in milk and let it stand for two hours. Then wash the linen with pure soap while the milk is on the spots. This method is almost always successful.

THE SMALL CITY... A Pacemaker of Progress

More and more the signs point to the greater importance of the small and medium-sized community.

We are proud of the part electric power is playing in laying the groundwork for this greater progress and prosperity.

Gone is the day when the larger metropolitan centers had a monopoly of power supply, the first essential of industrial growth and development.

Widespread networks of transmission lines have given the smaller communities the same high-grade electric service as the larger cities have.

On this firm basis, industries are increasingly recognizing the advantages of location in small communities.

This trend will react most favorably to West Texas, the "Land of Opportunity"—efficiently, dependably and inexpensively served by the West Texas Utilities Company.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

Watch it bubble up, then drink it. You will be amazed at the almost instant relief.

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid.

After trying many brands of medicines—so-called relief for gas, and all of them a failure, I gave up hope. By chance I tried Alka-Seltzer—I am more than satisfied. Geo. Bennett, New York, N. Y.
