Howard McCauley Dies At Home of Parents At Goree

William Howard McCauley, 28 years of age, died Saturday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McCauley, near Goree, following an illness of about two years from tuberculosis, which he contracted while in the U. S. Navy. After being stricken with the deadly disease he spent some months in a Government hospital in Tennessee, and some months ago when he realized that he was beyond relief he came back to the home of his parents to spend his last days.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church at Goree by the Rev. L. S. Jenkins, former pastor, after which interment was made in the Goree cemetery.

Mrs. Whit Smith and little son of Fort Worth are guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Langford.

E. B. Cash Grocery Suffers Big Loss In Fire Monday

Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, damaged the stock of merchandise of the E. B. Cash Grocery and Market at an early hour Monday morning. The alarm was sounded about 2:00 a. m. and a quick response was made by the fire department and as a result the flames were extinguished with only a few hundred dollars damage to the stock and small damage to the building which is owned by Mrs. Louise Ingram.

After the flames had been extinguished an investigation revealed evidence that the fire was of incendiary origin as it was evident the oil had been freely used in an effort to destroy the stock of merchandise and the building and Will Mabry, manager of the store, reported that a large quantity of cigarettes and other merchandise was missing from the stock, which fact led to the belief that the store had been burglarized prior to being set on fire.

One of the first to discover the fire was Ura Wilson, who was sleeping in the Wilson Hotel adjoining the building in which the fire originated, who was awakened by the smoke, and who broke into the rear of the building and used a small garden hose effectively. Roomers in the hotel were all aroused from their slumber by Mrs. R. B. Wilson and made plans to vacate in case the fire got beyond control of the firemen.

The Hon. Carl Williams who represents cotton on the Federal Farm Bureau is coming from Washington to speak on the second day of the WTCC convention. This address and the debate on the Farm Board resolution will be of great interest to the business men of all towns of West Texas who are interested in securing a marketing unit of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Assn. which operates the Federal Farm Board.

Miss Helen Smith was here from Simmons university for the week end with her mother, Mrs. J. R. Smith. Miss Helen will graduate from Simmons on June 4th, and will join the Simmons Cowboy Band party on their trip to Europe on June 3th.

E. H. Stodghill Dies Suddenly on Friday From Heart Attack

The citizenship of this city and community received a severe shock Friday afternoon when news spread that E. H. Stodghill had passed away. Indeed, it was difficult for those who had talked with him only a few hours before when he seemed in the very best of health and spirits to realize that this good citizen had passed away.

Mr. Stodghill was at his place of business during the morning and ate a hearty dinner. Returning to town after the noonday meal he joined friends in a "42" game near his blacksmith shop, and after playing a few games he asked that one of the by-standers take his place at the table as he felt ill. He went to his shop and after a few minutes requested one of the employees of the shop to take him home in his car, which request was complied with, and upon entering his home he asked his wife if the dinner had made her ill, adding that he was deathly sick. He went into his bedroom to lie down and Mrs. Stodghill followed to minister to his wants.

He had hardly reached the bed when she observed that he was in a critical condition and rushing to the phone to get medical aid she heard his struggling, and when she returned from the telephone life was extinct. Attending physicians attributed his death to acute indigestion.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3:30, with the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the Baptist church at Floydada, and former pastor here, officiating, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Albertson, who was in New Orleans attending the Southern Baptist convention. Following the services at the church the remains were taken in charge by the Masonic order and were laid to rest in Johnson cemetery following the impressive Masonic ceremony. One of the largest concourse of people who have ever attended a funeral service in this city was present to pay their last tribute of respect to this good citizen and the large floral offering spoke mutely of the high esteem in which he was held by those among whom he has lived for more than twenty years.

Active pallbearers were Eugene Millam, J. J. Keel, M. H. Reeves, C. A. Eiland, Leland Hannah and H. A. Pendleton. Honorary pallbearers were E. E. Akers, R. B. Davy, C. L. Mayes, W. H. Atkisson, Tom Isbell, D. A. Eiland, W. T. Burton, W. R. Moore, Dr. Wm. P. Farrington and John Spann.

Deceased was born in Troup county, Georgia, September 19, 1871, and in infancy moved to Fredonia, Alabama, where he grew to manhood. In 1892 he was united in marriage with Miss Mattie Smith at Dadeville, Ala., and they came to Texas in 1895, first locating at Mart, McLennan county, and some years later moved to Stamford, from which place they moved to Munday on January 16, 1909, and since which time he has proven himself a most worthy citizen, always obliging himself with the element of citizens who stand for things high in life, and as one citizen who viewed the remains shortly after his demise remarked, "If all citizens had the same ideals as did he there would be no need for laws of officers."

To this union were born nine children, all of whom, together with the faithful wife, survive him except one, a son who died in infancy. The children are: Mrs. D. T. Mauldin, Munday; Hugh Stodghill, Silverton; Cliff Stodghill, Wichita Falls; Mrs. Jack Cartwright, San Antonio; Bernard Stodghill, Crowell; Miss Jeanette Stodghill, Seymour and Marguerite Stodghill, Munday, all of whom together with members of their families were present to attend the funeral services.

Other relatives and friends who came from a distance to attend the funeral services were the Rev. and Mrs. Woodie Smith of Crowell; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith of Hamlin; Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Morgan of Silverton; Mrs. Nora Flenniken of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmer Smith of San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sloan of Waco; W. D. Haynes and sons of Merkel; Tom Noble of Wichita Falls; Mrs. M. C. Hardin and Mrs. George Hardin of Vernon.

Clint Small to Speak at Goree Monday Night

R. D. Rawls Elected To New Post Here By Board Education

R. D. Rawls, present vocational agriculture teacher at Palacios, Texas, will be a member of the faculty of the Munday High School next year in a like capacity, according to recent action taken by the local school board.

Mr. Rawls, who for the past two years has been a member of the faculty of Palacios High School, comes well recommended from that school, and is well prepared for the position. He is a graduate of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Mississippi, and has done special work along vocational agriculture lines at Texas A. & M., as well as some work at Southern Methodist University.

Vocational agriculture is intended to prepare high school students for practical work on the farm in a more scientific and beneficial way. It might be said to be for boys what home economics is for girls. It will be a new thing in the Munday High School, and the Board is to be complimented in taking this forward step in making the curriculum of the local school more adequate one in meeting the needs of the student body.

Mr. Rawls will teach nothing but vocational agriculture, and it is hoped and expected that a great number of boys will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to better prepare themselves for future work.

Mr. Rawls and family will make Munday their home early next fall and we take this means of extending to them an advance welcome to Munday.

Rhineland School Closing Program Next Wednesday

On Thursday of last week the Junior Band motored to Seymour to take part in the celebration of Rev. Paul Mosler's silver jubilee. The boys looked great as they played and marched through the streets of Seymour.

Playing like champions, before the largest crowd that has assembled to witness a baseball game in this section, the Rhineland team defeated Knox City in a hard-fought game Sunday. The score was 6 to 2. Batteries for Rhineland: Loran and Kuehler; for Knox City, Hill and King.

A party composed of Messrs. A. Wilde and Joseph Kuehler and Mrs. Lena Albus and Mrs. Peter Loran made a business trip to Pilot Point Tuesday morning.

Misses Mary Eddy and Mary de Aguirre were visitors in Seymour Sunday.

Mr. John Albus motored to Wichita Falls on business Tuesday of this week.

The Rhineland High School baseball team defeated the Hood team last Wednesday in a very interesting game, the score of which was 5 to 4. The game was featured by light hitting on both sides and sensational fielding by Clement "Tip" Albus, which almost directly resulted in Rhineland winning. The batteries for Rhineland: Kuehler and Brown; for Hood: C. Melton, R. Melton, Walker and Rolan.

The Rhineland High School team has not lost a game this season and has a very enviable record. Commencement exercises of the Rhineland High School will be held in the school auditorium on Wednesday evening, May 23, beginning at 8 o'clock. The exercises will be followed by the high school play, "A Henpecked Hero", which is a hilariously funny three-act farce, and revolves around the misfortunes of a meek timid man with a romantic minded bride and a strong-minded mother-in-law. His studious nature and athletic physique make him a victim of domestic tyranny until the bride's longing for a cave-man type of husband causes him to go to a real cave and become a real cave-man, with nearly fatal results. Before it is over Dame Misfortune pays call after call upon the unhappy husband in the guise of various veiled persons dressed in widow's weeds, with dire consequences. In all, five "widows" are in evidence and get the poor man, as well as each other, hopelessly mixed up. In fact, it goes so that nobody except the audience knows who is who. There is rapid action with a fast developing plot that culminates in a literal explosion. The only object of "A Henpecked Hero" is to produce one outbreak of hearty laughter after another, and this it does from start to finish.

Business sessions of the WTCC convention will be held in the new Paramount Theatre just complete and equipped at a cost of $400,000.00. It is seated with 1600 upholstered opera chairs, has perfect acoustics and is provided with the latest devices of regulating temperature.

Carl Mahan and Earl Hoppe of Abilene were here for a short time Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Hoppe is vice-president of the West Texas Utilities Company and they had been up in the north end of their properties looking after business.

C. C. Small of Wellington, candidate for Governor of Texas, will speak at the high school auditorium at o'clock Monday night at Goree in the interest of his candidacy for Governor, and the citizens throughout this section are extended a very cordial invitation to hear this West Texan present his claim for this important post at this time.

Mr. Small has been a member of the State Senate from his district for the past few years and was one of the leading factors in protecting the property rights of the citizens along the Texas-Oklahoma boundary in the dispute over boundary lines, in which fight he clashed with Gov. Moody, and in so doing demonstrated to the people of Texas that he had the courage to stand up for the rights of the citizens of Texas and fight their battle against all odds, and as he has been referred to as West Texas' candidate, all West Texans especially should hear him.

Lee McCullough of Goree Succumbs To Brief Illness Sunday

Friends in this city were shocked Monday to learn that Lee McCullough had passed away at his home at Goree following an illness of only a few hours. In fact he had attended the funeral of Mrs. John Polson during the afternoon, and shortly thereafter was stricken with paralysis, and died before ten o'clock Sunday night.

Mr. McCullough was born in Mississippi May 17, 1883, hence the day prior to his death had passed his 47th birthday. He came to Texas in 1910 and resided for a number of years in Haskell county, where in October, 1911 he was married to Miss Ora May of Rule. During recent years he had made his home near Hefner except for two years he resided in Munday and recently moved to Goree. Realizing some hours before the end came that he was near death Mr. McCullough made the request that his remains be shipped to his former home and interred beside the remains of his father, and following the funeral services, which were conducted at the home in Goree Monday afternoon with the Rev. J. P. Magee and the Rev. L. S. Jenkins officiating, the remains were shipped to Vardeman, Mississippi, Monday night, accompanied by the grief-stricken wife.

The many friends of the family residing throughout this section join in extending our sincere sympathy to the bereaved wife.

Singing Convention Will Be Held Here Sunday Afternoon

The Knox County Singing Convention will be held at the Methodist church in Munday on Sunday afternoon at 2:30, and the public is extended a most cordial invitation to be present, and a good program is assured, as a number of good singers from over the county will be here.

This is the first meeting of the organization to be held in Munday in some time and it is expected that a large attendance will be on hand.

Business sessions of the WTCC convention will be held in the new Paramount Theatre just complete and equipped at a cost of $400,000.00. It is seated with 1600 upholstered opera chairs, has perfect acoustics and is provided with the latest devices of regulating temperature.

Carl Mahan and Earl Hoppe of Abilene were here for a short time Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Hoppe is vice-president of the West Texas Utilities Company and they had been up in the north end of their properties looking after business.

THINKING OUT LOUD

BY J. A. K.

Now TOL is in bad with another good friend. Last week we made reference to the "Rhineland bridge", and in came Peter Loran to inform us that it wasn't the Rhineland bridge at all, but the Munday-Vera bridge we had reference to. There isn't any such thing, says Pete.

So we hasten to get ourselves back into the good graces of the "Sage of Rhineland" by making the correction.

Anyway, it seems that the aforesaid bridge has but few friends. Good roads lead up to its approaches on the south side, but on the north side the roads have received little or no attention since the bridge was built, and hence the bridge has failed to serve the purpose for which it was built. But that is no fault of the bridge.

From the Dallas News which is further verified by Buttermilk Lowry of the Honey Grove Signal-Citizen, comes the glad tidings that the lowly watermelon, which has heretofore been considered a somewhat unhealthy fruit, is on the contrary a healthful food, rich in vitamins A, B and C.

Guinea pigs were used by scientists in making this startling discovery, according to the News, which seems altogether unnecessary, as most any negro would have gladly subjected himself to the hazardous experiment of eating watermelon to his fullest capacity in the interest of science.

Anyway, scientists have waited a good many years to give the watermelon a clean bill of health. TOL could have done this many years ago.

Indeed TOL conducted some very extensive experiments along this line so many years ago that we don't like to think about it now, furthermore, we didn't use guinea pigs.

Of course in those days there wasn't anything like vitamins A, B and C, but our personally conducted experiments convinced us a long time ago that cotton acreage should be materially reduced to make room for more watermelons.

In fact, if TOL were farming he'd plant half and half—half cotton and half watermelons.

TOL acknowledges receipt of a telephone message, delivered by an entirely uninterested person, from one P. G. Barton of Tahoka, Texas, directing us in no uncertain terms just where to go, and all because we have failed to charge his Munday Times to his new address.

Certainly we have no aim nor desire to go to the place designated by the Tahoka subscriber, neither are we contemplating going to Tahoka. So there, Mr. Smarty! And here's your Munday Times! Quit beefin'.

Some weeks ago the lady who has jurisdiction over this journalistic effort inserted some little dashes between the various items appearing therein admonishing the citizenship to "plant a tree", and for which she was commended by several citizens, including D. T. Mauldin.

Dave always has some good suggestions to offer when it comes to such matters, and now he comes forward with the suggestion that we urge the citizenship to whitewash their trees. Having no jurisdiction over the dash department, the best that TOL can do is to use this column in urging this civic action.

Whitewashing trees is said to be not only beneficial to the trees so treated but makes them more attractive, so in this column anyway, we're going to urge that the trees be whitewashed.

New Yorker Collects

MARIE JOHNSTON

Musician Gathers Music
From All Over
World

New York City.—The only complete collection of saxophone music in the world is owned by Marie Johnston, internationally famous saxophone player.

While traveling abroad, the merest hint or rumour of an original or unknown manuscript on saxophone music will send Johnston hurrying off to out-of-the-way hamlets, keep him for days poring over the musical records of continental libraries and universities and send him down by-streets of Belgium and Germany to leaf over tattered music for sale in dingy little music shops.

This busy modern musician who is now playing an average of seventy-seven hours a week over the radio to an audience of twenty-five million people, has found time to make not only a hobby but a fetish of his library.

E. H. STODGHILL, DIES

(Continued from page 1) and affiliated himself with the Baptist church, of which he had been a faithful member during the years that have intervened. In 1914 he was made a deacon in the Baptist church here and has served in that capacity diligently and faithfully until his death.

As a business man, Mr. Stodghill early in life took up blacksmithing and has operated a blacksmith shop in Munday since he came here in 1909, and despite the fact that many blacksmith shops have vanished before the onward march of progress and changing conditions, Mr. Stodghill consistently increased his business in this line, and some years ago erected a modern brick building to house his business in lieu of the old shanty building which had housed it in previous years, and his plant here is one of the most complete and modern in this section of the state. While always attentive to his business, he always found time for play, and was a charter member of the Munday Golf Club, and was one of the most enthusiastic golfers of the local club.

In his going Knox county has lost one of its best citizens, the good wife has lost a faithful and kind husband and the children have lost a father whose life they will do well to emulate, and we join the entire community in extending sincerest sympathy to them in their great sorrow.

Mrs. G. W. Bodwine has received a message advising her of the arrival of a baby girl in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carl Hays, of Bullinger, Texas. Mrs. Hays will be remembered as Miss Kula Bodwine.

Miss Opal Maples has won to Colorado Springs, Colorado, to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ashcraft of Knox City were here Sunday visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lovless.

Miss Mary Langford is at home for the summer months, having completed her year's work as a member of the faculty of the Sweetwater public schools.

The Air Circus on Saturday afternoon of the WTCC convention will bring U. S. Army planes from four government fields including Duncan Field, The West Point of the Air. All varieties of pursuit, bombardment and demagogic ships will participate.

CARD OF THANKS

We have not words at our command to express our heartfelt gratitude to the good friends for the many kind deeds that have been done and sympathetic words that have been spoken since the death of our dear husband, father and kinsman, and the fidelity of our friends in our great sorrow shall ever be a priceless treasure with our hearts, and for which we express our sincere thanks and appreciation.

Golden Words Uttered
by Tongues of Unknown

There are hundreds of people whose names we do not know though their words have passed into history.

There is the nameless, well-dressed woman who, meeting Wordsworth walking by Loch Katrine one fine evening, observed: "What you are stepping westward?" She gave the poet the idea for his poem, "Stepping Westward."

There is the watchman who passed under Pepys' window crying: "Fast one of the clock, and a cold, frosty morning!"

There is the man who first invented the Boston fisherman's petition as he put out to sea. "Oh, God, do thou help and guard me; the sea is so wide and my boat is so small."

And who was the poor old dame who, when questioned by a kindly bishop, held up her dry crust and said, "I have all this, and faith?"

And there are, of course, all the unknown whose words are sung and said around the world and will not pass away.

Telephone Operator
Expresses Thanks
To Munday Patrons

TO THE MUNDAY TIMES:

Hello! Hello! Munday people. I have been wanting to say something to you for a long time, so many the editor will allow me a little space in his paper.

As an operator I want to express my sincere appreciation to the public in general for their kindness and consideration in placing both local and long distance calls. You know, we all appreciate kind words and deeds, although sometimes we fail to let others know about it.

Everyone has been kind, but to some I especially wish to thank, for when I was inefficient in the work they gave me all consideration in completing their calls. I will always remember them as those who make life more pleasant for those with whom they came in contact.

If we, as people, have any good things to say for any one who not speak them to those we love, while they know and appreciate it. Then life for them would be more happy. There is one above whom we are supposed to represent, I wonder if our lives speak each day to that effect.

I want to assure you that you shall have a warm place in our hearts as operators, wherever we go.

We always strive to give you the best of service at all times, so if your calls are delayed just remember we are doing as much to complete them as possible.

So please remember, we are always on the job, happy and anxious to give good service.

Operators are always on the job, day and night, when employees of other places of business have closed and gone.

HUMBLE
FLASHLIKE
GASOLINE

Add wings to your motor with Flashlike Gasoline

Flashlike Gasoline is scientifically designed to bring out your motor's latent power. Get into your car when the motor's cold. Press the starter. The "low boiling point" of this highly refined gasoline affords rapid vaporization. The spark flashes the motor into action immediately. With a turn or two of the crankshaft, full power is developed. Gears are shifted -- and away you go!

Quickly you find that your car answers to the lightest touch of your throttle as an airplane does to the "gun," and you experience a new joy in motoring -- the thrill of added speed and power.

Flashlike Gasoline is made to burn clean in any motor. It gives you less crank-case dilution and makes your oil last longer and lubricate more efficiently. Your oil is unfoiled. Valves stay smooth. There is no resinous precipitate to clog the carburetor.

Velvet Motor Oil, the "flying mate" of Flashlike Gasoline, forms an efficient piston seal at all driving speeds and at all temperatures, giving added power. Your car runs better -- and at a lower cost.

Both Flashlike Gasoline and Velvet Motor Oil may be had at the price of ordinary fuels and lubricants. Get them at stations wherever you see the Humble signs.

Stone Carving Thought to Be of Bronze Age

On a hill near Allago, in Bornholm, Denmark, a large block of stone carvings has been found on the face of the rock, which, it is thought, belongs to the Bronze age.

There will be difficulty in removing the stone, as the ground is so hard and the block is so large.

Average Printed Word Not Long Remembered

In a work published in 1822 it is said there were at that time 1,000 books published yearly in Great Britain, on 600 of which there was a commercial loss, on 200 no gain, and only on 100 any considerable profit.

Since the first writings, 1,000 years before Christ, in 32 countries, only 500 works of art writers had sustained themselves against the devouring influence of time.

Taking Good Care of Malcolm

By JANE OSBORN

AS A boy Malcolm Greeley had been the youngest one in his family to be allowed a hatch key. More over the day he was sixteen he was given a small runabout and permission to get a license to drive. In his suite of two rooms on the third floor of his aunt's house in Tinton he was permitted always to dispense indefinite hospitality to any of the boys he chose. It seemed to Malcolm's friends as if he was certainly lucky in living there with his two maiden aunts, and to most of the grownups in the neighborhood it seemed as if those same maiden aunts would undoubtedly ruin their charge with their indulgence. Malcolm, on leaving college, had put some of his patrimony in a certain well established contracting concern in Gifford, a booming city an hour's ride from Tinton, and was, as the neighbors said, "getting on splendidly."

But Malcolm suffered and always had suffered a deep and increasing irritation. He appreciated his aunts' kindness, he regarded them with real affection, but on rainy mornings or when even a single drop of rain fell on his head Aunt Susan would say, "Malcolm, dear, remember your rubbers." This while he was eating breakfast; and he would get up and go without them. Aunt Clara would be standing in the hall, ready with Malcolm's rubbers and umbrella—raincoat, too, if the sky dripped or was really overcast.

Malcolm bore it because really there was nothing else to do. It was during an extremely wet April that Malcolm came to the conclusion that he'd go to live by himself in Gifford. He'd give up his job in the business now required his residence there, but really in his heart he knew that he was going to do that he could go rubber-less and unreluctant when he chose.

So Malcolm Greeley set himself up in bachelor apartments in Gifford.

In time he grew lonely. He could not even go to spend his days with his aunts, who were now billing their time in Italy or southern France. Having always been fond of the rough and tumble home atmosphere and the society of two women who were in almost all respects so agreeable, Malcolm felt his loneliness keenly. Then along came Dora Hinton, whom Malcolm met at a dance in Gifford and all at once it flashed through Malcolm's mind that this stately-eyed young lady—she could fill the void in his lonely heart produced by his aunts' absence.

It was in April and Malcolm and Dora were sitting in a sequestered spot on the veranda of Gifford's new country club house.

Malcolm made the usual preliminaries about having something that was very hard to say or something that he felt was very important, and the girl looked at him and he said but not quite truthful remarks about not having an idea what it could be. Then Malcolm proposed and Dora, after a moment's pause and very pretty for full two minutes so that it might appear that she was considering a proposition that had never entered her head before and then she pointed to him and said "proposing you it was—and said she thought she'd accept."

That night Malcolm wrote to his aunts and told them the glad news, giving Dora's address so that they might write to her and to make the little things that good form demanded under the circumstances. The next morning the air was filled with a common mist that obscured the sun. But Malcolm was too young even to notice the weather. Martha, his old colored housekeeper, would come for the office. Just five minutes after eight the telephone rang. Malcolm seized the receiver and recognized Dora's voice. For a terrific second or so he was afraid that she wanted to tell him that she had reconsidered what she had said the night before and that after all he had better not get the ring he had spoken about. But then, came the voice—

"Malcolm, dear, I know it isn't very conventional to call you at your apartment so early in the morning, but Malcolm, dear, it looks like rain—and I wanted to remind you to wear your rubbers. You know how that we're engaged, I'm going to take such good care of you."

"You darling," breathed Malcolm over the telephone.

A month later the letter from Malcolm's aunt reached Dora. "It was such a lovely letter," Dora told him as she sat beside him in the little room that he had bought for himself as an engagement present, "and those darling aunts asked me for their rubbers to be sure and see that you carried your umbrella when it rained, and that you wore your rubbers even when it didn't rain if the ground was damp. And I was so pleased because I'd already made up my mind that I was going to take good care of you."

Almost a Tragedy

Tragedy while at the prosaic job of doing the family washing came close to Emily Kennison at Iburg, Vt. Both ends of a scarf which she had around her neck caught in the wringer of the washer, drawing her to the machine. When found by her brother, Alton, she was nearly strangled and fell unconscious when released.

Where "Charlie" Landed

In the Outer Hebrides, where such huge may be had in wholesale quantities, lies the tiny island of Eriskay, about three miles long and two miles wide. It was in July, 1745, that Charles Stuart landed on this rocky spot, and feeling the ground of his family's ancient kingdom under his feet for the first time, exclaimed: "I am come home." Charles took with him some France some seeds of the pink convolvulus and sowed them in commemoration of his landing and of the sanctuary he had received in France. This plant still grows on Eriskay, and it is believed not to exist anywhere else in the British Isles.
